Decision time. Election Day is less than a week away, and voters are making up their minds as they prepare to head to the polls Nov. 3. Northville Township clerk Sue Hillebrand said she predicted a relatively solid number of people at the voting booths next Tuesday.

"If the absentee ballot turnout is any indication, we're going to have heavier-than-normal turnout for this one," Hillebrand said, adding that the number of requests for absentee ballots was on the upswing.

"Usually we get a lot of absentee requests but people won't return them. It's not like that this time; they're coming back to us pretty steadily," Hillebrand said.

Additional voting booths will also be available at various voting precincts, Hillebrand said.

Broken 'Baseline Jug' won't be replaced

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

Just over 10 years ago this week The Novi News and Northville Record began formally recognizing the season-ending gridiron battle between Northville and Novi high schools by presenting the winner with what is affectionately known as "The Baseline Jug."

But unfortunately for the family, friends, fans and especially the players involved in the annual juggle, the jug will no longer be a part of the game.

The "Baseline Jug" has been broken, and school officials and administrators have decided to replace the traveling trophy with a plaque to be placed in each of the schools. The plaque will have the scores of each of the last 10 contests and room for the next 15 years.

After last year's game, the Baseline Jug was presented to Northville in the visiting team's locker room at Novi High School. The following week the jug was stolen out of one of the school's trophy cases and later returned broken.

"The week after the game, I put the jug in the trophy case," Northville athletic director Larry Taylor said. "Later that day it was stolen. It didn't even make it one day."

Taylor said an unidentified person removed the entire pane of glass from the display, without breaking anything. Taylor addressed the football team and asked that the jug be returned.

A short time thereafter the jug was returned to the school office, broken.

School officials say they still don't know who took the jug, but that they would immediately reevaluate the circumstances surrounding its disappearance.

"The jug had its time. It was here 10 years," Novi High School principal Jennifer Cheal said. "When it was time to replace it, since it met an early demise, we chose to take a different avenue. We wanted something we felt was more collaborative with Northville and where both schools can celebrate this activity."

"The jug was a piece of our history and we didn't want it to go unrecognized. When we had the jug, it was only in one school at a time, so we thought it would be neat to have a memento that recognizes the game for both schools."

The decision was made jointly by both athletic directors and the principals at the two schools. Both Novi AD John Fundukian and Taylor agree that the jug caused some problems with student conduct on game night.

"The reason we really didn't want any kind of symbol for the game was because of past history and what has happened," Taylor said. "It used to be presented on the field, and at that time it was becoming a symbol of bad sportsmanship. People were parading around and taunting other people."

Trophies are common in high school rivalries

By CHRIS C. DAVIS

While the Baseline Jug may have been an item unique to Northville and Novi High schools, traveling trophies aren't anything new on area gridirons, and to the greater extent, haven't caused any additional trouble when the annual clash renews itself.

It's the Little Brown Jug that players from Brighton and Howell High schools long for, said Brighton athletic director Hal Anderson. A fixture of the Grand River Avenue rivals, the Jug has been part of the Highlander vs. Bulldog matchup for nearly 15 years.

"The kids all know what this is about," he said. "We advertise it in the pre-game program, but it's really not played up that much by the area media."

Anderson said a few key football matchups — the Howell game among them — bring out a

City residents wrestle with cost of water

■ Some residents are shocked at unusually high water bills

By CHRIS C. DAVIS
Staff Writer

At first glance, Nancy Smith thought it must have been a misprint. How could her city water bill be $100 more than it was the prior month? She didn't know for sure, but she was almost certain she hadn't used any more water than normal, and had gotten used to a "standard" billing, having lived in the same Sherrie Lane home for 25 years.

It wasn't a misprint. Smith's was one of dozens of homes across the city of Northville to have its water meter replaced earlier this year. The city has been taking on a major project since last year to cut its own costs on water, for which

WATER WOES?

Stuck with a high water bill? Here are a few suggestions for residents with high water bills.

- Hang on to your water bills. If you file a complaint, the city will check your water consumption history to see if the bill in question is atypical of what you're normally charged.
- Ask for an inspection of your home's water system, which is provided free of charge.
- Ask to have your meter inspected. There is a chance the mechanism may be malfunctioning. If a discrepancy is found, a credit will be issued for the forthcoming billing cycle. Only in special circumstances will a cash refund be given.

DEQ report clears Ely Fuel

By CHRIS C. DAVIS
Staff Writer

The types of pollutants have been figured out, but who put them there and when they were introduced to the ground continued to be a complex piece of detective work for the Department of Environmental Quality last week.

But one thing was for certain — Ely Fuel was never considered one of the pollutants, according to DEQ officials.

A 500-page consultant's report to the DEQ indicated PCBs had infiltrated the land surrounding Northville's Ford Pond and had made their way to Ford Pond itself. The toxic solvents may be charting a course to the Northville springwell, a popular site for drinking water in jugs.

Now, DEQ geologist Steve Hoin said that it's a matter of the DEQ finding out which parties were involved in the pollution and how best to clean up the mess.

"There are some complications as to who's responsible here, and we're wrestling

Engler pays visit to local cider mill

By WENDY WHITE
Staff Writer

Michigan Governor John Engler must like Parmenter's cider and doughnuts as much as the locals do.

He made the Northville cider mill a stop on his campaign trail Saturday for the second election in a row.

"It was unexpected when he came four years ago. He came on a Sunday, and it was packed," said Parmenter's co-owner Cheryl Nelson. "He just showed up. He stayed here for quite a while, taking pictures and talking to people, so this year I faxed him a letter to invite him, and he said he would come."

Since owners only had time to tell friends, neighbors and regular customers of Engler's visit, Nelson said the turnout was "average."

More than 100 people were at the mill at 11 a.m. when Engler arrived in the backseat of a sport utility vehicle driven by a campaign assistant.

Among the crowd was outgoing state Senator Bob Geake (R-Northville). Northville Township Trustee Russ Fogg and Michigan Supreme Court candidate Maura Corrigan.

Local makes strong bid for attorney general's office

By WENDY WHITE
Staff Writer

Michigan's next attorney general may just be your neighbor.

Jennifer Granholm, 39, is the democratic candidate for the state's highest law enforcement position.

Judging by polls and endorsements, the Northville Township resident has a good chance of winning.

The office is the logical next step for a woman who currently oversees 75 employees, 2,000 cases and a budget of $9.5 million as Corporation Counsel for Wayne County.

Jennifer Granholm

"I serve the people of Wayne County now and I'd like to bring the success I've brought to this office to the state level," Granholm said. "I want to serve the people of Michigan."

Her success has included reducing the amount of money taxpayers spend on judgments and settlements by 52 percent, or $40 million annually.

In fact, it seems Granholm has enjoyed success in virtually everything she's done.

The San Francisco Bay area native was the first member of her family to go to college, graduating Phi Beta Kappa from the University of California at Berkeley with a double major in French and Political Science.

She then graduated with honors from Harvard University Law School after serving as editor-in-chief of the Harvard Civil Liberties Law Review, the largest civil rights publication in the country.

After law clerking for Damon Keith, she served as a federal prosecutor at the United States attorney's office, prosecuting drug dealers, bank robbers, child pornographers and gang members.

Recognizing her 98 percent success rate in the courtroom, Ed McNamara appointed her to her current position.

She's taken a leave of absence to campaign for attorney general against Republican candidate John Smietanka.

"The big corporations have got lots of lawyers and the criminals have lots of lawyers. The people of Michigan have only one," she said. "I want to be that one."

If she were to take over Frank Kelley's current post, she said she would continue to focus on the area of high tech crime which would include fighting child pornography and identity theft on the Internet.

Creating an insurance fraud unit to keep insurance premiums low would also be a top priority.

In addition, she would consolidate the state's criminal lawyers into one bureau.

"Reinvigorating the organized crime task force, I think, is something we truly need to focus on, especially with casinos coming in," she said.

So far, Granholm has garnered endorsements from many sources, including the Michigan Police Legislative Coalition, the Detroit Free Press, and Frank Kelley himself.

"He's 100 percent behind me and enthusiastic about my campaign," Granholm said.

The attorney general's office is affiliated with political parties, but many see the position as independent

Granholm, for example, calls herself a moderate Democrat, and said she is conservative when it comes to at least one issue.

"I don't think you can be a mother and not be conservative about crime," she said.

Yes, Granholm has been successful in family life as well.

She and her husband Dan Mulhern are raising Kate, 9, Cecelia, 7, and Jack, 16 months.

"They're very excited about this campaign," Granholm said.

For example, Kate took it upon herself to throw a pizza party to help Granholm stuff envelopes for her first campaign mailing.

"I got home and there were about 20 bikes lined up outside. She had everyone organized in stations. She's a hoot," Granholm said.

A book that her husband is currently writing about politics and character has also been a source of support during her often grueling campaign, Granholm said.

Granholm met her husband at Harvard Law School and moved with him to Northville four years ago to be near his family.

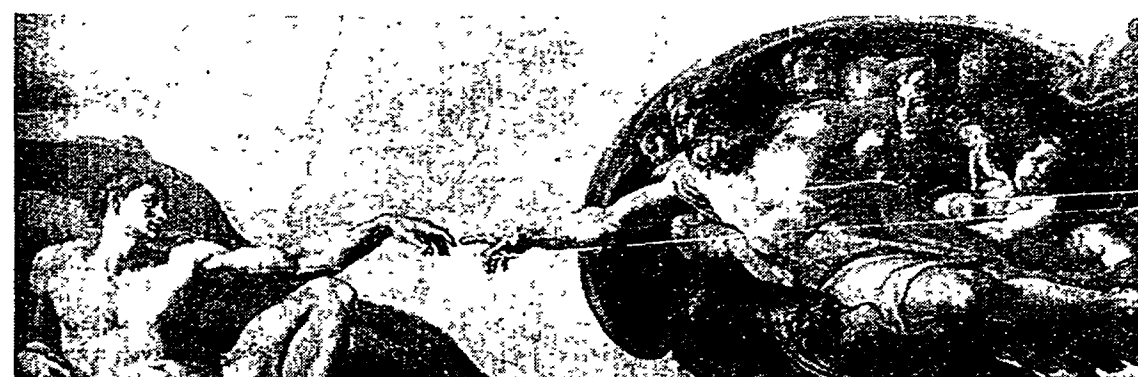

"It's beautiful. I love our neighborhood and our neighbors are wonderful. We're very, very close," Granholm said. "I love Michigan. Moving here has been the most wonderful decision I've ever made aside from marrying my husband."

Granholm said she doesn't plan to move if she wins over opponent John Smietanka Nov. 3.

Since her workweek will be split between Lansing and Detroit, Northville will be an ideal central location.

Will she keep an eye out for Northville in her new post?

"Definitely. These are my people," Granholm said.

FUNGUS NAILS

Almost everyone has experienced the itching and burning of a foot fungus at one time or another, but did you know that fungus infections of the toenails are also quite common? The specific infections go by names such as onychomycosis, ringworm, and tinea unguis. They often attack the outside of nail first, working inward to the nail root. A single nail may be affected for a long period before the infection spreads to other nails. Symptoms include discolored nails, often with brownish and yellow streaks. Unfortunately, this relatively common condition can be uncommonly difficult to treat. Oral and topical medications may be prescribed, and it may be necessary to surgically remove the nail plate. Laser surgery can also be performed very successfully in our office.

Fungal nails can be persistent. They don't disappear on their own, sometimes resist cure, and may become reinfected. Seek professional treatment if this problem plagues you every day. Your comfort during treatment is our utmost concern at FOOT HEALTH CENTERS For Total Foot and Ankle Care. Our trained professional staff works as a team to make your visit pleasant. Saturday, evening, and early appointments available.

P.S. Fungus infections of the toenail are most common among the elderly, but can occur anytime from childhood on. We are very successful treating fungus nails, with a cure rate of 95%.

QUESTIONNAIRE RESPONSES

On the ballot the Ninth District Senate seat are Republican Thaddeus McCotter and Democrat Carol Poenisch. Here is how the candidates responded to the 10 questions we put to them.

- 1) Lawmakers have attempted to make changes to the Freedom of Information Act, limiting public access to information regarding firearm licensing, public employee personnel files, and drivers license information. Do you believe government has the right to limit that type of information? Why?
- 2) Do you believe parents have the right to choose the school their child(ren) attend(s)?
- 3) Should private schools be funded with public money?
- 4) Does prayer belong in the public schools?
- 5) Should public schools continue to be required to provide special education? If so, should the state be required to fund it?
- 6) Should juveniles be tried as adults for violent crimes, or should we look at rehabilitative measures?
- 7) Michigan could be the second state to allow physician-assisted suicide. Do you believe people have the right to choose death over prolonged pain or suffering brought on by a debilitating illness or accident?
- 8) Should lawmakers strengthen existing laws that protect Michigan's wetlands and forests from rapid development?
- 9) In short Michigan roads are atrocious. What needs to be done to not only fix them, but maintain them as well?
- 10) Should the state require yearly driving tests for people over the age of 70?

NINTH SENATE DISTRICT CANDIDATES

Thaddeus McCotter

1. I am an ardent supporter of the freedom of the press; however, I am also a staunch defender of people's right to be left alone.

As one engaged in the highly visible act of running for (and currently holding) public office, I have voluntarily submitted to justifiably intense scrutiny from the voters and the media - in short, I am a "public figure."

Contrarily, the private person who engages in a nominally public act, such as getting a marriage license, should not be involuntarily considered an equally public figure.

To do so would be unfair to the vast majority of citizens who prize both their right to know, and their right to know it undisturbed.

2. Absolutely. To protect and promote educational opportunities Michigan must continue to expand parental choice and control in educating their children.

3. I support giving voters the opportunity to approve tax credits that will be used by parents to increase their choice in - and control - over their children's education.

Tax credits, as opposed to vouchers, are constitutionally valid under the non-discrimination doctrine because parents' money - not a government expenditure - will be spent on education.

4. While I personally support prayer, this is a federal constitutional matter beyond the powers of the state Senate.

Relevant to the powers and duties of a state Senator, I am committed to cutting taxes: reducing the single business tax; and, just as we did in Wayne County giving voters a chance to approve an anti-tax "super majority" amendment that will make it harder for Lansing politicians to raise our taxes.

These I will ceaselessly work to achieve.

5. Yes. Every child deserves the opportunity to learn to the best of his or her abilities. No human being is without dignity and ability.

6. Anyone whose crime causes adult consequences should be considered an adult criminal.

Bluntly, there are hardened juvenile criminals who fully understand the heinous nature of their crimes and simply do not care. They should be tried as adults.

7. As one who has experienced the slow passing of family members from chronic and debilitating diseases, I oppose assisted suicide because it devalues not only their dignity, but the inherent dignity and worth of all human beings.

Assisted suicide is an invidious concept in that it masks killing as caring; and gives government sanction to the veiling of the moral distinction between allowing death and taking life.

Specifically, Proposal B is fatally flawed legislation: it violates physicians' oath to "do no harm," and forces them to lie on death certificates (the Michigan State Medical Society opposes Proposal B); it does not allow for family notification; it creates a new level of bureaucracy that will cost taxpayer money without having the ability to investigate - let alone stop - the inevitable killings of convenience that will occur under assisted suicide.

8. While it has been long ignored in the modern era, property rights are the co-equal of political rights.

As one right should not be promoted at the expense of the other, the crux of the current environmental debate becomes: When do political rights exercised in the promotion of the environment justifiably supersede other people's property rights?

If the proponents of the "urban sprawl" concept had been around at the turn of the century, there never would have been a Northville. Thus, I oppose anyone whose agenda includes arbitrarily telling people where they can or cannot live.

9. Legislative acts to ameliorate Michigan's aging infrastructure include identifying and dedicating a stable source of existing revenues to supplement the fluctuating revenue sources of the gas and weight tax and federal aid; including SEV as part of any new road funding formula to ensure greater road funding for more highly traversed areas; privatization of road funding contracts with contractors held liable for faulty jobs; and incorporating all of the above into a comprehensive, long term, preventative approach to fixing roads before they become impassable.

And in Wayne County especially, the state must start the direct funding of road money to townships, just as it does to cities.

Direct funding to townships will increase governmental accountability and responsiveness; and, by eliminating costly county administrative fees, maximize the amount of money used for actual road construction and maintenance.

10. No, as it would amount to age discrimination.

A more reasonable approach would be to annually test anyone with a documented medical condition that impairs their driving ability.

Carol Poenisch

1. Public information should remain public. Government should not limit information on firearm licenses, driving records, and public employees' use of public resources.

2. Choice is an important part of quality education and providing a need to students who would be better helped in a school other than their own.

I support Charter schools and options allowing students to move within their district or to another district.

3. Private schools should not be funded with public money.

4. Prayer does not belong in public schools.

5. Public schools should continue to provide special education and the state should be required to fund it.

6. There must be public protection from adults and juvenile offenders of violent crime.

For first-time young offenders, serious consideration should be made at educating them while protecting the public.

7. My mother was Merian Frederick, who had Lou Gehrig's disease, and was one of Dr.

Kevoorkian's patients. I helped lead the initiative named after her to allow terminally ill, mentally competent adults the right to a safe method for ending suffering called Proposal B.

Had it been legal, she wouldn't have had to get help in secret, she would have had other options. The law protects the public from unscrupulous doctors and allows patients a very personal right of self autonomy.

8. The law we have for protecting Michigan's wetlands is fine and does not need to be strengthened. What is happening is that the Department of Quality Management is undercutting the enforcement of the law.

They are issuing permits which are inconsistent with the law. They do not file any reports on citizen complaints and what they have done about them. They do not have enough field staff to follow up on complaints. They have no oversight hearings for the public to attend.

We need enforcement of the law.

9. The roads are atrocious because they were allowed to get that way. We need to fix them right the first time, using cost effective bidding.

10. The state should not require yearly driving test for people over the age of 70 because it is age discrimination.

Presently, anyone who feels that there is someone who should not be driving can anonymously file an OC88 and the person will be tested.

QUESTIONNAIRE RESPONSES

On the ballot for the 20th District State Representative seat are Republican incumbent Gerald Law and Democrat Fred Dilacovo. Here is how Law answered our questionnaire. Dilacovo did not respond.

- 1) Lawmakers have attempted to make changes to the Freedom of Information Act, limiting public access to information regarding firearm licensing, public employee personnel files, and drivers license information. Do you believe government has the right to limit that type of information? Why?
- 2) Do you believe parents have the right to choose the school their child(ren) attend(s)?

- 5) Should public schools continue to be required to provide special education? If so, should the state be required to fund it?
- 6) Should juveniles be tried as adults for violent crimes, or should we look at rehabilitative measures?
- 7) Michigan could be the second state to allow physician-assisted suicide. Do you believe people have the right to choose death over prolonged pain or suffering brought on by a debilitating illness or accident?

- 9) In short Michigan roads are atrocious. What needs to be done to not only fix them, but maintain them as well?
- 10) Should the state require yearly driving tests for people over the age of 70?

