Northville to host annual Memorial Day parade, Monday

By CHRIS C. DAVIS
Staff Writer

This time, it's about paying special attention to the women in the armed services.

That's the theme for this year's Memorial Day parade and events in the streets of Northville, hosted by American Legion Post No. 147 and the Ladies Auxiliary.

Event coordinator Rebecca Yarbrough said five grand marshals have been named to this year's celebration of U.S. military service. They include:

- Patricia Applegate, an Air Force veteran;
- Aurilla Steele, a member of the Navy's Women Accepted for Volunteer Emergency Service program;
- Nina Wilkiemeyer, a Marine Corps veteran;
- Mary June Williams, a Marine Corps veteran, and;
- Sue Zielke, active duty reservist with the Army.

The commemmoration will begin at 10 a.m. at the intersection of Griswold and Main Street with a parade. Stops will be taken at Rural Hill Cemetery and Center Street Cemetery.

In addition, several special groups and local dignitaries will be participating in the remembrances. The list includes: American Legion Post No. 32, from Livonia; Veterans of Foreign War Post No. 4012, from Northville; Vietnam Veterans of America Post No. 528, from Plymouth-Canton; VFW Post No. 345, from Redford; 35th District Court Judge John MacDonald; Northville mayor Chris Johnson; State Senator Thaddeus McCotter; National Junior vice-president of Ladies Auxilary Pat Jankowski; VFW Auxiliary Conductress Judy Winnie; VFW Auxiliary Voice of Democracy chairperson Linda Burton; fire departments from both the city of Northville and Northville Township; the Northville High School marching band; and the Marine Corps Detachment.

"This is one of the few days a year when we take the time out to thank veterans for their service to our country," Yarbrough said. "It's a special day for all of us."

Memorial Day, originally known as Decoration Day, was set aside following the Civil War as a day to decorate the graves of soldiers killed in the line of duty. Yarbrough said the tradition of placing American flags by the graves of veterans will continue Saturday morning at 9 a.m. at Rural Hill Cemetary.

Parade organizers request that those viewing the parade not cross in front of marchers, out of respect for the solemnity of the ceremony.

Northville's bands capture honors in state competition

Just being there was enough for Mike Rumbell.

But what happened once he took three of his Northville High School bands to state level of competition blew him away.

The ninth grade, 10th grade and upper level bands all achieved a division one ranking. The ninth grade was class 'D' champion at its level, the tenth grade was class 'C' champion and the eleventh and twelfth grade symphonic bands were class 'A' winners.

"I've talked to all kinds of people about this and no one can seem to remember that happening," Rumbell said. "It's definitely a rarity and a tribute to the talents of the kids."

Rumbell said to score a division I means the band is in the top half of the top 1 percent of bands in the state.

The bands each had to perform a concert piece, a march, and a chose a piece from a list set up by the MSBOA. Additionally, the bands had to site read two pieces of music that they hadn't seen before the day of performance.

The performances were judged by other band teachers and experts. The band scored all A's and B's on their score cards and comments included phrases such as

Northville student hospitalized after drug overdose

BY ANDREW DIETDERICH
Staff Writer

A Northville High School student has been treated and released from St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia after overdosing on the drug gamma hydroxy butyrate (GHB).

The incident happened May 19 during a soccer game at Cooke Middle School.

According to Northville Police Department reports, officers were called to the scene for a male down. They found the 18-year-old male who lives on McDonald Drive slumped over the ground by the north side entrance to the athletic fields.

Witnesses told police the student had taken two capsules of gamma hydroxy butryrate, or GHB. Additionally, they said the student was watching a soccer game and then laid on one of his male friends. He was helped out of the bleachers by his friends.

Additionally, at least one witness said she had "heard through the grapevine that the student was on GHB." Another witness said a short girl with short brown hair told her that the male student was on GHB.

GHB is a central nervous system depressant first introduced as a possible anesthetic alternative in the medical field. After being rejected by the medical community it found its way to the shelves of health and diet food stores where it was sold as a tool for bodybuilders to increase muscle growth, despite the fact there are no studies to prove the claim. The FDA banned GHB from the shelves in 1990 duet to dangerous side effects associated with the drug.

Board candidates to discuss views at campaign forum

BY ANDREW DIETDERICH
Staff Writer

A major battle in the fight between four candidates for two open Northville board of education seats takes place June 2.

The Legislative Action Network committee of the Northville Public Schools PTA will host a candidate's forum at 7 p.m. at Northville High School.

Candidates Sharon Fleming, Jerry Rupley, Gregory Pelc and Raymond Walsh will participate.

"I think it's important for people to see me and hear me and get a chance to know me along with all the other candidates," Walsh said.

The other candidates said they didn't think twice about taking part in the event.

"An open community forum with questions posed to all candidates is the best way for voters to see the important issues and how each of us feels on those issues," Fleming said.

Pelc said participating in the debate is part of his campaign strategy.

"As part of my campaign I want to answer as many questions from as many different people as possible," he said. "I believe this is a good way to achieve that goal."

Rupley said any additional opportunities to educate the public on his background is welcomed.

"It's important for voters and cit-

Northville High School honors retiring teachers

BY ANDREW DIETDERICH
Staff Writer

Longevity may not be the first word that comes to mind when describing most of today's work force.

Even so there are still people who dedicate their whole lives to one place.

People like George Aune and Barbara LeBoeuf who combined have a total of 54 years of experience at Northville High School. They are two of eight teachers retiring from the school at the end of this school year.

"I'm entering a new stage in my life now," LeBoeuf, 55, said. "I've worked real hard at ensuring I'll have a good retirement."

LeBoeuf has been in Northville for 32 years.

For the last five years, LeBoeuf has split her time between being the Northville Education Association president and a social studies teacher. She also was president of the union from 1977 to 1987.

LeBoeuf started in the district as a Latin teacher after graduating from the University of Michigan with a bachelor's degree in Latin in 1966. She later went on to earn her master's degree from Eastern Michigan University.

"I chose the district because the Northville community has always valued education," she said.

In the 1500s, most people got married in June because they took their yearly bath in May and were still smelling pretty good in June. However, they were starting to smell so brides carried a bouquet of flowers to hide the B.O.

Water committee issues recommendations

BY ANDREW DIETDERICH
Staff Writer

A group of Northville citizens wants to dip into a well of funds coming from the Northville Downs to help lower water rates.

That's just one of the recommendations coming from the Northville Citizens Committee on Utility Financing presented in its final report to the Northville City Council.

The 12-member committee was formed to address rising costs of water for Northville residents.

"I hope the city council considers very strongly our recommendations when it takes a look at water rates in the future," said Mark Cryderman, chairman of the Citizens Committee on Utility Financing.

The group was formed at the recommendation of the Northville City Council Dec. 7 during a public hearing regarding a proposed water and sewer rate increase that resulted with a combined 8.68 percent increase. The group met five times during February, March and April and reviewed data from Northville's fire department, department of public works and the city clerk's office. The main objective of the committee was to review current and projected water and sewer needs, revenues and expenditures, consider alternative methods of financing and make recommendations to the city council using the information.

The group also was challenged with determining why water and sewer rates are more than 65 percent higher in Northville than in surrounding communities.

The group determined a number of reasons water system costs are higher in Northville, including: significant water and sewer rate increases from Detroit and Wayne County; a high outstanding debt; required system improvements; a need to increase working capital; a history of high water loss; a small customer base working to cover the expense of the system.

The citizens committee also came up with a number of recommendations for helping alleviate the problem including: allocation of 50 percent of net race track funds after police costs are covered to get to $500,000 in working capital for the water and sewer program; provide city council with quarterly water loss reports while getting a target rate of less than 10 percent lost; adopt a monthly billing proposal if there is savings; review tap-in fees for possible revenue increase; review proposed 1999-2000 water/sewer budget for possible reductions such as using temporary labor for peak periods.

"We didn't recommend anything that we didn't think was possible," said Ann Bright, committee member.

Gary Word, Northville city manager, said city staff members are going to take the recommendations of the citizens committee seriously. But he's also said that not everything the committee recommends will occur.

"We're going to study what the committee has presented us with and come back with a strategy based on the report," Word said.

Northville welcomes new bagel shop

Elaine's Bagel's is open and ready for customers

BY ANDREW DIETDERICH
Staff Writer

The game of hot potato with the deed to one local business has come to an end if the new owners have their way.

Motor City Bagels, 250 N. Center St., has been sold to Troy-based Elaine's Bagels.

The store officially opened as Elaine's Bagels May 10 and store officials said they plan to hold onto the deed and remain in Northville for a long time.

"This store has had a switch in ownership three times over the last year-and-a-half," said Jamie Wittenberg, district manager of Elaine's Bagels. "But this will be the last switch and the best switch people around here have."

The Northville location will be the seventh for business run by the Shifman family of Troy. Other locations include Troy, Berkley, Clinton Township, Eastpointe, Dearborn Heights and Sterling Heights. The business is named for the mother of the Shifman family.

The company employs about 200 people chainwide including about 15 at the Northville location, Wittenberg said.

Motor City Bagels was formerly Chesapeake Bagels. Before the building was transformed to Chesapeake Bagels, it was a bank.

Elaine's Bagels has catered to the Northville area including Northville High School, but didn't have a store on the west side, Wittenberg said.

"We've been looking at opening a store on this side of town for a while and then the opportunity arose," he said.

Additionally, he said, the company is continuing to look for places to open more stores in the western suburbs.

Wittenberg said customers can expect to see some changes at the store, but mainly with the food.

"Our bagels are bigger and better," he said. "We're going to offer 20 flavors everyday and two different special varieties every day of the month."

Customers will be able to pick up calenders that highlight what the bagel of the day will be, Wittenberg said.

Also, Elaine's Bagels are "boiled, much larger and made with fresh ingredients," he said, and workers bake bagels all day as opposed to just making bagels in the early morning.

Laurie Marrs, director of the Northville Chamber of Commerce, said Northville needs a bagel shop and it's good to see the business maintained.

"I'm glad to see this new company is coming in and keeping the bagel company going," she said. "Hopefully they'll be involved in the community."

Podiatrists Celebrate 25 Years. . .

We fit them into uncomfortable shoes, walk many miles on them and stand on them for hours every day. As the podiatrists at Foot Health Centers know, feet deserve special care and attention.

Dr. Ken Poss and Dr. Randy Bernstein at Foot Health Centers treat all kinds of foot and ankle ailments for patients of all ages. "Everything from birth to 105 years old," said Dr. Bernstein.

From nail fungus to fractures, from skin problems to orthopedic surgery from bunions to circulation problems, these doctors treat every kind of foot and ankle ailment, and have many years of experience.

A patient is never too young or too old to desire first-rate foot care. Dr. Bernstein recommends that children come see a podiatrist within the first year and that senior citizens, who have special foot needs, come in every 2 months for check-ups and care.

Foot Health Center is probably one of the busiest podiatry practices in the state. Foot health Center is affiliated with Botsford, Sinai, Oakwood and Kem Hospitals.

Their surgery is either performed as an out-patient at one of the hospitals or in their surgical operating room located in the Novi office.

Dr. Ken Poss, left, and Dr. Randy Bernstein celebrate their clinic's 25th anniversary this year. Dr. Bernstein and Dr. Poss are dedicated to giving first-rate care to all patients.

Experience, qualification and precision characterize these doctors. With a combined experience of 37 years, these doctors work seven days a week, starting at 6 a.m. and finishing patients at 8 p.m.

After this, they start returning patient calls, hospital rounds, and paper work until 11 p.m. Dedication is the name of their service. They are available to all their patients.

The doctors at Foot Health Centers were forerunners in the use of laser surgery for the foot and ankle. This technique is a primary tool for treating fungus nails, ingrown nails, warts, nerve tumors and other problems. The laser technique means less trauma and less pain for the patient.

Dr. Bernstein and Dr. Poss were among the first doctors in the area to offer 24-hour emergency service. Patients can call the office at any time, day or night, and a doctor will be available within minutes.

The offices also offer sports medicine and specializes in bunion removal. Many patients have stated these doctors do the best bunion surgery in the country.

For any treatment, putting the patient first is a priority at Foot Health Centers.

All three offices are accepting new patients, so contact the nearest location: Novi at (248) 349-5559, Livonia at (248) 478-1166 or Detroit at (313) 863-3338.

Police News

OFFICER ASSAULT: A Northville police officer was assaulted by an 18-year-old Dexter woman after they responded to a complaint about a loud party.

The incident happened at about 1 a.m. May 19.

According to a Northville Police report, police were called to a large party on Linden Street. Upon arrival at the house they heard what they believed to be people jumping the fence in the backyard. Police did not pursue the sound but instead went to the front door of the house.

The 19-year-old renter of the unit told police they could enter. When they did, the male said there was no one in the house but they heard people upstairs. They told the people upstairs to come down. It was discovered the 18-year-old Dexter woman, her 20-year-old Novi brother and a 19-year-old Northville man were upstairs.

Once seated on a couch downstairs the woman became agitated when police wouldn't let her use the bathroom. She try to get up, police sat her down and she began to become aggressive. She ended up kicking a police officer three times.

When she was taken out to the police car she tried to run. She was apprehended and when being taken to the car a second time she spat in the face of an officer.

She was arrested for resisting arrest and assault and battery, underage consumption of alcohol, along with warrant for her arrest out of Washtenaw County for contempt of court. Additionally, her 20-year-old brother was arrested for probation violation.

POSTAL DRINKER: A U.S. Postal worker was arrested for operating a vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and unlawful blood alcohol level on his lunch break.

The incident happened about noon May 22.

According to Northville Police reports, Northville police received an anonymous tip that the 43-year-old Howell man leaving for lunch was possibly drunk.

Police followed the man and pulled him over. There were six empty 12-ounce beers on the floor of the passenger side of the man's 1995 purple Pontiac. Police smelled intoxicants and gave the man several sobriety tasks. He failed a number of them including a preliminary breath test which he blew a .208.

He was arrested for OUIL and UBAL.

CLOCKED: Police responded to the clock in the Main Street traffic island in downtown Northville after a woman drove into it.

The incident happened 11 p.m. May 18.

According to the Northville Police report, the 55-year-old Livonia woman was traveling eastbound on Main Street driving about 40 miles per hour when she drove up the curb, over the rock and into the clock. She told police she was lost and didn't see the clock.

She was transported to St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia. Additionally, she was cited for careless driving.

LITTERBUG: A 17-year-old Northville teen was cited for littering after a Northville Police officer witnessed him throw a bottle out of the car he was driving in.

The incident happened May 18.

According to the Northville Police report, a Northville detective was walking to the police station when he witnessed a passenger in the back seat of a white four-door Plymouth throw a bottle from it. The detective was able to obtain the license number, which returned to a man on Waterfall Street. The man's son and passenger were called into the station where they explained the bottle had been leaking so they threw it out.

A test of the bottle revealed there weren't any leaks from the bottle, the passenger received a citation for littering.

UNDERAGE CONSUMPTION: An 18-year-old Northville High School teen who lives on Waterfall Street was arrested for underage consumption.

The incident happened May 19.

According to a Northville Police report, the man was at the scene of a drug overdose yelling at police to do something about his friend. They were at a soccer game at Cooke Middle School.

Police tried to calm the man down and when talking to him noticed he was swaying and appeared to be "under the influence of something."

A preliminary breath test was .079.

He was arrested pending sobering and released on a $100 bond.

FOOLING AROUND: Three Detroit men were arrested and a Northville woman received a citation for open intoxicants in a vehicle in connection with an incident that happened May 21.

According to police report, a large group of people were "fooling around" on the median near Seven Mile Road and Hines Drive.

Three Detroit teens were arrested for consumption of alcohol after preliminary breath tests revealed they were all drinking.

Additionally, a 16-year-old girl who lives on Wing Street received a citation for having open intoxicants in her father's 1994 Ford van. She had not been drinking.

TOWNSHIP POLICE REPORTS

CHAIN SMOKER: Northville Township police arrested a 54-year-old Detroit man after he was tackled in the Farmer Jack parking lot for attempting to steal some $300 of cigarettes.

Township police reports indicated that the man was seen by store employees at around 5 p.m. May 20 pushing around a shopping cart with a large blue container in the basket. The basket was filled with packs of cigarettes.

Management followed the man to the corner of the store, where he was observed stuffing the items into his coat pocket, then proceeded to head to the store's exit. Employees attempted to get the man's attention, but he began running for the lot. He was subdued by the employee and two witnesses to the incident.

The man was processed at the scene and his probation officer contacted. He will be in 35th District Court on June 17.

INTO THE BEYOND: A 37-year-old Center Street woman reported the theft of her wallet from Bed Bath & Beyond on May 22.

The woman said she was shopping in the store's vacuum section and temporarily placed her wallet on some nearby boxes. She then continued her shopping, forgetting to retrieve her wallet before doing so. She said she returned to the spot and discovered the wallet was missing.

The woman said she checked with store management to find if a wallet had been turned in. It had not.

The wallet contained approximately $100 in cash, several credit and bank cards, insurance papers and identification.

DIRTY LAUNDRY: An estimated $1,000 in clothing and bedding was reported stolen from the laundry facilities of Innsbrook Apartments the evening of May 19.

A 22-year-old resident of the complex told police she placed several loads of laundry in the washing machines at around 4 p.m., and returned at 5 p.m. to place the laundry into dryers.

When she made her final return at 8 p.m., all her items were missing. Police searched other laundry facilities at Innsbrook and in trash receptacles nearby, but were unable to locate the laundry.

There are no suspects.

JUST PAY ME: Neither a 29-year-old Walled Lake man nor his former employer opted to press charges following a physical scuffle the evening of May 18.

Township police reports said the man went to his former worksite in the Brooklane subdivision seeking to collect his final paycheck for construction work he had performed. He was informed at the site that his ex-supervisor was not on the site, and that he should contact him via telephone in the model home.

The man telephoned his former boss, who said that the payment had not yet been processed. The man then reportedly responded by saying that he would take temporary ownership of tools at the work site until he had his money.

The supervisor then telephoned the work site to advise workers of the man's claim. Minutes later, the man returned to the work site and began loading several power and hand tools into the bed of his truck.

The man was advised by other workers at the scene that he was not authorized to remove tools from the scene. A physical altercation ensued at the scene, involving rock-throwing and prodding with a wall stud.

After consulting with police officers, the man returned the tools and was issued his final paycheck.

LET'S TALK Jewelry WITH GARY S. WEINSTEIN GEMOLOGIST

SPINEL

It may not get the attention it deserves, but spinel is a gemstone to be reckoned with. It comes in a wide variety of rich colors, ranks third behind only diamond (10) and sapphire (9) with a hardness rating of 8, and sparkles beautifully when cut well. The red variety is often confused with ruby. In its finest qualities, this red gemstone (sometimes referred to as ruby spinel) can be called upon as a stand-in for its more famous red counterpart, at a fraction of the price. Fine pink and orange spinels can favorably compete with the best Burma pink sapphires and flame-colored topaz. If all this does not pique the curiosity of gemstone lovers, one look at fine spinel will.

Spinels, as well as other precious gem purchases should always be handled by a qualified gemologist. WEINSTEIN JEWELERS OF NOVI, with 3 generations of experience, provides our customers with skilled, courteous, personalized service, and of course, a world class selection of stones. Here at 41990 Grand River Ave (248-347-0303), you will find many magnificent ideas, to meet you jewelry needs. Most major credit cards accepted. We make repairs of all kinds including rush and emergency repairs. Weinstein Jewelers of Novi is now licensed by the city of Novi to offer loans on jewelry. We are "The name you know, the name you trust."

Gary Weinstein

P.S. The orange-red variety of spinel is called rubicelle, a diminutive of the French word for ruby.

Northville schools, public officials target school violence

By CHRIS C. DAVIS
Staff Writer

Northville school officials have already speculated that the tidal wave of school violence could hit the Northville community.

So what are Northville's two police departments doing to make preparations to avoid being the next in a growing list of towns hit by violence? Plenty.

Northville Township public safety director said Tuesday he's had lengthy conversations with Northville school administrators to map out strategies should worst-case scenarios occur.

"What we've agreed upon is that the police will be the ones in charge of the situation," Snider said. "The administrators have all asked 'What can we do to help?' What I've told them is that their responsibility is to be at our command post should some crisis occur. They may be the only ones with access to information that we just don't have."

Should a situation ever occur where a gunman is reported on the loose in a school building, Snider said it was his belief that officers would need to go inside the school and "go hunting."

"Certainly, your liability meter goes off the charts in a situation like that because you're separating your team members from each other, but I believe it's a chance that you have to take," he said.

He pointed to the April tragedy at Columbine High School outside Denver and the police department's hesitation on entering the building. Speculation arose in the early minutes of the crisis that the perpetrators had placed bombs throughout the building — a theory that was later proven correct.

"I don't know that we'd have the luxury of waiting," Snider said. "You've got to go hunt."

On the whole, Snider said he was very pleased with the cooperative attitude being formed between himself, school superintendent Leonard Rezmierski, high school principal Tom Johnson and other school officials where school violence prevention was concerned.

But before push comes to shove, Snider said taking proper measure to ensure security within the school and on school grounds is the key to ensuring the safety of students and faculty. One such measure, he said, is to order lockdowns in the school if a crisis situation arises.

"You want to keep everyone in the school and locked in a room, if at all possible," Snider said. "The fewer random people you have roaming the hallways, the better."

Once the new Northville High School opens, Snider said there's a good chance a police liaison officer will be working in the building.

Snider said he had communicated at length with special education director Bob Sornson and high school assistant principal Dennis Colligan.

"Other school districts I've spoken with have all had very positive feedback about their police liaison programs," Snider said. "The key is to have students understand that a police officer is there for education, not just enforcement."

Snider said the presence of an officer in the building on a regular basis allows the police and students to form a stronger relationship and establish rapport. It also cuts down on the amount of response time needed to be taken in the event of a criminal complaint at a school, such as a fight or a stolen purse.

As for whether tightened security measures should be taken within the schools, such as metal detectors, armed security and perimeter fencing, Snider said more dialogue was necessary.

