District fills pair of key positions

Assistant superintendent job won by Pallas

By JENNIFER NORRIS
Staff Writer

On July 1, Northville Public Schools will have a new assistant superintendent step up to the plate.

At the May 22 meeting of the Northville board of education, board members unanimously approved Linda Pallas to join the administrative ranks of the district.

Pallas will assume the position of assistant superintendent for instructional services.

Linda Pallas

The position is currently held by Linda Pitcher, who will be retiring at the end of June after completing four years of service.

At present, Pallas is the executive director of curriculum and instructional services for the Redford Union School District.

"It's a very similar position, but this is a step up," said Pallas.

Pallas, who is also a Northville resident, is set to tackle the new responsibilities with first-hand knowledge of the area and its

Leave it green: township opts to preserve land

By LON HUHAN
Staff Writer

With development and growth increasing in Northville Township, the township board of trustees has declared four acres of land as township-owned property to be utilized as undeveloped green space.

The four acre location at Sheldon Road between Five Mile and Six Mile roads, was purchased from Wayne County. According to township supervisor Mark Abbo, in the past the board of trustees had discussed selling the property, but were deterred by a potential deal that would have to be made with Wayne County.

"The four-acre site is designated as a planned urban development through Wayne County for the purpose of public usage," Abbo said.

Abbo said the township also contemplated building a third fire station on the four acres, but township consultants and officials did not believe the property was sufficient for the project. Abbo said the land does not have much potential for other uses, either.

Another idea for the land involved selling the property to the adjacent developer of the neighboring subdivision. Abbo said that Wayne County would want a share of the sale proceeds from any potential sale.

"It really isn't feasible that we sell that piece of property unless we can convince the county to amend the PUD," Abbo said.

The plot was originally acquired in the hope of selling it to obtain funds to purchase another more practical location. Abbo said that if a share of the sale proceeds were given to the county, then the township would not be able to purchase a larger lot elsewhere.

Livonia police nab robbery suspect

By LON HUHAN
STAFF WRITER

A bank robber's successful heist in Northville Township may have given him a false sense of security, as Livonia police officers caught up to the suspect following May 15 robbery attempt at a Midwest Guarantee branch in Livonia.

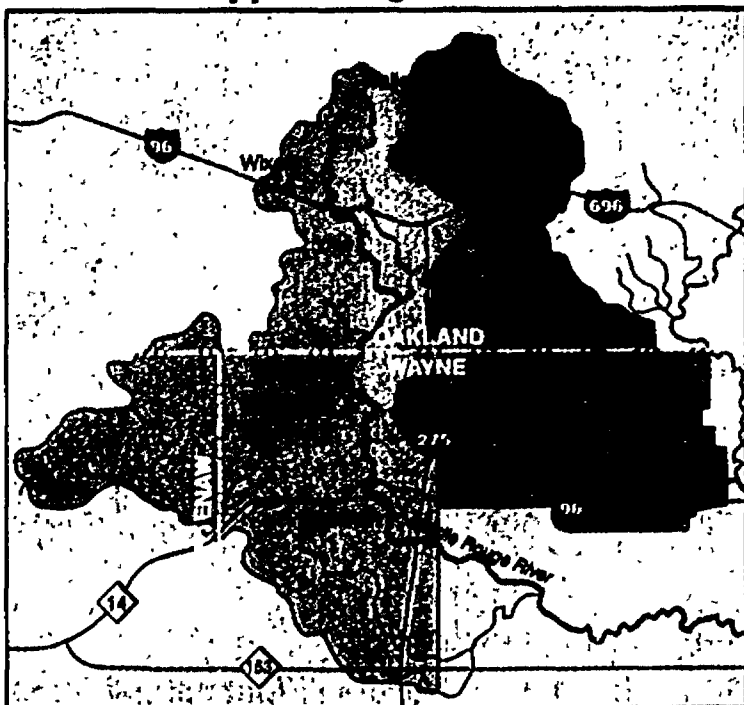

Gerald Shannon, 28, of Detroit remained free after robbing the Standard Federal Bank at 39437 W. Six Mile Road in Northville Township on April 9, but he was photographed by security cameras in the process. According to township police detective Paul Sumner, Shannon went into the bank just before 2:30 p.m. and proceeded to fill out a withdrawal slip at the transaction counter. He approached a teller and handed over a withdrawal slip that stated "100's, 50's and 20's."

Sumner said the teller asked Shannon to sign the slip, to which Shannon responded, "You don't understand. Give me all your money."

He repeated the statement while putting his hand inside his jacket before saying, "Don't make me take this out."

When the teller began emptying the drawer, Shannon said aloud, "This is a holdup." After

Silver Springs talent takes center stage

When 10-year-old Alan Roberts grows up, his dream is to become a singer.

On Friday, Roberts was one step closer to his goal as he performed in front of dozens of spectators at Silver Springs Elementary's talent show.

"Singing is one of my favorite things to do," said Roberts, adding that he had been preparing for his part of the show for two weeks.

Students with a myriad of skills had their turn in the spotlight as an audience of their peers, parents and teachers cheered and applauded.

The audience was entertained as costumed dancers twirled and leaped across the stage as the upcoming participants waited patiently in the wings. Other students sang, played musical instruments, performed karate moves, reenacted skills and even did gymnastics routines.

Students said they were looking forward to participating in the

Rouge restoration part of Northville's long-range vision

By LON HUHAN
Staff Writer

Subwatershed management plans hope to ensure the future cleanliness of the Rouge River.

Both the Northville city council and Northville Township board of trustees adopted resolutions that support local restoration and improvement plans for the Rouge River.

"The challenges of increased flows, land use and non-source pollutants are several of the reasons for initiating the plan," Ayers, Lewis, Norris and May, Inc.

engineer Melinda Carr said.

With an increase in population growth and development, the Northville's township board of trustees and city council approved to adopt a plan that would have the township collaborating with other communities to develop and execute a comprehensive plan to improve water quality in the Rouge. The township belongs to two subwatershed groups within the Rouge River drainage basin, the middle one

Police Reports

NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP POLICE REPORTS

ASSAULT? A 15-year-old Livonia female reported to Northville Township police that a baker at Tim Horton's on Haggerty Road assaulted her while she was getting ready to leave work.

The woman, an employee of Tim Horton's, was putting pants on over her work pants before she drove home. The woman said the store's baker, a 37-year-old Southfield man, shoved her into some boxes and tried to kiss her. She shoved him away and he then pushed her back into the boxes.

According to the police report, she approached the shift manager to tell him of the incident. The suspect told the manager he was merely joking with the woman. The case is still under investigation.

OUIL: A township police officer on patrol observed a BMW exiting the Cass Benton Park, and while waiting to exit, the driver had half of the front end sticking out into traffic. The officer reported that the driver was swerving in the lane as they drove away. The officer stopped the vehicle just north of Reservoir Road.

According to the police report, when the officer approached the driver-side window, he observed the woman appearing to be disheveled, in that her left breast was showing and her eyes were bloodshot. The officer also detected the odor of intoxicants as well. The driver was identified as a 43-year-old female from Indian Rocks Beach. While performing the field sobriety tests, the woman gave the impression of being intoxicated. A preliminary breathalyzer test resulted in BAC of 0.120 percent.

The woman was arrested for OUIL and had her license plate confiscated because she was a second offender. She was released pending sobriety and posting of bond.

MISSING, THEN DISCOVERED: A 45-year-old Northville Township man reported to the township police department that his Chevy Suburban was missing from his driveway. The man told the police that he had parked the vehicle in his private driveway on May 24, and when he went out on the morning of May 25, the vehicle was missing.

The Suburban was unlocked and the keys were inside at the time. Paperwork that had been inside was found scattered around the driveway. The case remained open until Washtenaw County sheriff's department contacted the township to tell township authorities the vehicle had been located. According to the police report, Washtenaw County authorities said the vehicle was involved in a hit and run accident. The suspects fled the scene and were not found. There was damage to the front end of the vehicle.

BIKING & YOUR FEET

Biking, a popular activity for recreational and competitive reasons, is a great way to improve cardiovascular fitness and stay in shape. Besides a good bike, proper shoes are the most important piece of biking equipment you can buy. A shoe worn for cycling should support the arch, keep the forefoot balanced, lift the heel to maximize efficiency and protect the foot. If a shoe allows the arch to collapse, the rider may experience arch pain, burning on the sole of the foot, or tendon problems. Other potential problems from improper or ill-fitting cycling shoes include toe numbness, sesamoiditis, and shin splints. For the casual rider, cross-training shoes or cycling-hiking shoes work well. The more competitive rider will want cycling-specific shoes.

Stormwater management may be shifted to Wayne County

By LON HUZHMAN
Staff Writer

With the potential adoption of a stormwater management ordinance on June 4 at the Northville city council meeting, Wayne County may become the responsible party for the city of Northville's storm water management program.

"Adopting the Wayne County storm water management ordinance would be very beneficial," Northville city's director of public works James Gallogly said. "It could save the city the cost of the storm water management activities."

According to Gallogly, the city of Northville is currently covered by the voluntary stormwater permit with the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, but this will have to change.

Gallogly said that in October of 2000, the Wayne County board of commissioners adopted a new stormwater management ordinance, which was required under new state and federal storm water regulations. Under the ordinance, Wayne County has the authority to require storm water management standards in development and re-development projects. However, Gallogly said by March of 2003 all Wayne County communities including many others will be required to manage storm water from development and re-development projects.

"To meet our stormwater management requirement, there are two options the city can take and one would be to develop a city-managed program similar to Wayne County, but with city oversight and control," Gallogly said. "Or we could adopt the Wayne County program and delegate review, approval and maintenance responsibility to Wayne County."

According to Wayne County, the purpose of the ordinance is to set requirements that include development, implementation and enforcement of programs to manage storm water from new development and re-development, so that flooding problems, erosion and loss of or damage to natural resources can be minimized. The ordinance claims that a partnership between the county, local government and other agencies that influence development and storm water management will ensure that such program is effective.

The ordinance applies to such county-wide development activities as residential, commercial and industrial subdivisions as well as mobile and manufactured home parks. In addition, projects that impact stormwater into or around new or existing county road rights-of-way, county road drainage facilities, storm sewer systems owned, operated or controlled by the county and projects that impact storm water into or around the county drain. Projects developed, designed or constructed by the county will also be regulated by the ordinance.

The Rouge River watershed would be included in the ordinance as well. The city is part of the Middle One section of the Rouge watershed. All regulated construction activity in the watershed is subject to the requirements. In March of 2003, the watershed section may be expanded to include projects within the county that are outside the watershed.

Projects are required to meet certain standards for flood control and water resource protection. An example of flood control is that a project must have an adequate stormwater outlet and for water resource protection such requirements as the first 35 percent of the bank full flood storage volume, which is equivalent to the first flush volume, can not be discharged until it is treated by capture and gradual release over a period of at least 24 hours.

"If the council approves the ordinance it would cover the entire city and not just the Wayne County portion," Gallogly said. "This is beneficial because developers will only have to work with one set of regulations."

The city council did approve the first reading of the ordinance at the May 21 meeting. The June 4 meeting at city hall will be the time for the second reading with a possible adoption. Gallogly said if the ordinance is adopted, then it would become effective on June 14.

Lon Huhman is a staff writer for the Northville Record. He can be reached at (248) 349-1700, ext. 109 or by e-mail at huhman@ht.homecomm.net.

WET S UP?

■ In October 2000, the Wayne County board of commissioners adopted a new stormwater policy, which allows the county to establish stormwater management standards.

■ Passage of the ordinance would cover the entire city of Northville — including that portion of Northville currently in Oakland County.

■ The new stormwater ordinance, if adopted, would take effect June 14.

