World War didn't stop the presses

Northville Record joined residents in supporting troops overseas

Yes, war conditions are closing in on us. (On) April 1 another cut hits the newsprint supply and that is about the last straw in our struggle to make efficiency of operation and internal adjustments absorb the climbing costs of your Northville Record. We must now set our home in order. Rising costs of postage, paper, restricted supply, labor and operating costs as well as other items have hit hard. Many papers have succumbed to the war.

In adjusting to wartime economy and newsprint rationing, we must ask that all subscriptions be kept up-to-date. Unpaid subscriptions will need to be dropped and our paper stock conserved to supply paid subscribers. Newsprint is to be cut 20 percent April 1 based on 1941 consumption. In 1941, we printed 1,800 papers; today, we are printing over 2,000.

So better take advantage of the current rate while it lasts. Preparing for adjustments, our

For many, it's still simply known as "The War." There was just no other way to describe an event of such global proportions that it affected nearly every facet of living.

And yes — that included the very paper you're reading now.

The supplies and manpower needed to produce newspapers like the Record were needed on other fronts. The newspaper that remained was, to a large extent, a mouthpiece for the government to remind civilians of their obligations.

The Record, like other papers, urged its readers to scale back food consumption, to stay off the phone unless absolutely necessary, to not discuss the progress of the war publicly and to buy war bonds.

The struggle to liberate Europe and to stop the spread of the Japanese empire needed the help of newspapers. At least one historian said

School district disputes fees for high school

■ Cost for water and sewer connection could exceed $400,000

By ANDREW DIETDERICH
Staff Writer

The school district wants to build a dam against a flood of fees being assessed to it by Northville Township for tapping into its water system.

The district is preparing to make a plea to the township to lower the costs for tapping into its water and sewer line at the new Northville High School and the existing Moraine Elementary School. The cost proposed to the school district to tap into the lines for the new high school would be about $413,000. The costs proposed to the district to tap into Moraine Elementary School is about $2,000.

David Bolitho, assistant superintendent for administrative services for the Northville school district, said the district is being charged too much for the right to tap into the main water and sewer line.

"They're (Northville Township) really sticking it to us with this one," he said.

Bolitho said since the costs weren't budgeted to pay that much for tapping into water and sewer lines, something else in the school would suffer.

"We would have to look at what we would not be able to do," he said.

Local pharmacist receives state award

By CHRIS C. DAVIS

Just call him King of the Pill. Northville resident Jim Stevenson was named the 1998 Pharmacist of the Year by the Michigan Pharmacists Association.

Stevenson shuttled back and forth between his boyhood home of Shelby Township and West Virginia, where he attended college, before making Northville his home in 1991.

While in the Mountain State, Stevenson served as director of Pharmaceutical Services at West Virginia University Hospital.

He's attended leadership conferences at USC and Duke University. In addition, a press release from the Michigan Pharmacists Association said Stevenson had participated in more than 30 research projects, co-authored 40 scientific articles and delivered nearly 70 presentations to medical professionals.

Stevenson said it all began at an early age, when he was given chemistry sets for birthdays. He said he was drawn into pharmacy partially because of relatives who were in

Anderson vindicated by ruling on lawsuit

■ Amerman principal clears name, will receive $150,000 court-awarded settlement

By ANDREW DIETDERICH
Staff Writer

Stephen Anderson spent part of his mid-semester break helping move the library of his school to a new location in the building.

The principal of Amerman Elementary School said he couldn't have been happier to concentrate on the project with no distractions. Specifically, a court case that some say shouldn't have been filed against him in the first place that resulted in him filing a counterclaim.

"For myself and my school I feel vindicated," Anderson said.

Robin, Carl and Stephanie Zaas filed suit Nov. 14, 1997 against the Northville School District, Leonard Rezmierski, superintendent of Northville schools and Anderson.

The lawsuit alleged 11 counts against Anderson ranging from violation of the state's policy on sex education to abuse of Robin and Stephanie Zaas. That case was thrown out last November.

A settlement on the counterclaim was entered into the court Feb. 4 by both parties, putting an end to the 15-month ordeal. As part of the settlement, Zaas must pay Anderson $150,000, send him a letter of retraction and may only appeal three of the original 11 charges she alleged against Anderson.

Robin Zaas told the Northville Record she didn't want to comment on the case and referred all calls to her lawyer, Craig Essemacher. Essemacher also told the Record that he didn't want to comment.

Judge George Caram Steeh entered an order Feb. 9 on the settlement for the counterclaims of defamation and false light invasion of privacy.

"Judgment is hereby granted in favor of defendants Northville School District.

Woman charged in home invasion case

By CHRIS C. DAVIS
Staff Writer

A 19-year-old woman was arraigned last week on second-degree home invasion charges of a Swan Harbor residence.

Northville Township detective Paul Sumner said Jamie Morse visited her ex-boyfriend's apartment on Jan. 6 to pick up her son from the location. Morse and the child left, as did Morse's ex-boyfriend.

Some time later, Morse returned to the apartment and entered the home through a sliding door. Morse said Morse took $120 in cash and a Sears debit gift card good for $500 in merchandise.

After taking possession of the card, Sumner said Morse gave the card to a male acquaintance and directed him to make purchases with the card. The man obliged and bought a $320 television set and a $110 microwave oven from the Livonia Mall Sears location.

Sumner said Morse contacted Sears management, who were able to extract the name and telephone number of the person who had made the purchases with the card. Per store policy, that information is requested for purchases made with debit

Friends library sale a big success

By CAROL DIPPLE
Feature Editor

The Friends of the Northville Library have added another page to the chapter on the one-day biannual book sale, which was held Feb. 6.

"It was very successful," said Betty Griffin of the Friends.

In all, $1,775 was raised, $250 more than last year's winter Used Book Sale, according to Griffin.

People began lining up at the library at 9 a.m. and by the time the doors opened an hour later, about 30 people were eagerly waiting to plunk down $1 for previously-read hardcovers and 50 cents for paperbacks.

"Children's books went very fast at 50 cents apiece," Griffin said.

Throughout the day, literally thousands of books were brought from the lower level to the Carlo Meeting Room for the six-hour sale.

"Setting up and taking down is a big job," Griffin said.

Some of the 42 volunteers pushed the big carts full of cartons of sorted books to the elevator for the ride to the upper level.

"Getting books a week before the sale is a heavy-duty job," said Griffin. "It's pretty back-breaking."

Other volunteers ran the two check out stands which were ringing up sales all day long.

"One woman, who comes down from Pigeon every year, bought $168 dollars worth," said Griffin.

This is the second used book sale Kathy Stewart chaired. "She has great organizational skills," Griffin said. "She is a very efficient chair. She makes good decisions. She has been a great asset."

At 3 p.m. people were given big shopping bags and told they could fill them up for $2, according to Griffin.

The funds will be used for ongoing causes in the library, largely for the young adult collection, according to Griffin.

There's also an ongoing book sale outside the Friend's store located inside the library.

"The books are flying off that cart," Griffin said.

There are two new shelves located right outside the store. The books are quite current and go for $1 for hardbound and 50 cents for paperbacks. There are also more books inside the store.

The next used book sale will be held in the summer during the city's bargain bazaar.

Cady Street development talks continue

BY ANDREW DIETDERICH
Staff Writer

A Northville businessman who wants to develop the corner of Cady Street and Church Street may have to pay more than he originally proposed.

The Northville Downtown Development Authority will recommend to the Northville City Council Feb. 16 that it give the go-ahead for city personnel to negotiate a higher price with Dennis Engerer, the potential developer of the land.

For the city to negotiate such a deal without taking competitive bids, the city council must unanimously approve the measure, said Richard Connors, Northville city attorney.

In a letter to Gary Word, Northville city manager, Connors said "It would be acceptable, upon unanimous resolution of those members of the city council present, to authorize that the city manager enter into negotiations for a revised land purchase price with Northville Physical Therapy and Rehabilitation."

Northville Physical Therapy and Rehabilitation is Engerer's business. His proposal was one of two submitted to the city in a competitive bid process.

The other one came from Tri-County Title Co., 38705 Seven Mile Road, Livonia. That proposal offered the lowest purchase price of the two bids submitted.

Word said the DDA chose to negotiate with Engerer instead of take more bids because the board liked his proposal best.

"The DDA was pleased with the project Mr. Engerer proposed except for the actual sale price of the property," he said. "That's not to say whatever's negotiated may be accepted, the board may choose to reopen the bid process or may choose to not sell the property at all."

Rep. Lynn Rivers, D-Ann Arbor, visited with Northville residents at Rebecca's last week.

Rivers makes stop in Northville to talk issues with constituents

BY ANDREW DIETDERICH
Staff Writer

A Rivers flowed through Northville Feb. 18.

Lynn Rivers that is.

The U.S. House of Representative for Michigan's 13th district made a coffee morning break stop in Northville at Rebecca's on Main Street. About 30 people attended the meeting.

"I believe government simply needs to be more accessible to citizens," Rivers said.

Rivers said she's conducted morning coffee meetings with her constituency since she first took office in 1994. In addition to improving accessibility, she said there are other reasons for hosting the meetings.

"I get a feel for what people are thinking," she said. "One of the worst things to do would be to cast a vote in Washington and get back only to discover it's not what the people felt."

Rivers said she hosts one or two coffee talks a week within her district which includes the Wayne County portion of Northville all the way down to the southern portions of Sumpter and Huron.

The issues at the morning talks tend to be the same, Rivers said: social security; campaign issues; economic markets; President Clinton's affairs.

But the views on those issues are not the same, Rivers said. "People in Ann Arbor will have a different view on impeachment of President Clinton than those in Northville," she said.

Rivers said the events in Northville are the ones that have the smallest turnout. "For some reason we don't always have a good turnout here," she said.

Ted Bohlen, a Plymouth resident, said he follows Rivers from meeting to meeting and has attended about 40 of the coffee sessions.

He said he likes to go to the meetings to fill in any gaps of information that might exist.

"I don't agree that enough information is given to the public," he said. "And sometimes I don't think politicians give us all the answers."

Because Bohlen spends much of his time doing research on current issues, he said he's able to "fill in the gaps" that Rivers may not cover at her coffee sessions. Additionally, he said it's a good networking source to locate other people who conduct similar research.

Doris Sirabian, Northville Township resident, said she attends the morning meetings hosted by Rivers in Northville whenever she can.

She said she likes to speak up at the meetings about things on her mind. At the most recent meeting, she came ready to talk about social security and lobbying groups.

Also, she said, "I like to come and see what she has to say."

To receive more information on upcoming coffee talks or to contact Rivers call (734) 485-3741.

A proud community

Supervisor expects bright future for township

By CHRIS C. DAVIS
Staff Writer

The Northville Record continued its sit-down sessions with leaders in our community to take a look ahead at what 1999 has in store.

This time, Northville Township supervisor Karen Woodside took a few minutes with the Record to examine what's been accomplished and what has yet to be done. Her comments follow.

RECORD: On several instances last year, people involved closely with Northville Township's millage talked about the eight-year funding package as being a "quality of life" issue for the township. Now that the millage has been approved, what will the quality of life be like for the township?

WOODSIDE: We're exceptionally grateful to our residents for passing the millage issues. Funding for police, fire, recreation, senior services and Northville Youth Assistance are a certainty now for the next eight years. The quality of life will continue to improve with the services that we are now able to provide. We ordered our new fire ladder truck for $500,000 to replace the obsolete ladder truck that was over 30 years old. Residents will be seeing a new "smart traffic trailer" which will be placed throughout the township to make drivers aware of their speed, take traffic counts and improve safety.

The land acquisition and improvement millage for four years was approved and the township closed on the Fairweather property (Feb. 12) as the first component. We are actively involved in five land acquisition negotiations. Our grant application for the Our Lady of Providence property — 20 acres — was denied by the state of Michigan in January. We may go forward, purchase property and apply for improvement grants. The cost of land is rapidly escalating while we apply annually for the acquisition grants.

The joint services with the city of Northville make the most economic sense for our community. Our Blue Ribbon Committee revised the funding formula to make it more equitable.

We are looking at bringing a new community center to the Northville community. Our preference is to build it with private funds on township land with a stringent operating agreement. Other communities are all building new community centers. That way, we get a wonderful community center facility, we get to keep taxes low and have the project condominiumized.

The components our residents want to see will be prioritized — we'd generate revenue through a long-term lease — and have the facility revert back to us. There is a great deal of interest in this one. The community needs such a facility. A start up meeting for the "futuring" process will be on Feb. 24 at the Northville District Library.

Bringing a nature center to the township is a priority, as well as acquiring 40 to 50 acres of land for the Community Foundation's preservation efforts to save historical buildings in a garden or farm setting. We are also exploring the possibility of a municipal golf course and trout fishing facility that was discussed in concept at a joint meeting of the board of trustees and township planning commission.

Since we've announced the ice rink going in at Henningsen Park, we've had a warm-up and can't make the ice. On a brighter note, we've also acquired the new park on Six Mile Road with $1 million in improvement being made by Toll Brothers and preservation of the Climax Forest. Friends of Northville Parks & Recreation are building the new concession facility at Community park and are donating labor and materials at a cost savings of $250,000.

RECORD: The last two years have shown a profound rate of growth and development in the township. What can residents expect this year?

WOODSIDE: We've experienced a slight slowdown in building permits, but spring is coming and Northville Township is extremely desirable. The planning commission prepared for the growth by enacting strong ordinances in the 1980s. Growth was fully anticipated and we continue to use innovative designs to protect and preserve natural features. We were one of the first communities to enact a woodlands protection ordinance and encourage open-space developments.

Diversification of the tax base has been part of the updating of the new revised master plan adopted in January of 1998. We have Hayes-Lemmer world headquarters coming to the township on Five Mile Road and PMC and one other parcel in the Wayne County facility. At one time, numerous public land uses were put in the township. We were the furthest west and north in Wayne County; hence, we were the home of Maybury TB Sanitarium, Detroit House of Corrections, Scott Prison, Northville State Hospital and Wayne County Child Development Center. Over a third of our property was publicly owned, limiting our tax base. One mill of tax in Plymouth Township generates approximately $1.5 million, but only $750,000 in Northville Township.

We're working on a perimeter road improvements as part of the Wayne County PUD project. Six Mile (Haggerty to Bradner) or beyond Meads Mill is on the county's priority list. The railroad bridge will be cost-prohibitive to extend widening to Northville Road. Our current 1997 mid-decade census takes us to approximately 21,000 people.

Acquiring the finance building ensures that our administrative office space needs are met and gave us contiguous land with the Six Mile Road frontage. We are growing and will need a new fire station. The land has been donated on Sheldon between Five and Six Mile to service the western end of the township.

The Northville Township Community Foundation was established to plan the centennial celebration for the township and did an incredible job planning the events. When the ground thaws, we would like to bury a time capsule to be opened in 2098. The Foundation continues after the centennial to become a significant source to the community, building an endowment, to ease the burdens of government and to bring arts and historic preservation to the community. When you read the township's history book, it is clear many people before us in Northville Township made sacrifices and had extraordinary vision. We are only stewards of the land and have a duty to preserve and improve the township.

RECORD: When you factor in the losses of OIS Optical Imaging Systems and 35th District Court revenue and the additions of development in the Wayne County PUD, how would you characterize the financial health of the township?

WOODSIDE: OIS paid taxes through this year and is in the process of being sold. We did file a personal property tax notice which protects the revenue for the schools, county and township. The 35th District Court revenue loss has been felt and has adversely impacted our budget. After the millage election, we are no longer funding public safety out of the general fund. There is now a budgeted repair and maintenance rotation as our buildings and equipment age.

Plante Moran prepared our eight-year financial forecast. With all services remaining at the current levels, we will be able to meet our current obligations based on the projected growth and continuation of the current economic conditions. The board of trustees is constantly looking at alternative revenue sources, grants and innovative funding options. We've worked with Northville Schools to fund the DARE program and the salary of one officer for $40,000 through a federal-state grant. The Six Mile bike path will also be funded by a state grant.

The township is fortunate to have a truly outstanding staff of employees. They truly care — whether it be public safety, clerical, water and sewer, building, planning finance or any of the department heads. They've all maintained the efficient functioning of the township.

We have a cohesive board — we function well together. It's comprised of fiscally responsible individuals who have done a remarkable job of looking to future needs while keeping us in sound financial condition. We are very austere and cognizant of our fiduciary duties to our taxpayers. Our goal is to provide maximum service at minimum cost. All four labor contracts were settled in 1998 and the contracts are all good for three to four years. We passed our audit with flying colors.

(Wayne Township Utilities Association) needs to double its size and we've pledged our full faith and credit to rebuild the 35th District Courthouse along with Plymouth Township, Canton Township, the city of Northville and the city of Plymouth. The new courthouse should meet our needs for at least the next 10 to 15 years.

RECORD: How do you justify the continued pursuit of the Northville High School lawsuit amid two courtroom defeats for the township?

WOODSIDE: It would be inappropriate to comment on pending litigation, but we respectfully disagree with the schools on this issue. The entire collection of correspondence and legal pleadings file is available for public review during business hours. After reading the correspondence, I'm certain most people would understand that litigation was a last resort and the reasons why it was.

Initially, the purpose of the injunction was to stop the cutting of the trees and to prevent the trees from being decimated. The moving party must demonstrate an "irreparable injury or loss." The day after the judge denied our motion, the trees were all cut down, so our appeal was moot. We've never objected to the actual footprint of the building — only to the site issues.

Based on comments made by the court at the injunctive relief hearing, we made a motion for summary disposition on the issue of jurisdiction in order to expedite the matter and dispense with a trial. The sole issue was whether the township has jurisdiction over zoning or site issues where the state construction code expressly provides in its definitional section, "Construction does not mean zoning," and the Rural Township Zoning Act provides that townships "shall plan for schools." The purpose of appellate courts is to take a fresh look, or a de novo review of legal issues decided by the trial courts.

There are significant issues of public policy involved in this litigation. The Michigan Townships Association and the Michigan Municipal League would never support or fund a lawsuit that didn't have merit. The township board members are fiduciaries of the taxpayers' money, and as a supervisor, an appellate attorney and as an officer of the court, I would never support frivolous or vexatious litigation. Our attorney has advised us that these issues are substantially meritorious.