"The challenge today is to balance a safe learning environment without making it an institutional one," he said. "You don't want to make it a prison, but you also have to acknowledge that the days of having schools open and unsupervised until 9 p.m. have to stop. If you're serious about security, you know that you can no longer keep running the schools the way it's always been done."

Volunteers sought for senior party

Volunteers are sought for the Northville High School Senior Class All-Night Party.

The party starts 4 p.m. June 5 after graduation ceremonies. The cost for students to attend the event is $50.

The public may attend the event from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. to tour the high school, which will be transformed into the theme of this year's party. The theme won't be revealed until the night of the party.

Volunteers are still needed to run booths and help with security or donate gifts.

Library dedicates new artwork

'Skydance at the Western Gate' debuts during ceremony

By CHRIS C. DAVIS
Staff Writer

Eyes cast toward the ceiling, the Northville District Library's clerestory artwork, "Skydance at the Western Gate" was dedicated Sunday afternoon.

"Skydance," a silvery piece hung from the highest point in the library, invites the viewer to gaze up at the ceiling of the building and find the hidden word created from the biggest letters in the collage of smaller letters. It is primarily silver and white in color.

It was designed by Cranbrooke Academy of Art director Gerhardt Knodel, who was on hand for the dedication and brunch which preceded it.

Friends of Northville District Library president Lynn Parkllan said she was moved by the way the piece brought the outside world to the indoors.

"The art is another way to bring people together and make the library more than just a warehouse for books," she said. "You couldn't put that sort of thing in your house. It draws people from their homes into a central meeting place."

"Skydance" wasn't a cheap addition to the library, carrying a pricetag of some $30,000. Still, Parkllan said critics of the cost could take solace in knowing that the state of Michigan's standard recommendation was to budget 1 percent of a new building's construction cost to artwork. For the library, that would have amounted to around $45,000 — significantly more than what the library spent.

Furthermore, the cost of "Skydance" has been covered through private contributions, and is now only about $1,500 from being paid for, she said.

Parkllan said the addition of the artwork has taken full advantage of the 50-foot ceiling in the space. Many people speculated that the completed piece would hang from the ceiling into the open space at the bottom of the staircase, she said.

"It's something much more than just a part of the architecture," Parkllan said. "It's a very subtle piece that you have to take time out to appreciate. You can't just walk past it and give it a quick glance."

Brochures on "Skydance" are distributed at the circulation desk of the library.

Parks commission to mull skatepark

BY ANDREW DIETDERICH
Staff Writer

In-line skaters and skateboarders may be considered the Jet-skis of land recreation, but they need to go someplace too.

As a result, Northville Parks and Recreation is considering the possibility of building a facility for the oft-banned skaters.

Traci Sincock, director of the Northville Parks and Recreation, presented the idea to Northville City Council to see if it would be worth pursuing.

A site mentioned as a possibility for the skate park was within the Ford Field vicinity.

Members of the Parks and Recreation Commission have suggested a skateboard park and/or in-line skating facility be built in the area adjacent to the Fort Griswold playscape. The Parks and Recreation plan doesn't include any skating facilities.

A letter to the council indicates development of the skating facilities would require the investigation of insurance, liability, supervision and maintenance issues.

City council members didn't rule out the possibility of the skate park at its most recent meeting.

House legislators vote to approve mandatory seat belt use

By MIKE MALOTT
Staff Writer

You'll have to buckle up when you drive. Legislation to make enforcement of Michigan's mandatory seatbelt law subject to "primary enforcement" by police was approved last week by the state House of Representatives.

Since seatbelt use was first mandated in the 1980s, violations have been considered a "secondary offense," meaning police could not stop drivers for that reason. Tickets could only be written if police pulled a driver over for another reason.

Passage of Senate Bill 335, sponsored by Sen. Bill Bullard, R-Highland, means officers will be able to pull drivers over is they see the shoulder harness hanging unused inside the car.

The bill was approved by the House May 11 in a 68-42 vote. The Senate concurred later in the week to amendments added on the House floor. The bill is now headed to the governor for signature.

One amendment tacked on to the bill called for passing the cost savings, realized by insurance companies as a result of the legislation, on to the policy holders. According to the estimates offered by Bullard, primary enforcement of the seatbelt law will save a total of $170 million statewide annually, much of it as a result of lowered payouts from insurance companies to injured drivers and passengers.

Rep. Lingg Brewer, D-Holt, wanted the savings given back to policy holders. His amendment was approved in a 100-8 ballot.

Rep. Ruth Johnson, R-Holly, offered an amendment which would have altered the bill significantly, applying primary enforcement only if minors are unbuckled. Unbuckled adults would not have been subject to the primary enforcement. She believed that for adults, seatbelt use should be a matter of personal choice. Nonetheless, the House rejected her proposal.

According to Bullard, mandatory seatbelt use is the only traffic law considered to be subject to "secondary enforcement."

For all other violations, police already use primary enforcement, he said, pulling vehicles over when the violation is spotted.

Bullard estimates the change will save 100 lives per year and eliminate 3,000 injuries received in traffic accidents.

Bullard said he expects the change will raise compliance with Michigan's mandatory seatbelt law by 10 to 15 percent. At present, about 71 percent of Michigan actually wear their belts.

Reps. Nancy Cassis, R-Novi, Paul DeWeese, R-Williamston, Ruth Ann Jamnick, D-Ypsilanti, Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, and Judie Scranton, R-Brighton voted yes.

Rep. Ruth Johnson, R-Holly, voted no.

FRED E. KRUEGER

Fred E. Krueger, 80, of Northville Township died May 15 in Farmington Hills. He was born Dec. 26, 1918, in Highland Park, Mich., to Fred and Neva Marie (Rockwell) Krueger.

As a young man, Mr. Krueger enjoyed playing baseball and football. He and his family lived in Southfield for many years and enjoyed their summer cottage on Lake Huron in Tawas. Mr. Krueger had been employed at Ford Motor Co. and McRae Heating.

He is survived by sons, Gary (Virginia) of Plymouth, Dennis (Laura) of Pinconning, Frederick J. of Northville, Allen Keith of Oak Park, and Steven (Patricia) of Traverse City; daughter, Janet (William) Parent of Sheboygan, Wis.; brothers, Kenneth (Christine) of Novi and Walter (Rose Lynn) Godsell of Independence Township, Mich.; eight grandchildren and five great grandchildren; and special friend, Claudine Anderson of Northville Township.

Mr. Krueger was preceded in death by his wife, Verna in 1992, whom he married in July 1940.

Services were on Tuesday, May 18 at Schrader-Howell Funeral Home, Plymouth with the Rev. Dr. Dean Klump officiating. Interment was in Glen Eden Cemetery, Livonia.

Memorials to the Muscular Dystrophy Association would be appreciated.

MARY (NIRIDER) JONES

Mary Jones, 99, of Pompano Beach, Fla., and Northville died March 3 after a long illness. She was born in West Township, Ill., and attended Valparaiso University.

In 1923, Mrs. Jones and her husband built and operated the Jones Floral Co. and Greenhouse in Northville. She continued operation of the business following her husband's death until her retirement in 1973. The Jones Floral Co. was the only florist in Northville for many years and provided arrangements for local weddings and funerals. Her Northville memberships included Northville Lodge No. 186 F&AM, the First Methodist Church of Northville, Weslyan Guild, the Women's Club, Garden Club, and the Business and Professional Women's Association. Mrs. Jones was a life member of the Eastern Star.

According to the family, Mrs. Jones was a sweet and loving woman much loved by all. She will be missed.

Mrs. Jones will be survived by daughters, Gwendolyn Jones Marburger of Northville and Phyllis Coulter Lininger of Pompano Beach, Fla.; brother, Cecil Nirider of Brighton; sister, Thelma Nirider Ferguson of Plymouth; grandchildren, Kim and Randy Marburger, Mary Marburger Mullison, Garry Coulter, and Cynthia Coulter Bolin; nine great grandchildren and one great great grandchild.

She was preceded in death by her husband of 19 years, William Truman in 1938.

A memorial service will be held at 11 a.m., June 19 at Rural Hill Cemetery in Northville where she will be inurned next to her husband.

Memorials may be sent in her name to favorite charities.

JAMES D. CLARK

James D. Clark, 79, died May 18 at his residence in Northville/Lyon Township. He was born April 15, 1920, in London, Ontario, Canada, to John and Janet (McCoel Mitchell) Clark.

Mr. Clark lived most of his life in the area and was a Navy veteran. He was a farmer and an investor.

Mr. Clark is survived by his wife, Doris (Kusterer); son, James D. of Hamburg Township; daughters, Carol Lynn of Bloomfield Hills and Kay Darmofal of Leslie; two sisters, Agnes Boos of Saginaw and Helen Browne of Detroit; and six grandchildren.

Services were held on Friday, May 21 at Casterline Funeral Home Inc. of Northville. Milan George of Salem Bible Church, Salem officiated the service. Interment was in South Lyon Cemetery.

Memorials to Salem Bible Church, 9481 Six Mile Road, Salem, MI 48175 would be appreciated.

Senate approves Internet legislation

By MIKE MALOTT
Staff Writer

Criminals who use the Internet ‹ to solicit a minor, build a bomb or perpetrate other crimes ‹ will be subject to increased penalties under a package of bills finalized by the state Senate last week.

The five bills received strong support from Senators last week and are on their way to the governor for a final signature. Among them were:

Senate Bill 7, sponsored by Sen. Mike Rogers, R-Howell, which makes it a felony to use the Internet to solicit, abduct or assault a minor child. A first offense would get a criminal an additional two years in jail. Later offenses would bring an additional five years.

Senate Bill 562, also by Rogers, adds a two-year penalty for a person who uses the Internet to build a bomb.

Senate Bill 117, by Sen. Bev Hammerstrom, R-Temperance, prohibits the distribution of pornography to minors over the Internet.

House Bill 4197, by Rep. Nancy Cassis, R-Novi, allows libraries to offer restricted access Internet services to minors. Adults would still be given unrestricted access.

House Bill 4345, by Rep. Jim Howell, R-St. Charles, sets sentencing guidelines for crimes over the Internet involving minors.

Rogers explained that use of the Internet is being targetted because of the access it provides to criminals who want to target children.

"The Internet gives them access to our living rooms. We invite them into our homes. Many are using the Internet to increase their access to kids," he said.

The main bill in the package, Senate Bill 7, was approved in a 32-0 vote Wednesday, May 12.

St. John's Golf Center is expected to draw plenty of customers when it opens mid-summer.

New Plymouth golf development to offer state-of-the-art amenities

By CHRIS C. DAVIS
Staff Writer

BUILDING NORTHVILLE

Okay, so it's not entirely in Northville Township. As a matter of fact, only about 13 acres of St. John's Golf Center actually are.

But that doesn't change the fact that a landmark facility in Plymouth Township is expanding and renovating, and a portion of that conversion does involve Northville Township.

A good portion of the work for the golf and family center is already underway and should be ready by mid-summer. Architect Bill Pulte said the completed product should make a lot of people very happy.

"There are probably a number of people out there who played the St. John's course once or twice and haven't been back in a while," he said. "We've really upgraded the course a great deal."

The focus point of the facility is an old brick building used as a seminary by the Diocese of Detroit up until the late 1970s. Closed down because of a smaller number of rising maintenance costs, church leaders made the decision to move ahead with a project to convert a portion of the facility into a youth and family center. Pulte and other architects, as well as community leaders were called in to help master plan the large piece of property.

The result? A four-part complex that is now in the final phase of initial development.

"These are gorgeous buildings on the inside," Pulte said. "Plymouth Township has been very cooperative on this project. They wanted to maintain the old exterior magnificence of the buildings. We've done as little destruction as possible to the great architecture of the place."

The portions of the facility include:

- The youth and family center, which provides overnight accommodations for families and couples. Classes for adolescents, family life and tightening marital bonds are offered.
- An increase from 18 to 27 holes of public golf, now known as St. John's Golf Course. The new nine holes are located on the north side of Five Mile Road, in Northville Township. New restroom facilities and concession stands have been constructed on the course.
- A pro shop, which Pulte said would offer an array of brands of golf clubs and accessories, many of which couldn't be purchased in most retail establishments.
- A convention center — a building Pulte said is in high demand in the western Wayne County area, but is difficult to locate.

The golf course and World of Golf facility will be opened by mid-summer, with the conference center ready to go by September of 2000, Pulte said.

Northville Township receives high bond rating from firm

By CHRIS C. DAVIS
Staff Writer

Northville Township's financial outlook was given two pieces of good news last week: an improved bond rating and a clean bill of health from its independent accounting firm.

Much like an improved credit rating for an individual, Northville Township's bond rating was boosted last month from "BBB+" to "A."

Township finance director Thelma Kubitskey said the ratings are generated from Standard & Poor's Register of Corporations. The organization reviews the bond ratings of individual communities.

Because of the township's relatively healthy financial past and promising financial future, the rating was given a shot in the arm, Kubitskey said.

"What this does is give us a chance for better bond sales," she said. "It won't necessarily give us the opportunity to do bigger projects, but it will perhaps earn us a lower interest rate from banks that purchase the bonds."

She gave the analogy of an individual's credit report being improved over time. Where a weaker report may have forced a higher interest rate in a home purchase, a better report more often means being offered the better rates.

"This allows us to get a better sale on the bonds," Kubitskey said.

And as far as Ann Arbor-based Plante & Moran is concerned, Northville Township appeared to be in stable financial shape.

Representatives from the group made an appearance at last week's township board of trustees meeting, delivering the results of an audit of 1998 finances. A cover letter dated March 16 gave an overview of the findings.

"The township has continued to make significant progress in the financial condition of the general fund and in the ability to provide general government and public safety services of the highest quality to the township residents," the letter said. "We compliment you on the progress made."

The report did note a $10,000 retained earnings deficit in the water and sewer department. Working capital at the end of 1998 was pegged at $6.8 million. Almost $3 million was taken in by the township last year for the cost of new tap-ins. The report said that debt service requirements were favorably impacted to to early debt retirement by the Wayne Townships Utilities Association project.

"On this basis, the water and sewer fund appears to be in relatively healthy condition," the report said.

Kubitskey said she was pleased with the report's findings.

"This is a reflection of better spending plans and more control over what we spend money on," Kubitskey said. "The prior board (of trustees) had a smaller fund balance than the one we have now. That's an indication of being very cautious of what's being bought."

Kubitskey said the board did itself help in buying the former Comerica bank-now finance office adjacent to the township Civic Center. She also said the report noted the township's continued search for land to be purchased

What types of parks do we want?

Leaders, community members focus on future of recreation

BY ANDREW DIETDERICH
Staff Writer

The Northville area strikes out when it comes to recreation, according to National Recreation and Park Association/Michigan Recreation Opportunity Standards.

However, attempts are being made to change the strikeouts into home runs.

From Northville Mayor Chris Johnson, to Northville Township supervisor Karen Woodside, to Northville Parks and Recreation Director Traci Sincock to a group of citizens known at The Futuring Project, many different entities are hard at work determining what exactly the community needs.

"Our residents have told us they want to see recreation continue to expand," Woodside said. "And we want to continue to offer a diverse variety of activities that add to an excellent quality of life."

But the entire Northville area fails in many areas when it comes to the amount of recreation the area should have based on the National Recreation and Park Association/Michigan Recreation Opportunity Standards.

According to the standards which are based on population, the Northville area is short an indoor and outdoor swimming pool, an indoor ice rink, a track, more than 50 acres of land and seven parks, among other things.

The Northville area does exceed the recommendations in some areas.

For instance, there are 22 more soccer fields than the recommendation, eight more basketball courts and eight more baseball fields.

Woodside said the key to meeting the recommended standards depends on one thing — land.

"We need to acquire more land in order to meet those national standards for recreation and development," she said.

Northville Township has acquired about 70 acres of land already this year.

"Most of it will be used for recreation," Woodside said. "Not all of it, but most of it."

Johnson said with little room to grow in the city of Northville, cooperation with the township is necessary.

"I'd like to see more facilities in which to put on all the programming because we have as many people as we can put into the ones we have," he said. "That doesn't just mean more buildings but fields and parks as well."

What exactly goes on the land recently acquired, or other land owned by Northville Township or the city of Northville, remains to be seen.

Woodside said residents have indicated an interest in ice rinks, more bike and walking paths and more park space in general. Interest also has been expressed in relocating the area's community center within the township due in part to the amount of space the township offers, Woodside said.

Woodside said township and parks and recreation officials have been touring community centers around metro Detroit and the country to get ideas for what works in a community center and what doesn't.

Sincock said interest has been expressed to her in having more swimming options than the Northville High School, la crosse teams and a skateboard/in-line skating facility. Additionally, she said the area is short on baseball and soccer fields.

But Sincock said before any concrete decisions are made, officials are turning to the people for input.

"The community has to tell us what they want," she said. "To really be a benefit to the community, residents need to tell us how we can better our services."

We've got the plan, now what do we do?

BY ANDREW DIETDERICH
Staff Writer

When it comes to getting Northville area residents to help with a recreation planning project, Tom Swigart said the energy just isn't there.

Despite a lack of enthusiasm for participation in The Futuring Project, Swigart said, the group has put together two scenarios for where the recreation might head.

Still, he said, more people would've made the project more effective.

"There just weren't the numbers of people stepping forward that we'd hoped," Swigart said. "The energy just isn't there if you don't have the involvement of a large portion of the community."

With The Futuring Project the goal was to have as many members of the community as possible brainstorm to come up with ideas as to where they would like to see recreation go.

The ideas then would be combined to come up with scenarios as to where recreation should head.

However, only seven groups participated in the process and only about 200 people volunteered time for it.

"We literally expected several thousand people to participate," Swigart said.

Those who did participate came up with two scenarios for where recreation should head.

The first scenario is a decentralized recreation program whereby bikes paths, parks and facilities are spread throughout the community wherever possible.The second scenario involves a centralized recreation program whereby recreation would be designed like a hub with a new community center as the focal point.

The new center would include swimming pools, basketball and volleyball courts, and hockey rinks. Bike and walking paths would lead to the community center.

Now that the data's been collected Swigart said people are needed to help organize it into a final form.

"We need to summarize the data collected and go through it with the parks and recreation commission," Swigart said.

Emergencies, by definition, are not predictable. They are circumstances that call for instant attention from resources immediately at hand. So, in the unforeseen case that my son was to become an injury victim, Botsford is where I'd want him to be. Not just because I'm here. But because of everybody else that's here. More than just a place with an emergency department, Botsford is an Emergency Center where every physician is board-certified. And a full-service hospital supports our Emergency Center with lab, x-ray and surgical capabilities plus specialists and sub-specialists. Naturally, I hope my son never becomes an injury victim or is stricken by sudden illness. But should an emergency happen, I know that Botsford is where he can count on finding the right face for the right care.

District honors retiring teachers

"There are just so many competent people in the district."

Even though it's been a number of years since she earned her degrees, LeBoeuf said she's never stopped learning.

"When you teach different classes it forces you to refresh what you've learned already as well as pick up new things," she said. "Then the students really learn."

LeBoeuf said over the years she's changed her teaching habits by being more open to student suggestions.

"Right when you start everything has got to be by the book," she said. "Then you start to experiment to see what really works and what doesn't."

Additionally, LeBoeuf said she's grown to have exceptional leadership skills through her experiences with the union.

"I've really enjoyed working with people to help them find solutions to problems," she said.

It's those relationships with coworkers as well as with her students that LeBoeuf said she will miss the most when she leaves Northville in June for her new home in Florida.

George Aune plans to stay in the Northville area after he rounds out the school year.

He said he will continue to attend Northville High School sporting events and musicals.

"I really enjoy seeing how the kids perform outside of the classroom," he said.

The U.S. history teacher has been in Northville for 22 years including a number of years as principal at Northville High School.

He graduated from Northern Michigan University in 1959 with his bachelor's degree and earned his master's degree in 1965 from Eastern Michigan University.

He moved from the principal's office in 1985 back into the classroom.

"When you're an administrator you're making decisions on issues that affect a lot of people," he said. "When you're a teacher you're making decisions on issues that affect your students."

Even though he plans to maintain contact with Northville High School, he will continue to travel places he hasn't been yet, such as the Grand Canyon.

"There are still a lot of things I want to see," Aune said.

The other six teachers who will retire at the end of this year are Bob Sharrar, Wayne Saunders, Dave Johnson, Stephanie Walker, John Edwards and Mike Burley.

Northville Public Schools will be saying goodbye to 19 employees, who are retiring at the end of the current school year.

Overdose hospitalizes Northville teenager

Recently, GHB has been abused as a way to get high. The drug causes the user to encounter euphoric or hallucinatory states with a false sense of realty including feelings of great happiness and well-being. The drugs is also abused by individuals who put it in unsuspecting women's drinks for the purpose of committing sexual assault.

Overdoses oftentimes are indicated by incoherent speech, extreme vomiting, seizures and may lead to a comatose state.

GHB was added to the list of Schedule I drugs in July 1998.

That means any individuals caught delivering, possessing with intent to deliver, or manufacturing the drug will be given up to seven years in prison and/or up to a $10,000 fine.

Individuals possessing the drugs face two years in prison and/or a $2,000 fine. Individuals using the drug face one year in jail and/or a $1,000 fine.

According to the Northville Police report, a nurse at St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia confirmed the student had overdosed on GHB. Additionally, the student's mother said he will be admitted to a drug rehabilitation program.

An educator from the Organization for Bat Conservation shows of a brown bat to an assembly of youngsters at the Northville District Library last week. In addition to learning about what bats eat, where they live, and how they find their food, the kids got to see up close, a couple of types of bats including a relatively large Egyptian Fruit Bat.

TIPS program set to debut this month

BY ANDREW DIETDERICH
Staff Writer

Northville police officer Rich Rogowski doesn't take a "Gotcha!" kind of approach to the department's decoy test for underage drinking.

In fact, he wouldn't mind not writing any tickets during the department's upcoming decoy test at all.

As a result, the Northville police department has taken a proactive approach to cutting the number of businesses cited for selling alcohol to minors. The department is doing so through an education program called TIPS.

"Instead of just going into businesses and writing violations we want to take a proactive approach to educating business owners," Rogowski said.

