Northville resident Jessica Hatchigan will be hosting a publicity panel for her new book, "How to Be Your Own Publicist" at the Northville Township Barnes & Noble store July 18.

The panel is scheduled to take place from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. at Barnes & Noble, located at 1711 Haggerty Road. There is no charge to attend the event.

Hatchigan said several professionals from the communications or public relations field will act as panelists during the event.

She said panelists will include Bud Liebler, principal at Stratcom Communications; Scott Lorenz, president of Westwind Communications in Plymouth and founder of the Plymouth Ice Festival; Tim Yost, a veteran of Chrysler and GM Communications and Mike Parris, a veteran of Ford Motor Company communications.

The panelists are going to talk briefly about the ideas they've seen work well on a shoestring budget," said Hatchigan.

A question-and-answer session with audience members will follow afterward.

Hatchigan said such an event would likely appeal to small business owners, marketing managers, public relations and marketing professionals and small companies that do not have a large marketing budget.

"It's an opportunity to tap into the brains of some of the best PR pros around," said Hatchigan. "It's an opportunity to tap into PR expertise that you can put to work for your business."

Hatchigan also said the first 50 attendees will receive a free "No-fail Publicity Tips Report."

July 18 is the official launch date of Hatchigan's 240-page book "How to Be Your Own Publicist," which is her first non-fiction publication.

The book is also available online at www.amazon.com or www.bn.com.

"It's a fun, upbeat event," said Hatchigan, who will be available for book signings as well that evening.

She also said that her book has been performing satisfactorily.

"It's steadily climbing the ranks," said Hatchigan. "It's doing well."

Youths given shot at camp by youth assistance

By Pauline Campos
STAFF WRITER

Twenty Northville youths were recently awarded summer camp scholarships through Northville Youth Assistance on behalf of the Conrad Charitable Foundation. The foundation donated more than $13,000 to send the youths to various camps including Space Camp.

This is the second year [the foundation] has provided us with camp scholarships, said Northville Youth Assistance spokesperson Sue Campbell. "The head of the organization really felt like she wanted to do something for families and kids."

Campbell said that the selected youths — who were determined to benefit from a summer camp experience — were chosen from lists provided to them by the local schools.

The families were then notified about the scholarship and were able to select the desired camp for their child from the various accredited summer camp brochures in the office.

"We really let the families select the camps," she said.

One lucky youth will also be able to attend drama camp this summer on behalf of the David Vincent Memorial. Vincent was a mentor with the association for about eight years. He died in 2001.

All those eight years he was matched with the same boy. Vincent saw how camp benefited the child and [Vincent's] family saw how much the NYA meant to Vincent," said Campbell.

Vincent's family asked that memorial contributions be donated in his name from which the funds would be used to provide summer camp scholarships. The memorial fund will continue to bring joy to Northville's children.

Drug court program debuts at 35th

By Pauline Campos
STAFF WRITER

A new drug court program geared toward reducing the recidivism rate of alcohol and drug offenders will be unveiled later this year by 35th District Court.

The new program was made possible by grants received from the state of Michigan and the U.S. Department of Justice Drug Court Planning Initiative.

Court administrator Kerry Erdman said the state portion of the grant is being used to fund research for the new program, which is supported by Judges Ronald Lowe and John MacDonald.

"Right now, we are working on visiting other courts and over the next few months we will be study-

"Our goal is to reduce the recidivism rate among people that frequent the court as a result of their drug or alcohol problems."

Kerry Erdman
35th District Court

ing the number and types of cases we will be including in our Drug Court Program," said Erdman. "We will also be reviewing other drug court programs in the area."

Erdman and Lowe selected the drug court team that will be undergoing specific training to begin in November. The team includes chief probation officer Alan Ingrody, local prosecuting and defense attorneys, and Lowe and Erdman themselves.

The program is designed as a series of steps that participants must complete. Proper counseling and more personal interaction between law enforcement officials and the participants will be utilized in each step to successfully reach the heart of the substance abuse problem.

Participants will be assessed and required to report to a probation officer for six to 12 months. Upon successful completion at 12 months, the defendant will graduate from the drug court and can then be transferred to regular supervision or possible release. Failure to graduate will result in revocation of drug court status. The defendant would then be remanded to standard case processing where 35th District Court, would address the appropriate sanctions.

"We're very fortunate in this area to have communities that support these types of programs. Our goal is to reduce the recidivism rate among people that frequent the court as a result of their drug or alcohol problems," said Erdman. "We will consider this program a success if we are able to help even one person."

City water report: Northville's agua is H2-OK

By Pauline Campos

STAFF WRITER

The city of Northville recently released its 2001 consumers annual report on water quality and all is good. Not only is the community's tap water safe to drink, but it also meets or exceeds all federal and state standards for quality and safety.

"It's a requirement based on testing done the previous year," said Jim Gallogly, director of public works. "It's based on lab samples taken

DUAL METERS IN TOWNSHIP NOT LIKELY

The city of Northville may be content with its dual water meter system but Northville Township officials have no plans to implement such a program as it is believed to be unfair and unfeasible.

"First of all, it is not possible to meter sewage flow from individual accounts to check for sewage consumed," said township manager Chip Snider.

According to Snider, the total cost of sewage treatment and transportation is determined every year and then divided by the total amount of water sold to establish a sewer rate based on water usage.

"If we were to provide a separate meter devoted to irrigation and remove the sewer component from that meter, it would be necessary to transfer that sewage cost to the domestic meter," he said. "This cost would increase the cost for customers who do not irrigate. Philosophically, dual metering conflicts with good water conservation practice."

from the city of Detroit.

Northville's water comes from the Detroit River and Lake Huron and is treated by the Detroit Water and Sewer Department at the Lake Huron and Springwells Water Treatment Plant. It is then delivered to Northville through 25 miles of water distribution lines.

"We have good water. Some might say it's not as good as others but as far as contaminants and such, it's quality water," said Gallogly. "And of course that's our goal."

Water is determined to be safe to drink through regulations set forth by the Environmental Protection Agency which limit the amount of specific contaminants in water provided by public water systems.

The city then annually tests the water to ensure that the EPA's regulations are being met.

"People can say what they want about Detroit, but they do give us good water," said Gallogly, adding that he considers Detroit's water quality division to be excellent.

"They are very responsive to our needs and if we have questions they will come out at my request and test the water. It's their reputation at stake but they are good."

The yearly testing is required of all 126 communities in the state that receive their water from Detroit. New legislation requires that municipalities notify their residents as to the results of the yearly testing. Although residents of larger communities are able to have the report mailed directly to their homes, Northville residents are notified via notices printed in the Northville Record and information is available on the city website at <http://www.ci.northville.mi.us>.

Township cops have up-to-date firearms

By Pauline Campos

STAFF WRITER

Township police officers are armed and ready to protect. But more importantly, they are routinely trained and their weapons reviewed.

"We're updated," said police chief John Werth of the Glock .40-caliber firearm his officers have carried for the past five years. "One thing that the township has always done for us is to make sure that our officers have the equipment that they need."

And that equipment is reviewed on a yearly basis by the firearms training unit.

"We carrying the most up-to-date weaponry that is currently available for the officers. But as important as the technology is the training that is provided for the practitioners that carry these weapons," said township manager Chip Snider. "As we look to the future after [Sept. 11], we will continue to upgrade and improve upon the weaponry that is suitable for law enforcement community."

The officers will also continue to receive regular training to ensure they are able to properly handle the weapons they carry in order to serve and protect.

The officers are trained four times a year, two of which are qualifications. The department has also recently updated its training capabilities with "sim-units", an indoor training program involving paintballs.

"When we train with our officers we give them the most realistic training that we can provide them," Werth said. "When officers pull their weapons and they decide to shoot or don't shoot, other factors they are looking at are if citizens are by the target, and of where that round will go, because we are here to protect the residents that live in this community."

Werth said a law enforcement officer who can go 25 years without shooting a weapon has had a successful career.

"Their goal is not to have to shoot," he said.

Police Reports

OUIL: Officers arrested a 36-year-old Romulus resident on at approximately 2:30 a.m. on June 17 on charges of driving while under the influence. Officers had observed a red van pulling out of the MacDonald Ford used car parking lot on the corner of South Main and Seven Mile and thought it to be suspicious. A traffic stop was initiated and the driver produced his license and registration. Officers observed an odor of intoxicants emitting from the vehicle and questioned the driver, who stated that he had consumed three beers a few hours earlier. The driver agreed to a sobriety test with results of 0.163 percent BAC. He was arrested with court date pending, as this is the driver's second offense.

MARIJUANA POSSESSION: A 20-year-old Farmington resident was arrested on charges of possession of marijuana and narcotic paraphernalia on June 19 at approximately 1:30 a.m. after officers observed the center brake light of a black Eagle Sedan to be out. Officers initiated a traffic stop and were immediately able to detect an odor of marijuana coming from the vehicle upon making contact with the driver. The driver told officers that there was nothing in the vehicle and that he preferred the car not be searched. He changed his mind when officers stated that the K-9 unit was being contacted. The driver then told the officers that there was "some grass" in the vehicle.

Upon searching, officers found a cigarette rolling machine, a pack of rolling papers, a leather zippered case containing a digital scale, and a substance believed to be marijuana. The driver was arrested and later released on bond. He is scheduled to appear in 35th District Court on July 17.

School board member takes home state award

By Jennifer Norris
STAFF WRITER

Northville board of education trustee Gregory Pelc recently received a Level One Certification Award from the Michigan Association of School Boards.

