Opinions mixed on NHS late start

By Jennifer Norris STAFF WRITER

In the future, school bells might be ringing at a later time.

On Monday evening, Northville Public Schools hosted a town hall meeting at Northville High School to publicly discuss a delayed start time for the district's schools.

Community members were invited to share their opinions on possibly rescheduling the starting and dismissal times for students. A panel, consisting of pediatrician Marshall Blondy, Northville schools superintendent Leonard Rezmierski, assistant superintendent David Bolitho, Northville High School principal Dennis Colligan, Meads Mill Middle School principal Sue Meyer, Amerman Elementary principal Stephen Anderson and NHS teacher Chris Ford gave their opinions on the question of pushing back the start time for high school students.

Rezmierski said a regional meeting regarding a delayed start time was recently addressed at Walled Lake Central High School on Nov. 28 in which more than 350 people from various school districts attended. At that meeting, school representatives from the Edina Public School district in Edina, Minn. shared how delaying the start of school has benefited the district's students and strengthened their learning abliities. Representatives from the Minnesota district said postponing the start of school aligned better with students' sleep patterns and enables them to perform more efficiently at school.

Following brief presentations, Northville school officials answered questions from the audience members and listened to the opinions of the community. Northville officials said extensive research was available on the effects of delaying the start time of high school, but also said there is less research obtainable on how doing so would impact elementary or middle-school agé

Rezmierski said the district is not altering their current method, but rather was looking for input and suggestions from par; ents and students.

*No recommendation has been given to the board on switching anything," said Rezmierski. "We are doing this because we need to have involvement from all the stakeholders. No firm answer is in place."

Mold removed from school's ceiling

By Jennifer Norris

After learning of an environmental issue at Meads Mill Middle School last Thursday afternoon, Northville school officials sprang into action to initiate the cleanup of a black mold sample found above the ceiling.

School officials became aware of the problem after an environmental survey of the building was conducted by HealthAir, Inc. of Plymouth. HealthAir representatives found black mold (stachybotrys) on a roof drain and on the topside of a ceiling tile located in the library.

In a letter addressed to parents and guardians, Meads Mill principal Sue Mever said that the mold was confined to the drain located between the roof and the suspended ceiling. Clean up arrangements were immediately made and the mold was removed last Saturday afternoon by HealthAir officials.

They detected on a tape test some mold that turned out to be stachybotrys," said Meyer. They made us aware of [it] right away. They were doing some air quality testing when it was found. They found it on a tape test, not an air test. There was nothing in the air."

Meyer said the district arranged to have the mold removed according to EPA standards.

In the letter to parents, Meyer said that "the areas involved is a discoloration of approximately six inches on the pipe. The mold on the top of the ceiling tile is described as a 'spotty discoloration' and is confined to that ceiling tile."

An informational meeting was slated on Feb. 12 at 6 p.m. to discuss the Northville resident and president of Livonia's First Michigan Title Carol Cassie had the first hand opportunity to see how local health care is delivered at St. Mary Mercy Hospital in Livonia.

Cassie, along with Northville resident Mark Guidobono, participated in the hospital's program that allows community leaders to gain a new perspective on how St. Mary Mercy works.

This program is a great idea to let the community know first-hand what services are offered at St. Mary Mercy," hospital president, chief executive officer and Northville resident David Spivey

Both Cassie and Guidobono said their day following several doctors around through their routine was both wonderful and interesting. Guidobono said he believes the hospital has really turned things around in a good direction. He said the entire staff seemed to genuinely care about the patient's needs.

The perspective I gained from my visit was that the staff and environment is both professional and comfortable," Guidobono, and ultra-sound, in addition to president Cambridge of Development, said. "It truly was interesting to see the procedures and staff at work, and the care they administered."

St. Mary Mercy's Healthcare Partnership Program partners leaders from Northville and the surrounding communities with doctors for a day, giving them a first-hand look at surgery, emergency, radiology or oncology services. Cassie, who has been involved with fundraising for the hospital for 10 years, used her day to gain a better knowledge of the hospital's Marian Women's Center. The center offers such services as radiology for bone density, mammography other programs and support groups.

"I observed an ultrasound and this can be a stressful situation for many females, but the nurses and doctors made the situation calm by being very comforting and support; ive to the patients." Cassie said.

Guidobono got to partner with doctors and staff from the radiology and cardiology departments. He seen several patients with possible heart attack symptoms assessed by the Chest Pain Evaluation Unit and observed such procedures as cardiac monitoring, treatment and diagnostic testing.

City of Northville outlines goals to be addressed throughout 2002

By Lon Huhman STAFF WRITER

The city of Northville's department heads took time out on Monday evening to outline their goals and priorities for fiscal year 2002-2003 while also looking back at the progress of last year.

For this year the city hopes to get its World Wide Web page offi-cially up and running, continue the efforts to improve the city's utility infrastructure and develop short-term as well as long-term goals for parking management. City manager Gary Word said the city sets its objectives into categories of high, medium and low priorities in order to lay the groundwork for the tasks the city should work on.

The priorities of last year have been carried over with some slight alterations into this year's summary of goals. Word said. In February of 2001, the city set two high-priority projects of improving the water and sewer system, and the retention of the post office within the Northville central business district.

The city will continue to conduct water leak detection surveys in the city's water distribution system, and Word said with recent hikes in rates from Detroit, the city will work to keep the rate increases to a minimal. The city continues to make progress on debt reduction that aims to mitigate future rate

The perpetual tasks include controlling water loss at the acceptable levels of 15 to 18 percent, controlling inflow and infiltration to preserve sewer capacity and build working capital. One improvement was the completion of the watermain extension on Baseline Road. Word said regional discussions continue relative to long-term control and management of sewer overflow and capacity issues. The city expects resolution or definitive decisions regarding remedies and strategles to these issues in this upcoming year. Word said.

As far as the post office is concerned, planning for the expansion of the Northville office is on hold at least until May. Word said the United States Postal Service has reassirmed its moratorium on capital expenditures. causing postal officials to be disinclined to discuss future planning. However, progress was made last year in the expansion debate when Northville Township offered to donate to the USPS property in the township for the lårger carrier annex facility. In exchange, the smaller full service retail store would remain in the downtown.

The medium priority goals include financial stability, street and sidewalk improvements and the continuation of the working partnership with the township and schools in regard to commu-

Financially, the ongoing goal of the city is to maintain a general fund balance accumulation of 30

$200,000 to the fund balance at the end of fiscal year 2001. With the completion of Randolph, the city will take aim at upgrading East Cady Street while maintaining its annual crack sealing program. The recreation partnership is looking to connect the township and city by pathways, particularly one connecting to Ford Field. The community recreation master plan will soon be reviewed by the city, it will be a working guide for the next five

Last year, parking management and coordination planning was a low priority objective, but Word said it has been moved up a notch because of the concern that has been raised by residents and such committees as the Development Downtown Authority and Northville Central Business District Association. Representatives from the two groups, as well as city staff, have formed a study group to generate short-term and long-term goals. which they will be doing during the first several months of 2002.

Other significant goals include the fire and building departments planning on getting the rental inspection program in place for rental locations within the city. Mayor Chris Johnson said the departments must also work with rental property owners before establishing any permanent inspection policy. The fire department is also contemplating conducting a fundraising program in order to obtain a thermal imaging camera.

Northville hits the jackpot as site for filming of lottery ad

By Lon Huhman STAFF WRITER

It was a perfect time to shoot a television commercial in downtown

As the temperature rose to an uncommon winter high last week. Millennium production company used several Northville community locations as the setting for a Michigan Lottery commercial. According to Millennium location supervisor Connie Johnson. Northville was selected for two reasons - it's a small, quaint town with unique architecture and the director of the commercial is a resident of Northville. Johnson said the director wanted to remain nameless.

