Accident leaves bills behind

Walnut Street house move has city, contractor scrambling to tabulate costs, expenses

By LON HUUMAN
Staff Writer

The debris from a Walnut Street house-moving accident in late July has been cleaned up, but that doesn't mean there isn't a mess left to attend to.

In the case of Northville city officials, now it's a matter of determining who will pick up the cost of demolishing the stranded home and for the hourly wages of city employees who needed to work during the accident.

The primary problem at this time is figuring out, who is going to pay the bills for the damages incurred to city property and for the additional time put in by city employees after the accident occurred?

"We have prepared and forwarded a list of damages as well as expenses to Mr. Kusky (Ed Kusky is the owner of Kusky and Sons House Moving and Raising Company of Clio) and his insurance provider," Northville City Manager Gary Word said. "At this point we have not received the payment for this."

The accident occurred on the afternoon of July 31 as Kusky attempted to move Susan Petty's house up a steep hill on Walnut Street. Petres said the accident occurred when Kusky tried to readjust the load in order to evade a utility pole that was in the way. In doing so, the cable attached to the trailer which the house sat on became slackened, causing it to become unhooked from the moving truck. Josh Kusky and Greg Kusky, 12, were behind the trailer blocking the tires with wooden blocks to prevent it from moving back any further down the street when the accident transpired.

Josh Kusky received superficial abrasions after he was hit in the head by a wooden board causing him to roll under the house as it moved over him, eyewitnesses to the accident said. Greg Kusky was not injured. The house was finally halted by an Ameritech service truck. The house was bound for a Salem Township lot.

Northville city police Chief James Petres said Kusky and his insurance provider may be reviewing the bills in order to determine what can and cannot be covered by his insurance. According to Petres, the total cost of damages and expenses is

Soccer league slapped with lawsuit

By LON HUUMAN
Staff Writer

The Northville Soccer Association and several of its volunteers have been hit with a lawsuit stemming from a 2000 accident in which a 12-year-old boy was struck by lightning while on a soccer practice field.

The $25,000 lawsuit was filed with the Wayne County Circuit Court by attorney Edward Pederson on behalf of the injured boy and his mother. According to the plaintiff's filed complaint, which requests a jury trial on the matter, the cause of action against the defendants stem from the following reasons:

- "The defendants organized and held a soccer practice during a thunder and electrical storm that the [injured boy] was directed to participate in."
- The NSA "acted in reckless disregard of the safety of minor children."
- The practice fields were open,

Volunteer help gives Mill Race a facelift

By JENNIFER NORRIS
Staff Writer

A lot of brushstrokes and plenty of elbow grease have restored the schoolhouse located in Northville's Mill Race Village to how it would have looked in the late 1800s.

Workers and representatives from area Hampton Inn and Hampton Inn & Suites branches supplied the necessary tools and painting equipment and began restoration efforts on the Wash Oak Schoolhouse Aug. 30.

Fourth grade students from Winchester Elementary in Northville also had the chance to observe the restoration process of the schoolhouse. Students, dressed in attire commonly worn in the late 1800s, toured the Mill Race Village and tried their hand at playing children's games of that time period.

Jan Purtell, education partnerships supervisor for Northville Public Schools, said it was important for the students to see the restoration work at Mill Race Village for several reasons.

"It's nice for them to recognize that people in the community are concerned about preserving Wash Oak School so that students can continue to come here every year," she said. "It helps them to learn the history of Northville."

District followed construction law, appeals court says

By JENNIFER NORRIS
Staff Writer

For the second time, the courts have sided with Northville schools.

A recent decision by Michigan Court of Appeals agreed with the previous decision of a lower court in the lawsuit between residents of the Woods of Edenderry subdivision and the Northville school district.

According to school board members, the school district was sued by 14 Woods of Edenderry residents who were questioning whether the school district had the right to build the high school with its designated plan or whether the district was restricted by township zoning ordinances.

The Michigan Court of Appeals concluded that "the state is constitutional and that its plain language exempts school construction projects from local land use regulations, including zoning and site plan reviews."

The decision had school board members feeling vindicated.

"I think it just proves that the district did nothing wrong," said school board president Martha Nield. "The law from the state is very clear that a school district builds a building and a site for the best purpose of public education. Twice now we've been given that opinion."

Bob Lusk, attorney for Northville Public Schools, said the case was first heard at the Wayne County Circuit Court by Judge Kathleen MacDonald.

"The decision at the circuit level [was] that the school district was exempt from the township zoning ordinances," said Lusk. "The judge dismissed the case before it went to trial. It was at least a year ago the judge issued that decision. Then, the township property owners near the high school and the township appealed that decision to the Michigan Court of Appeals."

Two key issues in the lawsuit were examined by the Michigan Court of Appeals. The case required the court to decide whether a provision of the Revised School Code exempted school construction projects from local land use regulations.

The court also decided whether or not the statute unconstitutionally delegates legislative authority

Police Reports

NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP POLICE REPORTS

ASSAULT AND BATTERY: A 17-year-old Northville female and her friend reported to Northville Township Police that they were victims of an assault and battery in the parking lot of the Park Place Apartments on Aug. 30.

According to the police report, the two females were in the parking lot when a white car pulled up next to them and then a 14-year-old Redford female exited the car. The 14-year-old suspect began speaking with the two females and eventually punched the 17-year-old in the face. The report said the two had known each other from a previous friendship.

Another unknown male slapped the 17-year-old as well and then threatened to "shut her mouth for good." The two females are seeking prosecution and reported that the 14-year-old suspect may have taken the 17-year-old's gold cross charm necklace during the incident. The case remains open.

THREAT: A Northville man reported to Northville Township Police that an unknown person entered his garage on Rayburn Road on Aug. 31, but the suspect fled the scene before he could take a proper description of the assailant. However, the man believes he knows the suspect because of a previous threat the person made at him and his wife.

The 32-year-old Northville man said his wife had attempted to help her sister after her car had broken down on the highway, but when they arrived at the car the sister's boyfriend threatened them with violence.

The threat was taken seriously by the Northville man and that same day he checked his home security system in case of any potential problems.

The man said as he was checking the system, he observed the motion detector light in the garage come on. He went to the garage and found the side door open. According to the report, he then observed an unknown person fleeing, but he could not tell who it was. The sister's boyfriend denied the home invasion charge, but the case remains open.

BUSH LEAGUE THEFT: An unknown white male wearing a white shirt and brown pants was reported leaving the scene of a larceny from an automobile at the Bushwood Country Club parking lot.

Two groundskeepers chased the suspect, but could not catch up to him. A search of the area by Northville Township Police also did not give any results as well.

The vehicle belongs to a 72-year-old Northville woman. The unknown suspect used a rock to break the woman's passenger window and take her purse. The purse had been found in Monroe with the woman's cellular phone and money missing.

FLOWER FIASCO: A maintenance employee discovered the flower bed at the entrance of Park Place Drive off of Eight Mile Road was destroyed by an unknown person on Sept. 1.

There was a reported $200 in damages done to the bed by the suspect's vehicle. The employee said the bed appeared as if it had been driven over numerous times until the flowers were strewn all over the neighboring roadway.

There are no suspects at this time.

Hiller's robbery trio gets tough sentence for heist

By LON HUHMANN
Staff Writer

The three Detroit men who attempted to rob Hiller's Market while armed with handguns in Northville Township late last winter have been sentenced.

The sentencing of Larry Davis, Donyell Williams and Jordan Kelly took place in Judge Patricia Freard's court room at the Frank Murphy Hall of Justice in Detroit on Aug. 30. All three men were sentenced on four counts of assault with the intent to rob as well as a count for the felony firearms charge. Davis and Kelly were also charged with a sixth, additional count of carrying a concealed weapon.

Davis was sentenced to three to 15 years for counts one through four, and two to five years for possessing a weapon while in commission of a felony. In addition, he received two to five years for the sixth count, for carrying a concealed weapon.

Kelly was sentenced to 81 months to 15 years for counts one through four as well as two to seven years for possessing a weapon during a felony crime, in addition to a mandatory of two years for the sixth count.

Williams received 70 months to 15 years for counts one through four and a mandatory two years for possession of a firearm while in commission of a felony.

The attempted armed robbery took place at Hiller's on Haggerty Road around 5 a.m. on Feb. 15. Kelly and Williams, both wearing ski masks, entered the store and threatened four Hiller's employees at gunpoint. The two men then ordered the employees to the ground before duct taping their hands and feet. During the altercation, Davis was sitting in a parked Jeep Cherokee, the apparent getaway vehicle, in the Tanger Center parking lot.

One unaccounted for Hiller's employee managed to flee the store and call 911. The Northville Township and Livonia police departments both responded to the scene. Police officers from both jurisdictions took the witness

NORTHVILLE BOND PROPOSAL

Q. When is the election day for the Northville Public Schools bond proposal?
A. Voting day is Sept. 25, 2001.

Q. What if I need an absentee ballot?

A. Call or stop by the Northville Public Schools Business Office for an application. The office is located at 501 West Main Street on the second floor. The business office may be reached at (248) 344-8444. Return the application and receive your ballot by mail or in person (each voter must pick up his/her own ballot.) Or, voters may come in and vote absentee on Saturday, Sept. 22 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Northville Public Schools Business Office.

Q. What will be built with the money?

A. The Northville Public School district plans to construct a new elementary school, build additions to Moraine and Winchester elementary schools, construct a storage addition at Amerman Elementary School, build classroom additions at Northville High School to accommodate 2,200 students and install fiber optic cabling to the new elementary school and a "redundant loop" to continue the information system connection between all school facilities.

Q. How much money is being asked for in the bond?

A. $28.3 million

Q. How much is this proposal going to cost Northville residents?

A. According to John Street, director of business/finance for Northville schools, the proposal would cost 0.55 mills during the first year. The average for the life of the bond issue would be 0.99 mills.

Q. What does that mean in dollars and cents?

A. "For a house that would sell at $200,000 it would cost a taxpayer $55 the first year. After that it would cost an average of $99 per year for up to 20 years," said Street. "If [the bond] does pass, it will cost a total for all of our debt mills just a little over 5 mills. That was the same they paid last year."

Q. What are supporters of the bond issue saying?

A: That classrooms are already at capacity and that more space is needed to accommodate the growing levels of student enrollment. Bond supporters also claim that additional space is needed to help the district maintain low student-teacher ratios and uphold the level of education students receive.

Q: What about opponents to the bond issue?

A: Some Northville residents have claimed that the district is not in need of additional space to house students while others said they are against doling out extra dollars to fund the projects.

"I'd turn it down in a second," said Gary Wall, a resident of Northville. "Absolutely no. Enough is enough. We have enough schools here already. Our schooling here is really good." I believe we have enough [space] for the next 10 years."

Q. What happens if the bond issue fails?

A. If the majority of voters say no, Northville school board members report that the district will have to resort to having higher class sizes and using more portable classrooms. Currently, the school district owns five portables. Due to capacity limitations, the district has already decided to place one doublewide portable classroom at Silver Springs Elementary school and at least one portable classroom at Thornton Creek Elementary.

Q. Why can't the district use portable classrooms to solve problems associated with overcrowding?

A. For now, the district is using portable classrooms at elementary schools to help distribute the escalating numbers of students. However, school officials say using portable classrooms only offers a short-term solution.

"[Portables] are a great short-term solution because it takes so long to build what you need," said Martha Nield, Northville school board president. "It's just not a good long-term solution. I hope [voters] can see that this is something we really need. It's a careful plan. The plan was very Good grief!

The second annual Good Grief Golf Outing to benefit Northville's New Hope Center for Grief Support is slated for this Saturday.

The golf outing will be hosted at the Tanglewood Golf Club, located at 55503 W. Ten Mile Road in South Lyon.

According to Arlene Kurzawa, administrative assistant at the New Hope Center for Grief Support, registration will begin at 9 a.m. and there will be door prizes, hole-in-one prizes and a live auction.

Kurzawa said participation in the second annual Good Grief Golf

"Everybody is touched by grief in their life."

Outing will cost $100 per person and will include a 18 holes with a cart, light lunch and a full buffet dinner. All of the proceeds will benefit the New Hope Center for Grief Support.

The New Hope Center for Grief Support is a non-profit Christian-based bereavement outreach center 113 E. Dunlap in Northville.

"We're here to offer to free grief support services and resources to anyone who is in need," said New Hope director Cathy Clough.

She said funding is strictly supported by fundraising benefits, individual and corporate donations and church and funeral home sponsorships.

Kurzawa said this golf outing is one of the ways New Hope Center is able to provide the community with its services.

"Everybody is touched by grief in their life," said Kurzawa. "In order to keep our agency running we have to raise funds. Our agency helps people to get through that terrible time after someone dies and helps them work through their grief and we don't charge anything for it.

There are no fees for any of the services. In order to meet our expenses, we rely on donations and fundraising events."

According to Kurzawa, golfers can sign up as a group or individuals will be placed in a foursome.

"It's a great way to meet new friends," she said. "It's just a fun day."

For more information on the Good Grief Golf Outing or to reserve your spot, contact New Hope Center for Grief Support at (248) 348-0115.

Karen ReMine along with her son Dan, 15, take a look at some of their photos from a recent trip to Zambia to provide medical relief for various communities.

From Northville to Zambia and back

By JENNIFER NORRIS
Staff Writer

One local family has traveled halfway around the world to bring medicine and hope to the people of Zambia.

Karen and Stephen ReMine and one of their sons recently returned from a medical relief trip to Zambia, a country slightly larger than the state of Texas and located in the south of the African continent.

Karen ReMine, a registered nurse and medical team coordinator with Orphan Medical Network International traveled with her husband Stephen, chairman of surgical services at Providence Health Center to Africa after partnering with Oak Pointe Church.

An assessment team traveled to the destination in Zambia in April to evaluate the kind of medical equipment and services that would be most effective. After their assessment, the team's goal was to raise money to bring back medicine, supplies and funds to purchase medicine in Zambia.

"We found their needs were quite dramatic," said Karen ReMine. "People could not afford medical care, food, shelter or clothing."

The team traveled to Ndola, Zambia where they not only assisted with providing medical care but also spiritual care and education.

The group set up a full-service clinic equipped with medicines, supplies and equipment in Ndola. According to ReMine, the people of Zambia would walk long distances without shoes just for the opportunity to receive medical care.

"One woman came in in a wheelbarrow," said ReMine. She said the people brought in the woman in a wheelbarrow because they could not afford an ambulance ride which would have cost approximately $1.50.

During their trip, the medical team was also invited to go a remote region of Zambia called the bush, said Karen. In the bush, she said, people lived in grass huts, had no electricity, no running water and the only mode of transportation was walking.

"It was extremely primitive," said ReMine.

She also said that the area was so remote that the residents there had no access to western medicine. The only medicine they had, she said, was what was provided by the local witch doctors.

According to ReMine, the team was able to test patients for HIV, malaria, tuberculosis and pregnancy. The team also treated leg wounds, intestinal worms, coughs, colds, pneumonia and even a case of leprosy. ReMine said all the diseases were treated except for HIV. For those patients, doctors were only able to treat their symptoms.

ReMine son, Dan ReMine, a student at Northville High School, also accompanied the team to Zambia.

"It's a poor country," said Karen ReMine. "They have nothing. Absolutely nothing [but] they are happy and content with what they have. I think with what little resources they have, they make due. I think we could learn from them. We waste more than what they have."

According to ReMine, the artist Thomas Kincade has donated a painting which will be raffled off at the upcoming Victorian Festival in Northville. Proceeds will go towards the medical team. Raffle tickets can be purchased by calling (248) 596-1816.

J.M. Boulard, 80, died Sept. 3 in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. He was born March 21, 1921, to John M. and Ruth (English) Boulard of Paducah, Ky.

Mr. Boulard served in the United States Army during World War II.

He was a superintendent with Federal-Mogul for 30 years prior to his retirement in 1965.

He is survived by two daughters, Jeanette (Frank) Myers of Northville and Judith (Vasile) Bizovi of West Hurley, N.Y.; one brother, Herman of Paducah, Ky.; a sister, Bertie Hartman of Nashville, Tenn.; and 10 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Services will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 6 at St. Paul Lutheran Church, 201 Elm St., Northville. The Rev. Thomas Lubeck will officiate.

Interment will be in Roseland Park Cemetery, Berkeley.

Arrangements were made by Northrop-Sassaman Funeral Home of Northville.

EARLEEN J. GELUSO

Earleen June (Suggitt) Geluso, 79, of Livonia died Aug. 31 at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor. She was born March 6, 1922, in Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Geluso was a homemaker and a member of St. Aidan Catholic Church of Livonia.

She is survived by four sons, Victor (Judith) of Northville, Gary (Joan) of Breedington, Fla., Frank (Debra) and Michael (Lisa), both of Livonia; two daughters, LaDonne (Gordon) Falconer of New Boston and LeAnn (John) Dunn, both of Livonia; one brother, Bart (Margie) Lindisch of Wyandott; and 25 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Geluso was preceded in death by her husband, Vito in January 1990.

