■ Northville resident secures Democratic bid for governor

By Chris C. Davis NORTHVILLE RECORD EDITOR

Michigan attorney general and Northville resident Jennifer Granholm appeared to take a giant step forward in securing the Democratic gubernatorial nomination Tuesday.

Exit polls and early returns showed Granholm holding a commanding lead over her Democratic challengers, U.S. Representative David Bonior and former governor Jim Blanchard. Granholm was believed to have beat out her party's opponents in virtually every area of Michigan, except for the city of Detroit.

Turnout across the state was Michigan's registered voters were expected to participate.

Granholm cast her ballot at Meads Mill Middle School shortly after polls opened.

While not necessarily apologizing for the sometimes heated exchanges between herself, Bonior and Blanchard, Granholm did say she understood the unwritten rules of campaigning.

This isn't powder puff football," she said. "This was a hard-fought battle among friends. It's the semi-finals, and now we go on to the finals.'

Granholm gave a qualified declaration of victory shortly after 11 p.m. and saluted her opponents in the race.

If anybody knows how smart and tough and dedicated and committed Jim Blanchard and David Bonior are, it's me," she said. "I feel like I've gone 15 rounds with Muhammed Ali and Joe Frasier - at the same time."

Granholm spent all day Monday criss-crossing the state from Marquette to Muskegon, trying to spread her campaign message and gamer last-minute undecided votes. She told reporters she was casting her ballot on only about one hour's worth of sleep in more than a day. Granholm watched returns from the Marriott Hotel in Detroit's Renaissance Center.

Haz-mat workers handle semi-truck emergency

By Dan Ferrara SPECIAL WRITER

Injuries and a possible explosion were avoided early Thursday afternoon, as the Northville city fire department reported to a call of a possible chemical spill in the parking lot of Northville Downs.

The driver of an Old Dominion Freight Line semitruck called 911 operators after hearing a hissing sound and smelling a strong odor from the trailer of his truck. The driver isolated the truck in a remote area of the Downs parking lot, safely away from the building and other cars.

Firefighters on the scene roped off a 100-foot perimeter around the truck in compliance with the National Response Team standards. Local police and emergency workers were also present directing traffic and analyzing the possible safety and rescue issues while waiting for a Hazardous Materials team to arrive. The fire safety officer on the scene, Sergeant Al Zielinski, warned that the situation could have been nothing, but under the circumstances, he was not willing to gamble.

According to Northville Fire Chief Jim Allen, the truck, headed to Farmington Hills from Maryland, contained 1,200 pounds of fertilizer as well as 1,200 pounds of an oxidizing agent used to clean septic tanks, wells, and pumps. The oxidizer was shipped on one palette,

Local leaders brace for impact in revenue fracas

By Pauline Campos STAFF WRITER

Already having been affected by previous state shared revenue cuts, the Northville communities may once again feel the strain due to Governor John Engler's recent $845 million veto of revenue sharing to local governments.

Both Northville city and township stand to lose thousands from their budgets as of Oct. 1, the beginning of the state's fiscal year and the day the veto is to become effective.

The move was made in order to protect the state's budget from three potentially costly ballot proposals on the fall ballot that Engler says will cost the state nearly $1 billion dollars. The ballot proposals, if passed, would require binding arbitration for state workers, eliminate mandatory sentences for drug crimes, and require money use of the state's settlement with big tobacco companies.

"After November the state could find itself with 6,000 more words in its constitution and saddled with among other things, required additional treatment and health care for drug addicts, turning over contract negotiations to an outside arbitrator, and giving $60 million a year to an unaccountable private foundation to spend as they choose," Engler said in a press release, adding that the state's budget would be permanently damaged.

But it is the local communities — like the city of Northville and Northville Township — that will be dealing with the effects of damaged budgets if the decision is not overturned. The city stands to lose approximately $276,000 with the township standing to lose up to $375,000. The revenue cuts would affect a large portion of both communities budgets if put into

"Certainly, any [budget] changes would first be presented to council just as we would with any budget amendment process." said Northville finance director Nickie Bateson. "With a cut to this extent, some difficult decisions would need to be made."

Township officials said they would be preparing a budget for approval by the board of trustees that did not include revenue sharing as it is still an unknown status.

"This township should rest assured that should we realize a reduction in revenues that it will not impact services that are received today by the township residents," said township manger Chip Snider. "First of all, our fund halance is healthy enough that need be we could absorb that loss, but it would cause us as managers around the township to do some belt-tightening."

Opposition to the veto is strong. City and township officials are cooperating with the Michigan Municipal League and the Michigan Townships Association's efforts to overturn the decision and restore revenue sharing.

City and township officials are confident the veto will be overridden and intend to send representatives to a rally sponsored by the Michigan Municipal League and the Michigan Townships Association scheduled next Tuesday on

Communities pledge to fight revenue veto

By Pauline Campos

The Michigan Municipal League and the Michigan Townships Association have joined to denounce the veto of $845 million in state shared revenue and are assisting Northville and Northville Township in their efforts to overturn Governor John Engler's decision.

'To Lansing, local governments look like lambs ready for slaughter, therefore we need to make clear that our residents do not deserve to have their lives, their property, and their affordable property taxes sacrificed for anyone's political agenda," said Larry Miller, executive director of the Association in a letter to township managers. "Michigan Township Association is working with the Michigan Municipal League, the Michigan Association of Counties, and others to hold the state to it's long standing commitment to be a partner with local government, not its executioner.

Michael Brady, director of state and federal affairs for the League, referred to the current state of affairs as a "disagreement."

"What has happened is that the governor has committed a crisis. There are three ballot initiative that will probably be on the ballot this year. If any of these pass, you will not get funding for your local police departments, the fire departments, parks and recreation departments, public works, and street maintenance," said Brady. "What the govemor is saying that of all of the things that state money goes to, these are the least important. And when you look at local government, this is more than half of their rev-

Brady said that Engler will be using the vetoed revenue to fill the state's budgetary holes

"This has no support," he said. "Most people in Northville, for instance, rely on what will be affected if the veto goes into effect for their quality of life. The veto says that those things are the least important. We disagree with that and that is why we are seeking a veto override."

According to Brady, local officials are working with legislators to make the legislators aware of how individual communities would be affected by the veto.

."We have gotten a number of news releases from local officials stating that they want to put their communities first," Brady said.
'They want to override the governor's veto."

But obtaining an override will be difficult. Two-thirds of the state House and the Senate are needed to vote in favor of the override for it to be successful.

"It's always difficult to get an override. Having said that, I have never seen this kind of local outcry against this kind of action," said

Fun run to benefit NYA, burn victims

By Pauline Campos STAFF WRITER

Helping others is what matters most to Chris Ponder. The 11-yearold Northville resident is currently in the process of organizing the third annual "Fun Run", to be held on Aug. 24 at 10 a.m. Proceeds will benefit the University of Michigan Trauma Burn Center and Northville Youth Assistance.

"It just makes me feel really good and when I give people who are less fortunate help," he said. "It makes me feel good and I know it makes them feel good."

Ponder said he chose a one-mile course to allow for children of any age to be involved.

"It's easier than a 5K but it's still good exercise and it helps the charities, too," he said.

Dipple explained to Ponder that the department does not accept gifts or donations but would assist Ponder in choosing two other charities to which he could contribute. Ponder then decided on starting the Fun Run to raise money.

Ponder began the Fun Run two years ago after visiting the Northville Township Fire Department on a class trip. That is when Ponder met fireman Dan

Dipple. Ponder liked the trip so much that he hoped to help the department raise funds for necessary equipment.

"We've raised $6,000 in the last two years to split between the two charities," said Dipple.