"Today we are working on a commercial for Michigan Lottery, which is set to air on television during the opening ceremonies of the Winter Olympics," Johnson said Monday. "Northville is a natural choice for what we would like to get across and that is the many benefits of the lottery. Primarily, the benefit of investing money back into the com-

Johnson Creek's health kept under watchful eye

Protection group says sale and development of Detroit-owned property could have big effects on delicate trout stream

By Lon Huhman STAFF WRITER

Finding an abundance of stone flies in the Johnson Creek habitat means one thing- the water quality remains sound and perfect for the brown trout.

Recently, a search conducted by the Friends of the Rouge for the stone fly along the Johnson Creek gave concerned individuals even more to think about the future development along the cold water stream. The Johnson runs through Northville city and township as well as Plymouth and Salem townships.

The specific area of the Johnson that turned up good search results was in the Five Mile Road area near Ridge Road by the railroad crossing bridge on the property formerly utilized by the Detroit House of Corrections and now up for sale by the City of Detroit. According to the Friends of the Rouge Public Involvement Coordinator Sally Petrella, searches were conducted at five sites along the Johnson for the stone fly larvae. Petrella said the presence of the stone fly, an aquatic insect and food source for the trout, indicates the water is of high quality.

*High quality signifies there is a high amount of oxygen because the water is fast moving enabling it to remain at a proper and cool temperature," Petrella said of the recent cold water stream study results. "For the Johnson Creek species this is a good sign."

However. Petrella along with the Johnson Creek Protection Group, has concerns that the sale of the Detroit property will potentially harm the creek's current sensitive state. Bob Leach of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association said maintaining the Johnson's environment should be the first priority of all the parties involved and concerned.

*Historically, Johnson Creek was one of the original locations of the brown trout being introduced into Michigan waters when they were released at the fish hatchery in Northville. Now the state's department of natural resources is restocking the creek with trout," Leach said. "People must understand the historic significance of the creek and we must work to develop a working understanding with the purchaser of the property and the town-ships involved so its natural state can be saved and kept up. According to Johnson Creek Protection Group spokesperson Janet Bernardino, the future of the 868 acres currently owned by the city of Detroit is one of the primary concerns of the group. She said it has been reported that Kojaian Management Corp. of Bloomfield Hills is the lead buyer in the sale. Bernardino said Kojaian has contracted Tilton and Associates of Ann Arbor to do a wetlands study of the property. Jane Tesner of Tilton and Associates said they have completed a preliminary study and because the sale is in negotiation no comment could be given at this time.

Kojajan representatives would not comment on the current negotiations.

Bernardino said there may be two routes that could be taken to preserve the creek and both would entail establishing a conservation area along the creek's banks. She said the avenues could be pursued through the southeastern Michigan greenways initiative or township decisions to constitute conservation easements. However, she also said public awareness is key for It to have a safe future.

The Johnson Creek Protection Group will meet again on Feb. 25 at 7 p.m. at Northville High School on Six Mile Road west of Sheldon Road. The public is invited to attend, Bernardino

District gets feedback on NHS start change idea

Tabaczynski hired as arts coordinator

By Lon Huhman STAFF WRITER

Northville resident Kathleen Tabaczynski loves participating in the arts and her new job will give her even more opportunities to do so.

The arts commission is an all-volunteer group and I've been hired on part-time with the purpose of allowing the arts commission, in conjunction with the parks and recreation department, to do more and offer more to the community in the way of such things as music, art and drama," Tabaczynski said of the cultural arts specialist position. "I'm thrilled about it. I get to work with a great group of volunteers in an environment involving art and music."

Traci Sincock, director of the Northville Parks and Recreation Department, said Tabaczynski's duties will primarily involve facilitating projects for the arts commission. The arts commission will still remain performing its normal responsibilities, but with the help of Tabaczynski, the members' worries may be lessened.

The volunteers can only handle so much and we have been getting more and more broader requests for new activities, so Kathleen's help is much needed for both departments," said Sincock, who hired Tabaczynski. "We have a good partnership with the arts commission and this will only make it better for the community."

Arts commission chairperson Ken Naigus said the commission had been requesting the help for some time and said with Sincock's help, the arts commission could now get re-energized and build upon their current projects.

*Kathleen will help build our activities by focusing on publicity and fundraising. It will also give us a more formal connection with Northville Township and their resources," Naigus said. "This is very welcome because we are volunteers with Jobs and we can get burned out a little bit, so this will help."

One of Tabaczynski's jobs will be to get the word out on such arts commission's projects as the current winter concert series at Genitti's Little Theater in downtown Northville. She said the winter series has had great musicians to date, but there has been low attendance, especially at the concert. Naigus said residents are missing out on some great world class musicians and lecture attending the events will see the many benefits that come with listening to the musicians or speakers like Michael Farrell," Tabaczynski said.

Farrell is currently conducting a series of art lectures at Hillside Middle School. His next lecture is on March 14 and it is on Georgia O'Keefe. Naigus said Farrell is a speaker who not only covers the art aspects of the topic, but also almost everything else with a touch of humor.

I'm hoping to make a big difference and I am dedicated, Tabaczynski sald.

The next winter concert is on Feb. 24 at Genitti's. Northville resident Christa Grix will be performing classical and jazz music on her harp.

AMERICA & ME HMS WIN-NERS

Three students from Hillside Middle School have been named local winners in the 33rd annual "America, & Me" essay contest, sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance.

The three students, who earned the first, second and third place awards for their school are Susan Cavicchioli, Mike Cornelius and Brad Ferris, respectively. All three received award certificates for their achievement.

Susan Cavicchioli's first place essay now advances to the state level competition, from which the top ten essays in Michigan will be selected. The top 10 statewide winners, who will be announced in April, will receive plaques, cash and U.S. savings bonds valued from $500 to $1,000.

Several thousand eighth grade students from nearly 525 Michigan schools participated in the 2001-2002 America & Me Essay Contest, which was conducted with the help of Farm Bureau insurance agents across the state. The topic of the 2001-2002 contest was 'Why I am Grateful to America's Veterans.'

Our fundamental purposes are to enhance the lives of our readers, nurture the home towns we serve and contribute to the business success of our customers.

Changing start time: fact, not feeling, rules

ing Northville High School chose what to wear to school, with whom they would interact, what to eat for lunch, and how to attack homework after school. It was a day filled with choices — do some of A, a lot of B and none of C.

That's the way of the world. There are only 24 hours in a day, and no matter how much or how little each of us would like to do, the clock moves the same for each and every one of us. Choices needed to made and decisions rendered as to how the pie — which is the same size for everyone - will be divided.

Being forced to make a choice between a part-time job or an after-school activity would seem to be a major part of the argument as to whether or not the Northville school district should adjust the start time for high school students. It shouldn't be. What should be the lone component to determining the value of a possible change is the question of physiological tendencies among adolescents.

Pediatric studies have suggested that teenage body clocks function markedly different than those of adults. If that is the case, then the school district should be taking a keen look to see if the scientific research is substantial enough to move ahead with a scheduling

What we don't want to see is any change being made on the notion that changing the schedule would force students to choose between a job and other after-school supports. As noted above, students are already making dozens upon dozens of choices each day. Should the start time change for students, it's pretty obvious to us what the ramifications would be: more of A means less of B, and vice-versa. Education comes first. Everything else gets in line behind

It's not that complicated.

We believe education in Northville and around the country can be improved not by adding more hours to the school day and school days to the calendar, but by doing more with the time already allotted. High school students have already realized the benefits of that theory by working within a block scheduling program.

We think adjusting start times for the school day has the potential to have the same positive effect — but only if a mountain of philosophical questions are answered and logistical issues are ironed out. More study and public input needs to be done in this But the burden of proof needs to regard, but the district is off to a good start in getting its facts in

Cassis' voting for plane selectively inappropriate

First they give themselves a whopping

38-percent pay increase.

Now the legislature is trying to pass a bill to use state-owned airplanes to fly themselves around the state and the Godknows-where-else.