Services were held on Tuesday, Sept. 4 at St. Aidan Catholic Church, with the Rev. Andrew Forish officiating.

Interment was in Parkview Memorial Cemetery, Livonia.

Arrangements were made by Heeney-Sundquist Funeral Home Inc. of Farmington.

MARC L. SHEFFER

Marc L. Sheffer, 49, died Aug. 31.

Mr. Sheffer lived in Ann Arbor for 25 years. Following graduation from Northville High School, he attended Michigan State and Eastern Michigan University where he received his master's degree in business administration. He was employed at Ferrous Processing & Trading Co. as vice president of raw materials. His love for the outdoors included tennis, hiking, camping, sking, and spending time in the mountains. He also practiced yoga and meditation.

He is survived by his wife of 25 years, Janine (Corry); daughter, Lea; son, Ryan; mother, Wilma; two sisters, Lynne (Jim) and Lisa (Ron); brothers, Lee (Suzy) and Loren (Daun); mother-in-law, Marie; sisters-in-law, Paula, Karla, and Cynthia; brother-in-law, William; and many loving members of his large extended family.

Mr. Sheffer was preceded in death by his father, Marcus Sheffer.

A "celebration of life" will be held at the First Methodist Church of Northville on Friday, Sept. 7 at 2 p.m. The Rev. Gordon W. Nusz will officiate. An informal gathering will be held at the church following the memorial.

Arrangements were made by Muehlig Funeral Chapel of Ann Arbor.

Memorials to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Cancer Care Center or to one's favorite charity would be appreciated by the family.

JULIA A. (HAMMOND) ENRIGT STATON

Julia Anne Hammond Enright Staton, 65, died July 10 at her residence in Duncanville, Texas. She was born Nov. 17, 1935, to Crispin and Eleanor (Wood) Hammond of Detroit.

Mrs. Staton moved to the community as a high school student in 1952. Her employment was that of an editorial assistant for a medical journal. Mrs. Staton was a member of the Unitarian Universalist fellowship of Dallas.

She is survived by her husband, William, whom she married in October 1998; son, Douglas Crispin (Betty) Enright of Richmond, Va.; daughter, Gail Eleanor Enright of Dallas, Texas; father, Cris Hammond of Novi; brothers, James of Appleton, Wis., Gordon of Windham, N.H., and Edgar of Walled Lake; sister, Peggy Hammond Meyer of Northville; and one grandson, Nicholas Enright.

Mrs. Staton was preceded in death by her mother, Eleanor Hammond and one brother, Crispin Nellis Hammond.

A "celebration of life" memorial service will be held on Saturday, Sept. 15 at 2 p.m. in the backyard of Deb and Tim Bostwick, 48080 W. Eight Mile Road, Northville (one-quarter mile west of Beck Road), formerly known as Meyer Berry Farm.

Should it rain, the service will be held at Novi Civic Center, Parks and Recreation Conference Room A, south side of Ten Mile between Taft and Novi roads.

At the request of the family, wear comfortable clothes, bring a lawn chair, and a story to share that you remember about Julie.

SHEILA WELCH

Sheila (Metzinger) Welch, 85, of Grand Haven, formerly of Northville, died Sept. 1. She was born June 18, 1916, to Ervin H. and Elizabeth (Antoine) Metzinger of Plattsburg, N.Y.

Arrangements were made by the National Cremation Society of Venice, Fla.

Robbery suspects get their sentences

stand during the trial giving their accounts of what occurred.

During the robbery, a Livonia police officer apprehended Davis in a Jeep Cherokee while Williams was seized as he came out the rear door of the supermarket. Kelly had been following Williams out the door, but turned back into the store when he saw the police officers outside. He was later apprehended by a Livonia officer while hiding in a trash compactor.

Evidence collected from the robbery included a .22 caliber revolver, two semi-automatic handguns, two masks and three walkie-talkies all set to the same channel.

All three men did offer apologies to their victims, but none were present during the sentencing. The location of the trio's pending incarceration has not yet been determined.

Meads Mill teacher Phil Demski.

School to hold memorial for teacher

By JENNIFER NORRIS
Staff Writer

Meads Mill Middle School will be hosting a memorial service for veteran teacher Phil Demski Sept. 10, 2001.

The service is slated to begin at 4:15 p.m. and is open to anyone who wishes to attend. The memorial will be held outdoors, weather permitting.

Demski, an award-winning middle school science teacher, died July 30 at Marquette General Hospital after being diagnosed with acute myelogenous leukemia, or AML. He was 54.

"The memorial is to honor Phil

Demski and it's an opportunity for the people...to take a few minutes and memorialize Phil and all that he's done for the Northville school district and the community," said Sue Meyer, principal of Meads Mill Middle School. "The tribute is to him."

The memorial service was organized by Meads Mill staff members and is open to the community.

Meyer said the memorial service will be videotaped for the Demski family. She also said Rev. Kent Clise from First Presbyterian Church will be speaking at the memorial service. Remarks from the superintendent and some music will be provided the Meads Mill choir under the direction of Pat McLaughlin, said Meyer.

Parking will be available on the soccer field.

Meyer said a white pine tree will later be planted at Meads Mill in honor of Demski. School officials also plan to post a memorial plaque at a later date.

Meyer said a white pine tree was purposely selected because of its connection with the Upper Peninsula—a location Demski and his family frequently visited.

Phil Demski is survived by his wife, Lori Demski and three children.

The eldest son Andy, 20, attends Northern Michigan University;

Nicole, 19, is a student at Western Michigan University and Ted, 15 currently attends Garden City High School.

According to Meyer, donations can be made to the Demski family to help with Phil Demski's medical bills and his children's education. The school will be handling the collection of cards and donations.

Meads Mill Middle School is located at 16700 Franklin Road.

Jennifer Norris is a staff writer for the Northville Record. She can be reached at (248) 349-1700 ext. 107 or by e-mail at jnnorris@ht.homecomm.net.

Ice arena may sell its name to help raise revenue, Novi says

By VICTORIA SADLOCHA
Staff Writer

Ideas to decrease Novi Ice Arena's deficit are thrown in the ring and possibly heading for the goal.

During the Aug. 27 city council meeting, members of the council gave rink manager, Tom Anastos, the go ahead to enter into negotiations to lease the now city operated pro-shop.

"Could this be a really good idea? Absolutely," Anastos said. "Leasing the pro-shop will provide a stable revenue source for the arena. I'm really excited about it."

Pending final council approval, the company chosen will rent the pro-shop from the arena and operate it as its own store.

"We will bring in a good quality company that will be competitive and provide full service," Anastos said. "From a customer service standpoint, it will enhance the capabilities of the shop taking efficiency to another level."

From a bottom line standpoint, Anastos said it will provide economic stability, provide a consistent source of revenue, and prevent the city from having to tie-up financial resources in stocking its own inventory.

"We're always looking for innovative ways to generate revenue for the ice arena," said Richard J. Clark, Novi Mayor.

Mayor Pro-Tem, Laura Lorenzo, who supported the approval, voted yes because it was heavily advised by Anastos.

"It is prudent for council to go along with his expertise," Lorenzo said.

Another deficit decreasing idea the council is just starting to ponder is seeking a naming rights sponsorship for the arena.

An example of this concept Lorenzo used is the recent deal between Clarkston entertainment venue, Pine Knob and DTE Energy. "I would like to see that proposal on an upcoming agenda," Lorenzo said.

"The idea is very preliminary," Anastos said. "I've looked into it and offered some suggestions."

Anastos explained just because he is exploring a naming rights opportunity doesn't mean the city would do it.

House accident prompts several legal questions

$16,000. Word said the damages included trees that were illegally cut down as well as a number of trees that had their branches torn down during the move. Petres said the expenses included the staffing time spent at the scene after the accident, during the demolition of the home and the subsequent cleanup.

"Mr. Kusky is eager to get his equipment back, but he will not be able to get it back until the payment is received by the city," Petres said.

Word said all of Kusky's equipment taken from the accident scene — including his moving truck and trailer — is currently being impounded at the city's Public Works yard. The accident has also drawn attention from the state of Michigan. Kusky is the owner of Kusky and Sons House Moving and raising company based out of Clio.

"The minor that was injured is exempt from the Youth Employment Standards Act because he is the son of the owner," said Michigan Consumer and Industry service wage and hour division spokesperson Lori Donlan. "However, Greg Kusky is not exempt from the YESA and this is why we have issued Mr. Kusky with a violation."

According to Donlan, the Wage and Hour Division issued a Corrective Action Notice to Kusky for violating Sections 3(1), "permitting a minor to work in a hazardous occupation," and 3(2), "employing a minor under the age of 14," of the YESA for the illegal employment of Greg Kusky.

Neither Kusky nor Petty would comment on the situation.

Word said the city would not take any further action or give the city council any recommendations to prevent future accidents until city officials had properly resolved the payment issue with Kusky and his insurance company.

Word said the city's house-moving policy would receive a full review once the Kusky matter was resolved. He said he hoped to bring the matter to council's attention sometime by late autumn or early winter.

Stop signs won't go at Rogers, council says

By LON HUHMAN
Staff Writer

A 3-2 vote left many of the North Rogers Street residents on hand for the Monday night city council meeting feeling angry.

The Northville city council denied the North Rogers area residents' petition request to place new stop signs on their street at two intersections. Mayor Chris Johnson and Kevin Hartshorne supported the idea of temporarily placing stop signs along the street, but Mayor pro-tem Carolann Ayers and council members Jerry Mittman and Tom Swigart did not.

The residential group, composed of residents that live on North Rogers, Dubuar, Dunlap and Potomac streets, went before the city council on Aug. 6 requesting stop signs to be placed at the intersections of Dubuar and Dunlap streets. The residents made this request as possible solutions to what they perceive to be a serious traffic volume and speeding problem on N. Rogers.

"I was very disappointed by the city council vote. I don't think they are representing the residents properly. They haven't heard the last of this issue," North Rogers resident Tammy Sortor said. "The majority of the residents along North Rogers and some of the neighboring streets as well support the idea of placing stop signs at the two intersections. Rogers Street residents have been going before the city council for nearly 20 years on this issue and have been getting the same results. At least give the stop signs a chance."

Northville city administrators, including police chief James Petres and public works director James Gallogly met with the neighborhood representatives to discuss possible solutions that included placement of curb bump-outs, stop signs at Dunlap or Dubuar and closure of the road at Potomac. According to Petres, even after a significant effort was made to arrive at some possible solutions there was still major differences in opinion as to what should be done. Petres said one background detail to the issue was the fact that there had only been three vehicle accidents in the past 10 years in the areas of concern.

Petres said the police department has been using a direct patrol program to ensure that there is increased enforcement activity and patrol presence in the area of concern. The directed patrol assignments are reviewed and posted on a weekly basis, Petres said. The assignments related to traffic enforcement are based on accident history, citizen complaints and level of enforcement activity. He said the department has increased the amount of time spent on North Rogers Street in the last two months. "The ability to effectively enforce traffic regulations is an important consideration," Petres said. "The addition of traffic control devices increases the workload. This is especially true of the placement of signs that are not likely to result in a high level of voluntary compliance. As the number of locations needing increased enforcement grows, the ability to provide this attention to any one location decreases."

Petres said the city staff favored creating curb bump-outs on North Rogers and he presented a list of pros and cons for stop signs as well as the bump outs. He said stop signs would reduce speed at the intersections, but because of the hill on Dubuar and the notion that drivers might not expect to see signs this could lead to an increase in accidents. As for the bump-outs similar to those on Main Street near the band shell, he said they could create a calming effect that may cause the driver to slow down. However, he said the bump-outs would be costly and may cause difficulties for snow plowing.

Ayers and Mittman cited the construction on Randolph Street as a major reason for the traffic increase on Rogers. All council members were in agreement that closure of any area of the street would be detrimental to emergency vehicles and that police enforcement is the best solution at this time to the problems.

The city council finally approved to provide increased police enforcement for the next 90 days, placement of an advisory speed limit sign of 25 mph on Potomac, increase the priority of extending the sidewalk up Potomac and place additional trees in the curb lawn of North Rogers. They also approved the creation of a temporary and permanent traffic island to be placed at Potomac near Rogers to slow drivers down.

Hotel volunteers help paint Mill Race buildings

student at Winchester said she enjoyed the touring the school. "I thought it was cool because it's been standing up since 1873," she said.

Several parents also accompanied the students on their trip to Mill Race Village.

"I think it's great," said Anne Phair, a parent of a Winchester Elementary student. "It's a good experience for them to get a good appreciation of what school was like in the 1800s."

According to Judy Christa-Cathey, vice-president of Hampton Brand Marketing, 15 volunteers went to work restoring the schoolhouse and repainting it. She said the team painted approximately 500 sq. ft and also restored and put up the flagpole.

Pat Schummer, office manager for Northville's Mill Race Village said Hampton Inn selected the village one of several historic sites across the United States that the hotel chain is helping to preserve.

"It's really quite a honor we were selected for this," said Schummer. "Quite frankly, the building was in bad need of the painting and the flagpole needed repair. The paint was chipping. I don't know how many years [the paint] had been on there but these are old buildings."

She said Mill Race Village is frequently visited by 45 to 50 school tours a year.

Schummer also said she is pleased with the restored look of the schoolhouse.

"[It's] beautiful," she said. "I'm already in love with the way it looks. Everybody here said 'wow that really looks great."

She also said that research was done to make sure the new paint color for the school would be authentic as possible.

One Northville resident who is employed with Hampton Inn in Northville, also pitched in to help restore the school to a like-new condition.

"It looks great," said Carlo Tato, Sales Manager for Hampton Inn. "It wasn't that bad. It just needed a paint job."

"I'm glad to work for a company that supports the communities around the hotel," he said. "As a resident of Northville, I love the historic district. I can see it, I can be a part of it and I can talk about it."

Library Lines

LIBRARY HOURS

The Northville District Library, 212 W. Cady St. near city hall, is open Monday-Thursday, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Sunday, from 1-5 p.m. Parking is available off Cady Street. For detailed information about programs or services, or to request or renew library materials, call 349-3020.

EVENING BOOK DISCUSSION

Join us on the second Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m. for a lively discussion of good books. On Sept. 10, the group will talk about a novel by Anita Diamant, "The Red Tent," which interweaves biblical information with fictional characters to create a rich narrative of what life was like for women at that time.

FALL TOT STORYTIMES

Featuring fun stories and music specially selected for 2- and 3-year-olds with a parent or caregiver. Registration for the Tot Storytime sessions began Sept. 5. Because the program is specifically geared to this age group only, it is important that only those fitting this age guideline attend; sorry, babies, other siblings, or children not registered may not attend. Sessions run for six weeks and are 30 minutes each. Please select one of the following four sessions (including several new times): Mondays, 11 a.m., from Sept. 24-Oct. 29; Wednesdays at 10:15 a.m. or 11:30 a.m., from Sept. 26 through Oct. 31; Thursdays at 11 a.m., from Sept. 27-Nov. 1.

KIDS CLUB FOR FIRST AND SECOND GRADERS

This special series of programs, featuring stories and fun activities, is open to kids in the first and second grades on alternating Thursdays. The program begins Sept. 20 and continues for six sessions through Nov. 29, from 4:15 to 5 p.m. Registration starts Sept. 6 at the library or by phone.

LIBRARY CARD SIGN-UP MONTH

Kids, sign up for a library card during the month of September and you will receive a fun surprise. Also, you can put your name on a colored leaf to help decorate the youth area of the library.

LITTLE ME CLUB STORYTIME

FOR LITTLE ONES

Parents or caregivers and their little ones are invited to join us on Sept. 13 for fun with stories, beanbags and music. Designed for children ages 10 months to 2 years, this drop-in lap sit storytime is offered once a month, and no registration is required. Infants and older children are also welcome to attend. The program runs from 10:30-11:15 a.m. Join us, have fun, and make new friends.

DONATE THOSE OLD BOOKS TO THE SALE

The Friends of the Library will be collecting donations for their fall used book sale. Just bring your books to the library's loading dock off Wing Street on Saturday, Sept. 8 between 10 a.m. and noon.

FRIENDS ALL BOOK SALE

Find great bargains on books of all varieties at the Friends of the Library used book sale. The public will be welcome on Friday, Sept. 21, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, Sept. 22, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; and Sunday, Sept. 23, from 1-4 p.m. In addition, on Thursday, Sept. 20 there will be a special preview sale for any members of the Friends, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. A silent auction will also take place for a number of very special books. All funds from the sale are used to benefit the library.