The program consists of seven levels of certification awards. According to MASB officials, honors are awarded for each level of individual achievement based on classes taken, conference attendance, leadership activities and years of service on the board of education.

Officials said to become certified, board members undergo 30 hours of classroom training in subjects ranging from school law to community relations.

Higher levels of recognition, officials said, require additional coursework, service and leadership responsibilities.

"They have these different levels of certified board member awards," said Pelc, who completed nine classes to earn his certification award.

The courses covered a wide range of topics related to education and operating a school district.

"One was on how to write policies, on school financing and budgets, media relations and school curriculum," he said. "They update you on things that are going on in Lansing regarding financing or maybe policies."

"I think the classes were helpful. To get in touch with other school boards, you can see how your district rates [and] listen to different ideas. It's good information."

Pelc received his award at John Glenn High School, which is located in the Wayne-Westland school district.

"It was great," he said. "I got to

"To me, it's just a part of the job," said Pelc, who was elected to the Northville Board of Education in June 1999. "[To] try to learn more and bring back and share. It's a rewarding job. It's just been really rewarding to be on the school board. We're not perfect, but we're in good shape. We've got ourselves one really good district."

LUKER ATTENDS YTL SUMMIT

William Luker of Northville was recently selected to join more than 1,000 secondary school students from around the world for the International Summit of Young Technology Leaders taking place in Austin, Texas from now through July 16.

Designed to introduce exceptional students to careers in the industry of technology, the YTL Summit will also pioneer relationships between these students and the business and technology leaders of today.

The YTL Summit will feature seminars led by technology professionals focusing on such topics as programming, gaming, web design and virtual reality. Students will participate in roundtable discussions focused on issues affecting the technology industry and visit with Austin's business community and education institutions.

The YTL Summit is sponsored by Envision EMI, an education, management and marketing company.

A TRIP TO THE MEDICINE FIELD

Lauren Deneszcuk of Northville was recently accepted to participate in the National Youth Leadership Forum on Medicine which took place in Boston from June 23 to July 2. NYLF/MED is a career development program for high school students who demonstrate academic excellence, leadership potential and an interest in medicine. Deneszcuk joined approximately 350 other high school students from around the country.

Throughout the 10-day forum, NYLF/MED introduced Deneszcuk to a variety of concepts in public health, medical ethics, research and general practice, including site visits to medical facilities and clinics. Students became engaged in a problem-based learning simulation, an educational method where they are presented with a fictional patient's case history and must diagnose and develop a treatment plan for the patient.

In addition to site visits to medical schools and clinical facilities, Deneszcuk heard from and had the opportunity to interact with leaders within the medical field. Students had personal contact with physicians, surgeons, researchers, scientists and medical educators as they went behind the scenes to view these professionals at work.

RIDGE WOOD GROUND-BREAKING

The Northville Public Schools board of education announced the groundbreaking ceremony for the district's new Ridge Wood Elementary School will take place on July 16 at 5:30 p.m. at the school site.

Ridge Wood Elementary will be located at 49775 Six Mile Road in Northville. It will be on the south side of Six Mile Road and west of Ridge Road.

Speakers will include the yet-to-be-named school board president, superintendent Leonard Reznierski, a representative from the architectural firm of Fanning & Howey and a representative from the construction management firm of Etkin Skanska.

Responsibility part of legal use of alcohol

So what does it mean when fathers give the keys to their 12-year-old sons because they're too tipsy to be behind the wheel? What does it mean when young people get so drunk they're left unattended in a pool of vomit by the toilet?

It means a lot of things — not the least of which is a message that it's the actions of the minority that generate the biggest problems for all involved.

At age 12, most youths haven't even raced a go-kart on their own. To ask a child to assume control of a full-sized vehicle, at night, on busy streets, is simply abhorrent. It's a miracle no one was hurt, but that doesn't diminish our outrage.

And at the White Gate Drive house party, we're equally as dismayed by not only the amount of booze consumed, but the utter irresponsibility of those hosting the party to allow a visibly intoxicated person to remain unattended. You'd think someone "mature" enough to drink would know that's the last thing that should be done, but apparently that's not the case.

We know this isn't the first such instance of bad judgment in Northville and it won't be the last. Still, we hope lessons are learned and at least a few other people won't make the same mistakes.

FOOTNOTE: (Wayne County officials announced Wednesday a zero-tolerance policy for drinking and driving which would last throughout the balance of the summer. We think it's a good idea, but ask the question: why stop with Labor Day?)

When we read these reports, we see so-called adults acting like children, and children acting like so-called adults.

When we read these reports, we see so-called adults acting like children, and children acting like so-called adults. Both are shameful examples of people not grasping the power of the most prevalent drug in our culture, nor respecting the laws governing its use, nor taking the proper course of action when a mistake in its use has been made.

Ultimately, the use (or abuse) of alcohol is a decision made by the individual. Most people are sensible and enjoy a drink or two over dinner with friends. They know their limit, adhere to it, and take responsibility for their own actions. Sadly, this isn't the case with everyone. And as is often the rule, Skate boarders, in-line skaters and bicyclists enjoy the newly opened Vans Skatepark in Novi..

Patterson deserves credit for judgeship

Judge James N. Garber (Retired)

35th District Court
Northville

I am in whole hearted agreement with the Record editorial about the new judgeship for the 35th District Court. I am compelled, however, to offer one addition. Without the efforts of State Representative Bruce Patterson (R-Canton), Governor Engler would not have "... broken from his no-new-judges policy" for the 35th District. I was present during many of the hearings and privy to most, if not all, of the negotiations on this matter. Rep. Patterson was the primary reason that the local court became "one of the few exceptions to the rule."

It has been said that success has many fathers. In this case there is no question as to the paternity of the new judgeship.

Why can't township have dual meters, too?

As a Northville Township resident, I read with great interest the article entitled "City: dual water meter system effective." This was a very positive article and quoted "The feedback we have been receiving is all positive."

Apparently the township has not seen this information nor studied the same statistics prior to making a decision to not offer this option to township residents. While Northville [city] residents signing up must pay the fees associated with the dual meters, they do so and are happy.

while township residents are told their research shows that "the cost of adding an additional meter is not something most homeowners want to incur."

The article also alludes that the amount of the discount is not 100 percent on sewer rates, but only 60 percent, removing the "subsidized" concern that the township cites in their "Water & Sewer Annual Report." Adding insult to injury, we already have the highest water rates in the area. According to Detroit water and sewerage department statistics, Northville Township water rates are $13.27, versus Northville at $9.93 and Ecorse at $3.84 — so we pay the highest rates for the privilege of not separating the true cost of water usage. It's time the township representatives asked the residents what we want.

I've learned a lot from England

I've just returned from a conference in England, where I had my eyes jolted wide open by the differences between our two countries, so thoroughly separated, as the saying goes, "by our common language."

Some background first. Many years ago,

I won a Marshall Scholarship to attend Oxford University. I wound up enrolling at one of Oxford's 31 colleges, University College. A couple of years ago, Univ. (as it's called) celebrated the 750th anniversary of the original funding grant it received in 1350 from the Bishop of Durham.

Hoping to survive for another 750 years, Univ. put together a gathering at which the Master, various faculty members, a few administrators and some alumni ("old members," in English parlance) to talk about how best to do this. It was during these conversations that I suddenly understood the enormous gulf that exists between basic assumptions about the role and power of government in each country.

The English way, going back to the days when King Henry VIII took over the church and created the first total state, is that government control is the normal state of things and that grants of authority to individuals or the locals are relatively unusual. The American assumption is quite the reverse. Article 10 of the Constitution, for example, says that those powers not explicitly given to the government are reserved for the people.

These differences were highlighted by our discussion about higher education, which in England is micro-controlled by the government in a way inconceivable to an American university. Here's how:

- The Ministry of Education tells Oxford University and each of its colleges exactly how many students from Great Britain and European Union countries it may admit.

- The government funds Oxford University and each college per student enrolled. Since 1989, this support has halved, dropping from 7700 Pounds to around 4800 Pounds today.

- The government also caps the fees for tuition and board and room that the colleges are allowed to charge students, explicitly forbidding "top up fees".

- The sum of per student government grants plus the fees colleges are allowed to charge students is substantially less what it costs the colleges. So the colleges lose money on every student they enroll.

- The government even tried (and eventually failed) to forbid individual colleges from giving scholarships to poor students. (This is odd, because one of the government's main policy objectives is to increase the number of poor kids enrolled in universities.)

The Americans at the meeting, of course, went apoplectic at all this. They talked knowledgeably about how an Oxford degree is a "world class brand" that entitled the colleges to charge a "market clearing price" that would meet the per student costs and leave something over for scholarships for poor students. They observed that the likely outcome of a policy that systematically impoverishes the colleges is the deterioration of the quality of an Oxford degree. And they suggested the colleges "go private" and tell the micromanaging government bureaucrats to bag it.

They had a point. Imagine Gov. Engler telling MSU

President Peter McPherson just how many students he could enroll at Michigan State! Consider what the University of Michigan board of regents would do if they were told by the Department of Management and Budget just what fees they are allowed to charge! And think of the reaction of public universities in Michigan if the state legislature were to set strict admission quotas based on family income and whether students went to public high schools.

As I was flying back across the Atlantic, I started musing on how things came to this pass at one of the very greatest universities in the world. Years ago, Oxford University and its colleges were essentially private institutions, free to admit essentially any students they chose. After World War II, the British government recognized that a lot of smart kids couldn't afford to go to Oxford, so it started giving scholarships to all but the richest students.