In the Jan. 16-22 edition of the Spinal Column, State Rep. Nancy Cassis, R-Novi, said of the proposed perk, "At this time it seemed inappropriate." Rep. Cassis added that those voting against the legislation wondered about the propriety of such a bill during times of economic hardship. Sounds like Rep. Cassis is on the side of taxpayers, right? Wrong, When the bill was taken up on Dec. 12, Rep. Cassis voted to keep this outrageous perk. Rep. Cassis decided using state airplanes for 'inappropriate" onl er personal use was after taxpayers caught wind of the scheme and newspapers started calling.

I would like to remind Rep. Cassis that character describes how you behave when no one is looking.

Just For Kids founder further explains charity

Recently, there was an article in the Northville Record about collecting used cell phones that would be turned into the Wireless Foundation to assist abused women. Wireless Foundation would then donate the money to my organization, Just For Kids. I wanted to let the community know just how these funds are distributed.

About 20 years ago, I did my pediatric rotation in nursing school at Children's Hospital. Those days tugged at my heart-strings and I vowed to myself that someday I would be back to help these kids. After working many years as a nurse, I finally was able to make some time to start my journey of helping others who are less fortunate and in need of the small necessities of life - the ones that are taken so for granted.

It started approximately 10 years ago when I started collecting returnable cans and spare change so that my friend. Marianne Prokop, and I could go intro Detroit and find children that needed a smile for the holidays. We would take our yearly visit with about $200 to $600 and spend the day in the lives of these children and their families. You would have to know Marianne to know that when you're around her, there is never a second of silence. But after each of these visits with these families, the drive home is always silent. It was our first silent ride home that we became committed to these kids. Marianne and I have helped battered wives with children who are looking for a new start, grandmothers who are looking out for their grandchildren and would like to see them in a new coat and have helped families out of shelters and given them a new beginning.

In the summer of 2000, another friend of mine, Mike Hopkins, and I had a chartty dinner and raised $20,000 on that evening. I was stunned. With those funds. we made sure that 300 kids in a lowincome area would have school supplies to start their new school year. We accomplished not only the supplies, but their very own monogrammed book bags, a new reading program and new library carpet-

Ing.
Last year, I volunteered at Children's Hospital to get a clear vision of how I wanted to accomplish my next goal. After several visits with these kids, I learned something that I never thought of. I learned that when kids become sick especially chronic illness or an illness that may require many miles of traveling - [it] changes people's lives. This is when I knew that Mike and I needed to schedule another charity dinner.

First we needed to become tax-exempt. We became incorporated last summer with the name "Just For Kids" and earned our tax-exempt status with the IRS. I then visited the social workers at Mott Children's Hospital. I informed them that we could raise some funds for their kids. These funds would provide the kids with necessities that is beyond the scope of their insurance and beyond the scope of their financial means. And yes — these social workers all looked at me with many facial expressions of doubt and confusion. I knew I had some work ahead of me to prove that this could become a reality.

With the help of many people, including Salutations of Northville (which donated invitations for the dinner, the sponsorship of companies to hold the dinner, the support of 170 people that attended that evening and all the patience of everyone anticipating the outcome of all of this, we succeeded.

Mike and I raised $58,000 last year. I was stunned again. Now the social workers call often about kids struggling with their illnesses and many families struggling with the hardships. Here are a couple examples of how Just For Kids has touched many families in a very unexpected way under very unexpected circum-

· A 15 year-old girl diagnosed with Lupus five months ago. Lupus is a disease of the connective tissue and has attacked patients in such a way that they could be hospitalized for many months and experience many days that could be of critical condition. This patient's family was brought in from out of town to stay in a suite so that this family could be put together for the holidays. They received many gift certificates for dinners and Christmas shopping.

· A 10-year-old boy diagnosed with leukemia and received a bone marrow transplant last year. This little boy died of leukemia several months later and there were no funds for his plot. We provided his family with this.

The stories go on and on and the social workers cont' nue to call with many needs. We've given out many gift certificates, paid mortgages and rent, hotel and air fares for families who have traveled out of state to be with their kids, for kids to join support groups like the Lupus Foundation, nutritional supplements, a computer for a Hodgkin's patient that has missed so much school, birthday gifts and simple

Simple things, like the 9-year-old girl who has leukemia and waiting for a bond marrow transplant. And her need, when asked - all she wanted was a pet bird. I got her that bird. She named it "Hope," and then asked for another bird that she could call "Faith."

Children's needs can be very simple. And these simple things are very easy to provide. My focus is to bring them a little spark of joy to these kids and to let them know that people are thinking of them.

If you wish to help these kids with your generosity, you can send your contribution to Just For Kids, PO Box 5302. Northville, Mich. 48167.

Your thoughtful act may pass in a moment, but the warmth of your generosity will stay with these kids for a long

when service gets bad

The Jan. 30 damage to the Ameritech cable along Eight Mile Road has left us without telephone and Internet service for over a week, which provides an appreciated relief from marketing calls, but is otherwise obviously awkward. What is less obviously but more seriously troubling is the faulty line of communication to Ameritech from its customers.

The flaws are not just annoying but merge into matters of public safety. There is no way to report an outage at night. We were lucky enough to have a cellular phone. With it, we tried to call Ameritech to notify [the company] of the outage. The phone book was consulted. Six numbers were tried: customer service, home repair, info and line repair, general office, sales and service directories. The Ameritech cellular directory person gave us an Ameritech number that proved useless. All the others listed in the phone book were inappropriate except sales and services, and after a push-one, push-two.

After this, the deluge of numbers

"Apres nous le deluge" ("after us, the deluge") is what Madame de Pompadour is supposed to have remarked to the French King Louis XV in 1757, after the defeat of the French and Austrian armies by Frederick the Great in the bat-felt the remark seemed especially apt after I spent several hours reading the fine print the state budget submitted last week by Gov. John Engler. There are so many accounting tricks, fund transfers and accelerated tax payments involved in confecting a "balanced" budget for fiscal 2003 that I pity the poor slob who has to face the deluge of red ink and balance the state's books in 2004.

· Property tax collections for 2003 get a one-time acceleration to get per-pupil K-12 spending up to $6,700. By the time the tax bills hit next July, this November's elections will be but a mem-

The state school aid fund looks as though it's getting a 12 percent increase, will cost the state more than $50 million mainly because Engler's budget credits to it federal payments that usually go to the Department of Education.

• Around $80 million in an unemployment compensation contingency fund will get transferred to the schools.

 Another contingency fund, around $250 million for Medicaid, will be cut in half, with the balance used for other

The state's rainy day fund, which had a $1.3 billion balance just two years ago, will be drained to just above $250 million. Anything less would have caused an automatic halt to the cuts in the state's single business tax, something tax-cutter Engler doesn't want on his record as he leaves office.

• The $35 million originally budgeted to pay for the Build Michigan road bonds will go instead to fund the Department of Transportation.

· A bit more than half of the $14 million in an environmental emergency cleanup fund will prop up the Department of Environmental Quality.

After 12 years in office, the governor has had plenty of time to learn about all the nooks and crannies in the state's financial accounting system. He sure used them all this time around.

One hopes the school aid fund, which depends on a combination of property, sales and income taxes, will recover as the Michigan economy improves after the recession. But the general fund depends on income and business taxes, which typically lag after a recession. And changes in the federal estate tax in 2003, not to mention the cuts in money for road construction that President Bush wants in his own federal budget.

The worry is that Michigan's recovery from the recession will be low and slow, especially given weakness in the automobile industry and in manufacturing generally. The hope is that there won't be a big, unexpected emergency that requires big time state spending.

In any event, I expect the Republicandominated state legislature to pass the Engler budget with a minimum of fuss, thereby preserving the governor's legacy as a tax cutter and budget balancer.

But in the back of my mind is another more cynical and utterly unprovable suspicion. Could it be that in preparing has last budget. Gov. Engler has all but written off the chances a Republican will be elected his successor? Otherwise. why prepare a budget that so recklessly risks pushing off the awful day of financial reckoning onto the administration of some Democratic governor?