LET'S TALK JEWELRY

WITH GARY S. WEINSTEIN GEMOLOGIST

FLOATING DIAMONDS

One of the hottest trends in jewelry recently embraced by young women involves the so-called floating diamond necklaces. These are the small solitaires suspended on barely visible filament that are showing up around the necks of so many young Hollywood starlets. These gravity-defying diamonds are preferred in sizes ranging between .05 and .20 carats, which gives them a minimalist appearance. They seem to float in the hollow of the neck, without the benefit of a gold chain. In fact, the trompe l'oeil effect is so persuasive that many who see the little twinklers believe them to be the result of neck piercing. Of course, nothing could be further from the truth. The effect, however, is part of their allure.

Diamonds, as well as other precious gem purchases, should always be handled by a qualified gemologist. WEINSTEIN JEWELERS OF NOVI, with 3 generations of experience, provides our customers with skilled, courteous, personalized service, and of course, an outstanding selection of stones. Here at 41990 Grand River Ave. (248-347-0303), we are here for all your jewelry and gemstones needs. We are now licensed by the city of Novi to offer loans on jewelry. We are "The name you know, the name you trust."

(*) The time diamonds need to create floating diamond necklaces is so minuscule that they are within the reach of nearly all consumers.

Arrowhead Alpines

With Michigan's largest selection of .....
Perennials, Woodland Wildflowers, Unusual Ferns,
Rare Alpines, Dwarf Conifers, Unusual Shrubs

We have finally wrapped up the shipping season and madly setting up for visitors, we are open, finally, but are still in the midst of setup. It takes awhile to move such a huge volume of plant materials out of our retail area and we hope you will be patient, we are re-doing our shade area so we can display a much wider array of shade plants. Our stock changes continuously throughout the season as we continue to bring new plants out to the retail area; there simply isn't enough room to display everything (it's our clever play to make you return frequently). As one of the largest rare plant growers in the country, we are confident you will find enough cool stuff and we understand the need one of each! Addition, as impossible to see everything in a single day, indeed the diversity can be a bit overwhelming, study the catalog carefully or check out the website arrowheadalpines.com, perhaps bring a few reference books, and start your quest to find the plants you have previously only dreamed of growing. Hellebores, Primulas, Hostas, Tricyrtis, rare woodlanders, exotic ferns, incredible rock plants, dwarf conifers, rare flowering shrubs, and a huge selection of perennials; we offer many things that can be found nowhere else. It's no surprise that when the Chicago Botanic Gardens wanted plants for their "Rare Affair" plant auction (black tie, run by Chrises and very elite) they sent a truck to Arrowhead and spent two days loading treasures.

Participants in the Heart N' Sole race make the move around Hillside Middle School. The running event benefited Children's International, and raised $1,600 for the cause.

Runners show their Sole

By JENNIFER MORRIS
Staff Writer

On May 19, residents from around the area gathered for the second annual Heart 'n' Sole race at Hillside Middle School.

The race was sponsored by the Rotary Interact Club at Northville High School.

Audrie Lin, a junior at Northville High School and Rotary Club member, said approximately 64 runners participated in the event. Several volunteers also participated in making race day possible.

Race participants could engage in one of three events, Lin said. Such activities included running various length sprints, a one mile walk around Amerman Elementary or a 5K run through town.

NHS Junior Megan Foley, said there was a wider age range among the participants this year.

"It was nice to see," she said. Lin said proceeds from the event are earmarked for Children's International, a non-profit organization. Approximately $1,600 was raised for the organization as a result of the day's activities. Prizes for the race were donated from local businesses.

"I think it's really great we raised so much money," said Cassandra Hovious, a junior at Northville High School. "I'm very impressed."

Foley also said she was pleased with the turnout. "A lot of people don't think they can make a difference, but when we all come together it makes a bigger impact," she said.

Lin said this year's event involved extensive planning and arranging which was later met with the flavor of success.

"We learned so much," said Lin. "It all came together in the end. This one turned out even better than last year."

Hovious agreed. "I think it improved a lot from last year," she said.

The council also supports the local units by providing leadership training. The council is made up of four officers, three delegates from each Northville school PTA or PTSA and several committee chairpeople.

Each year, the Michigan selects one council in the state as "Council of the Year." This year, the Northville Council was recognized for its district-wide Parent Awareness education programs, its Legislative committee work including the holding of a Town Hall meeting to present information about the voucher proposal, and the "Safe Homes" brochure that was sent to every high school and middle school family.

Gold medalist Taormina visits Moraine Elementary

By JENNIFER NORRIS
Staff Writer

It's not every day that elementary students get to hold an authentic Olympic gold medal and meet an Olympic hero at the same time.

But last Wednesday, students at Moraine Elementary were visited by Sheila Taormina, who earned a gold medal in the 1996 Olympic Games in Atlanta in the 4 x 200 meter freestyle relay in swimming. During the 2000 Olympics in Australia, Taormina finished in sixth place in the triathlon event.

During her presentation, Taormina discussed the long road to the Olympics which was a roller coaster ride filled with both disappointments and high achievements. She told students that Olympic athletes face the same kinds of jitters and emotions as everyone else and said she hoped her account of endurance and patience would serve as an inspiration for others as they reach for their goals.

She even told them the secret for success.

"Success is taking what you've been given and working the best you can with that," she told the large group of assembled students.

Taormina said she presents the "human" side of an athlete in an effort to motivate the students and remind them that everyone faces disappointments and letdowns at some time.

"I tell them about the hard times (and that) I get nervous," she said. "We are much more alike than we are different."

In addition, she also said she hoped her message would encourage students as they attempt to meet their goals.

During her presentation, Taormina passed her gold medal out for the students to inspect and some even tried it on.

She also showed a brief film to the students about the triathlon she competed in in Australia.

Taormina said she conducts a number of presentations throughout the year speaking to students and at other assemblies.

"They were a good group," she said.

Students get up close to art

By JENNIFER NORRIS
Staff Writer

As the end of a busy school year winds down, students at Thornton Creek Elementary were busy celebrating the arts with a variety of art activities.

Jan Salmon, a music teacher at Thornton Creek, said that the entire student body recently had the opportunity to rotate through five different art stations. The various exhibits portrayed various elements of art including dance, writing, music, theater and visual arts.

"This is the culminating activity for the year," said Salmon.

At the exhibits, students participated in such activities as painting with watercolors, composing poetry, hearing tales from a storyteller, learning dance moves from representatives from the Eisenhower Dance Ensemble and even discussed how music is made and produced with a professional disc jockey.

The year end festivities had the grade levels rotating throughout the day so students could experience each of the various arenas of art.

"It's neat they get to touch on five of the arts," said John Beley, an art teacher at Thornton Creek.

Both adult and student participants said they were pleased with the day's festivities.

"We've been doing rotations," said first grader Matthew Trumbore, adding that some of the memorable sessions included hearing the disc jockey perform music and doing watercolor paintings with straws.

Students also wide smiles on their faces as they participated in the various sessions and so did the adults.

Craig Roney, a Northville resident enthralled students as he conducted storytelling sessions at his station.

"I love it," he said. "[It] introduces kids to a great variety of art."

McCotter 'can't be silent' on Jaye expulsion rationale

By MIKE MALOTT
Hometown News Service
mmalott@hometown.net

David Jaye went down swinging. As Michigan Senate deliberated his expulsion Thursday, May 24, the Washington Township Republican — long known for his feisty demeanor — remained defiant to the end.

He leveled a long list of countercharges against those senators seeking his ouster.

In the end, however, 33 other senators disagreed, voting to remove him from office. All local senators voted to support the expulsion resolution. Only two votes were cast against it, one coming from Jaye himself.

Jaye accused Senate Majority Leader Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, of "railroading" him out of office. "This is payback because I've dared to challenge the Republican leadership," he said. Jaye said it was "political payback" for the unpopular positions he has taken.

He accused Sen. Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, and the remainder of the six-member Select Committee to Examine the Qualifications of Sen. Jaye of violating his due process rights, not giving his attorneys time to prepare a case, rushing expulsion through based on accusations alone rather than convictions, and refusing to accept testimony from his witnesses.

Jaye argued he'd not been allowed to have character witnesses to testify about his contributions.

"Only people who had negative things to say were allowed," he said.

He further accused DeGrow of keeping secret files on him. And he claimed that topless photos found on his state-owned laptop had been rebuilt by a "computer whiz" from "secret copies" of his hard drive.

But the resolution for his removal cited three drunk driving convictions, the last for which he spent 45 days in jail last summer.

"a record of abuse, intimidating and violent behavior"; "two physical altercations"; and "misuse of his position as a State Senator to intimidate legislative staff members and misuse of Senate staff members and resources."

DeGrow countered that, despite the fact charges were dropped in Florida, there was evidence Jaye had hit his fiancée, including her statements on a 9-1-1 tape and marks on her face when police arrived.

In an incident in Bay County last November, McCotter said he believed an 18-year-old witness who testified that he saw Jaye hit and kick his fiancée, Sonia Kloss. A security tape from the store where the incident occurred, while not showing the strike, corroborated the witness's testimony, McCotter argued. Two other witnesses reported seeing the assault.

And copies of Jaye's digital photos were made in the course of standard processes when the laptop was being repaired, at Jaye's request, Sen. John Cherry, D-Clio, contended.

Sen. Alma Wheeler Smith, D-South Lyon, was on the Select Committee and voted to expel.

She explained that she did so because she believed senators are to be held to a higher standard than the general public, that they are required to set an example for others. She also commented that she believed it was incumbent on the part of senators to protect their own staff members. Jaye was accused of using profane and abusive language toward several senate staffers.

She also stated she believe Jaye had been given his due process rights.

"Due process, I believe Senator David Jaye was afforded due process. I believe many of us bent over backwards to assure that that due process was granted. I regret that we've come to this vote today. It was my hope along with that of many of my colleagues, that Senator Jaye would resign. But I am prepared to put up a vote for expulsion because I think the institution is far more important than the constituency that sent the Senator here," she said. She further stated support for senate leadership and the Select Committee reviewing the expulsion resolution, for its "attention to detail" and making "the hard decision."

Sen. Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, served as chair of the Select Committee and voted to expel.

If senators did not make up their minds before hand, McCotter said, Jaye's remarks — attempting to use the privilege of his office as a defense for his conduct — ultimately convinced members to vote for his expulsion.

"I can't be silent about what I perceive to be a repeated pattern of misconduct," McCotter said. "To portray oneself as a victim, to portray oneself as anything but responsible for one's own actions and the damage to the institution they inflict, would be disingenuous at best. In my mind, much of what we've seen, quite simply, is a request for special treatment from Mr. Jaye, that he would not afford to any citizen in the State of Michigan."

"We do legislation all the time that affects the life, limb and property of every resident of the State of Michigan," McCotter continued. "And we follow the due process, procedural due process that is set forth in the constitution, and the rules of the Michigan Senate. This resolution received far more deliberation and attention than many floor amendments that are placed onto appropriation bills that affect far more people. So to say that one did not have one's day is again, at best, disingenuous, especially when one has had a whole lot to say about this subject everywhere but under oath."

Aids to Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton, explained that he voted for the resolution for "conduct unbecoming to a state senator."

Sens. Bill Bullard, R-Highland, Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, and George Hart, D-Deerborn, did not speak on the resolution and did not respond to phone calls.

However, after Shannon robbed the Livonia bank on May 14 a more detailed and crucial lead was attained.

"The suspect went into the Midwest Guarantee Bank on Five Mile and handed the teller a note requesting all the money," Livonia police department detective

"It helps to have a good relationship with neighboring jurisdictions in order to solve certain cases."

Paul Sumner
Northville Township police

Terri Schlachter said. "He made off with the money, but a witness outside observed him as he jumped a wall outside the bank to get to his vehicle that was parked at the strip mall next door. The witness believed this to have been an odd occurrence, so the witness took down his vehicle plate number as well as a vehicle description and a description of what he looked like."