And both British families and Oxford colleges, liking the government paying for kids to go to Oxford, acquiesced in what amounted to a governmental takeover of their higher education system. And in England, without a tradition of separation of powers and operating on the pervasive assumption of government micro-control, he who pays the piper calls the tune.

The lesson for us Americans? Simple. When the government offers to give you money for something, be wary. Just as it's the camel's nose under the tent that fore-shadows the whole animal inside, the way to government control often starts in what seems to be innocent acceptance of government money.

ball park. Now it's synonymous with broken promises, ruined lives and deceitful executives.

We all have to take leaps of faith on a daily basis. Without doing so, we'd never function as a society. In 99.9 percent of those instances when we need to place our trust in other people, things go off without a hitch.

But isn't it amazing how bad things can get when even a sliver of mistrust enters the picture? Being honest and expecting honesty from others is always the best policy.

Trust me.

GUEST COLUMN

Work and family can create stress

The battle of work stress versus family stress seems to exist in almost every household to which my work as a pastoral psychotherapist takes me. The complaints are legion; the complaints take many forms. Some say that my spouse (husband or wife) is not home enough because he/she is so absorbed in work. Others complain that with the job, or jobs, the kids needs, and the running of the household that there is no time to be a couple.

To put together a work life and a family life is to put together expectations and priorities. The balance is in part between material things and human values. I would suggest that the parents' with their heart in their families are going to lean strongly to more time with spouse and children than the cleanest house and the best looking yard. Putting together a work life with a home life is a challenge, and takes careful planning. But it is not impossible.

Some of the many suggestions that one can find are fine ways to reduce personal stress. Simplify your lifestyle. Do things as a family, such as having children participate in chores. Alternate who takes a child to different activities. Use the time in the car to visit and talk. Find ways to support civil, not perfect, behavior. Have a sense of humor about yourself and what goes on around you. Have alternatives for childcare. Make sure you and your spouse keep your relationship in good shape.

In addition to these suggestions try to look for the positive. Be generous not only with each other but also through your house of worship, civic group or other agency with those around you. Generosity is not only healing in and of itself but it helps you put your own life situation into perspective.

Be clear on what you can change and what you cannot. While we think we must have certain possessions, do certain activities, and live in a certain lifestyle some of those choices may be self-imposed. Perhaps the things you cannot change are the hours that school begins, certain job requirements, and traffic on the way to work. Within the activities that seem cast in stone look for the cracks. On a long commute listening to soothing music or a book on tape may be what you need to put you in a better mood for the office or home. Allowing a little more time for breakfast, by getting up a little earlier, may be just the ticket to remain connected with your spouse or family.

One study of mothers and fathers who both worked determined that working fathers reported depression because of lack of a supportive spouse and feeling insignificant in their role. Working mothers reported feeling depressed where there was not a sharing of tasks in the home. When fathers feel valued and mothers feel that the work of the home is shared the work and family balance goes a long way to feeling balanced. The values which we place on the love we have for ourselves and therefore for others, particularly our families, provide the framework for creating our own particular life's routine of fulfillment and happiness.

"how do I balance my work time and my home time?"

Some fantasize or imagine that a therapist will have some special tricks to immediately solve the problem. Give me the recipe for a happy and balanced life. There are two responses that I can think of to these presenting questions. I do believe there are some things which you can try which work for many people. I also believe that for most of us there are most complicated and long-standing thought and behavior patterns, influenced by powerful feelings which should be worked through to make the kinds of changes that one wants and needs to

Arrowhead Alpines

With Michigan's largest selection of....

Perennials, Woodland Wildflowers, Unusual Ferns,

Rare Alpines, Dwarf Conifers, Unusual Shrubs

We have finally wrapped up the mail order shipping season and are open for retail. Everything looks fantastic, of course the mildest winter in history did help a bit. As one of the largest rare plant growers in the country, we are confident you will find plenty of cool stuff that you have never seen and we understand the "need one of each" addiction. We have grown so large that its impossible to see everything in a single day. Indeed the diversity can be a bit overwhelming, study the catalog carefully or check out the website ArrowheadAlpines.com perhaps bring a few reference books, and start your quest to find the plants you have previously only dreamed of growing. Over 100 varieties of Primulas, 80 varieties of Hostas, 24 varieties of Trilliums, 16 varieties of Thillium, 60 varieties of hardy ferns, Lady's Slippers, Gladiolus, Hardy Cyclamen, Daphne, Arisaema, Helebores, and of course the largest collection of rock plants and incredible alpines (our Saxifrage listing is legendary), not to mention hundreds of varieties of rare flowering shrubs and dwarf conifers, and the most diverse selection of hardy vines in the United States, plus a huge selection of perennials. We grow around 10,000 different species and cultivars including many things that can be found nowhere else.

Rezmierski heads off to Harvard for superintendent conference

By Jennifer Norris
STAFF WRITER

Northville Public Schools superintendent Leonard Rezmierski has been selected to participate in the 2002 Harvard Seminar for Superintendents.

The session began on July 7 and is scheduled to conclude July 12.

Rezmierski said he had to apply for the opportunity and was later accepted to attend. Forty school superintendents from several different states are slated to participate in the seminar.

During the event, the itinerary included lectures entitled "Angiotensin Inhibitors: A New Class of Drugs," and "What is "Fundamental" About Islamic Fundamentalism?" Sessions were also scheduled to discuss "Can Education be Disrupted?" and "Corporate Communications."

The sessions were presented by Harvard University professors and various lecturers.

"It's really quite stimulating," said Rezmierski. "They don't want us to just focus on our job. Their approach — and what attracted me to apply — is that similar professionals meet and collaborate with other superintendents about other academic areas."

Rezmierski said he was anticipating the trip to Harvard and sharing the experience with 39 other school superintendents.

"We're all consummate lifelong learners," he said. "I'm looking forward to it. It's exciting. It intrigues me to learn. The topics are very different than I would normally spend time on."

Rezmierski also said that this was his first opportunity to visit Harvard University.

"I'm very much looking forward to this because it's different and it's challenging," he said. "It will be an opportunity for new learning. It may just teach an old dog new tricks. I'm glad the board supported me to do this."

Just what the butcher ordered

Old World practices are a norm at Lyon's Marketplace. Here, owner Byron Muonio makes fresh Italian chicken breast sausage, which is low in fat for health conscious patrons.

Lyon's Marketplace now featuring a healthier selection of meats to choose from

LYON'S MARKETPLACE

Lyon's Marketplace is located at 509 S. Lafayette in downtown South Lyon. It is open 7 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday, closed on Sunday. The phone number is (248) 446-1822.

the front door to the meat counter," Byron says. "is the small-store advantage of meeting individual orders. Recently, I made sausage for a customer with an old-family recipe that she provided."

The commitment to customer service is obvious. Veal brains, cow tongues, whole pigs or beef sides, employees at the market take your order with a smile. They will fill it or bend over backwards trying.

Byron says a smaller market like his is able to provide a fresher, all-natural product that doesn't contain growth hormones. This comes from animals that are allowed to roam free rather than be penned. For the doubtful consumer, he suggests a taste test between his Bell & Evans chicken breast and a pre-packed chicken breast from a chain grocer.

Lyon's Marketplace is a big believer in brand names when it comes to its deli meats and cheeses, also. Byron says he looks for companies that have a product low in preservatives. Dearborn Sausage Company, Boarshead and Dietz & Watson are among the top quality lines in the case, sharing space with hard to find items like Oldani Salami and head cheese.

Alongside its choice cuts of steaks, roasts, pork, free-range chicken and fresh fish, Lyon's Marketplace prepares daily seasonal entrees ready for oven or grill. Summer fare includes bacon-wrapped filet mignon, marinated shish kabobs in pork, chicken, fish or beef, and the delicious and health-conscious Italian chicken breast sausage.

Besides the obvious advantage of not having to walk a half mile from restaurants. In addition to the walk-in business, Lyon's Marketplace also offers catering services. The same product you see in the counter is what goes onto their trays and into their salads. The fresh taste appeals to corporations looking for a tasty but light business lunch. The market has added delivery for this growing service.

A great product line, attention to detail, staying on top of ordering and inventory control to ensure freshness were enough to get Lyon's Marketplace off the ground. A loyal customer base has made them a destination point in South Lyon.

"When we opened our doors, a lot of people thought that South Lyon wasn't ready for a top-quality meat market," Cami said, "but we were warmly welcomed into the community, and since then everything else has just been icing on the cake. It's rewarding work to be part of the community that you love."

The Muonios, who live in Lyon Township with their four children, say the small-town feel that led them to South Lyon in the first place was the perfect atmosphere in which to open their market.

"People stop by just to say hello, or to let us know they're going out of town but they'll be back in two weeks," says Byron. "That's just great."

Perhaps it's that kind of aura that makes this new spot on the block feel like your dad's recliner — safe and welcoming.

Byron Muonio, owner of Lyon's Market Place in South Lyon, displays the wide array of meat that is available fresh daily.

Read. Then Recycle. Our future depends on it.

McCotter adds his name to Congressional hopefuls

Security and said that eCongress needs to be reoriented as to the importance of the system and how to protect it.

• Thinks new domestic sources of energy need to be found but that conservation is just as important. "When we have good economic times, it's never a concern," he said.