As in past years, a portion of the funds will be used to send local youth to summer camps through Northville Youth Assistance and the remainder will go towards the

But Ponder has added something new: a silent auction of a Detroit Red Wings jersey signed by captain Steve Yzerman and former goaltender Dominik Hasek. Bidding will begin at 10 a.m. and end at 10:45 with proceeds to befit the Suite Dreams Project, an organization which makes "dream rooms" for children too ill to leave their beds.

"[Ponder] has been excellent, He is the one who came to us with the idea for the Fun Run and we have been assisting him," said Dipple. "And I think it's wonderful for a kid his age to be this motivated and spend so much of his time assisting other people."

AAUW branch brings home highest award

By Jennifer Norris STAFF WRITER

The Northville/Novi branch of the American Association of University Women has recently received a platinum award—the highest level of merit attainable within the organization.

Mary Jane Kearns, president of the Northville/Novi branch of the AAUW accepted the award at the Great Lakes Regional Conference in Grand Rapids.

Kearns said the AAUW has had a system in place for many years to provide incentives to the branches to meet the goals of the association as a whole.

They give awards for achieving those goals and objectives of the AAUW," said Kearns. 'The new program is called the 21st Century Recognition Program. This was the first year of this new program. "That was the highest level of award," said Kearns. "We were pretty excited about it. We had to submit an application for a program or project that we felt would meet [certain] criteria. Our goals were to raise our visibility in the community, recruit new members, promote the education of girls and women, achieve some leadership development and incorporate some technology into the way we do business in the branch."

The application was submitted to the national AAUW organization in Washington D.C.

Antique furniture, hand-made Tiffanystyle lamps, stained glass and French doors, all lend Old-European sophisticated charm to the restaurant's decor.

Owner Chef Tom Mackinnon, along with his son and general manager Chef Ian Mackinnon, says the four-star restaurant offers fine dining without the extravagant price tag.

"Our entrees are all-inclusive," Ian said. "Each is served with salad or soup and a bread basket."

Mackinnon's offers quite an extensive lunch menu that boasts a good selection of appetizers, soups, salads, sandwiches and entrees served with house salad or soup, potato and vegetable, and a bread basket.

In celebration of its 20th anniversary, Mackinnon's created a separate Twilight Dining Menu that has been so well accepted that it remains available today.

"It was so popular that we just kept it going," Ian said. "It's a cool thing."

The special menu offers a choice of five all-inclusive dinners - appetizer, soup of the day or house salad, entrée and dessert - a great value at one low price of Mackinnon's knows no boundaries when it comes to creating mouth-watering dishes. Dishes are prepared in the style of French, Belgian and Mediterranean - pretty much from anywhere around the world. The restaurant's creative menu offers many long-time favorites plus new and interesting fare.

Wondering what the house specialty may be?

"We have many," Chef Ian said. "We've always been known for our Beef Wellington, which is pan-seared tenderloin filet with mushroom duxcell wrapped in puff pastry and served with sauce Bordelaise."

Another is Mackinnon's Blown-up Duck where the chef's original method of using air to lift the skin from the duckling and slow roasting allows for succulent tender meat with a crispy skin; it's served with raspberry reduction sauce.

Can't drive 55? Buy a Mustang raffle ticket

By Jennifer Norris STAFF WRITER

For $50 a ticket, the Northville Rotary Club is raffling off a 2003 Ford convertible Mustang, however contest participation has been weak.

Rotary members are hoping interest levels — as well as ticket sales — will soon rise.

"We're not selling tickets as fast as I thought we would," said Jim Gallogly, a Rotary member and Northville public works director.

Gallogly said the Rotary raffle will benefit the Northville Public Schools' "Kids 4 Afghan Kids" program and help support a school in Afghanistan

He said Khris Nedam, a teacher at Amerman Elementary School, helped initiate the raffle is closely involved with the foreign school project.

A maximum of 2,000 tickets are available for sale, however only about 300 have been sold so far.

"We need to do better than that," said

Gallogly, "If we don't sell 1,000 tickets, the raffle reverts to a 50-50 raffle."

Gallogly said in that situation the winner

Gallogly said in that situation the winner would not receive the automobile, but would win half of the funds collected.

"We're pretty confident we'll sell over 1,000 [tickets], but it would be nice to sell the full 2000," he said.

The drawing for the new automobile will be Sept. 15 at 2 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville during the Victorian Festival. Residents must be at least 18 years old to purchase a raffle tick-

"People aren't knocking the doors down to buy a ticket," said Gallogly. "I thought it go a little quicker."

"It's for a very good cause. It's for a school in Afghanistan that Northville school children have been helping support. We took on this raffle to hopefully raise some $70,000."

Gallogly also said that the winner of the new Ford Mustang will receive another special bonus.

"Our intent is not only to give the winner the car, but also to assist in paying his/her federal income tax, which we estimate to be about $6,000," he said. "We'd encourage anyone — particularly parents of Northville school children — to purchase a ticket for this worthwhile cause. This is the first time the Northville rotary has taken on something like this. We want it to be as successful as possible."

Gallogly said there is no deadline prior to the event to purchase a ticket.

In addition, he said that McDonald Ford in Northville has been great partners in the raffle.

Raffle tickets for the car may be purchased at any of the following Northville locations.

Storyteller to spin some yarns at Mill Race Village Aug. 25

By Jennifer Norris STAFF WRITER

Residents — both young and old alike — can venture into the world of their own imagination as they listen to the storytelling talent of LaRon Williams at Northville's Mill Race Village Aug. 25.

Following the storytelling session, families will have the opportunity to spread out their blanket and picnic basket.

The event is slated to take place from 4:30 p.m. until 6:30 p.m.

Sue Taylor, a special event planner through the Northville

Parks and Recreation department, said Williams' performances are not to be missed.

"I first heard this storyteller at a festival in Canton," said Taylor. "As soon as he started talking, he mesmerized the audience and the children. He is just amazing. When I saw him, I thought I just had to bring this man to Northville. He's just so good."

Taylor said the area will be open for picnicking after the storytelling session is completed.

"We're asking people to bring their own food if they'd like to stay and have a picnic," she said. Participants will also be able to "When I saw him, I thought I just had to bring this man to Northville. He's just so good."

"The whole family will really enjoy this," she said. "He had so much presence to him and such an incredible voice. He has instruments and he gets audience participants. He takes on these different personas and he mesmerized the audience and renewed their energy."

The cost is $4 per child (age 2 years and older) and $6 per adult. Tickets are available at the Recreation Center at Hillside, located at 700 W. Baseline Road.

To help commemorate the event, Taylor said family photo packages will be available through Kingsbury Photography of Plymouth.

The photo packages are extra and are payable at the time of the photo shoot. Since limited sittings are available, appointments may be made by calling (248) 349-0203 ext. 1411.

Holes in soles make Piccoli sing shoe blues

"...my goal is to make that shoe look like factory finish. Like it's never been touched."

Tony Piccoli Cobbler's Corner

By Jennifer Norris STAFF WRITER

It's bound to happen.

Those favorite shoes that are worn to the office daily or those classic pumps that match most every outfit succumb to the everyday stresses of wear and tear.

The heels may break down, the soles may deteriorate, but they're too valuable and well-loved to just toss away.

Tony Piccoli, proprietor of Cobbler's Comer in Northville, knows just what to do to revamp and restore shoes to their original glory.

Cobbler's Corner, located at 104 E. Main Street, has been recrafting fine dress shoes, work and Western boots since 1971.

Working in the business of shoe repair has become a tradition for the Piccoli family.

Piccoli said his late father, Andy, bought the business in 1971 and changed the store's name from Revitzer's Shoe Service to its current one.

"Everybody knew [Andy]," said Piccoli. "He was like a town fixture. If people wanted to know what was going on in the town they would come and see Andy. That was my dad."

In addition of revamping fine dress shoes, Cobbler's Corner also can refurbish coach handbags and accommodate most leather repairs.