STORYTIME FOR 4- AND 5-YEAR-OLDS

All kids who are 4 and 5 or are in kindergarten are invited to join us for stories and fun creative activities. Participating children should be comfortable attending without a caregiver present, and able to use basic craft tools such as scissors or glue. Because this program is carefully designed for this age group, young or older children may not attend. Please register for a six-week session: Mondays at 4 p.m. or Tuesdays at 11 a.m. The Monday series runs from Oct. 15 through Nov. 19, and the Tuesday series runs from Oct. 16 through Nov. 20. Register in person or by calling 349-3020 starting Sept. 18.

EVENING DROP-IN STORYTIME

Wear your pajamas and join us for stories on Sept. 12 at 7 p.m. This half-hour drop-in Storytime is designed for preschool children and older with parents or caregivers. Families are welcome. No registration is required.

LIBRARY BOARD MEETING

The next meeting of the Northville District Library Board of Trustees will be Sept. 27 at 7:30 p.m. The public is welcome to attend these monthly meetings, which are scheduled on the fourth Thursday of the month.

Lightning lawsuit prompts questions

When a then-12-year-old boy was struck by lightning in May of 2000, Northville heaved a sigh of relief that the youth not only survived the accident, but also seemed to be doing exceptionally well. That relief was shared by the boy's teammates, his coaches and the Record, whose staffers had a chance to interview the boy and his mother shortly after the incident. "It was a freak accident," the boy's mother insisted in the story we wrote. "Nothing more."

And there was more. The mother also said she did not blame the coach for the incident. Instead, she credited him for saving her son's life by performing CPR on him.

Fast-forward to last week, when we learned an apparent change of heart had occurred over the last 15 months, and a lawsuit has been filed against the Northville Soccer Association and several persons affiliated with the organization. The suit asked for $25,000 in damages as a result of the lightning strike, claiming the NSA "acted in reckless disregard of the safety of minor children."

Determining whether or not NSA officials acted recklessly is something the courts will have to determine. Passing judgment on one side or the other, at this stage of the game, wouldn't be prudent. And so we wait and watch.

No one disputes the fact that what happened to the boy was awful, and could have been a bona fide tragedy were it not for a little bit of luck and a lot of quick thinking. A bolt of lightning carries an average of 50,000 volts of electricity — an ample amount to kill a person.

The fact the boy lived to tell about his ordeal is nothing short of amazing.

If the mother proves her case and a court finds the NSA acted irresponsibly, punishment should be handed out. But again — figuring out who's right and who's wrong will require a legal evaluation.

What we do know is that, intended or not, the suit has had a chilling effect on would-be volunteer soccer coaches, who now feel uneasy about assuming responsibility and perhaps setting themselves up for similar litigation. Some 1,600 youths participate in Northville Soccer Association activities. Only a fraction of them, we've learned, have been able to take to the field and practice.

We intend on getting answers and watching this matter unfold. Until then, kids who want nothing more than to chase a soccer ball around on a field will need to keep their cleats in their closets until adults finish chasing each other around in a courtroom.

FOOTNOTE: (Maybe the greatest good that could come of this incident would be if kids simply cast aside organized league sports, picked up teams, and played for the heck of it. There was a time when that actually happened, you know.)

■ Thanks for help with summer rec

This summer the Northville Parks and Recreation Department once again had a very successful season of programs and activities. Three of the programs that were assisted with sponsor support and volunteers are Safety Town, Summer Day Camp and the Tennis Tournament.

The Safety Town program would like to thank Dr. Timothy Kirk O.D. from Town & Country Eyecare in Novi and the Northville Kiwanis. We are thankful for their support. The children of the community certainly benefit from this generosity.

Also, we were extremely pleased at the response we received from the teens which volunteered. Over 75 volunteers came forward to help. Without their time and effort the program would not be possible. We extend our gratitude to each and everyone of them.

The Summer Day Camp would like to recognize the Northville Rotary for their donation for the day camp T-shirts. We value their willingness to provide financial assistance.

On Friday, Aug. 17 and Saturday, Aug. 18, the Northville Parks and Recreation Department sponsored a USTA sanctioned Youth Tennis Tournament at Northville High School. Over 80 young talented tennis players participated. We would like to thank Orin Jewelers Inc. for their continued support of this program.

Again, we thank everyone and look forward to next year and another successful summer of exciting programs.

■ Quality of life demands 'yes' vote

I am writing in support of the upcoming school bond issue vote. My opinion is simple: support schoolchildren. Part of my thought process is as follows:

We've lived in Northville for 16 years; our choice to remain here is deliberate because we like our community, church and schools. Obviously we were not the last to recognize this wonderful place. Drive along Six Mile or Beck Road to see the latest development areas, with many new homes — and children living in them. During the day they fill our schools, in some cases beyond capacity (take a look at the portables in use at Silver Springs and Thornton Creek elementaries).

The school board and administration have been proactive in tackling growth challenges. While completing a new high school on schedule and within budget, a committee of school staff and citizen volunteers continued studying details way beyond what most of us care to know for countless hours, finally recommending this bond proposal for our approval. The funds generated will provide for more elementary space, clearly needed. Classrooms will be added to the high school to finish its original design; state law allows for building only out to five-year projections, but the design allowed for anticipated growth past that — which is now upon us.

School tax dollars have been wisely used, based on figures showing our district's per pupil spending less than other districts with similar high achievement levels. Program quality has remained a high priority. As with most good things, continuing our tradition of educational excellence won't exactly come free. Though we are being asked to approve additional funding, please note that the millage rate will actually be less than it was after the '97 bond issue, due to debt retirement growth — more of us are sharing the tax burden.

My children will directly benefit from parts of the proposal; parts of it will never affect them. But I believe we have a responsibility to provide a good education for all the young members of our community. In the big picture, today's youth are tomorrow's adult citizens who share our world. We'll ultimately all benefit by providing them a sound foundation now. I encourage you to mark your calendar and join me in voting "yes" on Tuesday, Sept. 25.

Carol Zinser

■ There's a reason for school expansion

As co-chairperson of the citizens' committee campaigning for passage of the school bond proposal, far and away the most frequent question I get is "Why do we have to add on to the new high school already?" This is a fair question that deserves an explanation.

The short answer is simple — our student population continues to thrive and to grow in numbers. In order to maintain the standard of excellence in education our community has established over the years, we must plan for and build the facilities necessary to meet the demands caused by continued growth.

The real question is: "Why do schools need to add capacity in phases, rather than all at once?"

Michigan law requires public school districts to seek voter approval of any request to fund construction of new schools or school additions. Before a school district can call such an election, it must submit to the state Department of Treasury projections for changes in the district's population that support the district's need for new facilities. However, the Department of Treasury will only permit a district to use projections for the immediately following five-year period in planning new facilities. (This rule is based on the assumption that projections for longer periods of time are unreliable.)

In 1997, the foregoing rule limited the size of the proposed new Northville High School to include classroom space for 1,800 students, even though population estimates showed growth continuing for more than five years resulting in a high school population of approximately 2,200 students. Faced with the state's limitation on building size, the district did the next best thing: it designed the "core facilities" (hallways, lockers, cafeterias, etc.) of the new high school to accommodate 2,200 students, and designed the rest of the building to allow a 400 student classroom addition to be added at the lowest possible cost.

Northville's student population continued to grow from 1997 through the present date, due in large part to the excellent reputation enjoyed state-wide by the district and its staff, students, and parents, as well as the community at-large.

Earlier this summer, the Department of Treasury agreed that the district's current growth projections supported the need to construct the previously anticipated addition to the high school, which made it possible for the district to include this project in the current bond proposal.

The current bond proposal must be supported if Northville Public Schools is to be able to continue to offer a high-quality education to all of its students. The District has planned its facility needs carefully, and does not control state law, or its population.

Northville Public Schools has a constitutional obligation to provide a public education to its young residents, no matter how quickly their numbers may increase. Please support the District's bond proposal with a "yes" vote on Tuesday, Sept. 25.

■ Mentally ill need long-term treatment

Staff writer Lon Huhman reported in the August 20 issue of the Northville Record, that there was concern about the possible closing of the Northville Psychiatric Hospital. It would seem that, for the past thirty or so years, the State of Michigan has been reniging on its responsibility to provide services for those among us who suffer from a mental illness.

Over the years, as each Mental facility closed its doors, residents were transferred to foster care homes, second-rate hotels, or released to live with family members who had once despaired over the disturbed behavior (if it was the case) of the afflicted member, and were reluctant to revisit a situation that disrupted the peace and tranquility of the rest of the family.

As I wrote a number of years ago, one need not wonder why there has been an increase in the number of homeless street people in our cities. Many, because of lack of supervision, have neglected to abide by a doctor's medication regimen, and have returned to behaving in a way that led them to be hospitalized in the first place.

There are some individuals who, in my opinion, lack the many and necessary strengths to compete in the high-powered, do-or-die competitive society that we live in today. They become the flotsam and jetsam that settles into a category of individuals that a concerned and humane society must deal with appropriately.

I have worked with the mentally ill, both in Pennsylvania and here in Michigan, intermittently, for over 20 years, latterly as director of Nursing Services and Education at the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital.

I have come to believe that, though there are many people who can be released from such facilities and treated in a different environment, and that every means should be tried to achieve that goal, we must also recognize that there are some who will require a caring, well-supervised and structured way of life for an indeterminate length of time.

Unraveling the state GOP fracas

Don't be fooled by all the spinmeisters trying to downplay it as political-insider baseball.

Out of the blue, Republican gubernatorial nominee presumptive, Lt. Gov. Dick Posthumus, reversed his earlier pledge to back his longtime friend, moderate Sen. Dan DeGrow (R-Port Huron), for attorney general.

Phil Power

Incensed, DeGrow promptly threw his support to fellow Sen. John (Joe) Schwarz (R-Battle Creek), also a middle-of-the-roader, who has been talking about challenging Posthumus for the GOP 2002 nomination for governor.

Politicians and political commentators of all stripes immediately began talking about a split between hard-edge Michigan Republicans from western Michigan (fiercely pro gun, pro-school vouchers and anti-abortion) and more moderate GOP activists from southeastern Michigan.

For years, Gov. John Engler has held the various factions of the party together, if only by force of personality. But with Engler now a short timer in the last 15 months of office and having fun running the National Governors Association, there's nobody minding the store.

Some observations about what could be a defining moment in Michigan politics:

First, what was Posthumus (or Posthumus' handlers) thinking? The dumping of DeGrow was so sudden and so clumsily handled that the net effect was to pick the scab off what had been a deeply felt but relatively civil tug of war over the soul of the Michigan Republican Party. Now the schism is out in the open, forcing people who really would prefer not to take sides, and Joe Schwarz has a real opening.

Moreover, in bringing the splits in the GOP to the surface, Posthumus has called attention to the plain fact that his campaign for governor — a long-planned, carefully prepared ascension — has failed to get much traction among people who aren't confirmed right wingers. Most political observers assume Posthumus' close friendship with Engler and his long career in office guarantees a successful fund-raising operation. I'm not so sure; most big Republican givers I talk to are keeping their wallets firmly in their back pockets.

So Posthumus' move simply doesn't add up. And when something this important doesn't add up, people start indulging in conspiracy theories.

Maybe Betsy DeVos, former state GOP chairwoman who resigned last year after a disagreement with Engler over school vouchers, was really pulling the strings. Maybe she wasn't. Maybe the GOP right wing wants to make support for school vouchers a litmus test for Republican politics (DeGrow was an outspoken opponent of vouchers). Maybe not.

But there's sure a lot of talk going on.

Second, there could be more to the Schwarz campaign than most folks had believed. True, Schwarz is one of Michigan's most-respected politicians, a former Navy officer and Vietnam veteran with a busy medical practice in addition to serving as president pro tem of the state Senate. But his slow-developing campaign for governor has been the despair of his friends and raised doubts about whether he was really serious.

Now Schwarz says he's "galvanized." He and DeGrow are teaming up to lead the reform wing of the party, hoping to help the GOP shed its hard-line image of support for guns, school vouchers and Right to Life to the exclusion of anything else.

"If we don't, we're toast in 2002, especially with ticket splitters and independents who make up such a big part of the Michigan electorate," says Schwarz.

For years, Gov. John Engler has held the various factions of the Republican party together, if only by force of personality. But with Engler now a short-timer, there's nobody minding the store.

Schwarz and DeGrow are going to put on a show at the Republican conference on Mackinac Island in a couple of weeks. He'll stage events, raise money, recruit precinct delegates, hire campaign staff. Schwarz managed U.S. Sen. John McCain's winning campaign in the Michigan presidential primary last year, and he says McCain's will come here to campaign and raise money for a reform effort. I wouldn't be surprised if former Gov. William Milliken, who has been increasingly alarmed at the rightward drift of his party, didn't come out publicly for Schwarz.

Most insiders think Schwarz has an uphill battle. They figure Posthumus has been around so long and has such a corps of loyalists running the state Republican Party that he's got a lock on the nomination. And they also figure that Schwarz won't appeal to independent voters as well as McCain did, especially with a vigorous Democratic primary all but assured.

Maybe so, but if I were sitting in Dick Posthumus' high-ceilinged, wood-paneled office in Lansing, I'd be more than a little worried.

Engler a potent ally in elections

Michigan Republicans have in their arsenal for the 2002 elections one very potent weapon in Gov. John Engler.

Yes, it's true that he can't run again due to term limits, nor does he have his eye on any other elective office. But he most assuredly will still have a major impact on the outcome of the vote.

Mike Malott

For one, Engler can anoint an heir apparent, which of course he has done in supporting Lt. Gov. Dick Posthumus.

But more importantly, he can warn off potential challengers. Yes, Sen. Joe Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, is in the race for now, but he's well behind and Engler is likely to keep out any others.

That's a very definite advantage in the contest for the GOP. Democrats, on the other hand, appear to be headed toward an August bloodletting.

Of the three top candidates — former Governor Jim Blanchard, Attorney General Jennifer Granholm and Congressman David Bonior — Lansing polls say they don't see any reason why any of the three would back away from the race.

Two other contenders, Sens. Gary Peters and Alma Wheeler Smith, would cut up the vote even further.

While the Dem contenders are spending campaign bucks shooting at each other, a primary-less GOP would leave Republican voters free to crossover and cause mischief.

Still, Democrats don't have a party leader comparable to Engler, in a position to sit the contenders down and settle the question of who the party flag-bearer will be without a primary clash.

It can't come from the state party organization itself. The party keeps its hands off the primary, by policy and tradition.

Perhaps the job would fall to Michigan's most powerful and senior Democrat, Sen. Carl Levin. Levin politely declines.

"Governor Engler is able to do that because he has real carrots and sticks," Levin said. Engler's influence comes from the fact he is governor, not because he's the head of the party, Levin said. The governor has plenty of time to hand out rewards and punishments, through support of legislation or by the naming of appointees to various state positions.

Levin, despite the influence he now holds as a senior member of the U.S. Senate and as the chair of two of its most powerful committees, does not have a way to hand out prizes or discipline in the same way.

Besides, Levin said, that kind of thing can backfire on the party. "Voters don't like that, when the candidate is chosen for them," he said.

That may be, but Democrats need to get back in the game in a state where Republicans have effectively seized control of all three branches of government. Partisans in Lansing say their best shot for quickly taking back a piece of the state apparatus, and bringing back a little balance in the Capitol, is the governor's race.

So that lack of leadership could well prove costly.

Many in the party worry that Blanchard could do very well in the primary, if for no other reason than that he has good name recognition, but that he would not do well the general.

And there is justification for the fear.

A Blanchard-Posthumus runoff would quickly turn into a referendum on the Engler

Yes, it's true John Engler can't run again, but he most assuredly will still have a major impact on the outcome of the vote. Engler can, after all, appoint an heir apparent, which he's done with Dick Posthumus.

years versus the Blanchard years. It would essentially be a replay of the 1990 Blanchard-Engler contest.

Blanchard's service from 1982 to 1990 were not happy years. While it is true that you can't attribute that to all to Blanchard — the economy was bad, he was saddled with huge budget deficits coming into office, and he had to hike the income tax — he still gets the blame.

Engler's margin in 1990 may have been small, but he his policies have proven popular with voters ever since. Starting with Proposal A in 1994 and continuing with some 30 tax cuts, Engler's has played the issue of tax reform to good effect.

Without party leadership that is willing to send a message to Blanchard, telling him that he has already had his day in the gubernatorial sun, he's not likely to get such a message.

Even if no Democrat has a position in which real "carrots and sticks" can be handed out, it might serve the party well if one of its elder statesmen stepped forward in an attempt to direct where the August primary is headed.

My favorite forecaster is a tree

On a fairly remote two-lane country stretch of road near my home, it's hard not to spot the most accurate predictors of weather changes and seasonal shifts.

Jennifer Norris

These forecasters don't need sophisticated Doppler Radar systems or even high-tech satellites. In fact, these "predictors" live outside 365 days a year, never spent a day in school, don't wear clothes and stand about 50 feet tall.