• Co-sponsored a bill with Canton state Senator Loren Bennett that would mandate the banning of foreign waste in Michigan. He also said he does not agree with the argument that the practice is protected by the North American Free Trade Agreement. "If the bill is passed, states will then have the discretion if they choose to close their borders to imported trash," he said. "Right now, we are prevented under the interstate commerce clause as a state from being able to ban it. For whatever reason, they consider trash to be a commodity."

• Would oppose federalizing the Great Lakes stating that federal money always comes with strings attached. "There are places that would love to get their hands on Great Lakes water," he said. McCotter said he would continue to work with the National Governors Association and individual states to take care of their water problems without putting the control of the Lakes into the hands of the federal government.

A 1987 graduate of the University of Detroit Mercy's College of Liberal Arts, McCotter later graduated first in his class from the University of Detroit School of Law. He and his wife Rita, have three children.

The state's primary election will be held Aug. 5 with the general election to follow Nov. 5.

Police called to house party age 21 and over and those under 21. Those of legal drinking age were allowed to leave after officers questioned the underage groups as to whether or not anyone over 21 had supplied them with alcohol. No one answered.

The remaining group was then read their Miranda rights and asked to give a breath sample. As stated in the police report, those who had not been drinking were the first to step forward and were released. Police determined the remaining individuals — who were residents of Plymouth, Garden City, Livonia, and Northville — had blood alcohol levels ranging from 0.038 percent to 0.2 percent. They were arrested and are scheduled to appear in 35th District Court on July 24.

The 20-year old resident of the home was also charged with violation of a city ordinance prohibiting allowing the consumption or possession of alcohol at an open party.

"You hear about stories where young people do a lot of drinking and get alcohol poisoning and end up dying from it," said Petres. "In this case it's disturbing that while this party was going on, this person was left in the bathroom to fend for himself."

Most Valuable Players of the Year

Novi's Tim Moore gets boys' MVP recognition

It seems like every time I turn around I am talking about Tim Moore. Be it in the sports pages, with fellow writers or with my friends that are just interested in good athletes, Moore always seems to come up.

Not that there is anything wrong with that. Heck, you could do a lot worse than talking about a runner that has a national championship under his belt along with multiple All-American tags next to his name.

He wins plenty of state titles to be recognized, moving up to the national and the world level just blows my mind when I meet someone who claims they love sports and they don't know who he is.

Moore's ability when it comes to long, long, long distances made him a shoe-in for HomeTown East's Most Valuable Player of the Year for the boys. When he wasn't too busy winning national titles, Moore always found time to get a headline in a HomeTown newspaper. His dedication to the sports he participated in and his determination to excel both on the field of play and in the classroom pretty much made him an ideal athlete.

If you take a step back and look at his grades — 4.0 GPA — you might know that he is not only a student in the classroom, but also on the field of play. He learns what it takes to win and he does just that.

I figure that even if Moore

wanted to try out for football or basketball that he would succeed in making the team. Just do to his heart throbbing in his chest with each beat pushing him harder and trying to make him become better and better with each passing pulse.

Moore is definitely one of a kind. Neither Novi High School or Coach Bob Smith are going to find an athlete quite like him ever again. I know I won't ever get the opportunity to write about such pure long-distance running ability again in my career — unless I start writing for the South Bend paper and get the cross country and track beat for the University of Notre Dame.

One of the things that I have come to admire about Moore is the way he never gives up. It's pretty much understood that his ability to win races decreases as the length of the run increases, yet give him the 100-meter dash and tell him to give it his best and he will. The same with the 400, the 800 and so on and so forth. Heck, tell Moore to throw the shot put and he would probably do it and do an OK job at it.

I can safely say that Moore is going to be missed. He will be missed by Novi High School, the Novi community, Coach Smith and, yes, even myself. HomeTown Newspapers would like to wish Moore, and all of the other collegiate-bound athletes, the best of luck in all of their future endeavors.

Sam Eggleston is the sports writer for the Northville Record and the Novi News. He can be reached at (248) 349-1700, ext. 104 or at seggleston@ht.homecomm.net.

Mallinson female MVP of the Year

Both scenarios don't sound ideal. But to witness them is to understand why Milford High School grad Connie Mallinson is HomeTown East's Female Athlete of the Year.

On the basketball court Milford hoped the other team had a big-time scoring guard. Because the Redskins had an answer.

Mallinson, a three-year starter, could lock them up and in the process throw the entire offense for a loop. That's how it worked as Milford made it's magical post-season run last fall, beating KVC champion Brighton and winning the district title.

Mallinson, a first-team all-conference pick, was the stalwart, hard to check with her own dribble, then turning the tables on the other end.

Then, in the spring, on the track. Perversely, maybe, but probably not a few Milford fans enjoyed seeing one of the girls' relay teams trailing after the first three legs. Because if Mallinson was running the anchor they were guaranteed a good show, win or lose. And with Mallinson it was usually win, as she captained a team which unseated Brighton as conference champions. Four times she claimed the KVC title in the 400 meters.

Mallinson will run track next year at Central Michigan University. The Chips will be getting a terrific athlete, to be sure. But better yet, as foes, fans and coaches from throughout our area can attest, whether it be indoor and outdoor, with a ball or just her feet, they'll be getting a true competitor.

Wolbers ready to attend Michigan

By Brian Doyle
SPECIAL WRITER

Northville's Jimmy Wolbers will be moving on from high school and high school athletics as he steps into a new life next year. Wolbers will be heading off to the University of Michigan in the fall to study engineering.

He's not sure what type of engineer he wants to be but for the present he's thinking of mechanical engineering.

"I like math and science and I don't like English and history," Wolbers said about academics.

For him, engineering seemed like the right fit. He will be following in his dad's footsteps who is an engineer.

"I see some of the things he builds and does around the house," Wolbers said. "I think that knowledge would be cool."

Wolbers, who played football and baseball at Northville High School, said that both of his parents have been very supportive of him in athletics. His mom, Mary Owen, and his dad, Eugene, have gone to a lot of Wolbers athletic events.

"They've probably gone to every sporting event I've ever been in," he said.

Wolbers also has an older brother, Jason, who, although he didn't follow in his footsteps athletically, Wolbers drew other inspiration from his brother.

"I've looked up to him," Wolbers said.

Wolbers began playing sports when he was very young — he started playing baseball when he was right around six years old.

"I've always been active in some kind of sports," he said.

HomeTown East presents the Players of the Year

Simply the best of the best in their respective athletics

By Sam Eggleston and Steve Bell
SPORTS WRITERS

Here, we have listed all of those athletes who have earned the title as Player of the Year in their respective sports. For many of them, it was the last time they were going to get a nod from the HomeTown East All-Area selections, but for a few it just marked the first of many times they would be named as the best of the best.

Girls' Tennis

Lauren West
Senior
Northville

A well known face and a well known name in the Northville tennis community, West has been a consistent factor for the Mustangs throughout the season. West, a senior first singles player for the Northville girl's tennis team, is one of the team leaders and someone coach Sandy Woolfall said "is a solid tennis player." Her ability and dedication to the sport of tennis has helped us select her as the HomeTown East Player of the Year.

Boys' Golf

Tom Borda
Senior
Northville

Borda earned All-State Honorable Mention honors last year and tied for fifth at the state tournament. He earned all-division his freshman, sophomore and senior years and all-conference his junior year. He was also the HomeTown Newspapers' Golfer of the Year in 2000, a feat he repeated for 2001. His ability and his skill made him the ideal candidate for the HomeTown East's 2001 Player of the Year.

Football

Steve Bell
Senior
Walled Lake Western

Walled Lake Western's premier runner is the exact role Steve Bell stepped into this season.

Combined finesse running with battering ram power made Bell one of the toughest runners to take down in the Western Lakes Activities Association. Coach Mike Zdebski feels Bell is the "best All-around player on my football team."

Bell's ability to take charge and to lead the team and to be an example on and off the field made him a prime candidate for our highest award — Hometown East's Player of the Year.

Boys' Cross Country

Tim Moore
Senior
Novi

This one was quite obvious, even for those who only flip to the sports section now and again. Tim Moore, a National Champion and an athlete with multiple All-American tags after his name, is pretty much impossible to replace. He pretty much has gained the reputation of being untouchable, which stood true throughout the entire cross country season and into the national scene. Heck, you really can't complain about a runner that only felt defeat at the hands of his World-peers while running in Ireland. We have come to view Moore as the athlete who can't help but get his name in the paper. No matter what he does, be it in the classroom or on the competitive athletic field, it's worth mention.

Girls' Cross Country

Nina Schmitt
Junior
Novi

Schmitt was a consistent and steady bright spot for the Wildcats this season. On a team that had to challenge themselves in order to be competitive, Schmitt was the model that all of the Wildcats looked to set themselves by. Her running captured her first-place titles on more than one occasion, including impressive running at

It's Simply Madness

The Novi Motor City Madness 10-and-under fastpitch softball team placed second in the Plymouth/Canton Pride Invitational June 29-30.

During the tournament, pitcher Deanna Wagner gave up only four walks while facing 100 batters over the weekend. Pitcher Miranda Cleary struck out 12-of-53 batters she faced while on the mound and she batted .500 with two doubles and drove in six RBIs. Megan Burns batted .760 with an on base average of .800 as she drove in five runs with two doubles and a triple. Kelsey Hart batted in 11 runs while batting a strong .750 with three doubles. Catcher Suzanne Anderson caught every game and had a good performance at the plate as well, driving in four runs with a .357 batting average and an on base average of .471. Megan Morad, the lead off batter, had an on base average of .556 and a swatting average of .385.