Generically, when Addison Township sued the Michigan State Police to stop a radio tower, like the one installed on Seven Mile, without township approval, they took a tremendous risk but ultimately prevailed. Northville Township sued the state for double-bunking and obtained the 17 acres of land on Seven Mile Road as part of the consent agreement.

We recently lost our second double-bunking lawsuit — joined by Plymouth Township — in the Michigan Supreme Court after winning in the trial court. Similarly, the prior board (of trustees) engaged in litigation with Wayne County over the Woods of Edenderry road connections. Plymouth Township has sued Wayne County over jail issues.

Litigation is always a last resort and we will await the court's decision. Our attorney assures us that the bulk of the work has been done and the appeal will cost less than $2,500.

RECORD: Almost a year ago, the board of trustees indicated a survey would be developed to query the feelings of township employees' feelings about having township manager. What's the status of that survey?

WOODSIDE: Treasurer Dick Henningsen is the co-chair of the administration review committee appointed last year along with township resident Bill Pomeroy, a human resources expert. The committee has gone all over the state interviewing township supervisors — with and without manager — superintendents, former managers and department heads.

The general staff is currently being interviewed by a consultant. This is an exceptionally comprehensive study, much like the one conducted in the mid-1980s by a similar committee which took almost a year to complete. They are interviewing supervisors in comparable Wayne and Oakland townships and studying what works what doesn't. They promise a report to the board in late spring, or early summer but assured the board they're working diligently on the study.

RECORD: If you had to explain what Northville Township's "identity" was, how would you describe it?

WOODSIDE: Northville Township is a proud, progressive, innovative centennial community. We're a leader in southeastern Michigan and a model for other municipalities. The township values, preserves and respects the natural beauty that we've been blessed with. We're fortunate to have wonderful schools, great cooperation between the city and the township and an excellent quality of life.

The township is comprised of warm, caring residents that share a vision for our future and work together to achieve that vision.

RECORD: You've involved yourself on boards and committees — beyond that of simply Northville Township — that tend to take up a lot of your time. Explain what you do.

WOODSIDE: Sometimes residents call me and leave a voice mail message that they need a call returned in 20 minutes. I'm a part-time supervisor and have full-time assistants that can immediately handle any problems and direct them to the appropriate department or reach me in an emergency.

As supervisor, I represent the township at WTUZ. I'm the chair of the 35th District Court advisory board, I belong to the conference of Western Wayne, SEMCOG, the Michigan Townships Association and the Wayne County Supervisor's Association. I'm the MTA representative for the state court administrator's office district standards committee. I belong to Meeting of the Minds, the CWW Emergency 911 committee, and other groups.

Each of these usually have monthly meetings that sometimes conflict with each other. I do schedule appointments, and try to get back to residents as quickly as possible.

Man injured in attack by wife

Northville police were greeted at a Hutton Street home by a bloody man wearing nothing more than a pair of white underwear Feb. 20.

Police responded to the call just before midnight after the man called 911 and asked them to send an officer as a woman was heard yelling in the background, according to the Northville police report.

Upon arrival, officers said they found the 36-year-old man cut on the arms, shoulders and face with blood splattered all around the residence. Also, they found a 29-year-old woman cleaning blood off of the kitchen floor with a hand towel who was unresponsive to police and "seemed to be dumbfounded with the situation."

The police report said the couple had attended a wedding earlier in the day and the woman accused the man of having an affair. The police reports said the fight escalated from there culminating with the woman attacking the man with either the telephone or a green bottle.

Based on what the couple told police, the woman was arrested and released on a $100 cash bond Feb. 22.

THAT'S A TUFFY: A 16-year-old drove his 1988 Ford Thunderbird through a stop sign and clipped another car.

The incident happened Feb. 18 at 1:30 p.m.

According to police reports, the 16-year-old who lives on Dundalk Court was driving east on Dundalk Street when he went through a stop sign and clipped the rear section of a car being driven by a 52-year-old man who lives on Bloomcrest.

Police News

The 16-year-old told police his brakes may have temporarily gone out causing him not to stop.

The 16-year-old was cited for failing to stop in an assured clear distance.

HIT-AND-RUN HOPEFUL: An 89-year-old Northville man who lives on Northhills Drive failed to stop at a yield sign, ran into a car and drove away from the scene.

The incident happened Feb. 16 at 12:10 p.m.

According to police reports, the 89-year-old failed to yield at a yield sign at Novi Road and Eight Mile Road and bumped his 1983 Mercury Cougar into a 1990 Buick being driven by a 82-year-old Plymouth woman. Both cars stopped but when the woman asked the man for information he told her to just report the accident as a hit and run. As he drove away, she was able to get his license number.

Police tracked down the car and cited the man for leaving the scene of an accident. Neither car was damaged.

BREAK AND RUN: Police were flagged down by a man in the parking lot of the Allstar Gym after someone broke his window while he was driving.

The incident happened Feb. 18 at about 11:30 p.m.

According to police reports, the 58-year-old man and his 22-year-old son, both of Allen Park, were turning right onto eastbound East

when an unknown white male came off the curb at a fast pace and was hit by the right front bumper being driven by the two men. As the father was getting out of the car to assist the pedestrian, the man jumped up, began yelling at the 58-year-old, grabbed the driver's side window and smashed it.

The man then fled on foot east on East Main Street. Police couldn't find the man. The 22-year-old's eye was scraped by flying glass.

TOWNSHIP POLICE REPORTS

NEW SALES TECHNIQUE? A Jamestown Circle woman told police she was approached by a pair of men, about 18 to 20 years of age, who requested up-front payment of a Detroit News / Free Press subscription.

The incident occurred at around 4 p.m. Feb. 19.

The woman said the men announced they were collecting for the newspapers, and that if the $140 subscription fee was not paid at that moment, that delivery of the newspapers would cease. The woman told the men she would need to speak with her daughter, who ordered the subscription.

Police had been called to the Jamestown Circle area earlier on reports of indecent exposure by two men fitting the solicitor's description. In that incident, maintenance workers in the area confronted the solicitors about their door-to-door sales. The solicitors responded by making vulgar comments, exposing themselves and urinating on a sidewalk in the area.

Detectives contacted Detroit Newspapers on Feb. 22 and spoke to a manager, who verified that Detroit Newspapers agents were in the area on that day attempting to collect advance payments for subscriptions. He told police he would speak to the men who were working along Jamestown Circle and that they would be suspended for one week.

Detectives also advised the sales staff to obtain a soliciting permit from the township before resuming work in the area.

EMBEZZLEMENT: Police were called to Mobil Oil at Six Mile and Haggerty roads Feb. 19 on report of an embezzlement complaint.

After interviewing store management, police learned that a 19-year-old employee of the store had been making a large number of refunds, cancellations and "no-sale" transactions during recent work shifts. Management discovered the happenings while reviewing computer records maintained during his shift.

Managers said they believed the employee would take money from customers and insert it into the cash register so as not to arouse customer suspicion of wrongdoing, but would enter $0.00 as the amount transferred. Later, at the end of his shift, the man would retain a portion of the money while counting his cash register drawer. Managers also said the man would accept returns and issue refunds for items which didn't originate from the store.

Firefighters extinguish blaze at Country Club Village

By CHRIS C. DAVIS
Staff Writer

Damage estimates were being tallied Thursday as Northville Township fire crews sifted through the wreckage of a basement fire in Country Club Village.

The fire struck a home on Dun Rovin at around 1 p.m. Though no injuries were reported, the homeowners were transported for medical observation. Lt. Ron Lane said one of the occupants required a supplemental supply of oxygen.

Fire officials received a 911 call at around 1 p.m. that smoke could be seen coming from the home. Lane said flames could be seen shooting out of the basement windows on the southern side of the building when crew members arrived on the scene. The flames worked their way up the backside of the home and began tearing away at window screens on the first level of the house.

Though muddy footprints represented the extent of most of the damage to the first floor of the home, the basement stairwell was heavily coated in soot.

Damage in the basement was extensive, scorching virtually all of the lower level. Lane said preliminary investigations indicated the fire seemed to start near the furnace of the home and spread throughout the basement. The cause of the fire was still under investigation.

Financial priorities

Council sets fiscal goals

BY ANDREW DIETDERICH
Staff Writer

When Gary Word took over as city manager in 1991 he expected everything to be in order financially.

But his expectations were far from reality, he said, and achieving long-term financial stability has been a high priority goal since - until this year.

City council recently bumped the goal down to medium priority. It's one of two medium priority goals set up by the council with the other one to continue making progress on street and sidewalk improvements.

Kevin Hartshorne, city council member, said he sees little difference between the high-, medium- and low-priority goals.

The idea of goals and priorities is to stay focused and provide direction for the council," he said.

Despite the fact the goal of achieving long-term financial stability has dropped on the priority list, Word said he isn't taking the goal any less seriously.

"We're poised toward slower but methodical progress toward making the city financially stable," he said. "As long as council doesn't lose sight of that I'll be satisfied."

Last October, the city's auditors reported a $51,394 general fund surplus for fiscal 1998 which put the city's general fund balance at $704,612. That number represented slightly less than 15 percent of the city's annual budget which is about 10 percent below the minimum recommended fund balance of 25 percent of the annual budget.

"My concern is that we're going in the right direction," he said. "I'd love to be there right now but it's just going to take some time."

Word said it's impossible to predict when the city might reach the goal of having a surplus of 25 percent of the annual budget because

"each year is a challenge and you can't predict if you're going to have a $10,000 surplus or come under budget."

Hartshorne said he feels comfortable the city will continue to make strides toward long term financial stability.

"We're not in danger of tapping into that fund and I would expect we would continue to contribute as much to fund this year as we did last year," he said.

Carolann Ayers, mayor pro-tem, was the one who suggested moving the goal from high priority to medium.

She said when year 2000 compliance and water and sewage goals were moved up to high priority goals, there wasn't much left for medium-priority.

"It would have been unrealistic to have a whole batch of high priority goals," she said. "I just thought that even though it continues to be important to the city it didn't need to be a part of the high priority goals." In addition to working toward long term financial stability, the other medium priority project is to continue making street and sidewalk improvements.

Specifically, Word said, the city will identify moved and cracked pieces of sidewalk and try to replace them. Additionally, the city will continue to take steps towards consistent preventive maintenance of roads.

"We want to continue to improve what we have so at some point in the future we can expand the roads," he said.

NEW TEACHER AT THORNTON:Two new teachers have been hired at Thornton Creek Elementary School.

Elise Morrison has been hired as physical education teacher. Morrison replaces Ann Cook who is now working at the board office as a curriculum resource facilitator. She has 4.5 years of teaching experience and a bachelor of science degree in K-12 physical education from the University of Michigan.

Melanie Norman has been hired as early intervention teacher. She has a bachelor of science degree in elementary education from Utah State University.

RESPECT WEEK DECLARED:The Northville school board has declared the week of March 20 through March 27 as Respect Week.

The declaration was requested by the Northville Youth Forum, which also will make the same request to the Northville city council and the Northville Township board of trustees.

TIME REQUIREMENTS UNCHANGED:The state minimum instructional time required for the 1999-2000 school year remains at 182 days and 1,047 hours.

An increased planned to take place in the 1999-2000 school year has been postponed until the following school year as long as certain conditions are met.

card. Because the man provided his actual name and telephone number in buying the items, Sumner said it appeared extremely unlikely that the man had knowledge that the debit card was stolen, and thus, would not be charged.

"Sears really helped us out on this one," Sumner said. "They were very cooperative in the investigation."

The property was able to be returned to the store and re-credited to the card, Sumner said. Further court dates in the matter are pending.

City officials say budget on track

BY ANDREW DIETDERICH
Staff Writer

Northville's 1999 city budget teeters on a fine line between being on track and thrown out of whack.

Barring any further storms and an escape from the Y2K bug, Nicolette Bateson, finance director for the city of Northville, said the city should come in as planned financially.

But any surprises could cause problems.

"We try our best not to have any surprises," Bateson said. "I don't like surprises."

The city council recently approved budget amendments for the first half of fiscal 1999, which ended Dec. 31, 1998.

The city has a benchmark to spend 50 percent of its budget as of Dec. 31, 1998 for the fiscal 1999 year. According to a report by Bateson, the city is almost exactly on track and had spent 47 percent of the budget as of that time.

Some items on the city's budget vary from the 50 percent benchmark because not all revenues and expenditures occur evenly throughout the year. For instance, 100 percent of the year for leaf pick up funds have been spent but only 5 percent of budgeted money toward winter maintenance had been spent as of Dec. 31.

"I'll feel a lot better once we get through this year 2000 issue," she said. "But right now we're finding out where we stand."

Costly repairs and replacements due to not being Year 2000-compliant could cause the city to go over budget, Bateson said.

Bateson said the city had budgeted a certain amount toward making sure computer systems were year 2000 compliant, but failed to consider embedded chip products until last summer. Embedded chips are those found in certain devices such as fire engines and heating and cooling devices that are used for timing.

The city has hired a firm to study all embedded chip systems it has but the results won't be known until later this year. Bateson said it should be about three months until the city knows for sure about any repairs or replacements necessary because of year 2000 problems.

Bateson said she hopes the results won't turn up any costly repairs or replacements.

Also, she said, Bateson hopes there aren't any more surprises from the sky, specifically in the form of snowstorms.

A few more storms may push the city over budget in that area, Bateson said.

"Another one isn't going to break the budget," she said.

Bateson said items that will receive the most attention for the fiscal 2000 budget will be fixing any equipment not year 2000 compliant, improving the water system and finishing the Center Street project.

Unemployment Agency passes Y2K test

The state's unemployment insurance program has passed without a glitch the first "live" Y2K test of its computer system.

"We completed all of the necessary work in November to make our computer system compliant with year 2000 requirements," Acting Unemployment Agency Director Jack Wheatley said. "And we did our job well. Since Jan. 3, we have processed and established 'real' unemployment claims that must actually use the year 2000 in their set up and last week, we began paying the benefits based on these claims. All of this has happened without any problems."

UA computers must recognize the year 2000 with all initial claims filed after Jan. 3 because the claims expire in 12 months, taking them into the new year.

Over the first two weeks of the new year, the state agency flawlessly processed nearly 43,400 new initial claims for jobless benefits. Throughout 1998, the agency handled close to 548,000 initial benefit claims, paid out $990.4 million in benefits and collected over $1 billion in unemployment taxes.

"Along with our unemployment benefit system, our tax and Income Eligibility and Verification Systems are fully Y2K compliant," Wheatley said. "Jobless benefit claimants and employers can rest assured that our computer system will not have a problem with the year 2000 and beyond."

When it completed its conversion work in November, the Unemployment Agency became one of the first large mainframe users in Michigan state government and one of the first unemployment programs in the nation to be Y2K compliant.

To make the Y2K conversion, UA staff evaluated more than five million lines of code and conducted more than 30,000 hours of testing.

The Unemployment Agency is part of the Michigan Department of Consumer and Industry Services, the state's primary licensing and regulatory department.

LET'S TALK

GEMSTONE

Topaz has a number of admirable qualities. To begin with, its name says a great deal - the word "topaz" is believed to be derived from the Sanskrit word "tapas," meaning fire. Centuries ago, one of the gemstones in the Portuguese crown was thought to be the largest diamond ever found (640 carats). That gemstone is now believed to have been a colorless topaz. This is ironic because topaz is renowned for its variety of colors, which include yellow, pink, brown, blue, red, violet, and orange, as well as white. In addition, topaz is exceeded in hardness by only diamond and corundum (sapphire and ruby). Add to this topaz's availability in high clarity, and you have a very desirable gemstone.

Topaz and other gemstones abound at WEINSTEIN JEWELERS OF NOVI, in a variety of styles for every preference.

We're here for you Tue. & Thurs. 10 am - 6 pm, Wed. & Fri. 10 am - 5 pm, Sat. 10 am - 5 pm. WEINSTEIN JEWELERS. "The name you know, the name you trust." Most major credit cards accepted. Need jewelry repairs? We do high quality repairs of all types, including silver, even emergency and rush repairs - another reason to count on us.

This past January WEINSTEIN JEWELERS received the first pawn license issued by the City of Novi, adding yet another service available to our customers. If you have jewelry from a past relationship that you no longer wear or a piece that just seems out of date, remember cash in your pocket is more fun.

P.S. "Imperial topaz" is the name reserved for topaz of an intense brownish-orange-red color.

District unsure of state funding for special education

BY ANDREW DIETDERICH
Staff Writer

The Northville school district's special education programs were underfunded $1.6 million in 1998 and will fall short this year.

If the trend of underfunding by the state continues, Leonard Rezmierski, superintendent of the Northville school district, said the district will be forced to evaluate whether or not it can afford to run some of its special education programs.

As a result, Northville and more than 80 other school districts sued the state last May in Durant vs. the state of Michigan, also referred to as Durant II. The plaintiffs in the case want the state to fund special education programs it mandates without taking away from other programs, Rezmierski said.

Rezmierski recently updated the Northville board of education on the status of the Durant II.

Currently, he said, the districts have filed briefs in the case and are waiting for the state's rebuttal.

But time is of the essence, Rezmierski said.

"Certainly in time at this rate of underfunding we would have to look at whether or not we could afford to run a center program and provide special education services at the K through 12 level," he said.

Durant I was filed May 1980 by Don Durant, then a member of the board of education for the Fitzgerald Public Schools.

The case was filed, the plaintiffs alleged, because Fitzgerald was experiencing a significant reduction in funding from the state on programs it was required to provide under state law.

The Headlee Amendment of 1978, section 29 prohibits a reduction in the state financed proportion of the costs of any existing activity or service required of local government by state law.

The state supreme court ruled in favor of the school districts in July 1997, but only ordered the state to reimburse the districts for three of 17 years the Headlee Amendment was violated.

Durant II was filed May 14, 1998 after it was discovered by the financial services staff at some school districts that the increased monies to special education were just shuffled from general operating revenues.

On June 11, 1998 the state court of appeals dismissed Durant II without briefs or argument from either party. That was followed June 30 with an appeal filed with the state Supreme Court.

In September, the supreme court sent the case back to the court of appeals and directed the court to handle it "expeditiously."

Since the case started the number of districts involved has climbed to almost 130.

World War didn't keep Record from supporting troops

papers like the Record played an integral role in the eventual outcome.

William Cote, a professor of journalism at Michigan State University, said World War II is looked upon by many in academia as one of the last times in American history where the entire country rallied around a single cause.