TIPS, or Training for Intervention Procedures, was sponsored at the Northville city hall by Central Distributors of Beer Inc., which serves western Wayne County. The program is designed to teach or remind business owners and workers about whom they can and can't sell alcohol to.

The class, held May 12, was the second presented to Northville businesses. The first class was designed for restaurants and bars. The second class was designed for party and grocery stores.

Of the 16 businesses in Northville that have liquor licenses, a total of six took the extra step to learn more about selling alcohol.

Restaurants and bars represented at the first meeting included: Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall, 110 E. Main St.; the Starting Gate, 135 N. Center St.; the Wagon Wheel, 216 S. Main St.

Party stores and grocery stores represented at the second meeting included: Hamlet Food Mart, 1051 Novi Road; Good Time Party Store Inc., 567 Seven Mile Road; Hiller's Shopping Center Market, 425 N. Center St.

"We offer the education and when we're done with that we start sending the decoys in to the businesses," Rogowski said.

Bill Ventola, special programs coordinator for Central Beer Distributors, was the presenter of the two-hour program.

"We sell a product where the potential for abuse exists," Ventola said. "So we want to educate people on the responsible use of alcohol."

During the presentation attendees were reminded of the signs of drunk shoppers and how to prevent the sale of alcohol to minors. Videos showed several vignettes of how to handle both situations, from the angry drunk to the passive drunk to the teen trying to buy beer.

The video also instructed workers how to deal with each situation effectively.

Jim Roth, owner of Good Time Party Store, said even though he's been selling alcohol for more than 30 years, he's goes to programs such as TIPS whenever he can.

"We are all creatures of habit," he said. "So anything that's more informative to help our people and myself stay on top of things is good and I wouldn't hesitate to attend."

More information on education programs may be obtained by calling the Northville police at (248) 349-1700.

Schools graduate students from DARE program

By CHRIS C. DAVIS
Staff Writer

The latest crop of Northville Students completing the Drug Abuse Resistance Education program were saluted Sunday night at Northville High School.

Lead by DARE officer Matt Mayes, the group made personal commitments to avoid drugs in their lives, and demonstrated the eight methods of saying no when confronted with the chance to use drugs.

Sunday's group was one of the largest to date. Among the graduates:

AMERMAN ELEMENTARY:

COOKE MIDDLE SCHOOL:

Marie Ambler, Stephen Berry, Conrad Bowman, Tommy Daigneau, Justin Gambee, Andy Koupal, Michael Kreager, Christina Miklos, David Person, Robbie Riehl, Matt Roberts, Robby Sheehan and Eric Simiox.

MEADS MILL MIDDLE SCHOOL:

Steven Besk, Lindsay Cohen, Ashley Crawford, Chelsea Cummings, Amanda Darish, Kara Elder, Bret Fortuna, Emma Kidder, Tim Long, Andrew Monticello, Eric Smith, Chris Stilwell, Matt Ward and John Fitz.

Township to install new gas tank

To most people, the decision to purchase a new gasoline and diesel fuel storage tank just isn't that impressive.

But Northville Township treasurer Dick Henningsen was beaming from ear to ear last week when the township board made such a decision, ending a project that for him had spanned more than a decade.

"You have no idea how long I've worked on this," Henningsen said, smiling.

The 15-foot tank will look very similar to an oversized propane tank used on barbecues. Township public services director Don Weaver said the 3,000 tank is double-walled and will cost approximately $30,000 to install.

The tank is needed because of changing regulations by state and federal environmental regulators.

"This was all being done to modernize," Weaver said.

The new tank will be placed by the public services building and will be the fueling station for DPS vehicles. The new tank will be used to replace three pedestal-mounted tanks currently in use.

The $30,000 bid was the lowest of three taken. Weaver said the installation will include the placement of a concrete pad upon which the tank will sit. It is slated for installation sometime this summer, he said.

Northville bands take top honors

"Wow! Great performance!"

"It was really neat to see the state level judges reaffirm what the kids scored at the district level," Rumbell said.

Rumbell has been teaching band at Northville for 26 years and the closest to achieving what he achieved this year was when he took two bands to the state competition that both scored division I.

"We've never taken three bands that scored division I," he said.

There are about 70 students in the ninth grade bands, about 60 in the tenth grade band and 75 in the upper-level band.

Leonard Rezmierski, superintendent of Northville schools, said district administration is pleased with the performance of the high school bands.

"We're extremely pleased with the integrity of the effort," he said. "It's a wonderful reflection of how they feel about themselves. We're as proud of the bands as anything else we've ever done."

Candidates to discuss viewpoints

izens to be given the opportunity to get to know the people running," he said. "This is a great opportunity for anyone to come and listen to the candidates."

The format of the debate will include an opportunity for candidates to explain why they're running for school board as well as answer questions from the audience. The moderator will be James Petrie, member of the Wayne County RESA school board and former Northville board of education member.

"It's very important for parents to have the opportunity to hear what the candidates have to say in person because it's important that we have well-informed people heading into the voting booths," said Diane Farquhar, chairman of the local Legislative Action Network.

OPINION

Protecting our students begins in Michigan homes

A recent poll by CNN, USAToday and Gallup indicates 79 percent believe the school shootings in Littleton, Colo. are a sign that something is seriously wrong with this country. It's said that youthful offenders mirror the ills of this society.

But what can a school community do? Install metal detectors and post guards at each door? Schools have roughly 60 to 120 doors. And even if that were possible, how would such drastic measures affect the school environment?

The survey highlighted the following:

• Reducing access to firearms. The anti-gun lobby says violence is due to easy access to guns. But the National Rifle Association disagrees. Their leadership says that more than 20,000 gun laws already exist and more money must be spent on prosecution.

• Entertainment industry profits. Parents and activists point their finger at the violent influences in music and movies while the federal government and educators say there's a "modeling effect" from violent movies and television.

• Internet high road versus cyberspace low road. The Internet leads to yet another quagmire for teachers and parents. And while computers offer young people instant information and communication, they can distance children from the real world and alienate them from families and friends.

There is no single answer to violence, but along with the schools, it is vital that we have the help of the community, churches and parents to address the challenges. There are excellent school-based programs like Quest and DARE that promote civility, tolerance and conflict resolution strategies for our youth to use. There are steps that parents can follow at home and school as we collaborate on the issue:

• Involve your child in setting rules for appropriate behavior at home and school.

• Talk with your child about the violence he or she sees on television, movies and video games.

• Help your child understand the consequences of violence.

• Help your child find ways to express anger that do not involve verbally and physically hurting others.

> It's said that youthful offenders mirror the ills of society. But what can a community do?

• Help your child to understand the value of accepting individual differences.

• Note any disturbing behavior in your child. For example, frequent anger outbursts, cruelty to animals, fire setting, frequent behavior problems at school and in the neighborhood, lack of friends, and alcohol and drug use can be signs of a serious problem.

•Get help for your child. Talk to a professional in your child's school or church.

• Listen to your child if he or she shares concerns about friends who may be exhibiting troubling behavior. Share this information with a trusted professional, such as a school counselor, principal or teacher.

• Be involved in your student's school life by supporting and reviewing homework, talking with his or her teachers and attending PTA and other school functions.

• Encourage your child to participate in after-school activities.

Unlike many art projects, 'Skydance' is a winner

Cast your eyes skyward.

"Skydance At The Western Gate" is the newly-dedicated piece of artwork hanging in the clerestory of the Northville District Library. It's rather inconspicuous unless a person looks up, at which point it takes up almost an entire field of vision.

We know of hardly any complaints about the appearance of the piece, but have been informed that criticism has been sharp at times regarding the $30,000 price tag for the item.

We're here to let the critics know in on a couple of things they may not have been aware of: first, the state of Michigan suggests that 1 percent of construction costs of new buildings be designated for artwork. Even at $30,000, that's far less than a full 1 percent of the cost of the library.

Second, Friends of the Northville District Library are within some $1,500 of paying for the entire item, all of which was covered through private contributions.

In essence, the project is costing less than what it should have, is (in the minds of most people) an attractive addition to the library and is not being paid for by taxpayers. It's hard to find something to object to when you put all that together.

In this instance, it appears as if the Northville District Library has hit on all cylinders, and deserves our congratulations.

It must be noted, however, that certain other public projects haven't fared as well. Across the nation, it's happening with increasing frequency that artists commissioned to create a piece for a building have developed something that deeply offends certain persons or costs some enormous amount of money to make.

Our leaders in Northville and Northville Township would be wise to make certain the art they want for their buildings is reflective of what their constituents desire.

Art, when used properly, greatly enhances the appearance of a room. But like a tacky joke told at a party, the wrong stuff can foul the mood at a mind-boggling rate.

For the here and now, we encourage residents to stop by the library and admire Gerhardt Knodel's work. We're confident that patrons big and small will enjoy what the piece adds.

Sometimes I wonder why I wonder

Andrew Dietderich

Sometimes I wonder what really matters to some people in Northville.

Sometimes I'm amazed at what I find out.

For instance I took a call the other day from a Northville resident on Boulder Circle who had concerns about an article I wrote in the May 13 issue of The Northville Record.

It was the article about the 66-year-old man who was arrested for indecent exposure just a few feet away from Cooke Middle School while children played soccer. The man was naked, waving to students and groping himself in a large bay window and was witnessed doing so by Northville Police.

The anonymous female caller who called me admitted the neighbors "all knew there was a problem" with the man. However, her concerns weren't about the fact an elderly man was exposing himself to the children.

What she expressed to me was how dismayed she was to see the address of the man printed in the newspaper because it may lower the property value of condos in the neighborhood.

Sometimes I wonder what really matters to some Northville residents.

A while back I took another call about an article I wrote. This article was about a 16-year-old boy who worked at a local party store and was caught stealing alcohol for his friends. Again I wrote the story identifying the fact that the kid lives on Ironwood Court.

The mother called me with concerns that "everyone will know it was my son" and she was very concerned about what other people in the neighborhood would think.

Sometimes I wonder what really matters to some people in Northville.

A city council member called me last week with legitimate concerns about how volunteer programs in Northville are going to start disappearing and with it will come a sagging quality of life.

"I look around and I see a general state of apathy," he said.

From the Northville Arts Commission, to helping run Mill Race, to working at the Northville High School senior all night party, to organizing the Fourth of July parade, to organizing the Victorian festival, he said, groups that require volunteers are slowly dying.

"It makes it very hard to run a community," the council member said.

But then again volunteering may not directly affect property value and neighborhood status.

Sometimes I really do wonder what matters most to some Northville residents.

Meanwhile in the real world, a May 20 article in the Detroit Free Press highlights a family of five refugees from Kosovo living with another family of five in a Farmington Hills two-bedroom apartment. The family is lucky to be alive and marvels at such facts as how big a coney hot dog is, the article said.

Meanwhile, families and friends of Columbine High School students who were killed in a senseless act of murder have begun the grieving process that will last for years, possibly forever.

Meanwhile, people in other parts of the country seem to be continually rebuilding their homes and lives after they are lost to menacing storms and weather.

Sometimes I wonder what really matters most to some, just some, people in Northville.

Sometimes I wish I didn't know.

Prom awaits...

Sara, a Northville High School senior, gets her hair done at Kay and Co., before heading to prom.

When things go wrong with facilitators

G. Michael Abbott

I had two speakers lined up for the final meeting of the Westwood New Teachers Program last week, both principals, and both with reputations for being good speakers. I knew the evening was all set.

Principals, I've learned, are a great resource for things like this. Usually I have back-up plans, but this time I felt confident that all would go well.

If one didn't show, the other could speak longer. I couldn't make my usual posters of the agenda because my arm was in a sling, the result of recent surgery. I couldn't carry my usual boxes of facilitator junk for the same reason. So I went in unarmed. Or at least one-armed.

My ice breakers started to run thin after 15 minutes. The teachers knew that I was tap-dancing, waiting for the speakers to arrive. I confessed that I was doing just that and tried to make a lesson out of.

What Do You Do if Your Lesson Plan Fails? That failed miserably. The new teachers were getting restless. I looked at the clock and so did they. I'd made it to 25 minutes. Great. An hour and 35 minutes to tap-dance if the principals didn't show up.

Then the secretary knocked at the door. Not one, but BOTH speakers couldn't make it. A death in the family or something, was one reason.

Now I really started to tap-dance. Let's tell some anecdotes from our first year of teaching, I suggested, trying to make it sound exciting. They looked bored and restless. I could see they didn't like giving up an evening to watch me tap-dance. I was afraid they might turn on me.

I thought I'd warm them to the anecdote idea by telling one on myself.

I embellished on this true story from my first year of teaching: A boy asked me to open his pop bottle.Remember, this was back in the days when openers were needed. None of us had a opener. I confidently placed the edge of the cap against a concrete picnic table and slammed my hand down on it, causing a geyser of pop to erupt. The boy jammed the foaming bottle into his mouth. Foam and BLOOD poured out of his mouth. I had decapitated the glass bottle and the boy had cut his mouth on the glass. Fortunately it wasn't serious.

I thought we could discuss ways of avoiding this and similar situations.

They still looked bored. A glimmer of interest, but still bored. Now what stories do you have? No one stirred. Eyes moved downward when I searched the room for volunteers.

Well, I thought, I'll tell another story, this one about the teacher who stood by the door to be sure the kids would pick up the materials they were using before they went to lunch. They all went out the window.

A bare flicker of interest in the story.

I pleaded for volunteers again, this time I decided to wait until I got some cooperation. We waited. And waited. And waited. I hoped no one would go out the window. Usually, though, if we waited long enough, someone would feel sorry for me and finally volunteer. Sure enough, an attractive young woman volunteered. Before she could speak, I asked her to wait. I wanted to make a lesson out of the need to wait long enough for people to think, instead of talking or taking the first waving hand that appears. They knew I was furiously tap-dancing now. Then the young teacher told about separating two boys who were fighting, so we discussed the problems of touching, innocent touches, and the dangers of separating fighting teenagers. My tap-dance might be over if others would contribute, I thought.

Instead,one of the teachers, noticing that I was still feebly tap-dancing, said, "Mr. Abbott, I know the Superintendent personally. She has an office down the hall. May I ask her to talk to us?"

Of course I let her, knowing that my tap-dance had run its course, and Dr. Equilla Bradford, 20 years as Superintendent, and "Dean" of Wayne County Superintents, graciously appeared, taking our questions and giving her views on a number of subjects. She had the rapt attention of the teachers. They gave her a standing ovation. We celebrated the year and passed out certificates. The last meeting couldn't have been better.

School reform, yes — this one, no way

Make no mistake about it. A carefully planned, well financed plot to use public tax dollars to finance private or religious schools is under way.

Kids First! Yes! an outfit based in Midland and financed by multimillionaire Dick DeVos, has launched a drive to force a statewide vote that would allow public money to be spent on vouchers for tuition at private or parochial schools.

If the necessary 302,000 valid signatures from registered voters are filed with the Secretary of State, Michigan voters will vote in November, 2000 whether to approve changes in the Constitution that would:

- Repeal the ban on vouchers, tax credits or other public funding for nonpublic schools that was adopted statewide by voters in 1972.
- Limit school vouchers to about half state and local per pupil spending in public schools - currently about $6,000. Any extra costs for private schools would have to come from parents, churches and other groups.
- Require vouchers to be offered in 38 "failing" school districts, such as Detroit and Pontiac, where graduation rates are extra low.
- Allow voters or local school boards in other communities to decide whether they want to use vouchers.

DeVos, president of Amway Corp. and a former member of the State Board of Education, says Kids First! Yes! will spend $5 million "and go north from there" in the drive. Teachers unions and other education groups will mount fierce opposition. The result: "This might be the most expensive ballot campaign in Michigan history," according to

Phil Power

Bill Ballenger, editor of Inside Michigan Politics.

The Kids First! Yes! spin strategy is to present the measure as a perfectly reasonable way to empower poor parents whose kids are trapped in failing schools. Clever! This seemingly compassionate rationale masks a nothing less than a direct attempt to get public dollars to fund the income of nonpublic schools.

Some indication of the smooth planning behind the measure can be gained by noting the timing and sequence of the announcement PR blitz. George Weeks, political reporter for The Detroit News, led off with a front page story on April 25. On April 26, Cardinal Adam Maida announced his support for the campaign. And on April 27, The Detroit News ran a favorable editorial.

And there's a semi-secret end game in this plot. Having repealed the Constitutional ban on public funding for private schools, advocates for parochiald plan on turning to the legislature, where a law enabling universal tax credits for private school tuition can be passed with just 20 votes in the Senate and 56 in the House.

Now I get as frustrated as anyone at the slow and uncertain pace of reform in the public schools. The extreme measure of replacing the entire elected school board in Detroit shows just how entrenched petty school boards and powerful unions are in resisting efforts to improve public K-12 performance. That's why I think charter schools are a worthwhile experiment and a way to keep the pressure on for school reform.

But, mark my words. If we pass a wholesale voucher plan, it will siphon off public tax dollars to fund private and religious schools in Michigan and weaken the public schools as a whole. It's a reform strategy akin to the doctrine from the war in Vietnam that we had "to destroy the village in order to save it."

Sure, parents now choosing to pay the tuition bill for their kids to attend religious or elite private schools would welcome a publicly-funded voucher to pick up part of the tab. And lots of parents in urban areas where the schools are lousy and the pace of reform is all to slow are terribly frustrated at the few good options available to their kids.

But all this pales in the face of what kind of damage could be done to our society if we wind up destroying the entire public school system in Michigan.

Appreciation for 'Friends' auction contributors

To the Editor:

The Friends of Northville Parks and Recreation have successfully concluded their seventh annual Dinner Auction held at Schoolcraft College on April 24. The event raised more than $50,000. This year, those funds will be used to pay the remaining amounts needed to construct the facilities building at Community Park and install lights on the baseball and soccer fields at that site.

An event of this magnitude was successful because of the extreme generosity of the donors who provided the auction items. We would especially like to thank Dick Rose of Motor City Harley Davidson for providing the Harley Davidson Sportster, the premier item of the auction. We also would like to thank the following auction item donors: Edward Jones & Co., Bill and Bonnie Hartsock, Alan and Sharon Ferrara, Metro Mortgage Corp., Occidental Development, P.M.C. Machinery Inc., Kirklands West L.L.C., Stonewater L.L.C., Glynn Travel, Northville Pizza Cutter, Little Caesar's Pizza of Northville, Hungry Howie's Pizza, Ron Aldrich, U Take the Cake, AMC Theaters, Cerretani Landscaping, NBD Bank, Pat Milliken Ford, City of Northville Fire Department, Orin Jewelers, The Northville Record, Jerome & Austin P.C., Northville Auto Wash, Plymouth Marketplace, Brian Turnbull, Detroit Pistons, Mark Abbo, Dave and Sherri Farhat, Emily's Restaurant, Northville Carriage Co., Costco, William Demray, Nancy Lamers, Beuter's Outdoors, Urban Optiks, Meadowbrook Country Club, Bill and Mary Spencer, Home Depot, Northville Travel, Media One, Livonia Marriott, Genitti's, Danna Construction, Long Mechanical, Northville High School Choir, Schoolcraft College, Michigan National Bank, Rick and Sue Shaffner, Fitness Things, Castle Landscape, Benchmark, Browning Ferris Industries, Wade and Denise Johnson, Jim and Judy Kohl, Penelope Weaver, Tom and Linda Handyside, Heidivers, Hungry Howie's, Bill Brown, Northville Stitching Post, Ladies in Waiting, David and Kathi Jerome, Barbara Willoughby, Rick Gignac Sports, St. John's Golf Club, NY Deli, Guardian Industries, Mark Greenman, Lou LaRiche Chevrolet, Embassy Suites, Bonfire Bistro, Detroit Edison, McNeely & Lincoln, Mark's Outdoor Power Equipment, Fox Hills Country Club, Pat Milliken Ford, Grand Rental Station, Commercial Law Mower, Starting Gate Saloon, Water Wheel Health Club, Janet Goldberg, Detroit Tigers, Terry and Laurie Marrs, Meijer's Inc., Black's Hardware, Salem Hills Golf Course, Johnson & Roseti P.C., Northville Parks and Recreation, Sen. This event was made successful not only by the donors but by the restaurants who donate for the fantastic dinner. We would like to thank: Woolly Bully's, Little Italy, Schoolcraft College, Genitti's, Edward's Caterers, great Harvest Bread, Meisel/Sysco, Parmenter's Cider Mill, and Good Time Party Store/Custard Time.

A program like this takes a great deal of work in preparation. We would like to thank the following volunteers: Denise Baldwin, Rick and Lynn Betker, Sara Downey, Sue Egan, Rikki Gans, Yvonne Hughes, Bill and Audrey Jenney, Kathi Jerome, Theresa King, Northville High school National Honor Society, Kristen Shaffner, Traci Sincock, Sharon Smith, Bill Spencer, Susan Storey, Mike Weaver, and Matt Witowski.

Special thanks to our leaders and chairman emeritus - Marv Gans and Mark King.

Congress should address gun problem

To the editor:

Here are places where, in the too recent past, school children have been victims of other children who with guns blazing indiscriminately killed or maimed students and, in some cases, teachers: Pearl, MS; West Paducah, Ky.; Jonesboro, Ariz.; Edinboro, Pa.; Fayetteville, Tenn.; Springfield, Ore.; Notus, Idaho; Littleton, Colo.; and on May 19, Conyers, Ga. When will it all end?

These events emphasize the need for Congress to close the loopholes that allow the underaged, the mentally ill, or felons from purchasing handguns.

It is a sad commentary on the perspicacity of some members of our Congress who, catering to NRA's munificent largess, have closed their eyes to the problem of guns in the hands of children.

Perhaps we should, at last rightly, reinterpret Amendment II of our Constitution. It states: "A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed." That was then. Today, the question is: Are the millions of sun owners n our country to be called "A well regulated militia?" Is not each state's National Guard unit the "well regulated militia" intended by the Constitution? Go figure.