"The entire team stepped up their play after a break showing in the first game," Head coach Phyllis Wagner said. "It was a very hot weekend and we faced many strong teams. Making it to the championship game was awesome. The girls didn't think they could do it, but everyone pitched in and did their job." Rzepka reaching new heights

By Brian Doyle
SPECIAL WRITER

For most, collegiate athletics is something to dream about. For 2001 Novi graduate, Mickey Rzepka, it is a reality.

Rzepka was on the Michigan State women's track and field team this year and actually took the lead as the team's top pole-vaulter. Rzepka set new indoor and outdoor track and field records in the pole vault. She was also the top freshman in the Big Ten conference in the outdoor season.

At Novi, Rzepka was a top pole-vaulter and also ran sprints and relays; at MSU, pole vaulting is her only event.

"I really enjoyed being able to focus on vault," she said.

With just focusing on the vault, Rzepka was able to improve from her 11-foot best in high school to 12-foot at the college level.

"I improved a foot since high school," Rzepka said and added that she was able to improve on techniques this year by watching film and focusing on one small part of her vault and improving on it.

"I get to work on every point of the vault," she said. "I really liked being able to pick apart and watch film."

Rzepka went in to Michigan State as a recruited walk-on but impressed the coaching staff so much she was offered a scholarship for the second semester. It is unknown right now whether or not she will be receiving a scholarship for her sophomore year.

As a freshman, Rzepka had to deal with not only the normal adjustments of a freshman to college life, but with college athletics also. She also had to deal with the pressure of being one of the new members on the team and becoming the top vaulter, beating out those in classes ahead of her.

"That was a little struggle," Rzepka said.

On the MSU team there were a lot of freshman who were very close in competition.

"A lot of the freshman were all neck and neck," Rzepka said.

Rzepka had to deal with the added pressure of classes, mandatory study sessions for athletes, practices and expectations of coaches.

"It was a big adjustment," she said. "I guess everyone had to go through it."

Rzepka said that she would leave her room at 8 a.m. and not get back until 10 p.m. She also had to deal with the pressure of added expectations of coaches.

"There is a lot of pressure even from the coaches on me as an athlete," she said. "They expect something out of me."

However, with all the time put into athletics and college classes, Rzepka said that she enjoys it.

"I love being busy," Rzepka said. "One of the nice parts is that you get to pick one thing you love the best and make that your life for the year."

In Rzepka's case, that was pole vaulting.

She said that she will miss parts of high school athletics also.

"I will definitely miss the laid back atmosphere," she said. "Just being able to have fun."

Rzepka feels very lucky to be in the position she is as a top rate college athlete and hopes it will be another step on her road of athletics.

"I'm so lucky that I'm able to be in college athletics," she said.

Rzepka went along with the team to the Big Ten Championship and took ninth place, one place out of a scoring position.

"A goal is that every athlete will score some points, that is what I wanted to do for the team," she said.

Rzepka also went to the U.S. Junior Nationals in California which she qualified for with her 12-foot vault.

"It was an awesome experience," she said.

While Rzepka didn't do as well as she hoped, she got to meet famous athletes such as gold medalist Stacey Dragila.

She has very high aspirations and goals.

"Down the line I want a Big Ten championship in the vault," Rzepka said.

She also hopes to make an impact at the national level. She wants to qualify for the NCAA Championships, which would take a 13-foot-6 jump. She is also hoping to place in the top eight at that competition her senior year.

Rzepka has achieved much in just her first year at Michigan State University. She has set new records, earned a scholarship, and made the transition from high school to college seem easy.

"I feel so lucky that it was such an easy transition," she said.

Rzepka also feels that anyone who is interested in college athletics should attempt it.

"I would tell anyone who is semi interested in pursuing college athletics to go for it," she said. "It is such an awesome experience."

Wolbers looking forward to U of M

However, football has been Wolbers favorite sport to play. "It's more physical and faster paced," he said.

In high school, Wolbers is very glad that he has participated in sports throughout his high school career.

"High school sports is probably the best thing I've done," he said. "I've met a ton of people through sports."

Wolbers also said that he's made his closest friends through school. Brian Hoffman, Brian Peterson and Jimmy Deacon are a few of his best friends.

"We have a lot in common," he said. "Most of my friends like to play sports or stay active."

When Wolbers isn't playing sports, he likes to hang out with his friends, watch TV and play video games.

Wolber's favorite movie is "Braveheart" and he said that he enjoys going to friends houses, out to eat or the movie.

Although he usually doesn't go there with his friends, he said that Big Buck is his favorite restaurant to go to.

Wolbers also enjoys listening to almost every type of music, save country or jazz, but his favorite genres are rap and alternative.

Currently Eminem is his favorite artist.

Wolbers is looking very much forward to traveling off to college and all of the privileges that come with it.

"I can't wait for dorm life and just being with friends," he said.

Wolbers will be rooming with Peterson at Michigan and is excited about that.

"I can't wait to get out of the house," he said.

Wolbers plans to continue playing some sort of athletics in college. He will play at least intramural basketball and see whatever other sports they have that he would be interested.

"I'm going to try and be as active as possible," he said.

This summer, Wolbers is working installing above-ground pools for a friend of his mother's. He travels where he needs to go in his Pontiac 6000, which he is just lukewarm about.

"It's all right. It gets me where I need to go," Wolbers said.

Earlier this year, Wolbers traveled with some friends down to Florida for his spring break trip and said he had a great time.

"I do every year," he said.

Wolbers has a lot to look forward to at the University of Michigan and a lot of new experiences, which he is excited about.

Guest Column

Cute is one thing, leathery is another

I like to do things outdoors like walking, going to the beach, and the occasional sunbathing. But in the outdoors there is no avoiding the sun, but in the summer what teenager wants to? But according to the column "The Backlash" in the New Chivalry

Jen Eggleston

Press, medical science proves sunbathing is about as healthy as smoking. But it seems to me that the sun is a big part in a teenagers life, it seems it makes summer worthwhile.

Everyday I see a lot of teenagers and some adults (mostly girls and women) sunbathing outdoors. I, myself, think that I look better with tanned skin. A lot of people go to tanning beds at a local salon, because they think that its safer. I figure the sun gives off UV rays, so does that little booth you sit in. I just don't go, even if it is safer. But in reality tanning beds can hurt you, too.

According to the column "The Backlash" in an edition of the New Chivalry Press, "Tanning salons tout the benefits of tanning booths over outdoor sunbathing, some have said the balance of ultraviolet-A and ultraviolet-B they use can give you a tan without the danger posed by normal sunlight. But that's like saying filter cigarettes are better for you than unfiltered cigarettes. Either way, you are asking for trouble."

Sunbathing or booth tanning can cause a lot of health problems. It can make your skin age and look leather-like. I don't know about you but I am not into looking like a wrinkled leather suit when I'm 25. It can cause Melanoma, a form of skin cancer, which is often fatal if not detected early.

Teenagers might think: "Well, I have no sign of skin cancer," but did you know that it might not show up for a couple of years? Sunbathing can also cause formation of cataracts, suppression of the immune system and damage to the vascular system. I don't know about all of you but I know I wouldn't mind living to be, lets say, 80 or 90 years old. And I would like even try to stay healthy until then.

Even though I know all of these facts, it never stops me from sunbathing. Because I always think, "It won't happen to me. Please consider what I say not what I do. If you sunbathe, please put on sunscreen, and take breaks. Because sunbathing can cause dehydration, make sure you are drinking plenty of fluids too. Also, you might want to consider to not lay out on the beach or on your porch or where ever you lay out, but instead just go for a walk or go swimming. It's better to have fun and get a tan then lay around getting it. Don't you think?"

If you want darker skin you can try the safest tanning out there, self-tanners. The right kinds look good and they aren't harmful. But make sure to read the directions. I did it once and I ended up looking like a zebra. I had nice tan streaks, then I had orange streaks, and then my pale skin color streaks. And self-tanners are one of the things that you look at the price with, the cheaper it is, most likely the cheaper your tan will look. I am not saying go for the most expensive but don't go with the clearance tanner.

If you want like to go outdoors but you don't care to get a tan, I came up with some tips to avoid sun damage.

— Plan your outdoor activities to avoid the sun's strongest rays (between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.).

— Wear protective covering such as broad-brimmed hats, long pants, and long-sleeved shirts to reduce sun exposure.

— Wear sunglasses that provide 100-percent UV ray protection.

— When outdoors wear a broad-spectrum sunscreen with SPF-15 or greater, and try to apply it 30 minutes before sun exposure.

That's all I have to say about tanning, and I sure hope you found everything informative and helpful. If you, like me, decide to keep trying to get that golden look, make sure you do it while being as safe as possible. And most importantly, have a great summer!

Dancing the Night Away

Two local dancers from Walled Lake went on to win the baton title for the TU Regional Duet Competition for ages up to 20 years old. Courtney Lindsay and Moriah Muscaro won the competition, which was held June 29 in Spring Arbor, Michigan. The competition was presented by Twirling Unlimited. Twirlers from across the United States and Canada attended the event in pursuit of coveted regional titles.

During the competition, Lindsay, age 10, also received first-runner-up in the TU beginner Pageant, ages 9-11, which includes modeling, solo twirling and fancy strut marching routines. Muscaro, age 8, won regional titles in her age group for flag twirling, two-baton twirling and the TU Regional Majorette Competition for ages up-to-eight years of age.