"It was maybe the last time that America was really united in deciding what was important," Cote said. "In this case, maybe our very national life depended on deciding what was important on everyone working together. We were all on the same side."

Not only were the materials needed to produce newspapers like the Record needed to supply the war effort, but the content and writing style of papers was vastly different in those days.

"The media wasn't trying to be objective at all," Cote said. "There was absolutely no incentive to give the enemy their due."

Whereas journalists reporting on the Gulf War may have sought comment from Iraqi press secretaries, Cote said reporters and writers in World War II did all they could to help generate support for defeat of the Axis powers.

But for as good a job as the American press may have done in its propaganda effort, Cote said the Germans and Japanese had done a far superior job of generating feelings of national pride.

"In America, we were rank amateurs compared to the Nazis where propaganda was considered," he said. "In some cases, the Nazis were just telling flat-out lies to its people and the rest of the world that no one clued-in on until the war was over."

In the Record, nearly every advertisement that appeared contained a message about how the product in question would help the war effort. Optometrists encouraged residents to have their eyes checked so workmanship on war products wouldn't be hurt. A full-page chart appeared to explain the "point values" assigned to food purchases at area grocery stores. Telephone users were encouraged to use their phone books rather than calling an operator for a phone number to reduce wear on phone lines. Nearly all movies showing at area theaters had some sort of tie to the war.

On the front page of the Record, the photographs and names of local servicemen appeared on a regular basis, clearly designed to help stir up emotion and support for the war.

Cote said that though the modern-day perception of propaganda has bad connotations, it really isn't so.

"We tend to think propaganda is bad," Cote said. "What it really is, is a means of stating your case on an issue by inflating certain points and diminishing others. Germany and Japan just had us outclassed in that department. They were masters of it to the Nth degree."

While the war raged, many male reporters found themselves taking to the battlefields rather than covering their beats. Like many other industries, newspapers found themselves employing a sharply higher number of women to handle jobs which men had had for years before.

One woman who found herself in the reporter's chair was Birmingham resident Barbara Underwood. An MSU journalism school graduate in 1945, Underwood said the Associated Press newsroom was largely occupied with women during World War II.

Unfortunately, many of those same women lost their jobs once men returned home after the war. But for the year or so she was in the newsroom, Underwood said she saw and experienced things few reporters have.

For one thing, Underwood said she worked as the senior editor of MSU's student paper, The State News in May of 1945. Late in evening of May 8, Underwood said she heard the bells ringing from the AP wire.

printout indicated that a flash news story was forthcoming and to stand by. A short while later, it was announced that Germany had surrendered.

"We ended up putting out the first-ever extra edition of The State News and even beat the Lansing

State Journal to the stands with the news," Underwood said.

Some four months later, Underwood was at the AP newsroom in Detroit when the same alarm signal rang out — this time it was to announce the dropping of the atomic bomb on Hiroshima. A few days after that the bells cut through the air again. Japan was surrendering.

U.S. papers were significantly smaller in size than the ones printed today, largely because the number of advertisements in the papers were reduced, she said.

"No one could buy anything," she said. "Everything was geared toward the war effort. It was a very exciting time, but also very difficult. I hope we never have to endure something like that again."

Underwood's husband, Art, served in the 103rd Airborne division in Europe while his wife worked back home. He said state-side news was tough to come by, except for whatever bulletins ran in Stars and Stripes, the military's newspaper since World War I.

Art Underwood said many GIs thirsted for news from the U.S., but had a tough time finding it.

"It wasn't a very easy thing to do," he said.

Underwood eventually settled down and took up a job in public relations and even spoke to one of Cote's journalism classes following his retirement.

"It's something else to think back about what life was like back then," he said.

Judgement vindicates Anderson

Dr. (Leonard) Rezmierski and Dr. (Stephen) Anderson as to the plaintiffs' several claims. Plaintiffs' claims are hereby dismissed with prejudice in their entirety," Steeh's order said.

"I couldn't agree with the decision more and I think the outcome from the case and the judge's opinion indicates there was no substance to any of the charges," Anderson said.

Anderson said the legal process was made easier by the assistance in his favor by the Northville school district administration.

"I feel somewhat blessed that we have a board and administration that was able to stand by me and the school," Anderson said. "They both have a lot of courage and leadership."

School district disputes Township connection fees

water lines are based on the average usage of water in a single residence home, which receives one unit. Each community has guidelines for what it charges each entity, for example auto car washes are assigned 10 units per production line in the township. Public schools are charged one unit plus .2 units per classroom in Northville Township.

According to a letter from Don Weaver, director of public works at Northville Township, the township assigned 39.4 units to the new Northville High School. The district would be charged $7,500 per unit to connect to the sewer and $2,500 per unit for water under new rates the township put into effect Dec. 7.

Before that the costs were $7,000 and $2,100 respectively.

As a result, the latest base cost to the Northville school district is $394,000 to tap into the township's water and sewer line.

Boltho said the district will be questioning the township as to whether the fees are reasonable and compare the proposed township costs to other projects in other school districts. "Those seem to be pretty high costs," he said.

Weaver said the fees are no different for the school district than any other entity entering the township. "Tapping into our lines may cost a little bit more than in another community, but we want to keep costs down for the residents already here," Weaver said.

Weaver said instead of raising costs to existing residents, township water and sewer revenues are raised by "charging people to connect to our lines."

"They're paying for our future increased needs as opposed to penalizing or creating undo pressure on those already here," he said.

Weaver said he was not at liberty to say whether or not the township would deviate from the system for the school district.

"It would be no different if a private developer came," he said. "Any entities other than the township itself goes through the same process."

Bruce Jerome, city of Novi water and sewer director, said that any entity that taps into the city's water line is charged for doing so.

"Schools would receive the same treatment as any other entity," he said.

Construction continues on the new Northville High School site. School district officials are disputing the cost of connecting to Northville Township's water and sewer lines.

questioned him regarding the costs. Normally, he said, developers and planners work together during the planning phase and the costs are determined then. Because of the dispute about whose jurisdiction the school fell under, the township and district never discussed the issue until Weaver approached the school district in fall.

At that time Weaver said he told the construction manager the cost would be about $300,000, but that was based on verbal information provided by the manager. When Weaver saw the plans in October, the swimming pool was larger than what the developer had told him verbally. As a result, the costs to tap into the water system went up $75,000.

Additionally, the township board of trustees approved higher rates for tapping into the township's water and sewer system in September that went into effect Dec. 7.

Boltho said the district didn't budget a set amount for the water taps, but that a reasonable amount of money could be taken from somewhere else in the project's budget.

"No where near that amount though," he said.

Similar costs are being assessed for Moraine Elementary School where the district is trying to complete a water main loop that was part of the bond issue that Northville residents approved June of 1997.

Boltho said establishing another connection to complete a water main loop makes the school safer for students.

But Weaver said the price of the Moraine project shouldn't be surprising to the district.

"When the township talked with the district about servicing it, the district made a commitment to secure funds to complete the loop," he said.

OPINION

Twp. public safety crews well worth our taxdollars

Unless you were actually on Dun Roven Drive last Thursday, and unless you stood in front of the condominium which caught fire, and unless you were in the basement of the home, you wouldn't have seen the professionalism of the Northville Township fire department.

We were there, and we did see it. And trust us when we say this — they're good at what they do.

The couple whose home was damaged in the fire will need months to put their lives back in order. But thanks to firefighters and police officials, that process of recovery began the moment the fire trucks began unraveling the hoses.

We believe public safety director Chip Snider and fire chief Bill Zhmendak when they say they are dedicated to giving residents the most diligent and professional services possible. The fire department has shown that dedication at least twice this year, with fires at Country Club Village and Innsbrook Apartments. We're also aware the fire department has been summoned dozens of times for car accidents and treating the sick and injured.

Meanwhile, the police department continues to stop drunk drivers, recover stolen property, investigate crimes and educate our school children.

All this, at a cost of pennies a day to the taxpayers. What a bargain.

The public safety department insisted last year that in order to continue being able to protect residents that its millage request would need to be approved. It was a narrow victory — less than 50 votes the margin between passage and failure. We believed the tallies could be interpreted as a message being sent by voters: with some serious reservations, here's our money.

If there has been any doubt that the public safety department wasn't kidding in its declaration of need, one only has to take a look at the chronology of emergency runs racked up by firefighters and police officers. They've also taken important steps in purchasing the new ladder / pumper truck for the fire department and purchasing the mobile speed monitor trailer — two indications public safety officials want to keep our residents safe.

Keeping an eye on those who are entrusted with the public's money has long been one of our top priorities. We're aware the millage is only two months into an eight-year deal but so far, we like what we see.

For the Record...

"They're (Northville Township) really sticking it to us with this one,"

Dave Bolitho, Assistant Superintendent, Northville Public Schools talking about Northville Township charging the school district close to $400,000 to connect the new high school to the township's water and sewer lines.

"We're poised toward slower but methodical progress toward making the city financially stable,"

Kevin Hartshorne, Northville city councilman, talking about the council's continued efforts to keep Northville financially healthy.

Umm...isn't $400,000 a little steep?

An open letter to the Northville Township Board of Trustees.

Dear Board:

Something horrendous has taken place and I thought it best for me to alert you that a ghastly mistake has been made regarding the construction of the new Northville High School. You know the building I'm talking about, the big building partially constructed on Six Mile.

Anyway, my informants tell me someone in your water and sewer department is charging the high school the commercial rate for connecting to the township's water and sewer lines.

To the tune of about $400,000.

I know this fact probably surprises you. It certainly surprised me, especially when we checked surrounding municipalities and found that their charges are lower, much lower.

You are all probably asking yourselves, "How could such a mistake happen?"

You know, I'm asking myself the very same question. And I've got to tell you, I'm as shocked as you are. Geez, charging the school district that kind of money almost seems like...well, dare I say...extortion.

And I've been telling everyone that the township board would never play unfairly with the school district. I know that you'd never take advantage of a situation like this, because the township has a history of working well with its neighbors.

Yep, it has got to be a mistake. A big misunderstanding.

Now I'm not intimating that the school district shouldn't pay its fair share here. I think it wise to pass some of the cost of new development on to those doing the developing. But $400,000 seems a bit steep don't you think? I mean, the township wouldn't be trying to...lets say...make a profit on new construction would it?

No, of course not. That wouldn't be fair, and everyone knows that the township has a history of being extremely fair.

And that's what I've been telling people, who seem concerned over some of your recent decisions. "Fear not," I say. "There are perfectly rational explanations for the township taking those actions."

Uh, by the way, just so I'm better prepared next time this comes up, just what exactly are the rational explanations for some of the actions you've been taking lately?

But I digress. I'm really concerned how this recent mistake is going to look to the general public. I would hate for this seemingly minor oversight to tarnish all of your good reputations. Perhaps we could solve this oversight by simply adjusting the bill to reflect a charge that is more fair and reasonable.

You can do that, can't you? I mean, all you'd have to do is vote on it at your next meeting, right?

That would clear up this whole problem. Then I could write a nice column in next week's newspaper on how the township is really being a fair and just neighbor. I just love writing those types of columns — everybody is happy.

Anyway, in closing I'd like to thank you in advance for your prompt handling of this error. I know this board always prides itself on doing the right thing.

With Regards,

Bob Jackson

Good teaching engages our students

Teaching Isn't Telling

Fill in the blank: "If I've told you once, I've told you a _____ times." (Answer at end.)

As a child in school, I raged against teachers and an education system apparently devoid of human dignity and common sense. This anger fueled my determination to become a teacher. Not just any teacher, I planned to become the model, of teachers for all time to come. During my third week in the classroom, I threw a chalk eraser at the rear wall above the heads of my out-of-control eighth graders. I realized it wasn't going to be easy.

I made many mistakes that first year, but my biggest error was in confusing teaching with telling, a common error of new teachers. No one likes to be told what to do and think, or to be force-fed information, especially young people who have been told what to do all their lives by people bigger than they are.

I found that a teacher who poses as the source of all knowledge, and who insists on imposing all this knowledge on students, will be greeted with glazed eyes and yawns if he's lucky, spitballs and worse if he's not. In this situation, the kids feel unimportant, discounted, even stupid. And they are right to feel that way.

Good teaching engages students, and one way to engage students is to not tell them so much. Instead, a teacher designs lessons that lead them to discover information themselves. Or, to paraphrase Margaret Wheatley, "Students aren't inherently against learning, but they are inherently against being told."

Another way of putting it is Alfie Kohn's, "the trick is not to find how to motivate the student, but to find what motivates the student."

What does this mean in real life? Here's an example: Alfie Kohn asks his audience, "What is the answer to three-eighths plus three-quarters?" After an appropriate pause, he adds, "The proper answer that any right thinking student will give is, who cares? ...Fractions are best taught by connecting them to the child's concerns. Children are concerned about their height, so fractions taught in that context will be meaningful, and will be remembered."

Here's another example: I asked students to write compositions which we would examine in class. The kids called it "decomposing." It was dull, boring stuff, for the most part, but I thought I was helping them. It wasn't until the students wrote a class newsletter that I saw progress.

In short, they were excited about doing real writing, rather than writing to be dissected and discarded. They didn't want articles printed with mistakes, so they made sure they were well-written and with few errors. Errors that got through caused enough distress to insure better quality next time.

A well-equipped science lab might be the best example. After an experiment, the teacher says, in effect, "What do you make of this?" Students then work in teams to find the most logical explanation, then come together to discuss their findings.

No one told them the answers; they had the fun, just as real scientists do, of finding answers to puzzles.

(Answer: You know the answer, so what does this say about telling? Discuss it among yourselves.)

Charter school benefits haven't appeared

I've been telling you so. Despite the glossy promises Mackinac Center and Gov. John Engler made about charter schools, the benefits haven't appeared. To correct the governor's campaign slogan: "Promises made, promises broken."

The notion of charter schools, as developed by the Regional Laboratory for Educational Improvement of the Northeast in 1988, was to liberate good teachers and free them from the rigid dogma of school boards and educationists. There would be innovations in curriculum, more parental choice, improved learning for motivated students. Rah, rah, rah.

Two scholarly reports on Public School Academies, commissioned by the Legislature, tell us that PSAs, or "charter schools," have fallen short, for the most part. Again, I remind you that not all charter schools are bad; about one-fourth have better MEAP test scores than the traditional public schools in the surrounding community.

But failures exceed successes. Engler was cheered twice in his State of the State address when he agreed with President Clinton that "all states and school districts must turn around their worst performing schools - or shut them down." An honest governor would start shutting down many of the 137 incompetently run, unimaginative, low-performing, low-paying charter schools.

Public Sector Consultants Inc. (PSCI) of Lansing and Western Michigan University reported back Feb. 18 on the first four years of the charter experiment. PSCI's report made a lot of excuses for the poor performance - they had to struggle to survive - but the patterns showed through in both reports:

• Test scores - The percentage of students scoring "satisfactory" at charter schools is lower than at a majority of local traditional public schools," said PSCI. It could have bought this newspaper and saved the state $149,999.50.

When public schools had declining test scores, their enemies shouted this over the airwaves. But when charter schools (as a group) flop, their alibi is that they are just too new and somehow attracted the bottom of the public schools' academic barrel.

• Parental involvement - "Parents had - or exercised - less influence over (charter) schools in the upper grades, and communication with the home was perceived to decline in the upper grades," said WMU. So much for the big fib of "parental choice."

• Curriculum - Michigan got cheated. Instead of getting charter schools that specialize in science or the performing arts, "there are limited innovations being developed and applied in the PSAs," said WMU. Many charter schools hire business management firms and revert to "canned curriculums."

• Dropouts - "On the whole, the PSAs had higher dropout rates than did their host communities." In short, PSAs dumped the problems back into the traditional public schools.

• Personnel management - WMU found "extensive nepotism in employment of relatives" and "high rates of attrition among teachers, students and even principals," said WMU.

• Organization - Instead of motivated teachers and concerned parents starting charter schools, the biggest group of applicants came from the ranks of private schools, with only a "handful" from public schools.

• Church and state - Charter schools are supposed to be like public schools, with no "established" religion. Yet PSCI noted that ministers often were among organizers, and WMU quoted students as saying "this is a Christian school," though leaders denied any proselytizing. Many of us still suspect charter schools are a subterfuge for fundamentalist parochialism.

• Minorities - "Thus there is support for those who argue that the charter schools are skimming and increasing segregation ... there is a clear trend toward fewer and fewer minorities in the PSAs," WMU said.

• Finances - Charter schools moan that they don't have capital and startup costs. Yet they get the same $5,600 per pupil as do public schools, but they often don't offer expensive high school courses, school lunches, transportation, special education, enabling them to turn a $1,000-per-pupil profit.

Engler should keep his promise and shut down the bad ones.

Letters to the Editor

Don't allow alcohol sale on public property

To the editor:

I believe almost everyone would agree that outdoor dining is enjoyable. However, is alcoholic beverage service by a privately owned tavern acceptable, when done in public, on city owned property?

It is unlawful to drink an alcoholic beverage in a public area, as stated in Section 54-190, of the City of Northville Ordinance Code. "No person shall drink an alcoholic beverage in a public building, park, street or alley or other public place in the city. This shall not apply where properly authorized by law or by special permission of the city manager."

The paved, park like area just east of 157 E. Main, near Standard Federal, is owned and maintained by the taxpayers of the city of Northville. Our city manager and council members have given a privately owned tavern permission to serve alcoholic beverages in public on this city property.

I am surprised that special permission has been given and disappointed that our tax dollars are being used to support the sale of alcohol, in public, on our property.

Article didn't provide balance

To the editor:

I am writing in response to the article "No 'minor' offense" published in your paper recently. As I read the article, I was disturbed by the accusatory tone and lopsided evidence it presented. Andrew Dieterich seemed to be singling out Cap N' Cork of Plymouth as having a "reputation" for selling to minors. Arbor Drug, which had two offenses within 12 months, was cited as not "notorious" for selling alcohol to minors, leaving at least this reader with the impression that Cap N' Cork is considered as such despite having two offenses over a three and a half year period. Since no opportunity was given to the owners to defend themselves, I'm writing to speak on their behalf.

Earlier this school year, I welcomed Steve Schulz, the owner of Cap N' Cork, into my classroom to speak to my third and fourth grade students about the benefits and responsibilities of owning a business. Several of the students knew Mr. Schulz because their families regularly patronize the store.