Gerald Law

1. No. The ideal of a democratic government is too often thwarted by bureaucratic secrecy and unresponsive officials. Citizens frequently find it difficult to discover what decisions are being made and what facts lie behind those decisions. The Open Meetings Act protects your right to know what's going on in government by opening to full public view the processes by which elected and non-elected officials make decisions on your behalf.

2. Yes. Parents should participate in this decision as long as the school they choose is within the boundaries of the school district in which they reside.

3. No. The use of public money for private schools has many disadvantages: It drains funds from public schools; permits state funds to be used for a religious purpose; spawns a new type of entitlement program and invites over regulation of private schools by government.

4. No. It creates a constitutional problem. A moment of silence may, however, be an acceptable alternative in the eyes of the court.

5. Yes. The state is required to provide appropriate education to all students and should be required to fund it.

6. Juveniles who commit adult crimes should do adult time. I supported building a juvenile prison for violent offenders.

7. Actually, Oregon was the first state, however, I do not support physician assisted suicide.

8. Current laws dealing with the protection of wetlands and forests are adequate. Michigan needs to enforce these laws in a fair, consistent and expedient manner.

9. Continued additional state and federal funding will help to improve roads and bridges. Michigan should raise the diesel tax for trucks while lowering the truck weight limit allowed on Michigan roads.

10. No. The Secretary of State, however, should evaluate each person's vision and hearing acuity as well as general physical competence before issuing or renewing a driver's license.

GENERAL ELECTION • NOV. 3

Rivers, Hickey outline differences

On the ballot for the 13th District U.S. Representative seat are Democrat incumbent Lynn Rivers and Republican Tom Hickey. Here is how they answered our questionnaire.

- 1) Managed health care in this country is inconsistent at best. What needs to be done to ensure all Americans receive competent health care that is affordable?
- 2) For all the talk of tax cuts it seems middle class Americans are paying more taxes than ever. Is Congress ever going to devise a fair and equitable system of collecting taxes?
- 3) Should politicians be judged on their morals, as well as their effectiveness in office?
- 4) Do you believe parents have the right to choose the school their child(ren) attend(s)?
- 5) Should private schools be funded with public money?
- 6) Does prayer belong in public schools?
- 7) Should juveniles be tried as adults for violent crimes, or should we look at rehabilitative measures?
- 8) Michigan could be the second state to allow physician-assisted suicide. Do you believe people have the right to choose death over prolonged pain or suffering brought on by a debilitating illness or accident?
- 9) Kenneth Starr spent more than $40 million investigating President Clinton over a four year period. Today, with his findings public, do you believe the expense was worthwhile?
- 10) Michigan exports millions of tax dollars each year and receives little in return for infrastructure improvements. What can, and should, we do to change that?
- 11) In short Michigan roads are atrocious. What needs to be done to not only fix them, but maintain them as well?
- 12) Should the state require yearly driving tests for people over the age of 70?

13TH DISTRICT U.S. REPRESENTATIVE CANDIDATES

Lynn Rivers

1. One of my top health priorities is the enactment of legislation providing for managed care reforms. Specifically, under HR 3605, patients would:

- be guaranteed that they get the care on a timely basis;
- be able to choose providers outside their health plan;
- be able to see specialists, when necessary, outside their health plan at no extra cost;
- not be subject to "gag rules" to restrict doctors' communications with patients;
- have access to emergency care, without prior authorization, in any situation that a "prudent lay person" would regard as an emergency;
- be assured that their doctor, not insurance bureaucrats, would decide what care is medically necessary for their treatment;
- be guaranteed that, if they were denied care by their plan, there would be a timely, reasonable, and meaningful system of recourse including courts; and
- have protections against discrimination on the basis of health status, genetic information, and other factors.

2. I would hope so. My preference would be to lower taxes by lowering overall rates. Since the projected surpluses are not large enough to allow an across the board rate cut, I believe we should "clean up" the tax code. We could do so by flattening out the tax rates and by eliminating useless tax preferences which distort the way companies do business. I do not foresee Congress moving to either a pure flat tax or to a national sales tax in the near future because of the complex problems which would have to be solved before adopting either of those systems.

3. I am reluctant to tell voters what they should consider when they vote for a candidate. I certainly believe that voters have a right to consider candidates' morals and values as well as their positions on issues and their effectiveness in office. Needless to say, individual voters consider those things that are important to them irrespective of societal norms or popular opinion.

4. School choice is a state and local issue not a federal one. However, I do not support diverting funds from the public school system to pay for private school education.

6. No. Pursuant to the First Amendment, voluntary prayer is allowed in public schools. The schools cannot play any role in such prayer, but individual students can indeed pray on their own. There have been times when schools have misapplied the law and have prevented students from engaging in voluntary prayer, but those instances have been quickly remedied.

7. These options are not mutually exclusive. I believe this is a decision which should be made by the court based upon many factors. The juvenile's age is only one factor. Rehabilitation should always be considered but may not always be an appropriate remedy.

8. Yes.

9. Irrespective of the outcome of the Clinton inquiry, it appears that there are problems with the independent counsel statute which allows for a very protracted, expensive investigation. In a dissenting opinion declaring that the independent counsel statute was unconstitutional, Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia predicted that the law could lead to many of the problems we have seen coming from the Starr investigation. Next year the statute expires and I believe that Congress will take a long hard look at it before deciding whether the statute should be extended, altered or eliminated.

10. The solution is not easy. Much of the infrastructure money is returned to the states by way of a formula. This formula is weighted against Michigan and other "donor" states. In the negotiations surrounding the writing of the transportation bill, there was an attempt by Michigan Reps. Barcia and Ehlers to change the formula.

While they were not able to do so, meaning that our portion of the pot is the same, the pot was made larger. For that reason, we will be receiving much more transportation money over the next six years. Currently, the "donee" states outnumber the "donors" and are able to perpetuate the status quo.

11. The federal government does not determine how the states build or repair their roads. As a member of Congress, I will do everything I can to make sure that (1) Michigan receives a better return on road funds; and (2) the dollars collected for roads is spent on roads.

12. It is not within the jurisdiction of Congress to set driving ages. Traditionally, that has been within the power of the states.

Tom Hickey

1. I plan to provide leadership on the issue of health care in Congress. We must enhance the patient/doctor relationship, hold HMOs accountable and address portability of benefits and coverage of preexisting conditions. Additionally, I will support the expansion of medical savings accounts and make health care costs 100 percent deductible for small business owners.

2. There is no time like the present to provide tax relief to hard working American families. I support reforming our nation's tax code, creating a flatter, fairer and simpler tax that rewards saving and investment. Furthermore, I support eliminating the death tax, the marriage tax penalty and making health insurance 100 percent deductible for small business owners.

3. Integrity, ethics and moral character - these are the things we demand in our public officials. Politicians should be judged accordingly.

4. I support parental choice in education and will vote for opportunity scholarships for D.C. students and education tax credits for working families.

5. I support tuition tax credits for working families that can be used for books, tutors, computers or tuition. We must empower parents to meet the responsibilities they have to their children.

6. I support a moment of silence and student led and student initiated prayer in public schools.

7. We must crack down on violent crime among juvenile offenders. I will work diligently with state and local officials to provide them with the tools they need to keep our communities safe. I do support trying violent juvenile offenders as adults.

8. I oppose assisted suicide and plan to vote against Proposal B. Efforts should be aimed at using present technologies to keep patients comfortable at the end of life.

9. No one is above the law. In my view, the Starr investigation was fully appropriate and disturbing in its findings.

10. Federal funding for transportation and infrastructure is an issue of leadership. As a member of the majority in Congress, I will lobby aggressively on behalf of Michigan to ensure we get our just return on the tax dollars we send to Washington.

11. First, we must repay the IOUs to the Transportation Trust Fund. Second, we must demand our share of federal dollars to repair and maintain Michigan roads. I plan to work with state and local officials and provide leadership in securing these funds.

12. Did not respond

38TH DISTRICT STATE REPRESENTATIVE CANDIDATES

QUESTIONNAIRE RESPONSES

Nancy Cassis

On the ballot for the 38th District state Representative seat are Republican incumbent Nancy Cassis and Democrat Kristy Demas. Here is how Cassis answered our questionnaire. Demas did not respond to our questions.

1. Roads. Should Michigan raise the diesel fuel tax to 19 cents per gallon, the same as the gasoline tax? Michigan has the highest truck weight limits (164,000 pounds) in the nation. Should Michigan reduce that limit to the standard 80,000 pounds?
2. Should the funding split between the state, counties and municipalities be altered? (Currently it's 39.1, 39.1, 21.8%.)
3. Should MDOT (Michigan Dept. of Transportation) take jurisdiction of many now-local roads?
4. Committees. On which one or two committees would you like most to serve?
5. Open government. Should penalties be tougher for public officials who violate the Open Meetings Act? e.g., $1,500 fines instead of $500; removal from office for second offense.
6. School quality. Is Michigan on the right path in dropping certification for superintendents and principals, and eliminating a mandatory core curriculum?
7. Assisted suicide. Which should the state do: a.) ban and punish assisting a suicide (new state law)?; b.) allow doctor-assisted suicide after a screening procedure (Proposal B)?; c.) make no law on assisting a suicide?

1. I have and would support again further increasing the registration fees on trucks to ensure that they pay their fair share for the damage heavy trucks inflict on our roads. One of the reasons legislators have not increased the gasoline tax on trucks is because what they pay to the state recently has been raised by law (i.e., loss of the "diesel discount"). Reducing the weight limit would only serve to increase the number of trucks on the road, which could create additional problems and not address the issue of road damage directly.

2. Yes. Reform of Act 51, dating back to 1951, is essential to meet the needs of the 21st century. The funding and distribution formulas continue to be debated with state, county and local officials being invited by MDOT to participate. I would like to see a plan developed that allows for growing districts like ours to receive greater financial attention and commitment. For example, as a new legislator, I had to fight hard to put the Wixom/Beck Interchange improvements on mdot's agenda because we don't have a program recognizing growth alone.

3. The "rationalization" program recommended by MDOT now being debated would support the transfer of major local roads that carry a majority of both commercial and residential traffic to be transferred to the state. The rationale behind such a move is to allow for corridor-wide improvements to be made efficiently, economically, and without jurisdictional obstacles.

In our area, that would include roads like Grand River, Novi Road, Twelve Mile, Pontiac Trail, Wixom, Millford Road, GM Road, etc.

There are positives to this plan but it will require local and county officials to become involved to work out agreements - especially issues around local control and local priorities. Importantly, a new formula must address the number of vehicular lanes/traffic generated and not simply linear miles.

4. I would like to continue to serve on the Tax Policy and Public Utilities committees. Cutting taxes is a top priority; ensuring fairness and cost reductions to all electric consumers are critical as the legislature debates deregulation of electric utilities.

5. Yes, as a strong supporter of conducting public business in open meetings, I think penalties including stiffer fines for violating the Open Meetings Act are appropriate. Repeat offenses require a higher degree of accountability and consequence.

6. I think superintendents and principals like teachers and other specialists in education and in business should be certified. I support voluntary implementation of a state core curriculum with local control by parents, school board members, teachers and administrators.

7. The legislature passed a bill to ban assisted suicide, which I supported. Given advances in pain management and hospice care, patients should not feel their only alternative is suicide.

Now a proposal to legalize assisted-suicide will be on the November ballot. In my opinion, this proposal is flawed. It puts doctors in the position of lying that the cause of death was the terminal illness and not the suicide while sealing all records of assisted suicides to the public. Concerns include: setting up yet another bureaucracy as an oversight commission; discouraging doctors from prescribing large doses of pain-relieving medication to their terminal patients lest they be charged with causing accidental death; creating a mass of lawsuits. Worry about outside coercion and pressure to end one's life is problematic. Shopping for doctors to provide lethal prescriptions is a realistic possibility since a majority of doctors oppose going against their Hippocratic Oath.

11TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

In the 11th Congressional District, the incumbent faces off with a newcomer to national politics. Next Tuesday, voters will pull the lever for one candidate, and the winner will earn a two-year term in Washington D.C.

Joe Knollenberg

JOE KNOLLENBERG - REPUBLICAN

Prior to taking office in 1993, Knollenberg operated an Allstate Insurance Agency. He still owns the business. He has been active local civic groups, from the PTA to the Southfield parks development committee.

Active in politics, he has served the chair of the Oakland GOP committee. He is married and has two sons. Knollenberg resides in Bloomfield Hills. He graduated with a B.S. degree from Eastern Illinois University in 1955. He's in his third term in Congress and serves on the committees of Appropriations, Education and the Workforce, and Standards of Official Conduct.

Travis Reeds

TRAVIS REEDS - DEMOCRATS

Travis Reeds is an attorney practicing law in Walled Lake. He graduated from South Lyon High School in 1991 and received his B.A. from Central Michigan University in 1994. He graduated with a J.D. from Wayne State University Law School in May, 1997, and was admitted to the Michigan Bar in November, 1997.

ENVIRONMENT/URBAN SPRAWL

What do you plan to do to protect the environment of Michigan and combat urban sprawl?

The best way to protect the environment is to ensure that our rules and regulations are based on sound science and address real threats to the environment. Everyone wants clean air to breathe and clean water to drink, but we also need a strong economy to create good paying jobs.

I support regulatory reform that requires federal regulators to do a cost-benefit analysis before promulgating new regulations. I also believe that state and local governments and business should have more flexibility in meeting environmental standards. Rigid, one-size-fits-all rules stifle innovation and impose unnecessary costs on the American people.

In regard to urban sprawl, I believe the best way to address this problem is to reform the Superfund law. This law, which was intended to clean up hazardous waste sites, has resulted in prolonged litigation and very little actual clean-up. We need to set priorities for the clean-up of brownfields and ensure that the money is spent properly.

ENDANGERED SPECIES ACT

Do you believe the endangered species act is too broad?

Yes. While I am concerned about protecting endangered species, I believe that many species have been listed incorrectly. The result has been that private property owners have been restricted in using their property for no apparent reason.

I also believe that we need to enlist property owners in the effort to protect endangered species. Protecting the natural habitat of wildlife and honoring the constitutional property rights of individuals requires a delicate balance. As written, I believe the Endangered Species Act fails to take into consideration the rights of property owners.

FIXING THE ROADS

The roads in Michigan have been ranked in the lowest time of all the states for some time. What do you plan to do to help fix Michigan Roads?

Michigan's roads are in bad shape and in need of serious repair. One of the reasons for the poor quality of our infrastructure is because Michigan sends more money to Washington via the federal gas tax than we get back in federal road money.

At the beginning of this Congress, Gov. Engler requested that the Michigan congressional delegation bring home an additional $200 million a year in federal road funding.

After months of heated debate, my colleagues and I in the Michigan congressional delegation were able to secure an additional $309 million a year for Michigan's roads and bridges. This new money, coupled with Gov. Engler's efforts, will make a noted improvement in the quality of our infrastructure.

Under the new federal transportation law, Michigan will still be a donor state, but we are beginning to receive our fair share. I will continue working to increase the amount of federal transportation funding that comes back to our state.

DONOR STATE

There has been a lot of talk that much of Michigan federal tax dollars does not come back to the state in federal services, what do you plan to do to turn this around?

As a member of the House Appropriations Committee, I have been fighting to ensure that Michigan receives its fair share of federal funding. The reason we receive such a poor return is related to the fact that there are very few defense operations conducted in our state.

I believe the best way to address this problem is to reduce the size and scope of the federal government. I have been fighting to cut federal spending and lower taxes so more money can be left in the state of Michigan and in the pocketbooks of the citizens of our state. Instead of sending money to Washington and then hoping that we receive a fair return, I believe our state would be better off if the money never left in the first place.

IMPEACH CLINTON?

While many American's are opposed to the idea of impeachment for President Clinton, why or why not do you support impeachment?

I have not made a decision on whether or not the president should be impeached. Before making such a decision, I want to know all of the facts. There are serious allegations that the president may have committed perjury and obstructed justice in his attempts to conceal his affair with Monica Lewinsky from the American people.

While the president has apologized for lying to the American people, he has denied that he committed any crimes. This is why the House Judiciary Committee must conduct a formal impeachment inquiry to determine the truth. It's my hope that this investigation will be conducted in a fair and expeditious manner. Once the investigation is completed and the facts are on the table, I will make a decision about impeachment. That said, I am outraged by the president's conduct. I believe he has demeaned the office of the presidency and severely damaged his credibility with Congress and the leaders of foreign nations. Our justice system is premised on the belief that no man, not even the president, is above the law.

MANAGED HEALTH CARE

Managed health care has received much criticism in this country. What needs to be done to ensure all Americans receive competent health care that is affordable?

I voted for a managed care reform bill that would have provided patients with the right to see an obstetrician and a pediatrician without having to gain approval from an HMO. This bill also ensured emergency room benefits and established internal and external appeals to ensure that patients receive the care they need. The bill also lifted the so-called "gag rule" to allow free and open communications between patients and doctors in order to ensure that fully-informed decisions are made about the best course of treatment.

In addition to managed care reform, I have been working to make health care more accessible and affordable. I have supported reforms to ensure that individuals are not denied coverage because of preexisting conditions. I have supported establishing Medical Savings Accounts which empower patients to receive the care they need. And I have supported allowing small businesses to pool together so they can obtain more competitive insurance.

CRIME BY CHILDREN

What do you propose to do to curb the amount of violent crimes committed by children?

I believe that juveniles who commit adult crimes should do adult time. We need to send the strong message to would-be felons that our nation has a zero tolerance for violent crime. I have supported legislation that provides funding to build additional prison space to states who adopt truth-in-sentencing guidelines which require violent felons to serve at least 85 percent of their sentences before being released. I have also supported additional funding for states which adopt tough policies to deal with juvenile delinquents. While unfortunate, the fact remains that children are committing heinous crimes and must be held accountable for their actions. A slap on the wrist is not an appropriate response.

Federal legislation to provide grants to states for the cleanup and redevelopment of contaminated sites in our cities, "brownfields," will help in preventing urban sprawl. Additionally, local communities should retain the authority to enforce zoning legislation in local or state courts. I believe my opponent has supported legislation to permit large developers to appeal municipal land use decisions in federal court when claiming a "taking" of property, and I disagree with this position. I think local communities can, and will better protect the environmental interests of citizens while considering the effects of rapid land development. I support expansion of EPA regulatory authority because I believe the protection of our environment is crucial. Revitalization of our cities and industry competitiveness are important, and I would initiate legislation to provide government assistance to local industry to aid and facilitate compliance with all EPA regulations.

No. The existing protections afforded by the Endangered Species Preservation Act of 1966, were essentially rolled back by the Congress this year. The program attempts to provide safe and natural habitat for endangered species. Many individuals oppose these protections, usually citing individual property rights infringement as the reason. I support reauthorization of the and enforcement of programs such as the landmark Endangered Species Act. It is important to preserve and protect endangered animals and plants, and I think we need to find a balance between harsh enforcement, and the concerns of businesses. It seems to me, however, that the Republican majority in Congress is overly sensitive to the complaints of the business community.