Making footwear look like new again is a priority for Piccoli.

"Most of [my] clientele, they wear very expensive dress shoes, very good footwear," he said. "When a man or woman brings shoes in for new soles or heels, my goal is to make that shoe look like factory finish. Like it's never been touched."

"That's what dad taught us. You have to let that shoe go out looking like it's never been touched."

But undoing the damage caused by frequent use is a time-consuming task. "It's a complicated process," said

Piccoli. "There's at least 25 steps that you have to go through to recraft a man or ladies' fine dress shoe."

But regardless of the time commitment, recreating how a shoe looked from the factory is Piccoli's mission.

"That's what my customers expect," he said. "Nothing but per-

He recommends purchasing top of the line footwear to help alleviate future foot problems and said the extra money for well-fitting footwear is worth the investment.

Tony Piccoli, manager of Northville's Cobbler's Corner shoe shop, demonstrates how "They should buy the best," said Piccoli. "Leather soled dress shoes for men and women are the best you can wear because your foot can breathe."

In addition, Piccoli carries Minnetonia moccasins and a large selection of shoe and leather care products.

Mill Race Village is an 11-acre collection of 19th century buildings along the Mill Pond operated by the Northville Historical Society. The Village is open dawn to dusk seven days a week and is located on the west side of Griswold north of Main Street in downtown Northville. The office, located at Cady Inn, is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The Archives are open on Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. or by appointment. From the first Sunday in June through the third Sunday in October, the buildings are open from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. with docents in each to share the history of that building. For detailed information about special programs or renting the facilities call the office at (248) 348-1845.

During weddings, Mill Race Village is closed to the public. The wedding couple rent the use of the village when they schedule a wedding. Visitors who are not aware of this policy are disappointed that we are closed at the time of their visit. Since our wedding volume is increasing each year, we suggest that you call for the weekend schedule prior to coming out.

The Children's Christmas Workshop is once again collecting coffee cans (5 inches across the top). If you have any you would like to donate please drop them off in the office between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

A great big thanks to Colleen Sygar for organizing the annual croquet match against Salem Historical Society. It was another fun day on the green. Thanks go to Mark Cryderman, Glenn Doonan, Carolyn Stuart, Dan Sygar, Bruce Tumbull and Karren Yurgalite for creating such an enjoyable Mill Race Team. Thanks also to the Salem Historical Society and Terry Cwik's team for hosting this year's match.

To prepare for this years Victorian Festival attend the Victorian Festival Clothing Sale on Sunday, September 8th from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at Mill Race Village Church. Adult and children's clothing as well as accessories will be available. Professionally made costumes indicative of the era will also be available. There is no charge for this event. Everyone is welcome to participate and sell their own Victorian era items. Participation is encouraged by vendors and community. For more information call Sonia Swigart at (248) 348-2947.

Shadd Whitehead, team leader of the Western Wayne Hazardous Incident Response Team, explained that due to the heat of the truck, the oxidizer boiled and expanded, rupturing one of the containers on the top of the stack. It then leaked downward onto the other 23 containers, contaminating them as well.

Two members of the Hazardous Materials team, dressed in protective suits with oxygen tanks, prepared to enter the truck to assess the situation. The oxidizer, if mixed with the fertilizer, could have spawned hazardous fumes.

When mixed with gasoline, the amount of oxygen in the oxidizer would have caused a large fire and possible explosion. He praised the driver for his handling of the situation, saying it was very smart to stop when he did.

Emergency crews evaluated the driver, who reported suffering from a slight headache, but he remained on the scene and was expected to complete the delivery once the situation had been sorted out.

The Team also found that all cargo in the truck was properly packed according to regulations, and the truck had the correct the township to date.

"Even though they may not be experiencing a water pressure problem where they are at, use of the water creates a water pressure problem elsewhere," Weaver said. 'That jeopardizes our ability to fight a fire. It could also result in a loss of water for other people."

City director of public works Jim Gallogly said that although there were a few warnings issued when the demands went into effect, it appears most residents are now abiding by the restrictions.

"We are real proud of our residents for following the restrictions. It appears that most of the residents of other communities are following them as well," he said. "We know this because the pressures are good and the water volumes are high. The program works. When the need arises, the people do respond, and it's working."

Gallogly believes more rainy days are needed before Detroit will lift the water restrictions, which he is referring to as a "wake-up call" to the community's water supplier to provide for the water demanded.

"Hopefully, they are heeding that message so that water restrictions will not be needed in the future," he said.

In the days and weeks immediately following the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks of last year, Americans everywhere — including those right here at home - rushed to stores to pick up anything red, white and blue. We understand the antipathy and alienation felt by a large number of people these days. Government is so thick with politics that the greater good being sought by the decent folks we elect to office is often difficult to see. Bureaucrats and special interest groups further muck the process, leaving Joe and Jane average often on the outside looking in. And yet, despite all its drawbacks, ours is still the most perfect system of government in the world. No nation has maintained order as well. Tears were shed and egos bruised Tuesday night as the votes were tallied. But the transition of power flowed smoothly. No shots were fired. There weren't riots in the streets.

At its core, the American system remains essentially good. It's disappointing when those who have the power to change our leadership don't

Don't blame capitalism for current econ woes

More than 99.75 percent of corporation owners are honest and straightforward. The iberal need not try so hard to discredit free enterprise and the corporate entity in attempting their continued feeble endeavor to promote the socialist slave system, an economic system that Marx obfuscated with his poison pen, but probably not really knowing.

However dark one perceives the capitalist system at this moment, free enterprise and the resulting plethora of goods over any long run, will keep limited government and an accompanying free market arrangement, leagues ahead of the stagnant, inefficient, low-producing, noncompetitive slave system (socialism), the poverty guarantee promoted by the red-clad producers of scarcity.

The liberal still wailing that the Bush taxcut is responsible for the present economic decline gives himself away. And poop has it that three of the Democrats proving their incompetency attempting economic reasoning intend to seek the presidency. Maybe we should be nice to the chadmasters and get them to the polls next time, too.

going to trust me - which is important in this business — I suppose I should tell you a little bit about myself. I've lived in Northville (well, Novi, but the Northville part) for 19 years, and went to

Northville schools from preschool through high school graduation. Becoming a teacher has always been a goal of mine, and journalism interests me because it's an opportunity to reach a large number of people and teach them something new every time they read the paper. I attended Arizona State University for my freshman year of college, but I'm transferring to Michigan State this year. For my mom's sake, I'll attribute the switch to homesickness, but in reality, I missed the beautiful Michigan weather. Truthfully, going to Arizona was one of the best experiences of my life. Unfortunately, it seemed more like vacation than college, and I decided to cut my trip short. Now I'm a Wolverine fan stuck in a Spartan's world.

Journalism first struck me as a viable career choice during my senior year of high school. The Record was reporting the shortcomings of Northville High School's block scheduling and seminar period. I read an article mocking the system and saw the accompanying cartoon which made the school look more like a zoo than a learning institution.

I was so outraged that I picked up the phone and called the editor. Chris and I had a good exchange over the phone, and he encouraged me to write a letter to be published in the next paper. A few weeks later, the paper was looking for a Community Advisory Board to offer suggestions on improvements. I once again picked up the phone and called Chris.

At the Advisory Board meetings, I learned a lot about the newspaper business and became increasingly interested in finding out more. I took a few media related classes at the high school, and I was hooked.

This is only my first week on the job, and I've learned a lot already. I've conducted interviews and covered breaking news, ľm loving every minute next few of it. Over the weeks, I will find out if reporting is what I want to do for the rest of my life. Maybe I'll discover I don't like it, maybe I'll want to do it forever.

Hopefully, it will at least help me out with the ladies.