Schlachter said the Livonia police department then conducted surveillance operations at several known locations he frequented and finally arrested him when he appeared at one of the locations. Schlachter said her department had information pertaining to the Northville Township robbery and had in their possession the Standard Federal security photo of him.

"The person in both photos looked very similar, so this initiated the Northville Township department to set up a live lineup to include Mr. Shannon," Schlachter said.

According to Sumner, a witness from the Standard Federal robbery identified Shannon in the lineup. Sumner said the positive identification added two more additional charges against Shannon. He has been charged with bank robbery and habitual offender second degree in both robbery cases.

"Livonia did an outstanding job in apprehending the suspect," Sumner said. "There were similar robberies in other jurisdictions with follow up investigations now under way to determine if this suspect was behind them. It helps to have a good relationship with neighboring jurisdictions in order to solve certain cases."

Schlachter said sharing information with the township is essential in solving cases such as these as well.

Shannon is due in the 35th District Court in Plymouth on June 4 for preliminary examination. A bank robbery charge carries a maximum sentence of life or any number of terms up to life. The habitual offender second degree is an enhancement to the other charge, which can potentially double the amount of years served in prison.

and upper. The city belongs to the middle one. There are seven total subwatershed groups within the basin.

The middle one subwatershed is located in western Wayne County, eastern Washtenaw County and southern Oakland County and makes up 20 percent of the Rouge River watershed. The Rouge River watershed is the most heavily populated and industrialized watershed in the state. According to Carr, the middle one has a diverse set of land uses varying from small rural horse farms in the west to urban residential and commercial areas in the east and north. The middle one is home to a number of local creeks, streams and drains including the Tonquish, Bishop and Johnson Creek, which flows through the Northville community.

Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May of Ann Arbor are a group of engineers, planners and surveyors that work with the township on specific projects. One aspect to their services is environmental conservation planning. Carr is a coordinator for the implementation of the management plan.

The Upper Subwatershed covers a little over 91 square miles. It is comprised of portions of Wayne and Oakland Counties. According to Upper Rouge River Subwatershed Advisory Group's current estimates, 75 percent of the land area of the subwatershed is now developed for residential, industrial, commercial or transportation use and only 25 percent remains in agricultural, forested, water, wetland or recreation use.

The middle one subwatershed management plan is part of a comprehensive, long-term effort to protect water resources that are at risk of becoming degraded and to restore water resources that have been impaired by pollution, excessive river flows and loss of natural features," Carr said. "There is a history that has brought the plan about."

According to Carr, in 1989 the Great Lakes Water Quality Agreement was developed with states in the U. S. and provinces in Canada to protect and restore the Great Lakes. This process led to the development and subsequent revisions of the Rouge River Remedial Action Plan with which this plan is coordinated. In 1992, the Rouge River National Wet Weather Demonstration Project (Rouge Project) was created and funded through grants from the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency, and has been providing grants as well as technical assistance for restoration projects in the watershed.

"In 1998, a federal lawsuit named all Rouge River Watershed communities and agencies and mandated the restoration of the Rouge River," Carr said. "Then in 1999, the Michigan Voluntary General Storm Water permit (general permit) was developed and all communities received certificates of coverage. The subwatershed management plan is one of the elements that is a permit requirement."

Carr said challenges to the river that plan will identify can include high bacteria levels from livestock and humans; high stormwater peak flow that can be attributed to detention systems not functioning properly; sedimentation and soil erosion cause by construction sites. Other challenges include high nutrient load from lawn fertilizers, high water temperatures from loss of stream bank vegetation and wildlife threats from such things as soil erosion.

The challenges for the upper include excessive flows and pollution. According to the upper Rouge management plan, nearly 21 percent of the subwatershed is under impervious surfaces, which includes roofs and paved surfaces, that have significantly altered the natural flow conditions of the river by reducing the time it takes for rainfall or snowmelt to reach the river.

Carr said the goals and objectives for each plan include protecting the public health, reducing excessive flows, protecting, restoring and maintaining the river ecosystem as well as the aesthetically appealing conditions.

Another objective and goal is to minimize soil erosion and related sedimentation.

"There are big challenges to the Rouge River mainly from new developments and such things as lawn fertilizers," township clerk Sue Hillebrand said. "Hopefully with these two plans, we can address these challenges."

talent show Friday. "I just wanted to have fun," said Chris Adler, a fifth grade student who demonstrated various karate maneuvers. Nessel Kursava, a third grade student, performed a gymnastics routine as members of the audience clapped and cheered. "I was very excited," said Kursava. "I had a great time." Other students had similar reactions to performing on stage. Amber Filipek, a fourth grade student, said this was the first talent show she had ever participated in. "I just like dancing and showing my talents," she said.

"It gives [students] the chance to be in the spotlight."

Performing on stage brought out a range of emotions in some participants. "I thought it was pretty cool for my first year," said Brittany Snively, a third grade student who played the piano in the talent show. "I was really nervous, [but] after I started playing I got over it."

Aubree Quick, a fourth grade teacher at Silver Springs, said having an annual talent show allows students the opportunity to increase their self-esteem by demonstrating their talents and achievements to their peers. "It gives them a chance to be in the spotlight," said Quick. The talent show auditions began about three weeks ago and students have been busily preparing for their part. "Kids get so excited about it," she said.

Burn the Flag? Could be fighting words, some say

By MIKE MALOTT
HomeTown News Service
mmalott@homecomm.net

Burning an American flag is these days considered to be a constitutionally-protected form of expression.

But if a protestor burns a flag in front of a veteran with intent to incite, might not that act fall into the category of "fighting words," a form of speech that justices have said does not carry First Amendment guarantees.

Many vets could consider destruction of the flag to be tantamount to fight words, Patterson argued.

That was a question posed by state Rep. Bruce Patterson, R-Canton, during a recent House Oversight Committee hearing. The committee is considering a state legislative resolution urging Congress to push for a Constitutional amendment that would allow for prohibitions on "desecration of the American flag."

But whether flag burning should be considered "fighting words" depends on the context in which it is done, according to Bill Flory of the Michigan chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union. The fighting words exception, he explained, when a person is attempting to provoke another specifically.

Flory argued against the legislation. He said the flag is a symbol, and therefore the act of burning one deserves the same protection as a word or gesture.

"Our position is always that more speech is better than less speech," he said. He noted there are already laws that would cover cases in which protesters burn a flag owned by someone else.

House Resolution 90, sponsored by Rep. Barbara Vander Veen, R-Allendale, which urges Congress to pursue a constitutional amendment, won approval of the committee and now moves to the House floor for a vote.

"I have seen flags still stained with blood that are carefully preserved in our own Michigan Historical Museum. I have seen men and women without limbs and scarred horribly. My uncle, my husband who found and lived the terror in Vietnam, my son who currently has left his wife and three children to serve as a physician in Kosovo," Vander Veen said. "I believe these sacrifices are made a mockery of when we stand by and allow physical desecration of freedom to be (called) a 'freedom of speech.'"

Vern Henrichs, legislative chair of the Michigan chapter of the American Legion, said he would favor such a resolution, but cautioned that it ought not be worded to ban flag burning entirely. Legions, he explained, dispose of old, worn out flags in burning ceremonies. That is the proper means of disposal, he explained, so that flags are not desecrated by being thrown in the trash.

Rep. Alexander Lipsey, D-Kalamazoo, asked if "it would be wise to compose a law that tries, rather than punishing an act, to punish the thought behind an act?"

Pick a general to help win a battle

If you're going to fight a war, it helps to have your generals in place.

And if the Northville school district is going to ask voters this fall for $26 million in bond money, it helps to have all the front office personnel in line before the requests start coming out.

Fortunately, two big holes have been filled this week with the additions of Katie Doerr-Parker as the district's human resources director and Linda Pallas as assistant superintendent. The two ladies will replace Roy Danley (who retired last winter) and Linda Pitcher (who's scheduled to retire at the end of the school year.) Both Ms. Pallas and Ms. Doerr-Parker come highly recommended. In the case of Ms. Pallas, she's also a Northville resident, making her intimately familiar with the chemistry and history of the Northville district.

Both Ms. Pallas and Ms. Doerr-Parker will need to hit the ground running. It won't be much of a summer vacation for either administrator, as the district will be moving full-steam ahead with its plans to sell a financially-pressed electorate on the value of several million dollars' worth of capital improvements. And while it appears unlikely that either Ms. Pallas or Ms. Doerr-Parker will be devoting a large amount of their own time to the project, it can be assumed that the bond proposal will be the focal point, in general, between now and September.

That being the case, it certainly benefits the district to have two key personnel dilemmas solved.

What's left now for the district to tackle is the retirement of Tom Johnson as principal of Northville High. While Mr. Johnson will stay on board for one year in a central office capacity, he will no longer be handling day-to-day operations at NHS — which happens to be one of the bigger beneficiaries of the bond proposal, should it be approved.

In other words, the person named to succeed Mr. Johnson will need to be task-minded, efficient, deliberate and extremely hard-working. That's where folks like Ms. Pallas and Ms. Doerr-Parker come into play: they'll be the ones doing the legwork to find the field commander.

The district doesn't want Ulysses S. Grant. The district wants an Eisenhower or a MacArthur. It's up to the district's newest administrators to find such a person.

Now that we've picked the pickers, it's time for the pickers to begin their own picking. To borrow from "Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade," we hope Ms. Pallas and Ms. Doerr-Parker "...choose...wisely."

The district doesn't want Ulysses S. Grant. The district wants and Eisenhower or a MacArthur. It's up to the district's newest administrators to find such a person.

■ Thanks for help with skating park

The Northville Parks and Recreation Department recently held an Open Skate Day in the parking lot at Hillside Middle School. Modern Surf and Skate brought ramps, rails, and half-pipes along with their demo team to thrill the kids with their tricks. About 100 kids showed up and spent most of their time blad'ing and skatin' on the equipment. It was a great time for kids to perfect moves, try new ones, and most importantly, skate in an environment that allowed them to do so. Ages ranged from high schoolers to 5- and 6-year-olds and everyone was cooperative, friendly, and having a good time.

This event was made possible by the generous donation and supervisory assistance of Oak Pointe Church who once again demonstrated true community service and outreach to the Northville community. In addition, I would like to thank the band, HouseHOLD Punk who provided music for the event and even had some of the adults tapping their toes.

Steve McCrumb, John Morbach, Ross Kurtis, Joe Wilcox, and Brent Mosser did an awesome job jammin' while sweating under the warm sun. It was a perfect day. Thank you all.

■ Parents should look at health class

The [Northville] board of education recently approved the curriculum for the Essential Living Skills course at Northville High School. This is the course that includes the sexuality education unit that has been under study by the Citizens' Health Advisory Committee. If you have a child enrolled in this class, state law guarantees you the right to know in advance the content of the course, to preview the materials to be used in the course, and to observe the instruction of the class(es). You may also excuse your child from the (sexuality education) class, without penalty or loss of academic credit. (School Aid Act, December 1993).

As parents who serve on the Citizens' Health Advisory Committee, we would suggest that you review the curriculum and materials so you are able to make an informed decision as to whether this is the sexuality education you want for your child. State law requires, and the Essential Living Skills curriculum document states, that abstinence be taught as a positive and healthy lifestyle. Nevertheless, a "safer sex" message that directs teens to use prophylactics to reduce the risks of sexually transmitted diseases and pregnancy is a significant part of the curriculum. As parents, you should ask yourselves whether "safer sex" is safe enough for your children.

A study from the Alan Guttmacher Institute ("Sex and America's Teenagers," 1994) found that one in four sexually experienced teens acquires a sexually transmitted disease each year. Most of these teens are unaware they are infected because the diseases have no symptoms and they are not screened during annual gynecological exams. Not all sexually transmitted diseases are curable or even treatable. And prophylactics, the backbone of the "safer sex" message, do not protect against every STD.