The road issue in Michigan is primarily a state government issue, and the deplorable condition of our roads is best addressed at that level. The federal government does, however, have input into the funding aspect of Michigan's roads. The Transportation Equity Act for the 21st century, or T-21 legislation, provides approximately 95 percent of the federal funding for roads across the country. The bill provides over $200 billion for road infrastructure development over a six-year period. The money for T-21 comes primarily from the Highway Trust Fund paid by federal gas taxes. Michigan's funding situation has improved with T-21 legislation. Michigan, while still a "donor" state, receives approximately 91 percent of monies paid by Michigan to the Highway Trust Fund. I would work to increase "demonstration projects" to bring extra funding to Michigan and work to get back 100 percent of the money Michigan contributes.

Michigan is a creditor state, in that more federal tax revenue leaves our state than is returned. We need to be more aggressive in ensuring that Michigan taxpayers get their fair share of government services, and that funds provided in block grants to other states are adequately monitored. In fiscal year 1997, Michigan taxpayers received only 77 cents for every dollar sent to Washington. Michigan therefore had the 13th highest tax burden in the country. However, Michigan is a relatively wealthy state which generates substantial federal tax revenues. Therefore, our focus should be on whether families in Michigan who need federal services are receiving them, not on how much of each tax dollar returns to Michigan. The problem is that Republicans have tried to cut federal programs such as welfare benefits, Medicare and Medicaid, food stamps, and others, and thereby threatened to deprive Michigan citizens federal services.

From what has been reported by the media, I do not believe the indiscretions of the president rise to the level of impeachable offenses. Furthermore, I believe the pending open-ended hearings scheduled to start soon, will continue for a very long time. The public has had a chance, since 1994, to see how the Republic majority intends to conduct business in Washington D.C., and I don't think they like what they see. In my opinion, the impeachment hearings are part of an ultra-conservative agenda intended to further humiliate and embarrass the president for political purposes. Most Americans agree that this type of inquisition must end, and I believe most people are offended by the relentless and partisan attack being waged by the Republican party. There is more at stake in these proceedings than the future of just one man. If elected, I will do everything appropriate to end what I see as a wasteful and dangerous exploitation of political power.

To insure access to quality health care, I support a renovation of our health care system to make insurance coverage accessible to everyone, including individuals with preexisting medical conditions. Among other things, I propose an expansion of the Medicare program to provide access for those employed but uninsured people, as well as those presently considered "uninsurable." Funding for this program would be accomplished through premiums paid by those opting into the program. We have the record-keeping technology to more strictly monitor costs, and also to eliminate fraud by unscrupulous medical care providers. I also support a Patient's Bill of Rights. I believe medical care decisions should be made by doctors and their patients, and not by insurance companies.

I believe federal funding should be geared to crime prevention. I do not support the concept of trying juvenile offenders in the adult courts. The idea that treating juveniles as adults will be an effective deterrent to other juveniles is ludicrous. I would certainly support legislation to require handguns have a separate childproof gun lock. In addition, I support the ban on assault weapons, and also the executive order signed by President Clinton banning the import of certain military-style, rapid fire weapons. We have experienced tragedies in schools in Oregon, Arkansas and Kentucky, which involved juveniles as the alleged perpetrators. The long range answer to the problem of juvenile crime does not, however, lie in banning guns or in punishing juveniles as adults, but rather in education and social reform. Federal funding would be better spent in providing grants to states willing to implement programs dealing with crime prevention, like the 21st Century Learning Center program, and states willing to target funds for high-need communities.

Township voters have plenty of choices number of registered voters per booth," Hillebrand said. "We want to make it as easy and quick as possible for people to do their voting."

Township elected officials will be watching closely the results for two local proposals. The first asks voters to approve 0.58 mills over eight years to fund those services shared with the city of Northville — senior services, youth assistance and parks and recreation funding. It's an increase from the present millage rate of 0.40 mills, which is set to expire on Nov. 30.

The second request seeks a four-year special millage of 0.75 mills to raise funds for park land acquisition and development. Should it pass, money from the proposal would fund the construction of soccer and baseball fields, park equipment and the preservation of natural areas.

Township voters turned down both requests in August, but gave narrow approval to an eight-year funding program for public safety.

For the 9th state Senate district, candidates Thaddeus McCotter, Carol Poenisch and David Nagy will square off to replace the outgoing Bob Geake, R-Northville. McCotter, also a Republican, serves as a Wayne County commissioner. Democrat Carol Poenisch is a Northville Township mother of two. Nagy is vying for the seat on behalf of the Natural Law Party.

In the 20th State House district, incumbent Republican Gerald Law will be facing Democrat Fred Dila-covo and Libertarian Doug MacDonald.

Three other statewide proposals will be on the ballot, as well Proposal A seeks to change the term "handicapped" to "disabled" in the state constitution.

Proposal B would legalize the prescription of a lethal dose of medication to a terminally ill, competent informed adult to commit suicide, and Proposal C authorizes the state of Michigan to borrow up to $675 million to environmental and natural resources protection programs.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Gov. Engler visits Northville cider mill lies who were enjoying the crisp fall weather and cider mill fare.

"I didn't expect to see the Governor at the cider mill," said Michael Hachigian of Livonia, who was at Parmenter's with Diane Leap, also of Livonia.

Redford resident Tracy Johnston, who said she visits the mill every weekend, said she was also surprised to see Engler.

"I did a double take to see if it actually was him," she said.

Sue Hatch, a Northville City Police dispatcher, snapped a picture of her daughter Caitlin, 8, with Engler.

"It's nice that he could come here," Hatch said. "It's a wonderful opportunity for everyone to come out and meet him."

Although Engler was confronted with few political questions as he stopped to chat, shake hands and pose for photographs one visitor called out to ask Engler why he refused to debate challenger Geoffrey Fieger, the Democratic candidate for Governor.

His question went ignored.

"If there was an opportunity, I was going to ask him why he won't debate. Every governor's race has a debate and as a servant of the people he should stand in front of the people and answer their questions," said Alan Helmkamp of Livonia.

Inside the barn, Engler went behind the counter and took a tour of the kitchen and cider press.

Parmenter's presented the Governor with a gift basket of Michigan products that included nuts, wine, fudge, candy and maple syrup.

Including a 25-minute interview with the local paper, Engler's visit lasted an hour and a half.

Although he didn't have time to sample a spiced doughnut, he drank a complimentary cup of cold cider.

"It's a wonderful spot to come," Engler said. "The people are warm and friendly, and so I have a lot of fun."

City voters head to the polls on Tuesday man Elementary School, 847 N. Center.

Polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Residents who are ill, elderly or traveling on election day can obtain absentee ballots at City Hall from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. through Friday, Oct. 30 and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 31.

To be counted, the ballots may be dropped off or mailed to the city clerk's office, and must be received by Monday at 4 p.m.

"I always tell people to think of the post office. They have to be in our hands the day of the election or before," said elections clerk Pat Howard.

Absentee voters who pick up their ballots on Monday must vote in the clerk's office that day.

On the ballots, local residents will see four open seats for Northville District Library board trustees, with three official candidates to choose from.

It isn't too late for community members other than Jean Hansen, John Lorence and Joseph Oldenburg to take a shot at a trustee seat by declaring an intent to campaign as a write-in candidate.

Forms of intent may be obtained at a Northville City Hall and turned in no later than Friday, Oct. 30 at 4 p.m.

They may also be obtained at the Oakland or Wayne County clerks office.

According to Brown, city hall has received one declaration of intent so far, from Thomas Thompson.

Youth wields knife against group, claims no harm intended

A 14-year-old boy living in Innsbrook Apartments was transported to the Wayne County youth home after he allegedly threatened three other youths with a knife.

The incident occurred around 4:30 p.m. Oct. 20 when two brothers, age 10 and 12 were playing in a courtyard near their home along with another 14-year-old friend. According to reports, the suspect walked up to the trio, withdrew a 6-inch knife from a sheath and asked the youths, "Do you want to die?"

The 14-year-old boy who was playing yelled for the 10-year-old to run to his apartment and get the attention of a parent. The 12-year-old then asked the assailant if the knife was real. The suspect then turned to face the 12-year-old and responded by saying, "Do you want to find out?" Moments later, the suspect left the scene and returned to his own apartment.

The mother of the 10-year-old made her way outside and called out for the suspect to return, but he did not. The mother then called Northville Township police, who arrived at the scene minutes later.

Officers made contact with the suspect and asked him what had occurred. The boy said he "was just screwing around," and produced a small pocketknife. Officers showed the pocketknife to the victims, who said the knife which was brandished against them was much larger and had a curved blade.

Police returned to the assailant, who broke down and cried and showed that he had been hiding the actual blade in a cabinet in the home. The suspect's mother was not at home, but was telephoned by police.

The woman told police her son's behavior had been unruly as of late and believed jail time would be necessary.

The boy was arrested for felonious assault and was transported to the youth home without incident.

IN A JAMB: Township police were dispatched to Woodbend Drive at around 10 p.m. Oct. 21 after receiving a tip that a home break-in was in progress. On the way into the subdivision, the patrol car passed a vehicle which was seen carrying two youths wearing baseball hats, matching the description provided by the caller.

Police initiated a traffic stop along Eight Mile Road and asked the driver for identification. The driver, a 30-year-old Taylor man, said he was in Northville trying to find a girl's house, but only knew the home was located off of Eight Mile.

The driver was patted down. A small flashlight and pocketknife were found on his person. He was placed in the rear seat of a patrol car. The passenger was then questioned. His eyes were described in police reports as having constricted pupils. Police searched him and found a few pieces of wrapped candy.

A further search of the car turned up a piece of molding. The telephone complainant was brought to the scene, who indicated the suspects matched closely the appearance of the individuals seen earlier that night.

Police also found a small baggie containing a solid white rock. The driver told police it was crack cocaine.

CITY POLICE REPORTS

PAINT CON: Someone smashed a foot-long cement cylinder through the passenger window of a car parked on the 700-block of Grace Street, then splashed a half-quart of latex paint onto the upholstery.

The Grace Street resident told police his 1991 Mercury was fine when he parked it in front of his home around 10 p.m. Oct. 23. When he came out around 3 a.m. he found the broken window, which will cost an estimated $500 to fix.

The cylinder had been holding down the corner of a tarp in the resident's front lawn, and was too porous to be tested for fingerprints. The paint can wasn't recovered and there are no suspects at this time, police said.

GLARING ERROR: The setting sun may have been a factor in an accident that occurred in the city at 6 p.m. Oct. 23.

A 19-year-old Northville man pulling a landscaping trailer made a left turn from southbound Taft onto Eight Mile was struck by a 40-year-old motorist from Plymouth.

The Plymouth man reported that although his vision was affected by the sun, he believed the light was yellow as he proceeded through.

Only the trailer suffered damage.

Engler, Fieger answer questions relating to Northville

By WENDY WHITE
and JEREMY MCBAIN
Staff Writers

The hotly contested Governor's race between two-term incumbent John Engler and attorney Geoffrey Fieger should draw Northville and Novi voters to the polls in record numbers on Nov. 3.

With the election less than one week away, here's what Engler and Fieger had to say regarding their views on some issues that directly affect our community.

ROADS

Northville and Novi will face major shutdowns on I-275 in 1999 as large stretches of the freeway are repaired.

Engler said the continuous form concrete that was used to build the road in the 80's failed, but supports the study of new construction techniques and materials to avoid major shutdowns in the future.

"The $6 billion ten-year road plan that we're embarked on now is going to allow us to do a number of things. First and foremost to fix the roads we have and also to reevaluate new techniques and new materials for the 21st Century. That's a high priority," Engler said.

Fieger said he would require the Michigan Department of Transportation to revamp state standards so roads are built to last.

"The technology exists to build roads to last thirty to forty years," Fieger said. "I would eliminate waste and mismanagement of funds which has been Mr. Engler's hallmark for the last eight years, which is why our roads have deteriorated so greatly."

MENTAL HEALTH

As one of seven state-run mental health facilities left in Michigan, Northville Psychiatric Hospital stands as a symbol of public mental health care.

Engler said there are no plans to close the aging facility, but said he will continue to evaluate whether it can remain effective.

"The tragedy was, 20 years ago we had people locked in insane asylums that could function quite easily out in society," Engler said. "There have been tremendous advances in drug therapy and treatments and we're able to work with people much more effectively. I think they do recover more quickly when they're at home, comfortable in their surroundings."

Yet according to Fieger, many mentally disabled people lapse in taking medications and end up on the streets or in state prisons.

"The incidence of chronic and acute Schizophrenia is increasing and you can't treat that on an out-patient basis," Fieger said. "I want to reopen the mental health facilities. The state has an obligation to care for the health, safety and well-fore of the people and to protect the lower and middle economic classes. Health insurance doesn't provide for mental health care."

EDUCATION

Under Proposal A, passed in 1995, the state collects taxes and distributes the money to local school districts.

Northville and Novi Public School officials have complained that planning is difficult under Proposal A because the state doesn't announce funding levels until the school's fiscal year is underway.

Engler said the legislature recently decided on a two-year funding schedule and he would like to see that continue.

"I think Proposal A, because of the predictability of funding, leads to better planning and more predictability," he said.

However, Fieger said there have been tremendous shortcomings with Proposal A and would take a different approach to school funding.

"Virtually every school district will tell you they are receiving less money under Proposal A. Mr. Engler is playing a shell game and schools don't know how much they are receiving until November," he said. "I will make sure that all lottery dollars will go to schools over and above full funding."

As for charter schools, Engler said he supports using public money to fund the small, non-traditional schools that are run by a board of directors instead of an elected board.

"People move to Northville or Novi because they like the schools. They can afford to do that," he said. "What do you do with somebody who has no economic ability to pay tuition to a private school or to move and buy a new home? I think one of the remedies is to give them the same choice people have when going to college."

Fieger said he is opposed to funding charter schools because the state cannot maintain two parallel systems of public education.

ENVIRONMENT

Both candidates said they will redevelop urban centers to avoid urban sprawl.

Engler said he supports Proposal C, an environmental bill that will, in part, fund brownfields redevelopment.

"I think by reusing the urban core we take some of the pressure off the outlying areas. We have historically left the major zoning questions up to the township but I know we're engaging in a major review right now of what are some tools that can be helpful to a township and what can be done in any community to help limit pressure," Engler said.

Without mentioning Proposal C, Fieger proposed a land use policy that would require developers to pay for infrastructure in greenspace, thus removing that burden from the state.

In addition, Fieger said he envisions tax incentives that would encourage developers to reinvigorate abandoned urban areas with public transportation, culture and better schools and public safety.

"I would redirect the state's resources to rebuild urban areas and encourage people to live there so there isn't a constant demand to escape from the urban areas," he said.

ASSISTED SUICIDE

Voters will be called upon Nov. 3 to decide Proposal B, which would legalize assisted suicide in the state.

Engler said he is opposed to the ballot proposal, while Fieger said he supports it.

"I think it's horribly written and could quickly lead to the point where a person with disabilities, senior citizens, elderly people who are near the end of life feel they've become a burden and they have a duty to die," Engler said.

Instead of assisted suicide, he said he will support the medical community and the hospice movement.

Fieger, on the other hand, said a vote for Proposal B represents a vote for choice.

"I don't support assisted suicide or abortion but I believe these are tragic personal decisions that need to be made by the individual, not by a government bureaucrat," Fieger said.

Church youth group's homemade game interests Disney

By WENDY WHITE
Staff Writer

The Disney Channel is launching a new reality sports show next year, and some Northville kids will be among the first featured athletes.

"Z Games" is meant to highlight inventive games created and played by kids across the nation using everyday objects and limited space.

Enter: "Ping Pong Paddleball." Played by youth group members at Northville's First Baptist Church, the game never even had a name, but that didn't stop an enterprising Northville High School sophomore from pitching it to Disney.

Donnell Quaker, 15, responded to a commercial on the Disney Channel seeking unique games.

His letter inspired a visit from a "Z Games" rep, who filmed the game in action on a handheld camera.

"Ping Pong Paddleball" impressed executives, survived a screening and two weeks later a crew returned to interview youth group members and get broadcast quality footage.

"I didn't think they were going to use our game but they said it was different. It showed kids having fun," Quaker said. "I'm really excited about it being on TV."

The members of the youth group, ranging in age from 11 to 18, often play games at their weekly meetings as a way to foster teamwork and trust.

Group leader Kevin Kilgore said he tries to take the fun outside whenever possible, but he has to get creative when inclement weather sets in.

Thus, the birth of "Ping Pong Paddleball."

"This is kind of a hybrid of a couple different games. It's an original," said Kilgore, a church intern who's studied youth services and physical education. "Once you learn the rules, it's not much different than baseball."

There are, however, a few slight deviations from America's favorite pastime.

Instead of a bat and ball, the game uses table tennis equipment.

Batting from their knees and running bases in a low squat, the team with the most home run points at the end of six innings wins the game.

Although knee pads might help, members said the game is a lot of fun.

"It's great to be united through Christ and just have fun together," said Amber Hare, a sophomore at Northville High School.

Although many members said they were excited about being featured nationally on "Z Games," Amanda Bryan hopes the group's appearance on the show has impact close to home.

"One of the reasons we want to do the show is people in the neighborhood will see it, and it will be advertising for our youth group," said Bryan, a ninth-grader at Plymouth Christian Academy.

Disney has commissioned thirteen episodes of the children's sports show so far, each featuring four games embellished with skits and interviews.

In Northville, "Z Games" will premiere on MediaOne channel 57 beginning in January.

First Baptist church officials didn't sanction the youth group's participation in the program, however, as some members of the congregation have chosen to boycott Disney because of their policies toward homosexuality, said pastor David Simmons.

"This is something that the kids did. It is asked if they could film the game and use the basement of the church," Simmons said. "We realize there are certain people within the church that may have an objection to the Disney Corporation."

Center Street businesses stay busy amid noisy reconstruction

By CHRIS C. DAVIS
Staff Writer

The jarring sound of jackhammers apparently was doing little to scare away business from downtown Northville merchants operating on Center Street.

The north-south artery in the city is in the midst of a $1.7 million reconstruction project which has torn apart sidewalks and created detours for drivers. However, those whose livelihoods depend on patrons weren't being adversely affected.

Tammy Summers, manager of The Pickety Patch, said business Thursday was solid — an unexpected surprise.

"We thought we'd have a really low turnout, but it's been awfully busy today," she said.

Summers said the closing-off of Center from Main Street north to Dunlap hadn't caused trouble for daily revenues.

"Most revenue I've seen who shop here don't park out in front because there's never a spot nearby anyway," she said. "They usually end up parking at one of the lots and walking over here. I don't know who's parking in front of our store, but they definitely aren't shopping here."

Work wasn't hampering life at In Your Dreams, either. Pam Carter, owner of the pillowcase retailer and birthday party venue, also said parking was a bit difficult, but that it wasn't anything out of the ordinary.

"It's a bit of pain, but downtown Northville parking always is," she said. "We have it a lot better than businesses on the (east) side of the street where the sidewalk was all torn up."

Carter said she had few complaints about the progress of the work, except for noise and dust.