As I maneuvered my car through the winding turns along that narrow country road, the towering cluster of huge, old trees stood faithfully by, armed with their tell-tale message of the coming seasonal change. Glancing upward, I could see that some of the leaves on select branches were changing their hue from the standard grass-green to more of a brilliant red.

Perfect, I thought. Just in time. Since I don't have cable television or a satellite that pulls in television broadcasts from outer Mongolia, what I hear of weather reports comes from the radio or whatever stations the rabbit ears on top of the TV set can manage to pull in.

While meteorologists seem to have a handle on the day to day temperature and barometric pressure readings, I'd say the forecasters that live along the roadsides and in our backyards have a slightly more impressive way of announcing the start of a new season.

Being unequipped with such modern forecasting methods like cosmopolitan computers or satellite readings, nature has its own impressive method of predicting seasonal change.

Although the neighborhood oaks, maples and elm trees don't have the ability to predict or pinpoint approaching storms or severe weather as advanced machinery can, trees in their own right have the uncanny knack at announcing the onset of each season.

When the blistering heat of summer gradually fades away, one of the first signs of autumn will be the changing hues on the leaves. Similarly, as the icy grip of winter grabs hold of Michigan once again, the trees shed their leaves entering a state of rest. Likewise, I don't wait for meteorologists or the calendar to announce the beginning of spring, I watch for the flowering blossoms on our crabapple tree in our front yard.

With their own internal calendar of sorts, those roadside meteorologists have become a favorite source of information, boldly announcing to me when nature is ready to move to the next season. I'm sure within the next month or so, plenty more of these 50-foot tall "weathermen" will be silently broadcasting the arrival of the autumn.

Writer shares stem cell ideas

The current interest in stem cell research can result in ancillary considerations where the laboratory can be used to determine the origin of disease, pestilence, and pain. Some are suggesting the lab and research can and will determine there is a gene which determines homosexuality.

If it is determined there is a gene that will identify an individual's preference for particular sexual liaisons, it might then be found that there is a gene to determine bisexual behavior. Would it be crass and cruel to suggest the extension—a gene that indicates the predilection of homoscedasticity, cross dressing, child molestation?

Somewhat in a more serious vein, maybe the laboratory mavens will discover the Ann Heche gene, where a woman favors a woman in her life until the age of 35 when a man will seem to be the much preferred sexual attraction. We really are nearing the societal olio where no one will have to accept responsibility for his actions. What a heaven a day makes.

The effects of overcrowding are a

Overcrowding hurts schools

real threat to the "tradition of excellence" in Northville Public Schools. Despite our school board's best efforts to plan for future growth in 1997, state law limited the District's ability to increase the capacity of its school buildings to accommodate only the next five years of estimated student population increases. Since then, the student population has grown more quickly than anticipated. As a result, our schools are becoming overcrowded, while population growth continues unabated.

As parents of children at Thornton Creek Elementary School, each year we see this newer facility being stretched to the limits of its designed capability in order to accommodate an ever increasing number of students. Class sizes are at capacity. The cafeteria is not large enough to accommodate the number of students attending the school. A parking lot which was designed to accommodate a walking student population now must accommodate an ever increasing number of busses carrying students from distant areas of the community. A building which was designed to house an Early Childhood Program has now been forced to move a portion of this program to a portable trailer. The situation is analogous to the subject of Jan Brett's children's book, "The Mitten," in which animals crowding into the mitten eventually bust its seams.

We must acknowledge that we are a growing community and respond to meet the educational needs of our population. A vote in favor of the upcoming bond proposal on Sept. 25 will assure that overcrowding is not the demise of our "tradition of excellence" in Northville Schools.

Lightning accident prompts litigation

flat and unprotected.

• The injured boy was compelled to participate because of the scheduled practice.

• The injured boy would not have been struck by lightning had care been exercised.

The near-death accident occurred during a soccer practice on a field at Northville Christian Assembly on May 11 just after 6 p.m. The boy, a Northville resident, was hit in the head by the lightning bolt and fell to the ground. The bolt stopped the boy's heart and breathing. His coach was able to resuscitate the boy with CPR before professional help arrived.

"There was this explosion of bright light and a horrendous sound. The earth moved and all of the boys just went down," eyewitness Mary Clough said.

After the arrival of Northville Township emergency personnel, the boy was transported to St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia. It was initially reported by the boy's mother that he did not suffer any major injuries. The story, which told of the youth's harrowing experience, appeared in the May 18, 2000 issue of the Northville Record. The boy's mother also told the Record in a May 16, 2000 phone interview for the story that she did not blame the coach and she credited him for saving the boy's life by performing CPR.

"It was a freak accident," the boy's mother said in the story. "Nothing more."

There were conflicting reports from eyewitnesses regarding the weather that day. Carol Poenish, the referee coordinator for the under-six division on hand at the time of the incident, told the Record last year that she did not think there should have been practice or anything going on with the way the weather was that day.

Clough, another soccer coach using the same field at the time of the lightning strike, told the Record last year that around 5:30 p.m. the day of the accident that she had not seen another bolt of lightning and the sky appeared to have been clearing up. She said she did not see any reason for other coaches canceling practice, even though she did.

According to Larry Bielack, the NSA president at the time of the accident, there were no set rules in place regarding weather besides using common sense. Several NSA volunteers did inform the Record last year that there were safety guidelines, including seeking shelter at the first sight of lightning, and not returning to play or practice until 15 full minutes had passed since the last visible crash of lightning.

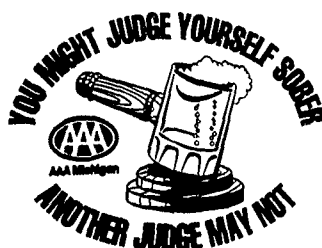

The NSA is not covered by either Northville city's or Northville Township's insurance carrier Michigan Municipal Risk Management Authority, but by the volunteers own insurance provider.

Peter Jabbour, a coach for his three children's teams in the under-eight and under-seven divisions, said the case against the NSA may have a detrimental effect on the soccer association and the 1,600 youths who participate in it each year. He said changes may have to take place in order for the NSA to become an official part of the Northville Parks and Recreation Department.

"It's a great program for the community," Jabbour said. "I am concerned about this case and its results because I will hopefully have my three boys participating in the soccer association for the next 10 years."

NSA is an independent, all volunteer, non-profit organization that provides coaches, officials as well as the practice and game schedules. The parks and recreation department duties in connection with the NSA is to provide registration processing, field maintenance and some clerical services. Both the city and township have notified MMRMA as a precautionary step in case either of the municipalities are implemented in the suit in the future.

Construction was legal, court of appeals rules

to the superintendent of public instruction.

"The township, along with area residents, requested that defendants alter construction plans to accommodate their concerns regarding parking, buffering, setback, storm water control and tree preservation issues," the Appeals Court opinion read. "Defendants declined to adopt all the requested changes, taking the position that the Revised School Code exempted them from local zoning regulations. Plaintiff and intervenors filed motions...seeking a declaratory ruling that defendants' construction plans were subject to plaintiff's local zoning regulations, including the site plan review process. The circuit court denied those motions, ruling that the Revised School Code exempted defendants from local zoning regulations."

The school district was also sued by the township in a separate lawsuit, but that was settled with an agreement in 1999, Nield said.

Lusk said there were two holdings by the Michigan Court of Appeals.

"[The] school district is exempt because the state superintendent of schools has sole and exclusive jurisdiction over school district site plans," said Lusk. "If the state superintendent has sole and exclusive jurisdiction, then the township doesn't have any."

He also said the courts ruled on a second point.

"This delegation of authority over school site plans from the Michigan legislature to the state superintendent is not unconstitutional," said Lusk.

The appeals court agreed with the decision of the lower court.

According to the court statement, "In the present case, the Legislature granted the superintendent of public instruction 'sole and exclusive' jurisdiction over the review and approval of site plans for school buildings...In fact, we fail to see how the Legislature's intent could have been more clearly expressed. The grant of jurisdiction to the superintendent of public instruction is exclusive and the statute exempts school construction projects from local zoning regulations, including site review plans. Therefore, we conclude that the trial court properly denied intervenors' motion for summary disposition."

Lusk said the court's decision will not only affect Northville schools, but other districts as well.

"I think it's important for school districts all over the state," he said. "It's something that is not only important in Northville, but important to school districts around the state."

Lusk also said the school district involved the township, the city and residents in the site planning process.

"Everybody [that was] going to be affected by building had the opportunity to state their preferences," he said. "The school district never saw itself as an adversary to the township when it came to planning the building. The overwhelming majority of changes requested by the township were incorporated into site plan although the district wasn't legally required to do so."

Despite being satisfied with the court's decision, school officials said the district's money could have better spent.

"It's an unnecessary cost the district had to incur," said Nield. "That's money we could have spent on books, computers or student programming."

Leonard Rezmierski, superintendent of Northville schools, expressed relief over the ruling.

"I'm obviously pleased. It's unfortunate...but nonetheless the situation is hopefully concluded," he said. "We have abided by all the requirements of the state. We're trying to build for the future. We hope we can put this behind us and go forward."

Sometimes a team can control every aspect of a game and still falter — just as the John Glenn Rockets football team.

The Northville Mustangs football team sent the Rockets home scratching their heads Friday night after the 'Stangs pulled out a 13-7 victory — but the Rockets weren't the only ones scratching their heads.

"It was a total one-sided game," Northville coach Darrel Schumacher said. "They controlled everything but the scoreboard."

The Mustangs capitalized on the excellent play of their special teams from Matt Cornelius keeping the Rockets pinned down with precision punting to senior Brandon Scott's tide-turning blocked punt.

Northville was outsize, out ran and over powered through out the entire first half until their defense stopped a John Glenn drive, forcing them to punt. As the punter booted the ball, Scott blocked it into the end-zone where Northville junior Scott McNeish recovered it for the first score of the night with 2 minutes, 31 seconds remaining in the first half with kicker Pat Kelleher nailing the point-after to put the Mustangs up 7-0.

"It was a huge play that changed the momentum for us," Schumacher said. "I am sure they (John Glenn's team) are still talking to themselves wondering how it happened. Everything but the score would have given them the game."

The Mustang's second score came as senior quarterback Drew Herpich faked the hand-off on a play action and scrambled out of harms way before scampering seven yards around defenders and into the end-zone to cap Northville's scoring.

"He was trying to play action," Schumacher said. "They over committed to one side and Drew made things happen by going away from it. If he would have thrown the ball it would never have gotten in there. He made some good decisions for us."

The Rockets would not be denied a score though and junior quarterback Brian Ceckiewicz found running back Tony Davis for an 11-yard score with 1:49 remaining in the game.

"We had something like 30 offensive plays and they had around 60," Schumacher said. "It was that one-sided."

The Mustangs definitely led when it mattered, on the scoreboard — but they could not seem to get their yard totals adding up. Cornelius ran the ball 10 times for 14 yards while Tim Downing carried eight for seven yards. The leading rusher was senior Adam Dilly who took four carries 25 yards. Herpich, who scrambled to save his life through most of the contest, carried the ball six times for negative 16 and threw 46 yards on 3-for-7 attempts.

Northville gathered 76 yards of total offense against the staggering John

Mustangs girls basketball notches wins in openers

Anderson making habit out of drilling last-second threes while Ott, Cauzillo, Ossola pile on

The Northville Mustangs girls basketball team got to see what it was like to be behind in both of their first two games — they decided they didn't like it.

The Mustangs came back from a brief deficit to beat Brighton 43-42 August 28 before doing the same to defeat the South Lyon Lions 43-37 August 30.

"This is the type of start we were certainly looking for," Northville coach Pete Wright said of his squads 2-0 record. "We have played two very quality teams in the KVC (Kensington Valley Conference) and competed with both of them. In both games, we were tied with less than two minutes to go and it is a nice plus to be able to finish out the games when they are so close through the stretch."

The Wildcats followed the scoring abilities of seniors Kelly Anderson, who led the team with 13 points (team leader with 26 points for the season, 13-point average), and Emily Ott, who pitched in 11, as they pulled away from South Lyon for the victory.

With the game tied 37-37 with less than two minutes to go in the fourth quarter, Anderson came off of two screens and nailed a three-point shot to put the Mustangs up for good.

"It was certainly big to come back and hit a three," Wright said. "Kelly didn't hit a lot of shots but she continued to shoot. It was big when she hit that triple."

The Mustangs did not have excellent shooting against the Lions as they hit only 26.5-percent of the shots they put up — but it was enough for the win.

"We didn't shoot the ball well at all," Wright said. "To be able to come out on top is a nice way to end a game like that."

Northville found themselves in an all out race against the Lions, who used their speed to control the tempo of the game in the opening minutes.

"It seemed like they were trying to run the ball up and down the court and make us play their game," Ott said. "We started to realize that and started playing our game instead of letting them control the speed."

The Mustangs used the sharp-shooting skills of Anderson and Ott for the most of their points while senior Maggie Ossola and junior Nicole Cauzillo added seven and junior Lauren Temple rounded out the scoring with five.

"I hit some free throws and had some close to the basket shots and a couple of good drives to the basket," Ott said. "I think as a team we are playing well together. When we realize that we are not doing so well, we really regroup and step up a little to

The Northville Mustangs boys and girls cross country teams proved that the Early Bird does indeed get the worm — or in this case, a first place team finish.

Both Mustangs crews walked away with the first place finish at the Corunna Early Bird Invitational August 30, but the boys did so very convincingly.

"Our top five looked good today," Northville boys coach Chris Cronin said. "The course at Corunna is flat but filled with sharp turns that slow down the runners."

The boys had 11 medal winners with Phil Santer leading the pack, finishing in third place in 17 minutes, 40 seconds while Nick Moroz took fourth (17:41), Mike Gabrys took fifth (17:51) and Clark

Thanks for making things great

Sam Eggleston

Now this is the start to an exciting fall sports season, don't you think?

With the Northville Mustangs girls basketball team starting their season 2-0 behind the scoring abilities of Kelly Anderson and Nicole Cauzillo and the football team pounding their way to victory behind that line of big boys with Tim Downing, Matt Cornelius and Drew Herpich looking to rack up the points from the back field this is proving to be a nice start to a good season.

The thing that I have noticed about Mustang athletics is the players' excitement. From Shannon Hogan on the swim and dive team to Erin Bzymek on the girls cross country team, everybody seems to truly love the sport they compete in — that's the way it is supposed to be, right?

These athletes have taken time out of their sporting schedules to give me quotes, pictures and just to chat. To all of the athletes I have had a chance to speak to — thanks for your time and your thoughts. Here in Northville (as well as Novi and Walled Lake) will be my first time covering a few of the sports you athletes play and I just want to thank you in advance for your patience and informative quotes. To the athletes I have yet to talk with — I am looking forward to each and every one of you having phenomenal seasons with all of your goals being reached. If all goes well then my job will be a wonderful experience.

And it is not just the players — the coaches that I have had the opportunities to meet are just biting at the bit to get their seasons swinging at full throttle and are eager to see what their athletes are capable of this year.

Darrel Schumacher and Pete Wright have gone out of their way to make my first weeks of covering the athletes of Northville just a little easier — I just want to say thanks to all

Northville 'Stangs boys golf team tops Novi Wildcats

By SAM EGGLESTON

There are a lot worse ways to start out the 2001 season than going 1-1 in a team's first two meets - especially if the team's one win is an across town rival like Novi.

The Northville Mustangs boys golf team split their opening meets after falling to South Lyon 153-159 before edging Novi 142-146.

"I am really happy with a couple of the young guys so far," Northville coach Tom Shaw said. "For being young they are playing good on the varsity level. I am happy with the way my captains Tom Borda and Dave Oljace are playing as well. I know I can count on them for a solid score."

Borda and Oljace returned solid scores against Novi with Borda finishing with a 38 and Oljace a 36. Medal winner for the meet was Ryan Gideon, who returned a 32, while Kyle Dehne notched a 42 and brother Lance reported a 36. Derek Malizia rounded out the varsity with a 41.

Junior Varsity scores included Tom Gavin (37), Brandon VanHeyde (41), Jim Gates (45), Greg Jones (43), Matt Lewicki (39) and Ryan Turek (38).

"I am going to be playing a lot of young guys on JV to get them experience," Shaw said. "Just so they have match experience and are comfortable when it comes to scoring."

The South Lyon meet found Borda reporting a 38, Oljace had a 44, Gideon notched a 38, Lance Dehne had a 43, Malizia finished with 43 and Gavin came in with a 40.

"We are going to go over some course management this week," Shaw said. "That way the team is thinking their way over the golf course. Oljace and Borda are always weighing their options and a lot of the younger guys don't think as much over the course as those two do."

The South Lyon found the JV squad being led by Lewicki with a 39 while John Patton reported a 43, Ryan Brady notched a 41, Graham Appleford collected a 47, Turek had a 43 and Adam Konst shot a 40.

The Mustangs will be visiting Farmington for their first conference meet of the season.

