State revenue discussion heats up

By Lon Huhman
STAFF WRITER

Northville Township finance director and assistant township manager Thelma Kubitskey said state shared revenue has become an even hotter topic among state-wide municipalities.

After looking over the fiscal year 2001-2002 state budget, Northville Township's state shared revenue has not shown a significant decrease. However, the city of Northville has, with an expected decrease of more than $91,000 — a significant cutback from last year's fiscal budget and far lower than the amount projected this past January. Kubitskey said additional appropriation reductions to the revenue sharing line item could harm many future municipal budgets, including the township's.

"Our 2001 budget takes into account and will utilize $1,841,853 of state shared revenue," Kubitskey said. "The state shared revenue accounts for 57 percent of the township's budgeted general fund revenue."

Kubitskey, as well as Northville city's finance director and assistant city manager Nicolette Bateson, attended the fall conference of the Michigan Municipal Finance Officers Association. It was there the topic of state shared revenue was discussed in length. Kubitskey said there were several points issued by the conference on the subject, including:

- It being critical that the amount of monies allocated by the state to statutory revenue sharing be consistent with the amount stipulated in the Revenue Sharing Act.

- Statutory revenue sharing for cities, villages, townships and counties should reflect, at a minimum, the annual increase in the state's sales collections as promised by the legislature with the 1998 law change.

- Cities, villages, townships and counties are united together on this issue—statutory

Search begins for new advisory board

The search is on...again. Northville Record editor Chris Davis announced last week that the Record would begin seeking applicants for the newspaper's community advisory board, a volunteer group that meets periodically to assess the Record's content and business practices.

Two groups have been brought in to help with evaluating and improving the newspaper to date — one in 2000 and the current group, whose members' terms expire in mid-December. "Speaking strictly from an editor's standpoint, I know I've learned a lot about what our readers think by having had the chance to meet with two outstanding groups of people so far," Davis said. "They're doing exactly what I've asked them to do, which is to provide honest assessments of the various aspects of our operations here."

The advisory board being sought will be comprised of about eight residents of the Record's coverage area. Persons age 16 and up are welcome to apply for positions on the board, whose function is purely advisory, but whose advice is often implemented in some way at a later date.

Persons holding elected office are not eligible to participate, but aside from that restriction, Davis said the advisory board slots are open to any interested party.

"I've had everyone from high school students to automotive engineers help out over the last two years," Davis said. "The mix has provided a great contrast in opinions. The dialogue generated at our meetings is extremely beneficial towards our goal of building a better product for our readers."

Advisory board members serve a one-year term from January through December, during which time one-hour meetings are held Martha, Martha, Martha!

Nield named Northville Chamber's 2001 Citizen of the Year

By Jennifer Norris
STAFF WRITER

Oct. 17 will not likely be a day that Martha Nield soon forgets.

On that day, Nield was named the 2001 Northville Chamber of Commerce's Citizen of the Year during the chamber's annual meeting at the Northville Hills Golf Club.

Nield said winning the award was completely unexpected.

"I had no idea," she said, as she was swarmed by well-wishers and words of congratulations after the meeting concluded. "I have only given what I could."

During the event, several community leaders spoke on the multiple volunteer efforts and projects that Nield has participated in.

Marv Gans, a Northville Township trustee and winner of the 2000 Citizen of the Year award, said Nield had demonstrated extraordinary commitment to the community and extended her leadership to many organizations.

Nield moved to Northville at age 20 after receiving a bachelor's degree in mathematics from the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. At age 20 she served as treasurer for the Northville Newcomers organization. During her residency she has also been president of the Northville

Historical Society, president of the Silver Springs PTA, president of Northville PTA Coordinating Council and president of the U-M Club.

In addition, Nield has also demonstrated her devotion to Northville Public Schools. She has held every office within the school district's board of education and has served as president twice.

Nield has also been involved with the curriculum council for Northville schools, strategic planning committee, Galileo Consortium, senior citizen advisory group and Northville's Downtown Development Authority.

Furthermore, Nield has headed up the restoration of the high school graduating class composites from the year 1910 until 2001. Those photos are currently displayed at Northville High School.

Pheasant Hills asks for help with new lighting

By Lon Huhman
STAFF WRITER

The lighting fixtures that should be gracing the streets of the Pheasant Hills subdivision in the near future may be installed through a special financing agreement reached with the city of Northville.

According to Northville city manager Gary Word, the city council on Oct. 15 approved in concept a special assessment process for the Pheasant Hills' $90,000 lighting project. The approval has also put into effect the process of the selection of the contractor, as well as the subsequent negotiation. Word said the final approval for the project will depend on the successful project review by the city attorney, as well as a display of genuine interest on the part of the homeowners.

The Pheasant Hills Homeowners Association appeared before the city council twice prior to the special assessment approval — once during the fiscal year 2002 budget process and again during the annual review of Northville Downs racetrack breakage. Word said. The association asked the city council to consider a cost sharing program, but the plan was rejected because there were other projects deemed more important by the city council.

"The city council would like to know if the majority of the Pheasant Hills homeowners are interested in proceeding with a finance plan," Word said. "A petition or letter with signatures are two ways in which this can be demonstrated."

According to Pheasant Hills Homeowners Association president William Lokey, the association's board of directors originally asked the city council to consider the special assessment in order to complete its improvement project to the right-of-ways at the front entrance and bridge areas, along with the removal of the existing Detroit Edison lighting and installation of the selected Consumers Energy gas lighting in their subdivision.

Soft stuffed animals sought to cushion lives affected by Sept. 11

By Jennifer Norris

A furry friend can be just the right companion during difficult times.

That's why the Northville High School Rotary Interact Club has initiated a stuffed animal drive and will be sending the donated items to children who lost a loved one in Sept. 11 attacks on New York.

Audrie Lin, a NHS senior and co-president of the Rotary Interact Club, said the drive started Oct. 8 and will continue through Halloween. The stuffed animals are being collected and stored in a large box in the main office of the high school.

"We started about two weeks ago and we're collecting stuffed animals that are in relatively good condition," said Lin. "They can be new or used. All the animals are going to the chil-

Lin said high school students have also been diligent about bringing in furry pals for the drive.

"We were all greatly affected by the Sept. 11 tragedy," said Lin. "We wanted to help any way that we could. For the Victorian Festival, we had a booth set up and we collected about $650 for the United Way for New York families. But now we're collecting stuffed animals to send to the children."

Lin said when the children receive the donated toys, it may help brighten their spirits.

"If you have a stuffed animal that is sent by someone you don't know, you know there's people out there that care about you," she said. "Hopefully it will bring them some comfort."

Lin said some students have been particularly devoted to bringing in items.

"One girl brought in her whole collection," she said. "She cleaned out her closet and brought in all of her

NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP POLICE REPORTS

UN-LOADED: A $19,000 skid steer loader was stolen from a construction site in Northville Township over the weekend Oct. 13-14, a Northville township police report said. The site was located just east of Northville Hills Golf Club's maintenance yard. With help, the site supervisor searched the neighboring areas for the loader, but did not find it. The loader belonged to GPS Landscaping and is diesel powered with noticeable damage to its engine door. The department has listed the vehicle as stolen.

In another construction site larceny in Northville Township, an installed furnace was taken from a home under construction on White Pine Circle. There was no force used in the breaking and entering incident, but a neighboring resident reported hearing a suspicious noise. The township police report stated that the site supervisor believes the suspect backed a truck up and loaded the furnace onto it.

The report said there were visible tire skid marks on the driveway.

NORTHVILLE CITY POLICE REPORTS

BREAK-IN: According to a Northville city police report, Asher's Citgo on the corner of Rogers and Fairbrook roads was broken into on Oct. 13 and $50 in assorted change was taken from the station's change drawer.

The suspect(s) gained entry by breaking a window. The change drawer was removed from the register and the suspects also attempted to pry open a latch the money box was contained in, but the box was not there at the time.

The report said the screwdriver used to do the prying was owned by the station and had been noticeably bent. It was left behind at the scene.

The report stated that there were no latent prints found at the scene.

The case remains open for further investigation.

LARCENY: On Oct. 17, an unarmed robbery with no apparent suspects was reported at the Mr. Glow Car Wash on Main Street. The employees on hand at the time of the larceny said there was at least $600 in $20 bills stolen from the cash drawer while the other money was left behind.

Those interviewed by police said the incident must have occurred while the employees were the car wash's office looking over scheduled when there was a lull in business.

LET'S TALK Jewelry WITH GARY S. WEINSTEIN GEMOLOGIST

CHARMED, I'M SURE

There is scarcely a more fitting piece of jewelry for the hobbyist or otherwise impassioned woman than a charm bracelet. This beautiful wrist adornment reflects both the wearer's interests and her personal style. Take, for example, the woman whose interest lies in equestrian pursuits. She can sport a bracelet with charms of horses, saddles, riding caps, and the like, which attest to her passion for horses. The same may be done for women who play golf, bowl, tend to gardens, sail, etc. And, speaking of passions, mothers and grandmothers are very fond of collecting charms for each of their (grand)children. Adorned with the child's date of birth and birthstone, these charms make fabulous conversation pieces, as does any charm.

(248-347-0303) we have a great selection of all types of jewelry, including charm bracelets, which make a perfect gift for the women of all ages in your life. As an independent merchant, we try to know our clientele personally, and cater to their individual tastes. The wonderful reputation we have earned over the years is extremely important to us. We are "The name you know, the name you trust." We are now licensed by the city of Novi to offer loans on jewelry.

Record seeks out new advisory group for 2001 news year approximately once a month. Communications at meetings are held in confidence so as to encourage greater freedom in discussion, Davis said.

Applicants should submit a short letter of interest to the Record, which includes:

- Name, address telephone number and e-mail address;
- A brief biography on the applicant, including age and occupation, as well as length of time spent in the Northville community; and;
- A statement explaining why the applicant is interested in becoming part of the board.

Letters should be submitted to the Record office by Nov. 21. Persons selected to the board will be notified in mid-December as to their acceptance on the board and the date and time of the first meeting in January.

"In the past, I've received dozens of applications from people wanting to participate. I had to choose my choices to a select few, which was a pleasant problem to have," Davis said. "It's my hope we have that kind of response again this year."

Questions about the advisory board can be directed to Davis, who can be contacted at (248) 349-1700, ext. 114, or at cdavis@ht.homecom.net.

City, township cast curious eye to revenue issue

revenue; sharing should be funded as promised in the statutory revenue sharing law.

According to Kubitskey, along with the MMFOA, the Michigan Municipal League, Michigan Township Association as well as the Michigan's Treasurer's Association agreed that the municipalities needed to work together on the issue to prevent additional revenue sharing reductions.

"This affects all of us," Kubitskey said.

Specifically, Kubitskey said additional appropriation reductions threatens provision of essential public services such as police and fire, potential postponement or delay of needed infrastructure projects, as well as requiring use of the fund balance, which reduces available safety margin. Bateson said the city would rely on its contingency fund to offset the decrease.

Kubitskey said the MMFOA's emphasis is not on the formula, but rather on funding the formula. According to the 1998 amendments to the State Shared Revenue Act, funding is to be paid to local units of government at 21.3 percent of the sales tax collections at a rate of 4 percent. According to the MMFOA, revenue sharing typically accounts for approximately 25 percent of a local unit's general fund balance.

Bateson attributed the state's reduction to the slowing economy, as well as the city's lack of population growth compared to neighboring communities.

A "double roll" has taken place for this fiscal year, and the MMFOA believed local units are hard-pressed to absorb the double rolls. A double roll occurs when the Legislature further reduces the statutory appropriation for revenue sharing. The MMFOA fall conference stated an additional $50 million reduction was made to the statutory revenue sharing, which resulted in a double roll.

Kubitskey said the MMFOA agreed the next step to be taken by all municipalities is to express the concern over the issue to their respective boards, which Kubitskey did at the Oct. 18 township board of trustees meeting. In addition, she said the group's concerns will be raised with such state legislators, including John Stewart, R-Plymouth.

Dan Sheehan, at Mother's Pizzeria, Doing what Dan does best!

MOVE OVER DAD.... MOTHER IS HERE!

Dan Sheehan, the youngest son of Joan and Larry Sheehan, Northville residents for over 25 years, has just opened his own pizzeria on Five Mile just West of Sheldon Road called MOTHER'S PIZZERIA. I promised Dad to keep the same old fashioned style pizzas that the Sheehan family has always been known for. Quality at a reasonable price "Now That's Value". Dan still beats out the dough by hand and spins it to stretch (this is no fast food chain) Your pizza is made fresh when you order. A spicy pizza sauce, fresh whole milk cheese, plenty of it, large choice of toppings. Try it and you'll find yourself craving more, everytime you order!

DAD, JUST KEEP MOVING.... TIM IS HERE!

Tim Sheehan, the oldest son has taken over Sheehan's on the Green - A Real Irish Pub Voted #1 Hamburger many times over 25 years. Dad has operated this fun neighborhood bar with Tim's help, now Dad has stepped down and it's up to Tim to carry on the Sheehan tradition!