Understanding mental illness

To the editor:

Do you know what Abraham Lincoln, Virginia Woolf, Beethoven, Leo Tolstoy, John Keats, Byron, Tennessee Williams, Vincent Van Gogh, Patty Duke, Charles Dickens, Mike Wallace, Art Buchwald, Winston Churchill, William Styron, Rod Steiger, Ted Turner, Dick Clark and Tipper Gore all have in common? They are just a few names of people who have suffered from some form of mental illness.

The need for community understanding is at an all time high for the families and those who suffer from mental illness.

Through the help of the media the stigma associated with mental illness can be eradicated. Information must be communicated in such a way that people understand the brain is an organ that can become diseased like any other part of the body.

The Alliance for the Mentally Ill (AMI) of Oakland County provides many services to the families of and consumers with mental illness. It is equally important that AMI's existence be realized within the community.

We need to communicate to the general public that we are here, that mental illness cannot be cured with love and a hug but can be successfully treated...just like cancer, AIDS, heart disease and diabetes.

Chemical imbalance, mood disorder, clinical depression, regardless how you choose to define mental illness, it is a disease of the brain. I urge you to assist AMI in communicating that mental illness can no longer be ignored. With continual support and proper treatment, consumers can not only lead full and product lives, but also contribute to our lives as evident by the people named above.

I can communicate future bulletins and announcements through fax, e-mail or U.S. mail. Please advise me of the most convenient way to communicate with you in the future.

Mary Ellen Judd, Publicity

Genitti's are special people

To the editor:

Genitti's is what makes Northville extra special. When we moved here, Genitti's was a butcher shop and Andy Genitti was in a bassinet next to the meat counter. It probably has never even occurred to them what an impact they have had on our family. We have had two wedding rehearsal dinners there, a baby shower, John's surprise retirement party, grandpa's 85th birthday party, a friend's 60th surprise birthday party - all meaningful events in the Conder family. When my mom died, guess who was there. They are very special people and Northville is blessed to have them as part of our community.

Connie Conder

Managing growth is important

To the editor:

I suppose I can be classified as one who exemplifies the sentiment "I've got mine, now pull up the drawbridge" when it comes to urban sprawl. In 1948 when we couldn't find a house to rent of afford to buy in Detroit, we purchased a home,two blocks north of Eight mile Road.

Friends said we were moving out in the country. Since then we have been a part of the exodus to the suburbs purchasing homes in two different blossoming communities. In 1972, we moved to Northville Township to once again move to the "country" discounting the fact that the township had no police department, poor fire protection, and the long drive down Six Mile to my office in Highland Park.

But alas, we now have all the amenities that government can provide, shopping centers and restaurants, banks, assisted living homes, and oh yes, plenty of traffic. Gone are the open fields and the red barn on Six Mile but one thing remains the same - the roads.

Realistically, we thrive on progress, but changing the master plan and rezoning to accommodate every developer's request without consideration on how the existing roads and intersections can handle the resulting increased traffic can hardly be classified as intelligent progress.

Admittedly, township planners and trustees have difficult decisions attempting to satisfy the demands of developers and individual property owners. However, it is difficult to recall when a developer's request has been totally rejected. A few concessions may have been given but the overall proposals seem to always garner approval.

Developers are well aware of the zoning designations when making a real estate purchase. If a rezoning request is rejected the township officials claim the courts will overturn the rejection. If this is fact, why bother with master plans or zoning ordinances in the first place?

When questioned on the impact new construction will have on roads and traffic flow, they say this is a problem for the county. Try to make a left hand turn from the shopping center at Six and Haggerty onto Haggerty or out of subdivisions on Six and Seven Mile roads without a light at the intersection and you will know it is more of a problem for residents than it is for the county.

Time to intervene, not enable

To the editor:

Enabling – to make possible, practical or easy.

Intervention – to come between by way of hindrance or modification.

These terms were part of a powerful vignette at the Northville home soccer game last Thursday night. As the story goes, a friend of my son became increasingly incoherent as he watched the game. This progressed to a point where the student was not responding to questions and was unable to stand on his own. Two students were in the process of helping the student out of the area when one of the administrators from the opposing school sensed an emergency situation and intervened.

Subsequently, the student was taken to a hospital and placed in intensive care on life support due to a suspected substance overdose.

I believe this simple act of intervention saved the student's life. I suspect if the students had been allowed to follow their own path, it's likely this story would have had a fatal outcome.

This incident reinforces my belief that the courage to intervene in a person's life when it's adrift is one of the core characteristics of intact families and communities. Intervention is not always as successful or dramatic as this one was, but it can give a person an opportunity to reflect on their circumstances and possibly take action for the good.

From an enabling perspective, I can't say I'm surprised at the foolish attempt to get the student out of the area. But I was astounded at the comments made after the incident by those who know the student. They knew he had been adrift for quite some time. That is enabling in its purest form.

The challenge for all of us, like the administrator in this story is to act on your values and beliefs. Intervene in the lives of those who are adrift. Don't make it easy for them to sty in the weeds. Care deeply for others.

NFB seeks volunteer assistance

To the editor:

The National Federation of the Blind, with the assistance of the Michigan Federation of the Blind, the Michigan Commission for the Blind, and the Library of Michigan has established a newsline service that reads cooperating newspapers over the telephone to blind and visually impaired individuals.

Those who satisfy the criteria set by the NFB and who register with that organization will be issued identification and authorization codes and given access to the newsline through a Detroit telephone number.

The Detroit location offers The Detroit Free Press, USA Today, The New York Times and The Washington Post.

The caller selects a paper and then picks a recent date and a section of the paper. The synthesized voice reads the articles in that section.

The reader can move from article to article. The caller's experience is very similar to a sighted person's reading a newspaper but without the advertisements.

If any of your readers would like additional information on this service or would like assistance in applying for the service, please contact any member of the Northville Lions Club or go to the Federation's website at www.nfb.org for information and an application.

Armed to the teeth?

To the editor:

Driving to Northville last Thursday, I was listening to talk show host Rush Limbaugh, that paragon of glib gibberish, on the radio. I make it a point to listen to those whose views are diametrically opposed to mine so that I may add to my case of quivers.

Limbaugh, suffering from logorrhea as usual, was supporting the view that citizens should be well armed, just in case the government fell into the hands of a tyrannical dictator in which case they would be prepared to throw the despot out of office. Question: Is that a sufficient reason for interpreting the Second Amendment of the Constitution which unambiguously speaks of "a well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state...," to mean that the millions upon millions of people who own guns are in fact "a well regulated militia?" Give me a break.

I can easily conjure a vision of citizens, hand-guns and rifles at the ready, confronting the government's laser-guided missiles, cluster bombs, artillery, B-52s, and, if needed, nuclear bombs to drive the bad guy out of office. Go figure.

Fun fair was huge success

To the editor:

Winchester Elementary Fun Fair was a huge success due to the efforts of many people. I would like to thank all the parent and teacher volunteers who gave their time to help at the fair. Especially our dunk tank volunteers, Nondo Basoukeas, Ellen Kelly and Mr. Tran, who was a real trooper.

To Laura Alumbaugh for her help with our fabulous clowns. Joline Smith for her invaluable time and help with just about everything. Thank you dawn Schafer for your contributions in organizing the fair and being co-chair. Big thanks to the custodian staff for their help and advise.

Because of the wonderful parent and teacher involvement, this event was very special for the children. See you all next year.

Northville Township police officer Matthew Mayes stands with his Trek Police Mountain Bike, purchased with funds donated by the local Rotary club.

Rotary donates funds for police bicycle

The Northville Rotary Foundation donated $700 to the Northville Township Police Department to purchase a Trek Police Mountain Bike.

The donation continued Rotary's partnership with local government to assist area police agencies with their community based programs.

Officers are more accessible to the public when they patrol on bikes, according to officer Matthew Mayes, township police officer. "In the four weeks I have been riding the bike, I have been approached by citizens, young and old, because I can ride up to them and they don't feel they are bothering me."

Mayes is the uniformed police officer assigned to the DARE program during the school year. "I use the bike during my DARE classes at Northville public and private schools," he said. "I patrol during school hours and also visit students during recess."

DARE is a program that targets fifth graders entering middle school and equips them with life skills to prepare them for pressures to stay away from drugs and violence. Mayes has taught the program for the past six years to students in private schools and as a voluntary before-school program in Northville Public Schools.

During the summer months Mayes will patrol subdivisions, business districts, shopping centers, parking lots, township bike pats and Hines and Maybury Parks. He also conducts educational safety talks concerning strangers and bicycles, as well as heading up the Child Watch Volunteer program.

Mayes will also be giving out coupons for free ice cream and soda pop when he sees a child wearing a helmet while riding. "It's a citation for being caught cycling safely," he said.

New Sunrise facility promises to keep senior citizens active

By CHRIS C. DAVIS
Staff Writer

Sunrise is being built on the east side of Haggerty, north of Five Mile Road. The complex will have 30 percent more beds available than there are units in the building, meaning residents will have the chance to share a room or have a private room — whichever is more well-suited for their individual needs.

The key, Laura Hester said, is to keep Northville's seniors active.

And that's precisely the objective that management will keep in mind when Sunrise Assisted Living opens its doors to senior citizens later this year. The 70-unit complex will provide a safe environment for residents, as well as giving them a place they can remain social and involved with their neighbors.

Sunrise is being built on the east side of Haggerty, north of Five Mile Road. Hester, spokesperson for Sunrise's developer, said the complex will have 30 percent more beds available than there are units in the building, meaning residents will have the chance to share a room or have a private room — whichever is more well-suited for their individual needs.

"We're going to have a variety of services available here," Hester said. In addition to serving three meals a day in Sunrise's dining room, Hester said Sunrise will also supervise the bathing, dressing and health needs of its residents, as well as have a passenger bus available daily.

Hester said Sunrise is geared towards middle-of-the-road needs seniors, where meals or some supervision might be needed, but intense around-the-clock nursing isn't warranted.

"We're right in the middle as far as senior living facilities go," Hester said.

For those who want to see the town or do some shopping, Hester said Sunrise will offer a daily passenger bus to transport its residents "pretty much anyplace."

"It's all about keeping the people who live (at Sunrise) active," Hester said.

The superstructure of Sunrise is completed. Completion is tentatively slated for sometime in the month of November.

Local artist to exhibit watercolors at market

Caroline Dunphy of Painter's Place is exhibiting a new watercolor print of Northville's Farmers Market. The print shows the present location of the market at Center Street and Seven Mile Road with the market stands, flowers and with people wandering through the market.

The print may be seen in the window of her gallery now.

The new print will be available for purchase at her gallery beginning June 15 at 140 N. Center St. in Northville during her gallery hours: Tuesday-Thursday, noon-4 p.m. or by appointment. Call (248) 348-9544 for further information or for an appointment.

NOVI YOUTH ASSISTANCE

Caseworker Claudia Walter will be on maternity leave until Aug. 2. Her son, Noah Robert Walter, was born May 8 and weighed 8 pounds, 7 ounces. During her absence, caseworker Derek Mazur will be substituting and receiving calls and referrals. He can be reached by calling 347-0410.

This is a busy time of year as Camp Sign-up was May 8 at the Civic Center. Applications are being processed; many young people will be going to camp this year, both over night and day camp, at Lakeshore Park.

The Drug and Alcohol Committee chaired by Barbara Holmes conducted an essay contest titled "Think Before You drink." The winners include Kim Weidl, first place, winning a $500 savings bond and a $50 gift certificate from Local Color Co. Winning second place was Jennifer Dorsch, who will receive a $250 savings bond and a $50 gift certificate from Local Color Co. Third place was won by Veronica Kirin who also received a $50 gift certificate from Local Color Co. and a $150 savings bond. Plans are to have Mayor McLallen present these awards at a council meeting.

Teen Center directors Stephanie Aristeo and Matt Topper have scheduled Saturday, June 12, from 9 a.m.-noon as sign-up day, with opening day June 21 and continuing through July 29. For additional information, call 347-0410.

The Youth Recognition Committee received 17 nominations this year; Ryan Rettman received a plaque at the Jaycee DSA breakfast. Other young people and their families were guests at a special program recently held at the Civic Center. They received framed certificates. Guest speakers were Rita Traynor, assistant superintendent for curriculum/instruction of Novi Community School District and Oakland County and Kalvin Engelberg, chief of Youth Assistance.

Church of the Holy Family

The Holy Family Clothes Closet hours for June, July and August are: every Monday, from 9 a.m.-noon and 6:30-8:30 p.m.; every Thursday, from 9 a.m.-noon; and through the summer months, no Saturdays until September. Those in the community who wish to drop off donations are asked to use Holy Family south entrance. Carol Ann Donnelly, Christian Service Director, has requested that no donations be left outside the door when the Clothes Closet is closed. Low income shoppers must have an appointment which can be made by calling 349-8553. Due to the holiday, the Clothes Closet will be closed on Saturday, May 29 and Monday, May 31. There is a need for volunteers to help sort items. Please call 349-8553 if you wish to volunteer.

At a recent meeting held at the church of the Active Friends of the Homeless, planned were several fund raisers: June 10, 11 and 12 – a garage sale held at the home of Rashmi Rohatgi on Nilan Drive. Donations are welcome with drop-off starting June 8. Call 349-8553 for more information. July 8, 9 and 10 – a used book sale at the Farmington Founders Festival in front of the old Farmer Jack, corner of Grand River and Farmington Road. Donations are welcome, drop-off starts July 5. Call the above number for more information.

Another project encouraged by Christian Service is the Walk-a-Thon planned by Another Way Pregnancy Center. The event will take place June 5 starting at 10 a.m. at Shiawassee Park in Farmington. Those participating can earn a free T-shirt, enjoy a free picnic lunch, kids will have games, face painting, a clown, etc.

For a pledge sheet and more information, please call 471-3195.

NOVI LIONESS CLUB

The election of officers was held at a recent meeting with the following results: Monica Rhea, president; Mary Wiederhold-Barbosa, first vice president; Jane Coonce, second vice president; Patti Barr, secretary; Kathy Rhea, treasurer; Maggie Meeker, tail twister; Nina Lemponen, one-year director; and Mary Fiero and Dee Gundle, two-year directors. The installation will be held at Kim's Gardens and is being planned in conjunction with the Lions.

The group meets on the third Tuesday of the month at Kerby's Koney Island, in the vicinity of Eight Mile and Haggerty. Women in the area who would like to become involved in Lioness (which means helping others), can contact any of the above listed officers.

The club has been involved in many service projects this past year. Some of the projects included the assembling of food baskets for needy families in Novi at the club's Christmas party; and the involvement in Adopt-a-Child at the Penrickton Center, a private non-profit five day residential and day care facility. No fees are charged at the center so all financial support is raised by individuals or service clubs, such as the Lioness, for the center. At Christmas time, the ladies purchase gifts to take to the adopted child. They have also collected and donated warm clothing to different charities in Novi. Through their fund raisers, such as Euchre tournaments, etc., they have donated $500 to both Penrickton Center and Leader Dog.

Pat Gatzke of Novi Charter House was invited to a club meeting to present her plan for resident activities at the facility. One of the programs on her "Wish List" was the "Rainbow Store," a cart of snacks, pop, etc., for the residents. It would be a store for residents to shop during special times of the week. Also a volunteer would be needed to "man" the store. Funds would be needed to initiate this program.

The club provided an ice cream social one evening for the residents and at another time, provided a wine and cheese party. They are currently planning a "Christmas in July" party.

NOVI CLOGGERS

The clogging program, sponsored by the Novi Parks and Recreation, has been in existence for over ten years. It has provided fun and exercise for young people between the ages of 8 and 83. The program consists of two groups: Sixth Gate, which meets from noon to 3:30 p.m. on Wednesdays and Fridays; and Toll Gate: which meets every Monday and Wednesday night. They are both under the direction of Barbara Barrett.

Currently, the clogging program in Novi is experiencing a "growth spurt." There are 22 new cloggers in the Wednesday group and about 15 in the Friday class. The dancers begin with a 12-week beginners class which then progresses to a 12-week easy level class. Eventually, when experience and confidence is achieved, they come to what is called "club."

Club is a session of about 2 to 3 1/2 hours of reviewing dances, learning new ones, rehearsing for performances, and lots of open dance for fun. The dancers begin to perform with "club" after dancing for a period of one year or so. This mostly depends on how well they have learned the routine and how much homework they have done.

Performances are given at many summer festivals and street fairs around town (during the warm weather), as well as the Novi '50s Festival, Festival of trees at Cobo Hall, Builders Show, and State Fair. Additional performances are given for church and school organizations as well as senior homes. If any organization is in need of entertainment, consider a "clogging" performance as hand-clapping, contagious and downright enjoyable entertainment.

Barbara Barrett is extending an invitation to drop by the Civic Center at 45175 W. Ten Mile Road and observe a class. For more information, check with the Novi Parks and Recreation office and find out how you can sign up for the next beginners class.

Local communities schedule fifth annual Camp 911 program

Touring an ambulance, learning CPR and taking a tour of a local emergency room are a few of the events that children will experience during Huron Valley Ambulance's fifth annual Camp 9-1-1 Program.

During National Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Week, HVA announced that they will host three of the free day camps.

The HVA camps will take place in Ann Arbor on July 13 and 14; in Plymouth on July 27 and 28; and in South Lyon on Aug. 12 and 13. Camp 9-1-1 is open to children ages 10 to 13 who reside in Washtenaw County or one of the following areas: Belleville, Plymouth and South Lyon; and the townships of Green Oak, Lyon, Northville, Plymouth, Sumpter, and Van Buren. Enrollment is limited to 24 participants. Interested children are asked to write a short letter explaining why they would like to attend the camp. The deadline for letters and registration forms is Friday, May 28.

Camp 9-1-1 teaches campers how to prevent accidents and injuries and how to perform life-saving skills on injured victims. They also learn about EMS career opportunities. HVA Paramedics and EMTs serve as "camp counselors."

HVA and SWM Systems, a regional EMS coordinating agency, sponsor the camp. The Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration provide camp funding. For a registration form or more information, call Julie Saksewski, Camp 9-1-1 Coordinator at (734) 482-6259.

National EMS Week, which is celebrating its 25th anniversary, honors approximately 815,000 EMS providers who deliver lifesaving emergency care 24 hours a day. HVA is a nationally accredited, nonprofit community ambulance service.

Happy Campers

On May 7-8, Troop No. 50 from Thornton Creek had their first overnight camping trip. The event was a mother-daughter trip to Camp Linden. The girls made sweatshirts, cooked S'Mores over the fire, hiked and did crafts. They were also visited by two big but friendly snakes and an over-protective raccoon mom with her kids. The highlight of the trip was the walk to Monkey Bridge. The campers are shown here wearing their Swap Hats and are (top row, left to right), Aya Ito, Lauren Kubert, Danielle Chew, Lauren Hall, Kara Weber, Kelly Burford, Lauren Evasic, Kelsey Fiscus, Kelsey Olinik, Ashley Filipowicz, (bottom row), Megan O'Malley and Tori Wright. Troop members unable to camp with us were Jenna Nienhaus, Rachel O'Shaughnessy and Molly Burford. Troop leaders are Kari Weber, Kelly O'Malley and Jill Evasic.

Garden Club

Although planning and planting by the Country Garden Club of Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association actually began in 1997, formal dedication of the perennial garden took place this week.

Accepting the handsome hand-stamped brass dedication plaque from the club's president Kate Daniel, is Julie Herrin, the library's director. The plaque was created by Bill Signorelli for contribution to the library. Bill and his wife Sheryl are frequent library patrons and are also dedicated gardeners.

The garden's centerpiece is a Star Magnolia enhanced by many favorite perennials such as Astilbe, Columbine, Holly, Salvia, Viburnum, Clematis, Peonies, Delphinium, Carpet Roses and Shasta Daisies. Club members continue to add new varieties of perennials throughout the season while maintaining the garden. Comfortably nestled among the flowers is a statue of a small boy clad in overalls, reading a book. And for those who would just like to relax and watch the garden grow, the club placed a bench at the garden's edge.

Northville's Garden Walk scheduled for July 14

In the dead of winter, how we long for those days in spring when we can finally "get out" and start "doing" in the garden. We watch with anticipation those first little shoots bravely making an appearance in spring. We revel in the riotous display of color, form and texture in midsummer. And we savor the luscious golds and russets of autumn. Come revel in midsummer with the Country Garden Club of Northville as we present the sixth annual Garden Walk featuring the Gardens of Northville.

Six beautiful local gardens will be on view on Wednesday, July 14, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. This year's walk features a vintage garden situated on a historic estate whose home is 170 years old. You can meander through a shade garden, down its winding paths lined with large rocks and overseen by huge mature trees. Enjoy the surprise of a secret garden, which lies beyond formal stone gates. Explore the nature trails thick with lush plantings that surround a pre-Civil War house – a stop on the underground railway. Another garden bursts into color beside a pond jumping with frogs; it stands in contrast to the shady approach surrounded by wildflowers. And finally, marvel at a Northville adaptation of the famous Butchard Gardens of Victoria, B.C., complete with waterfall, fountain and footbridge, and overlooking Elizabeth Lake. And after your tour, refresh yourself at Cady Inn with homemade cookies and lemonade. Tickets are $8 and may be purchased after June 15 from Gardenviews (202 Main St.) and the Northville Chamber of Commerce (195 Main St.). We look forward to seeing you.

Engagements

Courtney Kay Townsend and Jon Ede Hewett

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Townsend of Novi announce the engagement of their daughter, Courtney Kay, to Jon Ede Hewett, son of Betty Hewett of Canton and the late James Hewett.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Orchard Lake St. Mary's College and is currently employed as a video producer and production coordinator for Caine & Co. in Birmingham.

The groom-elect is a graduate of Michigan State University and is currently self employed as a free-lance video producer and writer in Farmington.

A June wedding is planned.

Jean Matela and Matthew Lawrence Di Stefano

The engagement of Elizabeth Jean Matela and Matthew Lawrence DiStefano is hereby announced by both parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Matela of Novi, formerly of Northville, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. DiStefano of Clinton Township.

The bride-elect is a 1992 graduate of Northville High School. She received a degree in nursing from Madonna University in 1998, and is currently employed at St. John's Hospital as a pediatric nurse.

The groom-elect graduated in 1990 from Bishop Gallagher High School and is currently self-employed.

An August wedding is planned.