"I believe Tom and Dave and the other seniors have played the course before," Shaw said. "I am not familiar with it myself. I haven't really heard anything about Farmington but if we play the game we are capable of playing then we should be in a pretty good position."

Northville girls tennis can't stop Novi

Northville's first singles tennis player Lauren West returns a hit to Novi's Ashley Glover in Northville's opening match at Novi. The Mustangs fell to the Wildcats 5-3.

By SAM EGGLESTON
Sports Reporter

It was as close of a tennis meet as a team can get without a tie or a win — unfortunately it wasn't the Northville Mustangs who came out on top.

The Northville Mustangs pulled out three match wins against the Novi Wildcats but it did not prove to be enough as the green and white took the meet 5-3.

"It was really close," Northville coach Sandy Woolfall said.

"We tied with Brighton 4-4 (in our scrimmage) and against Novi the girls played so much better."

The Mustangs pulled out wins in the first singles when Lauren West tore Novi's Ashley Glover to pieces 6-2, 6-0 while the second doubles team of Jamie Lindholm and Erica Dobson fought tooth and nail to pull out a win over Novi's Emily Holt and Laura Vaughn in three sets (7-6, 3-6, 6-2). Northville's third doubles team of Stephanie Patterson and Kelly Harrison pulled out a tough win in three sets over Gabi Frisk and Lauren Thomas (7-6, 4-6, 6-2) to cap Northville's point scoring.

"I knew what they had going in and I knew what we had," Woolfall said.

"Novi prevailed in the end. It could have gone either way with the way the scores were. It always can when you have that many three-set matches."

The Wildcats took home wins in the second singles (Melissa Roemer over Allison Long; 6-3, 6-2), third singles (Carolyn Vermeulen over Lauren Farris; 6-4, 6-4), fourth singles (Anina Switzer defeated Ashley Potychnok; 6-2, 5-7, 6-3), first doubles (Colene Brockman and Lauren Carosio over Sarah Polrier and Sarah Price; 6-2, 5-7, 6-3) and in the fourth doubles (Holly Graziano and Megha Vadula over Amanda Retzbach and Laura Krstevich; 3-6, 6-4, 6-3).

"Sandy talks about rebuilding her team," Novi coach Jim Hanson said. "She has a lot of talent right now and they are going to be tough for a lot of teams to beat. I was really surprised with their third and fourth doubles. They are a talented team."

The Mustangs will have a chance to see what they are made of as they travel to the Rochester Invitational Saturday before kicking off their regular season schedule of meets Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

"Unfortunately we start Monday with North Farmington," Woolfall said. "They are a powerhouse this year."

Woolfall said that no matter what the season record ends up being, it will all be positive.

"It is good experience for these girls," she said.

"I am hoping that this tournament will set them up for the following week with some good matches. Any experience these girls can get is positive for us."

Tennis results

Novi 5, Northville 3

Glenn defense while the Rockets piled up 233 yards with 130 of them coming from Ceckiewicz with 10-of-25 passes completed. Davis hauled 22 carried for 91 yards to lead the ground attack for the Rockets.

Northville's defense, which stopped the Rockets deep in the Red Zone on numerous occasions, was led by Dilly with two sacks for negative 11 yards, nine first-contact tackles and four assists. Defensive back Billy Adkins deflected four passes, had six first-contact tackles, two assists and an interception. Mark Batchik recovered a fumble for the Mustangs, brought the Rocket quarterback down for a negative nine-yard sack and had five firsts and four assisted tackles.

"I think Mark Batchik had a fabulous game," Schumacher said. "He was pressuring the quarterback all night and had a very big game."

Northville's Zach Wollack and Jim Wolbers each had a sack in the game.

"Our defense played a great game though the numbers don't look that way," Schumacher said. "They stopped John Glenn several times when they had a chance to score and were down in there. Our defense knocked down passes, stopped runs and did everything they needed to do when we needed it."

The Mustangs will have the pleasure of hosting one of the top teams in the Western Lakes Activity Association in Plymouth Canton tomorrow with kick off scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

"They are a very tough team with a lot of returning players," Schumacher said.

"Life doesn't get easy in our conference. Canton is right there with Harrison this year."

One of the things the Mustangs will have to fight on the defensive side of the ball is Canton's backfield.

"They run a double-key type formation with everyone going everywhere," Schumacher said. "You pretty much have to tackle everybody because you don't know where the ball is going."

According to Schumacher, the Mustangs will just have to play their own game.

"We can't get into a slug fest with them," he said. "They are a lot bigger than we are and we are going to have to try to out finesse them."

play the best we can."

The Lions followed the scoring lead of post Megan Thornberry, who lead the team with 16 points, while Dawn Mannarino added 10 in the losing effort.

"Thornberry has pretty good size at 5-foot-11," Wright said. "Thornberry spotted up and hit a couple of threes which caught us off guard just a little bit. We didn't go out and cover her because of her size. They ran some nice plays for her all night."

According to Wright, one of the major factors the Lions used against his squad in the 2000 season was neutralized by good defensive coverage.

"Alex Miseta is a very capable player," he said. "She is a senior that stands right around six-feet. Ott defended her all night and did a nice job on her."

Ott, who stands 5-foot-9, said guarding the big, tall and strong will be her job throughout the season.

"The tall, the big, the strong — I will be guarding all of them," Ott said. "I have played post a lot of my life but switched to guard not long ago. I think you always know how to do it (play post), it is just getting back into it. Some girls are stronger than me, but I hold my own a lot. I should be all right."

The Mustangs will get a chance to see Novi when they match up with the Wildcats in the Salem Invitational Basketball Tournament tonight. The Mustangs will be looking to defeat the KVC team and move on to play the winner of the Plymouth Salem and Ann Arbor Huron winner Saturday.

"We saw Novi this summer," Wright said. "They are another competitive team in the KVC."

The Mustangs, who trailed with minutes remaining in the fourth quarter, edged the Bulldogs 43-42 in a non-conference season-opening game August 28.

"We just played six kids," Wright said about the intense game play. "Obviously Nicole and Kelly led us in scoring. The defensive efforts of Lauren Temple and Emily Ott were key factors in the game."

The Bulldogs put together a 30-point second half to keep the game tight but could not hold on to a small lead in the fourth quarter and watched as the Mustangs galloped away for the win.

"We were trailing 37-33 and Ott hit two baskets to get us back to 37-all," Wright said. "Nicole Cauzillo hit one-of-two (free throws) to go up 38-37 before they hit a three."

Trailing 40-38 with time quickly expiring, the Mustangs turned to senior captain Anderson when the going got tough. Anderson drained her three-point shot to put Northville up 41-40 and for the win.

of the coaches who have been kind enough to work with me and to assist me with my articles.

On a related note, Northville parents seem to be some of the most dedicated people I have ever worked around. From my first days here I have received calls and letters from the parents of athletes in the Northville school district.

This is another bunch I need to thank. Your time and consideration have been greatly appreciated. Though I know that there have been times that we have gotten our lines crossed I am confident that if you continue to be patient with me and I with you, there can be some nice things written and said about the Northville Record sports pages and the Northville athletics I am here to cover.

All of the residents of Northville who slip to my sports section each and every week have already seen that I am fallible, but really who isn't? I try my best to make sure that names are spelled right and players are correctly identified — but there are times, especially hectic ones, that these things

Engagements

Jessica Hubel and Terry Allen are happy to announce their engagement, with a wedding planned for Aug. 10, 2002.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mary and Eric Hubel of Novi and a 1997 graduate of Novi High School. She is currently attending Central Michigan University and anticipates graduating in December.

The groom-elect is the son of Ted and Diane Allen of Big Rapids. He graduated from Michigan State University in 2000, and is currently teaching at Belleville High School.

Hubel-Allen

Schmitt-Golphin

Sueanne Lynn Golphin and Jason Edward Schmitt, both of Northville, are pleased to announce their engagement. Sueanne is the daughter of Robert Golphin of Taunton, Mass., and Thelma Golphin of Novi. Jason is the son of Mary Schmitt of St. Johns and the late Ed Schmitt.

The bride-elect is a 1991 graduate of South Lyon High School and received her bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan University. She is currently employed in the sales department at The Daily Tribune newspaper in Royal Oak.

The prospective bridegroom is a 1992 graduate of St. Johns High School and received his bachelor's degree from Central Michigan University in 1996. He is currently employed as a sports writer at The Daily Tribune.

A Sept. 22 wedding is planned.

Platoon Leader.

Promotions were awarded after an intensive one-week Officer Candidate School held in August. OCS is designed to reinforce the role of leadership before the senior cadets assume command of the academy's Corps of Cadets

Michigan Streams and Lakes

LOST STREAM MAP FOUND AND RESTORED

The recently published STREAM MAP OF MICHIGAN resembles another map—known to Pennsylvania anglers as the "Lost Stream Map."

The "Stream Map of Pennsylvania" was completed in 1965 after a thirty-year effort by Howard Higbee, a former Penn State Professor

Professor Higbee succeeded in creating a map of the highest detail possible—a map that shows every stream and lake. He painstakingly plotted by hand, the location of 45,000 miles of streams onto a 3 x 5 foot map

The map sold extremely well—until it was lost several years after it first appeared in print. Incredibly, the printer entrusted with the original drawing and printing plates, declared bankruptcy, then carelessly hauled Higbee's 30 years of work to a landfill

The few remaining dog-eared copies became a prized fisherman's possession. Professor Higbee was offered $400 for one of his last maps. And state agencies were forced to keep their copies under lock and key. Experts told Professor Higbee that reprints were impossible, because the maps were printed in non-photographic blue

Then, in 1991, at the age of 91, Howard Higbee's dream came true. Computers made it possible to reprint the map. Holding an updated map, Howard said, "I never thought I'd live to see this day."

Then, by combining Professor Higbee's knowledge with computer technology—the STREAM MAP OF MICHIGAN was created

Every Angler Needs this Map

Professor Higbee's Stream Map of Michigan is the first and only highly detailed map of its kind. This new 4-foot-by-4-foot color map shows virtually all of the 35,000 miles of Michigan streams plus lakes.

RAVE REVIEWS

"It is amazingly detailed and names some creeks in the Mohawk Valley that can't even be found on topographic maps."

John Pitaras
OBSERVER-DISPATCH-Union

"If you're looking for the most definitive maps ever created depicting every single creek, river, stream, pond and lake, then 'Professor Higbee's Stream Maps' are without question the finest."

Howard Brant
THE NEWARK STAR-LEDGER
"It is in showing where to find out-of-the-way trout streams that makes the map such a treasure to the fisherman."

Victorian Festival welcomes historic home tour

Historically speaking, there are many homes in Northville worth getting a better view of and in turn, a better knowledge of the Victorian era.

Interested residents and visitors have the chance to view five homes in the city of Northville that are a century old. The Northville-Novis branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) is sponsoring its seventh historic home tour of Northville on Saturday, Sept. 15 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

According to the AAUW's publicity Chair Carol Welsch, the historical home tour has been the most successful and important fundraiser for the Northville-Novis branch since 1995.

Welsch said all five homes have historical significance, but have been properly renovated to meet modern day standards. The tour will cover a walking distance of 1.5 miles in the historical district in the western section of the city.

"The historical home tour gives

"The...tour gives people the opportunity to get an even better feel for and glimpse into Northville's Victorian past."

Barb Wilson
chairperson, AAUW

people the opportunity to get an even better feel for and glimpse into Northville's Victorian past," AAUW local general chair Barb Wilson said.

There are two tour homes located on Randolph Street. According to Welsch, the home located at 562 Randolph was a part of the land deeded to A. Aldrich in 1825 by President John Quincy Adams. The home is believed to have been built in 1868 for the Steenken family and was the original farmhouse for the area. Welsch said the original structure had very little trim or ornamentation, leaving the current owner, a decorator, with a blank canvas.

"The owners have doubled the size and extensively changed the interior," Welsch said. "A new garage and carriage house above it have been added."

The other home is located at 124 Randolph and is believed to have been built in 1873 for Willard Stark. Welsch said the home is an example of Carpenter Gothic.

At 124 High Street is the home built by James Dubuar in 1880 for his family. Dubuar owned the lumber business on the site that later became the Ford Motor Company plant. Much of his lumber was used to build many of the homes in Northville's historic district.

The next home is located at 501 W. Cady Street and the first patent on the land where this home sits was given to Ira Rice in 1826. Welsch said this home was part of one of Northville's most notable events. In 1959, a military training jet crashed across the street from this home and bits of debris flew all over the area, including a piece which went through the front window of this home.

The last home on the tour is at 549 W. Dunlap Street and it is believed to have been built in the late 1800s. This home served as the parsonage for the Northville Methodist Church from 1939 until 1957.

Tickets can be purchased at Gardenviews, 202 W. Main Street, and Morrison's Antiques at 105 E. Main Street. Prices are $10 per person pre-sale (must be 12 or older) and $12 per person the day of the tour if any are left. Welsch said tickets could sell quickly considering the past success the tour has had.

Tickets also act as a program guide including a picture and brief description of each home. Welsch said there are several requirements for tour participants and they are shoes must be removed when entering a home and no bare feet. In addition, interior photos, smoking and children under 12 are not permitted.

Welsch said the proceeds from the event support the activities of the branch. The activities include two endowed scholarships for women at Oakland Community and Schoolcraft colleges. Local projects have included a Gender Equity Project at Amerman Elementary school and the science camp for girls.

A FISH CALLED Nishikigoi

■ Large fish bring comfort to Northville

By LON HUHMANN
Staff Writer

Some people have dogs and some have cats or both, but Northville resident Mike Conrad has fish.

Not just any fish, but Japanese koi fish. Some may have the opinion that this type of fish are just an overrated carp. However, Conrad said the sheer beauty of a full grown koi will diminish this opinion.

"It started with constructing a small pond in the backyard," Conrad said. "I thought it would be a fun thing to do with the family."

Koi, also called "nishikigoi" in Japan, can be labeled the best fish to be placed in a garden pond. 200 years ago the koi were discovered by Japanese farmers in the mountains of Niigata. It was in the village of Yamakoshi where farmers first observed a red carp swimming among the black carp, which were raised for food.

"It's a very high-quality fish," Conrad. "I've purchased 30 koi from California that were imported from Japan. The breeder was Damichi, a known and famous distributor of Koi."

Through selective breeding, the original Japanese breeders created over 100 named varieties. Koi are also bred in Israel, Singapore and in the United States. Conrad has three types of koi in his two ponds. He keeps kohaku, taisho sanke and showa sanshoku in his front and back yard ponds.

Nishikigoi koi come in sizes anywhere from four inches to over three feet long. They can be kept in a small aquarium or a large outdoor pond. Conrad said he has learned that Koi are sensitive fish and do not like overcrowding.

"Right now I have six or seven of my best koi at what I call a summer growth camp in Gaines at the home of a breeder wholesaler" Conrad said. "There in a larger outdoor pond where they have the chance to grow larger than they would if they were here in my two ponds."

Kohaku is white with red high-light markings and are probably the most common variety. Tancho kohaku are white koi with a red spot on their heads and an inazuma kohaku has a continuous red marking from the head to the tail, but with variation. Taisho sanke are simply known as sanke. Those type of koi have red and black markings on a white background.

Showa sanshoku or showa have red and white markings on a black background. Conrad said the best quality koi come from Japan. His largest koi is 25 inches long and he said the key to koi selecting is through keen observation.

Conrad said before making a final selection a koi buyer should take into consideration the breeders pond and the koi's mood. A clean, non-smelling pond is the preferred environment. Jerky movements or if the koi has its fins clamped to its body are bad signs that a koi is not happy and probably should not be purchased.

After a koi has been selected, helping it grow properly is key to its maturity. Conrad said installing a pond with all of the necessities, such as filters to keep the water clean and heaters for the winter, is essential. He said for the koi to reach its full color potential and remain healthy it must be kept in pristine conditions.

"One of the benefits to having koi is seeing them mature into healthy, colorful fish," Conrad said. "Obviously, they are not like a cat or dog, but I do get satisfaction out of seeing them mature into healthy and colorful fish."

One major way a koi owner can help the fish become healthy and colorful is to feed them properly. Conrad feeds his koi food pellets made by Dainichi specifically for front and back windows. He believes landscape architects often overlook the value of placing something within the ponds they usually recommend to the inquiring homeowner.

"Having koi in a pond can help make it into a living art piece," Conrad said. "The koi can spur interest. There are times when interested children or adults come walking by home and see the pond with the koi in them. Watching the koi swim in the pond is very relaxing."

A Barn Beauty

Barns come alive enveloped in beautiful gardens

By Annette Jaworski
SPECIAL WRITER

A barn isn't always just a barn, as several Milford residents can prove. In the hands of an innovative gardener, it's more than just a place to shelter livestock and hay. Marilyn Dicks of Milford doesn't own any farm equipment or animals; instead her antique barn provides a perfect way to display her gardening. The flowerbeds brighten a normally drab and weather-worn structure. The gray weathered boards of the building are estimated to be more than 150 years old, which makes it a stark contrast to the bright flowers.