This is only my first week on the job, and I've learned a lot aiready. I've conducted interviews and covered breaking news, and I'm loving every minute of it.

The CRC serves Michigan well

With the dust is still settling on Tuesday's primary election results, now is a good time to take a look at one of the largely unknown factors that drove much of the political discussion in Michigan over the past year.

It's called the Citizens Research Council. It's very small - offices in Livonia and Lansing and portion to its size.

For example, if there was any real substance in the debates between candidates in gubernatorial primary election, it had to do with Michigan's budget crisis. Guess what provoked the whole discussion? In June, 2001, CRC issued a report — Michigan's Precarious Budget Situation - that concluded that the budget crisis was real and that there is a "structural deficit" approaching $1 billion in the state's budget that will last for years unless something dramatic is done.

Before the CRC study was released, if you listened hard you could hear soft mutterings from Lansing that the state was facing budget trouble. But there was nothing specific, and certainly nothing suggesting that the budget crisis was as severe or as long lasting as it now seems. By itself, publication the CRC study provoked news stories and editorials from newspapers all over Michigan. And once the press got onto the story, it wasn't long before politicians were getting asked all kinds of dif-ficult questions. And the Michigan budget crisis is now receiving the attention it deserves.

That's a perfect example of the CRC's mission: "In a world filled with all kinds of special interest groups, it can be difficult to sort out the facts required for sound decision making in government. ... The Citizens Research Council was founded in 1916 to answer a need the need for independent, nonpartisan public policy research. Other organizations conduct public policy research but often have political agendas or clients that may compromise their objectivity or independence. The Citizens Research Council stands alone always impartial and independent."

And the record of achievement is impressive. Work done by the CRC paved the way for charter government for Wayne County in 1981, for improving school financing, for legislation providing for revenue sharing between state and local governments, for updated highway administration and finance, for funding community health organizations. In fact, there are few big topics in Michigan public policy that have not been addressed in the Council's publications, CRC Reports, CRC Memoranda

Of course, trying to provide research that makes complex material accessible to the general public yet meets the most stringent academic standards is not easy. As CRC President Earl Ryan told me, "We know a lot of stuff, but often policy makers don't know or don't care or prefer not to pay much attention to our research." But CRC remains firm in its believe that some information is better than none. As legendary University of Michigan Business Professor Paul McCracken says, "CRC is the only organization in Michigan with the competency, tenacity and credibility to get the job

The Council has undergone considerable evolution since its foundation in 1916, when the Progressive movement introduced the then-revolutionary idea that public policy formation should be based on facts and empirical, independent research. In the 1950s, according to Ryan, CRC was "determinedly boring, its publications and research nearly indigestible." But the organization moved out of downtown Detroit to a bright, modern office overlooking I-275 in Livonia and spiffed up the writing and design of its publica-

$10 million as an endowment. And it's just put up a web site - http://www.crcmich.org that is now getting something like 60,000 hits

The point here is that the Citizens Research Council is hardly the subject of daily conversation in Michigan. But it is one of those quiet organizations that are uniquely valuable and filled with integrity that make life so much better for all of us.

Anxiety isn't always a bad thing

How often do we hear someone say, "I feel stressed?" How often do so many of us feel not just stressed but anxious? There are so many uncertainties that people experience. And life itself has uncertainty about it. There are those who feel these uncertainties so deeply that never seem to stop feeling anxious.

Paul Melrose

us. Anxiety may be a signal that it is time to on focus what is important in one's life, whether it be one's personal goals, professional life, or family life. At its root anxiety, as the

Dictionary of Pastoral Care and Counseling

defines it, "signals the threat of a fundamental loss or separation. When someone first feels anxiety they can become anxious about feeling anxious; they may even become scared or obsess about the causes of the anxiety and how to relieve it. Such a person is not able to see the healthy and helpful aspect of anxiety; anxiety is a clue to pay attention to one's self differently than one has. Anxiety is a signal to not only study one's life carefully to understand it but also to learn skills to manage it so that it does not take over and become out of control.

Normal anxiety is the kind of anxiety, which naturally accompanies the freedom and possibility present in life. Anxiety is present in our natural vulnerability to nature, sickness and death. Another form of anxiety is a part of the isolation and alienation from others that one can feel. It urges that persons seek relationship and communion with others.

Abnormal anxiety is a disproportionate reaction to a perceived threat. Abnormal anxiety occurs when one is not able to deal with anxious feeling as they arise. Abnormal anxiety occurs when one uses a variety of ways to deny those feelings or happenings that can and do stir up anxiety.

There are other ways in which a person can notice anxiety. If one is unsure of who one is or what one does, one can be anxious. One can be anxious about a certain event, or place or have a very strong anxious feeling about something, such as flying that is a phobia. In any of these situations the challenge for the person experiencing the anxiety is whether he/she will see it as a signal to respond to or something dangerous or scary to avoid. Dealing with anxiety may include professional helping resources.

One may need the aid and skill of a pastoral psychotherapist, or other mental health professional. Severe circumstances may require a medication evaluation. An anxiety management Blanchard's own day got long itself. Shortly before 11 p.m., Blanchard refused to back

"I didn't run for governor for the title," Blanchard told a crowd of cheering supporters. "I love this state. We won't stand idly by and watch the downward spiral continue."

Blanchard said regardless of the outcome, he planned on staying in public service for the foreseeable future.

Bonior planned to cast his ballot just as polls opened at the Wilson Community Gymnasium in Mount Clemens and spend Tuesday night at Ponchartrain Hotel. In a statement, Bonior held confidence in his volunteers' ability to build support for his campaign.

This race is going to be determined by two things undecided voters and turnout." Bonior said in the release. 'We've got the ground troops to get it done."

But the troops came up short, and by 10:30 p.m., Bonier conceded to Granholm.

"We congratulate the attorney general on her victory tonight," Bonior said. "Alma and I will continue to fight and work for what we believe in. This constant effort is a struggle."

Posthumus wallops Schwarz for GOP

MILFORD TIMES EDITOR In April of this year, state Sen. Joe Schwarz stated his opponent could not deliver the votes to defeat the Democratic counterpart in the November election. Come this fall, Schwarz will be able to see if his projection will come to fruition as he suffered a significant defeat at the hands of Lt. Gov. Dick Posthumus in the Republican primary this past Tuesday.

By Karl Kling

Posthumus, who garnered 83 percent of the vote, will now square off against Attorney General

Jennifer Granholm is a bid to replace the popular Gov. John Engler. While Posthumus supporters were popping corks, his campaign was lobbing verbal missiles at their next opponent.

Dick

Posthumus

"There is a very big difference between the two candidates," said Sage Eastman, spokesman for the campaign. "Jennifer Granholm grew up in California and is the child of a banker. Dick Posthumus grew up in Michigan and is the son of a farmer and an AFL-CIO member."

Posthumus is hoping his ties to the union work force will be beneficial in his bid to continue the Republican dominance in Michigan, where in the last 40 years a Democrat has sat in the governor's chair for only eight.

REPUBLICAN GUBERNATORIAL PRIMARY

His primary opponent, however, feels that Posthumus' strong ties to the political right wing will be a hindrance in November, something that will be difficult for the gubernatorialnominee to shed.

"His position on abortion is so hard core and his position on the budget will be a problem," Schwarz, shortly after conceding the race Tuesday evening. 'The Republican party is going to have to run this race smart. The base has got to be wider or they will be in trouble."

Joe Schwarz Eastman believes the key to the race will be the visibility of Posthumus and the ties the lieutenant governor has within the state.

"We will win by working at it every day," Eastman said. "Dick Posthumus will look families in the eye. He shares the same Michigan values that the working men and women of this state have.'

While Granholm has vowed to tweak Proposal A, a measure that Posthumus was instrumental in seeing pass in 1994, the lieutenant governor has vowed to maintain the status quo on the school funding bill.

