2006 unofficial VOTING GUIDE

What you really need to know when you go to the polls Tuesday

By Maureen Johnston
RECORD STAFF WRITER

So much political propaganda. So many campaign promises. With so much to sort through this election season, putting pen to ballot needs to be a simple task. Local election officials predict a high turnout among Northville registered voters. Conventional wisdom says those who plan ahead can revel in the experience of exercising their right Tuesday. So, for eligible city and township residents who have their minds made-up, here's the 2006 "Unofficial" Voting Guide to get it done:

1. Double-check polling place.

Precinct workers report the most grief for voters from their arrival — and sometimes wait — at the wrong polling place. "Make sure you know where you vote before you leave the house and that you're registered," said Northville Township Clerk Sue Hillebrand. She said voters can confirm their status by visiting the Michigan Secretary of State Web site at www.michigan.gov/sos. In the City of Northville, Clerk Dianne Massa said Oakland and Wayne residents divided into two precincts sometimes are not sure where to report.

HIGHWOOD

More time's needed

By Renee Saunders
STAFF WRITER

Susan Moruzi doesn't want a view of downtown Detroit when she's living in Northville. That's what she told the Northville Township Planning Commission during the public hearing on Highwood last Tuesday. Moruzi was referring to a six-story, mid-density, multi-tenant building, proposed by developers Schostak Brothers and Real Estate Interest Group, that would be built as part of the Highwood development. Moruzi was one of about 100 township residents who passed up a Tigers vs. Cardinals World Series game to attend the public hearing on the proposal. "Highwood" is the name given to 415-acre site of the former Northville Psychiatric Hospital, anchored at the southwest corner of Haggerty and Seven Mile roads. If the current plan proposed by the developers is approved by the planning commission, it will include land for a new elementary school, 1,100 homes and a downtown-like retail center with boutique-like shops. But not nearly as many residents commented on the project as those who first showed up. The meeting began at 7:30

Cuts imminent? School district facing possible funding slash

By Victoria Mitchell
RECORD STAFF WRITER

School administrators will meet Tuesday, reacting to a message the district may see funding cuts exceeding a half million dollars. Leonard Rezmierski, Northville Public Schools superintendent, said he was informed cuts to the state School Aid Fund may be imminent. Thomas White, executive director of the Michigan School Business Officials, issued a "yellow alert" to Michigan school districts stating cuts ranging from $60-120 per student may be forthcoming. According to district documents, there are 6,854 students in the district this year.

White said he issued the alert because state revenues estimated in May are not materializing at expected levels. He estimates the state will be between $100-200 million short during the January consensus revenue estimating conferences. White attributes the decline to three things: a zeroed out $95 million surplus included in the state's current year School Aid Fund budget; a general fund shortfall; and unknown State Education Tax receipts. He said the state will deal with the anticipated loss by either decreasing per-pupil foundation funding or making general budget cuts, keeping student funding intact. White said he's seen the state handle school funding shortfalls both ways in recent history. "The message I'm trying to convey is there may be a cut, not there will be a cut," he said. "But be aware: You should inform your communities and start making plans. "I'm saying look at your budget and look what you can do." As a precautionary measure, board members and school administrators will meet 7 p.m. Tuesday during their regularly scheduled finance subcommittee session to anticipate where cuts may be made. The meeting held on the third floor of the downtown district administrative building is open to the public. "We're going to calculate two to three scenarios and pose them

Designers tweaking improvement plans before next presentation to city officials

By Maureen Johnston
RECORD STAFF WRITER

You've seen the art. Now comes the math. Last Thursday, nearly 80 residents reviewed potential downtown improvements drafted by the city's design consultant on display at the Northville Senior Community Center. On paper, Grissim Metz Andreise Associates grew a town square, created pathways, spruced up the streetscape and arched a welcoming entrance to Ford Field. Next, they'll put pencil to paper to assign expenses. "We're going to start into costs this next week," said firm principal Sue Grissim, who along with Randy Metz and other Grissim representatives fielded questions during the open house.

POLL HOURS
7 a.m. - 8 p.m.
Tuesday, Nov. 7th

Some final voting tips

Fill it in. Using black pens provided at the polling precinct, completely fill in the oval. Circling options doesn't count because the tabulator can't read them.

You feed it. Voters are required by law to insert their own ballot from the secrecy folder into the tabulator, Hillebrand said.

Try again. If the tabulator rejects your ballot, the reason will be listed on the panel. That happens when someone "under-votes" — leaving fewer than the permitted ovals in one section empty. Offering the option "accept or reject," the machine spits out the ballot to give the voter a final chance. If the omission was intentional, just slide it through again.

OK to split. Unlike the primary election, voters are allowed to split their votes among the parties during the general election. Instructions at the top of the ballot lead voters through the process. Bottom line: As long as a voter doesn't pick too many candidates for a category, the tabulator will override the party selection for an independent selection.

Hard to spoil. Hillebrand said general election ballots are very "voter-friendly," unforgiving only when someone darkens too many ovals in one section.

Absentee ballots. Residents can vote by absentee ballot until 4 p.m. Monday at city hall, said Northville Clerk Dianne Massa. They cannot take the ballot home. The last day a ballot can leave the city clerk's office is 2 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 4. Township voters can vote absentee 9 a.m.-2 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 4, at township hall. The last day to request an absentee ballot by mail is by 2 p.m., Saturday.