Breast cancer survivor speaks out

Thursday, October 25, 2001—Northville Record-9A

By Kelli Cooley
NOVI NEWS EDITOR

"The thought of dying was the hardest."

Janet Marlatt, a registration attendant at Novi Providence Hospital's Assarian Cancer Center has seen many patients with cancer. When she became a patient herself six years ago, the reality of breast cancer struck her hard.

"That's your first thought when you find out, the thought of dying. Then you go through it, realize you aren't going to and move on," she said.

This year, 1,400 women will die of breast cancer.

This statistic, the American Cancer Society said, is a 7 percent decrease from last year but still a number that makes Americans stop and take notice.

With 6,800 women and 1,400 men in Michigan to be diagnosed with breast cancer this year alone, the American Cancer Society and other cancer organizations are trying to raise awareness to a disease that has a higher survival rate with early detection.

"I have a better look at life. People, things, nature. You are glad you are here."

Janet Marlatt
Novi Providence Hospital

Marlatt agrees.

She found her tumor during a regular self-exam and immediately contacted her doctor. Because her tumor was not that large and Marlatt had caught it in time, she had a partial mastectomy (removal of a breast) with radiation. It could have been worse.

"I didn't have to do chemotherapy. The treatment changes with everyone. Luckily, my tumor was small. They said another half inch bigger and they would have recommended chemo," Marlatt said.

She agrees with the American Cancer Society's advice for women to do breast self-exams, get yearly breast exams by doctors and get mammograms yearly if they are over 40.

Krista Hester, American Cancer Society communications specialist in Southfield, said the metro Detroit area residents and society volunteers have worked to increase awareness this month, as well as raise money for breast cancer research, coinciding with the national breast cancer awareness month.

The Belle Isle Making Strides Against Breast Cancer walk raised $530,000 with over 5,000 people walking Oct. 13.

American Cancer Society also sponsored Tell-A-Friend Tuesdays throughout the month of October.

Every Tuesday, over 10,000 volunteers called metro Detroit women to remind them to get mammograms.

The impact the American Cancer Society has had on breast cancer is significant. The society has invested more than $58 million in research nationally and $1.2 million in Michigan alone. More than 25 percent of all women diagnosed with breast cancer in metro Detroit receive a one-to-one support visit from a trained American Cancer Society volunteer and breast cancer survivor.

Marlatt admits surviving breast cancer has given her a new perspective.

"I have a better look at life. People, just things, nature. You are glad you are here," she said.

REMEMBER THESE RECOMMENDATIONS FOR BREAST HEALTH

Before 40 years old: 1. Examine your breasts monthly
2. Have a breast exam by your doctor every three years.
3. Have a baseline mammogram by age 40. (A mammogram is a low dose x-ray that can find cancer too small to be found by hand.)

Between 40 and 49 years old: 1. Examine your breasts monthly.
2. Have a breast exam by your doctor every year.
3. Have a mammogram every 1 to 2 years.

Age 50 and over: 1. Examine your breasts monthly.
2. Have a breast exam by your doctor every year.
3. Have a mammogram every year.

Breast Cancer Facts

- Breast Cancer is the second major cause of cancer death in women. ■ The risk of breast cancer increases with age.
- Mammography is the best way of detecting breast cancer in the earliest stages. ■ Women who have a personal or family history of breast cancer have an increased risk.
- A majority of women have one or more risk factors for breast cancer. ■ Although women may not be able to alter their personal risk factors, maintaining ideal body weight and reducing alcohol consumption may offer some risk in breast cancer risk. ■ Early detection is the best opportunity to reduce mortality.
- Today, the relative survival for early breast cancer is 97%. As breast cancer invades other areas of the body, chances for survival decrease to 76% for regional spread and 21% for spread to other parts of the body.

City to shut down streets on Halloween

By Lon Huhman
STAFF WRITER

Northville trick-or-treaters will feel safer again this year as they scramble around the city's historic district looking for candy.

The plan worked last year, and because of the success, the city of Northville will once again close certain streets during Halloween trick or treat hours for safety reasons. Northville city public works director James Gallogly said.

The closure area is centered on the Main and Dunlap street vicinity and will be between the hours of 5:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. On-street parking will also be prohibited on the streets of north Rogers from Main to Dubuar, Dubuar from Rogers to Linden and on Linden between Dubuar and Randolph.

According to Gallogly, the DPW will be placing barricades across affected roads to ensure that the closures are performed properly. In addition, the city police department will properly sign the selected streets for no-parking earlier on Oct. 31.

The city will also be informing residents on Oct. 29 of the plan with the hope that the advanced notice will enable residents to make necessary arrangements to get home early from work that evening or to park in parking lot No. 2 off of North Wing Street. Gallogly said restricting parking on North Rogers, Dubuar and Linden should minimize conflicts on the streets adjacent to the street closure area.

Children to get chance at playing Santa

Mill Race to host gift-making opportunity; younger set will have opportunity to make holiday presents

By Jennifer Norris
STAFF WRITER

Area children won't have to go to the mall this year to find quality Christmas presents. Through the efforts of the Northville Historical Society, area children will be making the gifts themselves.

The historical society will be hosting its 23rd annual Children's Christmas Workshop on Dec. 1 in the new school church, located in Mill Race Village, said Carole Jean Stockhausen, coordinator for the Christmas Workshop.

During the workshop, children will learn how past generations crafted their own gifts using only supplies found around the home and a little ingenuity.

"We would put on a workshop where children [can] come in and make quality presents," said Stockhausen, adding that these gifts will be kept a surprise for parents.

Children will have the opportunity to make seven different presents during the workshop, by visiting seven separate stations.

Two workshop sessions will take place Dec. 1 at Mill Race Village. The morning session will last from 10 a.m. until noon, while the afternoon class will run from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m.

According to Stockhausen, 75 children can participate in each session.

The workshop fee is $14 for non-historical society members and is $12 for members. A $2 rebate will be issued if participants bring a 1 lb. 10 oz empty coffee can with both ends removed to the registration.

Enrollment will be accepted starting at 6 p.m. on Nov. 2 for Historical Society members at 218 W. Dunlap. Non-Historical Society members may register at 7 p.m.

The workshop is geared for students in grades 1-6.

For more information, contact Bill or Carole Jean Stockhausen at (248) 349-2833.

REMEMBER THESE RECOMMENDATIONS FOR BREAST HEALTH

- Before 40 years old:
1. Examine your breasts monthly.
 2. Have a breast exam by your doctor every three years.
 3. Have a baseline mammogram by age 40. (A mammogram is a low dose x-ray that can find cancer too small to be found by hand.)
- Between 40 and 49 years old:
1. Examine your breasts monthly.
 2. Have a breast exam by your doctor every year.
 3. Have a mammogram every 1 to 2 years.
- Age 50 and over:
1. Examine your breasts monthly.
 2. Have a breast exam by your doctor every year.
 3. Have a mammogram every year.

Breast Cancer Facts

- Breast Cancer is the second major cause of cancer death in women. ■ The risk of breast cancer increases with age.
- Mammography is the best way of detecting breast cancer in the earliest stages. ■ Women who have a personal or family history of breast cancer have an increased risk.
- A majority of women have one or more risk factors for breast cancer. ■ Although women may not be able to alter their personal risk factors, maintaining ideal body weight and reducing alcohol consumption may offer some risk in breast cancer risk. ■ Early detection is the best opportunity to reduce mortality.
- Today, the relative survival for early breast cancer is 97%. As breast cancer invades other areas of the body, chances for survival decrease to 76% for regional spread and 21% for spread to other parts of the body.

CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

Our fundamental purposes are to enhance the lives of our readers, nurture the home towns we serve and contribute to the business success of our customers.

Martha Nield: she's Northville's citizen

Every year, the Northville Chamber of Commerce selects one person from the community who exemplifies the best of what Northville stands for. This year, that person is Martha Nield. And frankly, we couldn't be happier — not just for Ms. Nield, but also for Northville, too.

Not that anyone was really critiquing a resume', but Ms. Nield brings to the table a laundry list of achievements and experience in serving and giving to the Northville community. At present, she's immersed in the activities of the Northville school board, and is helping steer the board and the district at a time when the district is once again beginning a capital improvement campaign.

But that's just the tip of the iceberg. There's also her involvement in the schools themselves, serving on a number of parent-teacher associations and heading up the district's PTA, too. In that capacity, she's helped to facilitate dialogue and stronger bonds between those who instruct Northville's kids during the day and those who peer over their shoulders during homework time at night.

Then there's the work she's done in preserving Northville's history. Whether it's serving as president of the Northville Historical Society (no small task) or organizing and cleaning up composite photos of past Northville High School graduating classes, Ms. Nield has worked hard to freeze time and hold on to the past.

Lest we forget her work on the Northville Newcomer's, the downtown development authority and her work for the University of Michigan alumni club.

Any one of these pieces of experience would be enough to make the average person gasp for breath. Not Ms. Nield, somehow, she's managed to do all these things, and still have time for her family and herself.

When people volunteer, they do so out of the goodness of their heart and out of a sense of duty to the community. It's clear, based on what Ms. Nield has given through the years, that her sense of duty runs deep and long.

The selection committee on the Northville Chamber of Commerce couldn't have found a better nominee than Ms. Nield for its 2001 Citizen of the Year. Northville has benefited from her work, and we think a round of applause is very much in order.

"I thought [Martha Nield's selection] was outstanding," said Chamber director Laurie Marrs. "What a great candidate. She is an extremely deserving individual. It gladdens my heart when I look at the people that have given back unselfishly to our community."

What more needs to be said? Congratulations, Martha Nield. You've done the community proud.

Not that anyone was really critiquing a resume, but Ms. Nield brings to the table a laundry list of achievements and experience in serving and giving to Northville.

Staying informed means voting Nov. 6

"Bad officials are elected by good citizens who do not vote."

Nov. 6 is our first opportunity in the new millennium to vote for our local elected officials. In this time of war, it is more critical than ever to exercise our right to vote. Our armed forces are putting their lives on the line to protect our rights as Americans. We need to show them that we value their sacrifices by exercising this precious right.

Local elections are as vital as national elections. They put into office those who speak for us in our neighborhoods. These local leaders will be representing us at state and national gatherings. They will be the ones we will call to fix problems here at home. They are the ones who levy our local taxes and manage our local resources.

We need to know who they are and what they stand for. We need to participate in candidate nights and to become informed. We need to vote on Nov. 6.

If we do not vote, what are we going to say to our brave soldiers? To our children? Freedom demands responsible action. That responsibility is to exercise our right to vote. Be a proud American and vote on Nov. 6.

Lorenzo supports Landry in Novi election

During my first term serving on the Novi City Council and particularly since Mayor Richard Clark and councilmember Michelle Bononi were elected, I have made many positive contributions that have benefited the citizens of Novi, and have moved the city forward in the right direction.

If you are considering voting for me in this election, please also consider voting for David Landry. I am supporting David Landry because he is knowledgeable and concerned about the issues facing us in Novi. He will also work hard on your behalf, and he is committed to working together with us on council to continue improving your quality of life and moving the city forward.

Great pumpkin theft leaves writer perplexed

Here's the facts. On Oct. 14, we took our children on the annual trek to find a huge pumpkin for Halloween. We found a 132-pounder. We got it in the trunk, without getting a hernia. Since then, the valuable pumpkin has been sitting on a board next to the birch trees in front of our house, waiting to be carved up in time for Halloween night, and the joy of eating freshly roasted pumpkin seeds — one of those traditions you pass along to your kids.

Waiting that is, until the early morning hours of Oct. 23. The thieves must have approached under the cover of darkness, and by stealth. There had to be more than one, or, one guy who was really big. The theft was discovered in the morning. Its hard to miss a missing one hundred and thirty two pound pumpkin. It was taken without a trace. Without a trace, that is, except for the one hundred and thirty two pound pumpkin itself.

So, if someone you know has unexpectedly turned up with a 132-pound pumpkin, it's ours.

Harvard's thinking isn't really consistent

It has recently come to public attention that Harvard University accepts and uses $2 million scholarship amounts from the bin Laden family. At the same time the university refuses money to institute an ROTC program. As yet I haven't become privy to the reason for the dichotomy.

It goes without saying that the university gets many in its student body to chant the liberal tune, finger-pointing the United States as responsible for the Sept. 11 attack by the perverted and irreligious Islamics. Not all the Marxian "thinkers" teach at Harvard, but the school has more than its share.

Novi needs new library; vote 'yes' on Nov. 6

I'm writing to support a yes vote for the new Novi Public Library facility. My family has actively used the library for 26 years. In fact, one year we were chosen Library Family of the Year.

I personally am a strong supporter of the library system. Services provided by libraries are many and are intergenerational. In Novi, we're fortunate to have a very professional, highly qualified staff. Unfortunately, our library building is small and stops the staff from working as creatively and efficiently as they could in a more spacious facility.