At one time, the barn was used for the 50-acre farm that her in laws, Frederick and Alma Dicks owned. The land was eventually parceled out into residential lots. Horses were once kept there, but not anymore.

"The woodchucks have made their home there instead," she laughs.

In early mornings, Marilyn is often busy watering her garden. She's able to spend more time there since she retired a couple of years ago.

Many of the plants you'll find in the "barn" garden are large and substantial. Two hibiscuses are in bloom with their enormous showy, deep maroon and light pink flowers. Another unusual flower includes a moonflower, a large lily-like bloom with equally large green foliage. This contrasts with the golden sunflowers against the house.

Alma Dicks creates a combination of textures and shapes in front of the barn. She partial to pinks, purples and whites (for annuals) and mixes in some perennials as well. The school bell (below) has been in the family for a long time.

"I'm partial to pinks, purples and whites (for annuals) and then I usually buy some perennials as well," replacing some perennials as needed each year.

Dicks creates a combination of textures and pink impatiens border the edges. Shapely sedum is beginning to show a light purple hue. Marilyn says that her in laws left several antique pieces, including a large bell that sits in front of the barn. A variegated euonymus vine decorates this instrument.

"It's a school bell that's been in the family for a long time," said Dicks, who husband put up the bell.

She believes once you find something that does well in a particular spot, you stick with it. So she generally surrounds the one side of the house with fuchsia wave petunias.

Barns are beautiful too

The rock garden near the house features a full groundcover of alyssum as well as a generous growth of spiky hens and chicks. The landscape forms a gently rolling hill that surrounds the back of the home. A split rail fence follows around the back of the barn through the yard. And beyond the fence is a pond.

Jackie and Donald Cox's barn is an entirely different story. Only three years old, this Milford barn was originally built for storage.

This includes tools, the family camper and van. Instead of an ordinary utilitarian look, Jackie Cox has decorated it to resemble the front porch of a Cracker Barrel restaurant.

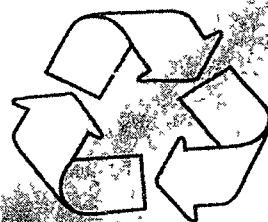

The rustic looking décor is complete with wooden crates and jugs. A couple rockers invite guests to "sit a spell." From there you can see her large flower and vegetable gardens. A weathered checkerboard set sits atop a barrel.

"My boys will come out here and play them," notes Jackie Cox.

Antique farm implements are also on display, such as a weathered shovel, hoe or rake. The Cox family enjoys bird watching and many birdhouses are found here. Jackie enjoys many other collections along with the birdhouses; you'll also see a number of watering cans in front of the building. One watering can acts as a fountain in front of the barn, constantly pouring water into a galvanized washbasin.

Even the pole supports for the porch are garnished with flowers, thick pink and purple clematis vines. At the base of the posts are pink and white roses. Flower boxes dress up two of the windows.

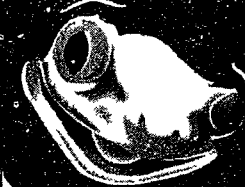

The 38 X 32 foot building is more than just a pretty barn with enough storage area for Tim Allen. It was conveniently built with doors at both ends of the building so that it would be easy to move things in and out. The building has additional storage in the attic located in the gambrel roof. Last but not least, Jackie Cox notes that it's a great place to have a Halloween or birthday party.

Fight Fire With ... your chimney

Primary One uses ceramic seal to repair chimneys

By John Colling
STAFF WRITER

Priority One Chimney Services in Green Oak Township has a new ceramic sealing process that helps repair damaged chimneys and also works to prevent future chimney fires.

Rob Glenn, the owner of Priority One Chimney Services, and his 15-year-old son, Daniel, recently finished certification training in the application of Thermocrete Ceramic Flue Sealant (CFS). The company is now a licensed dealer.

Glenn says that CFS is a special spray process that strengthens, seals, and binds chimney interiors in an innovative way. "In North America, it's the only true ceramic repair material for chimneys," he said.

It's effective both for historic restoration and for repairing deteriorating flue linings.

"CFS is excellent for people who worry about the dangers of fire damage and leakage of smoke and poisonous fumes," he said.

Glenn, who is a full-time Canton Township firefighter, operates his 10-year-old chimney cleaning and repair business from his home.

Repairs include brick work, repairing dampers, replacing fire boxes, and installing chimney caps and accessories.

Glenn holds a bachelor's degree in emergency medical service from Madonna University with a minor in fire signs, which includes the investigation and prevention of fires.

He and his wife, Brenda, have five children. In addition to Daniel and his twin sister, Melissa, the family consists of Rebekah, Holly, and Joshua. They moved to Green Oak Township six years ago.

Glenn advises all homeowners with fireplaces to have their chimneys checked regularly.

"Soot and creosote can build up inside chimneys and increase the chance of chimney fires," he said. He also said that in older homes, leaks in the chimney may occur releasing heat and gases into the walls and ceilings.

"If people call me to clean their chimneys," he said, "I'll check out the whole system and make any recommendations on actions that are necessary."

Priority One Chimney Services can be reached at 248-486-5146.

Keep those e-mails light and save space

By Tim Kissman
SBAM DIRECTOR OF PUBLICATIONS

I wonder what an office would be like if e-mail letters were printed and stuffed into actual mailboxes posted outside each cubicle or office door. I don't know much about the letters, but I do know I'd like to have a fancy box to match my Mac, maybe one that's decorated like a large mouth bass.

But it's not so much the mailbox, either, although I wonder what some of my co-workers might come up with for designs. I work with a wide range of colors, from the boring whites to the brilliant tie-dyes; we have our share here.

I'm more interested in the amount of mail. I used to think I received a pretty good amount of daily e-mail, usually about a dozen or so messages per morning. Then I went to my boss's machine. He beats my dozen times a dozen. His mailbox, if it were real, would need to be the size of a regulation U.S. Postal Service mail drop-off box. Even then, I don't think that would be large enough.

I know other people that put him to shame. I'm on half of their e-mail lists and receive quite a bit of their mail for some reason. Just imagine these people, me included sometimes, with real mailboxes. Their e-mail forwarding is the equivalent of finding some great junk mail, copying and sticking it into your mailbox.

Is that stupid joke really worthwhile? Sometimes it is, I guess.

To keep those e-mail boxes from overflowing, try these simple tips. Remember, e-mail on your system translates into using memory, and that can bog down your computer.

Shorten it. If you're looking to save space just use the subject line to express your message. That way the receiver doesn't have to open the mail and it can be deleted when it's read. Avoid graphics and attachments, they just take up space.

Instantly. Use instant messaging as an alternative. America Online has a version and so do many of the larger portals like Excite, Netscape and Yahoo. It's faster than e-mail, usually happening in real time, and doesn't save automatically.

Educate. This subsection always comes up for tips. Never count education out. Train your employees to use employees for business use and how you expect it to be used. Your employees will listen when you tell them what you want.

I remember when e-mail first came on the scene. Experts said it would take the place of paper in the office and we'll be doing our part to save the environment while revolutionizing the workplace.

I don't know about you, but every year, just about every day, actually, I spend more and more time reading e-mail, junk or business.

Maybe putting my bass mailbox outside my office door isn't such a bad idea after all.

Cut the rug at the Contra Dance

By KELL COOLEY
Now! News/Lake Area Times Editor

Ladies grab your shawls and gentlemen grab your suit coats. The Contra Dance at the Victorian Festival will make the skirts swing and the feet tap.

The Victorian Festival dance has been a staple to the annual festivities even if the type of dancing and the name has changed.

A Victorian Ball had visitors and residents waiting to music in their finest attire for many years. However, last year it was decided to try a country dance due to the ball's lack of attendance.

Although the country dance appealed to guests in the dancing arena, participants missed dressing up.

This year's Contra Dance combines the best of both worlds. Participants may dress up or wear comfortable clothing while dancing to the sounds of caller Robin Warner and the Ruffwater String Band, said Chamber of Commerce director Laurie Marrs.

Marrs said a Contra Dance is an elegant square dance.

"It's rather easy. You join hands and have group dances," Marrs said.

Even inexperienced Contra Dancers can participate. Marrs said following the caller makes it easy.

This year's dance will be held on Friday, Sept. 8 from 8-10 p.m. on Main Street, right in front of Gentitt's Hole in Dancers will have the chance to kick up their heels Friday evening following the Victorian Parade for a two-hour Contra Dance.

the Wall Theatre. The dance is also sponsored by Gentitt's and Casteline Funeral Home.

Open to anyone willing to give it a try, the dance is an important part of Victorian history.

"It's free to participate". People can come observe and try it. It's a very important part of the Victorian era. It instills enthusiasm," Marrs said. Guests and participants are free to bring their children as well.

The difference with the Contra Dance is also the setting. There is no sit down dinner, however, Marrs said guests can enjoy the food from the non-profit organizations' booths and then join in on the fun.

Entertainers dazzle crowds with old talents

By DIANE DEMPSEY DEEL

Staff Writer

The Northville Victorian Festival will capture the heart of the yesteryear by providing plenty of old fashioned entertainment that will delight young and old.

Eugene Clark, one of the coordinators for entertainment, said that there is a huge line up of performers who are looking forward to amuse festival visitors.

Clark's family will be a part of the entertainment festivities along with many other performers Clark booked for the festival.

Clark, his mother Mary Ellen and brother, Chris will entertain visitors with their respective blend of performances.

Clark will be doing a Punch and Judy puppet show, which was popular in England about 200 years ago.

The puppets have distinctive hooked noses that is bound to make people laugh.

The show in England was often violent. However, this show is a kid friendly show that is sure to please everyone.

"It got started in England with the common people," Clark said. "This was their entertainment that dealt with issues happening in their city and dealt with politics."

The issue that kids will be dealing with at Clark's show will be to solve the mystery of the missing flower.

"I changed it and turned it into a children's show that's going to be a feel good show for kids," Clark said.

Chris Clark will put on a show that will amaze on-lookers.

He will do a show that consists of juggling and magic," Clark said. "Both he and his partner, Ken, will juggle six fire torches while Ken rides a unicycle."

Mary Ellen Clark will entertain young visitors by giving impromptu story telling performances.

"You will see her stroll the streets with a large puppet that looks like a goose," Clark said. "She looks like Mother Goose."

"It's a little more low key and it gives parents a chance to relax," Clark said.

The Victorian Festival has entertainment for young and old alike — such as this balloon artists who crafted creatures for kids at the corner of Main and Center in 1998.

"It's like going to the library and having a book read. It gives you a really good feeling."

Visitors will get a kick out of Spoon Man of Grand Rapids who makes his own kind of music.

"He will keep an old fashioned tradition alive by playing a set of spoons that creates a fancy rhythm to music," Clark said.

The Boogie Woogie Babes will make people jump, jive, and wail with their upbeat blast of sound.

"It's a music review featuring the fabulous harmonies of the Andrews Sisters."

Richard Paul, is sure to please visitors, he said. He will make people laugh with his funny puppets.

"He's a positive performer," Clark said.

Then there's a magician, Chris Linn, who will keep people wondering how he does his surprising capers.

"He will amaze and astound while keeping you laughing," Clark said.

Another popular musician, Chautauqua Express, has been away from the festival for a couple of years. However, he has been brought back by popular demand.

"He is a dynamic musical performer who gets everyone involved in the show," Clark said. "It's a great show for all ages."

Clark's looks forward to the festival every year.

"I feel that the 2001 festival will be bigger and better than ever," Clark said.

Race to Mill Race for a trip to a year gone by

By JENNIFER NORRIS

Staff Writer

The instant area residents step into Northville's Mill Race Village, they will be magically transported back through the pages of history.

During the Victorian Festival on Sept. 15-16, the Mill Race Village will be open from noon to 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

The historical village area will be open from noon to 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. According to Laurie Marrs, executive director of the Northville Chamber of Commerce, the historical buildings will be open for public access on Saturday and docents will be available to give tours and provide information.

On Sunday a variety of activities and events are slated to take place.

Marrs said that Victorian-era reenactors will be present at Mill Race Village and spectators will see a representation of what life was like during that time period. "They set up a camp just like they would have done back in the 1800s," she said. "It's like you just took a step back in time."

Costumed reenactors will have tents and campfires set up which will be accented by the historic buildings close by. Reenactors will also be busy doing ordinary daily activities symbolic of that time period such as cleaning their guns or preparing meals said Marrs. Along with the reenactors, a variety of old-fashioned games will be available for children. Such games include sack races, marbles and hoop throwing. In addition, Marrs said the duck race will begin at 3 p.m. and has become a popular event at Mill Race.

She said children can come to register for a free, plastic duck which will then be placed in the river to race. Marrs said prizes for the duck race include gift certificates from Northville merchants.

An authentic string band is also slated to provide entertainment for area residents in the gazebo.

"They play all afternoon," said Marrs. "They're beautiful and they're all in uniform too."

victorian parade kicks off weekend

By DIANE DEMPSEY DEEL
Staff Writer

Northville residents will get to see their friends and neighbors dressed up in costumes from years of yore at the parade that will kick off the Victorian Festival.

The Victorian Parade, sponsored by Angela Carson Photography, will begin and end at the Recreation Center and Old Village School parking lot on Cady Street.

The parade will begin at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 14 where people will be lined up to revel in the merriment.

The parade will exit the Recreation Center lot to Cady, then it will proceed down east Cady to Wing Street. The parade will turn north on Wing and proceed to Main.

Then it will turn west on Main to Linden then north on Linden to Dunlap. It will then proceed east on Dunlap to Hutton where it will go west on Main to Center until they turn west on Cady and end up back at the center.

Laurie Marrs, executive director for the Northville Chamber of Commerce, said people look forward to the parade every year.

"It's a kick off to start the whole festival," Marrs said. "The atmosphere is crackling. It's the beginning of the party for the whole weekend."

Donna Pallace, parade organizer, said people who attend the parade will get the chance to be entertained by three bands this year.

The Caber Feidh Band will capture the sounds of Scotland with bagpipes while everyone will be delighted to see the Northville High School band play their tunes.

The Fife Drum Corps will be another band that will pump up the crowd. "It's kind of a nice variety of music," said Pallace.

People will not see floats at this parade, she said.

"It's different than most typical parades because there are no motorized vehicles," Pallace said. "It's made up of pedestrians who are from the schools, scout troops and civic groups."

St. Paul's Lutheran School will have a good size group of participants in the parade, she said.

People will get the chance to see the woman who is helping to make the parade a reality.

Carson is not only sponsoring the parade, but she will be in a surrey that Marchers move west along Main toward Center Street in last year's Victorian Festival parade.

Victorian Festival Parade Route

is filled with her family and friends.

The Queen of the Victorian Parade will wave to the festive crowd as the last carriage to go through the procession.

People can look forward to seeing an old fashioned trackless train that will be filled with people in yesterday's ware.

"We have different folks who bring their horses and the riders appear in period costumes," Pallace said. "The kids really enjoy that."

The people who are participating in the procession have a good time and it's sometimes interesting following behind the horses, she said.

Children will get a kick out of dressing as children did in the Victorian era and the crowd will enjoy waving to them as they pass through the procession.

Local officials from Northville and Northville Township will be away from their chambers and ready to cheer with the crowd as they make their way through the affair.

Marrs said business women will be putting on a show with their Parasol Brigade.

"They get together with Victorian parasols and do a routine," Marrs said.

People will step back in time when they see "President Abraham Lincoln" and his wife "Mary participate in the parade," Pallace said.

The crowd will laugh when they see people decked out in clothing of the Victorian era peddling bikes with oversized wheels.

"What drives people to the parade is they have fun seeing their friends and neighbors dressed up in costumes from 100 years ago," Pallace said. "I love playing dress-up. The hunt for the costume is the most fun of all."

Students get fun education in Victorian era

By JENNIFER NORRIS
Staff Writer

History will literally come alive for Northville's third grade students Sept. 14.

Jan Purtell, education partnerships supervisor for Northville Public Schools, said that the district's third grade students will be rotated through five different historical activities in the morning.

Each of the elementary schools will have a different rotation order which will allow the third graders to more easily participate in all five planned events.

Purtell said the activities will begin at 9:30 a.m. and each event will last for 20 minutes. A 10-minute passing time will separate each of the five activities.

One of the stations that the students will visit is the Northville Parks and Recreation Center where a variety of old-fashioned Victorian games will be played.

Purtell also said there will be an interactive performance at the gazebo.

Entertainment will be another station the students will visit. Purtell said this activity is planned to take place at Genit-it's Little Theater depending on weather conditions.

Another activity is storytelling, which will take place at the library.