Weddings

Kendra Jean Huard and Joshua Paul Fershee

Mr. and Mrs. Allen L. Huard announce the marriage of their daughter, Kendra Jean, to Joshua Paul Fershee. The couple were married at Martha Mary Chapel in Greenfield Village on Nov. 28, 1998. Uncle of the bride Lawrence H. Sims of Saginaw provided a reading as part of the ceremony: Jordan Reynolds Sims and Master Alexander Lawrence Sims were greeters for arriving guests.

The bride was attended by her matron of honor, Kristen Woodsum Freese of Northville and her sister, Jennifer Urtel of Warren.

The groom was attended by his brother, Aaron Fershee of Chicago, Ill.

The couple is presently residing in West Hollywood, Calif. The groom is with Golan-Harris Public Relations firm, and the bride is a field representative with the Los Angeles office of People For The American way.

Ready for Star Wars? Read the warning label

Chris C. Davis

WARNING: Do not read this column if you'd consider film director George Lucas some kind of demigod. I guarantee you'll be calling me on the phone two seconds after finishing your reading with the sort of tone in your voice like you'd found out I was a serial killer living next door. And frankly, I don't need or want that.

There. Just had to get that one out of the way.

Now then. I was one of the crazies who made it to opening day of Star Wars Episode I — The Phantom Menace. The purists will say that I don't qualify as a true fan because I didn't do a lot of the things they probably did.

Examples: I didn't camp out for tickets. (I got them in a matter of minutes, without hardly waiting in line.)

I didn't visit the Star Wars website every day leading up to May 19. (Once or twice a month over the last year, I'd say.)

I didn't offer someone $100 for seats to the midnight showing. (Seven-fifty is too expensive as it is, if you ask me.)

I didn't come to the show in costume. (I wore my HomeTown Communications golf shirt.)

I didn't wait in line two hours ahead of time to get prime seats to the 7:45 p.m. show. (As I normally do, I staked out my spot about 20 minutes before the previews started rolling.)

But despite having not done all those things, I still made it out to the movie on Day One. This marked a first for me because although I've been first to the store when a new music album hits the shelves, I've never gone out of my way to catch a movie on its premiere day.

You may be saying to yourself right now, "Well, that's all well and good that he did this, but what did he think of the movie?"

I'll get to that in a minute.

STAR WARS I
THE PHANTOM MENACE

Showing at the AMC Livonia 20
Location: Haggerty Road, south of Eight Mile Road.
Weekend show times: 12:15 p.m., 1:00, 1:45, 3:15, 4:00, 4:45, 5:25, 6:15, 7:00, 7:45, 9:15, 9:55, 10:45, and midnight

I'm convinced that the reason my movie-viewing experience was as good as it was had everything to do with the inconspicuous manner in which the AMC Livonia 20 opened.

I wrote one or two small stories last fall about the theater's construction. They weren't anything which was Pulitzer material, and as near as I can tell, most of the other media outlets in this area didn't pay much attention to the place, either.

At least, not nearly as much as they did for that Disney-World-Along-Telegraph, the Star Southfield Theater.

And that, I'm here to tell you, was probably the biggest reason why I purchased my tickets in five minutes, got into my seat in two minutes, and was back home faster than you can say "light saber" when it was over.

I daresay the megageeks who camped out for eight years before tickets went on sale could say that.

I did pay a small price for my cockiness — everything but the nosebleed seats and the first two rows were taken up by the people who did come in costume, camp out, etc. So I ended up getting an Imax-like experience with the screen taking up my entire field of vision.

When the house lights were dimmed and the previews started rolling, a few cheers were heard from the audience. (I couldn't help but ask myself if anyone really cared about previews when something as long-anticipated as The Phantom Menace was the feature presentation.)

And then, the familiar light blue words appeared on the screen:

"Please turn off cell phones and pagers."

Okay, then the real familiar light blue words appeared on the screen:

"A long time ago in a galaxy far, far away..."

You'd have thought the Beatles and reanimated the body of John Lennon and were appearing on stage in front of us. Until the giant steamroller introduction scrolled off into space, the screams didn't stop. This was what they came for.

And for the next hour and a half, we were introduced to the boy who would become Darth Vader (Macauley Culkin), the young queen (Monica Lewinsky), the two roving Jedi Knights (Sammy Sosa and Mark McGuire) and a floppy-eared animated sidekick (Roger Rabbit.)

To give away any other details about The Phantom Menace would spoil the surprise for those who are trying to avoid learning anything about the film before seeing it (HA! Good luck.) But there was one undeniable conclusion I could draw after much consideration when I left that night:

George Lucas is going to be one very, very rich man.

Is The Phantom Menace a very good movie? If special effects and visual dazzle are your bread and butter, you won't go away disappointed. If you're looking for character depth and a thick plot, make plans to see Tea With Mussolini.

P.S. (If you're one of those types who's just sick and tired of the whole Stars Wars thing, check out ihatestarwars.com. I'm not kidding — this is a real website that rags on the movie every bit as much as the movie's fans talk it up.)

"Wear The Gear" Program Promotes Safety at Metroparks

Now in its third year, the Metroparks' popular "Wear The Gear" safety program is helping reduce biking and in-line skating safety accidents along paved paths at seven Metroparks.

"Accidents can happen anytime, and helmets and other safety gear can help take the hurt out of any fall," says Frank J. Sudek, Metroparks director. "Our 'Wear The Gear' program encourages Metroparks visitors to wear safety equipment and gives them the chance to win bikes and other prizes."

In 1996, 126 biking and in-line skating accidents were reported throughout the Metroparks. The number of accidents declined to 84 in 1997; 85 accidents occurred in 1998.

Beginning Memorial Day until Sept. 7, anyone using the paved trails in the Metroparks who is "caught" by one of the Metroparks rangers using all the safety gear – helmet, wrist guards, elbow pads and knee pads for in-line skaters and a helmet for bikers – will receive a "Wear The Gear" helmet sticker, a coupon for free entry into a facility, or for a free food item and a chance to register in a drawing to win a bike, in-line skates and other prizes.

The "Wear The Gear" stickers are so popular they've become collectibles to adorn helmets, according to George Ruhana, chief ranger at Stony Creek Metropark.

The Metroparks with paved trails that are participating in the program include: Metro Beach near Mount Clemens, Stony Creek near Rochester, Indian Springs in White Lake, Kensington near Milford, Hudson Mill near Dexter, Lower Huron near Belleville, Willow near New Boston, and Oakwoods near Flat Rock.

A drawing for the prizes will be held on Sept. 17. To be eligible, registration cards must be received at the Metroparks administrative offices in Brighton by Sept. 6. There will be separate drawings for each of the participating parks.

Prizes include several pairs of in-line skates, seven bicycles, helmets and safety gear (wrist guards, elbow and kneepads) and ten annual Metroparks entry permits for 2000. Prize sponsors include Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Michigan, Wolf-Hulbert Co., and CNA insurance companies; Nichols Ski & Sports; Dick's Sporting Goods; Cycle & Fitness USA of Walled Lake; King's Bikes & Things; and Main Street Bicycles & Village Cyclery.

Alcohol Temporarily Banned in Metroparks

In an effort to reduce illegal drinking by minors celebrating the end of the school year, an alcohol ban is in effect at some of the Metroparks until the middle of June. Times and dates will be posted at each park.

"This alcohol ban is in effect to curtail some of the problems that we have experienced with groups gathering in the parks during spring for end-of-school parties," says Frank J. Sudek, Metroparks director.

For further information on the alcohol ban, contact your local Metropark office.

At other times of the year, beer and wine are permitted in the Metroparks except in designated areas such as beaches, pool areas and interpretive facilities.

Kensington Metropark Golf Course

Two "Four-Person Scramble" tournaments, with teams flighted by handicap, will be held at the golf course of Kensington Metropark near Milford/Brighton on Saturday and Sunday, June 12 and 13. These are separate tournaments each day. Players must have established handicaps.

The entry fee is $4 plus greens fees per player. Fees and applications must be received at the starters desk by Sunday, June 5 at 5 p.m.

Hudson Mills Metropark Golf Course

The "Fifth Annual Women's Championship" flighted by handicap, will be held at the golf course of Hudson Mills Metropark near Dexter/Ann Arbor on Friday, June 18. Each entrant must have an established handicap.

The entry fee is $4 plus greens fees per player. Entry applications and fees must be received at the starters desk by Thursday, June 10.

For more information, contact Paul Gilson at Hudson Mills Metropark Golf Course (734) 426-0466.

Lake Erie Metropark Golf Course

A "Senior Tournament" for ages 62 or older, will be held at the golf course of Lake Erie Metropark in Brownstown on Thursday, June 17. The format is two-person scramble.

The entry fee is $49 per team, which includes greens fees. Applications and fees must be received at the starters desk by Thursday, June 10.

For more information, contact the Lake Erie Metropark Golf Course, 1-800-477-3189 or locally, (734) 379-0048.

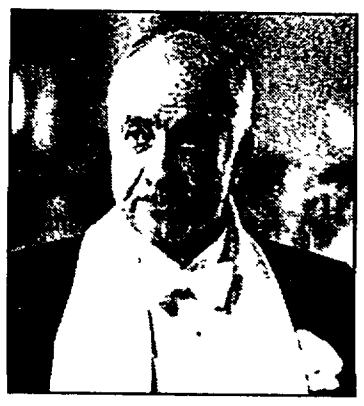
Sci-fi thriller examines virtual reality

As he is pulled into the vortex of two parallel worlds (above), one 'real' and one computer-simulated, Douglas Hall (Craig Bierko) realizes that the answers may lie with an enigmatic woman named Jane (Gretchen Mol). Business tycoon Hannon Fuller's (Armin-Mueller-Stahl, right) myterious death reveals his dangerous double-life that veers between two parallel worlds, on in 1937 and one in the present, in the Columbia Pictures presentation, "The Thirteenth Floor."



Over 2,000 years ago, Plato postulated that the 'real' world exists only in our imagination. The technology of modern society has begun to prove Plato's point. Everything from 'smart bombs' to nuclear testing can be simulated within the confines of a computer chip. Such models provide valuable information while limiting the potential damage to the 'imaginary' world within which they reside.

What if this illusory universe evolved? What is this counterfeit construct expanded beyond the boundaries of a specific paradigm, blurring the lines between fact and fantasy? What if it already has?

"The Thirteenth Floor" examines this enticing and ominous possibility. On the thirteenth floor of a downtown corporate tower, visionaries Douglas Hall (Craig Bierko) and Hannon Fuller (Armin Mueller-Stahl) have taken virtual reality technology to its apex by creating a living, breathing simulation of 1937 Los Angeles on a computer chip. When a confused Hall awakens to discover a bloody shirt in his house and Fuller murdered, Hall becomes the prime suspect. Did he do it? Why can't he remember?

As Hall is pulled into a vortex of murder and deception, Fuller's death begins to reveal a dangerous double-life that veers between two parallel worlds, one in 1937 and one in the present. Fuller's demise sparks an investigation, headed by veteran detective McBain (Dennis Haysbert), and piques the interest on Hall's colleague Whitney (Vincent D'Onofrio), whose curiosity has perilous consequences.

But the lines between fantasy and reality blur when Hall meets the beautiful and mysterious Jane (Gretchen Mol) — a woman whose intentions are questionable and whose secrets may have lethal and epic repercussions — and experiences an eerie sense of dejavu. To find the answers, Hall must cross the boundaries between the 'real' world and the simulated world he has created. The past and present collide on "The Thirteenth Floor," where Hall confronts not only the truth about his innocence, but the reality of his own existence.

"The Thirteenth Floor," a sci-fi thriller, stars Craig Bierko, Vincent D'Onofrio, Gretchen Mol, Dennis Haysbert and Academy Award-nominated actor Armin Mueller-Stahl and is directed by Josef Rusnak, who also co-wrote the original screenplay with Ravel Centeno-Rodriguez.

"The Thirteenth Floor" began as a novel, entitled "Simulacron-3," by Daniel F. Galouye. Director Josef Rusnak, also the movie's co-writer, points out that while the book provided a springboard for the movie, the cinematic result is not a literal translation of the novel.

"The movie is really inspired by the book. A lot of the dialogue is inspired by the book, as are the characters. However, in the book there are many more characters, and we condensed them in the movie. We also changed the structure of the plot a bit. It would be fair to say that the character profiles come from the novel," said Rusnak.

Rusnak adds that the primary function of the novel was to provide the movie's basic tenets.

"The material, the philosophical background, the question of who is the creator and who is the creation, what is real and what is not, all that comes from the novel. Those are themes in the book that really intrigued me," Rusnak said. "This existentialistic discourse into the realm of questioning what and who is God and reality."

The forces of good and evil face off in outrageous comedy

Evil spirits will find work for idle hands to do ... so what happens when they go on the prowl for a partner in crime and end up with an utterly clueless 17-year-old slacker?

The result is a lot more moronics than demonics in the raunchy, irreverent and totally outrageous comedy "Idle Hands."

Anton (Devon Sawa) wakes up Halloween morning to discover — after doing a little channel surfing and perusing the contents of the fridge, oblivious to the pool of blood on the floor — that his lovable dad (Fred Willard) and mom (Connie Ray) have been turned into a couple of headless Halloween decorations.

A prime candidate for America's Most Wasted, Anton steals some pocket money and heads over to visit his equally irresponsible friends, Mick (Seth Green) and Pnub (Elden Henson).

On the way, he catches a tasty glimpse of Molly (Jessica Alba), the girl next door who has been the love of his life.

Hanging out with Mick and Pnub, Anton — who generally opts for MTV over the evening news — learns of several recent murders that have their hometown of Bolan scratching its head and shaking in its boot. As they piece together clues, Anton discovers that he may be responsible — apparently his right hand has a very bloodthirsty mind of its own, and it's hell-bent on wreaking deadly havoc with or without him.

Meanwhile, while Anton has been arm wrestling with his possessed limb, Debi (Vivica A. Fox) has been racing across the country following a trail of suspicious events ... leading right to northern California and the town of Bolan.

The forces of good and evil face off in a showdown full of cool comedy with an offbeat edge in "Idle Hands," a Columbia Pictures presentation directed by Rodman Flender and produced by Team Todd partners Suzanne and Jennifer Todd. Andrew Licht and Jeffrey A. Mueller are also producers on the film. Executive producer is Jeffrey Sudzin. Written by Terri Hughes and Ron Milbauer.

"Idle Hands" now playing in theaters runs 92 minutes and is rated "R."

Futures Tourney this week

Local golf enthusiasts beware.

Over 140 golfers will be vying for the championship at this weekend's Women's MedHealth Wellness Centers Futures Golf Classic Tournament at Mystic Creek Golf Club in Milford.

The MedHealth Wellness Centers Foundation for Developmentally Disabled Women and Children hopes to raise nearly $50,000 for the women and children of Our Lady of Providence Center in Northville Township. Our Lady provides residential, educational and vocational opportunities for women and children with developmental disabilities, namely those with neurological impairments, birth defects and various syndromes such as Down's.

There was a Pro-Am Tournament held yesterday, and the tournament begins today. A weekend general admission pass can be purchased for $10. One day admission passes can be purchased for $5, but are only usable once. The tournament begins at 8 a.m. Friday and Saturday and 8:30 a.m. Sunday.

The Futures Professional Golf Tour is the major developmental tour for women's golf and this year became "the official developmental tour of the LPGA" and many of the members of the tour go on to play with the LPGA.

Abby Pearson is the defending champion after she shot a one-over 217 at the Wastenaw Country Club in Ypsilanti last year.

The total purse for the event is $50,000 and this year the first-place winner will take home $6,600. The runnerup will receive $5,040.

The Futures Golf Tour is entering its 19th year of operation with over $1 million in total prize money and tournaments on both coasts of the U.S. The Futures Tour.

The tour has also agreed to hold the tournament at Mystic Creek both next year and in 2001.

Northville sophomore Pam Mouradian was the regional medalist last Friday.

Golfers bring home regional title

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

Being at the top of your game is of the utmost importance near the end of the season, when each match or tournament could be your last.

The Northville golf team understood that, and came up with a clutch performance at the Division II regional golf tournament last Friday at Timber Trace golf course in Pinckney.

The Mustangs won their first-ever regional championship, firing a team total of 384. Saline was second at 390 and Livonia Ladywood was the third team to qualify for the state meet with a score of 400.

"We spanked them," and elated coach Trish Murray said. "It wasn't really that close."

This after Northville struggled at the Western Lakes Activities Association league meet at Hudson Mills. The team finished fourth in the conference after shooting a 394.

"We didn't play well Tuesday, and I didn't know what to say to them before Friday's tournament," the coach said. "I ended up telling them to take one shot at a time. If you make a mistake, you can't worry about it. I wanted them to play smart, and not take chances."

Sophomore Pam Mouradian tied for the best round of the tournament, a 90, but lost a shootoff for medalist honors. She had a 46 on the front nine and a 44 on the back.

Freshman Kate MacDonald turned in a 47-44 for a total of 91. Senior captain Jennie Church carded a 54-46-100 and Kate Sekerka had a 103 to round out the scoring for Northville. Jessie Mills had rounds of 54 and 50 for a 104 as Northville's fifth golfer.

Northville's previous-best regional finish was a runnerup placing in 1993. The team also qualified for the state tournament in the program's first year back in 1991.

Murray, who has been with the program since its first year of existence, was voted regional coach of the year for the first time in her nine years of coaching.

The team will now travel up to East Lansing's Forest Akers Golf Course to compete at the state finals June 4 and 5. The Division II finals will be played on the East course and the Division I finals will be on the West nine.

"If there are no butterflies, then there will be some problems," Murray said. "I think they need to be a little nervous so they understand how important this is. But I just want them to go and soak it all in. It's a great experience and I want them to have fun."

Murray said some of the girls have been to Forest Akers to golf the course before, but she feels it's the type of course that the girls will feel comfortable on when they get there.

N'VILLE 4TH IN WLAA

Although the scores were respectable, the fourth-place finish did not sit well with Murray or her team members. Livonia Stevenson won the WLAA meet with a score of 371. Churchill was second at 378 and Farmington was third at 381.

Mouradian led the way for Northville with a 95. Mills had a 98 and Church added a 99. Sekerka came in with a 102 and MacDonald (103) and Becky Rankin (105) also started the tournament for the 'Stangs.

"Plain and simple, we just did not play well," Murray said. "We just weren't good from the get go. We had a mediocre day."

Mouradian, Mills, Church and Sekerka all earned all-division honors, which go to the 7th-18th top scorers at the meet.

Sweet revenge comes easy

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

The second time's the charm. Or so they say.

Well it was for the Northville baseball team, which avenged early-season conference losses to both Walled Lake Western and a previously-undefeated Harrison squad last week to up its record to 16-5 overall and 8-2 in the Western division of the Western Lakes.

Andy Borda continued his dominance with a complete-game, five hitter in leading Northville to a 2-1 win over the Hawks last Friday. The senior lefty kept Harrison batters off balance all day long, collecting a season-high 14 strikeouts and allowing just two walks.

"He's just getting better and better with each start," Northville coach Mickey Newman said. "The control is the big thing. His location has been outstanding. He's starting to get command of his curveball and he is able to easily change his speeds."

Offensively, Borda helped out his own cause by belting a solo home run to tie the game at 1-1 in the bottom of the first. Both he and Harrison's Zach Burton settled down after that inning and kept the game scoreless until the bottom of the seventh. That's when Northville manufactured the game-winning run.

Lead-off hitter Rob Reel just missed ending the game when his line shot to centerfield hit the top of the fence, landing a foot from the top. He ended up with a long single. After falling behind with two strikes in the count, Bryan Shields had a pivotal single to move Reel to second with no outs. Justin Waineo sacrificed Reel and Shields up with a bunt. After Harrison chose to walk Matt Hare to create a force out at any base, Evan Edwards came through with the game-winning single.

"I felt the game was over when they walked Hare," Newman said. "Evan walked up there and I knew he would come through for us. His last at bat he was caught looking on a third strike and I knew he wanted to make up for that.

"They are a very good ball club and this was probably a matchup of the two best teams in the conference."

Harrison finishes the conference season 9-1 and will take on Livonia Stevenson for the conference championship. Northville faced North Farmington in the second-place crossover game yesterday (after The Northville Record's deadline).

Top hitters for Northville in the Harrison win were Borda and Shields, each 2 for 3.

N'VILLE 11, WESTERN 2

The last time these two teams met, it was Western picking up the win and eliminating Northville from a chance at the divisional championship. This time is wasn't even close.

Reel pitched a complete game, striking out eight and allowing just six hits in picking up his fifth win of the season.

Northville scored four of its runs in the third inning, picking up all four with two outs. Ben Keetle and Edwards each had an RBI single and Hare added a two-run double in the inning.

N'VILLE 9, CENTRAL 8

Following a tough 10-0 loss to Stevenson which snapped Northville's seven-game winning streak a day earlier, the Mustangs picked up the first of two games they would win in the last inning of the ball game.

Brian Boyes came through with a RBI single, scoring Shields with the game winner in the bottom half of the seventh.

"After getting spanked, we bounced back to get two big wins in our last at bat," Newman said. "These last two games, the kids have really come together as a team. Everyone has pitched in for us."

The district tournament is set to begin with a pre-district game Tuesday. The districts games will be played June 5 at Brighton. The draws were not available at the time the Record went to press.

Tanski wins regional crown

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

It was a rough day for the Northville girls track team last Friday at the regional track meet, but not for Mary Tanski.

The sophomore won the regional shot put title with a throw of 34 feet, 3 inches. She was the lone Mustang to advance to the state meet June 4 and 5.

"I was personally impressed by her competitiveness," coach Chris Cronin said. "She came to do a job, and she did it."

Tanski was seeded second coming in, but beat out Brighton's top thrower to win it. She led Northville in total points this season, combining total dual meet and invitational points.

Although no other athletes advanced to the state meet, another pair medaled by placing among the top eight. The 400 relay team of Audrey Lin, Emily Howland, Emily Ott and Lindsey Carlson finished eighth in a season-best time of 52.3 seconds. The 800 relay team of Amy Selle, Emily Needham, Ott and Carlson were ninth overall in 1:52.2, also a season's best for Northville.