I visit libraries all over southeast Michigan with my "Farm Lady" programs. I know what's available in other communities. Many of the communities are affluent and growing like Novi. Many of the communities have met the challenges of growth by expanding their facilities and services. Novi must do the same. All Novi citizens will benefit.

Please vote yes and give Novi the library it deserves.

Library issue has a lot of 'forever' involved

The upcoming November 6th Election has a Library Ballot Issue for an additional library millage of 1.20 mills or $120.00 in more taxes per year for a $100,000 assessment.

Now this request for additional millage (or taxes) is in addition to the current 1.00 mill that the Library already can collect each year.

Also, this requested new or additional taxes is "in perpetuity". Or in layman's terms, to be collected forever.

The Ballot Issue states it will be used for the construction, furnishing, equipping, and operating expenses of a new library. Forever!

Plus it will also be used for site, utility, and parking improvements. Forever! If passed by the voters and taxpayers, the first year (2002) would give the library almost three million dollars ($2,729,601) and then more each year as property values increase and new construction is built. And this is in addition to the one million dollars or more the library now collects each year.

Why are Novi voters and taxpayers being asked to pay for a new library building forever?

Why are Novi voters and taxpayers being asked to pay for new furnishings (desks, bookshelves, tables, etc., forever?

Why are Novi voters and taxpayers being asked to pay for new equipment forever?

Why are Novi voters and taxpayers being asked to pay for site, utility, and parking improvements forever?

This ballot issue smells like a bad financial deal for all current and future Novi voters and taxpayers.

Sept. 11 will be with us a while

Two experiences over the weekend convinced me the impact of the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks will be profound, not immediately apparent and certainly not confined to New York or Washington, D.C.

Over the weekend, I flew to New York and back to Detroit to visit a dear friend suffering from brain cancer. The most noticeable change, compared to previous trips, was the enormously increased number of security people at Detroit Metropolitan and LaGuardia airports. In New York, there seemed to be security guards everywhere I went.

Phil Power

During the flight, I fell into conversation with a woman from Birmingham who works on the 35th floor of the Renaissance Center. "I'm a little worried," she said at one point. "The RenCen is just too big and makes too big a target. I'm seriously thinking of getting a different job in a smaller building."

Both episodes got me to thinking about what's going on just under the surface of all the daily news reports of bombing and Afghanistan and anthrax.

A ton of security guards are being hired just now all over the country. In airports. In and around Washington. In lobbies of tall buildings. At drug companies and mailrooms and federal, state and local government installations of all kinds. I have no idea how many people are being hired and/or assigned to security duties around the country, but it must number in the many, many thousands.

Of course, hiring lots of security personnel makes great sense just now. The threat of terrorism is real and people are anxious and jumpy.

But what's really taking place under the surface is a shift in the allocation of resources in the economy from increasing productivity to increasing overall security. Instead of hiring well-trained technicians to improve complex manufacturing processes, companies and the government are hiring security guards and buying sophisticated X-ray machines and metal detectors to be used at airports.

So on the margin, the proportions of labor hours and capital expenditure devoted to security is increasing. Hence the growth in overall productivity — the output per hour of all persons in the labor force — is almost certain to decline. This is serious, because it has been the remarkable increase in productivity — averaging more than 2 percent for the past decade — that has been behind the non-inflationary good times we have experienced over the past 10 years.

Similarly, both businesses and individuals are beginning to reassess the tendency toward concentrating economic activity in enormous cities and gigantic buildings. I have long suspected that the Internet, the cell phone, the laptop computer and the palm pilot together have been contributing to a decentralizing tendency in our society. More and more people seem to have been choosing to live and work in smaller communities or at home, and fewer and fewer people have seen either the desirability of necessity of working in big buildings in big cities.

The destruction of the World Trade Center almost surely will accelerate this trend. I doubt very much if we'll ever see again 100-story plus buildings being built. And, like my seatmate who is thinking about working closer to home, I wouldn't be surprised to see people hesitating to go to work in the Sears Tower or the Empire State Building.

Admittedly, I don't now have hard data to go with these twin notions. But I do know economists already are wondering about how much growth in productivity will decelerate and I know folks in commercial real estate who are remarking on deteriorating demand for Class 1 office space in tall buildings in the middle of big cities.

I have a strong impression that both changes are taking place in our society, only temporarily obscured by the froth of daily news events. And I think the consequences will be with us for a long, long time.

I have a strong impression that the impact of Sept. 11 will have consequences that will be with us for a long, long time.

New Metro will provide real solutions

"All the senators are aware that we are building this terminal. And that is what is so frustrating about it, this is happening at a time when we stand on the verge of resolving all the customer service issues that have been out there for years," said Len Singer, spokesman for Metropolitan Airport.

Singer was referring to the state's continuing review of airport contracts and operations before a series of legislative committees.

Mike Malott

After having the auditor general's office conduct a series of "reviews," a senate committee is now considering a bill to create an oversight board for the airport. Senate Bill 690, introduced by Sen. Glenn Steil, R-Grand Rapids, would require that board approve all contracts before they are let.

"No one is saying we don't have problems," Singer continued. "We have stretched these facilities about as much as we can. We have 35 million passengers per year going through a complex that was built to handle a fraction of that number."

In the last two years, the state has indeed uncovered a number of accounting and inventory problems at the airport, problems that need to be fixed.

But the idea of oversight board does not inspire much confidence, because the state arrived very late to the problem and its reviews of the airport frankly are off-target.

Ask senators, and critics of Metro Airport, what the concern is and they'll tell you the place runs terrible. Parking is a problem. The terminal is old and needs maintenance. It is tough to get baggage checked and long walks await passengers before they can board a plane. There are long waits and long lines.

Senators however are looking at contracts for things like signage, lighting, maintenance and concessions. Even if the airport adopted all the recommendations made by the reviewers, changes would not be apparent anytime soon, if ever.

By contrast, airport officials have been working on the problems since 1986. Back then, they agreed in concept to the need for a new terminal. Today, construction of that terminal, now known as the Edward McNamara Terminal, is nearing completion.

One only need walk through the facility to see that it will address the vast majority of concerns customers have about the airport.

The mile-long building has 1.5 miles of moving walkways inside, as well as 200-passenger tram, to move travelers around the building quickly. Close by will be the world's largest parking deck — 11,000 spaces.

Airport designers were bright enough to include moving walkways inside the parking deck. Travelers can get to the terminal from the deck covered from the weather all the way. If the FAA's new security practices allow it, travelers will be able to check their bags in the deck rather than the terminal, according to airport spokesman Brian Lassaline.

Passenger cars dropping off travelers at the terminal will be separated from cabs and other ground transportation.

The terminal is designed to move planes quickly, too.

"We won't have situations where a plane gets to Detroit early but has to sit in the penalty box because we don't have a gate available," Chuck McCloskey, director of construction, said. "We won't have a situation where a plane is loaded but can't push back because it has to wait for another plane to clear."

McCloskey explained that Wayne officials toured a number of other airports to see what features they would want to include and to determine what ideas weren't likely to work well here. While the new terminal is not a copy of any existing airport, ideas were taken from airports across the nation.

Such facilities don't spring up overnight. It was back in 1996 that the deal was inked to build the new terminal. It took 10 years just to complete construction of the airport's sixth runway.

So it is not impressive that the state didn't recognize the problems at the airport until just over two years ago.

By that time, the folks at Metro were well on their way to providing some real solutions, which we will all get to see when the terminal opens in January.

Mike Malott reports on the local implications of state and regional events. He can be reached by phone at (810) 227-0171 or by e-mail at mmalott@homecomm.net.

A Jug and Martha: they made my day

It's no secret the last six weeks or so haven't exactly been the sweetest for a lot of us. Between white powder in our mail and war being waged half a world away, it's been a tough stretch, and I don't know about you, but I've been savoring the little nuggets of solace I find in the everyday.

Case in point: the Northville Chamber of Commerce's recognition of school board member Martha Nield as its 2001 "Citizen of the Year," and the reinstatement of the Baseline Jug in the annual Northville-Novi football matchup.

I'll start with Martha, since I believe education comes before sports, anyway.

I'll be the first to admit I don't know Martha nearly as well as a lot of people. My discussions with her have been few and far between, but those that have taken place have been extremely useful. Martha is one smart woman. But beyond her brains comes her actions. And it may pain me to say this — being a word guy and all — but actions speak much, much louder than words ever could.

Martha's involvement on the school board is just the beginning of a long list of accomplishments to her credit during her time in Northville. She's faithfully served in every office seat on the board. There are a lot of people I know who wouldn't even consider running for the office, let alone hit for the cycle where officers' positions are concerned.

Away from the educational realm, she's done an incredible amount of behind-the-scenes work in the district. Some of it I've been made aware of. Other parts I haven't. I'm sure that whatever she's done, though, she's done with a smile and her usual humble approach — the same humble approach with which she accepted the Citizen of the Year award last week.

...and now for The Jug. Since 1988, the Baseline Jug has been awarded to the winner of the annual Northville-Novi football game.

That is, except for the last three years, when bureaucracy and political correctness kept the Jug from actually being awarded. Instead of getting the Jug, players were given, well...nothing.

That changed on Friday, when the Jug was brought in under cover. I waited patiently on the outer ring of Novi High School's track, watching the points grow (sorry, Mustangs) and the time tick away. When the clock read triple-zero, I hastily unwrapped the Jug from its canvas confines and proceeded out onto the muddy field, heading in the direction of Novi head coach Tab Kellepouray.

His face lit up when I called out his name and handed the gold and silver quasi-trophy to him, but not as much as did the faces of the players, who yelled in joy and passed around the Jug, much as I had wanted it to happen years before.

(For what it's worth, I felt bad for Northville. When you work in a community for four years, it starts to grow on you.)

Just as I expected, there were no ill feelings, no bad sportsmanship, no taunting, jeering or in-your-face-type gestures being made. It was a moment filled with pride and happiness, which is exactly what I had wanted to see.

Between Martha Nield and the Baseline Jug, I'd say last week was pretty good for me.

Don't ask me about this week...I just found out my head gasket may be shot.

Breast Cancer Facts

■ Mammography is the best way of detecting breast cancer in the earliest stages. ■ Women who have a personal or family history of breast cancer have an increased risk.
■ A majority of women have one or more risk factors for breast cancer. ■ Although women may not be able to alter their personal risk factors, maintaining ideal body weight and reducing alcohol consumption may offer some risk in breast cancer risk. ■ Early detection is the best opportunity to reduce mortality.
■ Today, the relative survival for early breast cancer is 97%. As breast cancer invades other areas of the body, chances for survival decrease to 76% for regional spread and 21% for spread to other parts of the body.

Weddings

30-year veteran retires from township post

Moore-Booth

Erin Elizabeth Moore and Brian Richard Booth were wed July 28 at Fox Hills Country Club in Plymouth. The Rev. Robin Gilshire officiated the ceremony; the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride is the daughter of Gordon R. and Marcia Moore of Northville. She is a current graduate of Western Michigan University, with a bachelor's degree in communications.

Attending as maid of honor was Lindsay Moore; Sydni Booth served as bridesmaid.

The strapless bridal gown was of ivory satin, with a bustled A-line skirt and sweep train. The headpiece was of silver and pearl, with an elbow-length illusion veil.

A bridal bouquet was made of Freesia.

The groom is the son of Richard and Ann Booth of Troy. He is a 1998 graduate of the University of Michigan, with a bachelor of fine arts degree.

Daniel Keleher and Sean Defour served as best men.

The couple visited Florida and The Keys for their honeymoon.

Northville Township Manager Chip Snider said Captain Philip Presnell is the perfect model of a public servant.

"He is a passionate patriot, devoted husband and father and he is a strong advocate for professionalism in law enforcement," Snider said. "Northville Township will miss having his 30 years of institutional knowledge. He personifies excellence."

Presnell retired from the Northville Township Police Department on Oct. 5 after serving more than three decades with the department. He was the second patrolman ever hired at the township department. Presnell was honored at the township's board of trustees meeting on Oct. 18 with presentations given by township Chief of Police John Werth, State Senator Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, as well as by Snider.

"It was very nice," Presnell said of the honorary tribute and retirement ceremony. "I'm going to miss the people I worked with as well as being in direct contact and serving the residents of Northville. There are many officers at the township department that I helped recruit and hire, so I feel a deep loyalty toward the department."

Presnell is a 1966 graduate of Northville High School. He began his law enforcement career in the United States Army's Military Police Corps and served in Vietnam from 1970-71. Soon after his military career ended he was hired on at the township department.

He remembered when the township department was a one-room police station at the present location of the Michigan Gift Mart building on Main Street in Northville. He said during his time he saw the department and township grow and advance very much.

Presnell initially served in the department's Reserve program before being promoted to police officer in 1972. Later he was elevated to sergeant in 1979 and finally to captain in 1982.