Students will also be able to take a walking tour of the historic district of Northville, located in front of the board offices. Purtell said on the tour of the historic homes, one English class and one social studies class from the high school will be performing various skits for the third graders.

"They come up with some pretty creative things," she said.

The third grade students are expected to be back in their school buildings by 1 p.m.

"Our main focus is for the history of Northville to come alive for [the students]," said Purtell. "It's a fun way to learn a lot of history and have them participate at the same time."

Purtell also said on September 7, three speakers will be coming to the high school to provide students with helpful information to prepare them for the Victorian Festival. She said one speaker will address the topic of costumes, another speaker will discuss Northville's history and the last speaker will instruct students on the mechanics of putting a sit together.

The third grade students, she said, will be transported to a trip to yesteryear.

"We all pretend it's the Victorian era for the morning and try to project that whole image," said Purtell. "It's a like back in time for them where they can learn about Northville and what it was like in the Victorian era."

VICTORIAN ERA STRANGE-BUT-TRUE TRIVIA

• King George III was not well-liked when he ascended the throne but became more and more popular as he grew increasingly insane.

• George IV disliked his wife, Caroline of Brunswick, so much that when she died in 1821 at the age of 53 he refused to allow her funeral procession through the streets of London.

• The first programmable calculator (computer) was invented in 1833 in England by Charles Babbage.

• During the French Revolution, Madame Toussaud attended beheadings to make masks of the severed heads. She then used these to make her famous wax figures.

• John Rushkin, in order to paint a snowstorm at sea, was actually tied to a ship's mast while at sea during the snowstorm.

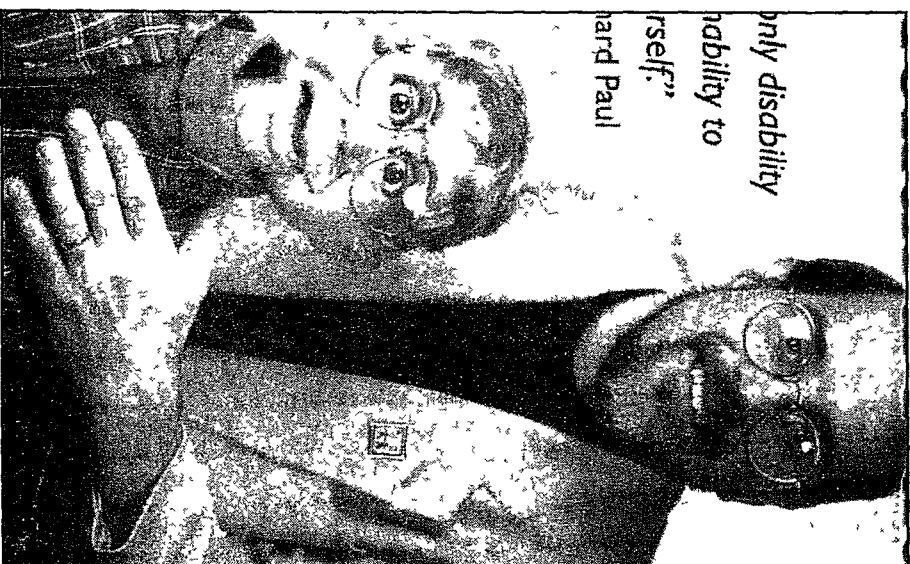

• When the Potato Famine in Ireland struck in 1845, fully 6 million people in Britain and Ireland existed almost completely on potatoes.

Artists flock to market

BY LON HUHMANN
Staff Writer

The eye candy will be plentiful during the Victorian Festival, especially in the Art Market.

The Art Market is held annually and is a juried fine arts show sponsored by the Northville Arts Commission. Arts commission member Sue Taylor said this year's festival will mark the 15-year anniversary of the Art Market, which has become a Northville tradition. Taylor said the market gives festival-goers the opportunity to experience contemporary art and converse with the artists directly.

"Art Market will bring many fine artists onto Main Street in downtown Northville for festival-goers who wish to browse and buy one-of-a-kind artwork," Taylor said.

The festival is set to take place on Sept. 15 and 16. The art show and sale will be held from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. on Saturday and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday. Taylor said there will be a wonderful selection of fine art ranging from stunning photography, Victorian stained glass, furniture and fiber art. In addition, the market will also offer metal and clay sculptures; jewelry in metal, leather, gold and silver; as well as paintings in acrylic, oil and watercolor.

"Though many artists come from around the Midwest," Taylor said, "Art Market also features the work of several Northville artists who enjoy exhibiting in their own hometown and, perhaps, meeting new neighbors."

According to Taylor, artists that call Northville home include Ken Barnes, Darcel Denneau, Rick Denomme, Gail Thomas and Katherine Wickersham.

Barnes is an award-winning potter trained in England and Denneau is an oil painter.

Taylor said Denneau's previous show was a sell-out. Thomas will display paintings that combine local

Box lunch auction goes far beyond food

BY CHRIS C. DAVIS
Editor

Buy a box lunch at the Victorian festival, and you may walk away with gift certificates for frozen yogurt or University of Michigan football tickets.

(You may even get a lunch, too.)

The box lunch auction has grown in popularity as Northville's Victorian Festival has evolved, and according to auction coordinator Linda Maxfield, this year's auction should be no exception.

"The more people that come out to this, the more fun it usually is," Maxfield said. "Originally, the idea was for people to come out and buy a lunch they could take and eat at Mill Race Village, but in the last few years, the auction has gotten pretty extravagant."

What makes the box lunch auction unique are the borrowed themes used for many of the lunches. Maxfield said. Donations from businesses and organizations have included prizes of all varieties. Those placing bids on the lunches are almost always able to find a basket containing some item that interests the buyer.

One of the baskets that attracted a slew of attention from the younger set at last year's Victorian Festival was one devoted to the vocal band N' Sync.

"That one definitely got a lot of looks and bids," Maxfield said.

Buyers come in plenty for the auction, and many come ready to spend. Maxfield said. Last year's most expensive box lunch sold for around $500, she said.

Proceeds from the sale of the lunches to towards the Northville co-council of PTAs, which often uses the money to cover parent education seminars. Some $5,000 was raised last year, which helped bring in noted parenting lecturer Jim Fay.

"We get a sea of businesses donating lunches for the auction, but we also encourage all the schools and the PTA to create a lunch," Maxfield said.

About 60 lunches will be available for purchase at the auction, and although a good number of the boxes contain gift certificates to restaurants, Maxfield said organizers of the auction were pushing to have food included in the box lunches.

The box lunch auction begins at 11 a.m. Sept. 16 at the Northville bandshell.

Enjoy a stroll through Victorian history

By SAM EGGLESTON
Sports Reporter

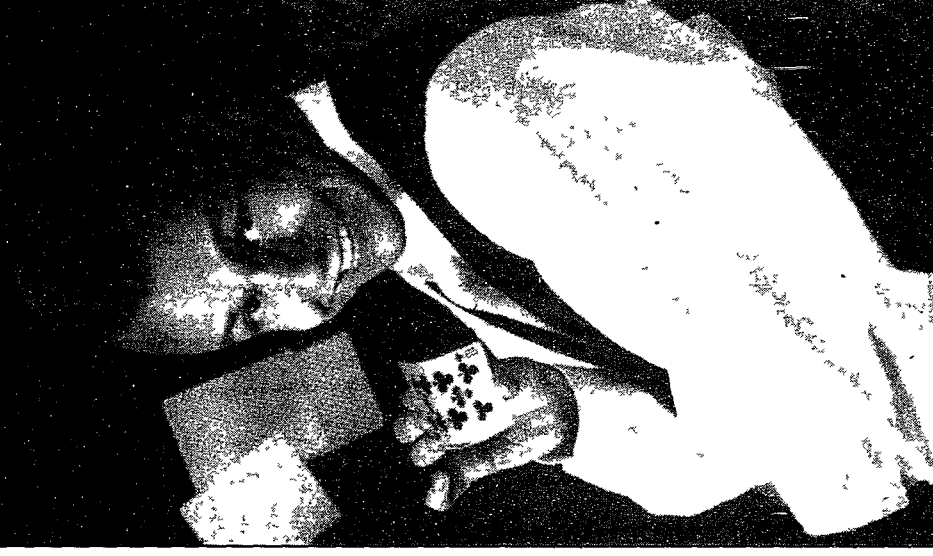

What a gorgeous way to enjoy a view of the historical Victorian-style housing of Northville while getting fit and admiring the beginning of the fall colors all packaged in a tidy, three-mile walk sponsored by the Northville Parks and Recreation and the Running Fit store. In its seventh year as part of the Victorian Festival, the Victorian Festival Fitness Walk is a great way for participants to enjoy their morning fitness while viewing the beautiful Victorian architecture of the Northville community.

"The people who participate in the fitness walk will walk past a number of historic homes as they walk through the neighborhoods of Northville," parks and recreation special events planner Sue Taylor said. "The walk will take place when the leaves are just beginning to change color. It should be very pretty." The walk, which is scheduled for Sept. 15 beginning at 8:30 a.m., will begin and end in front of the Northville Senior Center located at 215 West Cady Street in Northville.

A cost of $10 will be charged to pre-register for the walk with proceeds going to benefit Northville park improvement projects and those looking to register for the walk can pick up a form at Parks and Recreation, Running Fit stores or at the Northville Chamber of Commerce. Registration on the day of the event will be from 7:45 to 8:15 a.m. and will be $12.

Dressing Victorian doesn't have to be hard

By KELLI COOLEY
Editor

Besides decisions on what to eat and do at the Victorian Festival, the most important decision happens weeks before - what to wear.

Although dressing in costume is not required at the festival, many residents and area visitors see it as a chance to turn back the clock and don apparel now virtually extinct.

Men in the Victorian era wore sack style suits with collars, white shirts and colorful ties. The ties could be ascots, four-in-hand or bow style. Pants were usually straight-legged and without cuffs. Accessories included suspenders, bowler hats or straw boater hat in the summer. Pocket watches with chains were popular as well but not in the style worn in the zoot suit era. Watch chains were worn across a vest.

Boys wore knickerbockers, those fun pants that bloomed before tapering at the knee, pleated shirts with round collars and string or scarf ties. In the summer, overalls were worn without a shirt.

Girls wore short dresses, no not a mini - these were below the knee; as a well as long stockings and large bows in their hair. Sunbonnets were worn by little girls. Dresses were A-line style or a gathered skirt with a pinafore or apron covering it.

Women's styles varied depending on the season and type of activity. Skirts were long, sometimes with fullness at the back. The bodice or blouse was smooth fitting and could be either tailored and pleated or lacy and highly ornamented. Daytime necklines were high, decorated with a brooch and waists were emphasized. Sleeves were long and leg-o-mutton style.

Accessories included shawls, aprons, large brimmed hats and black jewelry. These types of outfits can be hard to find in the 21st century and they can be expensive, to boot. JoAnn Etc.'s offered classes on making a Victorian child's skirt and pinafore as well as ladies Victorian skirt and hat this year all for $15 or $20 dollars. There are also ways to purchase patterns to sew the lovely dresses and handsome suits for the one you love.

There is also a Victorian Festival clothing sale at the Mill Race Village Church from 1-4 p.m. on Sept. 9. Many stores in the area have also found a market in Northville to sell Victorian clothing.

Apple Annie's in Ypsilanti, House of Costumes in Plymouth, Knightsbridge Antique Mall and Marquis in Northville and Sutton's Costumes in Waterford allow the costume seeker to purchase or rent clothing for the festival weekend.

The biggest draw to dressing up is transforming into a different person from a different time period. It's also the best excuse to wear ball gowns and dapper suits.

Joists

Jager Super I™

WE'VE SWITCHED! Why did

Chelsea Lumber switch to Jager Super I Joists?

- Provable better quality - EVERY joint in EVERY joist is tested for strength!
- More builder-friendly - 2½ inch nailing flange rather than 1½" flange makes nailing the subfloor easy.
- Mechanicals can be cut in to the floor system rather than suspended below it.
- Stronger - will span further and reduce deflection, vibration and floor squeaks.
- Codes and standards - Meets the latest revisions of all applicable codes and standards.

Jager Super I products are guaranteed to be free from defects in workmanship and materials and will carry the loads specified provided they are used under normal service conditions and in accordance with the instructions and specifications as referenced in our literature.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE OBSERVER NEWSPAPERS,
THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 6, 2001

When the destination is customer satisfaction, the journey never ends.

Thanks to all our customers for making the ride remarkably rewarding.

Who knew how satisfying the road to customer satisfaction would be?
Along the way, we encountered customers who were a pleasure to serve.
Evidently, the feelings were mutual because we've earned Ford Motor Company's highest honor — the President's Award. It recognizes Dealerships who provide the very best in sales, service and overall positive ownership experience. We couldn't be more honored.

Traditional attractions, new ideas await Fall Fest patrons

Fall Festival organizers are hoping that an interesting blend of changes and return to old practices will appeal to the thousands of people crowding Plymouth's streets at this year's event.

Gone is the third stage the Board of Directors added last year, as well as the carnival provider.

Back are the "beer tent," a beverage tent which proved to be a financial bonanza in its first year, and a newer, bigger carnival designed to provide entertainment for kids of all ages.

The standard attractions are back — the Optimist Club Pet show, the Rotary Chicken Barbecue and the classic car show. But the car show has been extended to two days in order to help fill some empty spaces. It's also been moved from its location at Penniman and Main to Ann Arbor Trail and Forest in order to make room for the bigger, better carnival.

"We had to make room for the bigger carnival, and we were concerned about the noise interfering with the main stage," said new Board Chairman Mark Baldwin.

Speaking of stages, there will only be two this year. The board decided to close down the one they set up on Forest last year because of logistical problems. The Main Stage will be in Kellogg Park, with the second stage in the road just east of the Ann Arbor Trail/Harvey intersection.

Other main attractions:

■ Bingo tournament, sponsored by the Plymouth Business and Professional Women, goes from 6 to 9 p.m. Friday night, Sept. 7 in The Gathering.

■ The Kiwanis Pancake Breakfast hits The Gathering from 7 to 11:30 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 8.

■ The Plymouth Observer Pie Eating Contest takes place in Kellogg Park Saturday, Sept. 8. Registration starts at 1 p.m., and the contest itself, divided into four categories, begins at 2:30 p.m. There will be contests for ages 7-9, 10-12 and 13-15, as well as a separate contest among Observer newspaper carriers.

■ The chili cook-off happens Saturday, Sept. 8, with judging starting around 5 p.m. It's the 23rd annual Michigan State Chili Championship Cook-off. It also includes a salsa contest, judging for which starts around 3:15 p.m.

■ The Rotary Chicken Barbecue starts around 11 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 9 in The Gathering.

Annual BBQ always popular event

Want to know how popular the annual chicken barbecue at Plymouth Fall Festival has become?

Last year, despite a downpour that rained out most of the Sunday activities at the annual weekend-long festival, the Plymouth Rotary club still sold nearly 9,500 dinners.

Rotary officials are hoping for better cooperation from Mother Nature Sept. 9, when the 46th-annual barbecue kicks off.

"Last year was kind of remarkable," said Larry Turner, this year's chicken chairman, or "head cluck," as he laughingly refers to himself. "We did some fast dancing and ended up delivering 9,400 dinners. It was a testimony to the support of the community. It was amazing to see people standing in line in the rain to

The risk of cardiovascular disease increases as a woman approaches midlife. Join cardiologist Barbara A. Kong, MD, as she explains the risk factors for cardiovascular disease and the impact of stress on your heart. Then listen to Christa Mirani, PhD, as she focuses on the remarkable journey that women travel from midlife into aging. Explore ways to look at your inner self and how you can decrease the stress in your life. A short relaxation and meditation exercise will be incorporated into the program. There will be plenty of time for questions.

Light refreshments will be served.

get dinners."

Rotarians figure to serve about 12,000 dinners this year, weather permitting. The dinners go for $8 if you got an advance ticket, or for $9 the day of the event. The dinner includes a half-chicken, ear of corn on the cob, a roll, bag of chips and a can of soda.

Serving begins around 11 a.m. and runs until 5 p.m. or when the dinners are sold out. In addition to getting in line at The Gathering, the barbecue's primary site, buyers can pick up their dinners at two drive-thru locations: West Middle School and East Middle School. West has been used for several years; this marks the debut of East as a drive-thru site, Turner said.

In addition to the dinners, Rotarians expect to feed eaters around 13,500 ears of corn and about 600 cases of soda.

Rotarians this year integrated the Internet into their operations, offering pre-sale tickets on-line.

"Remarkably, the first two tickets were sold to former residents who now live in Colorado but are going to be back in town for the festival," Turner said.

While the sale doesn't actually start until 11 a.m., the day starts much earlier for Rotarians and other volunteers. Most of the deliveries are made to The Gathering Saturday night, and Rotarians are out bright and early Sunday morning.

"We're out there to light the pits before 8 a.m.," Turner said.