"I think the workers are moving along pretty well," she said. "I'm looking forward to having it done, of course, but it really hasn't been all that bad for us."

Construction couldn't have come at a better time for D & D Bicycles. Manager Dan Foster said most of his business is generated in the spring months with a bit of a surge in December and January for holiday shopping.

"It really hasn't been a problem for us," Foster said. "Had it been in early spring, we may have been affected, but this really is our slowest time."

Meanwhile, construction continued along the west side of Center Street last week, as crews tore up sidewalks and placed occasional detours to reroute traffic.

The present phase of Center Street reconstruction is expected to wrap up by mid-November and resume in the spring, when crews will rebuild the span running from Dunlap north to Eight Mile Road.

Construction supervisor Charles Stilwell said new asphalt would begin being laid down during the day Wednesday, with brick work and electrical connections following that.

"We're on track to have things taken care of by our original completion date," Stilwell said.

The mild and dry October weather was providing additional help for the project, Stilwell said.

HAPPY HALLOWEEN

We hope your Halloween is a real treat, but follow these safety tips to keep it from becoming too scary:

1. Trick or Treat before dark. Wear reflective tape on costumes.
2. Masks shouldn't block vision, and costumes should be nonflammable and should not restrict movement.
3. Children should tell an adult their planned route, and return home at a designated time.
4. Younger children should always have an adult present. Never go alone.
5. Go to well-lit, familiar house. Never go into a stranger's house or car for any reason. Use the bathroom before you leave home.
6. Don't eat treats before they are inspected by an adult. Discard unwrapped candy and wash and cut up fruit.

Blame abounds in Northville Commons stop sign removal

By CHRIS C. DAVIS
Staff Writer

Fingers pointed in all directions last week as Northville Township and Wayne County officials tried sorting out a confusing traffic situation near the entrance to the Northville Commons subdivision.

The matter came to a head Friday, when Wayne County commissioner and state Senate candidate Thaddeus McCotter denied a suggestion made in a letter sent by township supervisor Karen Woodside that his staff was involved in creating the entanglement.

The letter, dated Oct. 10, asked for McNamara's assistance in traffic control problems near the entrance to the subdivision. According to the letter, residents of Rayburn Street approached the township earlier this year asking for stop signs to be installed at the intersection of Rayburn and Winchester. The response, the letter said, was for Wayne County officials to install stop signs at the Ladywood Court / Ladywood / Winchester intersection, while stop signs were removed at the north and south intersection of Banbury and Winchester.

Woodside's letter said township officials had received nearly 100 telephone calls concerning the removal of signs, and said that she, along with public safety director Chip Snider, were nearly involved in a car accident since the stop signs were removed.

Comments made in the letter were reflective of testimonials provided by Woodside and other members of the township board at prior meetings, who said they had had close calls in the awkward street alignment. The streets are used extensively as footpaths for students of Winchester Elementary.

The letter went on, saying that residents have indicated that "the change is the result of some intervention of Ms. Gini Britton of (McCotter's) staff attempting to assist residents of Northville Colony subdivision." Britton is a former township trustee and is working alongside McCotter in his attempt to win a seat in the state Senate next month.

"This is simply a ploy by the supervisor to make (McCotter) and his staff look inept."

Gini Britton
assistant to Thaddeus McCotter

McCotter said Woodside's letter simply wasn't true.

"Ms. Woodside of all people should know that I have no control whatsoever over roads in Northville Township," McCotter said Friday. "All control of the township's roads comes from Ed McNamara and Vicky Holland."

Holland serves as engineer of traffic operations for Wayne County.

Britton also disagreed with assertions in the letter. In her estimation, the suggestion that she or McCotter had anything to do with the confusion at the intersection was indicative of election year politics.

"This is simply a ploy by the supervisor to make (McCotter) and his staff look inept," Britton said.

Britton said she had conversations with Northville Colony residents who also expressed concern over the alignment of stop signs but that her involvement with the matter stopped when she passed that information on to Holland.

Calls to Holland were referred to John Roach, Wayne County public information manager. Roach said the signs were removed after conducting studies of the traffic flow in the Winchester/Banbury area and after consulting with township public safety director Chip Snider. According to Roach, information gained through those analyses and in discussion with Snider led the county to believe that removing signs along north and southbound Winchester and Banbury / Dundalk "would create safer traffic flow."

"What usually happens in such situations is that you have people who are on their way out of the subdivision, see that the traffic signal at Winchester and Six Mile is about to change red, then decide that they can forego the stop sign to make it through the light," Roach said. "People just had the tendency to roll on through."

Roach said county officials installed signs below the stop sign at the intersection of Banbury/Dundalk and Winchester, warning drivers that cross-traffic would not stop.

However dangerous the situation was, Roach said the situation could be made much safer for drivers and pedestrians if sidewalks were installed in the subdivision.

Snider said the township public safety department has been under a great deal of criticism from Northville Commons residents. Those comments, Snider said, are being sent to the wrong people.

"A lot of folks thought public safety made the recommendation to remove the signs," Snider said. "We didn't. We do not, as a charter township, have control of any streets or highways. That's all left up to the county and (Holland's) office."

Snider said he had only petitioned Holland once in his nine-year career, and that was for installation of a traffic signal at Six Mile and Bradner. As for his opinion of the Banbury / Dundalk / Winchester intersection now, Snider said he believed the drive to be treacherous.

"I think it's dangerous as it is right now because there's an assumption of stopping traffic at Winchester when there isn't," Snider said. "A lot of frustration with the homeowners in Northville Commons has to do with the psychology of traffic patterns. People get into certain habits and want things to go back to normal."

City fire crew to throw Halloween bash

By WENDY WHITE
Staff Writer

Northville is preparing to avoid tricks this Halloween by treating its children to a really good time.

The festivities will begin with the sound of the fire siren at 6 p.m. and officially end on the same note at 8 p.m.

During that time, residents should use their porch light to indicate whether they're receiving trick-or-treaters.

Continuing a tradition that began in the mid 60's, the fire department will host a Halloween Party at the station, 215 W. Main St.

"We actually close the street here for one block so people can mill around," said fire chief James Allen. "We have cider and popcorn and cotton candy. We'll have balloons this year."

The party will peak at 7:30 p.m. with a costume contest at the Northville Community Recreation Center right next door.

Trophies will go to first, second and third place winners in five different age categories: newborn to 3; 4 to 6; 7 to 11; 12 to 15; and 16 and older.

Entire families will also be recognized, and everyone who participates will receive a ribbon.

For more than 30 years, the firemen have staged the party, which last year drew to attract 1,500 people.

"It's grown each year and it's something the fellows look forward to. We like to do it for the kids," Allen said. "We have many people who just gather here for the whole evening. We probably have as many adults as we do kids."

Although it's a great place to costume watch, Allen said fire fighters will simply dress in uniform to highlight the fire fighting equipment on display at the event.

Neighborhoods throughout Northville will be full of kids ringing doorbells for loot. Some homes neighboring the Recreation Center may have to prepare for hundreds of trick-or-treaters, while outlying homes will have to estimate how much candy to stock based on years past.

Allen suggests that children trick-or-treat with an adult chaperone, carry flashlights and be careful crossing the street.

Generally, children are discouraged to accept unwrapped candy, but that won't stop Carrie Pichan, 8, from eating the baked treats from her neighbor in Lexington Commons.

"The Pancopfs give the best cookies," said Pichan, who plans to dress like a grocery bag full of food. Dawn Pancopf, a 12-year

Northville resident, wraps her chocolate chip cookies in a bag and encloses a note introducing herself and wishing children a Happy Halloween.

She said parents usually see her giving out the grub.

"I never have anyone say they weren't allowed to eat my cookies," Pankopf said. "I get lots of teenagers year after year who keep coming back."

Parents like Stephanie Kerr, also of Lexington Commons, said she uses discretion when going through her children's loot.

"They don't eat anything that's unwrapped unless we know the neighbor personally," Kerr said.

Mary Konkel said she also takes precautions to keep her sons Collin and Jonathan safe.

"Mom personally checks all the candy and grabs all the favorites," she joked.

Collin Konkel, a first-grader, said he likes Halloween.

"It's fun cause you can walk down the street and get candy," he said.

OLV buys Eight / Beck property for church site

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Staff Writer

Residents' fears of a shopping mall at Eight Mile and Beck roads can be calmed now that the land has been bought by a local church.

Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church in Northville announced last week it purchased the property at Eight Mile and Beck roads. The property became the center of controversy lately when a developer proposed building a shopping center, including a Kroger grocery store, on the site.

Due to the protest from area residents, the developer pulled out of the deal.

Father Ernest Porcari, of Our Lady of Victory, confirmed the church bought the property for about $3 million.

He said the parish is hoping to build a new church on the site to meet the needs of a growing parish. A school and recreation facilities are also planned for the site.

As far as the actual design of the complex, Porcari said it has not been planned.

"We haven't hired a architect or contractor yet," he said.

Porcari said the land is perfect for a new church.

"It is within our parish boundaries and we needed 20 acres to develop a parish," he said. "But that doesn't mean all 20 acres will have building on it."

He added the design of the complex will meet whatever requirements the city asks for.

"My next step right now would be to pray and to get parishioners and the leadership to dream about the future," Porcari said. "It is just a question of planning and praying."

Kerreen Conley, director of developmental services in Novi, said the church will have to go before the Novi Planning Commission to get a special land use permit. A rezoning will not be necessary.

She added that because the church does need a special use permit and must have a site plan review, the project will have a public hearing.

Porcari said he has not heard any reaction from the residents of the area.

Susan Sherwood, a resident of the area who was opposed to the shopping center development, expressed caution about the new plan.

Northville braces for increase in water bills

Northville is billed by Wayne County.

So what caused the increase? City public works director Jim Gallogly had a few ideas.

"There are a number of reasons we see this sort of thing happen, particularly around this time of the year," Gallogly said. "First, it's not at all uncommon for water bills to be substantially higher for this billing cycle than at other times because the months of September and August are on there — two very hot months."

This year's summer was both very hot and very dry, making water consumption all the greater, according to Gallogly.

"It just didn't rain in July or August," he said.

In addition to climatic reasons, Gallogly explained the accuracy of water meters needed to be taken into consideration, though the meters — when incorrect — err on the side of the homeowner, he said.

"When meters go bad, they go bad in favor of the customer. That's the way they're designed," he said. "For the most part, they're 100 percent accurate, but every once in a while we come across a situation where they're not."

It's mainly commercial buildings where new meters have not yet been installed, Gallogly said.

There may also be difficulties with the actual reading of the meters, but according to Gallogly steps are being taken to cut down on those problems. In the past, water meters were connected to an analog counter which could be read on the outside of a home. Water consumption sometimes did not register from one meter to the other, creating a discrepancy, Gallogly said. Human error may also play a role, he said. When numbers are written down, the transposition of a numeral can make a great deal of difference.

Where a discrepancy exists, Gallogly said the city will do some number-crunching to determine what the actual usage was.

Northville Township police are seeking help from the public in locating a suspected carjacker.

According to reports, a 32-year-old female employee at Meijer was in the parking lot around 6 a.m. Oct. 21, when she was approached by a black male, believed to be between 20 and 30 years old. The man was driving a black Chevrolet Camaro from the late 1980s or early 1990s.

Reports indicated the man forced his way into the woman's car. The two then drove a few blocks away from the shopping center, at which point the man then requested the woman surrender money to him. She told her attacker she had none.

The man then demanded sex from the woman. After listening to repeated pleas from the woman, the man eventually allowed the woman to exit her car. The woman's vehicle was returned to the Meijer lot. Detective Fred Yankee said the woman was not physically injured in the incident.

A composite drawing of the suspect was being assembled by police Wednesday morning.

The suspect was described as having a very dark complexion and heavy build. He was last seen wearing a black jacket and black jeans.

The township police can be reached at (248) 349-9400.

McCotter earns our vote for ninth Senate district

When Republican Thaddeus McCotter won his party primary for the Ninth District senate seat, most people considered the victory as a sure lock against any Democrat that would oppose him in November.

Luckily McCotter didn't buy into that school of thought, and it's a good thing because Democratic challenger Carol Poenisch has proven to be a worthy opponent during the fall campaign. Despite her good showing however, we're encouraging voter support for THADDEUS MCCOTTER on Nov. 3.

McCotter is a Livonia resident who has represented the city and township as a Wayne County Commissioner. In that capacity he has become a competent legislator who often finds himself in the minority on county issues.

We regard McCotter as a firm law-maker who doesn't shrink from a fight, even when he is heavily outnumbered. He stood up for Northville Township while Wayne County officials delayed taking care of the long-neglected county-owned land.

In addition, McCotter is disapproving of the wasteful spending practices of county government. He opposes closing Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital and "mainstreaming" patients into the community, and believes the system of mental health is an essential function of government.

Most recently McCotter co-sponsored a "super majority" ballot proposal that was approved by voters in the Aug. 4 primary election. The proposal mandates that two-thirds of county commissioners approve a tax-levying measure to be placed on a ballot, and 60 percent of voters would be required to approve the measure in a general election.

We believe that his actions will save taxpayers from a tax-hungry county government that needs to be more responsible with its funds. We are also encouraged by McCotter's vow to bring the super majority concept to the state-level.

Although our endorsement is clearly for McCotter, we believe Poenisch would make a great state representative in two years. The 44-year-old mother of two, has never sought public office before, but has plenty of experience and savvy in promoting state-wide issues.

Poenisch founded Merian's Friends, a grass-roots organization seeking to permit doctor assistance in dying. The organization was named for Poenisch's mother, Merian Frederick, whose death was the 19th attended by Dr. Jack Kevorkian.

The organization, with Poenisch's help was able to bring the question of physician-assisted dying to the November ballot - Proposal B.

It is our hope that Poenisch will continue her quest for public office in the future.

But in this race, we believe that McCotter offers plenty of experience and dedication to the district. His views are in line with those of our residents and we believe that he would represent our communities well.

That is why our recommendation for the Ninth District senate seat is THADDEUS MCCOTTER.

Thaddeus McCotter

We encourage your vote for Bill Bullard on Nov. 3

Two years ago we had little doubt that Willis Bullard would be a successful state senator representing the 15th Senate District, and after observing his first term we're fairly certain he'll continue that pattern.

That is why we're again urging voters to select Willis Bullard at the polls Nov. 3.

Bullard faces Democrat Ruth Fuller in the race for the senate seat.

It is our belief that Bullard's experience as a legislator is deserving of our endorsement. He started out in local politics, serving as a Highland Township trustee from 1979-80. He then became township supervisor from 1980-82. He took office in the state House in 1982, and served there for seven terms.

Bullard's legislative experience is particularly noteworthy. He has served on the powerful House Taxation Committee in almost every conceivable position.

As a first term senator Bullard served as vice-chair of the Senate Finance Committee, sponsoring several pieces of legislation to cut taxes.

His House and Senate experience gives him great insight into the committee system in Lansing, which is where the real nitty-gritty of crafting state law takes place. We've also found Bullard to be responsive and accessible to his constituents, which is a trait we look for in all lawmakers.

There is, however, a dark blemish on his otherwise above-average record, and it is one that causes us great concern. Since his election to the state House of Representatives, Bullard has sponsored or supported legislation that would weaken the Freedom of Information Act, thereby cutting off public access to some government records. As protectors of open and honest government this newspaper cannot, in good conscience, condone Bullard's attempts to limit the public's access to information.

With that said we do believe that Bullard does possess the experience and leadership qualities the communities of the 15th state senate district need. Voters would be best served by selecting Willis Bullard to retain his 15th District Senate seat Nov. 3.

Bill Bullard

Our endorsements

We pick Law to return to state House

Northville city and township residents like their elected officials to be responsive and in tune with the issues that effect them.

There is only one man that, in our opinion, fits the bill. That's why we're encouraging voters to select incumbent GERALD LAW at the polls Aug. 4.

Voters living in Northville Township and Wayne County Northville will choose between Law and challenger Fred Dilacovo in balloting for the 20th District House seat.

Simply put, Law has become a major policy maker in the state House of Representatives. In Law's last two terms he has introduced more than 60 pieces of legislation, many of the them containing key reforms of the state's auto insurance and health care codes.

He has been extremely responsive to the needs of our communities in the areas of education, tax reform, and roads. He has also been an advocate for the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital.

He does not support school vouchers, and is in constant contact with local school officials on issues of public education financing, testing, and educational reforms.

He has introduced legislation that has helped the state's horse racing industry - legislation that allowed simulcasting and parimutuel betting at Northville Downs.

Most importantly, Law is one of the best informed legislators in Lansing.

Not much can be said about Law's opponent. Fred Dilacovo has not actively campaigned and has not made himself available to the press.

What we can say is that Law has an excellent record. He is a steady and vigilant representative for the interests of our community, and he is accessible to his constituents.

We strongly recommend a vote for GERALD LAW to remain our 20th District state representative.

Cassis earns second term in Lansing

Frankly, Novi voters would be making a big mistake if they were to replace State Rep. NANCY CASSIS in the Michigan Legislature.

Since first winning a seat in the state House, she has worked hard for the district and done well. Almost unanimously among Novi city officials, she is given good grades for work on behalf of city in the state capitol.

And that might come as a surprise to some. Cassis came from local politics, serving several terms on Novi City Council. And in that time, just as you might expect, she accumulated her fair share of political opponents and enemies. At the time, she did not shy away from controversial subjects. So there is no way she could avoid collecting her share of critics.

But since she's gone to Lansing, even her former political enemies give her high praise.

Nancy Cassis

Not the least of her accomplishments in Lansing has been the obtaining of money needed for the construction of a new Beck Road/I-96 interchange. Unlike to have proceeded anytime soon, Cassis worked in Lansing to change that. She worked with a coalition of local interests and the MDOT to get the project slated for construction. She has loosened up the state's budget, which now includes allocations for this project.

Cassis has also worked hard with the state Republicans to lower taxes, and she designed a tax cut plan later picked and carried forward by Gov. John Engler.

One of her most important accomplishments is an area unlikely to get much attention. She has worked diligently with the governor's office to get a number of Novi residents appointed to various boards and commissions in Lansing. That might not seem like a major accomplishment to some, but it will have the impact of increasing Novi's influence in the state Capitol.

Overall, Cassis has worked hard and she has been effective on behalf of her district.

We say vote to return NANCY CASSIS to the state House of Representatives.

We like Hickey for U.S. Representative

For the past few years we've been desperately searching for a strong Republican candidate to challenge Rep. Lynn Rivers, D-Ann Arbor, for the 13th District seat on the U.S. House of Representatives.

Well this year it looks as if we've finally found one, and we're encouraging voters to cast their ballot for TOM HICKEY on Nov. 3.

Hickey, a 43-year-old resident of Plymouth Township, is the founder and president of MediQuest Inc., a medical distribution company that serves operating rooms and critical care centers in Michigan and Northern Ohio.

He is a former Plymouth precinct delegate and a graduate of Oakland University.

Although this is his first shot at public office, Hickey has plenty of political savvy and would not have a tough time understanding the inner workings of Congress. His views on pertinent issues such as health care, tax relief, and improving the delivery of public education are right in line with the views held by most in our communities.