They look up to him as a lifetime neighbor and as a caring, local business man. Schulz, upon learning about the classroom businesses my students were forming, agreed to speak to my class for free to answer their many questions about opening and maintaining a successful business.

He even offered to return to observe their businesses in progress and offer advice to the kids. It was obvious Schulz takes the responsibilities of his business very seriously.

I know that the owners of Cap N' Cork are disturbed that a trusted employee made a serious mistake, but your article fails to mention their opinion on the subject. It doesn't state their plans to prevent this from happening in the future. How many times has their business been commended for passing the "decoy test?" There's no mention.

My problem with the article is not that it decries the selling of alcohol to minors, which obviously must be prevented. However, the article fails to present a balanced story.

The owners of Cap N' Cork are responsible businessmen and good community members and it disturbs me to see their family-owned business portrayed so unfairly.

I hope that in the future, your reporters will attempt to provide a fairer perspective on the issue.

Let's put blame where it belongs

To the editor:

Over the last year I've read with amusement and annoyance the issue of the new high school, and have finally arrived at a conclusion: The Edenderry crowd cannot face up to their own stupidity. The school district had owned that land prior to the subdivision being built. Everyone in the community knew a high school would be constructed there.

Then along comes the developer of a subdivision to be built immediately around the high school property. The lots and homes cost a great deal of money. Then along comes the potential property owners, they look at the lots, converse with the developer and make a decision to buy - no one forces them to buy. Then along comes the school district to build what everyone has been waiting for them to build - the high school. Now the Edenderry crowd is upset. But they're not upset about the setbacks of the soccer fields or the lights which are mere excuses to what they are really upset about. Instead, plain and simple, they are upset that a school is in their back yard.

Yes, Edenderry, you knew a school was going to be built there, now you're upset that it is actually being built. You're upset that the topography of the land is such that when you look out your window, you will see a 40-foot wall because high schools have gymnasiums, you will see an 80-foot wall because high schools have auditoriums, you will see paved areas because high schools have parking lots, and yes, you will see soccer fields because high schools have soccer fields. What you were hoping to see is an empty field or a school designed totally below grade so you won't see it. No, Edenderry, you chose to build your home there and view a high school.

If you didn't have enough foresight to visualize the effect of your decision, don't blame others, and don't hold the rest of the community hostage for your own stupidity.

Prevention is key to beating cancer

To the editor:

Statistics show that in 1999, one in two American men and one in three American women will get cancer.

Despite the expenditure of $25 billion since the war on cancer was declared by President Nixon in 1971, cancer rates have soared. How come? Evidence seems to implicate industrial carcinogens that permeate our environment, so says Dr. Samuel Epstein in his "The Politics of Cancer Revisited." Dr. Epstein blames the National Cancer Institute for ignoring the causes and instead spending billions on the classic search for a magic bullet cure for cancer.

It is not, as some have said, that the population is getting older - the rates are age-adjusted. For example, the cancer rates of a group of 50-year-old men in 1990, are compared to the cancer rates of a group of men in 1950.

Dr. Epstein regrets the fact that "The cancer establishment is fixated on damage control - diagnosis, treatment and basic genetic research - and is indifferent, if not sometimes hostile, to cancer prevention - getting carcinogens out of the environment."

Senate approves sexual predator bill

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Another "get tough" package of bills has been passed by the state Senate. This time covering sexual predators who use the Internet to target children.

The votes were 33-0 and 34-0 during the Senate's half-hour session Feb. 17. The bills go to the House.

Sensors didn't discuss the $24,000 per inmate cost of adding two years to a convict's sentence if he used Internet to solicit a minor for sex.

"If you are a sexual predator using the Internet, we are going to find you, we are going to get you, and we are going to put you in jail," said Sen. Mike Rogers, R-Brighton, sponsor of SB 7 defining the crime.

"More than 16 million children use the Internet every day, and this technology gives pedophiles and other predators unfettered access to minors," said Rogers, who sponsored the bill after two Windsor men allegedly used Internet to lure a Howell teenager to a motel for a sexual assault.

"These bills say that we are not going to let these reprehensible people turn the Internet into a weapon to use against innocent children," said Sen. George Z. Hart, D-Deerborn, sponsor of SB 217 setting a two-year prison sentence for use of the Internet. The penalty would be on top of any sentence imposed for the sexual assault.

Repeat offenders would serve an additional five years.

A third bill, SB 117, is aimed at curbing pornography on the Internet.

All area senators voted yes except the absent John Cherry, D-Clio, and Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion. Bill Bullard, R-Milford, missed one vote.

A week earlier, lawmakers decried Gov. John Engler's proposed 8.6 percent increase in the Department of Corrections prison budget while schools were getting half that increase or less.

But Mary Lannoye, Engler's budget chief, pointed out that the Legislature itself is defining more crimes and mandating longer sentences.

The Senate Fiscal Agency said the package would have an "indeterminate" cost. About 2,400 cases a year involve child abusive commercial activity, kidnapping, stalking or criminal sexual conduct. About half the offenders get prison sentences or jail time.

The number of convicts who used Internet is unknown.

It costs the state an average of $18,000 a year to house an inmate. SFA said that, assuming a prisoner with a two-year sentence actually serves about 16 months, the cost per person is about $24,000. Assuming 5 percent of the cases involved Internet and minors, prison costs could increase by $2.3 million.

Under Hart's bill, convicts also could be fined up to $2,000 for a first offense and $5,000 for a subsequent offense.

Doggie Do (this)

Canines and their two-legged friends attend a weekly class of dog obedience at the Northville Community Center.

Monday evenings at the Northville Community center can get a bit loud. There's the cheers from the co-ed volleyball teams, the "Hi-Ya"s of the Okinawan Karate Club practicing on the stage and the barking of a dozen dogs. We'll focus on the canines. Instructor Jan Nalgus teaches two courses Monday evenings: Dog Obedience (Household) and Kindergarten Puppy Training. The dogs pictured above are in the 7 pm class of Dog Obedience for pups four and half months and older. Nalgus focuses on "stay control within a context of practical situations", and "positive response to the 'come' command. In other words, they stay when you want 'em to, and come when you want. Photos clockwise from top: Jan Stirtan's Carin Terrier (or "Toto" dog) "Morgan" looks up to her for direction during last Monday's class. Dog Owners, including Marilyn Peters, right, direct their energetic dogs down a couple of rubber runways in an exercise to teach their canines to 'heal'. Terry Allman, right, tries to get the attention of her young lab-beagle "Chulo" during a 'staying' lesson. Diane Dorch gives a little attention to her King Charles' Spaniel "Bailey" as they await their turn on the mats. As Stirtan prepares to hide behind a wall, her dog Morgan is held by Nalgus in an exercise to see if the dogs would come to their names without seeing their masters. A Dog Obedience class attendee bends down to lavish her dog with heaps of praise.

The Border is IT!

Hard work pays off at last as family-owned eatery grabs eagerly anticipated top spot

Story by Carol Dipple

Border Cantina has made it to the top.

Voted Best Overall Restaurant in The Northville Record/Novi News 1999 Restaurant Poll! Border Cantina moved up from the second place it held in 1996 and 1998.

Prior to Rocky's of Northville's three-year reign from 1996 to 1998, MacKinnon's of Northville had been voted number one every year since the poll began in 1990. There was no poll in 1994.

Owned by Joe and Melissa Jancevski, Border Cantina was also voted best ethnic restaurant, a position it has held since 1996. It tied for the spot with Little Italy in 1995.

"I think it is a huge honor and distinction to win this," Melissa Jancevski said. "I would like to thank my customers first off and my staff for making it possible."

The Jancevski's have been in the restaurant business since 1975, opening the Novi Border Cantina in 1993, followed by the Brighton location a year later. They have also been part owners of the southwestern-themed Coyote Grill in West Bloomfield since 1990.

"We have a lot of experience behind us," she said. "We've opened eight different businesses."

Both sons, Bob and Dan, help run the family-owned restaurant and are night managers.

"It is definitely hands on," she said. "Our heart and soul goes into running that restaurant."

Seating capacity at the Tex-Mex restaurant is 125 but an addition planned to begin this spring with completion scheduled for the fall, will increase its size to accommodate up to 180 customers.

"It has been a long time coming," she said. "We were told from the beginning we were too small."

Along with the bigger waiting and seating area, there will be a new and improved menu and some changes to the decor, according to Melissa.

"Before we put the finishing touches on our plans for the decor and our menus, we are planning to go back to Texas where we originally got the inspiration for the restaurant and to refresh our outlook on the business," she said.

Family Health Day is part of Project Health-O-Rama

CAROL DIPPLE
Feature Editor

The First United Methodist Church of Northville is participating with the yearly Project Health-O-Rama by offering a Family Health Day on Saturday, March 6, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The day's events will have information on health and safety tips for children as well as tests and services for adults and is being coordinated by Kathy Greenleaf, who is a member of the church.

This is the first time the church has participated in the yearly project.

"It is basically a community project for the community, we are basically helping each other," she said.

CHILDREN'S HEALTH FAIR

"It is basically a community project for the community, we are basically helping each other."

-Kathy Greenleaf

Northville police and firefighters, along with health professionals will be at the Children's Health Fair to educate children and adults about health and safety.

The Northville police will talk about DARE, bike safety, fingerprinting, and child identification.

Northville firefighters will have a fire truck in the parking lot of the church, located at 777 West Eight Mile Road in Northville, and will answer questions on fire safety.

If it is information on immunization programs you're seeking or sun safety and nutrition, health professionals will also be available to answer questions.

There will be a free drawing for a bike helmet and other items.

FAMILY HEALTH FAIR

For the adults, free and low-cost health screening tests will be available for anyone at least 18 years of age. Free tests include height and weight, vision screening, blood pressure, and glaucoma.

The following six tests will be available at a nominal laboratory processing fee:

- Blood Panel Profile of 23 tests ($24) which requires a four-hour fast

- Prostate Specific Antigen (PSA)

- Blood Test for Men ($25)

- CA-125 Cancer Antigen Blood Test for Women ($25)

- Colorectal Cancer Screening Kits ($8)

- H. Pylori Blood Test - gastritis/other stomach ailments ($15)

- Bone Density Screening ($25)

Results will be mailed home.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

The Family Health-O-Rama is part of the Project Health-O-Rama which is held in 97 locations in the tri-county area and is sponsored by WXYZ-TV, United Health Organization, and the United Way.

The project begins March 1 and concludes April 1.

They do everything, all we have to do is get the volunteers," said Greenleaf who is also a registered nurse. "We will have a 100 percent volunteer staff, not a single person is paid to work this."

Volunteers include members of church and students from Madonna University. Nurses have volunteered to draw blood for the tests.

Lunch will be provided for all volunteers. Greenleaf is still looking for volunteers to help process registration forms. A medical background is not necessary to process registration forms.

To volunteer call Greenleaf at (248) 669-3377.

The Project Health-O-Rama hotline is (248) 424-8600 and is available Monday through Friday 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

In Our Town

League is collecting books

Donations of good, used books are now being accepted by the League of Women Voters.

The organization, which serves members in Canton, Northville, Plymouth, Redford, Wayne, Westland, and Livonia, is working to make this year's April Book Sale another successful fund-raising event.

Hardcover and paperback books in a variety of categories of nonfiction and fiction for all ages will be accepted.

The public is encouraged to donate used books by calling Esther Friedrichs at (734) 427-0222 or Marge Gade at (734) 261-3191.

Garden club plans meeting

"Decorating with Flowers" will be the topic of Carolyn Arlen at the next meeting of the Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association on Monday, March 8.

Carol Dipple

The hostess will be Rosemary Tague. The social committee members of the day are Ina Hacker, Marge Jennings, Ardis McLeod and Karen Ross.

Guests welcome at Woman's Club meeting

Mary Dickmann of Creative Memories will be the next speaker at the Northville Woman's Club.

Dickmann will discuss "Preserving Photos and Memories" on March 5 at 1:30 p.m. in Boll Fellowship Hall at First Presbyterian Church in Northville. Chairperson of the Day is Karen Poulos.

Guests interested in attending may contact a Woman's Club member or call Lonna Lemmon at (248) 348-2587.

Underground Railroad topic for library program

"Northville Connection on the Underground Railroad" will be presented by Julie Fountain at the Northville District Library on Sunday, Feb. 28, from 2 to 3 p.m.

The program is free and no registration is required.

For more information, call the library at (248) 349-3020.

If you have information for the In Our Town column, call Feature Editor Carol Dipple at (248) 349-1700.

New club being formed will focus on Democratic issues

The inaugural meeting of the new Northville Democratic Club will be held on Wednesday, March 3, at 7 p.m. at the Northville District Library in Meeting Room A.

The quarterly meetings and membership in the club is open to all Democrats. Annual membership is $20 per person. Sustaining membership is $100.

Northville resident Carol Poenish is establishing the club to develop Democratic issues and involvement within the local community. At each meeting, a guest will be invited to speak and discussion will focus on issues relating to the Northville City, Township and School Board. Members will receive a quarterly newsletter.

The founding guest will be Mike Duggan, Chief Deputy to Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara.

As the number two man in Wayne County, Duggan is the chief operating officer responsible for the day-to-day administration of 5,000 employees and a $1 billion budget.

Duggan is credited with a key role in Wayne County's successful 1987 financial recovery plan in which the county erased a deficit of $135 million and balanced its budget for the first time in 14 years. As a result, Wayne County has had four credit rating upgrades in the last 10 years.

Duggan is also the founder and former president of Wayne County Kidspace, Inc., a nonprofit organization that runs an on-site day care center for county employees.

He is currently co-chair of the Detroit/Wayne County Stadium Authority which is overseeing the new stadium project for the Tigers and Lions in downtown Detroit.

Duggan, who lives in Livonia with his wife and four children, was named by "Corporate Detroit Magazine" as one of metro Detroit's 21 leaders for the 21st century. For additional information, call Poenish at (248) 349-6364.

Bowl-a-thon to be held in Novi

The third Annual Canine Companions for Independence Bowl-A-Thon will be held in conjunction with the 16th Annual Special Olympics Bowl-A-Thon on Saturday, March 27.

But first, those interested in bowling should pick up a pledge sheet from Novi Bowl, 21700 Novi Road in Novi. The deadline to return pledge sheets is March 23.

The goal this year is to raise $150 per bowler in pledges - $25,000 total for CCI.

Fay Ann Johnson, a 1974 Novi High School graduate, is the CCI Michigan Champions Group Volunteer President, as well as a CCI recipient.

Johnson was diagnosed with Multiple Sclerosis in 1991 and became homebound five years ago. Her canine companion, Duke, now four and a half years old, is a product of the CCI breeding program and a graduate of its training program. A CCI dog costs about $10,000. They live with volunteer puppy raisers for a year and a half to learn socialization and basic obedience training. During the following eight months they are returned to one of CCI's regional centers for advanced training where they will learn up to 50 additional commands.

During Team Training, a intensive two to three week training session, "students" like Johnson are matched with canine companions. They learn the skills necessary to command the dogs. Graduating the program is one of the requirements to qualify for a canine companion.

CCI trains four types of dogs - service dogs, hearing dogs, assistive service dogs and facility dogs.

A service dog, like Duke, increases the physically disabled's independence by performing practical tasks while providing companionship.

But CCI graduates must be able to take care of their companion's daily needs such as bonding, grooming, training, play and exercise.

CCI was founded in 1975 and is funded by donations, group and service club contributions, grants and ongoing fund raising activities. They receive no government funding.

Some of the Novi Bowl employees will be donating their time, as well as volunteers who work with CCI and Special Olympics.

The CCI Bowl-A-Thon is held in conjunction with and in support of Local #36 UAW Recreation Committee and the Ford Wixom Plant's 16th Annual Special Olympics Bowl-A-Thon so as to help override the costs associated with hosting such a large event.

For more information, call Novi Bowl owner and Johnson's brother, Jerry Harris, or Tari Rutkowski at (248) 348-9120, or Johnson at (734) 671-9827 or (734) 671-7576.

Spring fashion show planned

A Spring Fashion Show will be held at the Northville First Presbyterian Church on Wednesday, March 10, at 1 p.m.

Spring fashions will be furnished by The Dress Barn. Models will be volunteers from the Women's Association of the church.

All the money raised from the show will be used for two scholarships, Northville Civic Concern, other charities, and missions either locally or across the United States and overseas.

"We have a big sewing mission where we furnish baby layettes," Stephens said.

More door prizes will be given away this year including merchandise from local merchants and gift certificates from Busch's and Meijer.

"All the ladies of the area are invited," Stephens said.

Tickets are $5 and includes a dessert. Advance registration or purchase is recommended. Only a few tickets will be available at the door.

The First Presbyterian Church is located at 200 East Main Street.

For more information, or to reserve a ticket, call the church at (248) 349-0911 or Pearl Stephens at (248) 349-0090.

Northville school is gearing up for annual auction event

St. Paul's Lutheran Church and School is seeking donations for their annual auction.

Dinners for two at area restaurants, health club memberships, televisions, CD players, sports tickets, and memorabilia, symphony tickets, antiques from the Plymouth Historical Museum, a half day at a spa, and a plane ride at Mettetal Airport in Plymouth are some of the items that will be up for auction on Friday, March 19.

"Celebrate the Child" is the theme for the third annual Auction/Dinner which will be held at the Livonia Knights of Columbus on Farmington Road between Seven and Eight Mile roads.

The community is invited to attend the event. Tickets are $25 and include both the silent and live auction, dinner and music.

Parishioner Ron Ellis will be the auctioneer. There will be a cash bar.

Local business interested in donating gift certificates, merchandise, services, etc. can call Laurie Wooderson at (248) 348-5489.

Donated items will be featured along with the donor's name and address in the auction booklet.

Poll yields new overall winner

Also worth noting is that for the second year in a row, voted best wait person is Karen Miller of Border Cantina. There was a tie for best chef between Border Cantina's Mario Zamora and last year's winner Rocky Rachwitz of Rocky's.

Second and third place finishers for best overall restaurant are Charley's Deli Grill and MacKinnon's, respectively.

The best inexpensive category produced no changes this year. Voted one, two and three for the second year in a row were Charley's, Border Cantina, and Northville's Dandy Gander, respectively.

Making the top three in various categories for the first time are Novi restaurants Olive Garden

Italian Restaurant, Panera Bread, TGI Friday's, No VI Chop House, Mr. B's Farm, and Steve and Rocky's.