Research shows that prophylactics do not prevent the transmission of Human Papilloma Virus (HPV). This virus is incurable and causes 99.7 percent of cervical cancers. Research shows that prophylactics may not be very effective in preventing transmission of chlamydia, a disease most sufferers are unaware they carry because it usually has no symptoms. Chlamydia is one of the leading causes of infertility. Nor do prophylactics protect against herpes. Herpes is also incurable. Although there is a treatment for herpes, it will never go away. While prophylactics are very effective (but not 100 percent effective) in preventing the transmission of the AIDS/HIV virus, they must be used every time. The most important concern is whether kids who are taught to use prophylactics correctly will use them every time. Research shows they do not. Less than 45 percent of sexually active teens and young adults will use protection every time. According to the Center for Disease Control, "used inconsistently, (prophylactics) offer little more protection than when they are not used at all." A Medical Institute for Sexual Health study found that 25 percent of all new HIV infections are found in people under age 22.

The vote on the materials by the CHAC was very close. Most of the parents on the committee voted against approving them. None of the physicians voted in favor of approval. As responsible parents, you will want to know what your children are being taught about sex. The best way for kids to learn about sex is at home, in a loving and caring environment where parents can share their expectations and values. Research on teen sexuality identifies parent connectedness as the most important factor in decreasing teens' risky behavior. Research also shows that most teens want to learn about sex from their parents.

Our children face risks today that were unknown to us as teens and young adults. There are incurable, life-altering and life-threatening sexually transmitted diseases widespread today that were unheard of 25 or 30 years ago. You know your children better than anyone else. You know what is best for them. Is "safer sex" good enough for your teens? We hope you will make the effort to inform yourselves and then decide.

■ Too many cell towers in Northville

Just say "no" to cellular towers. The city of Plymouth said no to cellular towers and are holding a public hearing prohibiting cellular towers next to residential zoning.

Rochester Hills has had a public hearing objecting to cellular towers adjacent to residential zoning.

Northville Township said no to concerned citizens living next to proposed cellular tower. No public hearing was scheduled.

Northville Township said "yes" to Sprint to erect a tower on Northville Road. Said tower to be 10 stories high with four additional companies attached, adjacent to residential zoning and the Meads Middle School.

The location of said tower is proposed on the lowest location in the township. However, the adjacent residential properties are up on a hill making the homes closer to the top of the tower, including Meads Middle School. Is anyone concerned with the electronic gadgetry from this tower? Who will be responsible if things happen?

I called the Department of Energy in Washington, D.C. and was told "There has been no study made since 1996 (five years) re: cellular towers. In spite of all the many towers built, this matter should be taken up with local government officials." I said we have.

Six towers is too many. I invited the school to a hurried-up meeting with the residents in this area.

scheduled for 5 p.m., a time when people are coming home from work. I invited the school to attend. I was assured they would, however, I was told no one came. Perhaps they were not aware of the seriousness of this matter.

A 10-story tower in our back yards and near the schools should not be built. It is a question of public health, safety and welfare of the community.

■ Traffic shift could have saved a duck

As a life long resident on Horton Avenue in the City of Northville, I like most of my neighbors enjoy the birds, ducks and other wild life that live in the area. This past Friday, early in the morning some inconsiderate driver killed one of the ducks in front of my home. I removed the dead duck from the road before other cars would have flattened it further. This truly upset me for the balance of the day. There was no reason for this duck to be killed other than for this inconsiderate individual who no doubt was traveling too fast on a residential street and who showed no concern for the wild life.

As a residential street people should be driving at slower speeds, however, I have seen too many vehicles going down Horton Avenue as if they were on a speedway. People use Horton Avenue to bypass the lights at Center Street and Eight Mile Road. There are a number of families on Horton Avenue that have young children and I would truly hate to see any of them get injured by some inconsiderate fast driving individual. I should like to see Horton Avenue made a one-way street going North from Baseline Road to Eight Mile Road and one-way going South from Lake Street to Hutton Street. By doing this people would be prevented from using Horton Avenue as a bypass and should slow vehicles down. All life is important and we should do our part to protect children, adults, and animals.

OTHER OPINIONS

Broadband isn't the state's forte'

You're the chief executive officer of a growing high tech company thinking about moving to Michigan. Locating near your big customers in the auto industry makes sense, and you like the high skills in the Michigan workforce and the quality of life the state offers.

Phil Power

But you need high speed, high capacity broadband capacity to operate your business, far in excess of the 56K dial up modem for Internet access that is pretty much the standard across Michigan.

When you ask service providers like Ameritech how long it will take to put in a T-1 switch or even get DSL service, you can't get an answer. When you ask Comcast where its broadband backbone will be located in the next few years, they'll say that's "proprietary competitive information" and therefore confidential. When you ask your location specialist about putting your headquarters in Birmingham, you'll be told the city now charges service providers a fee plus a percentage of revenues, far above what other communities charge.

You think again and decide not to move to Michigan.

It's exactly this set of problems that led the Michigan Economic Development Corporation (MEDC) to announce earlier this month an initiative called LinkMichigan. The idea is to spur broadband growth throughout the state, possibly to areas where broadband service does not exist, increase competition and even reduce rates. The program would:

- Require service provider companies to make public where their networks are located. Currently, such information can be kept secret.

- Set up common rules and service standards for broadband companies so customers would be treated fairly and reduce delays in providing service.

- Rationalize the patchwork of local regulations and fees to help service providers plan and build their networks.

- Bundle demand for high-speed broadband from state government offices and possibly universities, school districts and local governments as an incentive for service providers to build networks. Unused remaining bandwidth could be sold to business customers.

According to the MEDC, Michigan is lagging behind other states in providing high-speed access to the Internet. No city in Michigan is on the list of top-25 markets for fiber-optic networks. Auto suppliers, for example, need high-capacity broadband to download blueprints and design changes. Something like 80 percent of the tier-one suppliers are already connected, but of the remaining 17,000 small and medium suppliers in Michigan, less than 20 percent have access to the necessary bandwidth.

"Whether for business, government, health care or education purposes, high-speed broadband access is increasingly becoming a necessity, not a luxury," the MEDC report concluded. But for Michigan — a peninsula off the main data flow network that runs across the country from the East Coast to California — getting fully connected to sufficient broadband is not going to be easy. Thus LinkMichigan.

Reaction to the program so far has been mostly positive. Business groups think access to broadband is essential to compete in a global marketplace, while universities and community colleges see high-speed

According to the MEDC, Michigan is lagging behind other states in providing high-speed access to the Internet. No city in Michigan is on the top-25 markets for fiber-optic networks.

Internet as a necessary teaching and research tool.

Most of the opposition is coming from the service providers — Ameritech, Verizon, Comcast — who see their monopoly position threatened by efforts to open up the broadband market.

Much of their thinking stems from a long-held view that broadband, like copper wire telephone service, is what the economists call a "natural monopoly." On this theory, it makes no sense for a company to string yet another set of wires to serve a community. Better to establish non-competitive service areas and have a public body regulate pricing.

But in today's world, where economies compete globally in terms of their capacity to exchange and process complex information flows, such 19th century thinking is archaic. Far better to open up the broadband market to competitive market forces. And if it takes a far-reaching initiative such as LinkMichigan to do it, so be it.

In the end, Jaye just didn't get it

In the end, former senator David Jaye just didn't get it.

Making his final speech to the Michigan Legislature's upper chamber Thursday, May 24, Jaye wrapped himself up in the Bill of Rights, patriotism and democracy. He went so far — with Memorial Day right around the corner — as to say that veterans had not fought and died in America's wars so that his rights could be "trampled" by the state Senate.

Mike Malott

"I know the Constitution says that this chamber has the right to determine the suitability of a Senator to serve, but it most certainly didn't give you the right to trample on my Sixth Amendment rights, on my due process rights, because the Michigan Constitution even says that every legislative and administrative proceeding must have due process," Jaye said.

What Jaye didn't get, and apparently still doesn't because over the weekend he began demanding apologies from the Senators who ousted him in a 33-2 vote last week, was that he was an elected official, he was part of the government.

The Bill of Rights was written, not to protect him, but to protect the rest of us from people like him.

Had he read down a little further in the Constitution, he'd come to another phrase, in the 14th Amendment, that mentions "equal protection of the laws."

What that means is that the law applies to everyone equally. If it says that if average citizens can't, for instance, hit someone or drive while drunk, then presidents can't do that either. Nor can Congressmen. Nor can bureaucrats or judges.

And state senators can't do it, either.

Of course, there have always been powerful people who thought they got some sort of special privilege by virtue of their positions. That kind of behavior was exactly what the framers of our Constitution wanted to get away from.

Perhaps it was Sen. John Cherry, D-Clio, who said it best: "I think that is what inspired the committee to come to the conclusion that Senator Jaye was no longer fit to serve was because he used his office, the privilege of his office, the privilege conferred on him by the public, as a sword and a shield, to allow him to do things that an ordinary citizen would not be able to do, and to protect him from standards of conduct that ordinary, everyday, hardworking citizens struggle very hard to meet."

Sen. Joanne Emmons, R-Big Rapids, put it well too: "Being a Senator does not give you a license to treat employees differently than would be tolerated in the private sector. A male who not only hits but denies hitting a woman in spite of eye witnesses is wrong. Being a powerful state Senator does not excuse such an assault. Being a powerful state Senator does not make you immune from the consequences of your behavior, simply because you are elected."

Sen. Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, put it

What the 14th Amendment means is that the law applies to everyone equally. If average citizens can't drive while drunk, then neither can presidents, Congressmen, bureaucrats, judges...or state senators.

this way: "When I think about the equal application of law and fairness, I would like the people of Michigan to ask themselves a simple question: If I did what Mr. Jaye did, would I still have my job, and where would I be. I don't think the answer you would get back is the same one that he asked this body to give to him ... I believe it was absolutely, unequivocally clear that Mr. Jaye has used a misperceived sense of Senatorial privilege as a sword and a shield against people less powerful than he is. If we allow that to continue ... what we do not condemn we condone."

We likely haven't seen the last of Jaye. He has promised to sue. He could run again for the same Senate seat, and if voters choose to return him to office, there is very little senators could do.

But when he goes on the attack against Senators who nearly unanimously voted to oust him, accusing them of being unfair or political, don't you believe it.

Write your letters...but sign them

It happens with almost clockwork-like precision.

By Thursday evening, the overwhelming number of people who either subscribe to or pick up rack copies of the Record have had the newspaper in their homes and are now leafing through it.

Chris C. Davis

Some of the stories get a quick glance. Others get a skim, a brief read-through, or a passing gaze. After all — not every story in the newspaper appeals to every reader.

But invariably, there's something in the paper that grabs someone's attention, and it won't let the reader go. The words, the photographs and the graphics help tell a story that generates thoughts and responses.

And for a small but certain number of readers, what that interest will translate into is a desire to respond to what's been written. Maybe what they've seen has stirred anger. Maybe it's support. Maybe it got someone all teary-eyed. But one thing is for sure: the reader has something on his mind, and he wants to share it.

So far, so good. That's exactly what a newspaper should be. Ah, but here's the rub: on occasion (but with increasing frequency), I'll get letters or e-mails from those "I've-got-to-respond" readers who feel compelled to tell their side of things, but don't want to have their names attached to their work.

That's too bad, I tell the writer, because that means I can't run your letter. And here's the reason why: people want to know the source of information.

You'll note that every story that appears in our paper has a byline attached to it. In theory, the byline is there so that folks with a comment know who they should speak to about what they've read.

It doesn't stop with our own work, either. We don't use unnamed sources in a story, because it will invariably cause doubt in a reader's mind. We attribute the information we get to other parties.