Howland also competed and placed sixth in the 200. She advanced through the preliminaries and the semifinals to reach the finals. She then ran a time of 27.2, a full second faster than her previous best time in the event.

"It was nice to see her come back, especially after all the injuries she's had over the past couple of seasons," Cronin said. "She's just a great competitor."

The coach also pointed out the performances of Lori Delano in the mile run and Hillary McCrumb in the half mile. Delano finished her mile in 5:34 and McCrumb ran a 2:32 in the open half.

"I knew that we weren't going to be a team to score a lot of points at the regional," Cronin said.

Tennis team finishes runnerup, again

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

It seemed like a repeat of last Tuesday's conference tennis tournament, but coach Dick Norton and his Mustangs don't care.

They made it to the state finals once again.

Northville finished runnerup to North Farmington for the second-straight tournament, but both they and the Raiders qualified for the Division II state finals June 4 and 5 in Midland.

North Farmington (27 points) won championships in six of the seven flights, while Northville (16) finished runnerup in four of them. Waterford Kettering was third with 13 points, followed by Harrison (9), Farmington (8), Pinckney (8), Detroit Northern (5), Lakeland (2), Redford Union (1) and Detroit Central (0).

Matt Schlanser came away with a second-place finish at second singles for Northville. The senior beat Pinckney and Kettering before falling to North Farmington's Chris Erickson 2-6, 2-6 in the championship match.

Kris Betker and Kyle Dehne suffered a similar fate at first doubles. The pair breezed past Harrison and Farmington, but couldn't solve the Raiders Mark Frankel and Jay Berman (2-6 , 0-6).

Brian Wilson and Kyle Wargo put up a better fight, but still came away with a 6-2, 2-6, 3-6 loss to North Farmington's Steve Jaffe and Geoff Streit in the finals at second doubles. They beat Farmington and Waterford Kettering to reach the championship.

Dan Drake and Ryan Prendergast topped Waterford Kettering and Farmington in their first two matches, but fell to Josh Wool and Andrew Golaszewski in the finals at third doubles.

At first singles, Dean Conway ran into trouble in the semifinal round. The sophomore ran into Harrison's Ryan Shade, the eventual regional champion. Shade disposed of Conway 6-1, 6-1. Conway won his first match over Waterford Kettering 6-2, 6-4.

Mark Thomson won his first match over Raun Young of Redford Union 6-2, 6-0, but then lost to Kettering's Patrick Pedano 4-6, 3-6 in the semis.

North Farmington is currently ranked No. 1 in Division II, but Norton doesn't feel they belong there.

"I still don't think they have the No. 1

McDONALD FORD SALUTES NORTHVILLE ATHLETES OF THE WEEK

Pam Mouradian - Sophomore

Mouradian continued her season of steadiness this past week, earning match medalist honors at the regional golf tournament at Timber Trace. The sophomore shot a 90 to lead her team to the regional championship.
Earlier last week, she led the team with a 95 at the Western Lakes tournament at Hudson Mills, earning her all-division honors.

Mary Tanski - Sophomore

Tanski threw a season-best 34 feet, 3 inches in the shot put competition at the regional track meet at Milford last Friday.
The sophomore came in ranked second, but won the regional championship and became the lone Mustang to advance to the state meet June 5.
She's been the top point getter on the team this year.

Soccer team set for districts

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

With the district tournament starting up tonight for the Northville soccer team, last Wednesday's 2-0 loss to two-time defending state champion Livonia Stevenson may have been a blessing in disguise.

The Mustangs needed a wake-up call after breezing through the last portion of its regular-season schedule, and the Spartans were just the buzzer they needed.

"It was a good game," Northville coach Doug Lyon said. "We had opportunities, but we just couldn't capitalize on them."

Stevenson scored about 10 minutes into the game and then added the clincher with about 20 minutes left in the game. The second goal was off a direct kick from about 25 yards out.

"We needed a tough game to get us back into the mind set that we'll need to be in against Salem," the coach said.

Northville beat the Rocks 2-1 earlier this season, and tied Novi 1-1. So Lyon was more than happy to see Salem win.

"Mentally, we know we can beat Salem," he said. "Novi always seems to play us tough, and they play up for our games. We know how to beat Salem and I'm hoping our momentum will help us in this game."

The game will be played at Northville High School tonight at 7 p.m. Plymouth Canton and South Lyon played on the other half of the draw last night. The winners of the two semifinal games will play at South Lyon High School Saturday at 1 p.m.

The loss to Stevenson drops Northville to 10-3-2 on the season and fourth in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

team in the state," he said. "I'll be surprisedif they finish in the top five. Their doubles teams are a little weak."

The state finals will once again be held at the Midland Community Tennis Center.

NORTHVILLE 2ND AT WLAA
North Farmington won its third-consecutive Western Lakes title May 18, scoring 26 points and easily outdistancing runnerup Northville (18 points). Farmington was third with 14 points and Churchill (11). Canton and Harrison (9) rounded out the top five.

Wargo and Wilson defeated North Farmington's Streit and Brady Dwyer 6-1, 4-6, 6-1 in the title match at second doubles. They were the lone conference champions for Northville. The duo defeated Walled Lake Western 6-3, 6-2 and Churchill 6-1, 7-5 en route to the championship.

Schlanser continued his hot play, finishing second and second singles. He lost to Erickson of North Farmington 1-6, 0-6 in the finals after defeating John Glenn's David Kovacs 6-0, 6-2 in the semis.

Thomson fell to the Raiders' Brandon Finkel 4-6, 4-6 in his finals match at fourth singles. The sophomore topped Harrison's Ralph Plumley 6-3, 6-1 and Central's Sean Newsom 6-3, 6-4 in his first two matches.

Drake and Prendergast were also runnerups on the day. They lost to North Farmington's Wool and Golaszewski 2-6, 1-6 in the championship. They had earlier defeated Salem 6-3, 6-1 and Churchill 6-0, 6-3.

Three other flights for Northville lost in the semifinals. Brian Arndt and Nathan Gudritz received a bye and then defeated Canton 6-1, 6-0 in their second match before falling to Jaffe and Rob Frankel of North Farmington 4-6, 6-4, 3-6.

At third singles, Chris Gerlica beat his Western opponent 6-2, 6-2, but lost to Canton's Ritchie Ikeh 4-6, 0-6 in the second round. Betker and Dehne topped Churchill 6-4, 6-2, and then lost to Canton 6-7 (4), 6-0, 0-6.

Despite the runnerup finish, Norton was happy about his young team's success this season.

"We finished right about where I expected to," the coach said. "We got everything we could out of our players. I didn't think it was realistic to beat out North (Farmington) this year."

Health Column

Strength training ever so important

This column will be our sixth and final in a series of columns focused on the truths and techniques of strength training. Our past columns have included chest, back, legs, abdominal, and arms. We will focus on the shoulder area in this column.

As throughout this series, our goal has been to educate you on the values of strength training (maybe dispel some myths), as well as teaching key exercises for each of our major body parts. We purposely choose exercises that can easily be accomplished at home or in a health club environment with a limited financial investment. We are using an average person with no injuries in our examples.

The shoulder joint has more freedom of movement than any other single joint in our body. The fact that it is highly mobile indicates that it is structurally relatively unstable, thus has a high risk of potential injury. When we complete movements (especially under added resistance) understanding what joints are supposed to do in our bodies is key for safe training. Sometimes when we strength-train with weights, we think our muscle is meant to move a given weight from point A to point B to increase our strength, ignoring the fact that muscle is meant to move joints for a specific range of motion in our bodies

Just because a joint can move a certain way does not mean it was meant to, especially under added resistance. This principle could not be more true with the shoulder are. Many times as health professionals, we hear about rotator cuff injuries. When you look at how our bodies function and step outside of opinion (as we attempt to do in all of our training), you will find the rotator cuff is a group of four muscles whose job it is to stabilize the shoulder joint. When we injure this area it is usually because we ignored proper joint motion and one or more of these four muscles were injured attempting to do their job.

There are three key muscle areas for the outer shoulder or deltoid area, the front top area or the anterior muscle group, the rear area or posterior, and the side area or the lateral muscle group. The following movements are using tubing for the resistance and focus on the anterior and lateral portions. Remember, resistance can be weights, tubing, or your body weight.

Overhead Shoulder Press

- Place tubing under both feet.
- Stand with feet about shoulder width and raise the tubing to about shoulder height.
- Slowly, while breathing comfortably, raise your hands above your head to about the fully extended position.
- Slowly return to the starting position and repeat for the desired repetitions.

Side Lateral Raises

- Begin with one foot slightly more forward than the other in a slightly bent over, back safe position (knees bent slightly).
- Leading with the elbows raise both hands to about ear level. Keep arms slightly bent.
- Slowly under control, lower your hands to the starting position and repeat for the desired repetitions.

Start with three-four sets of 12 repetitions, resting about 60-90 seconds between sets. Increase resistance as you progress, never sacrificing good form for more resistance.

As we wrap up this series, I sincerely hope you have received some helpful information to improve your quality of life. A final couple of key points to remember as you contemplate making strength-training a priority in your life:

- You and everyone else currently occupying a human body are fighting a losing battle in terms of loss of muscle mass every year as we age. This battle left without a fight will certainly affect your quality of life.
- You can and will stop and reverse this trend of muscle loss with at least two days of week, 30-45 minutes of consistent resistance training.
- A modified version of the above point. It does not take a lot of time to add strength training to your life and if you can hang with it, the benefits will be noticed as soon as 30-60 days, at any age.
- Please don't let yourself believe the old excuse. My grandfather never did any of this type of exercises and lived a full life to 95. This may be true but I assure you, your grandfather did not live in the over convenient world of today. Soon with the help of technology, we won't ever have to leave the comfort of our couch. From our couch or chair, we can shop for everything from food to automobiles or be entertained with our 100 channel televisions or latest computer games. Heck, with the Internet, we won't even need to reach for the phone to communicate with each other. The technology is great but the trade off of what the physical inactivity brings is not.

CHOLESTEROL AND HEALTH

Cholesterol is a waxy fat that our bodies need to build cell walls and make some hormones. Certain amount of cholesterol is used daily, but the liver produces enough to meet this requirement. In some people, due to their genetic makeup, there is an over-abundance of the waxy stuff. Extra cholesterol from the diet elevates the level as well.

The two components of cholesterol, commonly known as "good" and "bad" are low-density lipoproteins (LDL or "bad cholesterol") and high-density lipoproteins (HDL or "good cholesterol"). Triglycerides are other fats that circulate with cholesterol. The higher the total cholesterol, LDL, and triglycerides the higher the chance to develop heart disease or heart attack. LDLs are taken-up by cells within artery walls, forming a Blood-flow-blocking plaque. High level of triglycerides also adds to plaque build up on the artery walls. On the other hand elevated HDL "good cholesterol" protects the heart by carrying LDL to the liver where it is excreted.

Older adults with high LDL-cholesterol are at increased risk for heart disease, and intervention is more effective than in younger individuals. Women after menopause develop a rise in "LDL-bad cholesterol" and have relatively higher rates of coronary heart disease. Dietary modification and exercise showed better results when done together, but medications are very effective when indicated.

HOW TO

Window film without 'pane'

By Gene Gary
COPLEY NEWS SERVICE

Q. We recently added a deck to our home with sliding glass doors and large windows overlooking a canyon view. We did not install tinted glass and subsequently the morning sun beats on these windows heating the interior and causing fading to our carpeting. A friend suggested that we cover the existing glass panes with a tinted window film. I am concerned that this would not be durable and I question how much of the damaging sun rays will be filtered. Do you have any advice on this type of window film coating? Replacement of the glass panes would be more expensive than we can afford at this time. Covering this area with draperies would defeat the purpose of view windows.

A. Installation of reflective window film, which can deflect up to 79 percent of the sun's heat and glare in hot weather, is probably a good solution to your problem. The film is sold in numerous shades, allowing you to select the desired shade of darkness. Some brands of reflective film also eliminate 96 percent or more of the sun's ultraviolet rays, a major cause of fading furniture, flooring and window coverings. It pays to shop around comparing prices and features, as quality of films vary.

Basically, reflective window film consists of a thin layer (approximately 1 to 2 mils) of polyester sheeting. It comes with a high-pressure acrylic adhesive designed for long-lasting bond. The film is installed on the interior of the window. Maintaining the film requires caution. It is subject to scratching with even the slightest abrasive. Chemicals often found in off-the-shelf window cleaners also can damage the film. However, it is easily cleaned with a solution of warm water and vinegar applied and dried with a soft, clean cotton cloth. I recommend cotton diaper rags. Do not use paper towels which can scratch the film. With proper care, window film will last for years.

Installation can be difficult and, in most cases, I would recommend that your leave this to the professionals. If you are real adept at do-it-yourself installations, it might be a job you can tackle yourself. Smaller windows are much easier to do than larger ones. Be aware, however, that better warranties are generally offered when the film is installed by professionals.

Instructions are provided by most dealers selling film retail. Generally, then include the following steps: (1) Thoroughly clean the window surface, removing any stubborn particles with a razor blade. (2) Measure the window pane, and then cut a piece of film larger than the pane by about 2 inches overall. (3) Mix one teaspoon of liquid dish detergent with one quart of water in a spray bottle. Spray this mixture on the window pane, thoroughly wetting the surface. (4) Next, peel back the liner paper on the film to expose the adhesive surface. Drench the adhesive side of the film by spraying it with the detergent solution. (5) Now for the difficult part. Position the adhesive side of the wet film against the wet window. Carefully smooth the film out over the glass surface with your hands, eliminating wrinkles. (6) Spray the surface of the film now facing you. (7) Continue to smooth the film against the glass using a rubber squeegee, working from center to side, then vertically top to bottom. (8) When the film is firmly in place, trim the edges using a straight edge and razor blade.

Q. We have a synthetic marble sink and countertop in our master bathroom. I have several stains on the surface which I have not been able to remove with regular cleaners. Do you have any cleaning suggestions for this type of surface?

A. This is a common problem and one that many of our readers ask about. Although synthetic marble is less porous and more stain resistant than natural marble, it will scratch if abrasive cleaners are used and caustic chemicals can damage the surface. Synthetic marble, often referred to as cultured marble, is made from poured polyester resin, usually treated with a clear gel coat or onyx resin on the top surface. Non-abrasive cleaners should be used such as 409, Fantastik, Cinch, Soft & Scrub, or a fiberglass cleaner such as Gel Gloss for more stubborn spotting. Harsh cleaners, even ordinary household bleach can damage the surface.

To remove minor scratches, try buffing the surface with a medium-cut rubbing compound (use a buffing pad on an electric drill). If necessary (for major stains only) you can lightly sand the surface with 600 grit wet/dry sandpaper. Use a sanding block and wet sandpaper for best results. I would test a small inconspicuous area first to make sure that your are not damaging the surface. Follow any compound buffing or sanding with a thorough rinsing in clear water and then buff to a high luster with a paste wax. Use a good automotive compound such as Sherwin Williams White Lightening, which should be buffed out. Even in general care, car wax followed by a good buffing will add luster and help protect the surface from spotting and staining. Repeat periodically as the wax protection diminishes with wear.

If these methods fail to restore your synthetic marble, it can be resurfaced by a professional using a sanding process followed by the application of a top coat of catalyzed acrylic urethane. Check with bathtub and sink refinishers for feasibility and estimates. Do not give your synthetic marble any clear top coat such as varnish, polyurethane, etc. You may have an adverse chemical reaction as well as a bonding problem which would further damage the surface.

Cavalcade of Homes ends Sunday

By Buddy Moorehouse
MANAGING EDITOR

Looking for a home? Looking for a builder? Just want to see some great new houses?

You've only got four more days to check out the 1999 Cavalcade of Homes, sponsored by the Home Builders Association of Livingston County.

The event started May 20 and runs through May 30, with homes open every Thursday, Friday and Saturday from noon to 8 p.m., and Sunday from noon to 6 p.m.

Regular admission is $7 for adults, with children under 16 admitted free. Tickets are available at the Home Builders Association office in Brighton (132 E. Grand River), or at any of the homes on the tour. Maps are also available at those locations.

Featured this year will be 25 homes in Livingston County, built by 23 different builders.

They're scattered around the county, from Howell to Brighton to Pinckney, and range in price from $176,400 to $600,000. The homes vary in style and design, and can be found in subdivisions and on individual lots.

A special feature of this year's Cavalcade will see the homes judged by a panel of experts. The winners in each price range will receive awards.

In addition, everyone touring the homes will be able to vote for their favorites in the People's Choice Award contest. One ballot will be drawn at random, and the winner will receive $2,500 in cash and prizes.

For information, call (810) 227-6210.

The list of homes on this year's Cavalcade:

- 5532 Water Willow, Howell. Built by Construction Unlimited Inc., it's 1,800 square feet, $182,000.

Toni made waves in the early '50s

By Anne McCollam

ANTIQUES

Q. I would like to know the current value of the Toni doll seen in this photo. Marked on the back of her body are the words "Ideal Doll - Made in U.S.A. - P-92." She is 19 inches tall and in very good condition. Her body is hard plastic and jointed. Although her hair is the original, her clothes are not.

What can you tell me about my doll?

A. In the early 1950s, home permanent waves first became available to the consumer. Women could now conveniently give themselves permanent waves at home. Toni Home Permanents were one of the most popular with homemakers. They introduced Toni dolls complete with a home perm kit just like mom's. Little girls could wave and curl the nylon hair with the harmless sugar and water perm solutions.

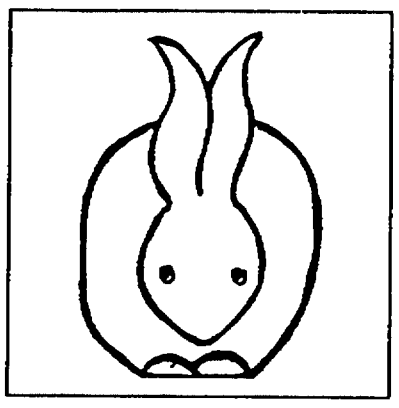
Toni dolls were made in several heights and outfits.

Mystery surrounds the location of an original Ideal collection of dolls. They were sent to Paris where famous fashion designers created individual dresses for each one. Ideal loaned the collection to department stores for display. No one seems to know where the collection is today.

Toni dolls with the original clothing, permanent wave and box are sought after by collectors. Your doll would probably be worth about $300 to $350.

Q. The enclosed mark is on the bottom of a small stoneware pitcher that was given to me. The gray glaze has a crackle finish. Around the fullest part of the pitcher is a band of rabbits all facing left. The rabbits are against a blurry, dark blue background. At the top of the pitcher is a single blue band. It is in excellent condition.

I would never sell it, but would like to know what its value is.



A. Dedham Pottery used this mark. Scottish potter Alexander Robertson founded the Chelsea Keramic Works in Chelsea, Mass. His father and brother soon joined him. They started out making simple vases, flower pots and bean pots. In 1895, they moved their operations to Dedham, Mass., near Boston and changed the name to Dedham Pottery. Thirteen of their patterns featured flora and fauna. They were all hand-made, employing an ancient Chinese technique. Far and away the rabbit was the most in demand. A close second was the elephant pattern that encircled the stoneware.

The pottery remained in the family until 1943. A lack of skilled workers and spiraling costs brought the end of a once flourishing pottery.

Q. I would like to know more about my grandfather's aunt's Oriental vase. It is decorated with many small male Oriental gold faces and dragons. It appears to be hand painted and the dragons are raised from the surface.

Any information would be appreciated.

A. Your vase is an example of 1000 Faces China that was made in Japan. Judging from your description, the pattern is Gold Faces. Although 1000 Faces China was made earlier, large quantities were manufactured from the 1930s to the 1950s. The two most often seen patterns are "Black Faces" and "Gold Faces."

The value of your vase would probably be about $225.

Q. I have a souvenir set of cards from the 1893 World's Fair, Columbian Exposition, in Chicago. They were distributed by the Singer Sewing Machine Manufacturing Co. Each card features the native dress of a nation. Although the box is in bad condition, the cards are like new and perfect.

What should I do to preserve them and what are they worth?

A. To preserve their pristine condition, avoid extremes in heat, humidity and extended periods of light and handling. Storing the set in an acid-free box is recommended.

Your set would probably be worth about $100.

Address your questions to Anne McCollam, P.O. Box 490, Notre Dame, IN 46556. For a personal response, include picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $10 per item (one item at a time).

This 1950s Toni doll is worth about $300 to $350.

New real estate Web sites keep emerging

By James M. Woodard
COPLEY NEWS SERVICE

Have you ever longed for the good old days when real estate activities were relatively routine and predictable? Those days are apparently gone forever, as we enter a new era in the real estate marketplace.

The major changes in the way we buy, sell and finance homes and other real properties are tied to the Internet. And most of those changes provide substantial new benefits to consumers. Here are a few specific examples.

Extensive databases of information on homes currently available for sale are now available and searchable on Web sites. Examples: www.Realtor.com and www.HomeAdvisor.com.

There are Web sites on the Internet that help home sellers select the best qualified broker to handle their special needs. These sites have a database of currently active brokers with their personal qualifications and specialties. They match the consumer's needs with that data. Example: www.Homegain.com.

Other Web sites allow people to participate in real estate auctions online. It's sparking something of a boom in the auctioning of real properties. Example: www.Homebid.com.

Prospective homebuyers can now take a virtual photographic tour of homes that are available for sale. In some cases, the sites include 360-degree color photo views of the property - inside and out - along with the neighborhood. Example: www.Bamboo.com (formerly Jutvision).

Online mortgage services allow consumers to basically name their own mortgage rate. A variety of mortgage plans can be reviewed and considered, and applications can be processed - all online. Examples: www.LendingTree.com and www.E-Loan.com.

Information on unique or non-conventional mortgage plans that could meet the special needs of certain homebuyers can be accessed online. Example: www.primeassets.com. The Internet provides direct links to court systems and lawmaking bodies in all 50 states, as well as federal government information resources - all designed specifically for persons seeking real estate related information. Example: www.REprofile.com.