The ballot selected at random as the winner of the dinner for two was sent in by Marjanne Denomine of Northville who has chosen to eat at her favorite restaurant, MacKinnon's.

For complete results, see the accompanying list on page 1.

Deadline is near for phone directory

The deadline for businesses interested in advertising in the 1999-2001 edition of the Northville Community Phone Directory, a project of the Mothers' Club of Northville, is drawing near.

If you haven't already given a call to Mother's Club members Bonnie St. Thomas at (248) 349-4091 or Joan Wadsworth at (248) 348-5881, pick up the phone. Time is running out.

The directory has two sections. The front part of the directory has Residential Listings which includes all of the Northville Public School District area (Northville City and Township, parts of Novi, Salem and South Lyon) and all businesses that have purchased advertising in the directory.

The second section includes Business Listings under descriptive headings selected by advertisers.

Display ads purchased by advertisers are placed in either the Residential Listings or the Business Listings sections, creating a type of "Yellow Pages" for the Northville area.

Residents with home-based businesses and those outside the local area are encouraged to participate in this fund-raising project.

Residents with unlisted phone numbers who wish to be listed in the directory or those requesting changes should contact chairperson Vicki Dwellley at (248) 344-9853.

The Mothers' Club of Northville, a volunteer, non-profit, service organization has issued Community Phone Directories biennially since the early 1970s. Over 14,000 copies are now distributed to local households and businesses. Advertising revenues cover the cost of printing and mailing with all additional proceeds to benefit Northville-area students.

Engagement

Heather Harmon/Aaron Holdread

The engagement of Heather Michelle Harmon and Aaron Samuel Holdread is hereby announced by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Harmon of Northville and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Holdread of Goshen, Ind.

The bride-elect is a 1993 graduate of Novi High School. She graduated cum laude in 1998 from Western Michigan University, where she was a member of Sigma Kappa sorority. Heather is currently the community outreach coordinator for Oakwood Health Care System.

The groom-elect graduated in 1992 from Goshen High School. He is a 1997 graduate of Western Michigan University, where he was affiliated with Delta Sigma Phi fraternity. He is currently employed at Soil & Materials Engineers.

An April wedding is planned.

Wedding

Stephanie and Jeffrey Hubbard

Stephanie Megan Keetle and Jeffrey Reginald Hubbard were married Aug. 1, 1998, in a late afternoon ceremony conducted in First Christian Church in Ashland, Ohio, where her parents wed 26 years ago. A reception for 200 guests followed at the Black Tie Affair in Wooster, Ohio.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Keetle and a 1995 graduate of Northville High School. She attended Northwood University and is currently manager of The Limited at the Somerset Collection.

Attending as maid of honor was Tammy Miten. Serving as bridesmaids were Courtney Hamilton, Cristin Corder, Carrie Figerski, Valerie Mayler, and Shannon Brode.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Hubbard.

He graduated with dual degrees in business and restaurant management, and is currently a manager at Big Buck Microbrewery in Auburn Hills.

Todd Venum served as best man. Attending as groomsmen were Geoff Everham, brother of the groom Todd Hubbard, Dan Libeau, Phil Maguire, and Andy Hapoala. Brother of the bride Ben Keetle and Mark Beacom served as ushers.

The couple went to Aruba for their honeymoon. They now reside in Lake Orion.

Clinics prepare golfer for season

Botsford's Total Rehabilitation and Athletic Conditioning Center (TRACC) offers three spring classes to help men and women golfers improve their game and avoid golf-related injuries.

If you are age 50 or better, you may sign up for the free Generations membership and take immediate advantage of the member rates.

To obtain a ticket for any class, stop by Botsford Hospital-TRACC located at 39750 Grand River in Novi before the deadline. Or, you may call TRACC at (248) 473-5600 and register using MasterCard or Visa.

• Tee Off With TRACC

At this two-hour session, an exercise physiologist will teach you exercises to condition your muscles and back. A golf pro will demonstrate ways to modify your swing and stance to avoid strain and injury. An osteopathic physician will describe the role of osteopathic manipulation and physical therapy in relieving some of the muscle strains, back injuries, and pain experienced by golfers.

Choice of Date:

• Tuesday, March 9, 9:30-11:30 a.m., Classroom 2 East A, Main Hospital
• Wednesday, March 10, 7-9 p.m. Community Room, Ziegler Center
Cost: $5 Generations members; $10 non-members.

• Golf Conditioning Class

Shel Levine, an exercise physiologist, will teach you ways to strengthen and stretch your muscles. These exercises will prepare your body for the golf season and hopefully minimize your risk for injuries. Participation in Tee Off with TRACC is strongly recommended, but not mandatory, as a prelude to Golf Conditioning. The four-week class takes place at TRACC, 39750 Grand River in Novi. Bring your favorite golf club to use for the exercises during class. Minimum: 10 participants.

• Date: Tuesdays and Thursdays 9:30-10:45 a.m. beginning March 16.

Cost: $30 Generations members; $40 non-members.

Seminar is designed with chefs in mind

Eating out should be a multi-sensory treat; unfortunately, it can also be a calorie-and-fat minefield for those watching their weight. As a result of an innovative seminar in early March for area chefs at Botsford's Health Development Network (HDN), diners will find more lighter, leaner dishes this spring at some of their favorite Oakland County restaurants.

Featuring celebrated restaurateur Lorraine Platman, executive chef and proprietor of Sweet Lorraine's Cafe in Southfield, Ann Arbor and Madison Heights, Cooking Smart in '99 is designed for restaurant chefs and owners interested in building their business and broadening their appeal to health-conscious clientele.

The seminar, held on Tuesday, March 2, at HDN in Novi, is cosponsored by the Oakland County Worksite and Community Health Promotion program and Oakland Heart Health Coalition. Each Cooking Smart in '99 participating will receive a certificate and can bring one recipe for a free analysis.

The recipient of numerous accolades, including the prestigious Wine Spectator's 1996 Award of Excellence, Platman will talk about bridging two seemingly contradictory national food trends: low-fat needs and bold, flavorful desires. Her demonstrations will include preparation of an array of recipe-based on modification techniques and ingredient substitutions.

Cooking Smart in '99 will be held 8-10:30 a.m. (check in is at 7:45 a.m.), at HDN, 39750 Grand River in Novi. The cost is $15 per person. For more information, call (248) 477-6100.

You've Lived A Life Of Dignity, Independence And Choice.

At Botsford Commons' Assisted Living Center You Don't Have To Change A Thing.

Announcing the opening of Botsford Commons Assisted Living Center. This innovative facility, located in an historic and newly renovated Albert Kahn-designed building in Farmington Hills, offers a caring environment for those who need support to maintain daily living routines. ## Gate VI artist shows sculptures, baskets

By CAROL DIPPLE
Feature Editor

The Gate VI Gallery artist of the month is Betty Marionetti, who also happens to be the exhibit coordinator for the gallery.

When the scheduled artist backed out, rather than go without a show, Marionetti put together an exhibit of her own sculptures of alabaster, cast paper baskets and mixed media collages which will be on display through March 11.

Marionetti first became interested in art about 20 years. Originally she went into the medical technology field thinking it would be more practical than a career in art.

But she stayed at home when her three children were young and once they were in school, she went back to school and received a degree in fine art from Madonna College.

"Until then I had been doing some part-time work in the art field," she said.

After graduating from Madonna, she landed a job with the Print Gallery in Southfield, where she has been an art consultant for six years.

Her choice in mediums is constantly evolving. She started out with oils, still does watercolors and print making, makes hand-made paper which she uses to make three-dimensional baskets, and her collages mix different mediums.

"There are so many interesting things that when I see something, I get stimulated by that and want to incorporate it in some way," she said.

Marionetti has exhibited her cast paper baskets at Birmingham's Jured Our Town show.

"I was wondering if those would be looked on more as a craft than art but they were accepted as art," she said.

Other shows that have juried in her works include Sharing the Gift in Northville, the Ann Arbor Art Association Show, Women in Art at Oakland Community College, and Art in the Park in Plymouth.

The month-long exhibit in the Novi Civic Center atrium includes seven cast paper baskets, about a half a dozen two-dimensional pieces and five stone sculptures, one of which she did while participating in a workshop in Spain.

"That was my fantasy trip I had always wanted to do - take a workshop somewhere," she said.

A resident of Novi for 11 years with her husband, Ron, she has been the exhibit coordinator of the Gate VI Gallery for about three years.

The Novi Civic Center is located at 45175 West Ten Mile in Novi. Viewing of the exhibit is possible during the hours the Civic Center is open.

Local artists interested in exhibiting at the Civic Center should call 347-0400.

What are freinds for?

Two friends vie for affections of one woman

Touchstone Pictures' comedy "Rushmore" chronicles a year in the life of tenth-grade student Max Fisher (Jason Schwartzman), a student at Rushmore Academy, one of the finest schools in the country.

Max loves his prestigious school. He is the editor of the newspaper and yearbook, founder of the Debate Team, Dodgeball Society, The Max Fisher Players, president of the French Club, German Club, Chess Club, and practically everything else. Max is applying for early admission to Oxford, Harvard is his safety. He is also one of the worst students at Rushmore and has been placed on sudden-death academic probation.

Threatened with expulsion, Max begins a new pursuit, falling for first grade teacher, Miss Cross (Olivia Williams), and uses all of the resources at his disposal to try to win her over. He develops a plan to construct an aquarium at the school in her honor, and goes to one of the school's benefactors, a steel tycoon named Mr. Blume (Bill Murray), to raise some seed money. Max and Blume become good friends, but two unfortunate events follow: first, Max gets expelled from Rushmore for attempting to build the aquarium on the site of the school's baseball diamond. Second, Blume falls in love with Miss Cross, as well, triggering a war between Max and Blume in which Max will use all of the resources at his disposal to try to destroy his friend.

"Rushmore," an American Empirical Pictures Production, is Max Fischer (Jason Schwartzman, right) is the worst student at Rushmore Academy, one of the finest schools in the country. Threatened with expulsion, he begins a new pursuit, falling for a first grade teacher. But Max's mentor and friend, tycoon Mr. Blume (Bill Murray), also pursues an affair with the teacher, which triggers a war between the two.

directed by Wes Anderson. The screenplay is written by Wes Anderson and Owen Wilson. Producers are Barry Mendel and by Buena Vista Pictures Distribution.

The film runs 93 minutes and is rated "R."

Juliette Lewis (right) as 24-year-old Carla Tate has always faced tough challenges, with mom (Diane Keaton) by her side, but when she falls in love for the first time, her family is reluctant to accept her boyfriend Danny (Giovanni Ribisi).

Romantic comedy looks at life from the other side

In "The Other Sister," an uplifting and often bittersweet romantic comedy, 24-year-old Carla Tate (Juliette Lewis, right) is a slightly mentally challenged young woman who, after years of special education at a private boarding school, has successfully transcended many of her limitations — except her over-protective mother, Elizabeth (Diane Keaton).

As Carla matures into a young woman with dreams and ambitions, her growing need for personal fulfillment begins to express itself in ways her mother refuses to accept and when she falls in love for the first time, her family is reluctant to accept her boyfriend Danny (Giovanni Ribisi).

"The Other Sister" is a Touchstone Pictures release, distributed by Buena Vista Pictures Distribution.

Wrestlers win district championship

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

It was almost as if the script had been played out before.

Novi and Northville met for the second time this season, and for the second time the Mustangs pulled out a win, 36-23, this time in the district championship match last Thursday at South Lyon High School.

The results of 10 of the first 11 weight classes remained the same, and unfortunately for Novi, Northville won eight of them this time around.

Jeremy Carter beat Sarb Rohatgi for the second-straight time, this time by a 4-2 decision, to give Northville a quick 3-0 lead.

Novi's Ryan Churella defeated Matt Tarrow 12-3 at 112 pounds to score four points for his team. Interestingly, it was Tarrow who beat Churella three times last year, the last of which eliminated Churella from the individual state tournament. This season, Churella has held the upper hand in both of their matches.

Northville voided 119, giving Dan Jilg another win.

The one change from the first matchup was at 125. Northville's Kevin Arbuckle was injured the first time around, but was in the lineup this time and it paid off for the Mustangs. Arbuckle topped Nate Mitchell 2-1, just before Reggie Torrence picked up a technical fall 18-2 win over Novi's Brent Frey at 130 pounds. The tech fall gave Northville an 11-10 lead, a lead it would only expand on as the match rolled along.

Northville captain Anant Saran pinned Aaron Platt in 2:58 at 135 pounds and Chad Neumann topped Novi's Andy Raudszus 11-4 at 140. Platt and Raudszus switched positions from the first meeting.

"I thought by voiding 119 and putting Kevin in at 125 helped us out a lot," Northville coach Garnett Potter said. "And I actually think that switch hurt them. But they felt they had to do it. Other than that one move for us, our lineup was going."

"We did have to try it," Novi coach Brad Huss said. "They matched up so well with us. We didn't think we had our best day, but the bottom line is they're a better team than us. If we wrestled them 10 times, we'd maybe win once."

Dan Scappatelli made it five-straight wins for Northville with an 8-0 decision over Yusuf Guamruzzaman at 145 pounds.

Novi struck back with Chris Rumpf edging Matt England 2-0 to cut the lead to 24-13. John Reckounis beat Novi's Craig Kortlandt 5-1 at 160 pounds and Ryan McCracken gave his team a 30-13 lead with his 4-0 win over

Eight advance

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

Heading into the individual district wrestling tournament Saturday at South Lyon High School, Northville knew it was probably the best team there. It had just knocked off Novi and South Lyon in a tough three-team district just two nights earlier. It was coming off a 1998 season that saw it reach the state semifinals.

But as everyone quickly found out, this was no longer a team sport, but that of individuals. Every man was for himself.

Still Northville's depth stood out, as the Mustangs sent a meet-high eight wrestlers onto regional competition this Saturday at Temperance Bedford. Wrestlers had to finish among the top four wrestlers in their weight class to advance, with 12 wrestlers competing at each weight class.

Four Mustangs brought home district championships, including Reggie Torrence (at 125 pounds), Anant Saran (130), Ryan Giles (189) and Ted Bowersox (Heavyweight). Three others brought home third-place finishes and one took fourth.

Skaters wrap up season with a 3-1 loss to Milford

By ROBERT JACKSON
Staff Writer

The Northville Mustang hockey team finished up its regular season Monday with a hard fought loss to Milford at Novi Arena.

The Mustangs fired 36 shots but could only find the back of the net once in a 3-1 loss to the Redskins. Coach Brad O'Neill said that special teams decided the outcome.

"We played pretty well, but special teams killed us," he said. "We couldn't convert on the power play, and they scored a power play goal on us. That was pretty much the difference."

Robb Ryan's third period goal closed the gap to 2-1, but the Redskins scored an empty net goal in the last minute of play to put the game away. For Ryan the goal was his 18th of the season. Aaron Selwood was credited with the assist.

"I thought the guys played pretty well, it was a pretty close game," O'Neill said.

Ryan was also the hero of Saturday's 2-2 tie against Howell. With 1:35 to go in regulation and the Mustangs trailing 2-1, Ryan took a pass from Sean Nappo on the breakaway and put the puck past Highlander goaltender Derek Shaw. Defenseman Justin Walneo was also credited with an assist on Ryan's goal.

Marc Olin scored the other tally for the Mustangs on assists from Colin MacFarlane and Jay Wilchowski.

"It was another case of getting a lot of opportunities but not being able to put the puck in the net," O'Neill said. "We outshot them pretty bad (38-16) but couldn't put anything by their goaltender."

The Mustangs finished with a 10-10-3 record overall and will face a tough Ann Arbor Huron team in the first round of the district tournament. The winner will take on Ann Arbor Pioneer on Friday in the semifinals.

The Mustangs won the district tournament last season after defeating the Redskins in overtime.

"This will be a good experience for our younger players," O'Neill said.

Thursday's game is scheduled to begin at 9 p.m. at the Ice Cube in Ann Arbor. Novi plays South Lyon in the other half of the draw Thursday night.

Tankers top Harrison

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

There's no better way to end the regular swim season than to beat up on an inferior opponent while giving your swimmers a chance to take it easy and prepare for the tough Western Lakes Activities Association meet being held this week.

Or so they say.

Northville coach David Wayne was pleased with his team's efforts in a 136-15 win over Farmington Hills Harrison last Thursday night. The win was the third straight for the Mustangs, who lost to some tough competition early on in the season.

"We were able to swim some kids in off events," he said. "You don't want your kids to swim their best times the week before the league meet. You want them to pick it up this week."

"We were in the phase where the kids were feeling a little off, so we had to play it safe."

Junior Scott Whitbeck was a winner in each of the three events he competed in. He took first in the 50 freestyle in a time of 24.30 seconds. He also won the 500 free in 5:20.57.

Canton, John Glenn prove too much for Mustangs to handle

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

Needing some help from either itself or others, the Northville basketball team chose the latter, losing a pair of games last week on the hardwood.

Northville dropped its final regular season game 69-56 to Plymouth Canton Friday night, succumbing to the heroic efforts of Chiefs guard Joe Cortellini. The senior scored 10 of his game-high 19 points in the third quarter, when Canton pulled away.

The Mustangs trailed by just four points at the half.

"We played a very good first half, as good of a half as we've played all year," assistant coach Kirby Terakedis said. "But Cortellini was the difference in the third. We couldn't get to him to disrupt his shooting."

Terakedis credited his team's defense for keeping them in the game in the first half. "Defensively we were able to shut down their outside shooters while handling their inside players," he said. "I think we surprised Canton a bit in that first half."

Offensively Northville shot the ball well and rebounded as well as it has in recent memory. "We really have improved on that and we matched up well with them in this game," he said. Marshall Knapp led Northville in scoring with 12 points. Allen scored

11 points and Ryan Eller added 10

JOHN GLENN 76, N'VILLE 62

Up against the co-Western Lakes champions, the team encountered a problem shooting the ball. The quicker Rockets wreaked havoc on Northville's offense the entire game.

"We would like to think we could have played better than we did that night," Terakedis said. "But their best player, Eric Jones, really caused problems for us offensively and defensively. All we can do is ask the kids to put forth a winning effort game in and game out."

Allen led the way with 17 points and Knapp and Eller added 14 and 13 respectively.