This whole "who told you?" process doesn't end with the newspaper business. I'd be rich if I had a nickel for every time I'd been asked "Who did you talk to?" when I had a complaint about a product or service I'd purchased. If I was dumb and didn't bother to ask at the time I made the original transaction, I was usually up a creek.

It goes on. We wear ID badges and name tags at work so that people can put a face to a name. We're issued a user name and a password for our computers so we can keep track of who was doing what, and when.

Plan on cashing a check at a bank? Better bring a driver's license with you, because tellers want to know who they're dealing with.

This whole "who told you?" process doesn't end with the newspaper business. I'd be rich if I had a nickel for every time I'd been asked "Who did you talk to?" when I had a complaint about a product I'd purchased.

But getting back to the newspaper business, using a name and giving attribution to a piece of printed material goes beyond merely putting a face to a name. It's about taking ownership for what you've done. We're blessed in this country with the freedom of speech. At the same time, we're also responsible for the words we express. Particularly in cases of mean-spirited words, guerilla tactics of shooting from behind a veil of anonymity won't fly with me.

I always welcome letters, regardless of the content. If you didn't like something you read, or if you don't like me (I get a lot of those, too), that's fine. Write me. Just be prepared to answer the question "Who are you?" when you step up to say your piece. It's only fair.

Northville resident Dawn Elleson sets off to climb the highest peak in the United States, Mount McKinley

COLBY J. CAVALIERE
Sports Writer

In 1896, a white gold prospector named the mountain McKinley. Today, Northville resident Dawn Elleson leaves to climb it.

Following in the footsteps of old adventurers over a half century ago, the 38-year-old registered nurse will embark on a three and a half-week expedition to climb the mountain's West Buttress route today. The trip will be the ultimate test of both mental and physical endurance.

"This is a huge undertaking and I've really never done anything like this before. I've always been physically fit and I've trained very hard for the last couple of months for this," Elleson said. "I have no doubt I'm physically ready, but it's also very important I be mentally ready. I've been trying to get into the right mindset and get the right attitude before I leave."

Known to most as Mount McKinley, but recognized by the state of Alaska by the local Indian name of "Denali" ("the high one"), the mountain has the distinction of being the highest peak in North America at 20,320 feet. Located between Anchorage and Fairbanks at 63 degrees north latitude, McKinley is crowned by two peaks - a north and a south peak. Elleson will embark on the expedition with five fellow climbers, and two guides from Alpine Ascents, a company well versed in McKinley climbs. The team of eight will traverse up the mountain by way of the West Buttress route. That route is one of 30 possible routes up Denali and is also the most popular because it's the least technical and has the most scenic vistas. Elleson and her troupe will face off against a brutal and unforgiving terrain where thin air, 100 plus mph winds, and temperatures between -30F and -70F will be just some of the forces they will impede their progress.

"I've had some personal challenges in my life recently...and climbing McKinley is my way of dealing with them."

Saturday, Elleson will fly to Talkeetna, Alaska, and from there, the group will head to their base camp which sits at about 7300ft. The team will then continue to build six more camps as they travel up the mountain,

In an adventure that is expected to span between 17-18 days round trip.

It takes more than physical and mental preparation to climb a mountain. Elleson said she spent an estimated $5,000 just on required gear. In total, she was right around her budget of $13,000 for the entire trip. Add that with the many hours of training and this is a costly endeavor in both time and money.

In order to be eligible to even go on the climb, Elleson first went through an eight-day training course in Washington's Cascade Mountains. There she was evaluated in several mountaineering skills, including camping and snow climbing.

"I did very well and I came away with a real comfort level, knowing that I was really ready to go through with it," she said.

Alaska's Mt. McKinley lays quietly in its frigid splendor.

One might wonder why a registered nurse in cardiovascular research would feel the need to challenge one of Mother Nature's harshest environments. From her answer, it's clear this three-year Northville resident isn't your typical adventure seeking, adrenaline junky.

"In October of last year, I went on a bike tour in Vermont. I got to talking with the tour leader and it turned out she used to be a guide for McKinley expeditions. That really captured my imagination and planted the seed in my head," Elleson said. "I've had some personal challenges in my life recently and people deal with things differently. Climbing McKinley is my way of dealing with them."

Oddly enough, Elleson didn't seem very worried about climbing a mountain that has claimed a total of 88 lives.

"I'm not worried, really," she said with a laugh. "You have to be aware of safety at all times and this company [Alpine Ascents] has been doing this for many years and their safety record is excellent."

Those interested in following Elleson's expedition on McKinley can do so by way of the Alpine Ascents Web site at www.AlpineAscents.com. Simply click on "cybercast" and then on the "Denali Expedition-June 1st". The guides will post updates on the expedition by way of remote computer, as they travel up the mountain.

Northville Invades state playoffs...

Despite being thwarted by North Farmington yet again, this time in the regionals, the Northville Mustangs boys tennis team will be well represented at the state competition in Kalamazoo on June 1 and 2. Dean Conway (1a) Mark Thompson (2a, above), undefeated junior Kyle Dehne (3a) and Steven Mills (4a) will compete in the singles flights. Scott Eller/Chris Gerlica (1d), Kyle Wargo/Nathan Gudritz (2d), Adam O'Donnell/Phil Gutowski (3d) and the freshman tandem of Jonathan Lee and Jackson Knoll will compete in the doubles flights.

Quiet in their first meeting less than a week ago, Northville's Larissa Fill made her presence felt in round two, as she scored all four of the Mustang goals in their come-from-behind 4-3 win over Livonia Stevenson on May 24. The win gave Northville their first Western Lakes conference championship.

"There were some college coaches in the stands there to see some other girls, but after the game they were all asking me about Larissa," said Northville coach Ron Meteyer. "For her to score four goals against a great team in a big game, that's just a testament to the talent she has."

After their 80 minute 2-1 war on May 18, it looked early on like this game might be a cakewalk for the Mustangs. In the pouring rain, Northville mounted a fierce offensive attack to start. At about four minutes in, Lindsay Dunmead sent a corner kick into an entanglement of players, that Maggie Ossola banged off the post.

The 'Stangs kept on the pressure and at 31:16 of the first half they got the game's first score. Ossola outraced a Stevenson defender and sent the ball high across the field into the middle, just in front of the Spartan goalie. Several players went up for the ball and collided, including Fill, who was able to tap in the ball for the goal.

Most coaches would be happy scoring the first goal so fast, but not Meteyer. "Getting the first goal is important to set the tone, but it was a very early score and I think it may have made our girls think this would be an easy win, and they may have relaxed a little. At the same time, I really think it fired Stevenson up," Meteyer said.

It certainly did fire up Stevenson, as the Spartans took total control of the game. They rang up three unanswered goals, the first coming at 17:02. Stevenson sent a shot into the box that slipped between two Northville defenders. The Spartan's freshman sensation, Melissa Dobbyn, was there to take advantage of the mistake and give Stevenson the equalizer.

Dobbyn struck again a little over five minutes later, when she blasted a direct kick past a diving Alex Katona. Northville would be sent to their first multi-goal deficit of the season, when Stevenson's Lindsay Gusick scored at 5:29 to make it 3-1.

By now the rain clouds had been replaced by rays of bright sunshine, but the outlook for the Mustangs was anything but sunny. Desperate to make up some ground, and not fall behind any further, Northville

Move to Division 1 hurts Mustang golfers

By COLBY J. CAVALIERE
Sports Writer

What a difference a year makes.

On May 21 at the girls' golf regionals, Northville shot a combined score of 392. A year ago, when they were in Division two, that total could have easily netted them a top 3 finish. But this year, with the team's move up to Division one, that score could only get them into the top 10, as they finished ninth among the 22 teams in attendance.

"Where we were last year in Division two, shooting this score would have easily qualified us for states. But we are in Division one now, so we'll just have to keep improving. We will, since we are not losing anyone to graduation and with the tournament schedule the girls have this summer, only get better and stronger as a team," said coach Trish Murray.

Also feeling the sting of the move to D1 was Northville's pride and glory, Kate MacDonald. Fresh off back to back school records, MacDonald shot a 39 and 43 (82) to finish sixth; unfortunately only the top five scores advance to the state tournament.

But the team score of 392 and ninth place finish are no small accomplishments. Underclassmen Shannon Lewicki (101), Kelly Harrison (104) and Layne Scherer (105) put together solid afternoons.

"Being in the toughest of the state (5 of the 10 ranked teams are in our region) I think we did well. No other team had the number of underclassmen as Northville with two juniors, two sophomores, and a freshman. The ladies all shot within a stroke of their average and under some poor conditions, they played well," Murray said.

With all their top golfers returning next year, fellow Division one teams will need to look over their shoulders, because a pack of stampeding Mustangs are sure to be coming up fast.

WLAA CONFERENCE MEET

All season Northville has had to face tough competition right in their own conference, and May 22's conference meet at Hudson Mills Golf Course was a testament to that.

The team shot better than they did at the regionals with a 391, but that was only good for a fifth place finish. But the Northville team didn't go away without getting any accolades. Kate MacDonald's 18-hole score of 86 was good enough to make her the match medalist. Along with being the medalist, MacDonald was named to the WLAA All-Conference Team, by having the lowest of the six lowest scores. In addition, junior Shannon Lewicki's 97 (8th place) put her in the top 12 and earned her a spot on the All-Division Team. Other counting scores for the day were from junior Lauren Farris (104), freshman Layne Scherer (105), and sophomore Kelly Harrison (106). Freshman Andrea Fillipps also competed, finishing with a 106.

"Overall, again, for our age we did well. A parent came up and looked at the number of freshmen and sophomores and remarked what a young team Northville has. For our age and tournament experience, (Kate was the only player from regionals and conference who participated in those tournaments last year) we're playing as if we've been together for a couple of years. I am confident that next year, our team and individual scores will be lower," Murray said.

The Lady Mustangs close out a very successful season with an 8-3 overall record, and a league record of 6-3.

"Overall, Northville has played with a lot of drive and determination. Without any golfers graduating, Northville will again, be a threat next year," Murray said.

Rugby club pounds its way into state championship

With a 24-12 victory over Dearborn in the East Regional Championship on Saturday, May 19 in Howell, the Northville Knights Rugby Club qualified for the State High School Rugby championships for the fourth consecutive year. This year's four team championship tournament was played on Saturday, May 25 at Norup Middle School in Berkley. Northville and Dearborn represented the East Region. Grand Rapids Forest Hills and three-time defending champion Grand Rapids Catholic Central represented the West Region. Northville played Forest Hills at 10 a.m., Dearborn met Catholic Central at 11 a.m.. The winners played for the title at 2 p.m..

May 19's East Regional victory marked another successful rugby season for the Knights. Earlier in the spring, the Knights captured second place in the Michigan Youth Rugby Association (M.Y.R.A.) Michigan Cup Tournament held at Ford Field in Dearborn. The second place cup finish earned the Knights a bid to the United States Rugby Football Union Midwest playoffs in Bowling Green, Ohio. The Knights finished 2-2 in the playoffs beating both St. Charles from Chicago, and local rival Brighton, and losing to Cathedral, Indiana, and Moundsview, Minnesota.

Following the Midwest playoffs the Knights concluded their second consecutive undefeated M.Y.R.A. East Region play with a 4-0-2 record. The victories came against Dearborn, Brighton, Ann Arbor, and Howell. The Knights tied Berkley and Battle Creek.

Both the Northville Knights and Dearborn are sponsored and coached by the Detroit Tradesmen Rugby Football Club, one of two Detroit area men's rugby clubs. This year's Knight's club features players from Northville, Novi, and the Walled Lake Schools. Including men's, women's, and collegiate and high school teams, Michigan is home to over 45 rugby clubs.