Both Girls, who attend Glengary Elementary in Commerce Township, twirled under the direction of Rhonda Muscaro in the area's baton group known as Twirl-M's.

Lindsay is the daughter of Scott and Kelly Lindsay and Muscaro is the daughter of David and Rhonda Muscaro.

Bourne to be Wild

Could Jason Bourne become the next great super spy like James Bond, 007?

By Chris C. Davis
NORTHLVRE RECORD EDITOR

Jason Bourne has a number of problems.

First, he doesn't know he is Jason Bourne.

Second, he doesn't know who he is...at all.

And third, everyone in Europe is trying to kill him, though he has no idea why.

Such is the captivating and roller coaster-type fun movie-goers will be treated to in "The Bourne Identity," based on the novel by the late Robert Ludlum. Set primarily in modern-day Europe, "The Bourne Identity" will probably be regarded by most critics as an action flick, but a quality plotline keeps it from falling into the chasm of ViolenceForTheSakeOfViolence.

Bourne is played convincingly by veteran actor Matt Damon, in one of the few films as of late that hasn't paired Damon with Ben Affleck. The film opens as Bourne is rescued in the middle of the Mediterranean Sea by an Italian fishing crew. Using basic medical equipment, the ship's captain brings Bourne back around and nurses him to health before turning him loose in a French fishing village with a few francs to his name. Bourne, however, is struck with amnesia and can't remember anything about his life, including his own name. His only clue about his life rests in a small electronic laser pointer which the ship's captain removes from Bourne's body, revealing a Swiss bank account number. Frustrated at his dilemma, Bourne sets out across Europe to Zurich to track down the one lead he has.

But despite not having any memory, Bourne realizes he still has knowledge fit for a spy: he's keenly aware of those around him, possesses deadly fighting skills and a fluency in several languages. What he's not aware of is the fact that a group at the Central Intelligence Agency, headed by Ted Conklin (played by Chris Cooper, who played the dictatorial next-door father in "American Beauty") is trying to kill him. Along the way, Bourne begs for a car ride from Marie Kreutz (Franka Potente). The fateful decision to help out Bourne pulls Kreutz into an international espionage/cat-and-mouse chase she doesn't want to be part of, yet can't seem to pull herself away from. For the last 90 minutes of the movie, those heading the concession stand to refill the popcorn bucket will almost assuredly miss something critical to the movie's story.

The balance of the film flips back and forth between the CIA sending its goons to take out Bourne, and Bourne wielding his Jedi-spy skills to defend himself. For each major crisis averted, Bourne (and the audience, for that matter) is given a cookie, in the form of another nugget of information as to what the heck is going on. It's a time-tested formula intent on keeping viewers begging for more.

But the answers to the most puzzling questions — who is Jason Bourne, and why is everyone out to get him? — are answered in strategically-placed faceoff sequence between Bourne and Conklin, when the fog in Bourne's memory begins to lift.

If "Bourne" has any shortcomings, it's in the sometimes overly complex plotline and the shallowness of one of the key characters. Though his involvement in the film itself is minimal, a scene putting Adewale Akinnuoye-Agbaje's character Nykwanja Wombosi in a television interview looked less like an incensed foreign leader spouting off and more like a comical pro wrestler spewing his wild-eyed venom at the world. Subplots in "Bourne" can be somewhat tricky to follow, but the central theme is a classic story spiced up with a lot of electronic wizardry.

The door is left open for sequels to "Bourne." Though a timetable has not yet been determined, industry insiders say this is just the first in a series of "Bourne" films, which stand to be the U.S. answer to Double-O-Seven's 40-year stranglehold on the suave spy market.

Viewers will leave "The Bourne Identity" satisfied at having been entertained, and will probably face a momentary temptation to start filling out job applications as spies themselves. "Bourne" isn't going to change the world, but much like the real-life roller coasters it will be compared to, it's a fun experience laden with dips, turns and unexpected twists.

Fall sports just aren't going to be the same

By Sam Eggleston
SPORTS WRITER

Last week I highlighted the players that I believe are going to be the top members of next year's sports teams. This week, I've decided to highlight those athletes that are probably going to be the most missed due to their graduations. Because of the large number of seniors that make an impact on their teams, I've decided to cut the list into three parts — you guessed it: Fall, Winter and Spring. This week, we will start with the Fall season.

Once again, I would just like to point out that this is far from factual representation — it is all based on my own thoughts and beliefs. No coaches, players, parents or fellow sports writers had anything to do with the athletes listed below.

Tim Moore, Novi, Cross country — This one was quite obvious, even for those who only flip to the sports section now and again. Tim Moore, a National Champion and an athlete with multiple All-American tags after his name, is pretty much impossible to replace. He pretty much has gained the reputation of being untouchable, which stood true throughout the entire cross country season and into the national scene. Heck, you really can't complain about a runner that only felt defeat at the hands of his World-peers while running in Ireland. I have come to view Moore as the athlete who can't help but get his name in the paper. No matter what he does, be it in the classroom or on the competitive athletic field, it's worth mention.

Bethany Kittle, Novi, Cross Country — Kittle is a tough competitor that just thrives off a challenge. I figure that she is going to be one of the toughest to replace in the way of work-ethics, though Norm Norgren will come up with something.

Steve Bell gets a good grip on a Mustang. His abilities are all but irreplaceable for next season.

Nick Moroz, Northville, cross country — Moroz made a point to be one of the toughest runners in the WLAA this last fall. I expect that the Mustangs will be hard pressed to replace his determination and his speed. The sixth-fastest Mustang ever, Moroz will leave shoes that will be tough to fill for those stepping up.

Kelly Driscoll, Northville, cross country — Coach Nancy Smith has always had great things to say about Driscoll and no one has to wonder why. Her workhorse mentality helped lead the Mustangs the entire season. Though she was just one of a handful of impact seniors, her leadership position will be tough to fill.

Drew Herpich, Northville, Football — I have to admit right out of the starting gate that I have found Herpich to be one heck of an athlete and one heck of a kid in general. He's outgoing, quick-witted and fun to be around. The reason I think he is going to be tough to replace is because of his desire to win and his willingness to do whatever it took to get the job done. Five touchdowns against WLAA rival North Farmington was enough to get his name etched into the history books at Northville High, and it is a number that isn't going to be repeated for some time.

Matt Gorman, Novi, Football — This guy was pretty much the bread and butter of Novi's football program this year. It could be third and 10 yards to go and it was probably a safe bet to say that Gorman was going to take it on the option either up the middle or around the end. His speed is quite impressive and his ability to snake around defenders helped earn more than one touchdown in 2001. Gorman helped make up for a tough 2000 loss to Northville and the loss of the Baseline Jug by bringing the house down on the Mustangs in 2001 and reclaiming the coveted prize. Don't expect to see a quarterback putting up numbers like his for some years to come.

Steve Bell, WLW, Football — Steve Bell. Even the name makes you think sports, doesn't it? Bell proved his worth to the Walled Lake Western Warriors as he became the work-horse of the team. Cary after carry, tackle after tackle, Bell just wouldn't give up. After the games, you would see a Warrior that was bruised, but not beaten. He would carry the ball in excess of 30 times in some contests and would be out there for every single defensive play as well. Though I predict the Warriors will be tough again this year, it is near impossible to get a runner that emulates Bell.

Maxx Morris, WLC, Football — Double-X Morris was just that — a double threat for the opposition. It was pretty much understood that if a ball went in his direction, he was going to haul it down for the reception or the interception. This Vikings' tall and lanky frame helped turn him into one of the more dangerous receivers in the WLAA this last season. Though it seems that the quarterback is the tough player to replace on many teams, it is a receiver who can really catch that makes the plays complete.

Mike Pisha, WLW, Football — I know, I know. It seems like every time you open up the sports section I am rambling about Mike Pisha. But honestly, if a writer gets to cover one athlete like this in his entire career he is pretty blessed. Pisha made playing defensive back look like the glory position with his game at Walled Lake Western. Throw the ball in his direction and you could pretty much place a safe wager that it was going to be knocked down or intercepted. His speed and his ability to recover from a quick move made him a defender that was more than difficult to play against.

Kristen Burgess, WLW, Basketball — Quite the little point guard, Burgess not only led her team in three-point field goals for the season, she also holds the school record for most threes made in a season and in a career. The reason that I feel that Burgess is going to be tough to replace and missed on the Warriors squad is because the way she was able to lead her team. No matter who they were playing or what the scoreboard read with time running out, she managed to get her team on their feet and out on the court looking for victory.

Megan Colligan, Novi, Basketball — A tough defender and a positive offensive player, Colligan made an impact on the hardwood by being a player that was not only tough to defend and go into the paint against, but also as someone that was fun to play against. Her outgoing attitude helped make her one of the more cheerful players on the Novi squad and her opponents were quick to note that.

Kelly Anderson, Northville, Basketball — The little point guard who could pretty much describes Anderson. Her shooting ability was only surpassed by her ability to pass the ball and it showed on her season totals for points and assists this season. Anderson proved to be a tough varsity player through four years at that level of competition and topped it off with a very tough and very headline-grabbing senior season. Her intensity and experience is going to be irreplaceable this coming Fall season.

Maggie Ossola, Northville, Basketball — Here is another Mustang who went out on the court in hopes of earning more than a few victories her senior season. Ossola's tall stature pretty much made her one of two inside players for the Mustangs this season by default, but she took it in stride and did her job.