The losses leave Northville at 1-7 in conference play and 5-12 overall. The team did sneak into the upper division Western Lakes tournament as the eighth seed and will play Walled Lake Western Friday night on the road.

As for the district tournament, which begins March 8 at Plymouth Canton High School, Northville will square off against Novi in the district semifinals Wednesday, March 10 at 5:30 p.m.

"Right now we feel really good about both of the tournaments we're entering. We've been playing well lately and are gonna give it our best," Terakedis said.

Grapplers take matters into their own hands

Bowersox won the title in what was arguably the toughest weight class at South Lyon. The No. 2 seed, Bowersox had to beat two qualifiers en route to the championship. He topped Milford's Rich Davenport (pin 4:49) before taking out Will McLoughlin of Adrian 3-1 in the semifinals. From there, the senior captain manhandled Novi's Brett Faulkner 6-1 in the championship, his second win of the season over Faulkner.

"He had me a little nervous against that Adrian kid, but he came back to wrestle well against Novi," Northville head coach Garnett Potter said. "Ever since the league meet, he's really been wrestling well. There's no reason why he shouldn't do well at the state meet." A district runnerup last season, Potter said Bowersox is wrestling his best ever right now.

Co-captain Anant Saran won his second-consecutive district crown with a 3-0 win over Leif Olson of Brighton in the finals. The loss was just the second of the year for Olson, and the first at 130 pounds. "Anant really wrestled smart," his coach said. "He was able to ride Olson for two minutes, and that's special. He won a very close match against a kid some think could win the state championship. This was a big, big win for Anant."

Saran beat Scott Westfall of Adrian 7-1 in the semifinals after pinning Novi's Nate Mitchell in 3:35 to open the day.

Earning outstanding wrestler honors by his coaches, Giles put together perhaps his best day of wrestling as a Mustang. The senior came in as the number one seed, and lived up to his billing with a 7-5 overtime win over second-seeded Bob Everett of Saline.

Giles stepped it up after giving up a reversal in the last :10 which tied the match at 5-5. He then picked up a takedown just :19 into the extra period to get the win.

"That just blew my mind. I couldn't believe it," Potter said. "The coaches and I were talking and decided he was our outstanding wrestler this week. He had a goal, and he reached it. And to see him 15-point someone in the semifinals really shows us that he wrestled well."

Giles beat Geoff Bennett of Salem 16-1 in the semifinals and topped the eventual third-place qualifier Aron Guerrero of Adrian in the second round.

Torrence breezed to the championship at 125 pounds, failing to surrender a point in three matches. He pinned Josh Muns of Brighton in 2:49 to get things going. He then beat Novi's Brent Frey 15-0 and Walled Lake Western's Jacob Pattenau 11-0 in the title match. Torrence has lost just twice this year, and has been on a hot streak lately.

"He's been a machine lately, and I can't say enough about him," Potter said. "I don't know what they feed those Torrence kids, but his body is changing into something special. He's just on fire."

Arbuckle battled back from an early loss to take third and advance at 119 pounds. The senior lost to Charles Ash of Salem 5-3 in the second round, but came back to defeat Huron's Doug Anderson and Milford's Nick Lawrence (No. 2 seed) before avenging the loss to Ash with a 4-2 win. "He's been working hard lately, and for him to advance is great," said the coach. "I don't see any reason why he shouldn't get out next week."

McCracken was the No. 2 seed at 171, but lost to Western's Norm Wroblewski for the second time this season in the semifinals. He bounced back to defeat Salem's Mike Popeney 8-2 and Adam Borashko of Novi 4-1 to take third place. Potter said McCracken (who beat Wroblewski for the conference title) needed to wrestle his best to beat Wroblewski, but came up flat.

The last of Northville's qualifiers both came out of the 140-pound bracket. Dan Scappaticci and Chad Neumann both lost in the semifinals, only to win their way back to the consolation finals. The team decided to void Scappaticci and Neumann took third place. "They were both in, so I'm not gonna risk injuring anyone," Potter said of the void. "Both wrestled well, and both should get through next week."

Neumann came in as the second seed, and beat Rusty French of Pioneer 4-3 in the second round. He then lost to Keith Wood of Brighton 4-3 in the semis before bouncing back to beat Aaron Platt of Novi 6-0.

Scappaticci beat Noah Wark of Huron 15-0 in the first round, topped Jim Shelton of Canton 8-4 in the second before falling to the eventual champion Kevin Neuendorf of Lakeland in the semis. He dropped down and beat French (pin 4:57) to advance.

Northville advanced the most wrestlers (8) of any team. Adrian had seven qualifiers and South Lyon and Saline each had six. Salem had five qualifiers and Novi, Brighton and Milford all had four. The Mustangs four champions doubled that of Lakeland and Pioneer, who each had two.

Last year Northville had 10 individual regional qualifiers, and seven of those went on to the state meet. Five placed in the top eight at the state meet.

The individual regional meet will be Saturday at Temperance Bedford with action beginning at approximately 10 a.m.

Farmington upends gymnasts

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

Although the Northville/Novi gymnastics team's record lacks in comparison to last season's unblemished mark, the team is still hanging in there while competing in the state's toughest conference.

Along with the top two teams in the state (Hartland and Brighton), the Mustangs must also compete against top 10 teams like Canton, Salem and Farmington. The Falcons handed Northville/Novi a 138.5-135.6 loss Monday night at Farmington.

The two teams were tied after three rotations, but Farmington fared better on the floor while the Mustangs continued their struggles on the beam.

"We did really well on the first three events, but had one bad one," coach Laura Moyers said. "That's where our room for improvement is."

Northville/Novi led after two events, thanks in part to good rotations on the bars and vault. Jennifer Rohlfs finished second on the bars, scoring an 8.9. Teammate Monica Fink added a third-place finish at 8.65.

Freshman Lindsey Carlson was second on the vault, and Fink shared that spot with an 8.7.

Rohlfs came back to take second in the floor exercise (8.5) and third on the beam (8.7), but no other Mustang placed.

Rohlfs was second overall with a 34.65 and Fink finished fourth with a 34.25. "We really thought we could win this meet," Moyers said. "The girls just blew it on the beam. But once in a while that's gonna happen."

Northville/Novi will compete at the Western Lakes Activities Association conference meet today at Farmington High School. Results will be in next week's edition of the Northville Record and Novi News.

Harrison no match for upbeat swimmers

Whitbeck joined Anthony Serge, Mark Kowalski and Kevin Stuart in winning the opening 200 medley relay (1:48.44).

Kowalski also won the 100 freestyle (1:55.67) and helped the 200 free relay to victory. Joining him on the winning team were Stuart, Dan Myers and Serge (1:41.95).

Dave Whitbeck took first place in the 100 backstroke (1:04.40) and was also tops in the 200 individual medley (2:15.45). To make it three for the day, he teamed up with Serge, Kevin Hagedorn and Adam Melvin to win the 400 free relay (3:49.62).

John Moors and Brett Johnson were 1-2 in the 200 freestyle. Moors won the event in 2:01.76. Jason Ballou and Johnson were first and second in the breaststroke, each swimming personal-best times.

In diving, Bobby Gulewich posted a personal-best score of 124.80 to win the event, followed by teammate Adam Sinkus (113.85).

Melvin was runnerup in the 100 butterfly and 100 backstroke, as was Stuart in the 50 free. Serge in the 100 free and Moors in the 500 free.

Wayne said his team was looking good Monday at practice. "They were looking really strong. Their techniques are looking really smooth and they are swimming under control," he said. "The whole team is healthy right now, and the guys seem motivated to swim."

No Mustangs have qualified for the state finals yet, but Wayne hopes Kowalski will qualify in the 100 breaststroke and Dave Whitbeck will post a qualifying time in the 500 freestyle.

The WLAA prelims are today and the finals will be swam Saturday.

Mustangs oust Wildcats, Lions

Adam Borashko.

The Wildcats' Nick Slovan came through with a 10-1 major decision over Joe Rumbley at 189 pounds, but it was not enough as Northville held a 30-17 lead with two matches to wrestle.

Ryan Giles solidified the win for Northville by pinning Novi's Adam Lienhardt in 2:44. The pin gave the Mustangs a 36-17 lead. Northville voided at heavyweight.

"To beat them, we'd have had to do it with smoke and mirrors," Huss said.

The win gave Northville its second-consecutive district championship over the Wildcats. The Mustangs defeated South Lyon 34-33 in the district semifinals. Novi received a first-round bye.

Northville advanced to the regional tournament last night against Detroit Catholic Central. The winner took on the winner of Plymouth Salem/Dearborn match. Results will be in next weeks edition.

"We kind of overlooked South Lyon because of what Hartland and Novi did to them in the regular season," Potter said. "We didn't wrestle with a lot of emotion and after the match I realized that if we would have had a team point deducted for something, we would have tied South Lyon."

The coach was pleased with his team's effort in the finals. "If we want to get back to where we were last year, we have to wrestle like that. If we wrestle that well, there's no reason why we can't," he said.

McDONALD FORD SALUTES NORTHVILLE ATHLETES OF THE WEEK

Reggie Torrence- Junior

Torrence dominated his way to the district championship Saturday at South Lyon High School.

The junior did not allow a point against him, picking up a pin and two shutout wins. He, along with seven other teammates advance to compete at the regional tournament this Saturday at Temperance Bedford.

Scott Whitbeck - Junior

Whitbeck won a trio of events last week against Farmington Hills Harrison.

He took first in the 50 freestyle and the 500 freestyle, and helped the 200 medley relay team to a win.

Northville dominated the meet 136-45, winning 11 of 12 events and finishing 1-2 seven different times.

The Mustangs compete at the Western Lakes Activities Association meet today, with the finals taking place on Saturday. The state meet will be held Friday, March 12 and Saturday March 13 at Oakland University in Rochester.

Health Column

Strong abs reduce lower back pain

This is the second column in a series focused on the truths and techniques of strength training. In our last column we covered the chest area. In this column we are going to concentrate on probably the most famous bodypart of all...the abdominals, or midsection. Again, our goal is to give you some facts on the specific bodypart we are covering and the key components of one or two movements to train this area with the highest benefit and lowest risk. As always, we keep our opinions to ourselves (or at least try to) and base our information on how the human body works. We are using an average person with no specific injuries in our example.

The on-going incredible desire for a flat, toned mid section has prompted the usual hype and misinformation. Not a day goes by that we do not hear or see everything from the "magic pill" to the "magic machine or gadget" to instantly give us super model abdominal or abs with little or no work. The truth of the matter is we need exercises to create and keep our abdominal muscles strong and functional. They hold the stomach and intestines in place and are critical to good digestion and elimination.

The "abs" also play a key role along with the lower back as insurance against lower back pain that 60-80 percent of us will suffer from some time in our life. As to the point of flatter and more toned abs, that is a different and often misunderstood story. Short of the affect that the stronger abs will have by holding the internal organs more under control, and improving our posture thus having a slight flattening affect, the key here is reducing body fat. If we have a layer of body fat covering our abs we can crunch forever and the excess fat will go along for the ride. Body fat is another column, but the fact I am trying to make is to train your abs for the reasons I have stated here. However, to flatten and really show tone, look to body fat reduction and stop looking for the magic solution, there is none.

Let's break down beginning abdominal training to three levels. These key components are pointed out by Helena Salati, a certified personal fitness instructor. Level one - get in touch with your abs make the mental connection. Without mastering this, the movements become much less efficient.

Level One:

- Lay on the floor with your knees bent;
- Push your lower back flat against the floor, arms at your side; and
- Think about your abdominal muscles and work to contract that area without tightening any other area.

Work on this until you feel you can accomplish this under control relatively easy.

Level Two:

- Lay on the floor with your knees bent;
- Back flat against the floor;
- Retract your shoulders or pinch them together;
- Arms held up to your temple area or straight out in front of you;
- Chin up off the chest as if you're holding an orange under your chin;
- Look at the ceiling;
- Think of a line across your lower rib cage and one across your upper hips;
- Move your body forward trying to bring the two lines together, you will only come up a few inches or so; and
- Return slowly to the starting position and repeat.

Level Three involves the fitness balls. These can be purchased at most sports stores, relatively inexpensive and very effective. When you analyze the abdominal muscles you realize they perform spinal flexion or the forward movement we described in Level Two, but they also perform spinal flexion or movement in the reverse direction. Unfortunately, the floor stops this full range of motion. Utilizing the fitness balls allows this full range, thus becoming very effective for this area, as well as utilizing other muscles for balance.

Level Three

- Make sure you have the proper size ball. When you sit on it your knees should be straight and level (90 degree angle).
- Walk your body down and forward allowing the ball to move around your lower back area. Work on maintaining your balance in this position.

- Repeat the set up and steps in Level Two.
- Be sure to maintain stabilization in the hip area, this may take some practice to start.
- The lower the ball on your back area the more range of reverse motion.

HOW TO

Carpet repair
as it seems

By Gene Gary
COPLEY NEWS SERVICE

Q. Sparks exploded from a burning log in our fireplace onto the hearth and some burning embers also sprayed onto the carpet. They left several burned spots. Is there any way to camouflage or repair this type of damage?

A. If the burns are superficial, carefully snip off the charred ends with small, sharp scissors. Then mix a solution of dishwashing liquid and water and dab it onto the burned spots. Blot frequently with a clean, dry cloth to prevent overwetting.

Let the spots dry and then go over them with a solution of white vinegar diluted in water. Blot and dry. If the burn is deep, this method won't solve your problem. Here's another suggestion.

Try this method of re-tufting. Use a knife and small scissors to cut away all of the burned fibers and to scrape the blackened area clean. Cut enough carpet fibers to fill the hole from any hidden section of carpeting, such as a closet area. Dab a small amount of clean, water proof cement into the center of the burned spot. Then, using tweezers and working from the outer edge of the burn toward the center, stand each replacement carpet fiber upright into the cement. Work slowly to ensure that the fibers stay upright.

Fill the burned spot with fibers until you match the density of the surrounding carpet. If these methods prove unsatisfactory, it's time to call in a professional for advice on re-weaving or re-tufting.

Q. A mishap with a candle ended up with melted candle wax on my beige carpeting. I tried rubbing ice on the area, but this had no effect on the candle wax. Can you tell me how to successfully remove the candle wax without damaging the carpeting?

A. Application of heat, not cold, is the best solution. Use a clean unstarched terry cloth towel (folded paper towels will also do). Place over the stained area and lightly touch the surface of the towel with a warm iron. As the wax melts it will be absorbed into the towel.

Be careful not to overheat the iron - it could melt synthetic carpeting.

You may have to repeat this process several times (using a clean towel) to remove all of the excess wax from the carpet fibers. This technique will remove the wax, but unfortunately, it will not remove the colored dye which may have been absorbed by the carpet fibers.

I had this same unfortunate experience with a red candle and ended up replacing the damaged area with a patch of replacement carpeting salvaged from within a closet.

Q. A bottle of red fingernail polish was spilled on my light-colored carpet. I have tried polish remover and several commercial carpet cleaners to no avail. Do you have any suggestions on how to remove such a stain?

A. Some stains may not be removable, particularly if they have had time to penetrate the carpet fibers. Call in a professional carpet cleaner who has the knowledge and available chemicals for spot treatment. If this is unsuccessful, there may still be a remedy. Cutting away the damaged area and replacing it with a patch could be the answer.

Wall-to-wall carpeting can often be repaired fairly easily, particularly if the carpet has a deep pile which tends to hide seams. Even tightly woven, short-pile carpeting can be patched with nearly invisible seams if you do your cutting carefully.

You will need a sharp-bladed utility knife to cut out a square or rectangular section of the carpet that includes the damaged area. Press the pile aside in a straight line (a screwdriver can help separate the yarn), and cut all the way through the carpet backing, but try to avoid cutting into the padding or floor below.

Make each cut in one pass of the knife if possible; keep edges clean and straight, and remove the cut-out in one piece. Prepare a patch from a carpet remnant using the damaged piece as a pattern. If you don't have a remnant, remove some carpeting from inside a closet or from underneath a piece of furniture you do not intend to move.

When preparing the patch, be sure that you match the pattern and direction of the weave and nap as well as the size. You'll probably find some unavoidable color differences between the patch and the surrounding carpeting, but over time and with wear, this variation should decrease.

Check the patch for fit, and trim if necessary - the patch should lie flat within the cut-out, snug but without bulging. Apply a small amount of carpet adhesive to the floor or the padding to hold down both the center and the edges of the patch and the edges of the surrounding carpet.

The adhesive coating should be thin enough to avoid any seepage through the seams between the patch and the cut-out. Any seepage of adhesive, besides being messy, will tend to separate the seams.

Press the patch firmly into place with the heel of your hand, and brush the pile with your fingertips to hide the seams you have created. Allow the adhesive several hours or overnight to dry before you vacuum.

The Enclave of Novi offers upscale condos close to shopping and entertainment

ANNETTE JAWORSKI
SPECIAL WRITER

You might think of Chicago and New York when you think of city living. A location within walking distance to restaurants, movies and shopping, and conveniences like underground parking and guarded security. A place where you never have to take out the garbage, cut the grass or shovel the snow.

Well, there is such a place that offers the best of "city" living in the suburbs. The Enclave of Novi is where upscale condominiums meet shopping and dining on the outskirts of Twelve Oaks Mall. It offers a cosmopolitan lifestyle located in the middle of the suburbs, with theaters, shopping and restaurants.

Suzi and John Gatward are one couple who found happiness nesting in their mid-rise condominium.

"I'd recommend it to anyone who wants an easy way of living," Suzi Gatward said.

The couple originally rented a unit after their daughters Elizabeth and Emily left home. At first they planned to build another home, but soon changed their minds.

"We were here as an interim step at first. Then we thought, my god, what more could we want," Gatward said.

The biggest surprise is the spacious and open design in each 2,200 square foot condominium. Plenty of room for the Gatwards and their cats, Henri and Fergi, as well as their two daughters when they come to visit.

The second most obvious bonus is the spectacular view. Being up on the third floor, the couple has a birds-eye view of a lake from all of their windows.

"We wanted a view overlooking the lake ... There's still wildlife down here - swans, deer and geese," she said.

The master bedroom also has a view of the lake as well as a partial view of the mall. Here Gatward mixes an antique Irish chest from the 1800s with rattan chairs and a computer work center.