Over the years, many outgoing governors and presidents have delighted in laying booby traps for their unwary successors, and Engler - always shrewd and partisan - just might be looking forward to a last laugh.

Now, if I ran the Winter Olympics...

It's February again, as it is every year at this time, and Michiganders are beset with the same quandry as they are every second or fourth annum: No. not a potential IRS audit for deducted losses in the office NCAA tourney pool, but the Winter Olympics!

Yes, the Winter Olympics poses a bit of a problem for your average sports fan. It presents in living color hundreds of hours of coverage and pontification of sports that vast majority of us have absolutely no interest or skill

Sure, you've got your basic skiing and skating. Most can relate to those sports or at the least suffering a career-ending injury in one of

John Heider (Notice them. someone in a full-leg immobilizer in January? They probably didn't rupture all their knee's ligaments and tendons playing co-ed volleyball. The ol' Double Diamond "Suicide Run" at Schuss und

Ski got 'em.) The Olympics in Salt Lake City will provide more sports the average viewer has no comprehension of or realistically interest in: The luge, the two-man bobsled, the four-man bob-sled, speedskating, stunt skiing, snow boarding, curling, pair ice "dancing", the biathalon, and precision team skating for Mormon Tabernacle Choir. (Alright,

I made that last one up.) I mean, the biathalon? For God's sake

- who invented this nutty sport? Guys skiing through the woods as fast as they can with guns on their backs, stopping to shoot at targets, skiing some more, nearly passing out from exhaustion, followed by more shooting.

I don't know about you, but the last time I saw guys racing through the woods in winter and shooting stuff as they went along, I called the cops.

To heck with all those elitist, eurodinky sports. I hereby nominate the following events be added to the next Winter Olympics, events that your average Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Smith Michigan resident can relate to:

The icy-patch-of-sidewalk slip-'n-fall. This is an easy one to train for and an event most Michigan residents know all too well. Contestants must navigate a 50-meter stretch of frozen-solid walkway in less than three minutes. Disqualifications for those who crawl.

Medals will awarded for the following: Gold, three months of in-hospital traction for partial paralysis/skull concussion; Silver, no fewer than 10 visits to an orthopedic surgeon; Bronze, three days off work and the need for six bottles of anti-imflamatories.

Getting your foot in and out of a pair of rental ice-skates. This is a real toughie. Not for wimps or the weak of heart. Putting on a pair of rental skates has brought many adults to their knees wimpering in confusion and consternation.

During this event no outside human or mechanical leveraging assistance will be allowed. Gold, awarded for those actually able to get their skates on before the two-hour public skate is over; Silver, for those who suffer severe foot-ankle circulation problems upon removal of skates requiring three months of physical therapy: Bronze, for skaters who simply give up in abject frustration and savagely chew the skate's laces off with their teeth.

The downhill sledding wipe out. Known to most Michigan residents as yet another one of the state's seasonal rites of passage, the wipeout has throughout the years separated the men from the boys, the women from the girls and the plaintiffs from the defen-dants in the inevitable civil suits that Sledding craft will selected by an IOC committe for their inherent instability. Top-heavy participants will only be allowed to compete as their wipe-outs make better replay footage. Medals will be awarded by Mrs. Barbara Bush. whose 1997 sledding accident led to a broken leg.

Sledding wipe out medals: Gold, given for bone fractures, torn tendons and eye-catching, bone-jarring cartwheels done during down-hill decent: Silver, for sledders who wipe out just as they've reached terminal velocity at bottom of hill and whose craft disintegrate upon crashing: Bronze, for sledders who "eat the snow", their wipe outs not pain-causing, but leaving them facedown in a snowbank with a mouthfull of the white stuff.

Now these are some winter sports I can get behind. Months of rigorous training, the never-ending search for corporate sponsorship and drug screens? Not needed. Put me in, coach! I can do 'em all!

push-three runaround, they yielded only a recording of the office hours and a final pleasantry something like "Please call us in the morning." (No mention of taking two aspirin.) The phone company didn't even provide their own voice mail or a message recorder.

We called again in the morning. We were told that the Ameritech cable was cut but that we could expect service to be restored by Monday. We waited past Monday until Thursday, phoned again to sales and service, and after the push routine were told that their number had changed, so push one for repair. That finally worked. For an updated estimate of repair time, I jokingly asked "Which Monday?" and only then learned that it would not be Monday, Feb. 4 by Feb. 11. Next time I'll ask for

The electricity and gas supply companies provide numbers to report outages and emergencies. It seems unwise that the prime system for emergency communication should not provide and list in all its directories a 24-7 number to call to report an outage and set in motion efforts at repair. Anyone trying to call from a pay phone could run out of change before getting through. Even with a cell phone, you can't get through to a responsible and responsive person during off-hours, so an off-hours widespread loss of phone lines from a disaster area could not even come to the attention of Ameritech repair crews until business hours the next day. I don't know about weekends.

Minimum wage isn't bad for U.S.

I had promised myself that I would not try to answer Neil Goodbred's long letters filled with misinformation to back up his arguments, but here I go again. He is still fighting coverage by Social Security, the system most responsible for raising the living conditions of elders in our population. I guess space prevented him from lauding George W. Bush for using workers' Social Security payments to help pay the huge tax cut for the wealthy who supported him for president. But that will come soon, no doubt.

He repeats the old canard used by business interests, that raising the minimum wage will result in loss of jobs because businesses will no longer be able to afford hiring workers. I remember hearing it repeatedly when the last raising of the minimum wage was proposed. But after it passed, we had the longest surge of productivity we have ever had and the unemployment figure was so low that you could hardly enter an establishment without seeing signs asking you to apply for a

Mr. Goodbred thinks government should not interfere with business. If so, should it also not protect it from fires and crime, build roads so that employees can reach the plants, educate future employees for their jobs, protect it from foreign invaders, enforce contracts it enters into, etc.? After all, these are all actions that directly effect business. But one of the basic responsibities of a government is to protect the health and welfare of its subjects. Making sure that employees with no bargaining power receive wages which at least keep them from starving or becoming homeless is part of it. Mr. Goodbred, do you remember the Big Depression of 1929? Your theories were in full sway until Roosevelt started modifying the rules. Employers could hire people at starvation wages, exploit them, and throw them out when they got past their prime. My family was poor so we never threw out edible food, yet my mother saw an old man eating out of our garbage can. I understand he was not an isolated case.

Thanks especially to Roosevelt and Johnson, we have a much better system today, even if far from perfect. Mr. Goodbred, it is you who want to return us to a system of semi-slavery.

scheduled to take place in April. On the last round we found some mold which was directly related to some equipment that was leaking," said Staber. "Two roof drains were found to be leaking and they had leaked or dripped onto a ceiling tile and there was a small amount of mold growth associated with those leaks. They had mold growth on ceiling tiles. There was mold growth on ceiling tiles directly below the mechanical leak. One of the roof drains actually had mold growing on the pipe, the other one

However, other environmental monitoring at the school has yielded good results, Staber said.

Everything has actually been extremely good," he said. "All the water sampling, all of the comfort sampling, all the gas monitoring. Everything has been fine.

Staber said it took two people approximately half a day to correct

Mold is not new, it's just a new thing people are being concerned about, said Staber. "Any time you have water intrusion and a nutrient source, such as drywall or in this case a two-by-four ceiling tile, then you can have mold grow. It can grow n any cellulose material."

Staber also said the district responded well to the problem.

Northylle school district superintendent commended the quick action was taken to correct the matter.