Specifically, Hickey supports:

- the expansion of Medical Savings Accounts and making health care costs 100 percent deductible for small business owners.
- reforming the nation's tax code by creating a flatter, fairer and simpler tax that rewards saving and investments.
- tuition tax credits for working families that can be used for books, tutors, computers or tuition.
- Federal funding for transportation and infrastructure, insuring that Michigan receives a just return on the tax dollars exported to Washington D.C.

Hickey also supports trying juveniles as adults for violent crimes.

Most of all we believe that Hickey will best represent the interests of a conservative-minded Northville instead of a liberal-minded Ann Arbor. That is why we are recommending Northville voters select TOM HICKEY at the polls on Nov. 3.

Tom Hickey

We urge voters approve Proposal C

We urge voters to say "YES" TO PROPOSAL C, the Clean Michigan Initiative bond issue on the Nov. 3 ballot.

We laud Republicans and Democrats in both chambers of the Legislature and the Engler administration for putting aside partisan posturing and coming up with a proposal to clean up Michigan lands, waters and parks.

Proposal C is a $675 million bond issue. About half, $335 million, will go for "brownfield redevelopment and environmental cleanup." The rest will go to the Clean Water Fund, state parks revitalization, local parks and recreation, waterfronts, control of lead hazards and contaminated river sediments.

Just one question has been raised about the package - the "brownfield" portion. Its lone critic, Geoffrey Fieger, and others raise an honest question about whether it's "corporate welfare." We think not. It's in the public interest of cities, suburbs and farmlands. Here's why:

The 1992 Polluter Pay law backfired. It imposed such strict liability standards that anyone who ever had had an interest in the property could have been stuck paying a cleanup bill.

Of course, the real polluter - who may be dead or bankrupt - couldn't be touched. Bankers and other lenders wanted to part of financing a new industrial project on old city land for fear of being stuck with liability.

Result: Business and industrial developers paved over "greenfields," meadows and croplands that used to provide food and recreation. This is known as "urban sprawl," not growth. It's improper stewardship of nature's resources.

So the state amended the law to change it from a "deep pockets" measure to something more nearly resembling true "polluter pay."

The Proposal C bond money will enable the state to help fund cleanups, with local governments and potential developers, so that old land can be redeveloped. Moreover, it can be redeveloped close to people who need jobs.

It can be used for cleanups, demolitions and treatment where there is no financially viable person - human or corporate - to pay for it. Far from being "corporate welfare," that is the people of Michigan stepping into a vacuum and saving old urban land.

And it will result in more and better jobs than casinos or ball parks.

The $675 million is $175 million more than Gov. Engler wanted and $325 million less than some environmentalists wanted. We are reminded of Alistair Cooke's commentary on American history: "The first three rules of politics are: compromise, compromise, compromise."

Finally, we point out that Proposal C asks no new taxes. The bond issue will be paid off at about $40 million a year from existing state revenues.

Why bond? To get the job done faster. Economists say a bond issue is a valid way of financing a capital project. The Federal Reserve Board has just lowered the rediscount rate, making borrowing cheaper. This is a perfect time to borrow, and a perfect way to use the money.

Proposal C deserves an overwhelming "YES" vote on Nov. 3.

Ticket-splitting is the norm in this state

So here we are, less than a week before Election Day in what certainly will go down in the history books as among the most bizarre elections in Michigan political history.

I'm obliged to warn readers of this column: I've got more than an academic interest this time around. I'm on the ballot myself, running for reelection to the University of Michigan Board of Regents.

Earlier in the campaign, when it became clear that Geoffrey Fieger was making no headway against Gov. John Engler, lots of politicians were thinking in terms of a historic Republican tidal wave sweeping the ballot from top to bottom.

But things can change quickly in politics. The GOP leadership in Congress overreached in trying to milk the impeachment proceedings against President Clinton. To their surprise, the national news media discovered most folks beyond the Beltway were more interested in appropriations and policy — the stuff of governing — than in Monica Lewinski. And Fieger figured out how to quit shooting himself in the foot every time he opened his mouth.

So my guess is this: After people get through doing whatever they're going to do for governor at the top of the ballot, they'll go back to being the kind of sane, rational, ticket-splitting voters that Michiganders have always been.

For example, even though Gov. Engler has a big lead, Democrat Jennifer Granholm is running a very strong race against Republican John Smetanka to succeed "eternal" Attorney General Frank Kelley. I've seen no evidence that any incumbent members of Congress, Republican or Democratic, are in trouble. With term limits retiring two-thirds of the old members, nobody knows much about anybody who's running for the State House of Representatives.

So voters are going to be scanning down their ballots, looking for sensible candidates from either major party and splitting their tickets accordingly. For competent candidates of both parties who find themselves condemned to relative anonymity, the challenge is to find ways to cut through the information vacuum to find ways to inform voters that there are pockets of sanity and competence well worth while searching out.

It was ever thus in Michigan, at least since the 1964 election, when Democratic President Lyndon Johnson carried Michigan by more than one million votes over Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater, while Republican Gov. George Romney trounced Neil Staeble, his Democratic opponent, by nearly 400,000. That's a swing of 1.4 million votes, a veritable orgy of ticket splitting!

In fact, the Michigan data were so remarkable as to form the basis of an influential book, "The Ticket-Splitter," written in 1972 by V. Lance Tarrance Jr. and Walter DeVries. They argued that American voting patterns, historically oriented toward straight ticket voting, had changed in the 1960s, giving rise to wholesale ticket splitting.

A just-published book by Tarrance,

"Checked & Balanced: How Ticket-Splitters are Shaping the New Balance of Power in American Politics," confirms the trend. Nearly 70 percent of voters surveyed told Roper Center pollsters that they "typically" shun straight-ticket voting.

There's another factor, too, in the rise of ticket-splitting: The mechanism of the way people cast their votes. In the old days, when people voted with machines, it was easy to vote a straight ticket. You pulled the lever at the top of your party's column on the ballot. Not only did this cast your ballot for all candidates of your party, but the mechanics of the voting machine physically prevented you — locked you out — from voting for any candidates from the other party.

Today's machines, either the optical scanners or the punch card, subtly promote the process of working down the ballot — line by line, page by page, office by office — scrutinizing the candidates and voting back and forth between parties. Sure, with either machine, you can vote a straight ticket by marking the box at the top of the ballot.

But with both punch card and optical scanner machines, you can vote straight and then vote for one or two candidates from the other party and have those votes count.

I'd guess this election will, once again, produce a lot of split tickets, just like most Michigan elections, where a basically sane electorate searches down the ballot for sensible candidates, regardless of party. But, whether you vote straight or split your ticket, it's very important you remember to vote!

Student's death should teach parents a lesson

To the editor:
How in the world does a parent send their minor child off to a first-rate university and eight weeks later, end up burying that child?

The tragic death of 18-year-old Courtney Cantor at the University of Michigan last week never should have happened.

What is going on at colleges and universities across the country, where students are dying all too frequently as a result of alcohol-related accidents or binge drinking.

Alcohol use/abuse among underage students is not a right of passage. It is a death sentence. It is also illegal.

If college and university administrators choose to look the other way, perhaps parents should start looking for alcohol-free campuses to entrust their kids to.

Eighteen and 19-year-olds lack good judgment to resist alcohol and peer pressure to drink, especially when alcohol flows pervasively at sororities and fraternities.

Wake up parents, confront your college/university administrators and demand action be taken toward rectifying this major problem.

Mary and Don Peski

Why are district's legal fees high?

To the editor:
I've written several letters about the Northville School Board, saying they don't have to abide by the township's building code.

I said the lawyers love municipal work as both sides get paid and the taxpayers are the losers.

I read in The Northville Record that the law suit has cost the school board $67,000 in legal fees and the township has spent $6,000.

We haven't even been to court yet. If those figures are correct as reported, I think the lawyers for the school board's law firm must have the whole law firm's employees on the payroll, including the janitor.

I think $67,000 would buy about 32 or more computers.

Does the school board really care what they spend? No, because it is the taxpayers' money. They just ask for another bond issue when they need more money.

My office has been in Plymouth for over 37 years and the Plymouth Board was saying how terrible the conditions of their busses were, and they won't get delivery of new busses for at least a year after they order them. They should have had a bond issue a year ago.

My solution to them and all school boards, instead of paying 90 percent-plus for salaries, pay 80 percent for salaries and put 10 percent away for new equipment each year.

When the equipment is worn out, you have the money for new equipment and repairs instead of crying about no money for new equipment.

Business is allowed a depreciation expense so what is wrong with the school board using common sense in running the schools?

When a business spends all of its money for operating expenses, the money is all gone with a need to replace it — they are out of business.

Cathy Serkaian remembered as loving wife, good friend

To the editor:
In the year 301 A.D., Armenia became the first nation in the world to adopt Christianity as its state religion — and for almost 1700 years, Armenians have held steadfast to ancient rites and customs in our church, including mourning the loss of a loved one for 40 days.

I find myself in this mourning period, for on Sept. 22, just three days before our 44th wedding anniversary, my wife, Catherine Serkaian, died at Beaumont Hospital from cardiac arrest — a flailed mitral valve causing her death after ten days of hospitalization.

I wish to publicly express my heartfelt thanks, appreciation and gratitude to the Northville Township Police officers and Firemen, and medical technicians from Huron Valley EMS who arrived at our home at 2:30 a.m. on Saturday morning, Sept. 12, for their professional care, their compassion and concern for my wife, and also my well being. They were angels in uniform and I cannot thank them enough. God bless them, all of them.

Very special thanks to the Rev. Doug Vernon and the Rev. Art Spafford of the First United Methodist Church of Northville, and the Rev. John Budde of Holy Family Catholic Church of Novi, who, among Armenian priests, visited Cathy in the hospital and offered prayers, giving us great solace and spiritual strength.

And my most sincere thanks also to our neighbors for their many kindnesses shown to me and my family through cards, phone calls, visitations, meals and food baskets. Their love and respect for us will never, ever be forgotten for each of them who helped to ease our pain and sorrow.

Cathy and I moved into Northville 30 years ago. Our three children, Stephen, John and Roxanne graduated from Northville High School and we were always present at their school functions and sporting events in which they participated. At Cooke Middle School and at the high school, while seated in the stands or bleachers, Cathy's tote bag filled with freshly baked Armenian pastries, fruit, candy, and other goodies enticed many to sit around us. She was lovingly called "our food lady" and she loved it. And the joy she brought to others was fun to watch. You may have come hungry to the game, but, you went home with your tummy full. Thanks to Cathy.

She worked at Chatham (now Shopping Center Market) on Center Street and even buying lunchmeat from her was for many of her customers, a delightful experience. At the slicer, she'd cut a slice of ham — "How's the kids?" she'd ask. Another slice — "Are you going to the game tonight?" One more slice — "Did you see the sale they're having at Hudson's?" With each and every slice, she'd ask about your family, your new home or car, and if she paid you a compliment, "Your hair looks so nice today," "Boy, you look sharp," "I love your nails," it came straight from her heart.

You were never in a hurry to leave Cathy or the deli for she had endeared herself to all her "customers," whom she always referred to as "my friends."

Cathy was a very special lady. She was a friend to those who needed a friend, a sister to those who needed a sister, a mother to those who needed a mom. You could cry on her shoulder and she'd wipe away your tears. You could empty your soul to her, bemoaning or complaining of your fate, your troubles, and woes and she'd raise your spirits and fill you with hope and contentment.

She was beautiful in every which way, both inwardly and outwardly, and her smile and laughter would bring warmth to those even made of stone. She was loved by all who knew her.

My children, grandchildren and I are blessed that she was God's gift to us — she was our blessing and we're happy that she was. For many of you in our town, a true friend, and in a way, your blessing too.

I think my church fathers will understand that 40 days of mourning is not long enough for me. For 44 years she was my life, and I'll mourn forever my Cathy's loss.

DEQ claims Ely Fuel not responsible for contamination with that," Hoin said. "It can sometimes be a challenge backtracking through old records, but we are doing our best in that regard."

Environmental experts traced the source of much of the contamination to leaking oil lagoons, which were used by General Oil in up through the 1970s. Geologists believe the oil and oil by-products were hitching a ride on underground aquifers and were making their way toward the Mill Pond and Ford Pond.

Some of the chemicals, Hoin said, are potentially toxic. To this point in time, Hoin said experts saw no signs the toxins had actually reached the well site, which is operated by an underground pump.

Though the DEQ is still trying to determine which company owned pieces of property near Ford Pond and the Mill Pond at what time, Hoin said ownership records showed the site was occupied by a coal depot from the late 1800s through 1950.

Beginning in 1950, Mergraf Oil occupied the General Oil property, which is located immediately to the north of the property owned by Ely Fuel. Mergraf reportedly used five unlined lagoons to recover waste oils.

The lagoons were named for their relative location on General's property. The Southeast lagoon was located on what is now the Doheny property.

In 1971, Stewart Oil purchased the Doheny property and closed the lagoons in 1975. Reportedly, the remaining liquids in the lagoons were pumped out, sludges were removed and depressions were graded with existing site materials.

General Oil purchased the property in 1982 and has since used the site for a recovered oil-blending operation.

Ely Fuel was never part of the investigation, Hoin said.

But as of Friday, Hoin said three companies — Doheny Products, Ely Fuel and General Oil — all own property near Ford Pond under which contamination is believed to exist.

Charles Ely, the former owner of Ely Fuel, said that while spills occurred on his property while he operated the company, no lagoons were ever used on his land.

Furthermore, he said no hydraulic oils were sold on his site; it was primarily a heating oil business.

"We had our share of 'oops-es' there, but there were never any cracked underground tanks or anything like that," Ely said, adding that trucks and railroad tank car traffic from the several companies in the area was extensive in the area for many years.

Ely Fuel got its start in the late 1930s, by Charles Ely's father, Carl. The business was interrupted by the onset of World War II, and was back in business fully by the late 1940s. In 1948, the business constructed a bulk plant for oil storage. Above-ground tanks, Charles Ely said, stored around 200,000 gallons of heating oil.

The business was taken over in 1968 by Charles Ely and his cousin, who Charles Ely eventually ly bought out in 1976. Today, Ely Fuel is now owned by a Walled Lake company, though the Ely name still shows up on delivery trucks from time to time.

Charles Ely said he is in the process of negotiating the sale of land used by Ely Fuel with his neighbors, which would eliminate Ely's involvement with the property.

Ely leases retail space to Donut Scene and The Sawmill.

Joe and Brandon Sabo are retiring the green and white junior dragster after three years. Right: Brandon Sabo's engine popped a valve just 20 feet from the finish line.

Speed Racer

Northville youth is a skilled dragster

B By CAROL DIPPLE
Feature Editor

Brandon Sabo couldn't decide whether to change gears abruptly and go to Cedar Point or race his junior dragster.

Fortunately, the Northville 11-year-old stuck with the original plan to compete earlier this month at the junior drag races held at Norwalk Raceway Park in Norwalk, Ohio and finished as runner up in his age category.

When you get to the final round you get excited," Brandon said. "It's hard to stay calm when you're that excited."

In the 10 to 11 age group, he raced against about 92 cars. There were eight elimination rounds before the final run.

"I was so proud of him because he didn't show any waver at all. He knew exactly what he had to do," said Joe, Brandon's dad. "We had never been this far in an event like this before. We've never been this close."

Drivers predict their own finish times. Brandon popped a valve about 20 feet from the finish line, which may have cost him the first place finish.

In all about 400 eight to 17 year old drivers come from Virginia, Texas, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, as well as Ohio and Michigan, competed during the two day event.

The first day includes fun events like a 20-second turtle race, quickest reaction time race, parent race, and closest to dial-in time. The youngsters get serious and spend most of the second day racing.

Joe suggested junior drag racing to his son when he was still in kindergarten.

It has taken us three years to get to the point where he feels comfortable," Joe said. "It's a learning curve, you can't just hop in the car and expect to win right away. That's the best building block for these guys... you have to have patience."

Brandon has learned that, as well as how to focus, but he says the biggest gain has been his confidence.

Brandon Sabo finished in second place in his age category at the junior drag races held at Norwalk Raceway Park in Ohio.

If they say losing builds character, he has a lot of character," said Barbara, Brandon's mom. "That's why it felt so good to win this one."

"If he gets out of it what I hope he does, which I see happening, it's a great parental tool," Joe said.

Brandon began assembling and disassembling toys when he was about four years old and moved on to playing with electrical boards when he was six or seven.

"He is extremely, extremely good at that," Joe said. "He can pull something apart, put it back together and he doesn't need an instruction book."

Brandon can put those skills to work with junior drag racing.

As soon as Brandon got home from school the Monday following the Norwalk race, he took the engine apart and discovered that the valve had broken.

"His biggest problem is that if he got something that was assembled and ready to go, he was never happy with the way it was assembled," Joe said. "He'd try to take it apart and try to reconfigure it. He was always like that. So his toys never really lasted that long."

Brandon uses a modified Briggs & Stratton 5 horsepower block engine, similar to most lawn mower engines. The engines can use either gasoline or alcohol.

Brandon, like most first year racers, ran on gasoline. He switched to alcohol in his second year because the BTU output is higher and it is not affected by barometric changes as much as gasoline, according to Joe.

"The ideal thing is to start with the basics and work up," Joe said.

When he was just starting out at nine years of age, he ran at about 15 seconds for the 1/8 mile distance or 660 feet which is equivalent to about 38 miles per hour.

"In the eight and nine year old age group, they can't go over 12.90 (seconds)," Brandon said. "And you're allowed to go as fast as you want from there."

The fastest car at Norwalk went 8.11 seconds or about 82 miles per hour, according to Joe.

Every year Brandon has stepped up more and more. This year he was racing in the high 10 and low 11 seconds. Next year, he will be going in the low 9 seconds or about 74 or 75 miles per hour.

"Racing is a dangerous sport," said Barbara who was initially very hesitant to let her son race. "You can't wonder off, you have to focus."

So she insisted both Brandon and his sister, Stephanie, visit their paternal grandparents who live in Las Vegas where they could attend a one-day school where they learned about the chassis, how to stage, turn, and handle the car.

"It can be rolled real easy when you turn," Brandon said.

Teen club reopens as LaBOOM

By CAROL DIPPLE
Feature Editor

When the former Modern Rock Cafe teen club in Walled Lake reopens on Friday night, it will be sporting a new look and a new name - LaBOOM.

The big purple facade on the 1172 N. Pontiac Trail building has been replaced with a silver and black paint job with a royal blue canopy.

Inside some changes have also taken place. The wild colors and zebra stripes are gone. The entrance hallway is now black and silver.

On opening night, Friday, Oct. 30, teens 15 to 19 years of age can look forward to a performance by 2 Live Crew with special guest, Novi's own, Silent e. Doors open at 8 p.m. with an 11 p.m. show time.

Tickets are $15 and are available through Ticketmaster.

The following night, Oct. 31, it's the Halloween Costume Ball. Tickets are $10.