The past two years the Knights have advanced to the State High School Rugby title match, losing both times to Grand Rapids Catholic Central: 31-10 in 1999, and 22-10 last year. The Knights finished fourth in 1998.

Mustangs, Wildcats renew rivalries in heated district action

GIRLS SOCCER DISTRICT 7-1 @ NVL

Plymouth Salem
Novi
Northville
Livonia Stevenson
Farmington Hills Mercy
Southfield-Lathrup

■ Whatever team comes out of this district alive will have certainly earned it. Northville, Stevenson, and Salem are all state ranked teams, and Novi put together a terrific 13-4 overall record. The Mustangs are on a collision course with the Spartans in the second round, while Novi should face off against the talented Rocks. The big questions are, can Northville beat Stevenson for a third straight time, and can the young Novi squad play sound enough to beat the powerful Salem team?

Prediction: Northville

The Mustangs have Larissa Fill to score the goals, and Emily Carbutt to stop them. The 'Stangs' have too much scoring balance, play great team defense, and are on a roll coming off their first league title. Novi has a team bursting with talent, but went 0-4 against the great teams during the season, and their lack of experience in the big game will cost them against Salem in the second round.

SOFTBALL DISTRICT 27-1 @ NOVI

Plymouth Salem
Novi
Northville
South Lyon
Plymouth Canton

■ Tavidian

The name is familiar to KVC batters. The ace of the South Lyon staff is a strike-out machine, and is capable of a no-hitter every time she steps on the mound. Northville and Novi have struggled a bit during the season. The Mustangs are lacking the offensive punch, and the Wildcats need to play better on defense. Salem is an impressive 19-3, but sport only a .500 (5-5) record in their conference, plus they barely squeaked by a struggling Farmington team last week.

Prediction: South Lyon

Melissa Tavidian will be too much for the rest of the teams in the district to handle. WLAA teams Salem and Canton could push the Lions, as could a Northville team if they are on top of their game. The Lions are by no means unbeatable, but they should be good enough to advance on to the regionals.

BASEBALL DISTRICT 27-1 @ NOVI

Plymouth Salem
Novi
Northville
South Lyon
Plymouth Canton

■ This is a very tough district to gauge. Novi and Northville played in a pre-district game on Tuesday, with the loser going home for the summer. The winner will move on to face the rest of the field. Down the stretch the Wildcat bats have come to life, and Brandon Davis has solidified the pitching staff. The Mustangs put together a 12-10 overall record in a very difficult conference. They split their two games with Canton, but were bombed in their only meeting with Salem. South Lyon has struggled at times in the mediocre KVC.

Prediction: No Idea

The winner of the pre-district game could take the district. Northville relies on a deep pitching staff, and a solid defense. Novi will need to continue to swing the bats. They roll when Davis is on the mound, but he can't pitch them all, and they could be tired from having to fight for the KVC title down the stretch. With any team capable of beating anyone, this district is a real toss-up.

went on the attack. Their effort paid off, as Dunmead blasted a direct kick that rattled off the crossbar. The near goal landed right on the foot of Fill, who knocked it in to cut the Stevenson lead to 3-2 with less than two minutes left in the half.

"That was a very important goal," Meteyer said. "We had never been in a position down two goals. We had a plan in place in case that happened, but scoring that goal before the half allowed us to pocket that plan and play our normal style."

In the second half, Stevenson came out determined to put the "Stangs away. Less than two minutes in, they sent a hard shot that pinged off the crossbar. For the next 18 minutes the two teams battled hard, with neither team able to break through.

Just before the 20 minute mark,

Northville made several advances deep into Stevenson territory, but weren't able to get a good shot off. Instead of quitting, the hungry Mustangs kept the pressure on and eventually all the hustle and hard work paid off. Lindsay Miglio drove a pass across the box that a sliding Fill was able to get a foot on. The one-timer erased the Stevenson advantage and tied the game a 3-3.

Neither team would budge, as the game whittled down to the final minutes. Both teams knew that the next goal could very well decide the league champion. And it just so happened that was true. Northville sent the ball into a double-teamed Larissa Fill. The scoring machine was able to control it with her chest and with the Stevenson crowd yelling "don't let her shoot," Fill promptly fired the game-winning goal into the back of the net.

After giving up three first half goals, the Mustang defense was downright stingy in the second half, as they held on for the final few minutes to earn the title.

"It's a very big win for the girls and the program, but we still need to take one game at a time. We are most likely going to face them again in the districts and that one is going to be a must win," Meteyer said.

After the game, the WIAA All-Conference and All-Division teams were named. The 16-1 Mustangs were obviously well-represented. Earning All-Conference were Larissa Fill, captain Emily Carrott and Lindsay Dunmead. Earning All-Western Division were goalie captain Alex Katona, Kelly Anderson, Maggie Ossola, and captain Michelle Manarina. Taking honorable mention places were Jessica Zweisler, Jenny Sykes, Lindsay Miglio and Injured Katie Jones.

These same two teams look to be on a collision course in the district tournament. Northville will have a first round bye, and if as expected, Stevenson took care of Southfield-Lathrup on Tuesday, the Spartans and Mustangs will clash in round three this evening at 7 p.m. in Livonia. The winner will advance to the district finals.

Etiquette in the garden can be a walk in the park

Margit Erickson
Etiquette

It is that time of year when the colorful glories of nature abound all around us. Taking a walk on a hiking trail in a park reveals the lush greenery of the trees overhead and the blooming of wild flowers and shrubs that blanket the ground. At every turn of the path, you can hear birds singing, frogs croaking, crickets chirping, insects buzzing, small animals scurrying about and at the same time, watching out for caterpillars inching their way across the road or garden snakes slithering along the pathway.

There are many people, however, who do not have to get into their cars and drive anywhere to enjoy all of these wonders — all they have to do is open their back doors and step into their own wondrous backyard gardens. They have lovingly planted each bulb, seed, tree and bush to its best advantage and many have added brick pathways, benches, statuary, trellises, ponds and other items to create a beautiful oasis not only to enjoy the miracles of nature, but as a calm and serene place to nourish the mind and soul.

Each year in early summer, many of these people open up their gardens for touring to those who do not have the time, the knowledge, or the "green thumbs" to create one. Others attend simply to enjoy the colors and the structure of the gardens and perhaps adopt an idea or two for their own gardens.

If you are planning on being a garden tourist this year, there are a few rules you need to consider. As

In all your traveling near or far, you do not want to leave your good manners at home.

• Do not park your car on a lawn or where it can damage any flowers or shrubbery. As people will be coming and going at different times, be sure you are not blocking another car.

• Spiky high-heeled shoes are great for an evening out but definitely not for a garden tour. You will not only damage your shoes but the walking paths as well. Wear sensible comfortable shoes as some paths are not paved and others may be gravel or stony.

• If it looks like rain, take along a fold-up umbrella or wear a rain-proof poncho or jacket. Do not expect the owners to give you shelter in case of a shower or down-pour.

• If there are several gardens to tour, allow about 15 minutes for each one. If you go as a group, do not block the pathways for others moving along behind you. Also, do not stop for chit-chat about business, real estate, personal matters, etc. Wait until you are through with the tour for long conversations.

• Stay on the designated paths. Do not attempt to walk between rows of plantings or into a flower bed. Also, before going on your tour, have the words "Do Not Touch" ringing in your ears. This is probably the No. 1 rule of garden tours. And never, ever pluck a flower to take home. So look, admire and enjoy but keep your hands to yourself.

• Unless otherwise stated, you are allowed to sit on benches that are along the pathways especially if they are in an area where the view is quite spectacular. The owners want you to enjoy their handiwork and to linger for awhile to appreciate it. However, this is not a public rest stop for you to stay for a long period. A five- or ten-minute break should be sufficient.

• Do not say anything derogatory about a garden (even to a close companion and especially within earshot of the owner) with remarks such as "They should have planted those roses here instead of there" or "My shrubs are looking better than these" or "Of all the gardens we've seen today, this is the one I like the least."

• Some owners may serve light refreshments and cool drinks on a back porch or patio. You are invited to partake if you wish — just remember, it is not meant to be your main meal of the day. Also throw any cups, napkins, etc. in the receptacle that is provided.

MY ROOM IS A HUGE MESS

My clothes are everywhere.
Even on my fan.
My shoes are sailing in the air.
I can't even find my underwear.
Gum wrappers are covering the floor.
Even by my bedroom door.

My homework is torn to pieces.
I think it was my dog.
My closet is overflowing with tons of rubber frogs!
My books are never on my shelf.
It seems like I clean my room for my health.

My room smells like moldy bread.
I think it was my brother, Fred.
My room sounds like a gigantic goon running in an air balloon.
Now I know that my room just came flooding in my room!

Secrets of the human genome revealed

With the help of Xtra correspondents in America's leading research universities, we've gotten our hands on some of the first information learned about the human genome project — that silly thing where we learned that we're about one protein particle away from being a culture of fruit flies.

Anyway, here are some of the tidbits the genome project researchers were trying to keep under wraps. You can thank us later.

Crashius fasciatus — allows folks in North Carolina and Georgia to focus intently on NASCAR races, even though it's the same race for all 250 laps.

Jackpotum frivoleum — gives the urge to some people to blow an entire week's paycheck on lottery tickets, even though the odds are slightly better that they'll end up in a nudist colony on the moons of Jupiter than even matching two numbers.

Catorius no sensicus — causes some clown to order a supersized burger, large fries, a cherry pie, a chocolate shake...but a diet Coke.

Gluteus kersplasheus — found mostly in men, responsible for the seemingly never-ending habit of men to leave the toilet seat up.

Proceedeus moronicus! — responsible for the temporary paralysis experienced by some distracted drivers when the traffic light turns green.

Claustrophobus silencius — causes the awkward silence that elevator-riders partake in the moment the doors shut.

Dryerus humoria stupidius — causes adolescents to engage in what they think is original thought by strategically scratching out certain letters on restroom hand dryer instructions, so that the end result reads "1) Push butt 2) Rub hands under arm hair 3) Stóps auto 4) Wipe hands on pants."

• A Colombian barber believes he can cure baldness by having a cow stand over his clients and lick their heads.

• A new sparkling beverage — being sold only in Little Rock, Ark. — claims to have similar effects as the popular prescription Viagra. The drink's name? Nagra.

• Cindy Jackson, who was born on a pig farm in Ohio, has spent $89,600 on plastic surgeries — a world record. She's had three full facelifts, two nose operations, knee, abdomen and jawline surgery, thigh liposuction, breast reduction and semi-permanent makeup.

Luxury has always been associated with Bloomfield Hills and Grosse Pointe. Now the same can be said about Novi.

Upscale dining and exclusive shopping centers are the kind of living that makes the finer things in life more pleasurable. But that kind of suburban living is moving west.

That same kind of comfort can be found in the allure of Novi newest luxury condominium complex.

The new "Enclave", originally constructed in 1984 as luxury apartments, is in the midst of a $7.2 million redesign and renovation project that has been described as a "imaginative and ambitious" venture.

Located in Novi adjacent to the Twelve Oaks Mall, the Enclave stresses the wooded setting with the "refinement of the European country side."

And there is the year-round recreation facilities that include an indoor swimming pool, whirlpool spa, work-out center with state-of-the-art equipment and relaxing sauna. There is a inviting club room, an ideal place for gathering with friends and family, and access to all portions of the building through covered passageways.

Every residence has a panoramic views of the verdant grounds and tranquil ponds. The designers were looking to create a resort-style ambience with prestigious amenities.

The interiors of The Enclave showcase a variety of outstanding amenities, such as old world, high ceiling living rooms and formal dining rooms, spacious dens, cozy sunrooms and extraordinary chef's kitchens. The neo-classical design of The Enclave is the height of mid-rise condominium living in Novi.

The renovations are spearheaded by the Farhman Group, who has been doing luxury renovations in New York and Chicago.