He said the Issue was brought to the district's attention on Feb. 7, and by Feb. 9, the mold was removed and air samples had been taken. Letters were sent home to parents and a school staff meeting was also

'lt's important we maintain a healthy environment for our students, staff and parents who come into the buildings, said Rezmierski. "That's a top priority for us. SHEEHAN'S

Sheehan's On the Green, an Irish Sports Pub, is centrally located at 39450 Five Mile east of Haggerty Road, and is quickly accessible to Northville, Livonia and Plymouth neighborhoods. Call (734) 420-0646 for more information. Available for groups and parties.

Hours are from Monday through Wednesday from 11 a.m. to 12:30 a.m., Thursday and Friday from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m., Saturday from 11:30 to 2 a.m. and Sunday from noon to 10 p.m.

In today's ever-changing world. it's nice to know that some things will never change- things like Sheehan's On The Green. This year will mark their 25th year in business for the neighborhood pub next to the Oasis Golf Dome.

"It's evolved over the years, but yet we still maintain the same friendly atmosphere." comments Tim Sheehan. "We keep things like they are. People like it here because it's warm and inviting."

The business is family owned, originally by father and son. Larry and Tom Sheehan, and now owned by brother, Tim Sheehan.

Indeed it's a mix of people you'll find coming through their doors, catering to an all around clientele. You can come here for a family dinner, a business lunch or to celebrate a Red Wing victory. It encompasses every age group. And many of the staff are long time employees, who remember their customer's names, too.

"You'd be surprised, we see some of the same families come here the same day of the week," said Sheehan.

Their food is one of the biggest attractions. Maybe it's because everything is prepared fresh on site, not pre-packaged. They build all of their own burgers and sandwiches on site. In fact, their burger has been voted #1 in many publications, says Sheehan. They offer fisteen disserent gourmet burgers. It's a half-pound of high quality ground sirloin, and a great deal with a variety of fixings priced from $4.95 to $5.95. Sheehan says they aim to keep prices reasonable. The same cheeseburger will cost you $3

NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY

By Tim Kissman SBAM DIRECTOR OF PUBLICATIONS

I brought together some experts to show small business owners how a tight-knit networking strategy can help increase sales.

I'd like to introduce Greg Henningway, Mitch Jordan and Keebler VanPeebles. Why don't we tell the readers what business you're in and how networking has helped you succeed.

First you, Greg.

'Aye, Tim. I'm a fisherman, from Liverpool, England, and if I didn't have me net I would starve."

Do you like to meet other fishermen, maybe make a tight connection, verbal contract, that sort of thing?

"Nay. I usually slip out in me dingy and fish at night. Night fishing is the best, Tim. Aye."

But, you use a net and that's why you're here, right?

"Aye. I brought it to show you." That explains the smell. Not quite what I had in mind. Maybe

Mr. Jordan can shed some light on some networking tech-I like to run a pick and roll, straight out of the south side of Eaton Rapids, homey. I can use the pick if I want to drive to the basket, or if the defense take away the lane. I can always fade back for a three. Either way, baby, it's twine time."

"I'll tickle the net with the best jump shot in basketball. Stick:

on me too close. Butterball, and I'll shatter the backboard with Butterball? Who is Butterball? "It's just an expression, dude. Chill out."

Fine. So you're a basketball player? Whatever. How about you Mr. Van Peebles? Tell me you're a businessperson, please.

Good! And what is it that you do?

"I make nets."
Great! What kind of nets do you make?

"I made the nets that helped catch the dinosaurs in "Jurassic Park: The Lost World." It was really a challenge. I was in the third Jeep. See me? No. Anyway. I had to use a lot of netting and actually double-knot each of the different braids. I'm quite

Did you do it by making friends with Steven Spielberg before the movie? Maybe at some sort of function, like a premiere event. I heard all the Hollywood types do business that way. Let's hear about that.

No. His company called me and I came up with the net design. That's not networking.

"Aye, but I'd like to hear more about those nets. Would they catch bigger fish? I keep trying to use this little net to catch the big ones but they get away.

Oh, I'm quite sure my double-knot system would hold a big fish. Unless you're going after whales, it'll hold."

"Aye, here's my card. Call me and we can do business."

"Hey, man. Do you think that net will last longer than a week? I'm going through nets on my basket like tissue paper. They just don't hold up to my three-point rainmaker. I'm just that good,

"I don't know about that, but I do know the double-knot system can hold a great deal of weight. I'm sure a basketball wouldn't even phase it."

"Great, man. Here's my card, give me a call and we'll talk." This is horrible. I thought you guys would show my readers how to network. Maybe give them a tip or two. Something. Sorry, mate. I have to go fishing. If you come up with something, call me. I'd be interested in hearing your thoughts, aye. Here's me card. Sorry I couldn't have been more help. 'Yeah, Butterball. Call me if you have an idea. You're a good

Really Mr. Jordan? Here's my card. I'll call you. I still don't see why you call me Butterball. "And here's my card Mr. Kissman."

Thanks Mr. VanPeebles.

"I could use someone like you on my next venture."

Great. Here's my card.

Well, sorry readers. I thought I could show you how easy it was to network with other small business owners, but I guess I got the wrong kind of guests. Tune in next week and maybe I'll get it right.

Cooke School staff honored for years of service

EDITOR'S NOTE: This story appeared in last week's edition of the Record, but not in its entirety.

By Jennifer Norris STAFF WRITER

After serving with the Northville school district a quarter of a century. several Cooke School employees have been lauded for their years of work and dedication.

The commendation for the employees came as a result of a surprise staff meeting Jan. 22. said Cooke

School principal Marilynn Bachonk. "[The] staff came anticipating it might be an emergency, but instead they learned that we were celebrating 25 years of service in the special education service for 17 of our employees," said Bachorik. She said the recipients received glass plaques during the staff meeting that commemorated their 25 years of service.

The celebration was hosted at Cooke School and employees were also visited by the district's superintendent, Bachonk said.

"The staff came anticipating it might be an emergency, but instead they learned that we were celebrating 25 years of service..."

"Dr. [Leonard] Rezmierski came over to present the plaques and was surprised to receive one of his own because he actually started the special education program over 25 years ago," Bachorik said. "This program wouldn't exist if it weren't for Dr. Rezmierski. He is-the person who helped design it over 25 years ago."

Bachorik also said that workers in a variety of departments were lauded, including para-educators, teachers, speech therapy, food service and custodial workers.

Molly Steiner, Lynne Thompson-Heebner, Helen Williams and Carol

These are people who have dedicated their lives to special educa-tion," said Bachorik. "They are outstanding people who care deeply for our students and they show it every day that they come to work."

"It's been lots of fun because we've studied lots of different types of bridges, said Anderson. "[Kurt] Westphal has done an outstanding Job not only teaching the kids these physics concepts, but being a role model for what an engineer does.

These activities closely correspond with and are in celebration of National Engineer's Week during the week of Feb. 18.

Westphal said the students fashioned three types of bridges including a Howe truss, a Warren truss and an !arch truss.

"They followed the plans really well," said Westphal. "They showed the commitment. I've gotten some very positive comments from parents. They did a pretty good job." On Tuesday afternoon, he said the heaviest bridge weighed 64 grams. "I think the kids learned a lot about problem solving," sald Westphal. "It was a commitment.

Anderson said he has specific goals in mind for the students during the bridge building and testing process.

"I hope that they apply some of their math and science knowledge," said Anderson. The second thing I want them to realize is that learning is fun. I've learned probably as much as the kids.

Amerman students also said they learned several key concepts as a result of the bridges club project.

Allie Ford, a fourth grade student, said she learned that the bridge will break in its weakest spot.

Fourth grader Andrew Tang shared a similar opinion.

"It was fun because you can try all different things and see which structure is stronger," he said.

Northville grapplers look strong By Kita Mason SPECIAL WRITER

The Mustang wrestlers are constantly improving with every said Northville wrestling coach Joel Smith of the WLAA Conference finals held Feb.

Northville placed eighth overall out of 12 schools in the conference. Leading Northville was captain Ravi Saran who took a first place in the 112 weight

"Ravi is wrestling fantastic. he's peaking at the right time." Smith said.