Web sites can also help prospective renters find the right housing unit. Databases can now be accessed offering a great variety of currently available rental units. Example: www.SpringStreet (formerly AllApartments).

To serve the needs of professionals, Web sites now match contractors and architects bidding on consumer remodeling and design jobs. Example: www.ImproveNet. And sites allow lenders to bid head-to-head for consumers' home loans. Example: www.Realestate.com.

New Web sites are constantly being developed to serve the needs of today's home buyer, seller, renter, lender and broker. And existing sites keep improving and expanding their sites. This is indeed the communications age, and increasingly our real estate needs are being served online.

Thanks to Kevin Hawkins, a seasoned real estate communicator, for suggesting several of the above Web sites.

Q. Is it common for individual real estate brokerage firms to have their own information Web site?

A. It's becoming more common all the time, particularly for the more active, progressive firms. In some cases, major real estate organizations are helping their member firms develop effective Web sites.

For example, Homes.com, a provider of online real estate services for Realtors and consumers, recently announced their alliance with GMAC home Services, the parent company of Better Homes and Gardens Real Estate Service. The objective is to develop and host branded sites for each of the 800 Better Homes and Gardens member firms.

Each site will contain property listings with multiple photos, virtual tours, audio, video and other features. They will also provide information about schools, community and mortgage availabilities.

These sites will be accessible directly or through the new Better Homes and Gardens Real Estate Service national Web site, now being developed by Microsoft and scheduled for a June Launch, according to the firm.

Send inquiries to James M. Woodard, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 120190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190. Questions may be used in future columns; personal responses should not be expected.

Real Estate Facts by John & Lisa Marker

MAXIMIZE YOUR BUYING POWER!

Buying a home usually means securing a mortgage, which entails finding the right lender. Here are some tips to make the right choice, while stretching your home-buying dollars.

Ask the real estate agent to set up a pre-approval appointment with a local lender, avoid the unnecessary steps of having a "pre-qualification" interview or a sometimes more costly "instant approval" process. Pre-approval means having a firm commitment from a lender for a predetermined amount of money.

Once approved, you become more valuable to sellers. To them you are a "cash" buyer, ready to complete a purchase. This gives you "bargaining power" when making your purchase offer.

Ask if the lender offers fast mortgage approval. Some are able to offer 5-7 day approval, while electronic underwriting makes same-day approval possible. Once again, the sooner you can take your purchase to the settlement table, the more valuable you become to sellers.

Ask the lender about their flexibility in underwriting guidelines. A minor exception to normal underwriting rules can sometimes allow approval of a higher mortgage amount, making you eligible to buy the home you want.

Mortgage lending is a competitive business. Each lender wants to loan you money, so ask about negotiable loan fees. Ask about all fees, i.e. "processing" or "underwriting" fees, "loan origination" fees, "warehousing" fees. These are sometimes negotiable, and should not be overlooked.

If you're planning to sell your home soon and would like information on its current value, give us a call at 248.348.1500 or E-Mail johnB@magic-marker.com.

MDA

THE IRON HORSE OF ALS

When Lou Gehrig's widow chose an organization to lead the fight against amyotrophic lateral sclerosis — the muscle-wasting disease that killed her husband — she selected the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Since the time she served as MDA national campaign chairman, the Association has consistently led the battle against ALS. MDA maintains the world's largest nongovernmental ALS research and patient services program.

Join our rally for a cure. Together, we can enrich the lives of Americans fighting the ravages of ALS today, and save countless lives tomorrow.

Bring an appetite

Romanoff's offer authentic German cuisine

By ANNETTE JAWORSKI
Staff Writer

Are you tired of the same old take out? Looking for something new to do on a Friday night? Then get yourself a stout appetite and head to Romanoff's German night in Ann Arbor for some great authentic German cuisine.

If you've had a German grandmother, you know what this cooking is like. You can find that same great chicken dinner, juicy, and with just the right amount of paprika and spices, without going to grandma's or Frankenmuth.

"We serve all the classic German dishes. We're the only German chefs in the area. We cook it the right way," Roman Phillip said.

Where else would you find entree's like this - Ribs, homemade sauerkraut or Wiener Schnitzel, (breaded veal steak). Feel like trying something a little different? How about Rheinisher Braten (roast beef), Hungarian Goulash, (beef tips in mild paprika sauce) Koenigsberger Klopse, (large meatballs in a caper sauce), Australian Appelstrudel or bean cassoulet.

The menu varies from week to week, but count on one thing, homemade, delicious and hearty. And don't be shy to ask about the cuisine. The family of chefs or their staff will be more than happy to explain the specialties.

Hey, maybe you're not up to hoisting a brew or a glass of wine at the beer garden. That's okay, take out's permissible, even popular there too. A lot of our clients are professional

Michigan Streams and Lakes

Stream MAP of Michigan
Why every fisherman and boater needs this map
It is estimated that 10% of all the fishermen catch 90% of the fish. Regardless of which group you fall into... there's a sure way to up your odds... simply try new fishing waters. Fish where few fishermen ever fish.
Michigan is loaded with great fishing waters...many of them overlooked. From the AuSable River to all of the Great Lakes tributaries to the Pere Marquette River...thousands of miles of streams, lakes and rivers are now easy-to-locate on one map.
Professor Higbee's Stream Map of Michigan is the first and only highly detailed map of its kind. This new 4 foot by 4 foot color map shows virtually all of the 35,000 miles of Michigan streams & lakes on both peninsulas.
Professor Higbee's STREAMS
LOST STREAM MAP FOUND AND RESTORED
The recently published STREAM MAP OF MICHIGAN resembles another map--known to Pennsylvania anglers as the "Lost Stream Map."
The "Stream Map of Pennsylvania" was completed in 1965 after a thirty-year effort by Howard Higbee, a former Penn State Professor.
Professor Higbee succeeded in creating a map of the highest detail possible... a map that shows every stream and lake. He painstakingly plotted by hand, the location of 45,000 miles of streams onto a 3 x 5 foot map.
The map sold extremely well-- until it was lost several years after it first appeared in print. Incredibly, the printer entrusted with the original drawing and printing plates, declared bankruptcy, then carelessly hauled Higbee's 30 years of work to a landfill.
The few remaining dog-eared copies became a prized fisherman's possession. Professor Higbee was offered $400 for one of his last maps. And state agencies were forced to keep their copies under lock and key.
Experts told Professor Higbee that reprints were impossible, because the maps were printed in non-photographic blue.
Then, in 1991, at the age of 91, Howard Higbee's dream came true. Computers made it possible to reprint the map. Holding an updated map, Howard said, "I never thought I'd live to see this day."
Then, by combining Professor Higbee's knowledge with computer technology--the STREAM MAP OF MICHIGAN was created.
RAVE REVIEWS
"It is amazingly detailed and names some creeks in the Mohawk Valley that can't even be found on topographic maps."
John Pitarres
OBSERVER-DISPATCH-Utica
"If you're looking for the most definitive maps ever created depicting every single creek, river, stream, pond and lake ....then "Professor Higbee's Stream Maps" are without question the finest.
Howard Brant
THE NEWARK STAR-LEDGER
"It is an showing where to find out-of-the-way trout streams that makes the map such a treasure to the fisherman.

Romanoff's offers German cuisine and great atmosphere

there too. A lot of our clients are professional people, who come by for take out, Roman said.

This family of chefs prepare authentic German food every Friday night at North Territorial and Pontiac Trail.

"The beer garden was a success from the outset," Roman said. "We started out near the road with two or three tables and food right off the cooker. (Barbecue) then the brain of the outfit said use Hall #2 after the weather cooled down." Roman said as he glanced to his wife, of 45 years, Elisabeth.

Although their primary business is catering, Roman says the Friday German nights are a great way to sample their wares.

"We're not really a restaurant to but we wanted to have people to try our food without a party. We want people to feel good, have a nice party and good food."

Gerald Philipp says its something like an American folk night. His father has been known to pull out his accordion on some occasions and sing a tune or two. Some people just come to hear the music and have a drink.

It takes a lot of labor and love to turn out a great German meal, chef and owner, Roman says. On Friday mornings, he begins about 4 a.m. for the German night. All breads and desserts are baked on site.

Who has the time to make the doughy spaetzle noodles like grandma used to make? It's second nature when you have 50 years of cooking experience, like Roman. He began his career the foot hills of the Black Forest where he grew up. Elizabeth learned about catering from her father where she grew up in the German side of Chekoslovakia.

"I've cooked nearly all my life. I started in Germany at the age of 14," Roman said.

He is currently is a certified executive chef, who studied at Schoolcraft College among others.

Too many chefs don't spoil the broth with this eatery, the whole family is involved here. Their two sons, Gerald and Ronald are also certified chefs. Ronald studied at L'ecole de cuisine in Lavernne, completing his studies avance'. Gerald also has his degree from Southwest Oakland Vocational Tech. He also leans toward the business end of the catering with his business degree from Cleary College.

Join the Romanoff's for some hearty fare on Friday's from 5:00 to 9:00 p.m. for a German buffet. The cost is $7.50.

"We welcome everybody and whoever comes is welcome," he said.

Romanoff's has two halls available for catering and banquets and will also cater on location. One hall caters to the more formal affairs, like weddings, the other with more of an informal atmosphere, where the beer garden is held on Fridays.

The German chef's fare was featured at Ann Arbors Blues and Jazz Festival. Romanoff's is located at 5850 Pontiac Trail

Investing: it takes money to make money

MONEY MANAGEMENT

Every serious investor knows that it costs money to make money. Fortunately, tax law allows you to deduct certain expenses that are associated with investments that produce taxable income. The Michigan Association of CPAs explains that you generally can deduct investment expenses as miscellaneous itemized deductions, to the extent that your total miscellaneous itemized deductions exceed 2 percent of your adjusted gross income (AGI). To qualify as an investment expense, the expenses you pay must be related to producing or collecting income; or managing, conserving or maintaining property held for producing income. Expenses attributable to rental property are deductible from gross income and not subject to the 2-percent floor.

Here are some of the more common investment expenses that may be deductible on Schedule A, subject to the 2-percent limit.

• Accounting fees – If you pay someone to keep track of your taxable investments, you may write off the fees you pay that individual.

• Trustee's administrative fees – Individual Retirement Account trustee fees that you pay to maintain your IRA are a deductible investment expense, but only if you pay them by separate check. Fees that are automatically deducted from your account are not deductible.

• Travel and transportation costs – You may claim a deduction for travel costs you incur to look after investments, or to seek professional advice from an attorney, accountant, trustee, or stockbroker, so long as you do not invest solely in tax-exempt investment vehicles. (If you own investment property in a resort area, keep detailed records to show that the trip was necessary for checking your investment property and was not a vacation.) Bear in mind that you may not deduct travel expenses associated with a trip to attend an investment or financial planning seminar, convention or meeting, nor may you deduct the cost of the seminar or convention itself.

• Legal costs – Legal expenses related to investment activities are usually deductible as long as the lawyer's advice is related to the determination of your tax liability, tax planning or keeping track of taxable investments.

• Safe deposit box rental fee – You may deduct the cost of renting a safe deposit box, if you use the box to store stocks, bonds or investment-related documents that generate taxable income.

• Subscriptions to investment publications and services – You may claim a deduction for subscriptions to investment-related publications or services. You may not, however, write off in one year the cost of a multiple-year subscription. Subscriptions must be deducted one year at a time.

• Investment management or investment planner's fees – If you pay someone to manage your investments, you may deduct any amounts you pay for his or her services. You may also deduct custodial or service fees charged by a dividend reinvestment plan.

• Telephone and postage expenses – The cost of investment-related telephone charges, including the cost of cellular and long-distance calls are deductible miscellaneous expenses. You also may write off the cost of postage and supplies associated with your taxable investments.

Keep in mind that a taxpayer may not deduct the cost of an office at home unless his or her investing activities constitute a business. A dealer or trader in securities is considered to be in business, while an investor who sues a home office primarily for reading financial periodicals and reports, clipping bond coupons and making investment decisions would not qualify for the home office deduction because these activities are not the taxpayer's trade or business.

To calculate your deduction for miscellaneous itemized expenses, add the total of your investment expenses to your other miscellaneous deductions such as unreimbursed business expenses and tax preparation and tax counsel fees. Then subtract 2 percent of your adjusted gross income from the total amount of these expenses.

The Michigan Association of CPAs points out that some upper-income itemizers may be subject to an additional overall limitation on the deductibility of certain itemized deductions including miscellaneous itemized expenses, taxes, home mortgage interest, and charitable contributions. According to tax law, the total of this group of deductions must be reduced by 3 percent of the amount by which your 1998 adjusted gross income exceeds $124,500 ($62,250 if married, filing separately). You should note that investment interest expenses, gambling losses, non-business casualty and theft losses, and medical and dental expenses are not subject to the overall limit on itemized deductions.

Taxpayers file suit against state Treasury

A group of area taxpayers is asking the state Court of Appeals to force the state Department of Treasury to return $172 million in property tax overpayments over two years.

The group contends that Treasury bulletins used an inflation rate of 2.7 percent instead of 1.7 percent as the amount of allowable increase in property assessments.

"That 1 percent (difference) is further compounded into an automatic overtax in 1999 and every year thereafter," said Bill McMaster, Birmingham publicist and chair of Michigan Taxpayers United.

Among the plaintiffs are Stewart Oldford, Hartland resident and owner of lumber companies in Hartland and Northville; Dominick Vincentini, Oxford resident and chair of the Oakland County Taxpayers Association; Mary MacMaster, Orion resident and secretary of the Oakland taxpayers group; and Rose Bogaert, Dearborn Heights resident and chair of the Wayne County Taxpayers Association.

Attorney is Jeffrey Meek of Livonia.

Here is where the Engler administration erred, according to McMaster:

Proposal A of 1994 limits assessment (tax base) increases to 5 percent or the rate of inflation in the consumer price index (CPI). The Treasury Department send notices to county equalization officers.

The CPI, measured year to year during January, is 1.7 percent. But Treasury calculated the rate by adding the monthly increases and dividing by 12, yielding assessment increases of 2.7 percent.

The taxpayers group also charges there is a discrepancy between total state revenue reported by the state Treasury and state revenue reported by the U.S. Department of Commerce. The federal figure is about $10 billion higher, McMaster said, asking for an independent audit of the state.

Labor Day legislation mulled in state Senate

Schools would be discouraged from starting classes before Labor Day under a bill before the Michigan Senate.

If passed, the bill would require that public schools and academies be closed on the Friday before Labor Day for the years 1999-2001. That would set up a four-day Labor Day weekend but wouldn't prevent a pre-Labor Day opening.

Meanwhile, a seven-member task force would be created to report back to the Legislature and governor by the end of 2000.

The Senate Labor Committee reported out the bill April 14 on a 3-2 party line vote. Supporting it were Republicans Loren Bennett (chair) of Canton, Joanne Emmons of Big Rapids and Leon Stille of Spring Lake.

"It's a local control issue," objected Democrat Gary Peters of Bloomfield Township, joined by Burton Leland of Detroit.

Resort owners have pushed for a post-Labor Day opening. They argue that August openings cut off a choice hunk of their summer season.

The task force would be required to study "the economic and educational impact" of 1) no classes on the Friday before Labor Day and 2) no opening until after Labor Day.

The governor would appoint members. They would be picked from lists submitted by teachers unions, Michigan Association of School Boards, Michigan Association of School Administrators, the Travel Michigan unit of the Jobs Commission, Travel Commission, Michigan Chamber of Commerce and general public.

Peters submitted the amendment to let the Michigan Education Association and Michigan Federation of Teachers nominate teacher members.

A similar bill, sponsored by then-Rep. Pat Gagliardi, D-Drummond Island, died in the House last session. It was generally opposed by area school districts because:

• School calendars often were part of collective bargaining contracts.

• Teachers wanted to make K-12 calendars match university calendars so they could work on master's degrees during summer.

• The state has mandated a longer school year.

• Schools need flexibility to make up for closures during "snow days."

Refer to Senate Bill 53 when writing to your state senator. State

PRAYER to the Holy Spirit. Holy Spirit, you who make me see everything and who showed me the way to reach my ideal. You who gave me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me and you who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen. Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. Say for 3 consecutive days without mentioning your petition and your prayer will be answered. Promise to publish this prayer. Also wish to thank Blessed Mother, St. Joseph and St. Jude. M.V.W.

NOVENA to St. Jude. May the sacred heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved, and preserved throughout the world now and forever. Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us. St. Jude, worker of miracles, pray for us. St. Jude, helper of the hopeless, pray for us.
Say this prayer 9 times a day; by the 9th day, your prayer will be answered. Publication must be promised. M.V.W.

THE FAMILY of Rick, Sue and Ashley Burton of Howell would like to express their appreciation & gratitude in the recent loss of Cody Alan Burton on May 13th, to the following family, friends, neighbors, community, Liverance Funeral Home of Fowlerville (Keith & Karen), Pastor Lloyd Williams, members of First Baptist Church in Fowlerville, Howell Public Schools, students, PTO, Wal-Mart, Sefa's, Debra Broombaugh, Century Tool & Gage Co., Inc. of Fenton, Cummings family, niece Crystal Shaw for giving the eulogy, and all those who have helped in any way and for all the many, many prayers for the family.

new & used car & truck dealer directory

ATTENTION NEW AND USED DEALERSHIPS!

Capture the fastest growing market area. Readers are looking to drive the deals they want! Our Car & Truck Dealer Directory is the perfect place to invite buyers to your dealership.

For just $50 a week or $75 for both New & Used Dealers your ad will:

- Be noticed - twice! We run in the Classified auto section of your Sunday Brighton Argus and Livingston County editions; as well the Classified Auto section of the Thursday South Lyon Herald, Milford Times, Northville Record and the Novi News. That's over 54,000 combined subscribers!
- Be given a number on our bright and colorful map to show your location, location, location!

Deadline is Wednesday at 5pm, except during holidays.
Price and size of ad is subject to change according to volume of advertisers.

PRICE GUARANTEE & RAINCHECKS

†If, within 30 days (14 days for computers, monitors, printers, notebooks, camcorders, digital cameras and radar detectors) of your purchase from Best Buy, you find a local competitor offering a lower price on an available product of the same brand and model, we'll refund the difference plus another 10% of the difference. Bring us verification of the lower price, plus your original Best Buy receipt to claim your refund. Does not apply to special, bonus or free offers, and in California cellular phones and pagers. Does not apply to products with special financing offers. For complete price guarantee details, please see a customer service representative. Some products in this ad may be slightly different from illustrations. Correction notices for errors in this advertisement will be posted in our stores. Rainchecks are available on most items specifically advertised in this insert, except where noted. We reserve the right to limit quantities. See store for complete details.

IMPORTANT CONSUMER FINANCING INFORMATION

Not valid on previous purchases. Subject to credit approval on the Best Buy Card. Offer is for individuals, not businesses. As of 04/26/99, the Annual Percentage Rate (APR) is 22.15%. APRs may vary. Minimum finance charge of $1.00 may apply. Credit is provided by GE Capital Consumer Card Co. or Household Bank (SB) N.A. For the Same as Cash with Payments until January 2001 Plan, if the purchase advance and any charges due relating to this purchase advance are not paid in full by January 3, 2001, finance charges will be assessed from the transaction date. You will be required to make minimum monthly payments during the deferral period on this purchase advance. 6-Month and 90-Day Financing: Financing is a No Payment, Deferred Interest program. If balance is not paid in full by the plan expiration date, interest will be assessed from the original date of purchase on the average balance. Minimum total purchase of $299 is required for 6-month financing. No minimum purchase required for 90-day financing. For complete financing details please refer to your credit application, credit statement or Best Buy in-store customer information.

Thompsonized

Waterproofing That's Built-in Before You Build!

To the Core Waterproofing

Thompsonized™ is pressure treated to the core of the wood.
This dramatically reduces warping, splitting and cracking, while protecting against termites and fungal decay.

Surface Waterproofing

Surface waterproofing doesn't reach the core of the wood and will not offer the unsurpassed protection of Thompsonized™ wood!

- Made from selected, premium grade wood
- Pressure treated to 3-times the industry standard for water repellence
- Wax formula penetrates to the core of the wood
- Stainable – use oil-based stain after 30 days
- Protection designed to last a lifetime

LIVINGSTON DEVELOPMENT GROUP

Builder of the Month

By Susan Graham

Wouldn't it be wonderful to work with a building company that offered bells and whistles in homes as standard? How about one that provided detailed costs sheets with every floor plan change — before costs were incurred? Such a company exists: Livingston Development Group in Brighton.

Under the guise of president Henry Asher, who has been building in Livingston County for 23 years, Livingston Development Group holds the philosophy that customers want and deserve more in their homes. Fabulous Livingston homes sport floor-to-ceiling ceramic tile baths, heavy-duty oak staircases with two-inch spindles, eight-foot high insulated garage doors, six-panel solid wood doors and more. Generous allowances are also provided. "These features cost more, but they are essential in a luxury home," says Marcus Yono, vice president of sales and development. "From an investment standpoint, our customers come out ahead. The quality and features of our homes really show through. Ultimately, these homes appraise for more than others."

Brick exteriors: Realizing its value, appeal and convenience, the majority of Livingston homes are designed primarily of brick. If siding is used, Livingston relies on the look, quality and stainability of solid cedar siding over the commonly used OSB siding, which is prone to warping.

Hardwood floors: Hardwood floors are beautiful and great for resale. You'll find extensive use of 3/4-inch thick homes with a library, the French doors are also eight feet tall. Some Livingston homes sport these taller entries throughout the home.

Solid wood cabinets: Rather than settle for particle board, Livingston uses cabinets that are made from 100% solid wood, including cabinet doors and drawers. Customers can choose between maple, oak, hickory and cherry and an array of custom designs.

Heating and cooling systems with zoning: Each floor is fitted with an electronic thermostat for optimum control and more even temperatures throughout the home, ultimately reducing costs.

Oval archways: Even the finishing touches on a Livingston home are unique. Many of the hardwood in the foyer, hallway, vestibule, kitchen and nook of Livingston homes.