'Tweak' means higher taxes," said Eastman, who when asked if the voters may support some alteration to Proposal A, retorted, "nobody is crying for the double-digit taxes that we had prior to the passing of Proposal A."

While Posthumus has his sights set on replacing Engler, Schwarz is looking to finish. ing his term and then returning to his life in medicine, all the while wondering whether or not people of his philosophical base have a place in the GOP.

"We need to widen the Republican base, welcome more moderate thinkers," he said. "It starts with pro-choice people. The Republican party needs to rid itself of this pathological affinity for the Right to Life of Michigan. People like myself have great difficulty in primaries. If I was a member of the other party I may have fared better. I was aware this was going to happen, but I was not going to change my stripes."

Schwarz said he will walk away from this race with his head held high. Posthumus, on the other hand, has a great deal of work to do in the hopes of defeating the extremely popular Granholm.

"His greatest strength is that he shares the working class values of the people of this state," Eastman said of Posthumus. "His biggest obstacle will be getting the necessary votes."

Something Schwarz feels is very difficult considering how far from the right he feels Posthumus must move.

PROPOSAL K: SPECIAL EDUCATION MILLAGE

Voters say 'yes' to special education millage

STAFF WRITER

Area voters headed to polls Tuesday to determine the fate of a millage proposal designed to aid Wayne County students enrolled in special education

At press time, the proposal passed with 160,721 votes to 138,305 votes with 59.8 percent of the precincts reporting, according to the Wayne County website.

In According to officials, the Wayne County Special Education Millage Election, or Proposal K, will increase funding for mandated special education programs and services for severely impaired students in Wayne County by 1.5 mills of real property taxes beginning in 2002.

"It certainly sounds like it passed," said Cooke School principal, Marilynn Bachorik. "I think it will have a good impact for the general education programs for Wayne County school districts because our special education will now be fully funded and we won't have to take money from general ed

Bachonk said staff members from Old Village School and Cooke worked diligently to get the proposal approved. "It means our programs should all be in the black for the next ten years," said Bachorik. 'That takes pressure off every single district that's been struggling to pay for special ed."

Old Village School principal Art Fischer, explained the motivation for the proposal in the June 2002 edition of the OVS newsletter, the Grapevine.

In the newsletter, Fischer stated that, The county is requesting this millage because the countywide special education tax levy, which supports the operation of these centers, has fallen short of operational costs for many years.

This has resulted in the practice of issuing annual 'chargebacks' to local districts, including Northville, in order to defray the annual deficit, which this year is estimated to exceed $30 million countywide. Districts pay for the billings by taking funds out of their general education program."

...The additional funding will eliminate the need to bill the school district each year and end the drain on local district general education programs. Under Proposal A, holding a countywide millage election is the only way a local district like Northville can belp itself financially."

Detour: Smooth road soon ahead

By Annette Jaworski CONTRIBUTING WRITER

It's that time of year again - with orange barrels heralding the construction season. It's not the most welcome sight. But there's good news, too, for Milford residents. The re-routing of Main Street traffic is only a temporary inconvenience. There'll soon be relief to the patchy roadwork that travelers have been bouncing along for years. A smooth ride will more than compensate for the re-routing that will be necessary.

As anyone can testify, the roadwork was long overdue. Local business owners and village officials are asking shoppers and travelers to bear with it during the road resurfacing which is the final step to a new and improved Main Street.

After years of patching potholes, Fred Morin, Director of Public Services for the Village of Milford, says the improvements are welcome and necessary.

"It's been many, many years since it's been resurfaced and it's about time...It does effect the cars and it's hard on them," Morin added.

The roadwork from Commerce to Huron will put the finishing touches to the downtown area, which began with sidewalk refinishing in July. The timeline for completion is a maximum of 21 work days by contractor, Angelo lafrate. Roadwork begins immediately after Milford Memories, from Aug. 19 through Sept. 9. The milling of Main Street will begin Aug. 18.

The detour will take traffic from East Commerce to First Street, south to River Drive; follow River Drive to Huron, and Huron back to South Main Street or GM Road.

A Race to the Finish Line

The incentive monies attached to the project bid provide important motivators to complete the project on a timely basis. The Main Street project will offer the largest amount of incentive monies at $10,000 per day, for every day the project is finished early.

Bonus monies are a highly successful motivator when it comes to finishing roadwork on time, according to Downtown Development Authority Director Ann Barnette. The several downtown projects that have offered bonus monies have been highly successful, resulting in on time or early completion. These include General Motors Road to Main Street in 1997, North Milford Road from Commerce Street in 1999 and Atlantic Street this year. Each of the projects met or exceeded time requirements for their perspective work.

of construction the downtown section of Main Street will be closed entirely to vehicular traffic. The first order of business is to enable access to Main Street via a "turnaround" from Commerce to Liberty. The contractor will first construct the concrete crosswalk cradles, which require five days to cure. At that point, the Main Street turnaround between Liberty and Commerce will allow vehicular traffic, although no trucks or deliveries will be allowed on Main. The idea is to allow a flow of traffic through Main Street as quickly as possible, according to Barnette. Construction will continue south of Liberty at that time, where major roadwork is required. Minor work such as curbs and crosswalks may take place a week before total shut down, and at night for five to six nights after the road is opened.

Spirit of Cooperation

To make the best of a bad situation, everyone is being asked to do their share. Employees of downtown merchants are being asked to park along Union Street and the Upper Parking lot of Central Park to keep the east west parking spots available for cus-

Some people are going above and beyond to make the construction period as bearable as possible. The Beautification Committee and the Milford Garden Club will act as hostesses for a week to welcome shoppers patronizing the downtown area. Other creative entrepreneurs include Milford Glass, who is offering pickup service for their customers and will be using Hines Park dealership as a tempoary site. Local developers Marc Weinbaum and Lyle Tyler offered the Hines Park site free of charge. Colonial Motors planned to utilize the Hines Park facility, but instead opted for another property on Huron. Customers of Flats, Coffee Works and La Strada, may use parking on Water Street during construction, thanks to the Water Park Place owner and tenants. The owner of Village Party Time has also offered his lot for customer parking on the south side of town.

Mike and Dave's Big

Adventure or Two Men ala Carts

Some people know how to have fun under any circumstances. Take Mike Palazzolo, President of the Milford Business Association and Dave Armstrong, president of the Monthly Shopper. The two will chauffeur shoppers in golf carts provided by the DDA. They'll provide a helping hand to the elderly, handicapped or simply package burdened shoppers who need a ride. Call Mike Palazzolo at La Strada (248) 684-2630, or Dave Armstrong via cell phone at (248) 320-8167.

"It's a little extra convenience for customers to help make it more bearable," said Palazzolo.

The numbers will be listed in strategic places downtown as well. The two will also make their presence known downtown to assist shoppers if needed.

Armstrong added, "We want them to know we're available if they need us."

All stores will maintain their current hours to service their customers. Other incentives include the downtown shoppers 20 percent off card as well as the shop and dine card.

Buses re-route, too!

Buses will also need to make accommodations during this brief period, since the Huron Valley school year begins Aug. 21. Representatives from the transportation department will be attending the Aug. 1 informational meeting, according to Supervisor of Transportation LuAnn Grech. Although plans are not confirmed, buses will adjust routes for the construction, and they will accommodate students as conveniently as possible. Parents with students in the affected area will receive more information once the bus cards are sent.

Faris on Business

The Spirit of John Dunlap

By Jack Faris

John Dunlap has slipped into the haze of history. The role this small-business owner played in American independence is not widely known and rarely mentioned among the acts of defiance that occurred 226 years ago when our nation took its first step toward freedom.