Smith reported that Saran tech falled his opponent from North Farmington to win the 112 lb championship. On paper Saran's match looked like it should have been close, but Ravi demonstrated technical mastery that opened up the 15 point spread and identified the undisputed winner.

Smith wishes the team could've finished higher, but he wasn't disappointed.

Each day is a new learning experience for these guys." Smith

Besides Saran, the younger wrestlers really provided the bright moments that point to the developing strength in Northville's program. Junior. Rick Riegner upset the second seed 10-8 in the first round of the 145 weight class. Riegner procecded to take fourth in his bracket for the tournament. Sophomore Steve Minier got his first Varsity pin in these conference finals. He lost his first two matches, proceeded to win his next two, getting stronger with each victory, to take 7th in the 152 lb weight class.

Other Northville medalers were Josh D'Anna (fourth place at 119 lbs), Matt Doyle (fourth place at 135 lbs) and Steve Cain (fifth place at 189 lbs).

The JV Conference finals had Junior Pat Patterson placing third at 152 -pounds, sophomore Ben Mason placing seconded in a hard fought 171 battle, sophomore Adam Blunk placing third at 103 and freshman Cody Civic placing third at 135.

The Northville High School Club Hockey team skated to their seventh consecutive victory Feb. 7 at Lakeland Arena in Waterford. The Mustangs beat a tough squad from Walled Lake Central 2-0.

he shutout was especially impressive since Northville was playing without two of their defenseman. Richard Grajewski was out with an injury and Mark Akins was ill, but the remaining defensive corps of Matt Giles, Jim Stevenson, Mike Arnold and Ryan Patrosso played a strong game in front of goaltender David Ely-Bond. The Mustangs forward lines also forechecked effectively and much of the game was spent in the Viking zone.

When Central did muster a scoring chance, Ely-Bond was sharp and kept them off the board. Northville took a quick lead as Don McKinnon scored a powerplay goal. Nick Reuter made a nice pass from the left corner and McKinnon one-timed it past the Viking goaltender. The only other scoring came in the second period as Reuter scored assisted by Kris Kojian and Mike Presley. The Mustangs' strong play kept Central in check the rest of the way.

Mona Shores 5, Northville 4

The Muskegon Mona Shores Junior Varsity hockey team beat the Northville High School Club hockey team 5-4 in a non-league game to break the Mustangs seven-game winning streak. In contest played Jan. 9 at Muskegon's L.C. Walker Arena, the Mustangs fell into one of their early season traps - giving up early leads. They gave up three goals to the Sailors in the first period and were never able to recover from the early deficit. In the second period Northville trimmed the lead to 3-1 as Andy Minielly scored the Mustang's first goal unassisted.

Later, the Mustangs pulled within one when Jim Stevenson passed to Robby Riehl who sent the puck to Don McKinnon and he converted for the score. However, the Sailors came back and scored on an unusual play when a Mona Shores player came off the bench on a line change, got behind the Mustang defense, and scored on a breakaway. Muskegon added another goal at the start of the third period to give the Sailors a 5-2

The Mustangs made it exciting though. Defenseman Jim Stevenson picked off a clearing pass at the Sailors blue line and skated to the top of the circles where he rifled a slapshot past the glove hand of the Mona Shores goalie to cut the deficit to two goals.

Then Andy Minielly, who played an outstanding game, stole the puck in front of the Sailor's net and scored to pull the Mustangs to 5-4. With 2:15 left in the game the Mustangs took a penalty but pulled goaltender Nick Lysaght to play 5 on 5 the rest of the way with an open net.

Northville pressured the Mona Shores goalie relentlessly but could not score the goal to tie the game and came up on the short end of the 5-4 goal as Mike Marquardt tipped in a shot by senior Jason Engelland with the second assist going to Adam

The powerplay kept the Mustang advantage rolling as Mickey Mason drew a penalty against the Warriors and Bobby Salerno capitalized, snapping home a close-range shot and tying the contest, 2-2. Just a minute later, Hartmann helped the Warriors back into the lead for his third goal. Tim Hillebrand and the Mustangs have been behind in games before though and the crew came through with another goal to tie the game, Hillebrand's first of three, as Nick Folas replaced Dave Stewart between the posts.

The game, which was a Western Lakes Activities Association contest, found the Warriors regaining the lead from Steve Lomakin.

Engelland, with his senior experience, stayed calm through the lead change and took advantage of a relax in the Western defense. The senior skated hard up the right side of the ice and into the Warrior zone, drawing the entire Western defense dropped a soft pass right onto the stick of Hillebrand, who scored.

Another Western goal, this one by Brian McCelland with assists by Bryan Norville and Jeremy Cheaney, showed the Warriors were not ready to give up — but neither were the Stangs. Hillebrand notched yet another hat-trick on the season with a turn-around blast from the top of the left circle with assists going to Troy Engelland and Ryan Hohl. The Mustangs took the lead for the first time in the game off of a blast from the blue line by defensive animal Dilley with the assists being credited to Jeff Crawford and Hillebrand.

The Warriors notched another goal, from Norville, to tie the game and to force overtime. Northville, who was playing in its first overtime of the season, stuck it to the Warriors quick. The Mustangs won the face off at center ice and drew the puck back to Rob Ward. Ward slid the pass to Hillebrand, who found Nick Strauch perched in front of the Western goal. The resulting one-timer goal sealed the game, giving the Stangs the 7-6 overtime win.

Swimmers are victorious

The Northville tankers, coached by Rich Bennetts, showed that the number of players that make up a team is not always indicative of what they have to offer. The 'Stangs notched a victory over the Walled Lake Western Warriors 127-58 earlier this season before collecting a close 99-87 win over the Livonia Churchill Chargers.

"It was a very, very close meet," Bennetts said of the Churchill swim. I think it was one of the best dual ineets, seen from a coaching standpoint, since I have been a coach at Northville. Six races were decided by a total of 1.6-seconds, all six races. Every race was bang, bang, bang."

The Mustangs cruised to a win behind the stellar swimming of some of their top athletes. John Moors took firsts in the 200 freestyle event in a time of one minute, 49.72 seconds before taking a first in the 100 free (50.29). Joe Lunn took first in the 200

Northville, Walled Lake Western basketball game going to be good

ents showcased on both teams. I am going to start with the Northville Mustangs. Let's see, the most obvious place to start is the towering goliath in the middle of the paint — some may know him as Thom Knapp, others can simply call him the "center" of attention. This young man, listed at 6-foot-11 in the program (though he looks more like the higher side of 7-0), is a talent just walting to break out. Knapp has plenty of ability as it is. with enough talent to really put the hurts to a team that can't find a way to defend him. The special thing about Knapp is the reality that his best years are yet to come. Any college that is lucky enough to get him to join the ranks of their basketball team will find themselves with a student that is eager to learn with plenty of top-notch years left to do it in. Add to that already powerful weapon the pure shooting ability of Adam Konst. Someone should start calling him the Terror from Beyond the Arc. This kid can shoot, there is little doubt in anyone's mind about that. Give him the ball in three-point land and he is probably going to bury it. Konst is a dangerous opponent, but also one that every team around has heard of — you don't score 35 points in a night and not get noticed. No doubt he will continue to be a factor in every game, but how much of a factor depends on the amount of pressure his opponents bring to him.

Tack on another variable in this equation in the form of Roger Garfield. Garfield, an up-and-coming guard for the Mustangs, is the guy that is probably going to lead this team in the next season. He has good ball control with a nice shot, but still has to learn the importance of holding onto the basketball and not trying to make things happen when he should hold off and wait for the play to form by itself. Not that I am putting Garfield down, in fact, I am doing just the opposite. I think this kid has a lot of potential and, with the addition of a little patience, the ability to be one of the Western Lakes Activities Association's top guards.