He served in patrol, the detective bureau as well as with the Western Wayne County Narcotics team. Snider said it was a valuable asset for the township having Presnell serve on the Narcotics team. Presnell also served as acting police chief from 1989 to September of 1990.

Snider said Presnell demanded excellence and attention to detail from himself as well as those around him, making him one of the department's finest. Presnell was awarded "Officer of the Year" in 1981 and again in 1999. He is now moving onto the state level of law enforcement in the attorney general's office as a special agent in the criminal division, with his primary focus being on money laundering.

"I've accomplished every goal I set out to do at the township department. It's time to move on to another chapter of my life," Presnell said. "The department and township have a bright future and their in good hands. I plan on keeping in close contact with the department."

Rotary Interact offers help to NYC children stuffed animals. We're trying to get it across to the whole student body to donate more stuffed animals to the drive."

According to senior Krista Olson, the drive started when a foreign exchange student, Celia Burbano approached her and mentioned the idea.

In addition to the stuffed animal drive, Olson said the Rotary Interact Club also organizes other projects as well.

"Every year Rotary Interact has an international project where we collect items school wide," said Olson. "This year we are collecting school supplies, putting them in backpacks and sending them to children in the Philippines. There are boxes in every classroom and it is a contest between seminars."

Jenna Slack, a senior and publicity chair for the Rotary Interact Club, said approximately 45 animals have been turned in so far.

"We're a group that tries to help our community and this is such a big event, we thought we'd try to help our nation," she said. "This is a really good way to show that we care."

Slack said new or gently used stuffed animals may be turned into the main office at the high school.

The high school's Rotary Interact Club is encouraging the community to donate teddy bears and other stuffed animals to benefit children affected by the recent disaster.

"The more stuffed animals collected, the better. It would make the kids really happy," Lin said.

BATHTUB LINERS

FIGHTS YOUR BATHROOM BLUES!

DISCOVER THE AWFUL TRUTH ABOUT REGLAZING... IT'S ONLY A TEMPORARY FIX!

When was the last time you did a fantastic job cleaning your bathroom, only to realize the tub still looked less than stellar? If the finish on your bathtub is chipped, peeling, faded or permanently stained, no amount of cleanser and scrubbing will do the job. The bathtub needs to be fixed.

Reglazing is an option, but only a temporary one. There's no guarantee the finish won't go bad again. Also, the reglazing process is difficult and involves many dangerous chemicals.

The bathtub could be replaced, but there is even more mess involved, not to mention the cost!

Baseline Jug taken away by Wildcats

By Sam Eggleston
SPORTS REPORTER

Football

The Northville Mustangs went into their game against Novi as the holders of the coveted Baseline Jug, but left without the gold and silver milk canister.

The Mustangs could not get the tempo they needed to score necessary touchdowns as they fell to Novi 42-12 Friday night.

"They out-hit us," Northville coach Darrel Schumacher said. "They are a very good team that did what they were supposed to tonight. I am sure coach (Tab) Kellepourey had them geared up for this game."

The Mustangs kept things tight in the first half, trailing only 7-0 at the end of the second quarter, but could not hold on as Novi seniors Matt Gorman and Jake Ray jaunted their way to a combined four touchdowns. Gorman's three came in the second half.

The Wildcat's drew first blood in the battle for the Jug as Ray broke through the middle of the Mustang defense and scampered 25 yards for the score with four minutes, 20 seconds remaining in the first quarter.

"Northville is a well-coached football team," Novi coach Tab Kellepourey said. "We knew we would have to play them to the best of our abilities if we wanted to win. The guys had a lot of support from the sidelines and came out to win in the second half."

The Mustangs had their chances in the first half of the contest but could not capitalize on a Novi fumble which Northville recovered with 5:49 left in the first quarter. Three plays later, senior quarterback Drew Herpich stepped back in the pocket before scrambling to his left and tossing the ball toward the sideline. Novi defensive back Chase Chandler tipped the ball into the air before making a stumbling catch for the interception.

With 7:15 remaining in the half, a pitch from Gorman bounced off of senior running back Adam Haberman before falling to the muddy field where the Mustangs recovered it — a turnover that resulted in a three-and-out for the Mustangs.

The Mustangs were not about to be shut out of the game, though, especially with the determination to win brought out the

Northville still alive on gridiron

By Sam Eggleston
SPORTS REPORTER

Well, well, well — look who made the playoffs.

It was just Friday night after the Baseline Jug loss to Novi I mentioned to Coach Darrel Schumacher that if heart had anything to do with football, the Mustangs would get in the playoffs...and here they are.

And there they go — to Portage Northern, the home of the 7-2 Huskies.

If the name sounds a little familiar, it's because this is the same team Novi beat in the first round of last year's playoffs to get a second chance at the Mustangs, and in my opinion, this is going to be the team Northville defeats to get to the second round. Let me tell you why. First of all, we have one of the best quarterbacks in the Western Lakes Activities Association at our helm in senior Drew Herpich. Just ask the North Farmington Raiders how that right arm of his has gotten the Mustangs out of trouble in the past.

So what? you might say. A lot of teams have good quarterbacks. Yeah, that's true — not all teams have Portage Northern's secondary.

The Huskies, who will be showing off their dazzling brown and white colors Saturday with a 7:30 p.m. kick off time, have allowed four teams to climb over 30 points in scoring against them, and my sources tell me a lot of that had to do with the secondary. If my sources are correct, I am going to say this is a secondary that Herpich is going to pick to pieces.

Now, being a big football fan and a former player myself, I am fairly superstitious and feel old habits are hard to break. Portage Northern has made the playoffs only three times in the school's history — this year, 2000 and 1981. That's not a typo there, it was really 1981 when they made the playoffs. The current crop of Huskies weren't even thought of, much less alive, in that year.

Not only that, the Huskies have never won a playoff game. That is where the Mustangs will succeed. They have had the taste of playoff victory. They know what it feels like to be on the edge of extinction.

Northville tankers break records Hogan, 400 relay snap old swim marks

By Sam Eggleston
SPORTS REPORTER

It's not everyday that you get to break a school record — when you do you cherish it.

The Northville girls' swim team 400-meter relay team of Jenny Carr, Shannon Hogan, Erin Schubert and Kathryn Kusuplos finally broke the Northville High School record that has been standing since 1982 — something they have been close to doing all year but finally did in the Michigan Interscholastic Swim Coaches Association Saturday.

"The old school record has been around for some time," Northville coach Tom Silak said. "The old record was three minutes, 44.3 seconds and we swam a time of 3:42.23."

The relay team, which had already qualified for the state meet, slapped the icing on the cake with the record — but they were not the only ones.

"We also broke the record in the 100 freestyle," Silak said. "It was set by one of the same people in the same year as the old relay record. The old record was 53.3 (seconds) and Shannon Hogan went 52.28."

Hogan and the 400-meter relay team qualified to be considered for the All-American team — which is an

Cagers top Wildcats

By Jason Schmitt
SPECIAL WRITER

There's no substitute for speed and quickness. Especially on the basketball court.

Northville used both to offset Novi's strength down low last Saturday night, topping the Wildcats for the second time this season 39-32, on the road. The Mustangs used their speed to jump out to an early lead. Their quickness helped fend off numerous Novi attacks.

"We had a size disadvantage coming in, but we knew we were quicker than them," Northville coach Pete Wright said. "We knew we were going to have to rely on help defense to match their size inside, covering [Kate] Rose and [Megan] Colligan."

He credited the inside duo of Emily Ott and Lauren Temple for making that happen.

"We also wanted to make the entry pass difficult for them," he said.

Maggie Ossola and guards Nicole Cauzillo and Kelly Anderson took the credit for that. Offensively, Northville used their quickness to set up numerous easy layups. Ott led the team with 17 points.

"They're a little bit quicker than we are," Novi coach Dennis Cichonski said. "When we went to a zone, their guards moved the ball quickly and they're an excellent perimeter shooting team. If you go to a man-to-man defense, they can beat you off the dribble."

The Mustangs led 15-10 after one quarter and upped their lead to 10 with less than a minute to play in the first half. Novi went on a five-point run to finish the half and gain back some momentum.

"I felt very good after that run, being down by just five at the half," Cichonski said. "It gave us more energy and the momentum which I felt was going to be very important coming out of the half."

Wright felt pressure from the run, and thought that it was the major reason the game stayed close throughout.

"I thought it was a big swing. We had just gone up 24-14 and all of a sudden they hit a pair of free throws, steal the ball and come down and hit a three-pointer," the Northville coach said. "We could have blown it open at that point, but instead they came back with a few plays and kept it close."

Novi cut the lead to three, at 28-25 at the end of three quarters. But that's as close as the Wildcats could get. A 6-0 Mustang run midway through the final quarter put the game away.

"I thought the game could have gone either way," Cichonski said following the loss. "There were a few calls that hurt us. They were the right calls, but they came at the wrong times. We hurt ourselves too much. When we got the ball inside, we turned it over."

Northville beat Novi 55-42 in the two teams' first meeting this season.

Temple finished the game with a team-high eight rebounds. Cauzillo and Ossola pitched in nine and seven points in the winning effort. Northville improved to 10-5 overall with the win.

NORTHVILLE 50, FRANKLIN 36

The visiting Mustangs outscored the Patriots 29-12 in the second half, including 16-4 in the third quarter alone.

Ott led a trio of Mustangs in double figures, scoring a game-high 20 points. The senior was 8-of-14 from the field. She also pulled down a team-high eight rebounds. Franklin led 24-21 at halftime.

Cauzillo was a near-perfect 9-of-10 from the free throw line and finished up with 15 points. Anderson chipped in with 10 points and four steals.

Ashley McCall led Franklin with 16 points before fouling out of the game

W.L. CENTRAL 39, NORTHVILLE 28

The stats were the telling tale in this conference loss to the Vikings.

Northville shot a dismal 22 percent from inside the arc (6-of-27). It wasn't much better from three-point range (28 percent) or from the line (33 percent).

Ossola led the team with nine points and also pulled down six rebounds. Temple grabbed a team-best 10 boards.

Northville harriers run strong WLAA Boys race to second place Girls finish in third place

By Sam Eggleston
SPORTS REPORTER

The Northville Mustangs girls' cross country team competed in the Western Lakes Activities Association Title meet Friday and came home with a third-place finish.

The Mustangs missed second-place by three points, instead taking third behind WLAA powerhouse Livonia Stevenson.

Leading the way in the second-place finish was the tandem of Heather Moehle and Devon Rupley.

"Heather and Devon both ran amazing races today," Northville girls coach Nancy Smith said. "Heather finished in second place with a time of 19 minutes, 38 seconds, which was one minute faster than last year's time."

Two seconds later, first-year runner Rupley crossed the line in 19:40.

"Heather and Devon worked with each other throughout the entire race, which led to a truly great end result," Smith said.

The Northville Mustangs came as close as you can come to a repeat performance without repeating as they raced in the Western Lakes Activities Association Conference Championship meet Friday.

After winning their first WLAA Title in 2000, the 'Stangs raced to a strong second-place finish at the conference shootout behind the coaching leadership of Chris Cronin.

Northville was led by Sophomore Joe Lunn who turned in a career performance. Lunn was eighth overall in a time of 17:08, and earned all-division first-team honors.

Cronin said he knew Lunn was capable of having this type of race.

"Joe never worries me because he is so strong mentally," Cronin said. "He has fought back from an early season injury, and looks to be headed for the state finals if he can continue to run the way he has been."

Other top efforts were turned in by senior captain Nick Moroz (17:13) and junior Clark Paciorek (17:22) who finished 10th and 13th respectively.

'Stangs going to playoffs

Heck, the last four games have been playoffs for them with the exception of the loss to Novi, and then still sliding into the post-season.

There are a few things the Mustangs will have to look out for. The Huskies like to run out of a Northwestern-style offense with their quarterback, senior Mike Slater, throwing an average of 25 to 30 times in one game. Slater holds the Huskies football records of attempts, completions, yards and passing touchdowns in a game, having thrown for approximately 1,500 yards this season.

Slater's favorite targets are Mike Burlison, Duane Bennett and Steve Reenders, and when the passing gets tough the Huskies have a 6-foot-4, 230 pound runningback/linebacker in Paul Sarantos to handle the ball. His last name may sound familiar to Michigan Wolverine fans. His brother, Joey, is red-shirted there.

The Huskies, headed by eighth-year coach Pete Schermerhorn, will rely on the defensive capabilities of Sarantos, as well as two huge defensive linemen: Quentin McKinley, who stands 6-3 and weighs 220 pounds, will be at defensive end while John Bavrosky, who is 6-1 and weighs 250, will be at defensive tackle.

As long as the Mustangs' defensive line holds Slater (who likes to stay in the pocket but is willing to roll out if he gets in a pinch) to a fair amount of yards and the Northville secondary keeps the passes from reaching their targets, the Mustangs are going to be OK.

I can see it now. The Mustangs pulling out an impressive little win, showing everyone they do indeed belong in the playoffs despite a 5-4 record.