But the Philadelphia printer's skill heralded one of the greatest events in modern civilization. Called to action by the Continental Congress in July 1776, Dunlap crafted 500 "broadside" posters that gave the emerging nation its first look at the Declaration of Independence. The copies he quickly spun from his letterpress at 48 High Street were raced to citizens throughout the colonies to share with them the news that self-government was the will of the people and revolution was at hand

Certainly Dunlap was thrilled to see the words "When in the Course of human events...."
Despite knowing that this dangerous experiment might fail, he took a brave stand and added his name to the bottom of the printed document, an act that could have led to a traitor's death by hanging had the revolution failed.

Independence. It defines us as a nation, it tells the world that we will govern and defend ourselves, it drives our entrepreneurial spirit and is the foundation of our free enterprise system.

Some nations envy it, some think it arrogant, others despise the concept because they are unwilling to accept that "all men are created equal." They refuse to acknowledge that our citizens have "unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness."

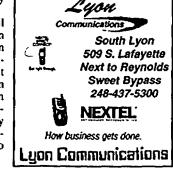

America's detractors also fail to realize that the spirit of John Dunlap continues to beat within the breasts of millions of small-business owners whose pursuit of happiness is the American Dream of starting their own enterprises. These are risk-takers, who through their daily efforts, serve their fellow citizens and contribute mightily to their nation's future.

It is unlikely that today's small-business owners will ever have an historic opportunity such as the one faced by John Dunlap, but their dedication to those ideals forged long ago is no less firm. Throughout our nation's history, those who run America's shops and till its soils have always been willing to shoulder the burden of securing freedom and independence. From the bridge at Concord to the mountains of Afghanistan, the battle has been borne in large part by small-business owners and their employees.

Two hundred and twenty-six years ago, Americans told a tyrant we would not be trampled upon. Those who today threaten our citizens and our way of life should view celebrations of our independence as reminders that we are a nation of John Dunlaps.

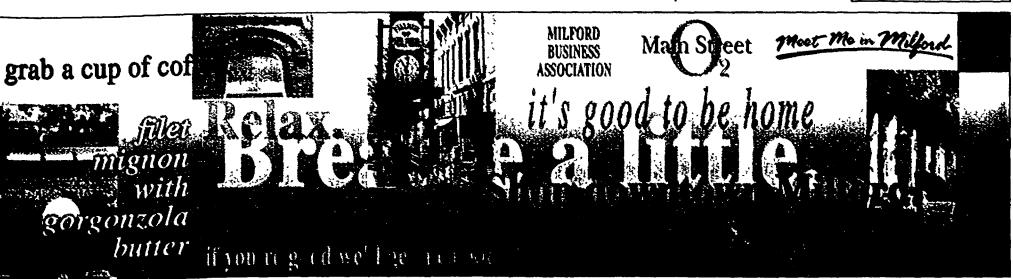

We prefer to tend our shops and stores and farms. We prefer to use our precious resources building our small businesses and sharing the fruits of our labors with our families and employees. But if called upon, if needed in the service of our nation, America's entrepreneurs, like John Dunlap, will take a firm stand and get the job done.

Jack Faris is president of NFIB (the National Federation of Independent Business), the nation's largest small-business advocacy group. A non-profit, non-partisan organization founded in 1943, NFIB represents the consensus views of its 600,000 members Washington, D.C., and all 50 state capitals. Pisha, Ducat, Gorman earn win with East

East All Stars J. R. Ducat (left) of Walled Lake Central, Mike Pisha (middle) of Walled Lake Western, and Matt Gorman of Novi, all competed in the 22nd Annual All Star Football game at Michigan Stadium August 3. All three players were key in their football teams' 2001 season and are looking at playing football at the next level.

By Stephen Bell and Sam Eggleston SPORTS WRITERS

On a field - and not just any field, but that of Michigan Stadium - recent high school alumni Matt Gorman from Novi, J.R. Ducat from Walled Lake Central and Mike Pisha from Walled Lake Western found themselves lining up alongside and facing the very best football players in the state. At the 22nd-annual Michigan High School Football Coaches Association East-West All-Star game, surrounded by athletes about to continue their careers at hallowed gridiron teams like Notre Dame, Michigan, Penn State and Michigan State, these local players looked right at home. Gorman, Ducat and Pisha were all part of an East team defense with Ducat at linebacker and Pisha and Gorman in the backfield that manhandled the opposition in a 28-7 trouncing of the West.

"It was pretty cool and a lot of fun," Gorman said via phone interview. "It was a good experience for me to play with a lot of very

Notre Dame-bound Jeff Jenkins, an Ann Arbor Huron graduate, returned the ensuing kickoff 66 yards for the West, which allowed Brehm to score on a quarterback keeper and save his team the ignominy of playing in the first shutout in the game's history.

The East team's dominance was evident early. Detroit King's Larry Harrison controlled the middle of the line which caused havoc throughout the West's offense. It did have a promising drive on its first possession but settled for a 37-yard field goal attempt that went wide left. That gave Drew Stanton the ball, and that's never a

Is changing of the sports seasons missing the point?

A rejection of the Michigan High Athletic School Association's rearranged sports season schedule by Honorable Judge Richard Enslen, a U.S. Sam District Eggleston Federal judge, has led to the order by the court for girls' basketball and girls' volleyball seasons to be switched along with three options the MHSAA must choose from for the other sports seasons.

The ruling, which changes volleyball to fall and basketball to winter, was brought about in an origi-nal suit that claimed inequality of the girls' and boys' sports due to the seasons that they were played in, and asked for a switch in the girls' basketball and volleyball seasons. The original plan was meant to increase the recruitment of Michigan players in both sports by colleges with hopes of increasing scholarships offered as well unfortunately, the original suit didn't expect the ruling that Enslen passed down, which demands the MHSAA to pick one of three options along with the switch. The first option is to make all sports that are conducted in separate seasons for each gender to be played in the same season, which would include golf, soccer, swimming and tennis. The second option was to switch two of the four sports with their male counterparts' season and the third option was to combine two of the four sports seasons to be gender equal, and reverse the seasons of one of the other two. Enslen has given the MHSAA until October 30 to decide which plan they will take

The problems that faces high schools and conferences throughout Michigan with any of options, as well as the switch in volleyball and basketball seasons, are serious ones. Most areas do not have the facilities, officials, transportation or budget to have both boys' and girls' basketball playing at the same time. In other states, such as Alaska, the seasons are played the same time, with both teams playing one after the other at the Varsity level. Most of the games played, to save money for the schools in that state, are traveling schools stay through the weekend to get four or five games off their schedule if stagle har. Another problem the ruling brings in is competition between sports. If volleyball and soccer are played during the same season, the competition between the two sports may find a smaller talent level competing in both. Then, there is the issue of coaches. In Novi, for example, Jim Hanson, Larry Tehan and Brian O'Leary coach both the male and female teams of their next couple of years. The District Court stated that the implementation of the plan would take effect the school year following the end of the stay in the proceedings, as the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati has already agreed to hear the MHSAA's appeal, preventing any changes in season realignment through the 2003-04 school year. So, there should be plenty of time to figure

Well, if you love softball and are looking for the facilities capable of taking your game to the next level, you're in luck. The newest addition to the massive complex of Total Soccer in Wixom is the wonderful world of Total Softball.

Talent pool a little shallower in spring thanks to graduation

By Sam Eggleston SPORTS WRITER

Well, so far so good. I haven't been hounded too terribly bad about my picks for the most missed graduating seniors.