The two newest additions to my list of players to watch are Tom Borda and Dave Oljace. These guys are really starting to come on strong for the Mustangs. This terrible twosome can prove to be trouble from the starting position or off the bench and are ready to prove that putting the ball into the hoop is as easy for them as nailing the birdie on the par five — not to mention to hole is much, much

This isn't the end of the Mustang offensive and defensive capabilities. Reading off the talents of this team is much like taking a hot shower on a cold morning it's simply satisfying to the senses. The aforementioned players are some of the best Northville has to offer, but let's not forget the rest of Senior Robbie Harmer, who wears number 10 on the court, is one of the seniors making up this program. He has the ability to be a factor on both ends of the floor as well as on the boards. Scott McNeish, a junior forward for the Stangs, may not hit the floor as often as the Mustangs would like him to, but when he does he shows why he is a member of this basketball team. McNeish is a fighter on the court, one that doesn't give up no matter what the scoreboard reads. Senior Brian Peterson is one of the key players with this team. As a senior, Peterson has the responsibility of keeping the moral of the team kicking in high gear. His responsibility to lead the team, both on and off the court, and his success in doing so has helped make this program a tough one to beat. Jeff Varley, a 200 pound junior, stands at 6-foot-5, making him the second tallest player on the team. His size and his height make him the ideal candidate to fill in for Knapp if the situation calls for it. And let's not forget Chris Jacobs. This junior, standing 6-3, is one of six on the team and is getting the experience needed to lead this team come next season. Watch for him to be a role-player in both the playoffs and the 2002-03 sea-

And last, but not least, is the side-lined Tim Ferng. A brokenlawed warrior. Ferng is going to look like a crouched tiger from now until he is cleared to play again as he sits and watches his teammates from the pine. This ball-handling expert is more than eager to make his comeback -one that I do not doubt will be a worth-while one.

Now, that should be everybody. right? Oops, I almost forgot those "other" guys. Northville has seen a few changes on the hardwood this season, and one of them is the head coach. Darrel Schumacher, a first-year head varsity basketball coach, is the kind of a coach that cares about his players and the fun that they? have while on the court. Yeah, he thinks it's nice to win too, but he also knows it isn't the number one thing on the list. With him stands Ed Kritch on the side-lines as well as Tim Lutes, both who Coach Schumacher has sang praise for with their competence, 3 coaching ability and love for the players. This trio of coaches is a tough one to top.

Waiting to do just that is going to be the Walled Lake Western Warriors. These fellas are no pushovers and when they take the court, they come out to play and to win.

Leading the way on the court for the Warriors will be a multitude of weapons, including Bryan Verdun, Dave Zeitlin and Chris Eagle just to name a few. They won't be coming out just to watch the Mustangs gallop away with a win, not if they have anything to say about it.

Now, picking a game like this is a tough one for me. I feel as though I have a bit of a bond with both of them. I know they are not going to make this easy, but I guess I am going to have to decide.

Though it is a tough decision. I. am going to pick the Mustangs to. come away victorious in this one. I know Robbie Harmer and the gang aren't going to let my pick be wrong, right guys? Northville 65, WLW 61.

this team dug deep to put points on the board.

First year wrestler, Steve Cain (189) won 7-0. Sophomores Max Mayer (215) and Brad Ashby (130) combined for twelve points. The duo got their first varsity pins by taking down their opponents in the second periods of their matches. Ashby's victory put Northville ahead for the first time in the match, a lead that would be sealed by victories from Dave Carrol (140) and Rick Riegner (145).

Riegner took sweet revenge on the Stephenson wrestler who had pinned him earlier in the season, with a 13-9 win.

The match of the night was a display of sheer determination by Carrol who was behind 0.7 going into the third period, but refused to give up. Carrol shocked the Stephenson team when he took advantage of the most minuscule mistake by his opponent, reversed him with a move called the "short-sit fireman's," dropping the Spartan wrestler to the mat and squeezed a pin victory from what had looked like certain descat.

WLC cagers gets third win

When a team is in a rebuilding year like the Walled Lake Central Vikings basketball season, players and coaches alike have to enjoy the little victories throughout the season.

The Vikings did indeed notch a victory, an especially sweet one since it came on Senior Night, as topped the North Farmington Raiders 54-33 after losing to the Northville Mustangs 61-55 and to Westland John Glenn 63-57 — all of which were Lakes Western Activities Association contest.

I think this shows how much this team has grown throughout this season," Vikings coach Bob Shoemaker said. *Our first seven games of the season were blowout losses. The last nine, we have won three and six of the seven have been decided by 10 points or

One of their three wins came against a struggling North Farmington team, but in the end a win is a win - especially on Senior Night.

We started all three of our senlors," Shoemaker said. "One of them is pretty much our 13th man and he started with the understanding that if we needed to replace him we would.

The replacement, though it eventually came, was really not needed. The Vikings made short work of the Raiders in a game that could have easily found stellar sophomore guard Brandon Cassise scoring multitudes of points - instead, he scored 18.

"I kept him out quite a bit." Shoemaker said. At the half we were up 27-11 and there was no reason to keep Brandon in.

The Vikings move to pull their starters and their regular players found many of their players gathering points. Lemmie Plummer, a sophomore, scored six points, sophomore Jeremy Petty added two, senior Maxx Morris, who is starting to really come into his own, had five points, seven blocks and eight rebounds, senfor Jairus Baird scored two, senfor Erik Wilcox notched six and sophomore Trent Sizemore collected three in the winning effort.

Another big scorer for the Vikings was junior Jeff Matheney, who nailed 12 points to the scoreboard to assist in the

"I couldn't be happier right now with the way the kids have been competing," Shoemaker said. "It is all about what you do with what you have. Some people have a very, very talented team and are not happy with them. I am happy with my team."

Shoemaker noted that his three seniors. Morris, Wilcox and Baird, are all very talented players with very bright futures.

They are all members of the National Honor Society and all four-year honor students," he said. They are really bright kids with a lot of options waiting for

With graduation finding only three seniors to leave this Vikings team, there will be lots of talent returning for next season.

They give the same award for last place (in the league) as they do the second place." Shoemaker said. The exact same award. Either you are winning championships or you are building for them. We are building for them. This is going to be a very, very exciting team down the road."

The Walled Lake Central Vikings fell behind early in the contest and had to struggle to make a comeback by the fourth quarter - which they did. Heading into the halftime break. the Vikings trailed the Mustangs 33-17 and still trailed at the end of the third quarter, this time 47-

We outscored them in the fourth, 26-14," Shoemaker said. They had just two baskets and the rest were free throws in the fourth. We ended up going fullcourt man-to-man, which is something we don't do very often. It turned out to work pretty

Shoemaker and the coaching staff at Central don't call the fullcourt defense very often due to the young age and inexperience of the majority of their team.

We don't call it a lot because of the youth of the team. Shoemaker said. They are young and they are not very physically strong. We don't call it because we are trying to protect the kids."

Cassise continued his outstanding performance, adding 28 points in the game, with 12 coming in the fourth quarter.

"He's quite a player." Shoemaker said. I have been coaching for a long time and he is the best passer I have ever seen. He is also the best scorer. I have had players who scored more points, but Brandon has the ability to score in more ways than any of them."

Shoemaker said that even though their opponents have heard enough of Cassise to know they need to shut him down, they don't have the ability to do that. Cassise doesn't just pull up and shoot the jumper. No. he has the ability to take it inside, to score off the dribble, to go into the post and to bury the three. When all is said and done, he is all but unstoppable.

Along with Cassise, another high scorer was Morris. Morris. who poured in 11 points, has been a valuable asset to this team with his shooting ability and his board work. In his game against the Mustangs, Morris hauled down nine rebounds as well as three blocks.

"He is really coming into his own," Shoemaker said. "He has really started coming on for us and we have gotten better as a team because of it too."

John Glenn 63, WLC 57

The Vikings had a bit of a tough time with the Rockets of John Glenn, a sirst-ranked team in the WLAA, and could not hold on to beat the tough cage team.