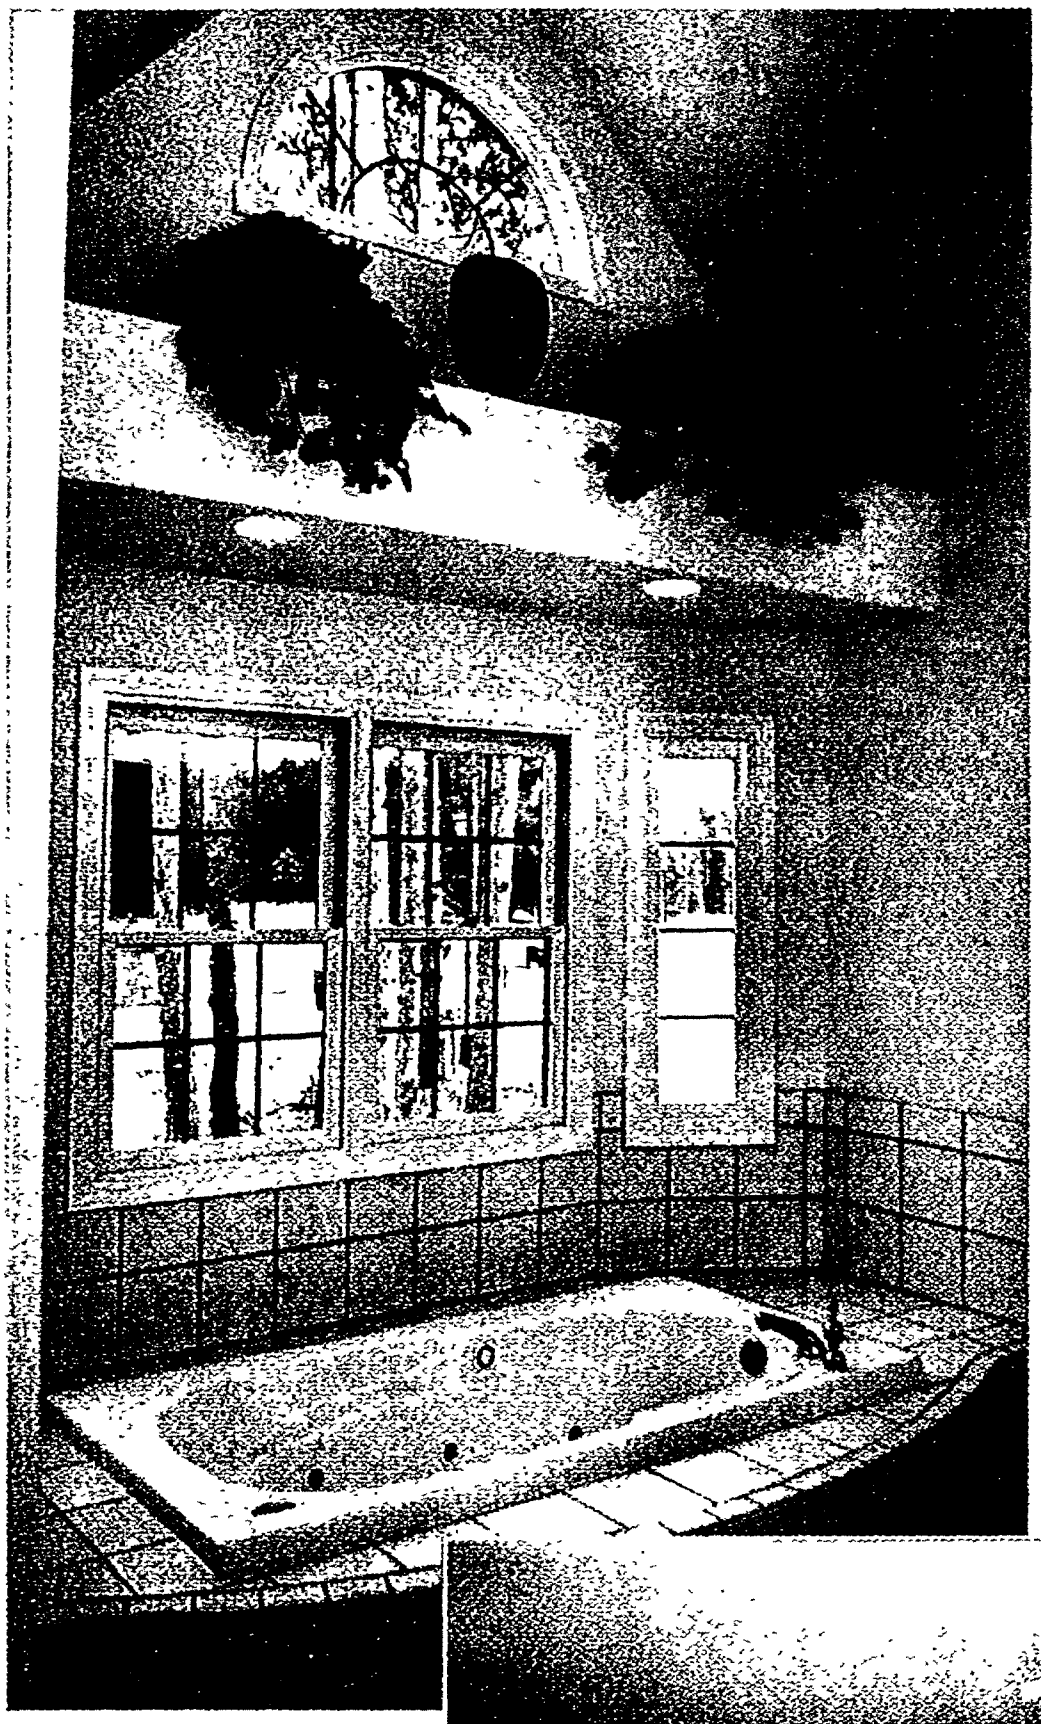
Recessed lighting: New homes may come standard with an average of five to eight recessed lights, but Livingston homes have a minimum of 20-25 lights. "They're attractive and cut down on the number of lights the homeowner has to purchase as part of their allowance," says Yono.

Tall doorways: Eight-foot tall front entry doors add a whole new dimension to your home inside and out (most entry doors are 6 feet, 8 inches tall). In most

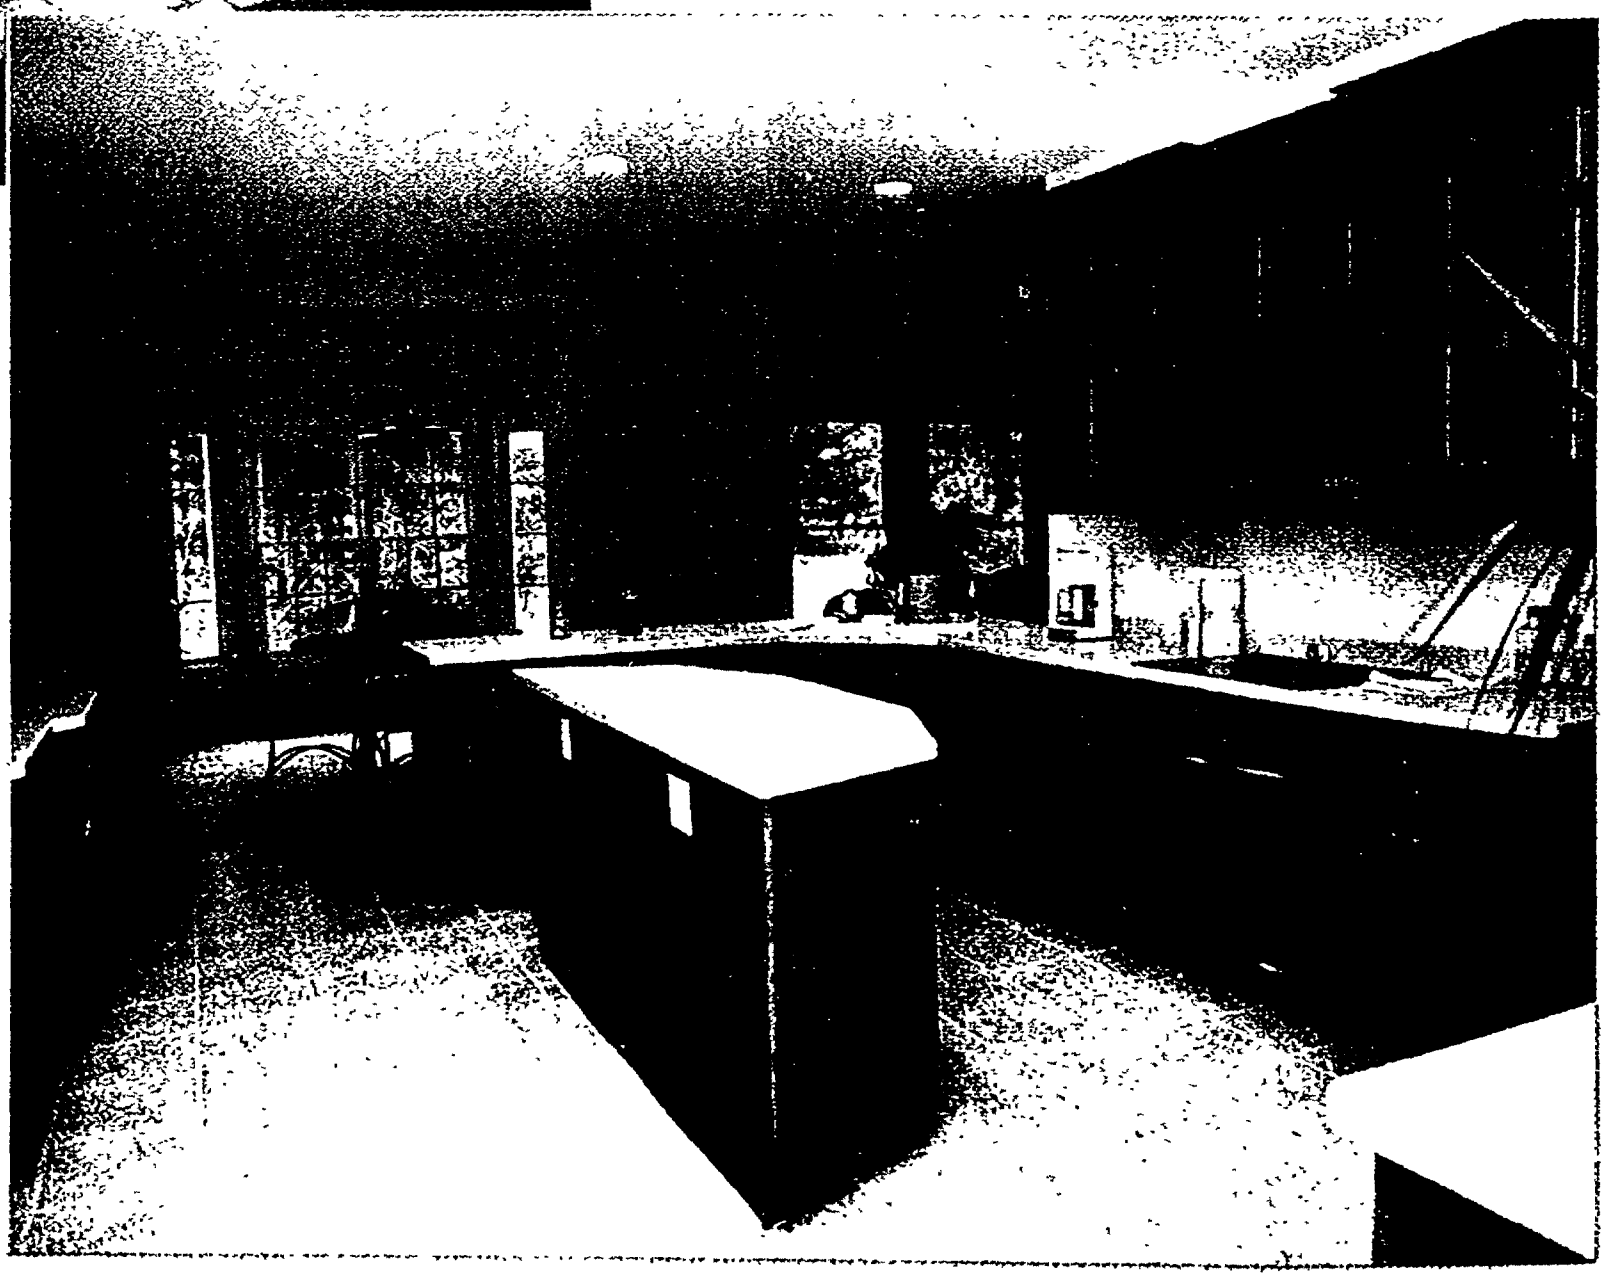


To keep everyone on track, including subcontractors, Livingston utilizes a computerized scheduling program. "The schedule is given to the trades two months in advance," says Yono. "From the day we dig the basement to completion, it takes us a total of five months to build a home, even one that's 5,000 square feet."

You'll find Livingston Development Group in Morgan Lake Estates, a community in Brighton Township that boasts miles of trails and a pristine 27-acre lake. Customers select their floor plan first, make alterations and then choose the elevation style. "This gives each home a completely unique look," says Yono. First-floor masters, ranches and traditional two-story plans range in size from 2,600 square feet to over 4,000.

At Morgan Lake, Livingston has taken the guesswork out of home accessories by designing their model with all the latest features. The model includes spectacular wood work, various countertop and flooring options, a central vacuum, sound and alarm systems, electrical chandelier lift for easy cleaning, sound proofing, curved walls and more. "We show a little bit of everything," says Yono. "This way a customer can see, touch and try out options, and decide which ones they want in their new home."

Livingston Development Group is also building homes in both Pine Creek Ridge and Oak Pointe Hills. Spec and custom homes are available in both Brighton communities starting in the mid $500's and low $400's, respectively. Both communities have city water and sewer.



hallways are designed with oval arches and curved drywall. Such arches might be found in entries to the kitchen, family areas, balcony and over the fireplace, almost anyplace there is an arch.

What customers won't get from Livingston are surprises. All customer requests for changes are clearly assessed and shown to the client for approval. This enables the homebuyer to follow their budget from start to finish. Homes are also completed in a timely manner.

Manufactured Homes Provide Quality Selection

By Chris McElmeel

Let's say you had a choice to have your new home built in a controlled environment, away from the elements, or on-site where rain, wind and sunlight could potentially damage building materials. It wouldn't be much of a decision, right?

Manufactured and modular homes provide new buyers that very advantage.

According to Christopher Wyman, owner of Crest Housing Inc./Wyman Building, the quality of workmanship of a manufactured home is as good, and in some cases, even better than traditional home construction.

"It's the difference between building a car from parts in a parking lot and building a car in a factory where it's built in stages in a controlled environment," he explains. "There's a substantial difference."

"It's the difference between building a car from parts in a parking lot and building a car in a factory where it's built in stages in a controlled environment."

– Christopher Wyman

The materials used in manufactured homes are mandated by federal and state government, making a manufactured house and site-built homes nearly identical when it comes to minimum standards and specifications. However, the manufactured housing industry typically uses superior structural components in the walls and roof, rather than those materials used in most site-built homes.

"Most homes built in Michigan are 2"x4" constructed homes. All manufactured homes, bar none, are 2"x6" construction. Again, there's a pretty substantial difference," says Wyman. "Other than that, the quality of your shingles, the types of windows and the siding or the brick used, is pretty much mandated by state codes."

There is a noticeable cost advantage as well. Manufactured homes range from approximately $35-$70 per square foot. Comparable site-built homes usually run between $85-$125 per square foot.

Manufactured home buyers can choose from three models: HUD, which is the least modifiable and typically consists of vinyl siding; state code, which features vinyl and masonry; and panelized, which is manufactured in a controlled environment like the other two and features vinyl and masonry, but is pieced together on site.

"The panelized home is a direct competitor to custom-built housing, so it can be configured to be anything you want it to be," Wyman said.

"In Livingtston County, there are several panelized homes that exceed 5,000 square feet."

The biggest HUD home is typically 32'x80' and ranges from 1,000-2,200 square feet. State home modulars usually start at 1,000 square feet and go as large as 4,200 square feet. Finally, a panelized home is usually not smaller than 1,800 square feet but can be as large as the homeowner desires.

Provided the floor plan meets the criteria of the developer, a manufactured home can be put in any subdivision and on any piece of land in the state, says Wyman.

Wyman explains that the manufactured housing industry is unique in that companies rarely use sub-contractors and therefore garner a greater level of consistency than most traditional homes.

"A specific manufacturer of the manufactured home doesn't use any sub-contractors. His people are all trained and designed to do a specific task on every home he builds," says Wyman. "So, he's not at the beckon call of what's available in the sub-contractor marketplace on a given day."

Often times, people in the market for a new home don't have 8-12 months to spare while waiting for their homes to be completed. Yvonne Lewis, owner of Quality Modular Homes, says a modular home usually takes only 60 days to complete after it arrives at the site.

"From the time you order the home, I can have it to the site in 10-14 weeks. During that time, I'm pulling permits and having the lot prepped. When we deliver a modular home, it's approximately 90 percent complete," says Lewis. "We'll set it on the foundation and it's watertight that day. In seven to 10 days, we can finish the marriage of the walls."

Modular homes are regulated by Building Officials and Code Administrators (BOCA) and undergo the same scrutiny that "stick" (a term for traditional-built homes) homes are subjected to. They are also manufactured in a controlled environment and, thanks to an experienced work force and the use of specialized jigs to cut sections, consistency and quality are very high on modular homes.

Quality Modular Homes offers Freedom and Custom Series models. Freedom Series homes start at $110,000 and allow for little, if any, modifications. The Custom Series, as the name indicates, gives the homebuyer the option of altering the floor plan and costs anywhere from $120,000-$200,000 for a Cape Cod, colonial or ranch model.

Lewis says her homes are very energy efficient as a result of the 2"x6" construction and the heartier R19 insulation, something that most builders don't normally use. People can even opt for the super energy efficient R25 insulation.

Buyers should make sure, however, what the modular home company is responsible for and what they leave up to you to get done, says Lewis. "Look for a company that will take you from start to finish," she explains. "Some companies have you pull permits and do the follow-up work."

The Water Factor

Ponds & Waterfalls Make Any Yard A Natural Setting

By Chris McElmeel

PHOTOS PROVIDED BY AGUAFINA FINE WATER GARDENS & IMPORTS

People seem to be naturally drawn to water. Perhaps it's the tranquil sound as it gently laps over rocks, or the way it reflects the surrounding landscape like a mirror.

One thing is for sure, though. When it comes to beautifying your backyard, ornamental ponds and waterfalls are becoming more and more popular.

"A lot of our clients are busy executives," says Daryl Toby, owner of AguaFina Fine Water Gardens & Imports of Sylvan Lake. "People today have very hectic lifestyles; We try to create a backyard escape. When you have a water garden installed, it's like creating your own private paradise, it's very relaxing."

AguaFina's philosophy is to first create a relationship with the client and then translate their ideas into reality. "We strive to create the most natural-looking water garden possible," says Toby. "We make it look as though the pond has always been there, rather than looking man-made or contrived." Toby says the style for AguaFina ponds is very free flowing and natural. "Our water gardens are very high quality — they're not the cheapest, but we have a lot of experience in creating beautiful ponds and the surrounding landscape designs."

"Water gardens are soothing and relaxing. You can just sit out in the yard and ponder your pond," adds Glenn Laskie, owner of Skippy's Pond in Taylor. "This is the fastest growing area of gardening," he adds. "You're talking about a $2.5 billion dollar industry." Plan on spending anywhere from $10,000-$100,000 to have a water garden designed and installed in your landscape.

Some people attempt building their own water gardens. There are several things to take into consideration before you get started, says Laskie. For example, you shouldn't dig deeper than 32"-34" because it makes planting water plants difficult. Also, if you opt to add fish, they have a tendency to stay near the bottom during the summer months, making it difficult to see them.

"Twenty four inches deep is recommended, but 32 inches is probably best," says Laskie.

He warns against placing a pond under an eaves or drain, where run-off water will fall into it, because it can add unwanted water to your pond. Laskie recommends drafting a rough sketch of the pond and proposed pond site before you have someone who knows something about ponds look it over. Some thought and proper planning are essential for an attractive, successful water garden.

However, if you're all thumbs in the garden, businesses such as Skippy's Pond or AguaFina will install a water garden or pond for you. It usually takes one-three days to dig the hole, lay the liner, place the rocks, install the filter and do the landscaping around the pond, according to Laskie.

The basic parts of a pond include a waterfall or stream, the major pool area, ledges for planting, filter system, and a good liner with at least 45-mill thickness. A good skimmer is also important, because it not only hides the pump plumbing, but also collects leaves and other debris that can gather on top of the water. It sits at mid-water level and requires emptying about once a week (in the fall when the leaves are falling it should be checked daily).

A number of filtering systems are available, but selecting the right one is essential if you plan on having fish in your pond. The biological filtration system utilizes bacteria that grows on the filter and cleans the water as it passes through. Ultra violet filtration features a UV bulb that burns the algae cells and causes the dead cells to coagulate, allowing the mechanical filter to remove them from the water.

Although, if the pond is set up properly and the filtration system is adequate for the size of the pond, minimal maintenance is required.

Pre-former artificial ponds, cast from actual stones and made of a flexible urethane, require no digging. They are placed on the ground and usually feature rocks built up around it.

Marco Scappaticci, owner of The Rock Shoppe in the Plymouth area, said these types of ponds are usually 6' x 6' and are among the easiest to install.

Another option, pre-formed tubs, are placed directly into the ground and are made of duraliner material. They can also be set on top of the ground and be built up if the homeowner isn't in an excavating mood.

Scappaticci claims that anyone can be walked through the pond-building process. However, one of the more common pitfalls when installing your own pond and waterfall is making it too large.

"Some people want to do an Olympic-sized pool and that turns into more of a maintenance nightmare for most people," he explains.

Other things you should look into prior to breaking ground are local codes and ordinances. Some communities consider a pond deeper than 24" to be a pool and therefore require fences and other special treatments.

While most people choose smaller ponds, The Rock Shoppe will custom make just about any size liner a person wants, but regardless of the size, the pond should invite people, says Scappaticci.