But, as with everything, I am not sure I am completely understood. I guess I really wasn't clear about this before, so I am just going to add it in again. None of this is based on statistics, team awards, All-Conference, All-Area, All-State, All-Anything. It is just little old me sitting in front of my iMac and telling you, the reader, who I think is going to be the most difficult to replace on a team. That doesn't necessarily mean that it was the MVP of the team, or the best player around, just the one that I think will be the toughest to find a replacement for. I hope you enjoy reading this, as well as agree with at least some of nitely been times that Harmer and myself haven't seen eye-to-eye on issues, but I must say from his accomplishments and his inability to ever give up, I think he is probably a good guy. His ability on the mound and on the defensive end of the game helped the Mustangs limp their way through a tough regular season and to a surprising District championship.

Mike Crawford, Novi, Baseball -An athlete that undeservedly was left off of the All-Area squad, Crawford can pretty much play any sport at any level if he put his mind and his body towards it. His ability to pitch a baseball was invaluable to the Wildcats this season and he showed how important a wellrounded athlete is in the sport as he helped lead Novi to yet another conference title.

Mike Pisha, WLW, Baseball -Pisha, Pisha, Pisha. I just love this kid. Truth be told, when I first met him during football season I thought he was arrogant, bad tempered and over-rated -- now I put my foot in my mouth for ever saying it. Pisha is a great kid. A good athlete, a good student and a good teammate. His whole goal is to win, but not for himself. He's out there to succeed as a team and as a member of that team. Look for Pisha to succeed in whatever he chooses to do, but also look for the Warriors to be hurting without him next season.

Ryan Trailer, WLC, Baseball - This senior hurler helped keep the season going for the Walled Lake Central Vikings. Yeah, it was a tough season that didn't have the makings of deep travel into the playoffs, but Trailer didn't care. He went out, like he always does, and gave it his all. The young Vikings will have a tough time finding a replacement for his skills and his desire to win in the Spring of 2003.

Kicking like a Mule!

Davis hoping strong leg will find him in the company of Spartans

By Brian Doyle SPECIAL WRITER

Matt Gorman isn't the only 2002 Novi High School graduate looking for a spot on a Division I roster this fall. Novi's former place kicker Brandon Davis is looking to become a member of Michigan State University's squad this

"It's a once in a lifetime opportunity," Davis said, "Maybe my talent will give me enough to get a spot on the

Davis is currently working on increasing his leg strength and on his all around kicking. He is preparing for a try-out with the team which will occur sometime after he moves in on August 21.

Davis has been in contact with the athletic office and still needs to arrange a date with another member of the athletic department to set up his walk on attempt.

During Novi's football season late last year, Davis decided that he wanted to try out for the team.

"I decided it would be a good idea and a good opportunity," he said.

He also said that the coaches at Novi have been very encouraging in his decision to try and become a walk on.

"I've had a lot of influence from the football coaches, Davis said.

Davis didn't seek out Michigan State specifically for football reason, but more for academics first and looked at football as an opportunity to enrich that experience.

"I was worried about school first," Davis said, "If the opportunity comes to be a part of the team that would be an extra benefit to me.'

Davis also noted that he chose Michigan State because of its close proximity to Novi.

Currently, Davis is just finding time to work out specific leg muscles, stretch, and kick in whatever open areas he is

Davis has been trying to increase his distance for kickoffs and improve on his accuracy for extra point attempts and field goals.

Going into college, Davis will have to adjust to the pressures of classes and, hopefully, the added time commitment and pressure of football.

"It's a brand new experience and I'm not sure what to expect," he said, "It's going to be a big commitment.

Davis realizes that to make the team will be a great accomplishment and is goals are to give it a shot, and to become a part of the team.

"It would be something that I would be very proud of and just have fun with," Davis said, "It would be a great experience to play at that level."

If Davis is unable to obtain a spot on Michigan State's football roster, he still has hopes of becoming a college athlete

"If football doesn't work out, I'd like to try and walk on playing baseball," he said.

The walk on tryout for baseball would occur on September 9 but that will only become an important date if Davis isn't apart of the football team.

"The first thing I would do (if I didn't make the football team) is give baseball a shot." Davis said.

His high school assistant baseball coach is a former Michigan State baseball player and will be taking Davis along to an Alumni game to introduce him to the coaches.

Finally, if Davis does not become a member of Michigan State's football or baseball team, he will have little to regretand will never have to think about the "what-ifs" of trying out.

"If it doesn't work out I'm still proud of everything I was able to do through high school," he said, "That definitely holds value for me."

Davis said that he has been encouraged in his decisions to attempt to become a college athlete have been encouraged by his parents, his coaches, and

Northville Pom Pon has good showing

By Sam Eggleston SPORTS WRITER

The Northville Porn Pon team is looking forward to what might possibly be their best season ever. Being a team that practices pretty much year-round, the Pom Pon squad competes in the Mid-American Camp at Central Michigan University each and every year, and, like a bright firework signaling the start of a great new year. the girls brought home the title of Grand Champs of the camp.

"It is a big start off for us," coach
Melissa Millgard said. "We took overall first places in all three of the camp categories, so we won a grand champs trophy for our team."

As though that wasn't enough, the JV squad, which is only in its second year of existence, also took home the grand champs trophy for their performance at their competition level.

"This is our biggest varsity team ever, and we only have one member without experience," Millgard said, adding that before their JV program, every new member of the varsity team was inexperienced. "We also have a 24-member JV team. It is incredible the amount of girls that want to be involved and this is easily, hopefully, our best year ever."

Millgard noted that the team has improved steadily each season that she has been head coach - four

"This is easily the most prepared that I have seen this program," she said. "Each year we are able to teach the same program we are going to get stronger, and that is thanks to the JV program. Instead of girls with no experience, we are getting girls who already know what they have to do to be a part of this team. I am really excited."

Millgard said that she couldn't remember the last time, if ever, the Northville squad was named grand champs of the Mid-America camp, but she noted that it is only a sign of things to come.

We are going to have a strong season," she said. "We have football ahead of us, and we will be strong then with a lot less stress time. Our first competition is in November, and by then we will be pretty ready and pretty prepared."
While watching the 31 girls perform at the halftime shows of football, boys' soccer and boys' basketball, some may notice four of the Pom Pon members that are a bit more helpful and more advanced in leadership than the others — that is probably the team captains. Seniors Lauren Lininger, Ashleigh Doinidis, Lindsey Chomiuk and Amy Scheich will be the foursome that takes charge of the ranks this season as they look to lead their team to a whole new level of suc-

"Those four girls do a great job," Millgard said

Captain Lindsey Chomiuk recipient of leadership award

By Sam Eggleston

Well, if leading your team to the title of grand champs of the Mid-American camp wasn't enough, winning a coveted award at the Pom Pon camp would probably add enough sugar to the event to make it oh-so sweet.

Senior Lindsey Chomiuk did just that as she caught the eyes of the judges and took home the "Sparkle and Shine" award for her leadership ability throughout the competition.

"It is kind of like a leadershipmotivation award they give out to the girl that displays the most leadership ability throughout the week," Chomiuk said. "I guess they had their eye on me through the whole camp and I didn't even know it. When they called my name, I just sat there with my mouth open while everyone cheered and clapped."

Even though the award was an individual one, Chomiuk expressed her desire to help the entire team with it.

"I hope that it helps us with the administration and getting Pom finally recognized," she said. "This year we have so much talent in both varsity and JV and I hope we can take it to such great heights."

Spring seniors are going to be hard to replace past the first round of the playoffs this season. Her hitting ability and her great demeanor are going to be the two things that the Wildcats will miss the most next season - heek, how often do you see a high school softball player cranking the ball out of the park? Look for her void to remain unfilled on the Wildcat roster for at least a couple of years.

Cooke, Northville, Softball - I guess it was just a tough season for most of the local softball clubs this year Northville in particular. Yet, through all of the losses and huge victories, Cooke remained a bright spot with the program. Her ability out in right field found her throwing out more than one runner before they could get to first base and her leadership was only matched by fellow senior Ashley Knicely. Don't expect to see Cooke's resilience replaced come next season, nor her stellar right-field play.