"We encourage everybody to come in costume," said Ray Hughes, who is handling promotions and bookings for LaBOOM. Hughes is also a 1997 graduate of Novi High School.

There will be $2,500 in cash and prizes including a waterbed and the first 50 people with a costume will receive tickets to the Terror Town haunted house. Contests include one for best, scariest, and skimpiest costumes, as well as a mummy wrap. Actors from the Terror Town haunted house will also be stopping in. A DJ will be playing music all evening.

"It's the only costume ball I know of for teens," Hughes said.

Northville resident Jim Maceroni opened Modern Rock Cafe three years ago and decided to revamp the teen club to give it a new look.

"It's pretty common among nightclubs that after a while the name and the look and everything gets old," Maceroni said. "People are always looking for something new and different."

During the past two weeks, renovations have included adding a second dance room which will play contemporary Top 40 songs similar to those played on radio station 93.1 FM. In the large dance room, DJs will play hip hop/rap like that heard on 105.9 FM.

DJs from both stations will be at the club twice a month

Teen clubs are more seasonal than regular adult clubs, according to Maceroni. During the busy season, which is January through April, Maceroni estimates that attendance on a Friday or Saturday night is between 600 to 800. On slower nights, it draws in about 400 teens from Oxford, Allen Park, Grosse Pointe, Brighton, as well as Novi and Northville.

A concession bar will continue to serve pop, fountain drinks, sparkling water, and sports drinks. Some non-alcoholic blender drinks may be added, according to Hughes.

"We're trying to give them the feel for a real club minus alcohol," Hughes said.

In the coffee house, the only place where 18 year olds are allowed to smoke, cappuccinos, coffee and pop will be served.

A game room is equipped with pool tables and video games.

Maceroni and Hughes plan to do a lot more with area high schools, contests, and promotional giveaways from radio stations, teen

Questers host annual convention

Carol Dipple

The Northville chapter of Questers was one of eight chapters hosting the 1998 Michigan Questers Fall State Convention which was held Oct. 17 at the Novi Hilton. Co-chairmen were Vera Davis and Ina Hacker, both Northville residents.

This year's theme was "Midway's Fancy - A Victorian Experience." Over 300 members attended the convention, including the Quester's international president. The speaker for the Membership at Large meeting was Nancy Brk, Curator of Domestic Life at Greenfield Village.

After a luncheon at the hotel, members enjoyed a fashion show of Victorian wedding gowns that was presented by Quester Pam Yockey, who has collected historical gowns for 20 years, concentrating on those worn for weddings. The gowns dated from about 1800 to 1910.

The Questers is an international organization that studies antiques and encourages the preservation and restoration of historic landmarks.

For further information about Questers, call Area Coordinator and Northville resident Judy Stewart at (248) 349-1336.

Dog Walkathon is a success

The third Annual Howl-O-Ween Dog Walkathon which was held at Maybury State Park in Northville on Oct. 4 has raised almost $7,500 so far up from the $5,000 raised last year.

"This is the most raised in one event," said Novi High School graduate Fay Ann Johnson who was the local volunteer representative who organized the walkathon for Canine Companions for Independence (CCI).

Johnson is also the CCI group president as well as a CCI recipient. "It was fun."

The monies raised from the walkathon, along with $5,500 raised through a bowlathon held at Novi Bowl earlier this year is enough to train one CCI dog.

OWL chapter plans
next meeting

Kathleen Needham, former head of the Gerontology Department at Madonna University and current faculty member, will be the featured speaker at the Farmington OWL Chapter meeting on Monday,

Nov. 2, at 7 p.m. at the Farmington Library. She will discuss "Caregiving at Home."

Needham, a teacher at Madonna for 22 years, has studied the aged in the United States, Canada, China, Great Britain, Russia, and the Ukraine. As a gubernatorial appointee on the Michigan Commission on Aging, she helped establish public policy on the aging issue within the state. In 1991 she chaired the Governor's Conference on Aging, and she is a board member of the Michigan Society of Gerontology.

The meeting is free and open to the public. Refreshments will be served.

For further information, call (248) 474-3094.

If you have information for the In Our Town column, call Feature Editor Carol Dipple at (248) 349-1700.

Howl-O-Ween Dog Walkathon participants take a break at Maybury State Park. The event raised almost $7,500.

Barbara's fears were also eased when she learned of the safety criteria.

"That was my only requirement, he can race but he has to learn how to do it right," Barbara said.

Now in his sixth year, junior drag racing is governed by two racing organizations — the National Hot Rod Association and the International Hot Rod Association. They set the rules and specifications, such as the weight of the car, motor, construction, and safety gear.

"They govern and make sure you have all the proper safety equipment," she said.

Cars are inspected at the beginning of each event. Full safety teams including a fire crew and an ambulance are at each competition.

"I have faith in him and I have a lot of faith in that chassis," Joe said.

Brandon is licensed through those organizations. Drivers get licensed by demonstrating to the track officials that they know what they are doing.

"This is like a true race car," Joe said. "It is not as expensive as let's say your Indy cars or stock cars. It has just as many variables as a real race car."

A chassis similar to the one Brandon has been using goes for about $2,200. Then there's the cost of the engine, which can last a year or two, and safety equipment including fire suit, gloves, jacket, five-point strap system, impact helmet, head and neck restraints.

"For $5,000, you can go racing," Joe said.

The initial cost includes support equipment like a trailer. There is a used market for outgrown safety equipment and dragsters and the end of the racing season in the fall is the time to buy.

Then there's the cost of a vehicle, if you don't already own one, to pull the trailer.

The Sabos have a sponsor, Varsity Ford in Ann Arbor, where Joe is employed in the Parts Department.

"It is to our advantage to go out and find a sponsor because that helps defray some of the cost," Joe said.

The Sabos are able to recycle some of the parts. Brandon has outgrown two sets of safety clothing and the familiar green and white dragster seen by many Winchester Elementary School students and their families during fun fair days, is being retired, as is the engine.

Brandon has outgrown the chassis like an old pair of tennis shoes so the Sabos will have another car built that is about a foot longer and has a taller roll cage.

"This has gotten so popular, nationwide, a lot of the manufacturers are now making equipment to fit the bill," Joe said. "With so many cars coming on board, this year there is an engine block that is designed strictly for racing."

When they first began racing at Milan three years ago, about 20 youngsters competed. This year there were between 40 and 50, according to Joe. There is no gender restriction. The Sabos say that about half the racers are girls.

Brandon has learned that you don't have to have the fastest car to win.

"This is the first time he's chosen the dial-in times," Joe said. "That's what made me prouder than anything else."

Brandon is looking to drive a pro modified rail which is a full race vehicle like a junior dragster but double the size and speed with a car motor when he's 16. They run the 1/4 mile distance in 7 to 8 seconds at about 200 mph.

"We want him to learn and experience what it's all about, but at the same time I don't want to go overboard with it so he gets burnt out," Joe said.

A sixth grader at Meads Mill Middle School in Northville, Brandon is also looking forward to the league sports program in seventh grade and football, swimming and track. His long-range goal is to attend the University of Michigan and pursue a degree in engineering.

"It's a sport a lot of people don't understand, they don't know what it is," Joe said. "It's a great building block for the kids. I highly recommend it for any parent. The neatest thing about the whole scenario is that it's prime time with the kids."

Season opener has audience guessing

By CAROL DIPPLE
Feature Editor

The Schoolcraft College Theatre Department opened their season with the suspense drama "Night Watch" by Lucille Fletcher on Oct. 23.

As is always the case with a Schoolcraft production by artistic director Professor James Hartman, there was not an empty seat in the cozy Liberal Arts Theatre.

During the short intermission, members of the audience were overheard discussing the possible "who dunnit" scenarios but a surprise twist was revealed just before the proverbial curtain went down.

Northville resident Brenda Lane returns for her fourth production with Schoolcraft in the lead as the sleuthing Elaine Wheeler. Brian Taylor plays the scheming husband John Wheeler.

Novi resident Joyce LaSala made her first appearance with Schoolcraft's "Night Watch" as Dr. Tracey Lake, who has been brought in by Wheeler to diagnose his wife's insomnia.

The action is set in the Wheeler's New York City home, which is designed by Timothy Amrhein who is also the technical director. Amrhein created an opulent living room befitting the financially secure couple.

Amrhein has also been designing sets with the Novi Theatre including "Cinderella," "The Wind in the Willows," "Oliver," "The Dining Room" and "A Christmas Carol."

Chris Battley is the lighting technician for "Night Watch." His previous show with Schoolcraft was last season's "Moon Over Buffalo," and he also played the role of Tevye in "Fiddler on the Roof" at Northville High School.

Returning for his third production with Schoolcraft is Benjamin Karl who plays the delightful Curtis Appleby, the Wheeler's next door neighbor.

Tiffany Byars returns for her second play with Schoolcraft as Blanche Cooke, John Wheeler's coconspirator.

Fresh faces making their stage debuts with Schoolcraft included Sarah Rae Frame as Helga; Rory Asher as Vanelli; Charles LaCroix as Lieutenant Walker; and Matt Havaich as Sam Hoke.

Working with Schoolcraft for the first time in "Night Watch" is stage manager Kaly Montheil. Responsibilities for wardrobe and props went to another first time Schoolcraft Theatre participant Tallitha Jean. Sound technician returning for her third production is Julie Rauch.

Additional performances of "Night Watch" will be Nov. 6 and 7 for dinner theater and Nov. 13 and 14 for theater performance only.

The second show of the season will be Neil Simon's hysterical farce, "Rumors." The play contains strong explicit language and is not for children.

Performances are set for March 19, 20, 26 and 27 for dinner theater and April 2 and 3 for theater only performance.

Joyce LaSala, from left, Chris Battley, and Brenda Lane gather on the set of Schoolcraft Theatre's "Night Watch."

This show is also directed by Hartman. Tickets are $19 for dinner theater performances and $8 for theater performance only nights.

Performances are in the Liberal Arts Theatre on the college's main campus located at 18600 Haggerty Road in Livonia. Call (734) 462-4400 ext. 5270.

Planning is ongoing Weddings for new teen club magazines, and movie companies like movie and premiere passes, T-shirts, CDs, and posters.

"We're working on getting other national sponsors," Maceroni said. "We're trying to hook up with all the things for teenagers."

Also new is the addition of a monthly newsletter which initially is being mailed to 1,000 teens which will include information on music and movie reviews, and what's going on at the club.

"We're trying to get a lot more involvement with the kids in the schools," Maceroni said. "We're doing a DJ competition right now."

DJs from area high schools will be judged by a DJ from a radio station, as well as LaBOOM customers. The winners will get to work at LaBOOM with a professional DJ for a night.

Maceroni and Hughes are also going to put together a dance team which will perform at the club.

"We're planning on doing a lot more things in the future where the kids can participate, but also try to pitch schools against other schools, that type of thing," said Maceroni.

The standard admission cost is $10 but there will be specials such as ladies night and half off admission until 9 p.m.

Hughes and Maceroni are also looking to put together high school representatives, a student who will hand out flyers at school but will get benefits in return like half off concert tickets, and movie passes.

On Sunday, Dec. 27, LaBOOM will be sponsor its first professional wrestling match for customers of all ages and families.

"We're still half way in the planning stages," Maceroni said. "We have a lot of things in the fire."

Maceroni said he has worked together with the city and the police from the beginning three years ago.

"We've been strict here from the start, and have weeded out the trouble makers," Maceroni said. "We've worked together to make it a safe place for the kids to come."

LaBOOM is open Friday and Saturday nights from 8 p.m. until 1 a.m.

The club will continue to present local and national groups.

For details, call the hotline at (248) 926 1000 or the club at (248) 926 9960.

Lauren and Daniel Lowrie

Lauren Michelle Cassady and Daniel Robert Lowrie were united in marriage on Saturday, June 6, at Gloria Dei Lutheran Church in Paradise Valley, Ariz.

A candlelight evening dinner-dance and reception was held at the Sheraton Crescent Hotel in Phoenix, Ariz. The couple then left for a honeymoon to Kauai, Hawaii.

In addition to many out of town guests who came to Phoenix for the celebration, Lauren's grandparents were especially honored. George and Dale Hall of Northville and Robert and Frances Cassady of Novi were special guests. Both sets of grandparents were honored with an anniversary dance to commemorate their more than 50 years of marriage. Other relatives and friends attending the celebration were from Ohio, Washington, Wisconsin, Michigan and California.

The bride is the daughter of Dennis and Cheryl Cassady of Phoenix, formerly of Northville, and is a 1993 graduate of Northville High School. She received a bachelor's degree in criminal justice from Northern Arizona University, Flagstaff, Ariz., in 1997, and is currently employed as a fraud analyst for Bank of America, Phoenix.

The groom is the son of Terry and Gloria Lowrie of Scottsdale, Ariz. He is a 1994 graduate of Chapparral High School in Scottsdale and is employed at Pace Pacific Corp., the family's construction and land development firm in Phoenix. He anticipates graduating in March 1999 with a bachelor's degree in civil engineering.

The couple reside in Phoenix.

Naresa and Dennis Cassady Jr.

Dennis Cassady Jr. ("DJ") and Naresa Ann Bollen were joined in marriage on Aug. 8 at the First United Methodist Church in Prescott, Ariz. A double ring evening reception was held at the historic St. Michael Hotel in downtown Prescott. Following dinner and dancing, 30 members of the family, wedding party and out-of-town guests walked down to the famous "Whiskey Row" and continued the celebration. Family and friends from Michigan, Ohio, Washington, Oregon and London, England, joined in the festivities. Following the wedding, the couple left for a honeymoon in San Diego and Mexico.

The groom, son of Dennis and Cheryl Cassady, is a 1991 graduate of Northville High School. This year, he received his bachelor's degree in communication arts from Northern Arizona University, Flagstaff, Ariz., and is currently employed as a computer specialist with Future One Corp. in Prescott. His grandparents, George and Dale Hall of Northville and Robert and Frances Cassady of Novi were honored guests along with his close friend and best man, Andy Allison, also a 1991 graduate of Northville High School.

The bride, daughter of Darrel and Christine Bollen of Cottonwood, Ariz., is a 1994 graduate of Mingus High School, Cottonwood. She also graduated this year from Northern Arizona University, with a bachelor's degree in early elementary education, and is currently completing her student teaching assignment with a second grade class in Prescott.

"DJ" and Naresa make their home in Prescott.

'Apt Pupil'

A student unearths deadly secrets in latest Stephen King thriller

Todd Bowden (Brad Renfro) is one of the top students in his high school class and a typical American 16 year-old — until he uncovers a deadly secret. Far from suspicion, Nazi war criminal Kurt Dussander (Ian McKellen) has been quietly living in Todd's hometown.

Obsessed with the atrocities Dussander committed during the war, Todd begins to blackmail the old man: in exchange for the teenager's silence, Dussander must reveal his evil past. The two begin a game of psychological warfare that spirals out of control, producing terrifying results.

"Apt Pupil" is director Brian Singer's follow-up to his highly successful 1995 release "The Usual Suspects."

Adapted from a Stephen King novella of the same name, "Apt Pupil" was written by first-time screenwriter Brandon Boyce and is produced by Jane Hamsher, Don Murphy and Singer.

Brad Renfro ("The Client," "Sleepers") stars as 16-year-old Todd Bowden, a high school student who develops a fascination with the Holocaust when it becomes a topic of study in history class. Curious, Todd sets out to further research the event. During his investigation, he recognizes an aging man on a local bus from a photograph and believes him to be a former SS officer, Ian McKellen ("Six Degrees of Separation," "Richard III") portrays the mysterious figure, Kurt Dussander, who turns out to be a Nazi war criminal living in Todd's hometown under the assumed name of Arthur Denker. Denker, who lied to legally immigrate into America, has lived a quiet, uneventful life — until now.

Deciding to play his trump card, the teen confronts Dussander and blackmails him into revealing details of the atrocities he once committed. In return, Todd keeps silent about the old man's true identity. The two begin a dangerous relationship which produces fatal results.

Singer was immediately drawn to this dark tale in which adolescent curiosity comes face to face with evil. "It was one of those rare stories that dealt in a very intense way with adolescent curiosity," says Singer.

In the film, Todd Bowden not only confronts a harsh reality of life that few average American teenagers must face, but finds himself strangely attracted to it.

"What he discovers," says Singer, "is that this is not school, this is not sports. This is something completely different which has a history and an evil that goes way back before he was born."

"I think the combining of the bright contemporary youth with one of the greatest evils in history in a contemporary suburban setting is just fascinating," says the director.

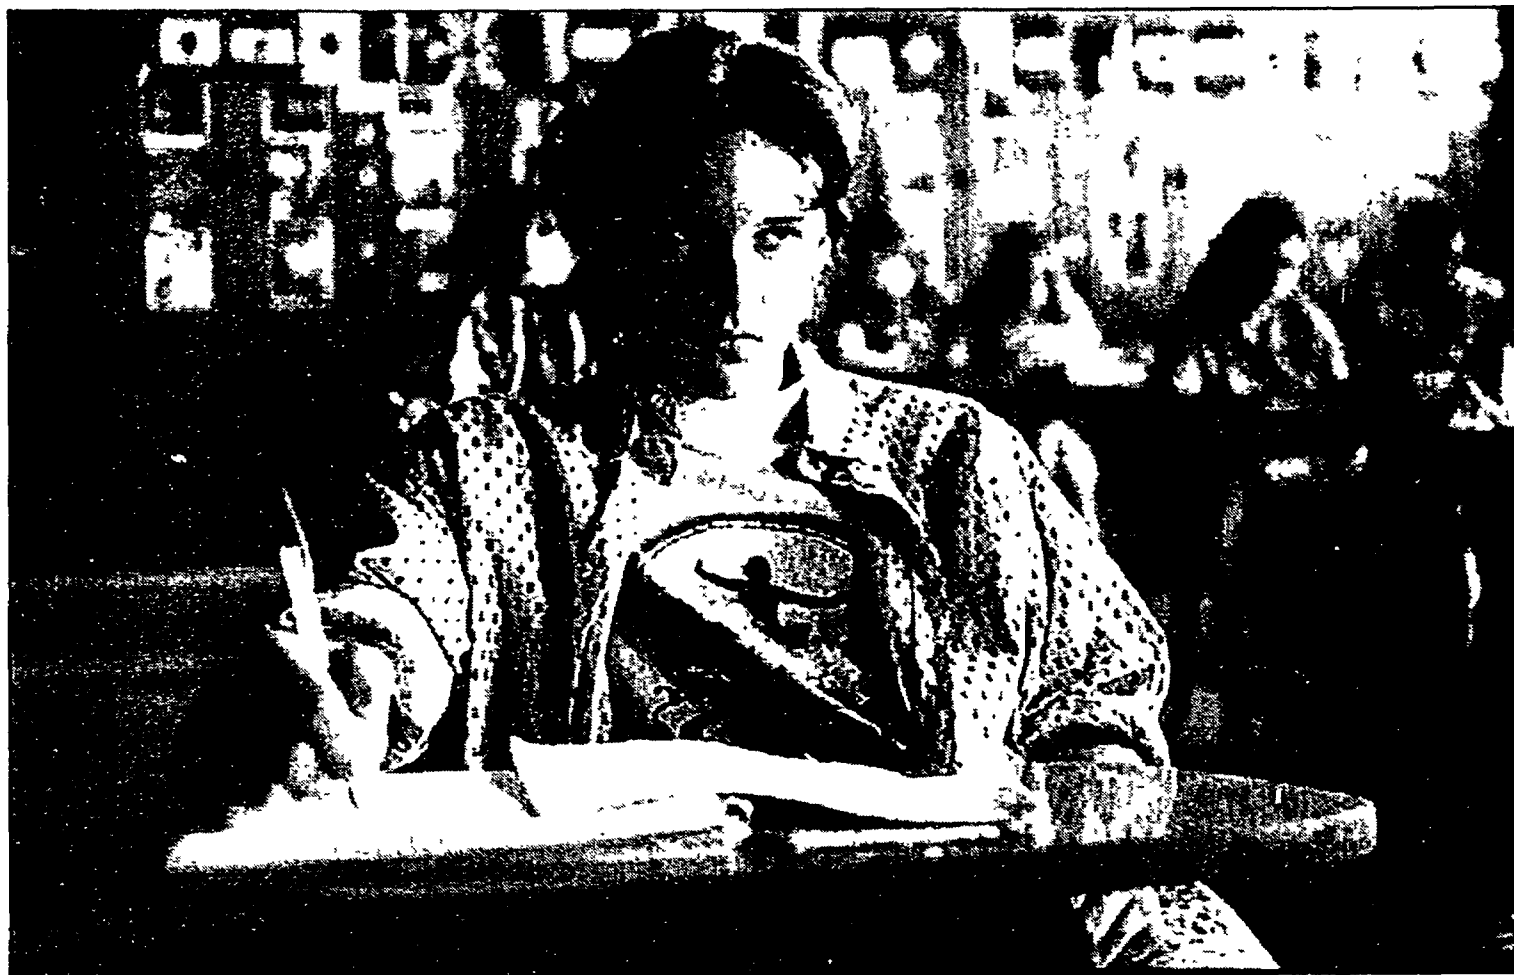

When Brad Renfro discovered that a film version was being made of "Apt Pupil," he knew he must have a role in the film.