In both bathrooms, the Gatwards successfully blended a combination of warm, honey-maple cabinets and earth-tone ceramic tiles with glass and chrome in doors and fixtures.

Not afraid to mix her textures, she points out, "I'm pretty eclectic with my tastes."

One of her favorite rooms is the kitchen. Also done in the same maple-honey cabinetry, she contrasts it with granite-look Corian counters and all-black appliances. A work island was added in the center of the kitchen. The look is sleek and uncluttered.

The Gatwards have adapted well to the new pared-down lifestyle. But the move from a home to a condominium presents its own challenges.

"The biggest change is getting rid of the stuff, and deciding what to keep and what to get rid of," she said.

The easy maintenance of the condominium allows the couple to travel a lot, to their cottage in the summer and to the Golf coast of Florida in winter. It also gives them time to develop their hobbies.

In fact, the enclosed patio area has become the perfect hobby corner for the couple. Here they have a treadmill and a stair stepper, which John and Suzi use faithfully. Gatward also has an easel set up where she paints with acrylics. From her treadmill she can look outdoors or watch television in the living area. With the open floor plan, she can even see to the kitchen.

Gatward also takes advantage of the indoor pool which is available for the residents' use. Tenants also have access to an exercise room and a hospitality room.

All the units are attached by enclosed walkways. Many parking spots are underground.

The location and the great floor plan also convinced Kay and Robert Struble to make the Enclave their permanent home after a couple of years in Australia.

"Here at Twelve Oaks, it's as close as I can duplicate to my big city life in Melbourne ... It's so convenient, you can be anywhere in a few minutes," Kay Struble said.

Robert Struble checked it out on a trip to the states and discovered all their furniture would fit there.

"I think the floor plan is fantastic ... I had 60 boxes lined up about two high when we moved, and I can still walk around," she said.

The Strubles are still in the process of moving. When finished, Kay plans to incorporate an oriental motif throughout some of her condominium. This will showcase some souvenirs from the couple's travels.

"I think your rooms are a reflection of where you've been and what you've been doing," she said.

The Enclave of Novi condominiums, which are located next to Twelve Oaks Mall, begin at $218,500.

Satsuma-style tea set has Korean roots

By Anne McCollam

ANTIQUES

Q. My mother's brother sent the tea set that is seen in this photo years ago. It is a service for six set that includes a teapot, cream pitcher, sugar bowl, dessert plates, cups and saucers. Each piece is marked "Hand Painted - Japan."

A. You have a Satsuma-style tea set. After a futile attempt to conquer Korea around 1600, Japanese feudal lord Shimazu Yoshihiro fled back to Japan. He managed to bring with him 22 Korean potters. They settled in the Satsuma Province and began making Satsuma ware. Most of this ware seen today was made after 1860. The figures with gold halos featured on your tea set are typical of pottery made during the Showa period, 1926 to around 1950.

The value of your set would probably be about $350 to $425.

Q. I have a "hollow lady's head" planter that I purchased at a yard sale. She is in perfect condition and is approximately 6 inches tall and is wearing pearl earrings and necklace. There is a huge lavender flower in her blond hair and she has flaming red lipstick. On the bottom is a label with the words "C 3141 NAPCO 1958"

Ferrell

National Potteries Co., Cleveland, O. - Made in Japan.

Q. Could you tell me anything about my planter and what the current value is?

A. National Potteries Co. in Ohio was a distributor of glass and pottery from 1938 to the present. Your vase is called a Lady Head Vase. These sophisticated ladies were decorated with imitation jewelry, wore fashionable hairstyles and had long "Bambi" eyelashes. Many florists used them as planters, thus the hollow head. They were made by several manufacturers in the United States and Japan from after World War II to the 1960s. The value of your lady head vase would probably be about $85 to $125.

Q. Can you please tell me about my pottery vase and what it's worth? It is about 6 inches tall and is decorated with a textured light green matte glaze against a terra-cotta background. At the top of the vase are flowers in relief.

I have enclosed the name signed on the side. My husband says that an artist by this name worked at Peters and Reed Pottery and later at Roseville.

A. The signature is that of Frank Ferrell. He joined Peters and Reed Pottery in Zanesville, Ohio, in 1912. Ferrell was their designer and salesman until 1917. He then joined Roseville Pottery in Ohio. Your vase is similar to other vases produced by Peters and Reed. It was made in the early 1900s and would probably be worth about $175 to $250.

This Satsuma-style tea service for six is worth about $350 to $425.

Protect Your Dough

Imagine if you could cook up a way to protect your savings from inflation. Now you can with the new Series I Bond from the U.S. Treasury. It protects your investment from inflation, no matter what happens.

What's more, you never pay local or state income taxes on interest earned. Federal income tax on interest earned is deferred until you cash in your bonds, which can be anytime between 6 months and 30 years.

I Bonds are available at most financial institutions. Call for more information, or write I Bond Investor's Guide, Parkersburg, WV 26106-1328.

Her hard work has paid off

Local woman takes over Molly Maid franchise

By JASON SCHMITT
Staff Writer

For Molly Maid owner Tonia Bennett, all the hard work and dedication finally paid off.

Bennett, who owns the Northville franchise along with husband Michael, has spent the last 10 years of her life working her way up the Molly Maid corporate ladder. When the chance to buy and manage her own franchise came about, it didn't take the 29-year-old very long to begin asking questions.

"A couple of years back the Plymouth franchise was sold back to our corporate office," Bennett said. "At that time they were considering breaking the service area up and I asked if they were going to open up a Northville office. When I heard about this opportunity, I jumped at the chance to move back to my old community."

Bennett, whose maiden name is Hickman, had lived in Northville since the second grade and graduated from Northville High School in 1987. She and her husband currently live in Plymouth.

The Bennetts opened up their business in October of 1996, and have seen their service area fill up with new homes ever since. The Northville Molly Maid services the Northville and Novi areas from Five Mile Road to 14-Mile Road and from Haggerty Road to Napier Road. The area also includes a small portion of Wixom.

Prior to the sale of the Plymouth location back to corporate, that franchise handled the Plymouth, Canton, Livonia, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Wayne, Westland, Northville and Novi. "It would have taken too much for such a huge, growing geographical area. But now there's more people, more franchises which makes it much easier," Bennett said.

Bennett began as a home service professional at the Plymouth location in September of 1987. After working there for 1 1/2 years, she moved into the Plymouth office as a manager.

She stayed at that position for five years until she was promoted to regional service manager at the company's headquarters in Ann Arbor.

For now, she says the bulk of her business comes from the Northville community, but that may change as Novi continues to grow faster than Northville.

"I think more people come to us from Northville because our office is located here," Bennett said. "But I think the need for us is going to be greater in both communities as you have more dual-income families moving in."

"Right now most of our clients are dual-income families where both parents work and don't want to clean on Saturdays. We also have elderly customers who can't do the cleaning themselves," Bennett said. "We also have seen an increase in women who are pregnant."

Bennett said what sets Molly Maid apart from the competition is its flexibility with the customers. The home-cleaning service company allows customers to pick and choose what they want done in their homes. "We tailor it to how they want it," she said. "We give them options."

The Bennetts and their staff of about 10 have earned the company's President's Circle distinction for sales. That club is reserved to franchisees who surpass $6,000 in sales per week for an entire quarter.

Although Bennett has seen about every position within the company, she enjoys her current position the most because it allows her to perform various duties. "I handle the accounting and payrolls, do some of the scheduling, all the hiring, provide quality checks and give estimates," she said. "I really enjoy the estimates the most because I enjoy seeing homes and the different layouts. I also like meeting different people."

What Tonia doesn't handle, her office manager Cheryl Firestone does.

Molly Maid is located at 18600 Northville Road, Suite 800, in Northville. Bennett can be reached by phone at (248) 305-7070 or by fax at (248) 305-8670.

Business Briefs

MAIL BOXES ETC. in Milford has signed on to be an authorized U.S. Postal Service retailer. The MBE center, located in the Prospect Hill Shopping Center, offers customers postal service products at a convenient location, with extended store hours.

"This is an opportunity to provide my customers with expanded opportunities to access the postal service product line combined with MBE's customer service," said CURTIS SALK, owner.

The MBE center hours of operation are 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday with extended hours during the busy holiday season.

Products and services include First-Class Mail, Priority Mail, Express Mail, Global Priority Mail, Insures, certified and return receipt. Postage stamps will be sold at face value.

PAUL SERWINEK of Milford, together with 104 other insurance agents around the state, reached a milestone last year. His company, GREAT LAKES CASUALTY INSURANCE COMPANY, the first and only agent-owned company of its kind in the state, issued its first policy.

The moment was three years in development and only because a reality as a result of an incredible commitment by the agency force.

"They represent pioneers in the industry," said Harold Felty, president of Great Lakes Casualty Insurance Company.

Servinek has been a Milford resident for more than 20 years.

The agents believe it was important to own and control their own company because it enables them to have a voice in the industry and the quality service they can provide clients. As a result of day-to-day agent control, Great Lakes Casualty Insurance Company is a competitively priced, service-first company. Its primary objective is to provide no-nonsense, quality automobile insurance to the people of Michigan.

SCAPA TAPES NORTH AMERICA has appointed MARK WELTI to the position of Automotive Market Development Manager. He will be based in Livonia and will be responsible for developing and implementing the company's marketing and sales activities for key automotive accounts.

Welti joins Scapa Tapes with 15 years of experience in the automotive industry. Before joining Scapa Tapes, he served as Ford Powertrain Account Manager for LDM Technologies, Inc., a Tier 1 plastics component supplier located in Auburn Hills, Michigan. He holds a Bachelors of business Administration in Management and Economics from Northwood University. Welti resides in Milford with his wife and two children.

CROSSWINDS COMMUNITIES has joined with the Consortium for Advanced Residential Buildings to build a low cost home using the leading energy and resource efficient design strategies, materials and construction methods.

The home of the future is being built at Orchard View Estates in Fenton Township. Construction began in January.

Crosswinds Communities has offices in Novi and Detroit, and consists of a number of operating divisions that include residential, commercial and industrial development and a mortgage company.

Our Town – Northville

Northville's inviting downtown plays host to many events throughout the year, including the Independence Day parade, which is enjoyed by young and old alike.

About this book

Our Town, published by The Northville Record, provides a guide to the many attractions and events in the Northville community throughout the year. We hope it proves a useful planning tool for residents and visitors who want to spend time in our town.

Our Town includes a rundown of community points of interest; information on the major events that will take place in 1999; lists of local governmental officials; a directory of public school offices and buildings; commonly used phone numbers and addresses; maps showing voting precincts for school and general elections; addresses of churches non-public schools; and a lot of informative advertising from local retailers and businesses.

Additional copies of Our Town are available from the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, 195 S. Main, from downtown merchants and at the office of The Northville Record, 104 W. Main.

For more information about the directory or The Northville Record, call 349-1700 or stop by our office during regular business hours. Visitor or resident, we hope you enjoy the natural beauty and historic charm of Northville and Northville Township.

Welcome

FROM THE NORTHVILLE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The community of Northville offers a small-town atmosphere coupled with a modernistic school system and advanced business district. On behalf of the Northville Chamber of Commerce, I extend a warm welcome and invite you to explore all the opportunities our city and township have to offer.

Laurie Marrs

Our Chamber is a community-wide business organization committed to making our area the best place to live, work and visit. We provide informative activities throughout the year designed to benefit professionals, small business owners and managers. These Chamber organized events help members with networking goalsetting, and effective business communication.

The Chamber also offers sponsorship of several significant community events,

- Taste of Northville Business Showcase: An opportunity for businesses, restaurants and non-profit groups to showcase their products and services. This year the showcase takes place March 23 at Northville Community Center, 303 W. Main Street, in downtown Northville.
- Farmers Market: Farmers set up outdoor booths and sell plants, perennials, garden accessories, Michigan-grown produce and baked goods. The market is located on the Northville Downs parking lot at Seven Mile Road and Center Street, and is open every Thursday (rain, snow or shine) from May through October.
- Art In The Sun: An outdoor fine art show held in the downtown streets. Visitors can enjoy art, food and entertainment during this two-day event held June 19 and 20.
- Northville Open Golf Outing: The Chamber invites the community to participate in a day of golf and camaraderie

on June 24 at the Links of Novi golf course.

- Crafts & Crumpets: An outdoor fine art and craft show held in the downtown streets. Visitors can enjoy the many craft booths and also visit the unique stores to sample the side array of crumpets (cookies) offered free of charge. Crafts & Crumpets takes place Aug. 7 and 8.

- Victorian Festival: The most popular and comprehensive of the Chamber's activities, this grand event is a celebration of Northville's heritage. The whole community comes together during the three-day festival to commemorate its unique ancestry. Colorful attire and turn-of-the-century entertainment send Northville back in time and provide a weekend of old-fashioned fun. The event gets underway on Friday, Sept. 17 with a Victorian costume parade through the city's historic district and the romantic era of yesteryear.

On Saturday, festivities include a complete street block dedicated to children's activities, continuous street entertainment throughout the town, a fine art market sponsored by the Arts Commission, an antique show, numerous food booths and a romantic candle-

Sunday offers the same activities plus additional opportunities to step back in time with a box lunch auction and a duck race.

One of the special aspects of the Northville Victorian Festival is its community-wide involvement. Non-profit groups from nearly every organization, representatives of Northville Schools, merchants dressed in period costumes and a veritable army of volunteers participate in making the event a successful, entertaining and informative celebration of bygone time. The Victorian Festival is celebrated Sept. 17-19, 1999.

- Christmas Walk: The Chamber sponsors this popular annual event the Sunday before Thanksgiving.

Northville comes alive with lights, decorated windows and special shopping hours.

The Northville Chamber of Commerce is proud to sponsor the activities and events that help make our community a great place to live and work. For more information on the Chamber or community events, please call (248) 349-7640 or visit our web site at www.northville.org.

What's Happening

Places of Interest

The Northville community may be small but our town offers plenty of sites to see and things to do.

Throughout this book you'll find descriptions of some of the annual events that attract local residents and out-of-town visitors. Here's a run-down of a few of our most popular ongoing attractions.

DOWNTOWN

The central business district serves as the heart of the Northville community. Main Street, Center Street and the surrounding area are home to many unique retail and specialty stores: clothing, antiques, arts and crafts, gourmet food shops, cappuccino cafes and fine restaurants.

MainCentre, a retail and apartment development on the southwest corner of Main and Center streets, houses a variety of shops and eateries.

Shopping, browsing or just spending time in downtown Northville provides a fresh, relaxed alternative to the crowded malls. The stores and restaurants help the community carve out its own special niche, drawing regular visitors from around Michigan, Ohio and Ontario.

In addition to its business establishments, downtown Northville also serves as the location for many community events throughout the year. Its scenic features and abundance of benches make it a perfect place for a casual stroll at any time. Explore it for yourself.

MILL RACE VILLAGE

attraction of our town.

The village is a gathering place for historic buildings from the area, relocated and restored into a living museum. Most buildings are authentic and were uprooted from their foundations and moved to the village compound.

This ongoing project is the major undertaking of the Northville Historical Society, which sponsors guided tours on Sunday afternoons during the spring, summer and fall. Be sure to see the Cady Inn restoration and the interurban station.

The society opens the village for many community functions and rents it to private parties as well. For information on the Village or the society, call 348-1845.

THE FORMER FORD PLANT

At the east end of Main Street the road bends to the south before becoming Northville Road. Just before the bend is a building which used to be the Northville Ford Valve Plant — a structure which holds a special place in Northville history.

The former "village industry" plant, built by Henry Ford, was recently purchased by the industrial firm of R&D Enterprises.

R&D now occupies the building and uses it as a site for the manufacture of heat exchangers for the marine industry. Other business also operate out of the facility.

The site also provides a scenic community focal point that includes a water wheel which once provided some of the plant's power.

Another attraction is the waterfowl — countless ducks and geese that have become a symbol of the city.

The building also has architectural significance as one of the creations of Louis Kahn, the late Estonian-born American architect.

THE WELL

Just east of the plant on South Main you'll find the famous Northville Well. Once upon a time, the well was spring-fed and its silver spring water gained fame for its restorative properties.

The spring dried up long ago, but the well still delivers fresh, delicious water — and long-timers say it tastes as good as ever. (Don't let anyone tell you the well is hooked up to the city water system. That was true for a few brief periods when the well had to be re-drilled, but not now.)

TOWN SQUARE PARK

This little urban park sits off the south side of Main Street east of Center. Its dominant feature is a bandshell which was a major community project a few years past.

Now the park hosts a variety of events, but it's most famous for free Friday evening music concerts held throughout the summer.

LIVE THEATER

You won't find many communities this size that boast a functioning live theater, but Northville has the Marquis.

On Main Street in the heart of downtown, this restored former movie house now offers plays and musicals throughout the year, geared to both adults and children. For more information, call 349-8110.

The Marquis is only the start of Northville's stage offerings, however. The Northville Players stage productions in winter and at the Victorian Festival in late summer (453-0891); Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall presents regular murder mystery dinners at its 108 E. Main Street restaurant and full theatrical productions at its Samuel H. Little Theater next door (349-0522).

Even the Plymouth Theatre Guild (349-7110) makes its home here, in the Water Tower Theater on the campus of Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital.

NORTHVILLE DOWNS

Professional harness racing comes to Northville for six months of the year at Northville Downs, on the northeast corner of Center Street (Sheldon Road) and Seven Mile.

The usual schedule of racing is October through March, and now year-round simulcast dates bring the action from other tracks to the Downs. The track runs both evening and matinee programs. Call 349-1000 for more information.

HINES PARK

The Edward Hines Park system runs throughout much of Wayne County but it starts (or ends) in Northville. Running along scenic Hines Drive, the park offers favorite spots for kite-flying, Frisbee-throwing, bike-riding, ball-playing, picnicking or just relaxing during most of the year. When the snow flies, you'll see plenty of sleds and cross-country skiers.

CIDER MILLS

Come fall, Northville goes cidering with two local mills producing their own fresh, fruity beverages. Parmenter's, on Baseline east of Center, and Foreman's, on Seven Mile west of Beck, each have their following.

Doughnuts and other apple goodies are also available, of course, and Parmenter's even offers its own wine. For more information, call Foreman's at 349-1256 or Parmenter's at 349-3181.