The Mustangs will utilize their ground game with Matt Cornelius and Tim Downing leading the way, and hey — have you ever heard of a Husky outrunning a Mustang?

My pick isn't a close one — Mustangs 26, Puppies 10.

Northville Colts playing tough

It was the toughest test of the year for the Northville Novi Colts. As they travel to Lapeer to take on the Steelers, both freshman and varsity units were competing for the top spot in the divisional playoffs. And congratulations to both teams as they take the next step in the playoffs. The junior varsity squad lost a heartbreaker 13-6 on their final outing of the season.

The junior varsity team was led by the hard charging Joe Kinville, who was a threat rushing and catching passes out of the backfield all day long. The Steelers did everything they could to try to slow him down. Kinville was escorted into the running lanes by the blocking of fullback Keenan Hart. Leading the attack was quarterback Patrick Schlenke who guided the team to its only touchdown of the day, when Kinville hit paydirt.

The offensive line also pitched in to move the ground game along with Charles Mallo, Steve Kowalchuk, David Burke, Ethan Tierney, Brian Bagian and Geoff Gomersall. Head coach Dan Thomas says, "These are a great group of kids, and I thoroughly enjoy coaching them and watching them get better every week."

On the defensive side of the ball, Bobby Thomas and Greg Hasse kept the Steelers off balance all day with pressure and tough tackling. Dan Enright also kept the pressure on from his defensive end position causing the Steelers to rethink their outside rushing attempts.

Also adding into the Colts gang tackling defense, Joseph Pritchard, Alex Thurman, Robert Low, Colin Maresch, Jake Elker, and Tommy Storch. For the junior varsity squad the season is complete, and coach Thomas was also offering praise for the dedicated fathers who doubled as coaches. "Without these men we couldn't have come this far" said Thomas, speaking of Darryl Hart, Mark Quinn, Mike Schlenke, Dan Enright, and Pat Murphy.

For the freshman squad, their standard of excellence was kicked up a notch and once again, they are lead by Doug "the Flash" Beason and Ethan Eckhout, the pair scored two touchdowns each. And both rushed for more than 100 yards with Beason piling up 140 yards and Eckhout gaining 132 on the ground. The dynamic duo was lead up front by the blocking of Nicco Buffone, Ryan Margrave, and Daniel Price. Not to be outdone, Niko Palazeti added 70 yards of his own.

"I like our chances in the playoffs" said head coach Joe Eckhout as the freshman unit gets ready to claim top seed in the national division. But don't forget the defensive side of the ball, the frosh are tough there too. Michael Kinville, the middle linebacker, was all over the field chasing down Steelers left and right. Not to miss out on all the fun Brandon Rydzewski was a two-way threat with a couple of good runs on offense and then playing relentless defense getting in on nearly 20 tackles.

The defensive stalwarts were backed up by Elliot Foyt, Wes Baber, Nick Denhof, and Nick Littleton. And that effort produced a shut out and the Colts rolled 26-0 over the Lapeer Steelers.

Now the varsity unit was facing its toughest test of the year and head coach Carl Chandler challenged his team to answer the call and they did. "Our kids really wanted to make something special happen this season and they've worked hard" said coach Chandler. It was a physical and an emotional game. Both teams were evenly matched at 5-1 coming into the game and the winner would get top spot in the divisional playoff race.

"This team is really defined by its hustle and intensity on the defensive side of the ball" said defensive coordinator Mike Zoroya. "I've never seen a group of kids more proud of themselves" he added. The defensive unit lead by the versatile linebacker, and defensive lineman John Kinville, speedy David Carnegie and Dan Thomas haven't surrendered a touchdown in the last 14 quarters of football, that's 3 1/2 games. Also helping shutdown opponents are linebackers Alex Bartlett, Zack Elker, Kenny Hayes and Nick Zoroya. But the key to the defensive success is the pressure put on by defensive and Nick Wright and nose guard Ryan Murphy. "This pair hasn't been blocked all season" said one fan. Dean Caleb, Dave Stewart, Henry George, Derek Smith, and Jaymz Maurer are also doing their part to keep opponents out of the end zone.

The defensive backfield has been solid all season as well, with Brandon Carnegie and the tough tackling Chris McGuire, Adam Chandler and the guy who gets everybody in the right position, Dan Thomas, at free safety. The unit has only given up one touchdown pass all season.

On the offensive side of the ball, David Carnegie was outstanding again. Three touchdowns from 2, 25 and 67 yards out and more than a hundred yards rushing again. "That was an incredible run" coach Chandler said, after Carnegie rushed up the middle, got hit, broke a tackle, and then bounced to the sideline to outrun the defenders to the end zone from nearly 70 yards away.

But the leader of the offense is the calm and cool Corey Patterson at quarterback. His passing has been on target all season, and receivers Wiley Moss, Chris McGuire and Craig Lawler have reaped the benefits. The big green wall up front is lead by offensive lineman Jonathan Pace, Jake Whitecar, Matt Hartman, and Nick Zoroya.

The final score was 20-0 as the big "Green Machine" continues to roll. For the varsity, it's win or go home as they enter the single elimination playoffs next week at Waterford Kettering High School, where they will take on either Brandon or Walled Lake.

Soccer finishes schedule

Soccer

The Northville Mustangs boys' soccer team ended its regular season when the team took on the Plymouth Salem Rocks Oct. 15.

The Mustangs could not hold on in the Western Lakes Activities Association cross-over game and fell to the Salem squad 4-0.

"We weren't happy with our play," Northville coach Henry Klimes said. "We didn't play very well at all. It was only a cross-over game, nothing for us to get too upset about and the boys knew that."

Klimes gave credit to the Salem squad.

"Salem played well that afternoon," Klimes said. "If I had my way we would just get rid of the cross-over game. If you are not playing for the (WLAA) title, then there is no reason to play one."

The Mustangs will have resumed action Monday (after the Northville Record went to print) when they took on the Novi Wildcats in a must-win situation in the state playoffs.

'Stangs get third Youth soccer still going full speed

Both Moehle and Rupley earned places on the WLAA All-Conference team.

Molly Gavin finished in 14th place with 20:50 and Katy Miller in 20th place with 21:03. Both Gavin and Miller were members of the All-Division team composed of runners eighth through 21st.

Rounding out the Northville runners was Kate McClymont in 33rd (21:37).

"We knew going into today that it was going to be tough," Smith said. "Both Stevenson and Churchill are in the top-15 teams in the state and to be so close to Stevenson just makes the girls realize how much talent we have as a team and how strong we will be in the years to come."

Smith noted how much the team has improved since last season.

"Over the last year, the team has really proven how good they have become," she said. "Last year we finished seventh place and this year third. All the hard work and determination is starting to pay off. I am really proud of the team and each runner today. They all raced with a lot of determination."

Smith said she was confident in what her team could do in the regional meet Saturday.

"We have a few things to work on before regionals on Saturday, but I am confident that we will be one of the top three teams in the Holly Regional and be able to represent Northville at the state meet in November."

Boys run strong WLAA

"We know we have to have pack (top five) integrity if we expect to make it as a team to the State meet," Cronin noted. "Nick and Clark have brought us that consistency all year."

Tim Dalton finished 24th for the Mustangs (17:41) with Phil Santer (17:43) rounded out the Mustang scoring.

"In big meets like this, 10 seconds is the difference between sixth and seventh places," Cronin said. "Those points are critical during this aspect of the season."

"I fully expect Tim and Phil to run within 15 seconds of our lead runner at Regionals."

Finishing sixth and seventh for the Mustangs were Mike Gabrys (31st, 17:49) and Kellen Smetana (47th, 18:33).

The Mustangs will resume action

Saturday when they run in the regional meet at 7 p.m. at Holly.

JV WLAA results

In the JV race, Rob Steiner led the charge finishing third in a time of 18:30.

Solid efforts were turned in by Nick Folas (ninth, 19:03), Felipe Gonzales-Paul (11th, 19:05), Andrew Moore (14th, 19:19), and Brett Emaus (16th, 19:25).

"Our JV team had a goal of winning this meet and we did," Cronin said. "I'm proud of their tenacity."

The JV will resume action when they take to the task of running the JV Regional meet at Cass Benton tomorrow.

No Jug, but Northville makes state playoffs field by Herpich. The senior quarterback tossed an 11-yard scoring strike to senior Bill Adkins with 3:24 remaining in the third quarter before scampering into the endzone on to score the touchdown himself in the fourth quarter to cap the Mustang scoring. Both point-after attempts were unsuccessful.

"Drew hung in there," Schumacher said. "He really showed his leadership capabilities by not giving up even when we were down."

Herpich led the Mustang offensive attack with 164 yards on 9-of-17 passing. The 164 yards put Herpich in the Mustangs record book yet again, placing him between Doug Marzonie (163 yards vs. Waterford Mott, 1977) and Dave Greer (167 yards vs. Plymouth Canton, 1979) and Marzonie (167 yards vs. Monroe 1977) on the 150-yard passers list.

The Mustangs could not stop the Kensington Valley Conference all-conference quarterback Gorman as he skipped his way to three touchdowns on the ground in the second half — from six yards, 10 yards and 57 yards out. "I didn't know how it was going to end," said Gorman of the game which had a 7-0 Wildcat advantage at halftime.

A week prior to the Baseline Jug game, Gorman had guaranteed the Wildcats would be bringing the Jug back to Novi.

"This is exactly how I would have wanted it to end. We ran all around, through and over Northville. We dominated the entire second half."

The Mustangs collected two fumble recoveries in the game and sophomore defensive back Tim Downing caught a tipped pass for an interception off of Gorman with 5:29 remaining in the second quarter for another Wildcat turnover.

While a victory over Novi would have guaranteed a playoff berth, the Mustangs five wins were enough to garner the team a slot in Division II of the Michigan State High School Athletic Association Playoffs — getting paired up with the Portage Northern Huskies in the first round. The game, which will be at Portage Northern, has been scheduled for Saturday at 7:30 p.m. (see related story, page B1)

"We know [Portage Northern runs] out of a Northwestern offense," Schumacher said of the Portage Northern squad.

"We just have to figure out how to stop them."

The Mustangs were not the only team happy to hear they made the playoffs.

"We understand Northville made the playoffs," Kellepourey said of the Mustangs being selected for Division II.

"We know they will do well and wish them and their coaches the best over there against Portage Northern."

Room with a View

South Lyon couple enjoy their year-round room

By Annette Jaworski
SPECIAL WRITER

Kim Freiwald isn't ready to close her pool. In fact, she'll be swimming long after most pools have been covered and put into hibernation. She and her husband, Tom, don't even consider the weather, because their pool is located inside an elegant English conservatory.

"It's decadent, because it can be the middle of a snowstorm and we're enjoying the pool," said Kim Freiwald.

Conveniently located off the kitchen and dining area, the room is complete with a fireplace and wet bar, a perfect setting for entertaining, which suits the couple's lifestyle.

Having recently spent several years in Italy, the room reflects a European flair, as does the rest of the house. Fine handmade marble and granite pieces line the walls. The wallpaper and border contain a wisteria pattern with copper accents.

"A true conservatory is something used for plants, music or fine arts," she added. You'll find both here. Greenery flourishes inside the glass enclosure, like hot peppers and lavender orchids. There's also unique pieces of art including a nearly life size sculpture of a woman entitled "Memories" by Bill Mack.

One of the most remarkable features of the conservatory is the outstanding view of the outdoors. Kim and her husband, Tom spent four years installing extensive landscaping and now it's time to sit back and enjoy. To one side is an incredible pond and fountain that attracts wildlife, like deer, fox and blue heron. While another view is a massive rock wall of desert ledge that flows off the back deck. A waterfall further enhances the landscaping.

"My favorite time of the day is the morning with the sun coming up and the birds chirping. It's just a spiritual place. I like to come and do my reading out here," she added.

If the Freiwalds aren't relaxing in the conservatory, they're outdoors enjoying the deck or one of the al fresco dining areas that dot the landscape. Music is piped outdoors as well, and for a change of pace they can enjoy the hot tub off the deck.

When the couple first researched the project, they found that a sunroom really wasn't what they were looking for. Rather, they needed an entirely custom built room to blend with their existing home. This led them to Canterbury Conservatories, who helped them create their little spot of paradise. The transition from the kitchen dining area to the conservatory is a smooth flow through a set of French doors. In fact, there's a convenient window opening with a shelf where food can be served from the kitchen into the conservatory area.

"I wanted it to match the nook and the kitchen so it wouldn't look like an afterthought," she said.

They were so happy with the results, that Kim often showed the work to others who were considering a conservatory. The response was so positive that eventually she became a dealer for the product herself.

"My home is my showroom," she explained.