"I've got goose pimples now just talking about it," says the young star who came to the attention of audiences in Joel Schumacher's "The Client." "I was, like, I have to do this movie."

Singer was impressed by Renfro at the initial reading. "The thing with Brad is, he's incredibly real. When he came in for the first reading, he was Todd. He had that bright look of fascination — a sponge of curiosity. I knew Ian would bring it the other dimension."

That "other dimension" is evil, made manifest in the form of Kurt Dussander, a former Nazi war criminal living in Todd's hometown. "I think he's just waiting to die," says Ian McKellen, who plays Dussander. "Of course, he's happy not to have been discovered and punished."

Then he meets someone who takes a genuine interest in him, bringing to the surface powerful, horrible emotions and memories that had long lain dormant. "Todd's friendship awakens in the old man things that would have been better left undisturbed," says McKellen.

Dussander's deep, dark secrets about the past awaken feelings in Todd as well, and the teen becomes inextricably bound to the old man.

"It's that seductive nature that keeps Todd there," says Singer. "Apt Pupil is a pretty scary film."

Baseline game one jug short

As tomorrow night's Northville/Novi football game nears, you just get the feeling that something is missing, and for good reason.

Jason Schmitt

When the two teams kick off their annual "Baseline Rivalry," the "Baseline Jug" will not be in attendance. The two teams will no longer be vying for the right to raise the traveling trophy over their heads, creating a moment which will last a lifetime for the young men on the field.

It's kind of a shame that the jug is gone. It's a shame that someone had to spoil everyone's fun by stealing the traveling trophy, only to return it shattered.

As a sports reporter, I hate to see the administration replace the jug with a plaque that will be displayed in each of the schools. The idea is nice, but it just isn't the same. Of the people who walk by the trophy case every day, how many will stop and read another plaque hanging on the wall. Wouldn't a jug be much more noticeable?

As a human being, I respect the direction the administrators are trying to steer this rivalry towards. No one likes to see vandalism, and the last thing anyone wants to see is someone or something being hurt.

Hopefully those who do pass the trophy case will take the time out to check out the plaque, which I am told, is very nice.

For 10 years now, dating back to 1988, the winner of the game was presented with the Baseline Jug. The jug was first presented by the Novi News/Northville Record with the intent of starting a rich football tradition between the two schools. And that it did.

The inaugural game between the two teams pitted an 8-0 Novi squad, poised to make a run in the state playoffs, and a 3-5 Northville team, poised to recuperate after another brutal season in the always-tough Western Lakes Conference.

To everyone's surprise, the Mustangs defeated the Wildcats 23-18 and nearly wiped out Novi's chance for the playoffs. Going into the game, it was obvious Novi was directing its attention to the post season, while Northville was primed to win the jug.

Shortly after the win, coach Darrel Schumacher was quoted as saying, "We addressed the jug as a motivational factor early in the week and I think it's a great way to make this game more meaningful."

Since then, Schumacher has changed his tune a bit, and now agrees with the administration's decision. "The game really didn't need the jug. On the field the kids have always played hard. I think the jug adds a lot of pressure to the coaches. If it's not there at your banquet, you know you've failed."

As Northville retained the jug for the next three years, Novi's determination grew and grew, and so did the fans. Over the years, those surrounding the game partook in extracurricular activities not necessarily sanctioned by the schools.

Administrators have tried to combat the situation, and have been better able to control the problems over the last few years.

"I don't think we have a lot of problems with the athletes themselves, but with all of the fans that get caught up in the game," Northville athletic director Larry Taylor said.

About five years back the administrators decided to try and get the support of the athletes to help curb the problems.

"The athletes are the figure heads of the school. They are the ones that the other kids look up to," Taylor said.

To do this the two schools have a sportsmanship breakfast the Monday prior to the game. Each of the teams captains, along with the cheerleading captains, administrators and coaches are invited.

It's a great idea and it has seemed to work since its inception.

But the bottom line here is that kids will be kids. The administrators can put forth all of the preventative measures they want, but until the students realize what good, clean, competitive fun is, the problems will continue to exist for another 10 years.

Gridders overcome halftime deficit, still lose

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

In what is usually the toughest way to lose a football game, Northville came back from a 17-point deficit only to lose on a late field goal by Farmington last Friday night.

The Falcons jumped out to a 17-0 halftime lead thanks in part to a Northville turnover and a sputtering offense. Their backfield trio of Brian Brindson, Mark Ostach and Scott Rycerz combined for 164 yards, most of which came in small chunks.

The Mustangs came out of the half rejuvenated and made several offensive and defensive adjustments. After holding Farmington on its first possession, Northville wasted no time in scoring on a Eric Cooley to Ben Keetle touchdown pass to make it a 17-6 game.

Cooley and Keetle were also instrumental in their team's next possession. The two combined on passes of 16 and 25 yards to set up Bryan Shields 1-yard touchdown run with 11:55 remaining in the game. The two-point conversion attempt failed and Northville trailed 17-12.

After Farmington managed a field goal to make it a 20-12 game, the Mustangs proceeded to move the ball down the field again. Cooley hit Keetle for a 28-yard gain, which set up a 31-yard touchdown strike between the two with 3:38 left to go. The two-point conversion pulled the 'Stangs even at 20-20.

But the excitement didn't last long. Farmington completed a crucial third down pass for 50 yards, which helped set up the game winner with 2:58 left to play.

Northville would have two more chances with the ball, but Cooley was intercepted on both possessions. The second of which came deep in Farmington territory.

"I knew we had enough time, but greedy me," coach Darrel Schumacher said. "They were doubling up on Keetle, so we went the other way."

The cross-over game pitted the third-place teams from each division. Farmington finished fifth in the conference with the win. Harrison defeated John Glenn to win the conference title. Western beat Salem to take third.

Northville's troubles started early. Farmington scored on its first three possessions of the game.

"We kept shooting ourselves in the foot and we couldn't get anything going," the coach said. "Defensively if we could have stopped them long enough to get them off the field, we could have gained some confidence."

Northville's defensive statistics looked good, at least tackle wise. Ryan Giles led the way with nine first hits and 11 assists for 20 total tackles. Jonah Sabn and Shields had 16 total tackles and Ted Bowersox recorded 15.

Offensively, Keetle had another big day, catching 10 passes for 154 yards and a pair of touchdowns. The senior broke the school record with 49 receptions in a season and tied the career mark with 83. His seven touchdown receptions this season are a school record, as are his total of 10 in his career.

His 703 receiving yards this season is just two yards short of the school season record and he surpassed the career mark of 1,170 yards.

Cooley was 9 of 26 passing for 137 yards and Rob Reel saw limited action and completed 3 of 8 passes for 34 yards. Northville's ground game was nearly non-existent. Brandon Langston led the team with 17 yards on nine carries. The team totaled just 49 yards on the ground.

Tankers take out Harrison 119-67

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

The Northville swim team split a pair of dual meets last week, topping Farmington Hills Harrison and falling to Novi.

Against the Hawks, the Mustangs won just six events, but grabbed eight numerup finishes to power themselves to a 119-67 win. Northville's team depth earned it nine third-place finishes.

The 200 freestyle relay team of Deirdre Schwirring, Kathryn Ohlgren, Jessica Hrivnak and Stephanie Sabo won the event in a time of 1 minute, 45.3 seconds.

Their teammates Allison Greenlee, Michelle Tones, Melissa Eiben and Erica Mohacsi finished third.

Tones was first in the 50 freestyle (28.4). Michelle Longway and Monica Black were second and third.

Sabo was runnerup in the 100 freestyle (57.2) and Longway was third. Greenlee and Heather Rudy were third and fourth in the 200 freestyle.

Black had a bit more success in the 500 freestyle, winning the event in 5:43.2. Ali Stewart was third in the same event.

Northville's depth came out in the 100 breaststroke and 100 backstroke. The 'Stangs swept the events, taking first, second and third.

Nicole Sprader won the breaststroke, while teammates Brianna Jones and Victoria Hollister were second and third. Jackie Sallote was the winner in the backstroke. Rudy and Michelle Cheaney were the next two across the line.

Tracy Crawford took first place in the diving competition with 133.4 points. Lindsay Dehne was third (123.8).

Schwirring, Leah Voytal and Laura Sheppard were second, third and fourth in the individual medley.

Sallote, Schwirring, Hrivnak and Sabo came away with a win in the medley relay (2:01.9). Black, Mohacsi, Beth Komarsa and Ohlgren were second.

Alcia Brackett, Marisa Brady, Angela Quick and Voytal were runnerups in the 400 freestyle relay. Hrivnak finished second in the 100 butterfly (1:08.3).

NOVI 112, NVILLE 74

The Mustangs ran into a deep Novi team and lost this non-conference matchup. Novi won nine of 12 events, including two of three relays.

Sabo finished atop the field in the 50 freestyle (26.32). Ohlgren was third. Sabo also took first in the 100 freestyle (58.45), edging out Novi's Andrea Vocum (58.75).

Northville's other winner was the 200 freestyle relay team of Ohlgren, Schwirring, Hrivnak and Sabo. The quartet won the event in 1:46.3, beating out Novi by less than one second.

Black finished second in the 500 freestyle and Schwirring was second in the 100 breast and individual medley.

Black, Schwirring, Hrivnak and Sabo were second in the 200 medley relay at 2:01.3.

'Stangs seventh at WLAA Invite

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

Facing stiff challenges from some of the state's best teams, the Northville boys' cross country team came home with a seventh-place finish at the Western Lakes Activities Association league meet Friday.

The team finished with 169 points. Salem (50) won the championship and Stevenson (82) was runnerup. Central had 83 points, Churchill 86, Franklin 129 and North Farmington 144. Glenn (188), Canton (245), Farmington (252), Western (289) and Hamson (335) rounded out the conference.

Senior Kevin Arbuckle earned all-conference honors for the second straight year with his sixth-place finish. He ran to a time of 16 minutes, 56 seconds. He placed fifth at last year's league meet.

Sophomore Brian Bilyk was the only other Mustang to earn conference honors. Bilyk finished 16th overall in 17:45 to earn all-division honors.

"Here's a kid that really improved from last year," Northville coach Ed Gabrys said. "He was sixth on the team last year at 19:08 and he has been consistently improving all season. He's a very methodical runner, a very logical kid."

Fellow sophomore Ben Flood finished 39th overall in 18:46 for the Mustangs. Senior captain Jim Morrison (19:06) was 47th and Eric Nadeau (19:34) 61st to complete the scoring for Northville.

Brian Wilson (67th in 19:57) and Phil Santer (72nd in 20:03) were the Mustang's other runners.

"We were predicted anywhere between sixth and 10th place," Gabrys said. "We knew we would be close to Glenn, and I wasn't sure how North Farmington would be."

"It was a pretty good day for us, a nice cap to the season."

Northville will compete at the regional meet Saturday at Ann Arbor Pioneer High School. As a team, Northville is not expected to advance with the likes of Novi, Salem, both Ann Arbor teams and most of the Western Lakes' conference in attendance.

Senior Kevin Arbuckle (pictured) finished sixth overall at the Western Lakes Activities Association league meet last Friday. He earned all-conference honors with the finish.

Arbuckle will be one to watch for Northville. The senior qualified for the state meet a year ago and finished 26th at Michigan International Speedway.

Only the top three teams and the next 10 finishers not on qualifying teams advance to the state meet.

Cagers pick up a pair of league wins

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

After struggling through a tough stretch of games the week before, the Northville basketball team picked up a pair of conference wins this past week.

The Mustangs defeated Livonia Churchill 44-42 last Thursday, upping its conference record 7-2 and overall mark to 10-5.

Northville led 29-22 going into the fourth quarter, but the Chargers battled back to make it close at the end.

"We led most of the game, but these two teams were very evenly matched," Northville assistant coach Roy Hall said. "The thing that has been keeping us in games this year has been our defense."

And it was the defensive effort of Meredith Hasse that helped limit Churchill's Kersten Conklin to just 13 points.

"She has done a tremendous job for us on the defensive end this year," Hall said of the junior center. "This was one of the better games she's had this season on both ends of the court. She looked a little more fluid in her shots."

Hasse scored 10 points and pulled down 10 rebounds. Her sister Janel scored a team-high 15 points and grabbed 13 boards.

"We did a nice job on Kersten."

the coach said. "We rotated a couple of girls on her and we isolated her and played great help-side defense."

N'VILLE 48, N. FARMINGTON 40

Despite making just four trips to the free throw line the entire game, the Mustangs bagged another conference win on the road. The team used a 12-6 run in the fourth quarter to pull away for the win.

Northville shot just 36 percent from the field, but the Raiders struggled even more. Janel Hasse pulled down a game-high 15 rebounds and her team collected 45 in the game. Mary Tanski had seven points and 11 rebounds and Meredith Hasse had nine boards of her own.

Freshman Kelly Anderson led the team offensively with 15 points. She hit 3 of 5 three pointers and did not commit a turnover the entire game.

"We hit the boards well that night," Hall said. "Again our defense has really been our bread and butter. These kids really focus on what they need to do on the defensive end."

The Mustangs hosted John Glenn Tuesday (after The Northville Records' deadline) and play Canton tonight at home.

McDONALD FORD SALUTES NORTHVILLE ATHLETES OF THE WEEK

Brandon Bethell - Junior

Bethell led the Mustangs in scoring this season (24 points) and was second on the team in goals scored (12).

He picked up a goal in Northville's district semifinal win over Franklin last week.

Northville went on to lose to No. 1 ranked Stevenson 2-0 in the finals, but finished with a 10-8-1 record.

Janel Hasse - Junior

The junior forward/center has been the most consistent player for Northville this season. She leads the team in scoring (12.6), rebounds (7.9), steals (2.4) and blocks (1.5).

Last week she scored eight points and had 15 rebounds in a win over North Farmington and 15 points and 13 rebounds in a tight win over Churchill.

Need for primary health care providers continues to grow

There is a growing awareness of the need for increased primary health care providers in our state and our nation.

There are many specialists for serious or unusual health care needs, yet our country cannot provide for the routine, but necessary, primary care services.

Even in areas where there are enough physicians to provide specialty services, there might be a severe lack of primary care specialists. Nurse practitioners can fill that void.

Nurse practitioners are registered nurses with advanced educational preparation usually at the master's or Ph.D. level, which prepares them to provide primary care services to children, teens and/or adults. There are several specialty areas that nurse practitioners typically practice in: pediatrics, OB/GYN, adult or family health care, gerontology or psychiatric nursing.

They provide services such as pediatric well-child and illness care, sports, school, or work physical exams, counseling services during times of acute crises or long-term stress, the treatment of minor acute illnesses (such as viruses, sprains, vaginal infections, or sudden onset of pain) and they often manage patients with chronic illnesses (such as hypertension, diabetes, AIDS, or arthritis).

In addition, you may find nurse practitioners providing obstetrical care, routine gynecological care, premarital counseling, stress management, nutritional guidance, or assisting people with life-style changes such as smoking cessation or weight control. They practice in various settings, such as clinics, homeless shelters, private physician offices, long-term care facilities or school-based clinics.

Michigan pharmacy law allows physicians to delegate prescription writing to nurse practitioners, so they can prescribe medication in addition of their other treatment modalities.

The trend nationally, however, is to allow nurse practitioners to independently write prescriptions so they can move into rural areas more easily to provide badly-needed services.

A 1986 study by the United States Office of Technology

Assessment states that nurse practitioners can perform 60-80 percent of the services often provided by physicians and a recent study by the American Nurses Association found that they provide the same quality of care as physicians, but at a cost savings of 39 percent.

Barbara Safrier, an associate dean of Yale Law School, recently published an exhaustive review of nurses in advanced practice in the Nurse Journal of Regulation. She summarized that nurse practitioners are high-quality, cost-effective care providers that this country should make greater use of.

Many insurance carriers are beginning to reimburse for nurse practitioner services. Medicaid began direct reimbursement in 1991 for pediatric and family nurse practitioners, in an effort to decrease infant mortality across the country.

Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan analyzed a three-year pilot program in which nurse practitioners in selected counties were paid for their services. The program was deemed successful, and Blue Cross/Blue Shield recently announced plans to extend their coverage to all nurse practitioners across Michigan. This program will likely go into operation by early 1999. Medicare also extended coverage of nurse practitioner services in 1997.

In addition, many managed care settings provide coverage for nurse practitioner services, and were some of the first to do so. These actions should lead to extended opportunities for these health care providers to expand into areas of greatest need - inner cities and rural areas.

With health care costs continuing to rise, it makes sense to utilize professionals who provide high quality care at reduced costs. Nurse practitioners, specialists in primary and preventive care, are the professionals who can do this.

Cheryl Bord MSN, R.N., C.S., is an adult nurse practitioner at the University of Michigan Brighton Health Center. The Brighton Health Center is located at 8685 W. Grand River, Brighton, MI 48116 0762. For an appointment, please call (810) 227-9510.