Emily Ott, Northville, Basketball — Heck, Ott turned the heat up on her game so high in the second half of the season, she started to melt to soles of her shoes. From the first game of the season to the last game, Ott was a totally different player. She became very effective as a defender inside guarding the top centers in the Western Lakes, as well as an aggressive offensive threat that began to put together double-digit scoring totals like they were something she wanted to collect.

Matt Peurach, Novi, Golf — This golfer is going to be one of the toughest to replace in the entire KVC, let alone Novi. Expect coach Brad Huss to have a heck of a time finding a golfer with the ability to learn and adapt like Peurach.

Tom Borda, Northville, Golf — The HomeTown East Golfer of the Year for two years running, Borda is going to be next to impossible to replace on the Northville squad. I expect to see a big gap where his numbers used to be, though Northville and the Mustangs have a way of surprising people.

Pete Kobylarek, Novi, Golf — A solid golfer with a ton of skill, Kobylarek is going to be one of those guys who are really never replaced, just attempted to be such. I am not sure that his impact-style of play is going to be repeated at Novi for some time.

Kyle Dehne, Northville, Golf — A traditional type of golfer with a smooth swing and a good read of the course, Dehne is going to be one tough player to find a replacement for. I think that his ability combined with his knowledge of the game make him a tough leader to replace come this fall.

Ben Maxim, Northville, Soccer — The multi-talented Maxim was one of those players who did what he could no matter the situation in hopes of earning a victory. It was an effort well spent as he and a slew of other seniors helped boost Northville to quite a few victories last fall. Maxim is going to be sorely missed in 2002.

Robbie Harmer, Northville, Soccer — Another Mustang that is going to be hard to replace is the ever-vocal Harmer. This guy lets you know what he is thinking, right Robbie? I know that I am going to miss his presence, and wish that I would have gotten to know this particular Northville athlete just a little better.

Lauren West, Northville, Tennis — West was quite the player this last season, and one that will be remembered for her ability as well as her leadership skills. Our Player of the Year selection, it is a safe bet to say she is going to be hard to replace next season.

Lauren Farris/Sara Poirier, Northville, Tennis — This duo of tennis players is a flight that is going to be sorely missed this fall. I am not sure that the level of talent they brought to the game can be emulated, nor am I sure anyone is even going to try to match their teamwork skills. If they do, it may be an effort wasted because it was like these two could read minds.

Northville golfer Kyle Dehne lines up a putt on the Links' first hole. His ability and his knowledge makes him a very tough Tennis — Another athlete who was never afraid to speak her mind; Vermeulen was a tough competitor as well as a newspaper editor for the Wildcat Roar. I expect that I will not be coming across another athlete quite like her next year, and neither will the Wildcat tennis team.

Melissa Roemer, Novi, Tennis — A fairly quiet, yet effective player, Roemer was never one to toot her own horn. She went onto the court and did her job. I don't think she had a tick that I would complain about, especially when it comes to her abilities and dedication to the game.

Alex Oliveria, Novi, Swimming — Another very dedicated athlete and student, Oliveria is going to be the leader that will be missed the most next season. Her outgoing nature and her well-balanced abilities make her a tough athlete to replace.

Deirdre Schwiring, Northville, Swimming — Always with a smile on her face and never complaining, Schwiring is going to be a tough asset to find a fill in for as the Mustangs hit the pool next fall. I don't think that there are really any athletes that can copy the attack that Schwiring had when in the water, nor the smile she always flashed at everyone.

All-Area Players of the Year deserve credit for their dedication to sports the Holly Regional and the MHSAA state finals meet.

Schmitt was looked to by much of her team as the shining example of how a cross country runner should be. Her steady pace and her determination, dedication and competitive nature made her a tough foe to run against in the Kensington Valley Conference. Schmitt's running ability and her dedication makes HomeTown East proud to present her as the Player of the Year.

Boys' Soccer

Alan Holdorf, Senior, Novi

Holdorf, a senior for the Novi Wildcats, collected 17 goals throughout the season on the Wildcats' way to pretty much controlling the KVC. Though his speed is less than average, Holdorf's skills more than make up for it.

"He has a great touch on the ball," Novi coach Brian O'Leary said. "He has a hard shot, he is accurate and a good dribbler. He is probably our most skilled player."

Holdorf's skill and dedication to the sport of soccer make him a quality selection as the HomeTown East's soccer Player of the Year.

Girls' Basketball

Stephanie Anderson, Senior, Milford

Anderson ran Milford point for four year — one KVC champion and one district champion — and, fittingly enough, finished her career with the school's all-time assist record. This season, Anderson was at her best in the biggest games, leading the Redskins to a district title and a region victory. An all-around guard who could beat you with the pass or score, inside and out, Anderson was a first-team All-KVC pick and Milford's leading scorer at 9.7 points per game.

Wrestling

Josh Churella, Novi

There was little more that could be said about Churella this season except "champion." A tough competitor with a willingness to improve and succeed, Churella showed that a mix of incredible talent and outstanding determination is exactly what the doctor ordered when it comes to a winning formula. The Novi junior has stayed undefeated for two seasons and continued that streak through state championships for the second season in a row. Look for this wrestler to make it three in a row — just like his brother, Ryan, and his Dad, Mark — come next season. His ability and winning streak makes Churella a perfect fit in the HomeTown Player of the Year position.

Hockey

Robby Overfield, Senior, Novi

Anderson ran Milford point for four year — one KVC champion and Robby Overfield not only led the number two team in the state in scoring, but also one of the toughest conferences in the state — the Kensington Valley Conference. On his way to the scoring title, Overfield collected 31 assists as well in his 27 games. Overfield was also named to the All-State First Team this year. He is a prime example of what is looked for in a HomeTown East Player of the Year.

Boys' Basketball

Matt Friel, Senior, South Lyon

Coach Daren Clayton called Friel the Lion's "pillar of strength" inside and the best post player he's coached. He averaged a double-double — 21.3 points and 11.4 rebounds per game. Friel was extraordinarily efficient when he got the ball on blocks, making 57 percent of his two-point shots. He could also hurt teams with his three-point shooting from the corners. And it wasn't just on the offensive end that Friel excelled, as he also lead the team with averages of 1.3 blocks and 1.6 steals per game.

Friel finished second to Brighton's Chris Grimm in the KVC player of the year voting.

"Matt was one of the best players in the greater Detroit area," Clayton said.

Volleyball

Erica May, Senior, Milford

With 36 goals, senior Wildcat

A standout performer from her sophomore year forward, it was as a senior that May found team success equal individual success.

Softball

Lindsay Noren, Sophomore, South Lyon

Noren had a 24-8 record as a pitcher with 223 strikeouts and an earned run average of 0.76 as South Lyon finished second in the KVC and won a district championship. At the plate she hit .349 with 45 hits, one off the school record.

Baseball

Mike Pisha, Senior, Walled Lake Western

The thing that is probably most noticeable about Pisha is not the way he takes to each and every game like it is his first and last, but the way he gets the rest of his team pumped up to do the same. Pisha quickly became a mainstay for the Walled Lake Western Warriors this season under the guidance of coach Ken Connor. There were times that other teams lit him up like the Fourth of July, but the majority of games found Pisha simply dominating. His steady control over the corners of the plate and a fairly wicked fastball were even enough to douse the strong arm of Michigan State's own Drew Stanton during the regular season. That wasn't all this stellar player could do either, his batting was just as potent as his pitching.

and he was just one of three batters to collect a hit against Stanton and the Hawks in their second meeting of the year.

Girls' Golf

Kate MacDonald, Senior, Northville

There is little more that can be said about Kate MacDonald than the fact that she was not only the best player in the Western Lakes Activities Association this season, but also the best golfer in Division I high school. MacDonald took it to the field in the MHSAA State Golf Tournament as she collected a very impressive 75, 72 over two days to take the medalist spot.

Through her four-year career, MacDonald has shown her worth more times than once as she has helped lead the Mustangs to two state tournament appearances, with this year resulting in a fourth-place overall finish.

MacDonald will now be taking her amazing links ability to Grand Valley State University to compete in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. Her hopes and dreams seem to revolve around golf and she looks forward to one day swinging the clubs with the best of them on the LPGA tour.

Boys' Tennis

Brian Schubert, Sophomore, Milford

Two years into his prep career, Schubert has already become the best player in school history. He won the KVC number one singles title as a sophomore and placed second at the regional. Schubert reached the Division I state quarterfinals and was named all-state by the coaches' association.

Girls' Soccer

Larissa Fill, Senior, Northville

Wow. What more is there to say about a player like Larissa Fill? She is a player that has collected so

2002 LACASA GARDEN TOUR: STEP THREE

Gardening becomes a family affair

By Linda Neff
HOMETOWN NEWSPAPERS

Don't let Billie Harris' petite stature and soft-spoken voice fool you. When it comes to plants in her garden that don't pull their weight, she shows no mercy.

"I'm one of those gardeners, if you don't work you're outta here. I don't have very much time to pamper you," she said.

Unlike most gardeners who often have an opportunity to begin late winter and early spring cleanup and care, Fowlerville residents Billie and husband Jerry are retired and winter in Florida.

"It's a lot of clean-up," Billie said. "We get all the leaves that blow down the road."

It was in Milford that the pair developed their love of gardening. Billie and Jerry were engaged with the responsibility of operating their own business so neither of them ever had time for gardening.

"We never even owned a lawn mower," Billie said. "We just hired it all done."