The floor is finished in terra cotta ceramic tile with radiant heat. They found with the heated tile and fireplace, they really didn't need the additional furnace capacity they installed for the 500 square foot room. The insulating properties of the materials also proved more than adequate. For example, the windows are double looking for security and triple pane glass. The ceiling is a polycarbonate honeycomb texture similar to a green house

It's the same material that's used in the space shuttle for strength and durability. Box gutters up above are heated to melt snow when necessary.

"It's truly a year round room, there's no change in temperature. It's not cold in the winter and it's not hot in the summer," she notes.

The Freiwald's garden was one of the highlights of the Four Seasons Garden Club 2001 Tour in South Lyon. For more information about Canterbury Conservatories or Robinsons Greenhouses, contact Kim Freiwald at Building Lifestyles at (248) 437-4957 in Salem Township, whose many talents also include interior design. She's also a licensed Michigan builder with an extensive background in landscaping.

Some really good ideas for a great room

No such thing as too much of a good thing. Here, wide-open floor space is divided into different activity areas by savvy placement of furniture.

Eradicate rust stains

By Gene Gary
Copley News Service

Q: I have some unsightly rust stains on my concrete driveway. Regular cleaners have not been effective. Do you have any advice on special formulas that would remove rust stains?

A: There are formulas that require chemicals and hard-to-use acids, but I have found that in recent years a number of excellent commercial products have been introduced to the market. These are easier to use and do a better job than solutions you mix yourself. Auto supply outlets carry a variety of products for cleaning concrete driveways.

When confronted with rust stains, I recommend one of the following products developed specifically for rust stain removal: Whisk Rust & Iron Stain Remover; StandOff Rust Stain Remover, which is a poultice that removes deep-seated rust and other troublesome metallic stains from concrete, brick, tile and most natural stone; Rustaid, developed to remove rust stains from concrete and other surfaces.

Q: How can I protect a concrete drive from being damaged by salt used during the winter season?

A: The following treatment is a long-used method of protecting a concrete surface against erosion from salt: Brush or spray (using a pressure garden sprayer) a warm solution of equal parts of boiled linseed oil and turpentine. Because of the fire hazard, do not warm this over an open flame, but put the container with the solution into very hot water for about 20 minutes. Allow the almost colorless coating to dry for about eight hours, then apply a second coat. Outdoor temperature should be above 50 degrees when applying, for best results.

Send e-mail to copleynews@coplenews.com or write to Here's How, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 120190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190. Only questions of general interest can be answered.

Q: Our great room has me puzzled. With all that wide-open space, I don't know how to arrange the furniture. We have an entertainment center, a sleep sofa with two club chairs and a small drop-leaf dining table with side benches. The trouble is, the space just absorbs everything and the room looks unfinished. It's not very comfortable, either.

A: A poorly arranged room is rarely comfortable, either for the body or for the soul. You need to think in terms of "activities" — what are you doing in that room? — then arrange to serve each of those activities with a furniture grouping of its own.

For example, your entertainment center requires the sofa and club chairs within a comfortable viewing distance. You will also need a sofa table for feet (and storage), at least one lamp (on an end table or standing behind the sofa) and probably an area rug for floor-lounging. That completes one self-sufficient grouping.

A second will be comprised of the dining table and chairs. Here, too, you will need a lighting fixture, probably a hanging lamp or chandelier over the table, and maybe another area rug to anchor the arrangement.

In any space remaining, you may want a game table and chairs or a secondary seating group — a couple of easy chairs with their satellite tables/lamps will do the trick. A really large room can take several such groupings, each serving a different purpose, each intimate enough to attract its own inhabitants.

See how the pros handle such wide open spaces in the photo we show here, where the design team from Anne Cooper Interiors has used a round rug to bond the sofa/chairs/table grouping. Not only does the arrangement satisfy the eye of the beholder, it invites one in for conversation and relaxation.

Q: I think you should rethink your advice to the woman whose mother was moving into a retirement home. You suggested that she use area rugs to divide the space in her room. They look great, but area rugs are very dangerous for senior citizens.

A: I stand reprobated. You were not alone in pointing out the potential for tripping over area rugs. So, as much as I like the looks of them, let's go back to wall-to-wall for safety's sake. Good decorating must also make good sense.

Q: I'm turning into a flea-market freak. My girlfriend and I are out at dawn every weekend there's a sale anywhere. My husband is threatening to have bumper stickers printed for us that say "I Brake For Tag Sales." It's great fun, but I'm worried that I'll end up with a houseful of what my husband calls "junk." How will I know when to stop?

A: When you are compelled to grab a big cardboard box and sweep through your house, purging shelves, emptying walls and generally cleaning out your excess. Be warned, however, that some people never get to that stage. And even some design professionals don't think they should.

Phillip Sides is one. An architect, as well as a highly successful interior designer, Sides says he likes to interject a few flea-market finds into his sophisticated room schemes "to take the formal edge off."

He's especially fond, he says, of turning unlikely objects into one-of-a-kind lamps (like the old terra-cotta baluster he once wired for a showhouse room).

It's fun when you can see such potential in the recyclables of life, but I would urge the same measure of restraint that has always governed good taste. Try rotating your flea-market finds, living with a few at a time, then banishing them into a closet while the next group gets its turn.

Meanwhile, don't worry. As you go on collecting, you will find yourself becoming more and more selective about what you buy. You'll begin trading up to better versions of things you already have, and letting go of the others will be easier.

Make it As You Wish

Wander into the magic in Milford

By Tran Longmoore
STAFF WRITER

Downtown Milford can be a magical place. Nestled in the quaint village is a sparkling shop which conjures images of romantic mystical kingdoms and other fairy tales.

Dale and Olena Smith opened As You Wish, now located 435 N. Main Street, in the village three years ago this month.

As You Wish features hundreds of unique gifts and collectibles — from crystal dragon figurines by Enchantica, to the hand crafted sculptures of Italian artist Giuseppe Armani.

The couple, who moved to White Lake from Maryland five years ago, named their store after a line from the movie, "The Princess Bride."

Said Dale, "the line 'As You Wish' came to mean 'I Love You.'"

Olena said many of the products in her store stem from the things which tickled her childhood imagination.

"I grew up loving fairy tales," Olena said. "I like pretty things and the romantic notions of magical kingdoms and mystical places. That's carried through into the store."

Olena said that her store offers something for everyone, in just about every price range.

As You Wish carries one of the largest Giuseppe Armani, who draws heavily on the style of the 16th century Renaissance, collections in southeast Michigan. At As You Wish, one can purchase an Armani figurine for as little as $40, or as much as $2,500.

"People come from all over southeast Michigan to find our Armani's," said Olena. "They're a great focal point when designing your room."

As You Wish also sells the popular Reuge line of music boxes. The limited edition pieces, built in Switzerland, are not only a delight to the ears, but a feast for the eyes.

With the holiday season coming up, As You Wish can assist you in coming up with the unique gift for that special person, Dale said.

"We work with customers. We ask them questions about the person, their interests, and the occasion," Dale said. "More often than not, we'll find the right gift — that gift you can't find just anywhere."

The Smiths first opened As You Wish in Milford three years ago, in a small shop tucked behind many of the Main Street shops. They quickly outgrew their 600 square-foot store.

Last October, they moved down the street to a spacious 1,900 square-foot store right on the main strip.

"It's the best thing we could ever have hoped for. Business has been very good," said Dale.

The Smiths work hard to keep business coming through the doors. Compared to many of the other stores on Main Street in Milford, they're night-owls, staying open until 8 p.m. Monday-Thursday, and until 9 p.m. on Fridays.

"We want to be open for all of the people who come to Milford to enjoy the fine restaurants," said Dale. "Sometimes, the people just keep coming in, and we stay open until past midnight."

Gov. Engler signs Internet sales tax bill into law

By Mike Malott
HOMETOWN NEWS SERVICE
MMALOTT@HOMECOMM.NET

Gov. John Engler Monday signed into law a bill allowing Michigan to join a multi-state coalition for the collection of sales and use taxes on items purchased over the Internet.

That makes the state the 20th to join the coalition. Ultimately, some 33 states are expected to take part.

According to Engler spokesman Matt Resch, the coalition is expected to meet in November to begin laying the groundwork for an automated system for collecting sales taxes.

"The bipartisan support for this measure shows that Michigan is committed to fully funding our public schools," Engler said at the signing. "By coming together, we protect our schools and give Main Street retailers a fair and level playing field."

Engler said a recent study has shown the state misses out on about $500 million in sales tax revenue because it currently lacks a way to collect them on "remote sales," which include both those purchases made over the Internet and catalogue sales.

That figure is much higher than the amount put on the revenue loss by legislative fiscal agencies, which estimated the figure between $100 million and $300 million. But there is agreement the figures will grow as customers get more used to buying by wire.

"Without this reform, revenue losses were expected to climb to $1.7 billion in 2006 and to more than $2 billion in 2011," according to the governor's staff.

Although Engler has pushed hard for the bill, both in state and nationally, he signed the law without fanfare Monday. Resch said the governor believed fast action was needed to get the state involved quickly in the coalition.

The coalition will attempt to devise a standard format for the collection of sales taxes. At present, 46 states have sales taxes, but in 34 they are local option taxes. Thirty states have multiple rates.

Once all those taxes are coordinated, the coalition will look for a software firm to automate the task of collection and distribution.

Under the bill, known as House Bill 5080, any changes to Michigan's sales tax necessitated to participate in the coalition will have to be approved by the state Legislature. Progress will have to be reviewed by lawmakers by the end of next year.

Opponents say it's a new tax. And they fear that once the system is in place, the federal government may take over sales tax collections or add a sales tax of its own.

"By coming together, we protect our schools and give Main Street retailers a fair and level playing field."

Juvenile arthritis is a painful fact of life

Today, there are more than a quarter million children who live with a disabling condition more common than juvenile diabetes and cerebral palsy. Many of these children cannot accomplish life's first goal of simply reaching.

Juvenile arthritis is often improperly diagnosed as "growing pains." But make no mistake. The effects of juvenile arthritis are long-term, painful (and real).

Do you suspect the onset of juvenile arthritis in your child or a child you know? Do something for them. With up-to-date information on warning signs. Proper medical diagnosis and care. Family camps, conferences, and a support network, for you and your child.

of the Arthritis Foundation

Carpet for Today's Active Lifestyles

Introducing Liqua Shield

Carpet now has a new defense against spills and odors, and it's called Liqua Shield.

Liqua Shield protects the carpet from the underside, where spills do their greatest harm.

Liqua Shield is not a thin, spray-on chemical. It's a tough, waterproof polyethylene backing that's bonded to the underside of select Wear-Dated styles of carpet during manufacturing. Liquids from everyday spills can be cleaned up easily and completely. Liquids don't get the chance to soak into the pad and sub-floor, where they can produce lasting odors, mold, and mildew.

FACTS

Appliances account for about 20% of your household's energy consumption, with refrigerators, clothes washers and clothes dryers at the top of the consumption list. When you are shopping for appliances, you can think of two price tags. The first one covers the purchase price - think of it as a down payment. The second price tag is the cost of operating the appliance during its lifetime. Come to The Home Depot and talk to one of our knowledgeable kitchen associates about selecting the right ENERGY STAR appliances for your needs!

River Rock

The River Rock finish realizes the weather worn look of rocks that have been awash in a turbulent stream. A newly formulated paint with mottled dark and light highlights. Soft and sophisticated, this matte finish is as appropriate for a fishing lodge as a downtown loft.

Interior Suede

Suede is a flat matte, textured paint that absorbs and reflects light to lend a wall the look of rich fabric covering. Applied with all the facility of paint, for a unique look designed to evoke the plush look of hand-brushed suede right out of the can.

SHOWROOM OF THE MONTH

Photos by Tom Hibbeln provided by Carlson Design Products Inc

How often do you find established showrooms providing unique one-of-a-kind home design products and an educated professional staff to guide clients through selections?

Every day at Carlson Design Products.

With the recent proliferation of "home stores," it is even better to know this showroom in Brighton serves Michigan with the very finest: Euro-shower doors, art glass, mirrors (installed by Carlson experts), architectural door, cabinet and bath hardware, bath furniture, washbasins, shower systems, steam, saunas, fine faucetry and an exclusive selection of lighting.

Home innovation

Carlson is the innovator in Euro-shower door design. With 12 years of experience, Carlson experts design and install what "home stores" subcontract. Over 17 Euro-shower doors are on display in the Carlson showroom. And here clients can view the Midwest's only cast 3/8" glass shower door with dichroic glass inserts or a rice paper glass shower door with Rocky Mountain cast bronze strap hinges and heavy decorative back-to-back pulls. Carlson is the first U.S. distributor of ShowerLux of England's shower enclosures, featuring totally frameless tub panels in lieu of tracked and framed tub bypass doors.

The Carlson artistry has made the company a recognized leader in the custom glass and mirror industry. Carlson Design Products art glass applications for doors, windows, transoms, glass walls and special projects are installed in hundreds of commercial and residential locations throughout the state. Carlson's custom mirror installations enhance thousands of locales.