I Lost 35 Pounds & 29 1/2 Inches in 22 Weeks!

"It was easier than I expected it to be. It worked so good... following the program was easy. The whole facility is designed to motivate and support you."

Julie Kafkas

For many women maintaining a healthy weight has always been a struggle. At Inches-A-Weigh in Livonia, Barbara Borowicz is helping women with that problem curb their bad eating habits and lack of exercise. Inches-A-Weigh, the first Detroit area location of this national franchise, provides a safe and effective weight loss program, combined with a mandatory exercise and toning regimen provided in the same facility. The unique part of the program is not only that weight loss and exercise are combined in the same place, but that it is available only to women. Here women can feel free to exercise in a comfortable, non-competitive atmosphere.

The Inches-A-Weigh philosophy is based on a distinctive concept that allows women to get their weight loss, figure reshaping and exercise needs all served at one time in one place with one program. Each client is allotted a personal time and attention from a nutrition consultant weekly and from exercise counselors at every exercise class, assuring individualized specific needs will be met.

The weight loss program is nutritionally sound and teaches clients to walk into the grocery store and make good choices. In addition the program incorporates nutritional supplements and vitamins into the diet which increase metabolism, reduce hunger levels and help nourish your body, insuring the most meticulous care to each client.

The hour long exercise classes utilize special tables designed to concentrate on toning and firming problem areas of the female figure. In addition to these, treadmills and bicycles are used to maintain a cardiovascular workout. Exercise counselors help clients start at whatever level is appropriate for them and work up.

At Inches-A-Weigh, "Our focus is on you!" HOW TO Chimney sweeps will keep your fireplace roaring

By Gene Gary
COPLEY NEWS SERVICE

Q. We purchased an older home two years ago. It has a large brick fireplace which we used only occasionally last year because we were doing some remodeling. This season when we attempted to start a fire, the room was filled with billowing smoke. Could this be caused by trying to burn the wrong type of wood, or is the problem more serious than that. What can we do to investigate this problem and find a solution?

A. A smoking fireplace can signal serious problems or the solution can be as simple as making sure the damper is open. It's surprising how often people forget this important detail. You also need to partially open windows to bring fresh air into the room. The air will feed the fire and get the heat going up the chimney, drawing the smoke out of the house.

Homes that are too tightly insulated, and do not allow for any fresh air, create problems with the proper function of a fireplace. Perhaps your remodeling created this situation. Its not uncommon for a fireplace to work satisfactorily for years and then suddenly become a smoking monster. This can be caused by the normal growth of nearby trees which suddenly reach a height taller than the chimney flue. Wind is deflected over the trees and right down the flue, rather than letting the air (and smoke) go up. However, your problem could be far more serious.

I would recommend that you have your chimney inspected by a professional, such as a certified chimney sweep. In fact, its a good idea to have your chimney examined once a year by a pro. The chimney not only gets dirty from use, but bricks weather and can become loose with age, and flues may crack or become blocked. A professional can recognize problems quickly, evaluate the system and offer recommendations for safer, more efficient use.

With use, creosote builds up in your chimney. It forms in different fashions and textures, including a hard tar-like glaze, a crusty type that resembles corn flakes and a light fluffy powder. When too much builds up, it reduces the flue's ability to draw off smoke and it can cause odors; more importantly, it can ignite quite easily. That's when a chimney fire occurs.

A buildup of only 1/8 inch of creosote means it's time to clean. A professional will check for external deterioration and make sure that a 2-inch clearance to combustibles exists on all sides of an internal chimney (an important safety rule).

If your chimney does need cleaning, you can expect a complete cleaning from a chimney sweep that includes removing the creosote from the flue, stovepipe and cleaning the door area. On a fireplace, the smoke chamber and smoke shelf will also be swept and vacuumed. A professional chimney sweep will analyze the entire chimney system. This involves checking for cracks in the clay liner tiles, loose mortar and ensuring that the stovepipe is secure. The point where the chimney connector passes through a wall also will be examined; that's one of the biggest trouble spots. Another trouble spot is an open-top chimney, which allows the emission of live sparks, as well as the entrance of bats, birds, squirrels or other animals. A solution is to have a spark arrester or weather cap installed to keep in embers and keep out unwanted visitors and water.

Once you know your fireplace is operating properly and safely, it's a good idea to consider the replacement of wood and kindling in the firebox. Medium-sized logs should be placed at the back and front of the grate, with kindling in the middle. The type of wood is not as important as the aging of wood, to assure that it is dry. Identify dry wood by inspecting the pieces. Logs should be brown with loose bark and cracks at the ends. This promotes a better burning fire, emitting fewer sparks and smoke. The use of kindling is preferable to using crumpled newspaper, which tends to build up creosote in the chimney and causes a fine ash which can get past the spark arrester at the top of the chimney. It's best to restrict the use of a rolled-up newspaper to that of igniting kindling.

Kindling - small branches, bits of wood, even pine cones - should be placed at the base of the firebox. Wait until the kindling is blazing before heaping wood on the grate. When it's time to add wood, don't jam a bunch of logs in one stack. Make sure there is ample room between the logs to let air move up from the burning coals at the base to the chimney above. The fire needs oxygen to burn properly, and the more surface area that is exposed on a log, the better it will burn.

TEAM EFFORT

Residents pool their skills and resources to create an elegant entrance to Mystic Pines

By Amy Kemnic
STAFF WRITER

In a display of neighborhood ingenuity and cooperation, residents of the Mystic Pines subdivision off Brighton Road have transformed the entrance to their subdivision from one that was barely noticeable to one of elegant beauty.

The subdivision, on Pinewood near the corner of Brighton and Chilson roads (in Livingston County's Genoa Township), was built four years ago, but never had a distinct entrance marker. In fact, neighbors complained it was difficult to identify the subdivision entrance at night, according to entrance wall committee organizer Hernan Gomez.

After the Mystic Pines Condominium Association voted to assess each household for contributions to the project fund, residents combined their talents, know-how and sweat equity to plan and construct the new entrance, said resident and local businessman Paul Almashy, a member of the committee.

"We had it designed by a professional architect and had a professional do the block wall," Almashy said.

"But, we've been working on it since July — starting with clearing the land. Then we graded it and poured footings."

Residents still are finishing up landscaping around the entrance wall.

Mystic Pines residents who formed the entrance wall committee include Gomez; Keith Grimm, who, with knowledge of landscaping and architecture, acted as construction supervisor; Don Maybee, who lent his organizational skills; and Rick Starnes, Almashy and Bob Houston, local businessmen who contributed their business savvy.

Other Mystic Pines residents freely contributed their time and physical effort in planting trees, pouring concrete and doing other tasks that would have resulted in substantial labor costs if the project had been contracted out, Gomez said.

In addition, nearby neighbor Chilson Hills American Baptist Church donated a substantial portion of the topsoil used in the project.

"As a result, Mystic Pines has built for itself an entrance wall at a cost considerably less than would have been possible had the neighborhood simply paid a commercial contractor to accomplish this task," Gomez said.

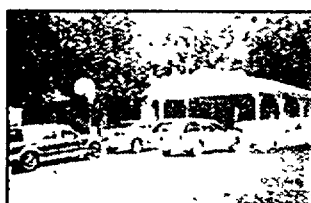

"This impressive display of neighborhood ingenuity and cooperation is an example of why Livingston County prospers from its innovative citizens."

New apartments are the height of luxury

By James M. Woodard
COPLEY NEWS SERVICE

Luxury apartments are getting more luxurious. The current trend is keyed to the increasing number of Americans who seem to have the financial capability and willingness to pay thousands of dollars in monthly rent for extravagant features.

Today's developers and owners of multifamily housing units are tempting prospective tenants with such amenities as private alarm systems, including those that allow residents to view entry gates, pools and play areas via closed-circuit television. Some include in-wall speaker systems with theater-quality sound, and of course there are computer workstations with high-speed Internet access, often integrated with cable TV setups.

Many of these luxury units have private entries, split level plans and attached garages. Some offer nine-foot ceilings with crown moldings. Bay windows and skylights are becoming common.

Double-sided fireplaces in the master bedroom and living area are popular features, as are such things as keyless entry systems, moldings, minifish, chair rails and other luxury interior finishes.

The annual number of all apartment buildings constructed has fluctuated widely in recent decades, according to the U. S. Census Bureau. In 1975, 442,000 were built. That figure dropped to 343,000 the next year, then increased steadily to 639,000 units at the height of the real estate market in 1986. Last year, the total was down to 284,000.

The average size of all new apartment units also varied greatly. The smallest average size was 911 square feet in 1986. Today, it's about 1,100 square feet.

The proportion of units that are exceptionally large and include luxury amenities is growing. All the fancy high-tech elements installed in some apartment complexes, designed to entice tenants, don't always work out as expected, it should be noted. If fact, they can be counterproductive.

In one California apartment complex, the developer wired the units with T-1 lines, supposedly giving the tenants very high-speed Internet access - "an information highway to the world." Unfortunately, the developer wasn't up to speed on such technology. The service was so poor the tenants started calling the wiring "Infohighway to hell."

Like luxury apartments, dream playhouses are also becoming more luxurious.

Recently, a Project Playhouse was held in the Los Angeles area, benefiting homeless people in the area. Many highly creative playhouses were on display at a large shopping center.

Now in its seventh year, the project has raised about $790,000 through this unique auction. The playhouses sold for prices ranging from $1,800 to $27,500.

These mini-houses featured some very innovative design features. One was a life-size teapot created in a storybook style with heart-shaped windows. Another was in the design of a ship complete with a flying bridge, the design of a ship wheel, a loft bunk and treasure-map floor.

Yet another was like a child's theater with a copper wishing well on the roof, extensive wood-working and cabinetry and a red velvet curtain. And one was a pint-sized California mission-inspired playhouse with a functioning bell tower, fitted with a stage that reverts to a table, bed and tent. Another is a quaint English country cottage with a thatched roof, prominent chimney and stained glass windows.

9. What types of people are most inclined to rent their residences in the current market?

A. Today's renting tenants, overall, are mostly young and mobile folks, according to a report from Fannie Mae, the nation's largest secondary buyer of home mortgages. Half the renters are age 18 to 34, the report noted. And half have lived for fewer than three years in their current rented residence.

More than half of low- to moderate-income renters (54 percent) have moved in the past three years. And 57 percent of current renters plan to move sometime in the next three years (compared to 19 percent of homeowners).

Most of today's renters are women - 58 percent. The presence of kids or other dependents in the home encourages a household to buy a home. Only 40 percent of renters report having dependents in their household.

Most renters are simply moving through the renting phase of their life, the Fannie Mae report stated. Only 23 percent of renters say they rent as a matter of choice, while 69 percent say it is a result of circumstances. That is, they can't afford to purchase a home at this point.

The proportion of renters who consider home buying among their top priorities has bounced back from a low point in 1995. Currently, renters are split - about 35 percent say home buying is a top priority, and 40 percent report it is not very important or not a priority at all.

Harker's whiteware has a colorful history

By Anne McCollam
COPY NEWS SERVICE

9. The pitcher in this photo was in a home that was built in the 1950s that we recently purchased. It is blue with white flowers and leaves. The floral design appears to be carved out of the blue background. The height is about 8 inches. Marked on the bottom are the words "White Rose - Carv-Kraft - By Harker."

What can you tell me about it?

A Harker Pottery Co. in Chester, W.Va., made your pitcher. Benjamin Harker Sr. founded the pottery in 1840 in East Liverpool, Ohio. In the beginning, they made yellowware and Rockingham ware. Whiteware table and cooking pieces were introduced around 1877. After a succession of disastrous Ohio River floods, the pottery was moved across the river to safer land in Chester, W.Va. Harker's intaglio design, Cameo ware, was one of their most successful lines. The white pattern that appears to be carved out of the background was patented in 1941. White Rose was produced specifically for Montgomery Ward. In 1972, the oldest continually operated U.S. pottery closed its doors. Your pitcher would probably be worth about $45 to $65.

9. This mark is on the bottom of an earthenware pitcher that I have. The pitcher is decorated with a peacock against a white background on one side. On the other side are pink flowers. It stands about 9 inches tall and the handle is gold.

What is it worth and when was it made?

A. Keeling & Co. made Losol Ware. They were located in Burslem, England from 1883 to 1936. The mark you provided was used from 1912 to 1936. Your early 1900s pitcher would probably be worth about $125 to $175.

9. I have several "Wizard of Oz" puppets that were given as premiums for cereal. They were made sometime in the 1960s. The characters are Dorothy, Glinda the Good Witch and the Tin Man. All are in excellent and unplayed-with condition.

Could you please tell me if they have any value?

A. Your puppets were promotional premiums made for Procter and Gamble cereal. Each would probably be worth about $15 to $25.

9. I was given an amber glass cane by an elderly couple that I have known for years. It is 40 inches long. The handle and the end have a twisted shape. I contacted the Fenton Glass Co. in Williamstown, W.Va., and they had no record of ever making it.

I would like to know who made my cane and its value.

A. It is just about impossible to pin down where a glass cane was made. They were not listed in glass factories' catalogs. As a rule, glass workers made canes and other creative glass objects in their spare time. They usually took them home for family and friends. Your late 1800s cane would probably worth be about $85 to $125.

9. I have a marble vase that was brought back from China before World War II. It is a gray-green color, decorated with figures of dogs and monkeys and approximately 11 inches tall. The surface has a smooth, oily feel when it's touched. Marked on the bottom is the word "China."

What can you tell me about it?

A. Your vase is an example of soapstone rather than marble. Soapstone is a mineral that is composed of magnetite, chlorite and talc. The only feeling is characteristic of soapstone. Figurines, vases, bookends and other decorative objects were made in China and Japan from the 1800s to the present. The value of your vase would probably be about $85 to $125.

Address your questions to Anne McCollam, P.O. Box 490, Notre Dame, IN 46556. For a personal response, include picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $10 per item (one item at a time)

This pitcher is probably worth about $45 to $65.

NORTHVILLE. MALE or Challenge me.

Two powerful words that kids are saying to their teachers, their schools, their parents.

Surprisingly, too many kids think school is too easy. They need, and want, to be challenged.

Need convincing?

- 74% of kids say schools should pass them to the next grade only when they've learned what's expected of them.
- 75% say they'd study harder if their schools gave them tougher tests.

Kids are curious and motivated when challenged in school. Now it's our challenge to challenge them. To educate them with rigorous academic standards and high expectations. To give them the skills and knowledge they'll need to succeed in school, the workplace and everyday life.

We're talking about your kids. Or grandkids. Or kids you know. If you underestimate their desire to learn, you underestimate their future. And ours.

To make that future a bright one, we need to challenge our schools to challenge our kids. And support schools in that effort. It's easy to start. Just call for our free booklet. It's filled with information on how you can help raise academic achievement. And raise the hopes of every kid who wants to succeed.

Firm stays small to keep roots in community

By JASON SCHMITT
Staff Writer

As businesses continue to grow these days, management within those businesses often grows too large to be active within their own communities.

But that's not the case for Steve and Diane Pichan of Johnny on the Spot Carpet and Upholstery Cleaning in Novi. Despite having the chance to franchise the business on several different occasions, the Pichans have chosen to wait for a more opportune time to do so. In the mean time, both have been very active in local charitable organizations and events.

"Northville is a very giving community," Steve Pichan said. "I've always felt that if you support your community, it will support you."

The Pichans are currently involved with the Northville Youth Assistance and are heavily involved with the Detroit Rescue Mission (DRM). In the past the two have been involved with the local chapter of Students Against Drunk Driving.

Since 1995, Johnny on the Spot has collected food, clothing, furniture and other donations for the DRM Ministries from its customers.

"All of our customers get a card encouraging them to donate goods and we serve as a satellite drop off site for them," Pichan said. "We collect the goods from the customers. Some of the donations have been as nice as stereos, furnishings and very nice clothing. We get a lot of goods because we live in a very well-to-do community that can provide those kinds of donations."

The Pichans founded the company in 1978 as a part-time venture. The name, D & S Carpet Cleaning, was changed to Johnny on the Spot in 1981. After moving the company from Wayne to Plymouth in 1985, the company made the move to Novi in 1988, where it has been ever since. The couple live in Northville and have four daughters.

"I have always enjoyed the independence of self-employment," Pichan said. "The ability to travel locally on a routine basis was one of the core reasons that I was attracted to this industry."

"I am very proud of the efforts of my employees who have worked with me for years."

Johnny on the spot has 12 to 15 employees, depending on the season, and has six service units. Services include carpet cleaning, upholstery cleaning, oriental and loose rug cleaning on site or in plant, flood restoration, vehicle and recreational vehicle cleaning, carpet repairs and installation and more. Danny Gallahar is the cleaning staff manager and Lucia Morrow is the office manager.

Due to the growth and demand for increased services, the Pichans recently purchased three new company service vehicles. Johnny on the Spot services its customers Monday through Friday 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and 7:30 to Noon on Saturday. For more information please call the office at (248) 347-3550. The office is located at 22823 Heslip in Novi, just off Novi and Nine Mile roads.

Mark McGwire and Sammy Sosa Official 22kt Gold Baseball Cards

Lifetime Major League Baseball® statistics on the reverse — including the complete 1998 season.

Mark McGwire and Sammy Sosa made the 1998 Major League Baseball® season special. Now, you can acquire the 22kt gold baseball cards that honor these players and that season.

22kt Gold Baseball Cards
Keep the Memory Alive.

A skilled craftsman inscribes every detail of the player's likeness in deep relief on a steel die, which is then used to strike thin sheets of paper-backed 22kt gold foil. The result is a three-dimensional image similar to that of a medal or coin. Each card is preserved in mint condition in a crystal-clear protective case. They are destined to be two of the most coveted baseball collectibles ever!

Cards shown approximately actual size of 2 1/2" wide x 3 1/2" high Officially Authorized.

These 22kt gold baseball cards are officially licensed by Major League Baseball Properties and the Major League Baseball Players Association. The cards portray each slugger in action and the reverse of each card contains the player's lifetime Major League™ record, including complete 1998 season statistics.

(over please)

Each card will include the record-breaking 1998 season statistics!

Mark McGwire and Sammy Sosa Official 22kt Gold Baseball Cards

Your cards will be presented in a hardcover Folio — at no extra charge

A final strike is inspected to ensure it is of the highest quality

Cards shown approximately actual size of 2 1/2" wide x 3 1/2" high.

On September 8, 1998, McGwire hit his 62nd home run of the season in St. Louis' Busch Stadium to break Roger Maris' 37-year-old record for most home runs in a single season.

Sosa reached the pinnacle of an already-impressive career when he hit his 62nd home run on September 13, 1998 to tie Mark McGwire for the single-season record. A native of the Dominican Republic, Sosa achieved international fame in 1998 for his home run hitting.

Cards shown are for illustrative purposes. Actual cards will be readable and will contain complete statistics through 1998

Special Collector Folio.

Both cards will be presented together in a hardcover Folio containing commemorative panels recounting the entire 1998 home run record chase. The panels will also feature photographs of the players in mid-swing!