Upon retiring, they moved to Milford and decided to tackle the landscaping themselves.

"And we did," Billie said. "That was our first time and it came out really nice."

The couple moved to Fowlerville nearly four years ago to be closer to their daughter and once again decided to landscape the yard themselves. The large lot with its tall mature trees was a blank canvas waiting to be painted.

And paint they have.

"We just kind of started and kept on going," Billie said.

The Harris' yard comes to life in early spring with the colors and scents of spring blooms from Bradford pear trees, tulips, peonies and flowering shrubs.

Annabell hydrangea, deep blue delphiniums, Sarah Bernhardt peonies and colorful clematis bloom in Billie's favorite colors of blues and pinks.

"I like light yellow, not bright, although I do like the sundrop primrose. Pinks, blues, lavenders and pale yellows, I really like those colors," she said.

A small garage constructed last year provided Jerry with a space to create a small covered patio where two chairs beckon visitors to sit and rest awhile.

"Jerry works in the yard with me and then he builds," Billie said. "He made the trellis, put up the fence and he put on the screened porch where we sit and have ice tea."

Draped in the blossoms of a pink rose planted a few years ago, the trellis is nearly hidden from view.

"That rose bush is just too pretty," Billie said. "You don't know when you plant something ... now last year it didn't have that many flowers."

Billie and Jerry include the family in their gardening. Cement stepping stones made on a granddaughter's visit rest beneath plants and a little herb garden grows outside the back door, sprouting with herbs for the Harris' daughter to use when she visits from Singapore.

"She makes the most beautiful plates when she serves," Billie said. "She likes to make her plates look like a picture."

Gardening has also led to a closer relationship with their daughter who lives in Fowlerville.

In a class taken together her daughter constructed an arbor and Billie made a heart trellis of twigs.

"I'm kind of proud of it because I made it and it was so much fun," she said. "We had to take lunch and spend the day (building)."

They topped their day by stopping for ice cream on the way home with everything loaded in the back of the truck.

"It was just too much fun," Billie said. "It's nice to have a daughter who likes to do things you like to do."

"Now she's older and we've gotten really close. We enjoy being together."

Billie enjoys gardening so much that when she moved to Fowlerville and discovered there was no garden club she ran an advertisement for members.

Now in its second year the club has about 20 members. Members plant and tend the planters in downtown Fowlerville, take day trips to gardens and invite speakers to their meetings. The club is open to anyone who likes to garden.

Billie and Jerry Harris' garden will be open to visitors during the fourth annual LACASA Garden Tour July 13 and 14. They're still hard at work tending to all the last-minute details before the tour and hope to add a water feature.

"There's always something to do," Billie said.

Flashy and refined

By Joy Krause
MILWAUKEE JOURNAL SENTINEL

Razzle-dazzle, repose, retro. Put them all together under one roof and you get a combination of design personalities.

You also get a playful departure from designer showhouses of late, all wrapped up in a sprawling 1957 tri-level in Elm Grove, Wis., that has been decorated with three distinct design personalities: flashy, refined and transitional. There's plenty of room for all in the 5,500-square-foot house.

Right inside the front door, the 1950s come alive, big time. In your face in the saucy foyer is lemon-yellow wallpaper swirled with gold and accented with lime green. To the right, in the high-energy living room, a pianist is playing '50s and '60s songs at a baby grand. (OK, he's really an artist's life-size sculpture, dressed in a tux, of all things.)

The use of boisterous color and design is bound to trigger some murmurs of the "I would never have this in my home" variety. That's just the point: This is a showhouse showing ways to have fun with color - and also with neutrals in the home's more private rooms. Clearly the designers of the cluster of brightly colored public rooms were having a good time.

Besides lemon and lime, colors run from purple, red and pink to green and turquoise - "the fashion colors of the '50s," as one designer said. They work just as well in the library as in the kitchen, a child's bedroom, powder room and hallway. Visitors who like vibrancy, especially during our long and gray winters, will be in heaven.

In sharp contrast is the late-1990s escape-the-rush serenity that dominates the more private sectors of the house: the family living area, most of the bedrooms and a guest room/spa. Designers took their cues from natural materials used extensively in the home, from abundant views of the landscape and weathered cedar decks outside.

The spacious home is nestled on a four-acre site, which includes tennis courts, pool and putting green.

The witty media center in the home's basement - actually a three-room complex that also includes a wine room and cigar room - brings a historical touch to the house, recalling the heyday of Toulouse-Lautrec at the end of the last century. Its rich toned-down shades represent a bridge between colors used elsewhere.

"We knew that designers were doing either bright or subdued - this is in-between," said Barbara Fullerton, who collaborated on the media room with Deb Graupner. Both are Wauwatosa, Wis., designers with their own practices.

The theme - complete with replica of a can-can stage - suggested itself as an alternative to the many media rooms designed as miniature movie theaters, Fullerton said. In a play on entertainment centers, the designers had the requisite oversized TV screen set into the can-can stage, which is finished with a period-style burgundy velvet curtain.

A Toulouse-Lautrec style mural, graces a long wall. A cinnamon rug is host to comfy, upholstered furniture in taupe, cinnamon and other accent colors. Textures are rich. Period posters complete the look.

Bridging the gulf between flashy and refined was a challenge met creatively by many designers, most directly by Peg Winters of Swan Interiors in Wauwatosa. She did the design work on a narrow hallway that links rooms of both extremes: showy and quiet. Her solution was to concentrate on neutrals, playing off dark gray marble used in parts of the house, and to add bright spots of color.

"When I saw the colors other designers used in different areas of the house, it gave me direction," she said.

To create a striking deep gray wall surface, she tapped the talents of a painter who applied layers of sealer and glazes over existing pewter-and-black wallpaper. The resulting pattern and surface sheen is suggestive of the marble. Colorful artwork and a display of bright art glass suggest '50s colors, while two decorated niches house still-life compositions.

A different sort of transition - bridging two neon-bright rooms with a restfully colorful one - was executed to perfection in the dining room by designers William Manly and John Edbauer of Fox Point, Wis.. The walls are covered in a rich plaid fabric of silk, rayon and cotton. The colors - yellow, burgundy, green - are sedate, subdued tones of hues in the adjoining living room and kitchen. The palette is repeated in an attractive table centerpiece dominated by large spheres coated by dried legumes and seeds in rich, natural shades.

KILLERS | WATERING

Tips for weed-free walkways, sidewalks and paths

Grass & Weed Killers

- Use grass and weed killers to get rid of unwanted weeds and grass around patios, walkways, driveways, ornamental flower beds, fences and around any other structure where weeds are not wanted.
- Apply ready-to-use grass and weed killers for spot treatments.
- Use concentrate grass and weed killers for more economical applications over larger areas.

Application

- For best results, weed killers should be applied when there is no rain in the forecast for at least 48 hours.
- Adjust the sprayer nozzle tip to deliver a directed course of spray.
- Using a garden hose, immediately wash off any spray that may have mistakenly gotten onto nearby plants or grass.

Maintain Your Mower

- Check oil level regularly. Change oil after 5 hours of use and every 50 hours thereafter.
- Use clean, fresh, lead-free gas. Use a fuel stabilizer to assure fuel freshness.
- Replace air cleaner at least once a season - more often under dusty conditions.

By taking care of your mower now, you will be preparing it for years of service instead of preparing it for the landfill.

Come into your local Home Depot store and find everything you need for mower maintenance. From oil to blades to spark plugs to gas cans, we have it all!

Choose the Perfect Paint, Right Down to the Finish

Flat

Traditionally used on interior walls, a flat finish is soft, non-reflective and good at hiding minor surface imperfections.

Eggshell

A close cousin of the flat finish, an eggshell finish gives you increased durability and washability.

Satin/Silk

This is your most versatile finish, excellent for higher traffic areas and kid's rooms.

Semi-Gloss

This shiny finish provides decorative contrast with flat, eggshell or satin silk. Highly wear-resistant, semi-gloss finishes work well in bathrooms, kitchens and on trim.

Hi-Gloss

Very luminous and reflective, a gloss is used for bold, decorative accents or where maximum durability is required.

Free Color Matching and Mixing

Get the exact color you want in premium quality paint you can rely on.

And we'll mix
it free.

Ralph Lauren NEW Interior Eggshell Finish

Brings beauty and protection to your walls, ceilings, trim and doors. Choose any one of the 464 Ralph Lauren colors for a luxurious, low lustre finish that will withstand scrubbing and washing.

Ralph Lauren Paint

Introduces five new color collections that provide inspiration for thoughtful living in the home. In the Thoroughbred collection, the rich depth of a country estate is captured in refined tones and deep hues. The raw character and beauty of organic tones is found in the Natural collection. The Greenhouse collection reveals the lush colors of blooming gardens. For the perfect collection of whites, see the Whitewash collection. The blues and whites of pristine islands and sparkling seas were the inspiration for the Sea & Sky collection.

Better Lumber

- We demand higher quality, less defects from the mill
- Our lumber is straighter, has fewer knots, fewer splits and less bark
- Compare our quality and pricing

Why Choose Premium Cut® Lumber?

The diagram below shows how a log is cut into lumber.

Our lumber comes from the best part of the log. We leave pieces with wane and bark at the mill. Premium Cut® lumber is straighter and has four firm nailing surfaces. We cull our lumber daily to ensure you always have the best choice!

Attention Lumber Customers

Prices in this ad may vary from the actual price at the time of purchase. We adjust our prices daily to the lumber commodity market.