Yet, glass and mirrors are a fraction of Carlson's options for the home. Carlson's vast display of architectural hardware includes 5,000 knobs and pulls for cabinetry and furniture, including Michigan's first display of Ralph Lauren Home bath accessories. This collection is featured along with lines from Samuel Heath, Ginger and art designs for the bath from Linda Winkelman.

For your exterior and interior doors, Carlson provides all the major high-end brands of door hardware, from Baltica (handmade in Lithuania), Bouvet, Baldwin, Omnia, Broadway by Schlage, Emtek, Pullware, Hewi, lighting at the showroom. Carlson provides exclusive lighting not experienced in traditional lighting stores. The lighting collection features: brass lighting recreations from turn-of-the-century New York from Urban Archaeology; branch-like stainless steel lighting by Lichtmehr of Germany; Tuscan designs by Falb of Italy.

Becoming Michigan's key destination for saunas, steam units and towel warmers provides Carlson Design Products with the opportunity to display Sussman's new contemporary pre-fab sauna with a curved glass door and the Harvia/Finlandia 4'x4' prefab for today's master bath designed spas.

The owners and staff of Carlson Design Products want you to know that this wonderful selection of home design products is just part of the story. Professional service is what Carlson provides hand in hand with this collection — and that makes all the difference.

Mandelli, and of course, Rocky Mountain Hardware.

For the bath, the Carlson Design Products showroom displays the Midwest's most complete collection of Villeroy and Boch's distinctive bath furniture, washbasins, toilets and bidets. Villeroy and Boch, a 250-year old company based in Europe, is known the world over for the finest in design and quality.

Hansgrohe is the premier shower systems manufacturer in the world and is a featured brand in the Carlson Design Products showroom. Hansgrohe's Pharo line of shower towers and vertical whirlpools are unsurpassed in design, ease of use and installation. The showroom displays the complete Pharo 90 shower enclosure - its experience will blow your socks off.

Carlson's unique faucetry selection is an excellent alternative to typical fare. See the Dolphin or Aquaduct faucet from Altman's, Concinnity's Swarovski crystal accents faucetry, Axor's contemporary one-of-a-kind Starck or Terrano sets, Newport Brass' 29 finishes, and Herbeau's delicate French faucetry designs.

For the kitchen, view Carlson Design Products' Blanco and Franke's innovative sink and faucetry choices. Hansgrohe's solid stainless steel kitchen faucet is state-of-the-art with a pull-out hose of Kevlar construction.

Carlson clients are also pleasantly surprised by the unique selection of fine

Make it Work Better! Simple ways to a more convenient and efficient kitchen

By Jeremy Hull

Are you getting the most out of your kitchen? Does it provide ample space for storage and create the least amount of steps when putting together a meal?

Rather than constructing an entirely new kitchen, look instead for ways to remodel that don't require you to start from scratch. A narrow cabinet only a few inches wide can hold those baking trays crowded among the other pots and pans. Instead of running water and waiting for it to be hot or cold enough, a dispenser can produce it automatically.

Many problems in a kitchen's design can be solved simply by taking advantage of crucial inches and by adding time-saving fixtures.

Complex problems, simple solutions

Problem: Lack of storage space

Solution: Forgo decorative elements

When deciding where exactly in your kitchen that space is being wasted and how it can be put to better use, Carmen Hancock, co-owner of Kitchens Plus in Livonia, says to pay attention to your cabinetry.

One of the easiest ways to gain more storage space and make your kitchen more efficient, Hancock says, is to go with frameless cabinetry, as opposed to face-frame construction, which wraps around and between the doors. She says, "That will eat up some valuable cubic inches, because you have protrusions coming out from all sides of the box."

Creating full-height cabinetry and deleting existing soffits is another inexpensive way to add additional space, Hancock says. While soffits are normally used to conceal plumbing or electrical work, she says a majority of the time the work can either be moved or adequately covered.

"If we find plumbing that is too hard or expensive to move, then we'll continue all the way up to the ceilings and conceal any of those pipes and/or risers," she says.

Problem: Cookie sheet calamity

Solution: Tray base cabinet

Kitchens are filled with angles. Protruding from the sink base or near a wall, they gobble up precious inches that if fully utilized, can be turned into a space-saving cabinet. Even if an angle is a mere four inches, Hancock says that's enough for vertical storage or a vertical pantry.

"Those kinds of areas are good for hard-to-store items, such as canned goods and tall bottles," she says.

Four to five inches can also provide enough space for hard-to-store flat items, such as cookie sheets, serving trays, and paper grocery bags, in a narrow tray base cabinet. Vertical tray dividers can be used inside these types of cabinets to organize everything, says Hancock, because they are usually very cavernous, sometimes going back 24 inches to the wall.

"Vertical tray dividers are mounted inside those cabinets," she says, "and anything that you store in there can be reached from the front of the cabinets."

Problem: Kids eating standing up

Solution: Built-in eating areas

Nothing cramps a kitchen area more than a table and chairs, and without sufficient space for the kids to enjoy their after-school snacks, the dining room table becomes the main gathering area, thus taking quite a beating.

Hancock suggests adding a built-in eating area to the kitchen, which can save the dining room from too much wear and tear. Attached to the cabinetry, built-in eating areas can be done in any number of heights, from 30 to 46 inches and seat four-six people. When not in use, they can be put down to save space, or, if they are apart of some larger cabinetry piece, can be left open to highlight the decorative elements.

"So, incorporate a more furniture-looking piece that ties in with the kitchen, and have a built-in table coming out from there," she says.

Problem: Too much time at the faucet

Solution: Single-handle sprayer and instant hot/cold

While some nostalgic homeowners are still using two hands to mix their water's temperature, Jeff Moss, vice president of Advance Plumbing in Walled Lake, says that newer models have combined the mixing function into one, European-style handle. In addition to this single-handled feature, a sprayer can also be incorporated into the unit through the spout. According to Moss, a sprayer's flexible, durable hose offers two different features, a regular spray and a wide vegetable spray, which he says, "is obviously great for cleaning vegetables and all of your pots and pans as well."

If valuable time and water are wasted trying to obtain a warm temperature, it can be even more so trying to get very hot or very cold water. The solution to the waiting game, says Moss, is instant hot or chilled water dispensers, which provide the extreme temperature for both kinds directly from the sink.

"All of the water goes through the unit and comes out at either 190 degrees Fahrenheit or chilled," he says.

Problem: Large pots and small spouts

Solution: Pot fillers and taller spouts

If your sink is too shallow to make room for a large pot, Moss suggests switching to a taller spout, which can not only help in container filling, but also provides easier access to the overall sink.

"When you're walking up to your sink with a large pot or pan, you don't have to move the spout out of your way," he says. "The spout is high enough, so that the pot or pan fits right underneath it."

For large pots that no spout or sink, aside from a commercial kitchen, can accommodate, consider a "pot filler," a faucet mounted into the wall over the cook-top. Moss says that manufacturers have always made these available in the commercial market, but have just recently started appearing in homes with more flair than their restaurant cousins do.

"[Pot filler] faucets have been around for a long time, but now that they're going into the residential application, they are becoming more decorative and fancy," he said. "They've always been very boring in the commercial application."

Problem: Dirty sink edges

Solution: Lip-less sinks

Whether you're chopping, dicing, or filleting, whatever doesn't make it into your dish usually makes its way into the sink. But because most sinks are mounted over the counter, the exposed lip can sometimes stop food from being cleaned up, thereby creating a home for bacteria.

Enter under-mounted models, which, Moss says, provide for a clean sweep and prevent food from collecting along the sink's edge.

"For cleaning purposes, there's no chance for bacteria build-up, because everything wipes directly into the sink," he says. "Our kitchens are more sanitary because of that purpose." ■

Stress relieving soaks: Hydrotherapy in your home

Spas

Today's spas offer high and low hydrotherapy choices. Pressure points and muscles can be targeted with a strong, deep-tissue stream, or a unique wave-like oscillating stream for light massage.

Strong jets at shoulders and back: Designed to relieve muscle tension and stress by targeting specific pressure points with deep tissue massage.

Pulsing jets: Provide a gentle massage that targets specific pressure points

Circular jets: Rotating or stationary massage stream for large muscle groups that can be set to stream clockwise, counterclockwise or straight ahead. Jets in some spas allow for fine-tuning of stream direction and volume for a precision massage of hands and feet, which contain more than 7,000 nerve endings

Whirlpool jets: Whirlpool jets have long been used by sports teams for the deep-tissue massage they deliver, offering directional water streams to vigorously massage large muscles 🏠

Today more and more people are discovering the substantial benefits of owning a personal hot tub, once reserved for sports teams and intensive physical therapy. The relief that hydrotherapy provides for ailments from everyday tension to arthritis and even Type 2 diabetes means the use of a hot tub is no longer a luxury, but an investment in one's health.

Everyday stress can lead to muscle tension, headaches, fatigue and soreness. Healthcare experts and physical therapists maintain that three key elements found in hot tubs – buoyancy, heat and massage – create a therapeutic environment for optimal health. Buoyancy reduces body weight by 90 percent, which relieves pressure on joints and muscles, while heat increases blood flow to sore or damaged tissue. The third element, massage, works to relax muscles and relieve pressure on nerves while boosting circulation and accelerating the body's natural healing process.

These healing powers make spas popular with seniors, according to Steve Scholl at Scholl Carpentry, who attributes 50 percent of his spa sales to those age 50 and older. However, the therapeutic benefits of spas add a touch of romance and relaxation to every homeowner, making them a great addition to any home or deck.

How spas heal

Seating areas within the spa are usually designed to deliver different hydrotherapies. For example, Ultra'sage, a patented design available through PDC spas, targets the stress bearing pressure points in the neck, shoulder and back muscles. These spas available through Scholl Carpentry in Wayne offer three different jet packages that melt away tight muscles and tension.

When choosing a spa, sit right inside when in the showroom and look for easy-to-reach massage selectors, and any contoured seating options. These allow the user to control each experience, tailoring their hydrotherapy soak to the day's specific needs. PDC spas offer electronic control pads on both sides of the spa for easy operation wherever you sit.

Other amenities will help enhance the spa experience. PDC spas also include heel holds with foot calf massage, built-in arm rests, soft removable pillows, and even mood lighting with colored lenses.

Be careful before buying, too. Scholl Carpentry recommends homeowners check the references of their spa dealer, and contact the Better Business Bureau. And as always, read your warranty closely. 🏠

Hearths afire: Heating options for homes

By Amy Wettlaufer

In fireplaces, today's homeowners are looking for beauty, efficiency and cleanliness, according to area home heating experts. Nancy Henry, a buyer for Town and Country, a home heating store in Garden City, said the old-style masonry fireplaces are relics not likely to be found in any new construction. And many homeowners are even opting to convert existing ones into the much-preferred gas options offered today.

"Traditional brick fireplaces are inefficient, period," she said. "You have a furnace running on one side of your house and a hole in the other. People are able to put in fireboxes and keep the cost way down."

Gas fireplaces

Gas fireplaces are installed directly into a wall and vented outside, without the need for an existing chimney system. They can be designed using materials such as marble, tile and slate, giving the appearance of a traditional fireplace. The unit is operated using gas logs, which come in a variety of shapes, sizes and textures. In fact, Henry said, many of the logs so strongly resemble real wood that it may be difficult to distinguish between them.

Since the units are operated with gas, they come with variable flame control and are highly efficient. There has also been a real trend toward installing gas units in add-on porches or recreation rooms in basements, areas that have traditionally been drafty and difficult to heat. Many homeowners like this option because they can control the temperature of the room, thereby effectively giving it its own heating system relatively inexpensively.

"People just want to take a recreation room and put in easy, quick heating for shorter periods of time, and for that, these units are great," Henry said.

Extolling the virtues of gas, Maria Alberti, who manages This Is It, a home heating store in West Bloomfield, said the benefits of gas over traditional wood burning are undeniable.

"With gas you get an even heat, and you don't have to stand by and watch for pieces falling out," she said. "There is also no smoke, which can tarnish your furniture and ceiling. It gives out as much heat if not more than wood burning, and it does it evenly."

Alberti did concede, however, that some owners of new construction are still opting to have masonry fireplaces installed, with the intent to operate it as a gas fireplace or eventually convert it. A masonry fireplace is converted by making changes to the damper and ventilation systems. The gas systems may also include a remote control, which acts as a thermostat, so the homeowner can control the amount of output from any room, Alberti said. And the gas logs used are odorless and do not produce dirt.

Other options available

Another home heating option is the contemporary, wood-burning stove, which is more energy efficient and convenient to use than ever. The stoves come in a variety of forms, including ornate old-world cast iron to modern pedestal models. Today's stoves have convenient one-handle adjustments to control the primary and secondary air and heat output simultaneously and are capable of operating for as long as 12 hours on one load of fuel.

According to Henry, one tree is enough to heat a house for an entire season with a modern, airtight wood-burning stove. And some of the larger, freestanding stoves are capable of heating an area up to 3,000 square feet. Another benefit to gas units is that by simply installing a decorative liner, a homeowner can drastically change the appearance of the fireplace, making it inexpensive and convenient to alter or update the look of the unit.