Vice president and director of residential management Jeanne Gross said that The Enclave is a unique living experience to the metro Detroit area.

"It's really a lot like a Chicago-style high rise," Gross said. "But the grounds are really like being up north. Its like a hideaway in the midst of a major metropolitan area. A lot of the new people has said they like the idea they can walk to do their Christmas shopping and also be able to enjoy natural beauty."

Gross said that the developer is putting the finishing touches that will include marble and granite counter tops.

"It is truly the most unique place in the area," Gross said. "With the lake and the woods, its really beautiful place. Like I said, a hide-away."

Price range start at $320,000. But Gross said that the she expects the value of the home to increase with all the new amenities that are being added.

"They still putting about $80,000 worth of work into the complex," Gross said. "And they way its build, you can jump up and down on the floors and hear nothing. There is so much concrete in the buildings, its build like a fortress."

The easy access to both I-96, I-275, and I-696. The Enclave is centrally located to make travel in metro Detroit as easy as possible. With Twelve Oaks Mall directly across the street, The Enclave is within walking distance of the finest shopping and dining establishments in the area with the Town Center directly to the northwest and the new Novi downtown to the south.

"It's 20 minutes to the airport and 20 minutes into downtown Detroit," Gross said. "It right in the middle of everything."

The Enclave also has a private gatehouse entry way with covered parking and walkways to the pool and clubhouse. For more information call The Enclave at 1-(248)-348-7595.

Barbara's apartment (right) has many unique design features like low kitchen cupboards and a lowered sink. (above).

Making Life Easy

Helping others help themselves with a barrier-free environment

By Annette Jaworski
SPECIAL WRITER

Barbara Jacob is an independent person. Being in a wheelchair hasn't stopped her from living an active life. She organizes potlucks, loves to play bingo and drives her own van to meet her friends and family. So when it comes to her living quarters, she wasn't looking for a helping hand as much as an easier way to help herself.

"This apartment is the best one I've lived in in 31 years," said Jacob proudly.

South Hill Apartments of Milford provided just what she was looking for in her one-bedroom apartment. It's one of four apartments in the complex that are barrier free with a number of built in features that allow her to function independently.

For starters, all of the kitchen cupboards are lowered for easier reach. The sink is built lower and has no cupboard doors underneath. This allows her legs a clearance to slide underneath the sink to do dishes or prepare food. Barbara Jacob has a little floral curtain put up to conceal the storage below. Even the broom closet has a lower door here. She uses it for a pantry instead.

One of the most important areas for convenience is the bathroom. Here you'll find extra bars for access to the tub, and to lift the toilet seat. There's even a lower sink and medicine cabinet. A hand held unit makes showering convenient. It's also built larger than the regular one bedroom apartment for easier movement.

Jennifer Laming, Manager of the South Hill Apartments, says that they try to accommodate the special needs of their tenants as much as possible. In fact, they'll add extra bars and other features to any of the other one-bedroom apartments that aren't designated barrier free. They can add bars to the bathroom and toilet seat, change the handles on the doors, however they can't lower countertops or other fixed items in the one-bedroom units.

"We try to make it as comfortable as possible," said Laming. They understand that there are a lot of amenities that can help the handicapped or elderly.

In the living area, Barbara Jacob has a sofa on a smaller scale, as well as a desk area. This desk/work area contains her computer that she enjoys conversing by email. Her niece plants a floral garden for her every year that Jacob is able to access through a sliding glass door. A slab of cement is poured to allow her to roll the wheelchair smoothly to the outside. Even the mailbox on these special units is mounted lower for an easy reach for those in a wheelchair. A lower than normal peephole allows them to use this security feature. There are no stairs to any of the barrier free or one-bedroom apartments.

A stackable washer and dryer set side by side, in the utility room prevent trips to the Laundromat. Lower shelves make convenient storage for soaps and other items.

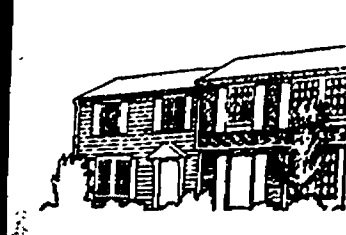

Laming notes that there's a tremendous demand for these barrier free units, and there can be a one to five year wait. The complex sponsors or supports many activities such as a Christmas party and picnics for their residents. South Hill Apartments offices are located at 585 Gwendolyn Blvd. off South Hill Road in Milford. Call (248) 685-0620.

Barrier-free information available

By Annette Jaworski
SPECIAL WRITER

You don't have to be elderly or handicapped to appreciate a barrier free design. Just ask Valerie Barnum-Yarger, Community Consultant for the Michigan Statewide Independent Living Council.

In many cases, these small changes, which can be minor in cost, can provide major benefits. For example, a wider door not only accommodates a wheelchair. It makes it easier to move in groceries, or makes it easier for a mother with a child to fit through the doorway. The cost is approximately $20 more per door if planned at the time of construction. Handles instead of doorknobs may cost about $3 more per door, but allow anyone to open a door easier. How about a wider kitchen door leading to a barbecue with a handle - this would make it easier for someone with a tray of food to use their elbow to open their way to the deck.

Other thoughts to consider when designing a home, go with a first floor master bedroom, secured, low pile carpeting, if any, higher than standard electrical outlets and lower than standard light switches and thermostats and closet rods. For bathrooms, a walk in or roll in shower with non-skid strips makes bathing convenient.

The hydrangea primer

Originally from Japan, hydrangeas are deciduous bushy shrubs known for their large, showy flowers. The best-known variety probably is the big-leaf hydrangea.

- Big-leaf hydrangeas (H. macrophylla) need moist, rich soil that is heavy in humus. They prefer semishade and protection from wind. Old stems should be cut back to the ground in early spring.

- The amount of acid or lime in the soil will affect the color of the blooms.
- Big-leaf hydrangeas, along with panicle hydrangeas, are great for drying. Just put cut flowers in a dry vase. Dried flowers can be spray painted if colors fade.
- Plants are hardy to zone six.
- Propagate by cuttings as there are no fertile flowers in the ornamental cultivars.

It's Howdy Doody Time!

By Anne McCollam
COPLEY NEWS SERVICE

Enclosed is a photo of my Howdy Doody marionette. He is approximately 50 years old, 17 inches tall, and in excellent condition. He is made of wood and composition and is wearing the original clothes and cowboy boots.

I would like to know the value of my marionette.

A. Howdy Doody was a redheaded marionette and the principal character on a popular children's television series. Howdy interacted with the real-life characters Buffalo Bob and the clown Clarabell Hornblow. Howdy lived in "Doodyville" along with several other marionettes that included Flub-A Dub, Princess and Dilly Dally. The show was immensely popular and ran from 1947 to 1960.

Your Howdy Doody marionette was made around 1952 and would probably be worth about $175 to $300.

Address your questions to Anne McCollam, P.O. Box 490, Notre Dame, IN 46556. For a personal response, include picture(s), a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $10 per item (one item at a time). Visit Copley News Service at www.copleynews.com.

He's still a character! This Howdy Doody marionette was made around 1952 and would probably be worth about $175 to $300.

Auntie Em's makes it easy to select the right window treatments for your room

By Annette Jaworski
Special Writer

Window treatments often set the mood of a room. So it's no surprise that it can be an overwhelming decision to select just the right product. Lee Ryden, President of Auntie Em's Window Covering Center in White Lake wants to make the process as easy as possible, whether it's a room or an entire home. Their new HunterDouglas Gallery puts everything at the customer's fingertips.

"It's hands on here ... It's one shot to see everything that's available. This answers a lot of questions for them," said Ryden.

The first gallery in Michigan, Auntie Em's was selected by members of the industry to feature the display. It provides a sampling of all the window options available through HunterDouglas.

"It takes us a step above the buy today, 80 per cent off guys. But our prices are competitive," said Ryden. "It's a service for the customer to provide all their choices in one spot."

At Auntie Em's, customers will find an unlimited selection of fabrics for custom drapes and top treatments. For example, there are probably 150 patterns that can be made into the popular serenette and vignette, he notes.

These can be coordinated with other treatments such as headboards or bedspreads giving a real custom designer look to the entire room.

"Window treatments complete the room, like finishing a painting," he said.