The Rockets led 20-12 after the first quarter, but Central narrowed the gap to 32-29 at the

"This was an interesting game," Shoemaker said. "They are a very physical team and we had some trouble matching up with them.

Cassise led the Vikings in the contest, gathering 26 points and six assists, while Morris poured in 14 points and 10 rebounds for the double-double.

Walled Lake Western volleyball falls to Rocks

By Sam Eggleston SPORTS WRITER

Playing the best team in the conference is never easy -- scoring into double digits against them is just as hard, if not harder.

The Walled Lake Western Warriors girls volleyball team felt the sting of a tough loss against the Plymouth Salem Rocks but managed to make a mark against them as the Warriors fell 15-10. 15-11 in a Western Lakes Activities Association contest.

"I think (the reason we lost) is because Salem is the best team in the league," Western head volleyball coach Fritz Tallian said. They are 9.0 in the league right now and beat everyone that has played them.

Tallian noted that it was a mark of improvement for his struggling Warriors to score into double digits against the Rocks.

I think it shows significant improvement from the beginning of the season," he said. "We scored into double figures against a very strong team. I think we did very well."

The Warriors benefited from Courtney Dye collecting four kills and seven service points while Stacey Pisha added four kills. Becky Whittle added six digs and Megan Sorenson had 10 assists in the contest.

The Warriors, who are 9-22-1 with the loss, will return to action when they take on John Glenn and Northville next week.

"Those two teams are our last games," Tallian said. I hope we are able to battle against them and maybe get a couple more wins. It will all depend on how well the girls play. We are looking forward to those two teams and having some pretty close match-

Tallian noted that the most important things of the season is that the girls on the team have fun while staying competitive.

"I think they are having fun," he said. I think that is what it is all about. They have to have fun and be very competitive also.

While the Novi Volleyball team may be a perfect 6-0 in the KVC, the team knows they still have a tough road ahead of them if they want to grab the top spot.

The three seniors on Novi's team, Brittany Barrett, Jaime Sabol and Carmen Simkins all are aware of the tough road ahead but think that it can be

The team will have to beat Lakeland this week and then knock off South Lyon and Howell the next and finally beat Pinckney and a tough, currently unbeaten Milford team.

That game will be especially big if we both remain undefeated. Simkins said.

The team has to beat four other teams before that can be accomplished.

We have to take every game as serious as we would have Milford," Barrett said.

Obviously, Milford and Novi sitting a top the KVC will be battling in the KVC title game on February if both can remain undefeated to that point. However, reaching that level will Among the three seniors, all were afraid of playing down to another teams level and looking too far ahead.

"When we play pretty good competition we play at a high level." Barrett said. "We can't look past any team."

The players were worried that by focusing on a game that is weeks away they won't be prepared to play the teams they are facing that week. The team must stay hungry and not let their record or any other team's record distract them.

here's a peaceful flow to John and Jeanne Johnstons' Howell home. Not a typical lake property, the Johnstons and interior designer Kelly Hanson worked together to enhance an architect's original design.

Hansen believes the couple's good eye and similar taste in design made a winning combination at this home with a Frank Lloyd Wright influence. An architect designed the home, adding many innovative ideas and details, including circular walls and ceiling lines, numerous skylights and several built-in niches. The design takes full advantage of the lake view, with many glass windows, doors and skylights.

We've always wanted to live on the lake, and we liked the layout of the house," said Jeanne.

The home's appeal starts with the breathtaking view of the lake and is further complimented by the eastern influence in the decor. The couple enjoyed the Japanese inspiration they saw in many Seattle homes and brought it to Michigan. The home was perfectly suited to that style. Hansen said.

The outside and the inside here work together," she pointed out. "A lot of clients don't have the same taste. That's why this house looks so peaceful and put together.

The family room is where the family spends most of their time. It also provides the most optimal view of the lake.

It's a long and narrow room, so it was a challenge for Hansen to create a unified seating area. Instead, she divided into two seating areas, one with a hunter-green leather sofa. the other with an oversized chair and ottoman.

which provides a comfy spot to sit by the fire. A natural stone fireplace and cedar ceiling add warmth to the room. A mission style entertainment center blends well with the oriental art and other accents in the room.

'It looks like an antique." Johnston said. Intricately carved rosewood table and chairs accent the dining room.

Instead of a light fixture in the dining room, a stained glass panel provides overhead light. An unusual three-dimensional art piece in royal blue and gold foil is the focal point of one wall. John found it on a ski trip in Vail, Colo. In fact, Jeanne credits him with many of the creative ideas throughout the home. An unusual piece from John's mother holds the Johnston's bar.

*Knowing that it was hers, and having a piece that was handed down makes it extra special," said Jeanne.

A two-way fireplace joins the dining room and living room. The living room features Japanese prints and screen.

The Johnstons' kitchen is a perfect example of 'bigger isn't always better." Careful planning of space makes it useful as well as beautiful.

The cabinets are cherry. The stone-like ceramic tile backsplash coordinates with the natural stone fireplace in the adjacent family room. A stainless steel hood and stove and sleek black appliances complete the kitchen.

A hot tub, waterfall and rock formation overlook the dining area.

A powder room upstairs features one of the built-in alcoves, which holds a copper vase full of cherry blossoms. The coordinating wallpaper is also copper with cherry blossoms.

A dramatic brass gong hangs in the hallway to the bedrooms. It's a novelty with her younger nieces and nephews. Bamboo curtain rods and an obi sash carry the oriental theme into the master bedroom.

Kelly Hansen's services as an interior designer are available through The Decorating Center in Fowlerville. Call (517) 223-3796.

Jeanne and John Johnston's Howell home blends Frank Lloyd Wright-style architecture, including circular walls, alcoves and stained glass skylights (top), with an Asian decor. Interior decorator Kelly Hanson combined carved rosewood furniture, three-dimentional art and Zen-inspired sparse furnishings for a Far Eastern flare in the dining room.

This home's owner removed all extraneous walls and opened the ceiling to the rafters to create a wide, open space. A collection of funky furnishings holds the limelight against a pared down neutral

Making small rooms big

By Rose Bennett Gilbert COPLEY NEWS SERVICE

Q. Our 95-year-old bungalow is tiny! There are a good number of rooms — including three bedrooms — but each is claustrophobically small. And the low (under 8-foot) ceiling makes it feel even morre confined. What's our best answer, knocking out a wall?

A. Sounds like you shouldn't stop at one. I suggest you find yourself an architect who's savvy about load-bearing walls, and take out all that aren't. It will be worth the dust and expense to open up the space and let it flow into the 21st century. When your house was built back near the turn of the 20th century, there were a lot of reasons to cut it up into multiple rooms: easier to heat, larger families, things like that.

Today's technology makes it practical to live in wide-open spaces, where different activity areas virtually melt into each other. The openness also evokes splendid emotional reactions: rooms that look more expansive make the inhabitants feel expansive, too. The once-bitty living room we show here proves the point handsomely. We've borrowed the photo from a book that will intrigue anyone who lives with a shoehorn, "Small House/ Big Lifestyle" (Meredith Books). You're looking at a room that was once just one of eight, all crammed under

The owner took a deep breath ... and a bold step: she had all the extraneous walls pulled down to create more breathing room in the main living area. She also opened the ceiling line right up to the rafters to gain important space overhead, a project worth considering if the anatomy of your little house will allow it.

visit www.builders.org.

A final space-making tip: the newly pared-down interior is kept all-neutral and unfussy

Clean and determinedly uncluttered, it provides the perfect background for the owner's collection of eclectic — and eccentric - furniture. Her merry mixture showcases Victorian (love seat. in leopard), country (rush-seated chair) and mid-century modern (molded plywood chairs by Charles and Ray Eames; classic Isamu Noguchi

Even such a gathering of furniture history stars can't ruffle the calm of what is now large, gracious space - even though the entire house, do you believe, measures a scant 1,200 square feet!