It's the volunteers who really make things happen, according to the chairman. In addition to the Rotary Club, volunteers come from Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem sports teams and cheer teams, from Plymouth Christian Academy and other students who aren't athletes, but who want to perform community service. New this year: the Knights of Columbus.

"We really couldn't do it without (volunteers)," Turner said.

Another integral part of the barbecue is Plymouth Marketplace, where Rotarians now "do sort of one-stop shopping" for everything they need. According to Turner, Marketplace owners Jim and Mark Tanski are literally on-site with

More using Web to learn about fest

The first tickets sold for the Rotary Chicken Barbecue at this year's Plymouth Fall Festival didn't go to anyone from Plymouth.

They went to people in Colorado, who bought them on-line.

It's a testament to how much the Internet has made its way into Plymouth life. The festival's Web needs are being handled by Jim Merri-man at Timed Designs.

"The Internet has really come into its own this year," said Mark Baldwin, president of the festival's executive board.

Baldwin said festival organizers began incorporating the Internet into their thinking a year ago, but hadn't quite gotten it down.

"They started it about this time last year and it never got fully utilized," Baldwin said. "We're probably about 60 to 75 percent this year."

This year, anyone can find out anything about the festival, from its history to what time Bugs Beddow plays on stage, by clicking on the festival's Web site, PlymouthFallFestival.com.

The site includes maps, the full schedule of events, kernels of information about the entertainers who will be on the festival's two stages and even minutes of the Fall Festival Board of Directors meetings.

But, while the Internet hasn't been utilized to 100 percent of its potential this year, Merri-man says they're setting up for huge Internet success by next year.

A booth where names and e-mail addresses will be taken this year will help promote the event for next year.

"I didn't have a lot of high hopes for this year, because we didn't promote it that well," he said. "We'll get e-mail addresses for the newsletter. That way we can start sending out all the information people will need for next year."

Antiques have curbside appeal

Auto enthusiasts used to getting their thrills during Fall Festival are in for twice as much fun this year.

The Plymouth Fall Festival 2001 Antique Car Show is set for Saturday and Sunday, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day.

Car buffs will have to look in a new location this year, as well. The show has been moved to Ann Arbor Trail and Forest, rather than its former location at Penniman and Main.

"There was a gap in the schedule, and the car show seemed like a good thing to fit in there," said Brian Fitzgerald, one of the show's organizers. "For the past few years, having it for one day left limited activities. It was really done to enhance the festival."

There is room for 200 vehicles each day, and show organizers are expecting at least that many, with some traditionally having to be turned away.

Late entries are welcome with a drive-up fee of $15 for one day, $20 for two. Cars have to be vintage 1975 or older.

The cars will be parked downtown, with Dash Plaques presented to the first 200 cars. There will be Top 10 Awards each day, with lots of choice awards.

It's in the budget

Financial outlook bright

With a full weekend of participation from the beverage tent and a bigger, better carnival, Plymouth Fall Festival organizers are hoping to turn about a $5,000 profit this year.

After earning the festival about $6,000 in its rain-shortened debut last year, the "beer tent" is expected to make about $14,000 as long as weather holds this year.

Along with participation and sales of the festival program, the Fall Festival is expected to generate approximately $71,000 in revenue this year.

That kind of optimism comes from expected income and from the fact that most of the festival's bills are already paid, something that hasn't always happened in years past.

"Right now, we're doing pretty well financially," said festival chairman Mark Baldwin. "All the bills are paid. The last few years, there were outstanding bills. That's not the case this year."

Also helping with the financial picture is ■ 'Right now, we're doing pretty well financially. All the bills are paid.'

Mark Baldwin

—Chairman, Plymouth Fall Festival

a switch to Push Shows for the carnival. In years past, the carnival provider has traditionally focused on rides and attractions for younger children. This year, more rides for different ages will be included, bringing in more revenue.

"That should help the budget," Baldwin said. "Income from that is considerably more than the people we've used in the past."

The biggest direct expense comes from entertainment, for which the festival will $20,000, which will go into the Plymouth Rotary Foundation for use both locally and internationally. Local uses include United Way and support of high school sports teams.

Some of the money also goes to the International Rotary Foundation. One of the big programs for that foundation recently has been the digging of wells in countries with water shortages.

"One of our big things has been to go to areas of the world that are parched and dig wells," Turner said. "One of the big shortages in a lot of countries has been good drinking water."

Whatever program gets the money, the folks who buy the chicken dinners at the 46th-annual Fall Festival should feel satisfaction, according to Turner.

"Community supporters buying these dinners can feel good that it's going to a good cause in the local community, but also to international causes we think are quite worthy," Turner said.

Pets again will show their stuff

Antique cars, chicken barbecuers and booths and games won't be the only things on display during the 2001 Plymouth Fall Festival.

The Optimist Club's Fall Festival Pet Show, the highlight of the weekend for scores of kids and their companion animals, takes place Saturday, Sept. 8 at 9 a.m.

Over the years, pheasants, peacocks, goats and even a boa constrictor have been entered in the event.

And if you think only those who have had ample opportunity to train their pets can enter this particular show, think again. One year, according to pet show guru and former emcee Felix Rotter, two girls entered a caterpillar they found right there in Kellogg Park.

"How long have you had him?" Rotter asked the girls, to which one of the girls replied, "About 15 minutes."

The contest gets underway at 9 a.m. in Kellogg Park. First to be judged are the dogs, in categories including smallest, largest, longest tail, longest ears, best dressed and best tricks.

Following the dogs are the unusual pets (where perhaps the boa constrictor could be

CHAMBER RAFFLE

Regis Philbin won't be around to hand out million-dollar checks, but Plymouth Fall Festival goers will have a chance to win a pretty nice chunk of cash just the same.

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce will once again be selling tickets to its annual raffle during the Fall Festival Sept. 7-9.

The top prize for the chamber's annual fund-raiser is $5,000.

Tickets are $5 each or three for $10, and will be available for sale at the chamber's booth during the festival. Second prize is a 5-carat Iolite pendant/slide set in 14-karat gold donated by Plymouth Jewelry. Third prize is a "Night on the Town" $100 Plymouth gift certificate donated by the chamber.

A drawing to choose the winners will occur during the chamber auction/annual meeting Nov. 2 at Laurel Manor in Livonia.

Proceeds from the chamber's festival activities will go toward the services the chamber provides throughout the year.

Competition always a hot one

The Fall Festival Chili Cook-off, officially known as the Michigan State Chili Championship set for Saturday, Sept. 8, can mean big things to the winners in the chili and salsa competitions.

Winners in both of those contests advance to the 2001 World Championship in Reno, Nev., set for Sept. 30.

The winner in the state chili contest at Fall Festival wins $1,000 and a trophy, in addition to the chance to compete in Reno. Trophies also go to the rest of the top five finishers.

The winner of the salsa competition gets $100 and a trophy. There's also a trophy for the best booth.

The competition starts with the cooks' meeting at 1 p.m., and food preparation from 1:15 to 2:15 p.m. Cooking starts at 2:15 p.m., with judging to start at about 5 p.m.

CHILI COOK-OFF

Samples will be available to the public for 50 cents. Proceeds will benefit community service groups of Plymouth, including the Rotary, the Lions Club, Kiwanis and others.

Judging in the salsa competition starts around 3:15 p.m.

Cook-off guru Annette Horn suggests getting your samples early. Typically, she says, demand overcomes supply after about half an hour.

Chili cooks must bring everything they need with them: stove, utensils, ingredients, etc. Each cook will create at least 1-1/2 gallons of chili. Thirty-two ounces go to the judges, the rest for samples.

Diane Lentz of Nicholasville, Ky., won last year's chili title, beating more than 40 other chiliheads with her Belle Breezing Bordello Chili.

Kandace Kirkey of Royal Oak, a first-time competitor, won the salsa championship last year.

Leo Buk II of Trenton had the best booth.

On Bingo night, fun's in the cards

They start lining up early, sometimes more than two hours before game time. That's how popular the Plymouth Fall Festival Bingo Night, sponsored by the Business and Professional Women, has become.

The BPW Bingo Night again kicks off Fall Festival events, this year on Friday, Sept. 7. Tickets go on sale around 5:30 p.m., with play starting at 6:30 p.m.

But that won't stop some players from being in The Gathering around 4 p.m., when tables first start getting set up.

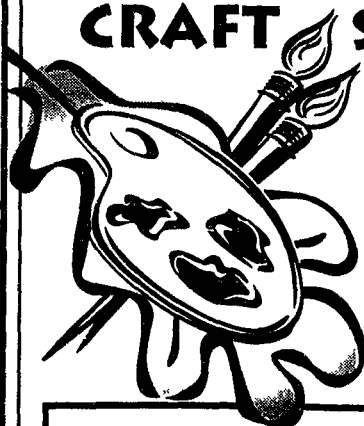

"We have a few ladies who come in at 4 and wait for the tables to be set up so they can pick out their seat," said Mary Brooks, the former Plymouth Township treasurer who will share calling duties with fellow BPW member Beverly Booker. "The people who play bingo are a different breed."

As usual, $2,000 in prizes will be on the line. The top prize of the night, for the evening's final game, is $500, with a variety of $150 or $200 prizes sprinkled in.

Cards can be bought in packages for the regular games ($15), and for the special games ($5). Cards will also be sold on the floor during the night. Proceeds from the event go to the BPW's scholarship fund.

Nonprofits' efforts pay off

BY TIM SMITH

tsmith@oe.homecomm.net

The success of the Plymouth Fall Festival weekend affects nonprofit groups throughout the year.

One of those is the Plymouth Theatre Guild, which relies on Fall Festival revenue from the sale of cotton candy to help pay for stage productions the entire community enjoys.

The event is huge, said guild spokesman Eugene Hamlin, who is also a member of the festival board.

"The Rotary started this (in 1956), and a year or two after that, the Plymouth Theatre Guild, Kiwanis and Lions clubs joined the festival board. For us, all of the monies derived from cotton candy sales goes back into the production of Guild shows."

The nonprofit theater group's sale of cotton candy during the September weekend "allows us to put more into the show," he said. "That means great costumes, or we can buy body mikes, which cost $500 each. And we've bought portable spotlights."

Fifty actors and actresses make up the guild, which puts on about three performances every year. At one time, the group performed during the festival. Now efforts are concentrated on selling cotton candy and talking to festival-goers.

Having a spot at the festival has another benefit for nonprofit groups — exposure to the public. "It's a way for us to promote."

If groups do well during the festival, that's good news for the overall financial health of the event, said Mark Baldwin of the Plymouth Rotary Club (the primary sponsor) and chairman of the festival board. Twenty-five percent of the money taken in during the event is funneled back to the board, to ensure stable financing in subsequent years.

Once again, the Rotary Club will sponsor the popular chicken barbecue, scheduled from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 9. "Every penny of that goes back to the community" via the Plymouth Rotary Foundation, Baldwin said. Money helps provide college scholarships to students.

Please see GROUPS, 35

Groups from page 34

The decades-long participation from Rotarians, Kiwanians, Lions and Guild members is leading the way for other groups.

In addition to the those groups, this year's roster of participants includes Plymouth-Canton Softball, Plymouth-Canton Tennis Boosters, New Morning School, Plymouth Newcomers, Retired Greyhounds as Pets, Plymouth Civitans, Plymouth Jaycees, Risen Christ Lutheran Church, Community Church of Christ and The Polish Alliance Centennial Dancers.

"Certainly the fall festival is an event a lot of groups use as their primary fund-raiser for the year," said Rotarian Paul Sincock. "The great thing is a lot of that money comes back into the community, and that's the heart of the whole issue."

Chow line: Meghan Barida and Ashley Hoffman, both 11 from Canton, and Ashley's mom Kim Hoffman wait their turn in the pancake line.

And that was what started the festival in 1956. The Rotary Club sponsored a family picnic to raise money for playground equipment. In later years, festivals have pumped economic life into important projects such as the development of an open air pavilion.

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT

The 2001 Plymouth Fall Festival will once again feature a wide variety of musical entertainment, focused on two stages.

Here's a rundown of some of the acts who will be appearing:

Polish dancers

11 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 8, Stage Two

These dancers participate in local parades and festivals throughout the year promoting Polish culture and informing people about the Polish heritage. Most are students with the alliance, which is based in Plymouth and founded in 1980.

Some have been taking classes for as many as 15 years. Students range in age from 4-18, with some adult students.

MudPuppy

3 to 5 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 8, Main Stage

Mixing R&B, funk and straight-up blues into a heady gumbo, MudPuppy's "a night in New Orleans come home to roost in Detroit," according to reviewer Chris Handyside. The group was Outstanding Blues Ensemble (Blues) at the Detroit Music Awards (1998); nominee, Outstanding Blues Artist (Blues/R&B) - Detroit Music Awards (2000); Outstanding R&B Band (R&B), Detroit Music Awards (1998); Outstanding Blues Ensemble (Blues), Detroit Music Awards (1997); Best Blues Band (Blues), Detroit Music Awards (1997) and Outstanding Blues Artist (Blues/Rhythm & Blues), Detroit Music Awards (2001).

Plymouth Canton Community School Band

5 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 8, Stage Two

The Plymouth- Canton Marching Band has consistently been a top contender in Marching Band competitions. The band has been the Michigan flight one champion 13 times including the past 6 years. The band was named the Grand Champion at the Fiesta bowl National Championships in 1992 and 1996. Plymouth Canton is a consistent finalist in Bands of America Competitions, placing no lower than eighth place at the Grand National Championships since 1988. The band was named the BOA Grand National Champions in 1990, 1991, 1999. The Plymouth Canton school district is located in Michigan, and serves the communities of Plymouth, Canton and Salem.

Plymouth Fife & Drum Corps

5:30 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 8, Stage Two

Founded in 1971, the Plymouth Fife & Drum Corps dresses in replicas of President George Washington's lifeguards and plays songs from the American Revolution. The corps is made up of 40-50 students ranging in age from 12 to 18.

Fifeing and drumming were used during times of war to relay commands to soldiers, direct movements of units as well as to provide inspiration and marching rhythm. The shrillness of the fifes and pounding of the drums could be heard over the cries of battle.

For more information, check out the group's Web site at http://www.mich.com/~mrandall/pfdc\_first-page.html.

Alexander Zonjic

6 to 9 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 8 on the Main Stage

Zonjic started his musical career at age 9 in his hometown of Windsor when he took up the guitar. He was the lead guitar player in a rhythm and blues band at age 15, and at age 21 he discovered the beauty, power and intelligence of music.

While performing in Detroit jazz club Baker's Keyboard Lounge, Zonjic met keyboard legend Bob James, who asked Zonjic to join his band. The collaboration led to recording with such jazz greats as Earl Klugh, Kirk Whalum, Harvey Mason and Angela Bofill, among others.

Zonjic has performed on stages around the world as a solo performer, with his own group and as part of James' band. He has also performed at major classical and jazz festivals throughout North America, including appearances at Carnegie Hall, the Hollywood Bowl and New York's Apollo Theater.

Mark Castellese

11:45 a.m., Sunday, Sept. 9, Stage Two

Canton resident Mark Castellese is a computer-aided designer by day and a singer in his spare time. This marks his second straight appearance at Fall Festival.

Plymouth Community Band

12:30 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 9, Stage Two

The Plymouth Community Band, now in its 42nd year, is led by director Carl Battishill and plays marches, light classical and Big Band music. Band members range in age from 14 to 84 and perform a couple dozen times a year.

Bugs Beddow Band

2 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 9, Main Stage

Bugs Beddow was born in Detroit in 1953, and started playing the trombone in 1962 and the flute in 1969. He graduated from Birmingham Groves High School in 1970, then got his bachelor's degree in music education from Northern Michigan University in 1975. He was the head of the Leland Public Schools Music Department from 1975-1977. He performed with numerous bands between 1977 and 1982, and has led his own band since 1982.

Bugs has two Detroit Music Awards 2001 nominations, for best rhythm & blues band and best live performance. His was named best R&B band in 2000, and was nominated for outstanding blues recording at the Motor City
Music Awards in 1994 for his fourth album, "Going Blind." In 1993, he was the outstanding blues performer, and his third album, "Bootleg Brigade," was outstanding blues recording.

LeRoy McGarry

2:15 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 9, Stage Two

Livonia resident LeRoy McGarry performs country and gospel music on the harmonica, an instrument he has played since he was 12.

Johnny Bassett

4 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 9, Main Stage

A hard-swinging blues outfit from Detroit, nominated for "Best Blues Band" by the W.C.
Handy Awards again this year. Five European tours and five U.S. tours in the last three years. Some of the best players in Detroit have played with Johnnie. The current lineup includes Al Hill (bandleader and on keyboards), Kevin Venney (drums), Pat Prouty (bass) and Keith Kaminski (tenor saxophone).

Johnnie has appeared on over 10 CDs in the last four years, in addition to keeping an extensive national touring schedule.