MAYBURY STATE PARK

Some visitors seem surprised that Northville Township houses a state park. Once a sanatorium for tuberculosis patients, Maybury now serves as a wonderful community resource.

Horseback riding, trails for biking and cross-country skiing, picnic areas and the popular children's petting farm lead the list of attractions. But it's best to explore the many features of the park for yourself.

Enter off Eight Mile west of Beck or Beck south of Eight Mile.

For information, call 347-1088.

PARKS, DISTRICT COURT

COMMUNITY PARKS

The Northville Parks and Recreation Department offers a variety of programs and services. It is jointly funded by the City and Township of Northville and the Parks & Recreation Commission governs its activities.

Traci Johnson Sincock is the director of the Parks & Recreation Department. The department's main office is located in the Community Center building at 303 W. Main St., 349-0203. Regular business hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Thirteen public parks of varying sizes and available activities are located in the Northville community. The two biggest are:

- Fish Hatchery Park, located on Seven Mile between Rodgers and Clement Roads.

- Northville Community Park, located on Beck between Five and Six Mile Roads.

DISTRICT COURT

The jurisdiction of Michigan's 35th District Court includes the cities and township of Northville and Plymouth and the Township of Canton. Two judges preside at the court, which is located in Plymouth Township. (313) 459-4740.

- Hon. John E. MacDonald, term ends Dec. 31, 1996.
- Hon. Ronald W. Lowe, term ends Dec. 31, 2000.

VICTORIAN FESTIVAL & ART MARKET

Northville's Victorian Festival has evolved into the community's largest single event and one of the most eagerly-awaited activities in the Metro area. The Northville Community Chamber of Commerce sponsors the Festival, but everybody gets into the act. Residents, school representatives and students, local governmental leaders, the Northville Historical Society, and everybody else who enjoys dressing up, eating great food and being entertained. For three days, Northville returns to the era which gave our town its start – an era still evident in the charming downtown shops and beautifully renovated homes. Among the major events are a Friday evening parade, a Saturday night costume ball and a Sunday afternoon picnic. Throw in novelty acts, strolling musicians and character actors and a great time's guaranteed for all. In conjunction with the festival is the Northville Arts Commission Art Market, a juried fine art street show. This is the ultimate "don't miss" event of the year. For information, call the Chamber of Commerce, 349-7640, or the Arts Commission, 349-6104.

Celebrate Northville Parade

The Northville Independence Day celebration is a much-anticipated event and a symbol of the city's renowned patriotic spirit. In 1991, Northville gained national attention with "Operation Welcome Home," a special Fourth honoring veterans of foreign wars, including the Persian Gulf conflict. Since then, the event has been expanded to include a fireworks display, a concert of traditional music, a classic car show and more. More than 100 floats and exhibits take part in the parade, which draws close to 15,000 people to downtown Northville.

NORTHVILLE CHRISTMAS WALK

The holiday season gets into full swing in downtown Northville with the annual Christmas Walk. Crowds flock to town to enjoy traditional downtown shopping in a warm Christmas atmosphere. The town is decorated and many merchants offer hot chocolate, punch and doughnuts, in addition to fantastic sales. The same weekend, a parade with Santa Claus, pulled in a sleigh with live reindeer, gets things off to a spirited start. For more information call 349-7640

Portable Spas plus

Hot Tub Dealer of the Year

By Susan Graham

Portable Spas plus with showrooms in Novi and Sterling Heights is a company unlike any other in the hot tub market-and their award list proves it. The last two years, Portable Spas plus was ranked as one of the 100 fastest-growing private companies in Michigan. They've been recognized in the Aqua 100, a list of the top 100 spa dealers in the country. Furthermore, they were the recipient of the coveted Pool & Spa News' "Professional Excellence Award for Customer Service," a national award honoring only one dealer in the nation.

International Design Award-Winner 1995

Sharing their 15 years of experience and knowledge, this family-owned business makes educating customers a top priority. According to owner James McDonald, there are no industry standards by which you can compare the variety of hot tub products. This means customers are virtually at the mercy of their sales professional.

Portable Spas plus, however, feels it is more important for customers to understand what they are buying than it is to rush into a sale. "Our job is to help consumers make a good decision, wherever they decide to buy their system," says McDonald.

For quick stress relief, just add water.

In fact, employees at Portable Spas plus spend upwards of an hour and a half generically educating customers on what to look for when selecting a hot tub. There are at least nine factors that can affect the overall value and quality of a system and Portable Spas shares insight into each one. "When price comes down on a product, something comes out – typically in a place you don't see it such as filtration performance or insulation/heat retention.

Jim & Lill McDonald

We help consumers understand the difference in spas and how to measure costs against benefits and quality," says McDonald.

Portable Spas plus explains the correlation between insulation and heat retention. Another important issue is filtration and water purification. According to McDonald, most people often overlook filtration, yet poor water quality is one of the first problems consumers are likely to encounter – a problem not covered under warranty. "The water should always be sparkling clean, crystal clear with an invitation to drink," says McDonald. The company teaches consumers the steps toward a healthy system and how clean your water really should be.

Portable Spas plus helps consumers identify what to look for in a quality hot tub shell. This is noteworthy because a weak shell can threaten the entire system. They also explain what to look for in a warranty. "The number of years of coverage is important, but consumers should really concentrate on the exclusions and limitations of the warranty. Furthermore, always get a written copy of the warranty," says McDonald.

In addition, Portable Spas plus explains in detail the operations of therapy systems, what hydrotherapy is and how to get the most from your system. At the same time, they demonstrate all these factors on one of the best products in the industry. Sundance spas, the world's largest hot tub manufacturer.

"Sundance has subjected their company, product design, manufacturer process, distribution, warranty, and service procedures to meet ISO 9001 standards – the strictest of certifiable quality standards in the world," says McDonald. According to McDonald, Sundance is the only manufacturer to hold this prestigious certification since 1996.

After 15 years in a market saturated with various product lines, excellence is certainly something Portable Spas plus can attest to. Having sold Sundance exclusively for over nine years, they are in the top 10 Sundance dealers worldwide. "Previously we'd sold some nationally known mid-range spas that did not deliver to our customers' expectations. They let us know about their dissatisfaction with the product," says McDonald.

Quality and reputation were too important to Portable Spas plus to stand behind anything they considered inferior. Thus they made a commitment to provide only the best on the market. After careful research they selected Sundance because they were internationally known as one of the leading innovators of technology in the industry.

A Five Star Dealer

"Better quality products tend to be more reliable, durable and perform better," says McDonald. These hot tubs are designed for maximum efficiency and long lasting performance. They offer one of the best water purification systems eliminating 95 percent of the need for chemicals like chlorine and Bromine. In fact they contain a 125 square-foot filtration system (compared to the average 50 square-foot filtration system). "Our whole objective is not to sit in a chemical stew," says McDonald.

The Everyday Vacation

Best Kept Secret in Town

Relying on their experience, sharing it with customers and offering only the best hot tubs in the world has made Portable Spas plus a trusted leader with consumers and hot tub shoppers. "The majority of our business comes from referrals," says McDonald. "Seventeen percent of these referrals are from sources that actually purchased their hot tub somewhere else. Through 'experience' they've come to appreciate the value of our expertise and the excellence of the Sundance spa after learning their selection did not live up to their expectations. They clearly felt the Sundance spa would have been a much better choice and they are sending their friends in to buy. Hindsight is always the better sight."

Sundance Spas and Portable Spas plus are one of the best kept secrets in the hot tub industry. At Portable Spas plus, customers are invited to try the hot tubs out in the store without any pressure to buy. They're also encouraged to share their comments and concerns. "We know educated consumers make good decisions. Again, when price comes down, something is taken out of that product. The laws of economy dictate, 'you get what you pay for.' They may find something that costs less than ours, but we know they won't find better." ■

Build a Log Home....

...Live Your Dream

By Susan Graham

Many people believe simpler is better, and to some, a log home is the epitome of simple elegance. "The beauty of the logs speak for themselves," says Bill Fritzer, manager of Garland Log Homes eastern office. Each year more people seem to be building log homes. "We first started with simple vacation cabins. Now we're doing more and more year round homes," says Bill Fritzer.

Log homes are gaining momentum in today's market because they're the perfect touch for secluded and lake lots. They provide a comforting "up north" atmosphere even when situated in the middle of metro-Detroit. "It's a lifestyle, a definite feel," Fritzer says.

Log home styles vary from contemporary to Lincoln log, chink style to full-scribe. Chink style has a space between the logs for mortar; full scribe logs are cut to fit one log on top of the other. There are also full round logs, D-shaped logs, square logs and half-log homes. Half-log homes look just like full log home styles, however, the frame of the house is a stick built frame.

Inside the home, walls can be full-log, half-log, dry-walled or a combination. "Generally the perimeter walls are all log, while the interior walls are drywall," says Fritzer. "The drywall comes into play from an economic standpoint, as well as aesthetics." Still, other homeowners opt to drywall in just the bedrooms, bathroom and kitchen.

With all these choices, designing a log home can be overwhelming. For ideas, you can turn to rustic home magazines or special feature television shows. Your builder should have a collection of plans on hand. They may also have models you can walk through. "You don't even have to start with a rustic plan," says Fritzer. "Some people come in with traditional home plans and we adapt them to rustic."

To help determine the plan that's right for you, ask yourself several questions about what's important to you in a home. Do you want an open floor plan and if so, throughout what rooms? Do you want the master suite to be located on the lower level? Do you want a more rustic or modern style home? According to Karen and Robert Beck of Trees to Treasures Inc., it's important to consider both your current and future lifestyles when answering these questions. "Most people plan to stay in these homes for a long time," says Robert Beck, "many for the rest of their lives."

Some people choose features such as one or two massive fieldstone fireplaces or free-standing stoves. Tall ceilings, visible tresses, slate and hardwood floors and a log staircase complete the rustic look.

Below are four Michigan log home builders that can help get you started on your dream house.

Karen and Robert Beck of Trees to Treasures provide homes through three companies: Wilderness Log Homes, Greatwood Log Homes and Geneva Log Homes. Greatwood offers turnkey custom log homes available with full or half-log exteriors.

Wilderness offers premium log homes with several bells and whistles including TC-88 windows (designed to reject 98 percent of the UV rays of the sun), 40-year shingles, and half-log designs that help eliminate settling problems.

Garland Log Homes designs homes from the very rustic to the contemporary. Garland is known for their use of thick logs – 12, 16 and even 18-inch in diameter. "These logs really stand out as rustic," says Fritzer. Plus the large logs offer "thermal mass," which means the house retains heat longer in the winter and stays cooler longer in the summer.

If you're interested in a log home but worried about your slim budget, consider a pre-packaged home. Geneva Log Homes offers ten log home models (ranches to one-and-a-half stories) that start around $30,000 to $40,000 for the package only. ■

AT HOME WITH YOUR SURROUNDINGS

Using years of experience, fine craftsmanship and the most current technology available, the log experts at Garland Homes are dedicated to creating your new home to fit your personality and your surrounding environment.

Call 1-800-968-0042, xt.3, ask for Bill Fritzer or send $15 for a full-color portfolio and planning guide.

Create an Outdoor Living Space

Need an extra room for entertaining and relaxing? Everybody can use more living space. Why not build another deck beneath your upper-level walk-out deck? You can transform that wasted space under the deck into an "outdoor room" – a place to relax, enjoy friends and appreciate the great outdoors.

tables, benches and porch swings. A porch swing hanging from the ceiling beams lends some country flavor. "It brings to mind a resort in the mountains," says Don Brown, owner of Moon Valley.

"Choose items that will accentuate the feeling you are trying to create," says Terry Hertz of Alpha Omega Western Furnishings Inc. in California. "Decide on whether you want a Western, primitive or rustic look."

Well-built, wood furniture can last a long time with proper maintenance. Brown says a light sanding and coat of stain every year can prolong the life of wood furniture.

For nature lovers, a lower-level deck will only enhance the view of your landscaping, McCoy says. Place potted plants on the deck to make it a natural extension of your yard. Add some colorful furniture and you have a cozy place to gaze at the night sky or spend some time bird-watching.

Invite Wildlife into Your Yard

With the right materials and a little know-how, homeowners can easily create an environment that birds and deer, as well as people, can enjoy.

Diana Lutz of Backyard Birds knows a thing or two about our feathered friends. According to her, spring is a great time to start turning your backyard into a bird-friendly environment. "Spring is a time of rejuvenation, and it is a very critical time for birds that need nesting boxes," she says.

In Southeastern Michigan, a number of birds, such as house wrens, black-capped chickadees, eastern bluebirds and different species of woodpeckers, depend on nesting boxes. Box designs vary depending on the species of bird you wish to attract.

In addition to box design, positioning and habitat are other factors to consider. For example, bluebirds are generally attracted to open fields and prefer their boxes to be placed on fence posts approximately 5 or 6 feet from the ground.

In spring, it's important to keep an ample supply of seed in feeders as food is usually very hard to come by after a long, cold winter. "Birds are very hungry this time of year because they are in the process of mating, breeding and nest-building," says Lutz.

Baltimore orioles and ruby-throated hummingbirds usually migrate to Michigan during the last week in April or when the weather allows. These two species will frequent feeders that provide nectar.

Tom Schneider, curator of birds at the Detroit Zoo, says hummingbirds are not all that common in Michigan's suburbs, but do turn up often in rural areas. However, homeowners can take some steps to attract these infrequent visitors.

Since hummingbirds have such a high metabolic rate, they eat more than half their body weight in food and eight times their weight in fluids every day. A supply of nutrient-rich hummingbird feed will bring these territorial birds into your environment. Once a hummingbird finds a food source, it will continue to return to it.

According to Schneider, hummingbirds are usually drawn to red and orange tubular flowers. Annuals such as snapdragons, impatiens, petunias and scarlet sage, and perennials such as hollyhock, coral bells and foxglove, usually work well.

To bring in sparrows and chickadees, Schneider recommends a dirt bath - a gravel or dirt area where certain birds are usually drawn. During the colder months, a small electric heater can be placed in a bird bath or goldfish pond to keep the water supply above the freezing point.

Butterflies also add beauty to a natural environment. Knowing what plants tend to attract them is the key. The best butterfly gardens feature plants such as highbush blueberry, false indigo, meadowsweet, lilacs, dandelions, clover and forget-me-nots.

If you would like to attract larger wildlife, such as the white-tailed deer, you can plant evergreens and leave old brush piles in place. Also let deadfalls from old oak trees remain. Evergreens and cedar offer good protection from the wind, while white cedar is a good winter food source. Magnolia and crabapple are popular spring and summer foods for northern white-tails.

Set the Mood with Lighting

The cardinal rule of landscape lighting is not to over-light, according to Joe Nerkowski, owner of Holiday Lighting in Allen Park. "More doesn't mean better," he says. "Choose one or two distinctive features — either a lovely tree, a pond or a stunning example of architecture — and accent those."

Nerkowski strongly recommends that you hire a lighting specialist to help you design your landscape lighting. "Lighting is like an art, don't trust it to your landscaper or irrigation specialist," he says. "A specialist will help you plan for both entertaining and security with an eye towards design. A good lighting specialist is like a painter... Your yard can be the canvas." ■ lacing a tired foot on a cold ceramic tile first thing in the morning isn't the most pleasant way to wake up. Imagine stepping on a warm tile, heated to a cozy temperature of 85 degrees, warmed from below by a hidden heating system.

Imagine stepping on a warm tile, heated to a cozy temperature of 85 degrees.

It's not an impossible dream thanks to radiant heating. Radiant heating is both efficient and comfortable, according to Bud Hagen of H. L. Claeys & Company in Warren. Floors typically considered "cold" like stone, marble and tile become warm and welcoming. These heating systems are concealed beneath the flooring. Radiant heating systems provide even Imported marble, fine ceramic tile, luxurious carpet and wood. Infloor takes the chill out of exquisite floor coverings while warming your whole home with quiet, even heat. It's the premier radiant heat system with quality-assured components and room-by-room control. ~~proven up~~ to 41 percent more efficient than forced air heat. Best of all, Infloor heats without unsightly baseboards and ductwork. And without erratic temperature changes or blasts of hot, dusty air.

Ultimate heating comfort, out of sight and out of mind. That's the beauty of Infloor Heating Systems.

heat without blowing dust throughout the house like a traditional forced air system. Because there are no registers, furniture can be placed anywhere in the room.

Radiant heat can be used with any flooring.

Proper application is imperative; these systems must be specifically adapted for each home. The size of the home, insulation, windows, as well as in which direction the home faces can all affect the heating system. Even the types of flooring must be reviewed. According to Hagen, radiant heat can be used with any flooring, however, hard surfaces such as tile and slate require different considerations than wood or carpeting.

"Anything with insulating properties will hold the heat in," says Mike Kramer of A.R. Kramer in Livonia. "Carpet can certainly act as an insulator."

If you're considering a radiant heating system and want carpeting, Dave Ohlinger of Riemer Floors in Bloomfield Hills suggests you select a carpet with low-pile construction like a Berber. "Avoid shag or anything bulky," he says. "Also use a lighter pad, or try hair or felt pad."

Radiant heat can also be adapted for wood floors, although the heating system may dry out the wood or loosen the adhesive over time. There are ways around this problem though, according to Ohlinger. You can nail the wood or apply a "floating" wood or laminate floor. He recommends a product known as Alloc. The components of this floating laminate floor are snapped together instead of glued.

Since installation is key, choose your plumbing and heating contractor carefully. Hagen suggests hiring an active member of the Radiant Panel Association, a group that helps educate consumers and the industry on radiant heating.

It's easier to install a radiant heating system to a home under construction, but it is possible to place one in an existing home. In order to do so, you must have access to the underside of the floor. Even if you can't access the entire house, warm kitchen and bathroom floors would be a treat for cold feet. ■

OVER 4,000 AMAZING DOGS WERE PART OF THE VIETNAM WAR. SADLY, FEW RETURNED.

The War Dogs documentary tells the story that honors some of the very special canines that deserve recognition from us all. It is a gut-wrenching tale about the relationship between man & dog.

This documentary, recently featured on the Discovery Channel, can now be yours with the purchase of a 17.6 lb. or larger bag of Nature's Recipe Group Specific Formula, Original or any 24 cans of Nature's Recipe Dog or Cat Food. With in-store coupon; while supplies last.

A portion of your Nature's Recipe purchases will be contributed to the War Dog Memorial Fund.