Danielle Bonjero, WLW, Softball - A tough hitter and a god-send on the defensive end of the game, Bonjero helped lead the charge into the best-ever performance by the Warrior softball team. Her leadership and her talents make her one tough cookie to emulate next year, and her desire to win and do so with a convincing tone will be hard to imitate for anyone in the

Drew Doll, Novi, Lacrosse -You want to know what I think about Doll? I'll tell you - I think he is one of the best athletes I have talent oozing from his pores. I shook his hand one time and I could have probably just taken the talent that rubbed off in that brief exchange and played a full season of lacrosse - or not. Doll proved to be the type of leader the Wildcats were looking for in a season that brought them oh-so-close to the championship game. Doll, along with many other seniors on the lacrosse team, are going to be all but impossible to replace in the coming Adkins, Northville Knights, Rugby - As many of you probably have figured out by now, I love rugby. I played it in college, I watch it on TV and when I can't do that I am playing it on my Playstation II. I love this game. When I think of a player that I would want running in the try for me, it is Adkins. His build makes him a great runner and his field awareness is one that the Golden Eagles would love to tap out of him. Take that and combine it with his ability to defend and his speed to make it to the outside when the ball. gets pitched wide and you have a player that most college clubs would die to get. I don't expect that the Knights will be able to replace Adkins next season, but I do expect that he will be out making some more noise on college campuses around the state.

Lindsay Dunmead and Larissa Fill, Northville, Soccer - The Frito Lay potato chip slogan was, and maybe still is, "You can't just eat one." Well, when it comes to picking from the Northville soccer team which seniors would be the toughest to replace, the saying is "You can't just pick one." Dunmead proved to be the leader that everyone knew she could be as the Mustangs pounded out one of their best regular seasons ever. Fill, on the other hand, led by example via the scoreboard as she continued to be the best scorer in Northville history. I can't see the Mustangs finding replacements for these two, or at least not right away. As the season goes on, that story might change but right now I am seeing the Mustangs feeling a bit of a pinch with this

Emily Ott, Northville, Girls Track - A leader in every sport she played, Ott is the type of senior athlete that coaches dream about. A quiet leader that shows what needs to be done by doing it on the competitive field of play, Ott was a valuable asset to the Mustangs in more ways than one. Her experience and her leadership ability made her a very valuable captain for people to follow, but her ability and her talents made her the point-scorer that the Mustangs were looking for as well. As with all her sports, Ott will be missed come next season on the Tim Moore, Novi, Boys Track - Moore is one of those players that no matter who you are returning or what you have up your sleeve, he is going to be all but impossible to replace. I am not even sure if all but should be before impossible in that last sentence oh well. Moore is going to be away running for some Division I school called Notre Dame, but his spirit and legacy left behind at Novi High School will help push the future track and field stars to do their best no matter what they are facing.

Ben Maxim, Northville, Boys Track - Quite the athlete, this Maxim kid. His ability and his leadership qualities made him a topnotch senior to have on any team. He didn't care if it was soccer, swimming or track, he wanted to go out and do his best and that is exactly what he did each and every day he went out and competed. I know that Northville had a tough track season, but Maxim was one of the bright spots in the senior ranks this Bethany Kittle, Novi, Girls Track - An all around tough runner and a competitor that never quits, Kittle showed that being dedicated and determined will help you to succeed. One of the few seniors that managed to make it through the season on a consistent run and without coming up lame with an injury, Kittle was a shining example of what an athlete should look to do when they play. Though she was trailing or knew that she was far from the favorite in a particular race, Kittle never gave up and continued to be a solid runner for the Wildcats.

Karrie Smith, Novi, Soccer -A four-year member of the Wildcat varsity soccer team, Smith was a valuable asset with both her skill and her experience. A two-year captain as well, she proved that being a leader doesn't mean you have to be the headline player on a team. Though the Wildcats are going to be entering one of their strongest years ever, the absence of Smith and her senior leadership qualities will probably be noticed in the opening

A. J. Sansom, Novi, Tennis - A tough player who I named as a rising star in an earlier article. Sansom will be off and attending college come this spring while his former teammates are out trying to defend their KVC title. His doubles play was a tough set of talents to match as he earned victory after victory this season. I expect the Wildcats will be tough next season, but there will be a hole where Sansom once

Kyle Dehne, Northville, Tennis - A solid singles player that had a rough year playing some of the top competition in the state of Michigan, Dehne is going to be one tough player to replace next year. The Mustangs should have a fairly strong line-up, but the solution to Dehne's abandoned position may not be a clear one until the nearing of the start of the spring session.

Kate MacDonald, Northville, Golf — Absolutely amazing. MacDonald is one of those golfers that come along once and a great while. Definitely deserving of Miss Golf, MacDonald fell just short in the voting thanks to dampened coverage from our friends at the daily newspapers. Her abilities made her a shoe in for a Division I scholarship, but MacDonald chose to go Division II so she would gain more playing time on the courses and have a better chance of getting the strokes she needed to in order to advance her career. Her season totals were more than impressive, drawing comments from across the board this year as she medaled in every tournament she played in. Look for the Mustangs to be tough next season, but I don't know if they will have another state medalist like MacDonald.

Sara Ehlers, Novi, Golf -Through all four years of her varsity golf career, Ehlers was a member of the top-six golfers competing in each match every single time. A two-time selection to the All-KVC team, her abilities and her knowledge of the game make her a tough player to replace on the Wildcat team. Look for a hole to be left where she once played as the 'Cats look to put together a run for the

That winning would only be the result of the first two goals. Restoring, renovating old homes is what Paulson's is all about

By Candy Parent DAILY PRESS & ARGUS

Homeowners who are restoring old houses typically share a universal frustration.

Trying to find contractors who will both repair the old building and remain true to the period of the house has been difficult and, at times, virtually impossible - until

Since 1998, Paulson's Construction Inc. has specialized in historic renovations. restorations and remodels for homes of all ages. Paul McClorey, owner, and his staff work closely with each customer to create a look appropriate to the house.

Over the years, Paulson's Construction has worked on many historic homes in the county. Most of them have been Victorian or farmhouses built between 1850-1900. Some have been restored based on old photographs. Other houses are made comfortable for modern living with a period feel and modern amenities.

We work closely with the customer." McClorey said.

Paulson's Construction can do many of the projects owners of old buildings require. They can recreate or repair gingerbread trim from a photo, remove vinyl siding and restore clapboards. replace custom porch spindles, add a garage, redo a porch, replace a high-pitched roof, create new streplace surrounds, repair cabinets and even determine the building's original paint scheme. McClorey said he has the resources to obtain missing hardware and to find uncommon species of wood to replace damaged pieces.

We run into a lot of structural problems," said McClorey. "Although we can't always bring it back to level.

Although many homeowners use the words renovation and restoration as synonyms. McClorey said there are technical differences in the meaning of the words.

Renovation, he said, is what most old house homeowners desire. Based on research, clues in the building and photos, homeowners will "preserve the old character of the house, but make it comfortable for modern living.

Restoration, on the other hand, is re-creating the house exactly like it once was. McClorey said the only true restorations completed are those generally meant to be used like museums.

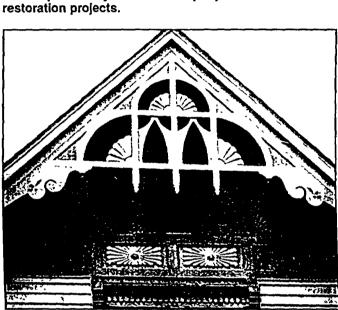

Everyone is a little different." he said. "(But most homeowners want to) go for a historic feeling, rather than being true to the period."

After all, plumbing wasn't moved indoors until the early 1900s, yet most people want a bathroom and kitchen with running water.