Trends in heating

More and more homeowners are looking to custom designers to build fireplaces that fit their lifestyles and room layout, according to Lynn Balok of Heritage Mantel, Inc. in Howell. These designs incorporate marble, granite and tile for signature pieces that make lasting impressions.

Amazing options: Corn burning stoves

Try the newest option in supplemental heating — Corn burning stoves. According to Debbie Ahrens at Penn Acres Grain, Inc., corn stoves are safe, use a renewable resource, burn 98 percent efficiently, do not produce carbon monoxide and are very economical. "The corn stove is a constant, even heat, which keeps your furnace from running as often." Penn Acres is Michigan's first and oldest dealer of corn burning stoves by Snow Flame, which also offers 100,000 BTU boiler and forced air furnaces so homeowners can heat their entire home with corn.

When deciding on a stove or custom mantel...

Choose stoves that are attractive, easy to operate and that will lower your heating costs, according to Duane Hartmann at Heat 'N Sweep. And plan ahead when choosing a company to design a custom mantel. Fireplaces are sometimes the last item homeowners consider when building a new home. Find a mantel company when you are in the initial design phase of building, one that is licensed, with a good portfolio, and that fabricates in-house, according to Balok.

With all of the options available to today's homeowner, Henry suggests shopping around and researching which option may be most suitable for a house or particular room. Homeowners should take advantage of the many showrooms that display units because reading about the various options is very different from seeing them, she added. ▲

Mirror, Mirror: The newest trend in room decoration

Ideas for Mirrors

Did you know? A Look at Mirrors

A mirror consists of clear glass that is first coated with a layer of silver — the most vulnerable part of a mirror. Next, in place of a thicker, more expensive layer of silver, a layer of copper is applied. Finally, a layer of paint protectant seals the mirror. The edges are often sealed again prior to installation to prevent moisture from seeping between the glass and the backing.

Smoke and mirrors

To make a room look larger, place it at the far end of a room, suggests Cothery.

Be creative

Try mirrored walls for your basement exercise space, or even a dance room for your little ballerina. Try mirrors, too, in any room that needs a bit of brightening.

Distinctive mirrors add dimension and style to any room. Here's how to add a lot of sparkle to your home without spending a fortune.

Ready-to-hang mirrors are available at home improvement stores in a variety of standard sizes, with and without frames. Some have etched designs; these can also be added after installation. Ready-made mirrors come equipped with hanging hardware.

Custom sizes and shapes can be coordinated with any local mirror retailer. It's best to leave installation of a custom mirror to a professional. Mirrored tiles are an easy way to cover a large area with mirrors without the hassle of caring for one large piece of glass. You can also install tiles yourself to save money.

Mirrors for showcasing, function

Take advantage of today's minimalist look. These mirrors are perfect for more modern decorating schemes and feature pared down, sleek frames. According to Jerry Cothery of Reid Glass Company of Southfield, more and more people are moving toward open looks, reflected in their mirror choices. Many custom mirrors are installed with glue that doesn't destroy the mirror and helps emphasize a clean, clutter free look, added Cothery.

According to Mike Carlson of Carlson Design Products in Brighton, today larger hand carved wood framed mirrors have become a highly regarded item. "These are excellent for over the fireplace or as standers, leaning against the wall on the floor."

Handcarved mirrors by Dauphne combine art and practicality, according to Carlson. These pieces add a touch of regal grace over a pedestal sink in the powder room, or in the foyer of the most contemporary home.

For a more rustic look, Carvers Guild offers a songbird and branch mirror, straight out of a fairy tale. Here two songbirds border perch atop a frame of oak branches and leaves.

Custom installed wall mirrors can incorporate glass shelves specially glued to the mirror itself. According to Carlson, this application, along with a broken top and beveled strip trim design offers a sense of style and originality to any mirror.

Features to consider

Place your mirror for longevity. It's a good idea to keep a mirror as dry as possible. Mounting it flush against a countertop offers a stylish, space-stretching look, but there's a risk of moisture gathering at the mirror's edges. Mounting your mirror above a backsplash or a few inches above the counter will reduce potential problems. Even a basic bathroom fan will help prevent a mirror from "sweating" — the heavy condensation that can damage mirror backings. Let the fan run a little longer to clear steam from the mirror.

Maintenance

Mirrors need regular care to maintain their good looks. Your best cleaning option is clean, warm water. Glass cleaners, vinegar, and rubbing alcohol are also effective. Acid-, alkali-, and ammonia-based cleaners, however, will most readily damage mirror edges and backing. Instead of spraying cleaner directly on the mirror's surface, spray it onto a soft, grit-free cloth, and then wipe the surface. To remove tough spots, never use an abrasive cleaner or steel wool, which can scratch the glass. Instead, remoisten your cloth and keep rubbing.

Cost Guidelines

The price of ready-to-hang mirrors is based on quality of the frame. Small framed mirrors (up to 20x24 inch) can range from $21 to $56. Medium mirrors (24 x 33 inch) can range from $34 to $110, and the largest mirrors (30 x 48 inch or larger) start at about $79 and can cost up to $259.

Custom mirrors vary greatly in price. Etched mirrors add a signature style that can also be done at custom shops such as Carlson Design products and Reid Glass. This added artistry will increase your final cost, which factors in labor charges. You'll also pay a little more for beveled edges and custom frames. ■

On the street where you live: Roofs and stone exteriors enhance curb appeal

By Christine Waldecker

Imagine driving down the street, past house after similar house in a monochromatic neighborhood, then you see it: Home. Distinctly unique, clearly yours.

If that isn't quite your daily reaction, perhaps there are things you can do to spruce up your home's curb appeal, whether your goal is to beautify it for yourself or to dress it up for sale.

Like a rock

In the story of the three little pigs, the houses of straw and sticks were easily collapsed, but the house of brick was sturdy and could withstand any assault the mean old wolf attempted. Brick means stability.

Now perhaps it's too late for you to build your home with brick, but there are other options. Sean Buback, at Dixie Cut Stone and Marble, Inc. in Novi, suggests cultured stone, a thin facing of fabricated stone with the appearance of natural stone.

"Cultured Stone is made from cement and looks like real stone. It comes in individual pieces and is applied with mortar, bonded to a wire mesh."

A common application for the cultured stone is to cover cinder block foundations. One of the advantages of cultured stone is that it has a lighter weight than real stones and does not need to have a brick ledge or foundation to support it. It can be applied anywhere you want the accent of stone such as around a doorway or when filling in a gable.

Cultured Stone comes in three different looks: split fieldstone, limestone, or irregular ledge stone. The average price for the Cultured Stone is around $7 per square foot.

For about a dollar or two more per square foot, there is a new product on the market from Buechel Stone Corporation in Wisconsin, called Natural Thin Veneer. Thin Veneer is real stone that has been cut to a one-inch thickness and is used the same way as the Cultured Stone.

Different types of stone can be mixed for a more natural look, and the colors can be used as accents to rest of the home.

"To remodel with real stone needs a foundation, it's hard to get, and expensive," said Buback. "Thin Veneer and cultured stone are good alternatives. Achieve the look without the weight."

Even before you get up to your home, look at the walkway.

"We've been quite busy with flagstone and boulder walkways," said Buback. Such walkways are both impressive and inviting. Create the look of stability and permanence with boulders lining gardens and ponds as well as walkways.

Top it off

Today's new homes have medium to high-pitched roofs, according to Frank Farmer, President of American Roofing, Inc. in Flushing, Michigan.

"When you view the home from the street, 30 - 50 percent of the view is of the roof. Many shingles are nondescript."

Farmer reports that people are replacing their asphalt shingles with Rustic Shingles, maintenance-free aluminum shingles with the look of wood shakes that have a lifetime warranty as long as you live in the home, and 50-year transferable protection.

Asphalt shingles are not as durable as they used to be, according to Farmer. If you are considering asphalt, read the warranty carefully to find out exactly what is covered and what is not.

"I had one customer who had put on a 30-year shingle 11 years ago," said Farmer. "Now it's shot. Rustic Shingles are for people who like quality and never want to do it again," he said.

Country Manor Shake is another choice for roofing with the look of traditional wood shake but the durability of metal. This style has a rougher texture for a more "cottagey" look, excellent for a house on a lake.

"Metal roofs are generally about two and a half times the cost, but you will never have to roof again. These roofs will still be standing in 100 years."

The metal roof reflects the sun, keeping homes cooler in the summer, reducing air conditioning costs by 20 - 30 percent. In the winter, snow won't pile up because the sun's reflection melts it.

"People can travel in the winter and not worry about snow accumulating on the roof, and this should be another heavy winter."

What if you want to put an addition on in twenty years? The shingles are so durable, they are even guaranteed to match the color after twenty years. And because of their durability, they will appreciate with the house, not depreciate.

The natural looking metal shingles are installed by trained and certified craftsmen with polyethylene that won't break down and water tight flashings around the chimneys and pipes. They can be installed right over existing asphalt shingles, and never again will you be filling dumps with old asphalt shingles.

Home improvements that are valuable investments, beautiful, solid and durable, will give you a home that you love to come home to everyday. ■

Home moves: Made easier than ever

By Amy Wettlaufer

The excitement of moving into a new home should not be dampened by the task of moving itself. With all of the resources available to today's homeowners, what was capable of evoking nothing short of panic in the past, can now be viewed as a relatively calm transition.

According to Linda Pitchford, co-owner of Two Men and a Truck of Howell, homeowners can considerably reduce their stress levels by hiring a moving company. "A lot of people are busy with work and family, so they have us do it all," she said. "It's nice because they don't have to do anything."

Two Men and a Truck, as with most moving companies, charges by the hour. For $80 an hour, the company will pack up all of someone's belongings, or simply move the boxes, which have been pre-packed by the mover. Either way, a move is made far less complicated than it could become.

Many of today's homeowners are moving more frequently, for jobs or even to better locations. And more than ever, homeowners are staying in locations for less than two years. "Paring down is crucial," Pitchford said.

"People today don't have as much because they are not saving as much," she said. "They tend to keep personal things elsewhere."

Personal items could be something such as a picture drawn by a child, which, she said, many people will keep at work.

Moving – an exact science?

Two Men and a Truck even provides a Box Guide, a comprehensive list of how many and what size boxes movers in homes of all sizes should be using. In a three-bedroom home, for example, movers should pack approximately 80 small boxes, 65 medium, 20 large, eight "Dish Pac," or boxes for china, and six wardrobe boxes.

Some homeowners these days are moving to smaller homes, due to the absence of children. Many buyers are moving up, having larger, more elaborate homes built new. Another factor greatly impacting the short duration of many home stays is the fact that many homes are on the market for a much shorter period of time, Pitchford said.

According to the National Association of Realtors, there are several steps movers can take to ensure a smooth move:

- If hiring a professional moving service, ask friends, an employer and co-workers for recommendations and also check with the Better Business Bureau about the selected company's standing.
- If one or more items require special handling, such as a piano, for example, make sure a mover has the experience and equipment to do the job. Find out what a company will move and what it will not, such as corrosives, explosives and other flammable items.
- Get several written estimates. The only way to get an accurate estimate is for the mover to visit a home and view its content. Most moving companies, Two Men and a Truck included, offer free, no-obligation estimates.
- To keep moving costs down, dispose of unnecessary or hard-to-move items before you get an estimate. Consider purchasing new appliances and leaving the old ones behind.
- Have an understanding of the moving contract. Include "subject to further inspection for concealed loss or damage" on the contract, in the event items are discovered damaged during the unpacking process.
- Make an inventory list and label the contents of all boxes.
- Be prepared to pay the moving crew upon arrival at the new location, so the shipment can be unloaded immediately.
- Unpack high-value items, such as silver and art, as quickly as possible. 🏠

FORT GRATIOT LIGHT

Fort Gratiot, Michigan

Sculpture shown approximately actual size of 6 3/4" tall.

Standing sentinel over one of the world's busiest waterways, Fort Gratiot Light is distinguished as Michigan's oldest light station. The tower was originally built in 1825, before Michigan even became a state. The beacon sits at the juncture of Lake Huron and the St. Claire River, a picturesque spot with a delightful view of Canada. Now, the Danbury Mint pays tribute to this maritime landmark with an expertly crafted replica.

Astonishing level of detail.

Fort Gratiot Light is crafted with an exceptional level of detail in cold-cast porcelain, a blend of powdered porcelain and resin noted for its ability to capture fine detail. Then skilled artisans hand paint the replica in true-to-life colors, from the individual bricks on the tower to the shingles on the entranceway roof.

An outstanding value.

Available exclusively from the Danbury Mint, Fort Gratiot Light is attractively priced at $39, payable in two convenient monthly installments of just $19.50 (plus a total of $5 for shipping and handling). Your satisfaction is guaranteed, so order today!