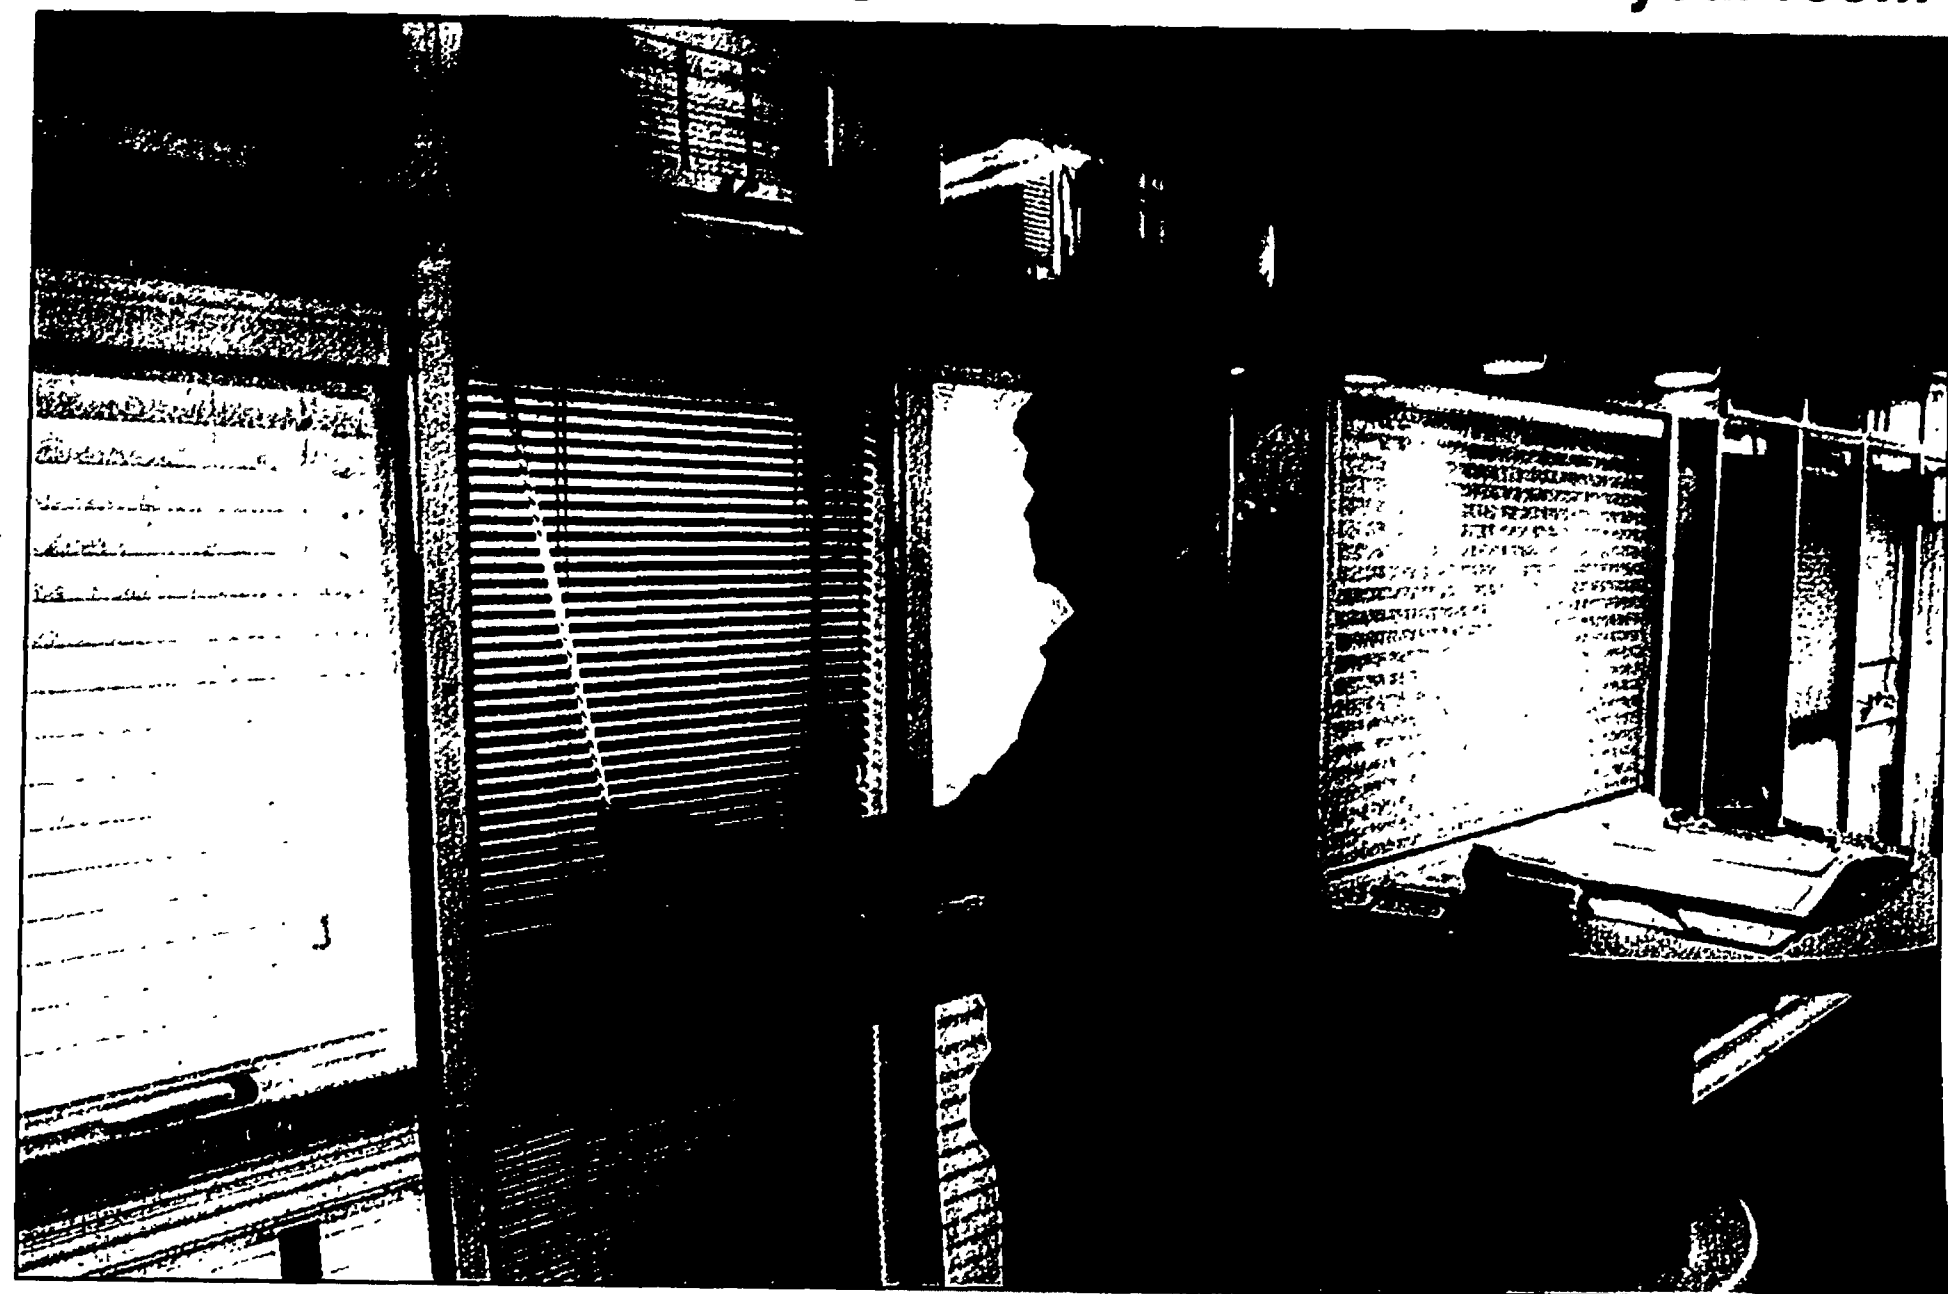

Child safety issues are very important when it comes to window treatments. It's something they take very seriously at Auntie Em's by providing the latest in safety technology.

"We have a number of safety items for lift or control systems," said Ryden. "I bring it to their attention all the time."

For example break away tassels, single cord controls and motorized controls are available.

Trends in window treatments often follow the trends in building. One such product that's increased in popularity is the room darkening shades to accommodate big screen TVs. These are aluminum lined so no light can come through. There's also several products to fit new sunrise type windows.

with large whirlpool tube to operate shades on nearby windows without stepping inside the tub.

One product that Ryden believes has great potential is the luminette shades.

A more attractive alternative to the poly vertical blinds, these come in five different styles of sheer fabric and can be adjusted to close for privacy.

"So it's like grandma's sheers, it can do the same (look) but it can also close for privacy," he said.

Another popular product includes the Roman shade, which actually does two jobs in one. It provides privacy and window coverage and while it's pulled up it serves as a window top treatment.

Auntie Em's storefront opened for business in White Lake on April 1.

2001 They have a long history in the window business, covering the Lakes area, starting off in 1978 as blind manufacturers in the Waterford area. They were also Keego Harbor and Commerce before they opened their new White Lake location.

Everything we sell has a limited lifetime warranty, said Ryden. For the convenience of busy couples, in-home visits can be scheduled by appointment.

Visit the new HunterDouglas Window Treatment Gallery at 9135 Highland Road across from Wal Mart in White Lake or call (248) 698-0455. Hours are Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Retailers have gloomy summer outlook despite strong spring

Michigan retailers foresee a slow start to summer despite posting slightly better sales in April, the best in three months.

Thirty-seven (37) percent of retailers rang up increased sales in April compared to the same month a year ago, according to the Michigan Retail Index, a joint project of the Michigan Retailers Association (MRA) and the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. That's up from 35 percent in March and 36 percent in February.

But retailers' projections for the next three months fell during April, indicating they don't believe they're out of the economic woods. Fifty-one (51) percent said they expect increased year-to-year sales for the May-July period, down from 61 percent in March and 55 percent in February.

"April's sales gains were well-come, but they weren't dramatic enough to push up retailers' optimism to more normal levels," said Larry Meyer, MRA's CEO and a former director of the Michigan Department of Commerce.

"There's a lot of uncertainty out there because of the different forces at work. Repeated interest rate reductions and prospective income tax cuts are being offset by rising energy prices and mixed economic news. It's going to take some time for things to settle out."

The central region of the state, from Jackson north to Mount Pleasant, was the only one where more retailers posted gains than declines during April, 40 percent to 30 percent, according to the Index. Statewide, furniture and appliance retailers led the industry, with 41 percent boosting sales and 36 percent experiencing decreases.

The Michigan Retailers Association in the unified voice of retailing in Michigan and the nation's largest state trade association of general merchandise retailers. MRA's more than 5,500 retail business members operate more than 12,000 stores across the state.

CELEBRITY COACH'S CORNER

"To compete at their highest competitive level, a player must increase their preparation time."

JIM FURYK

Winner of the 2001 Mercedes Golf Championship

What Jim says...

"Golf's Major Championships: the Masters, the British Open, the PGA and the US Open have unique pressures and challenges. To prepare for these tournaments, I alter my schedule to allow extra time to travel, time to adjust and time to work on comparable course conditions. Before the Masters, I find the fastest greens, and work on my putting. For the British Open, I go across the pond, and work on hitting low shots and bump and runs. Before the US Open, I play tight courses to work on my driving accuracy. I also find the highest rough to work on. By allowing myself extra time, I know I am properly prepared to meet each obstacle."

Jim's best tips...

Prepare for a competitive event:

- 1) Play a tournament with a similar course the week before an important event.
- 2) Prepare for specific conditions during that event (i.e. deep roughs at the US Open).
- 3) Allow yourself time to adjust to the environment... arrive two nights prior to a major tournament.

Jim Furyk is a 6-time winner on the PGA Tour. He has won the 2001 Mercedes Golf Championship, the 2000 US Open, the 1999 PGA Championship, the 1998 British Open, the 1997 PGA Championship, and the 1996 US Open. He is also a member of the PGA of America and the PGA of Europe.

Up Close and Personal

As I am sitting here wondering what this month's column should include, my thoughts go back to last Saturday at our son's First Holy Communion at Our Lady of Victory (OLV) church. It is very easy for me, and very common, to be totally consumed by taking care of our clients and doing our best to solve their housing needs, spending night after night at the office. Some weeks stretch into 75 or 80 hours because of my passion for what we do and our love of people. But every once in a while...the look on John's face as he walked down the aisle at church with all the kids, the look on Dad's face as he beamed approvingly, Grandma and Grandpa showing up to support John and being proud of him...time seems to be suspended and I think about the wonder of a child and the importance of family. My own brilliance sometimes amazes me—it has only taken me almost half a century to appreciate what the sparkle in a child's eyes had to tell me!

What Are They Saying About John & Lisa Marker

We sold our home and bought another through John and Lisa Marker. Ten years ago, when our daughter, Jamie was just a baby we had worked with John on the sale and purchase of a home. It had worked out great then, and we appreciated how John had stayed in touch with us throughout the years. When it came time to move again, we knew we would contact John for our real estate needs.

We were concerned about financing details and timing issues involved in the sale and purchase of a home. We were also concerned about the prices of homes in various areas. Lisa took the time to take us out and show us homes prior to listing our home. This made us more comfortable about the process.

We had an offer on our home right away. The offer didn't go through because of an inspection problem. John's advise during this negotiation was invaluable. We did accept an offer on our home about one week later and got a great price.

Lisa continued to show us prospective homes to purchase. We enjoyed the process of seeing homes with Lisa. She was never pushy, but was very informative and we enjoyed her sense of humor. We made an offer on a home, but were unable to get it because of extenuating circumstances. We did, however, find a home a few weeks later. John was able to negotiate successfully to get us our home even though there was another offer.

We enjoyed the way John & Lisa handled our whole transaction. They kept in touch throughout the whole process. The Marker's are definitely our real estate agents for life. We highly recommend them.

Best Wishes, Jim & Nina Volk

Sarah's Corner

By Sarah Marker

10 Years Old

On Mother's Day we did a couple things. First, we went to 11 o'clock mass at OLV. After that we went to Grady's restaurant. I got crispy chicken with seasoned fries. I had to get a doggie bag because I could not eat all of it. I was planning on getting desert but I could not finish the main meal, I was totally full. After that we went back to our house.

When we got back, we noticed we had weeds on the lawn. We went to the hardware store for some spray. I took the spray, put on some gardening gloves, and started to spray every weed. Then I played the 5th grade adventure packet CD.

John's Journal

By John Marker

I had a soccer game. We won the game. I had lots of fun.

After the game, Logan, his mom, and I got ice cream. It was good.

Car Buying Secrets

If you're buying a new car, go shopping at the end of the month. The dealer is usually less anxious about covering monthly overhead costs then, and is motivated to sell in order to avoid paying another month's interest on the borrowed inventory.

Furthermore, salespeople may be participating in a bonus plan that kicks in based on the number of sales made in a month.

Also recommended: Shop just before closing—when the salespeople are eager to make a deal and the car you're trading in will get a less thorough examination. Buy in September or October to get deals on end-of-model-year autos.