Sample ballots. City voters can pick one up in the Northville City Hall 24-hour vestibule, 215 W. Main St. Township voters can pick one up at the township hall at the corner of Six Mile and Sheldon roads.

ID not required. By Michigan law, voters who are registered and in the municipality's poll books do not need to show identification. To fill out an application to vote, they need only supply their name, address and birth date.

Comment properly. The full-time clerks invite residents with suggestions to contact their offices during regular business hours, not bend the ear of a once-a-year precinct worker.

Too late. The deadline to register passed Oct. 10.

Oakland Physical Therapy, PC Celebrates 25th Anniversary

Frank C. Kava, MS, PT and Kristie Sberman Kava, MS, PT

Novi residents, Frank and Kristie Kava, both physical therapists, opened the doors of Oakland Physical Therapy, PC in Novi twenty five years ago. The first office was located near Ten Mile & Haggerty Roads in the Holly Hills medical complex. At the time, the practice was the only outpatient physical therapy facility between Orchard Lake and Brighton. After ten years at Holly Hills, they moved to the Providence Park Medical Center where they have resided for the past fifteen years. Oakland Physical Therapy, PC will be moving into the new Providence Park Medical Office Building in 2007 as part of the Providence Park Hospital Campus expansion, where a new 200-bed hospital and medical office building is under construction. "Our new office will be larger with state-of-the-art equipment and an expanded fitness area," says Kristie Kava.

As long time residents of Novi, their three children attended Novi Public Schools and Frank & Kristie continue to be actively involved with St. James Catholic Church, Northville First United Methodist Church and are members of the Novi Chamber of Commerce.

Frank and Kristie direct a highly competent staff of orthopedic physical therapists, physical therapy technicians and administrative personnel and continue to be actively involved with hands-on patient care.

As part of the Fitness & Wellness seminar series on November 9, 2006, they will be hosting a class on Managing Osteoarthritis and Osteoporosis and on December 6, a class on Getting Conditioned for Skiing. Both programs begin at 7 pm and are offered free of charge as a public service; however registration is required by calling 248.380.3550. Arrive prior to the class at 6:30 pm for refreshments in celebration of 25 Years in orthopedic, sports and performing arts physical therapy.

Frank & Kristie were among the first to achieve advanced certification in manual physical therapy from the renowned Orthopedic Manual Therapy Program at Oakland University and had the rare opportunity to train with some of the most highly recognized practitioners in the United States, Norway and Europe. Frank is recognized by the American Physical Therapy Association as a Certified Specialist in Orthopedics.

Kristie regularly speaks to Performing Arts students about injury prevention, management and the general health needs of instrumental musicians and is a member of the Performing Arts Medicine Association (PAMA), a network of dedicated medical professionals, artists, educators and administrators whose common goal is improving the health care of performing artists. Over the next several months, Kristie will be conducting research investigating the effect of Pilates exercise on instrumental musicians in the completion of Doctorate of Science in Physical Therapy. She also serves in an advisory capacity at Michigan State University on the Musician Wellness Team.

Performing Arts Physical Therapy addresses the needs of the performing artist and musician through a dynamic, integrated approach to rehabilitation.

Sports Physical Therapy is a specialty that utilizes a comprehensive approach to the identification, management and prevention of sport and exercise related conditions.

Community Education classes open to the general public and patients including classes on running injuries and prevention, stress management, exercise and low back pain, arthritis and osteoporosis, and getting conditioned for skiing.

Pilates mat classes are offered with the goal of increasing musculoskeletal performance without risking injury. The classes focus on core stability, balance and shoulder girdle and pelvic placement, postural alignment and breathing.

What you really need to know when you go to the polls election day.

"We get more than you would think, people who come in who don't know where they vote," she said. "We also have township people who come here.
"People wait in line and find out they're in the wrong place. Then they get frustrated."

2. Pick the best time to vote.

Only the very earliest bird catches the worm on election day. The city and township clerks encourage voters with limited time to avoid going to the polls at the start and end of election day. "Around 7-9 in the morning is swamped and very hectic," Hillebrand said. "The workers are just getting set up and getting in the groove."
Because they expect a high turnout, Massa and Hillebrand said voters should plan for some waiting. For the 2002 gubernatorial election, Massa said people started lining up at city hall at 6:30 a.m. Voter turnout remained steady throughout the day, with a peak at lunchtime, she said.

"The first hour, the first thing in the morning, there will be a line, probably a half-hour," Massa said. "That would be the worst time to come if you're in a hurry."
"We'll get you through, but it's not going to be in and out."

State law requires a voting booth for every 200 registered voters, and the township has one booth for about every 110 voters, Hillebrand said. More booths in more precincts would cut the wait but cost more money, she said.

3. Check the attitude.

Hold the thought, "They do this once a year. Maybe twice."
The people working the polls next Tuesday — about 20 in the city and 111 in the township — arrive at 6 a.m. and leave after the last ballots are on their way to the county, usually around 9:30 p.m., Massa said.
Between those 15 hours, they usher thousands of their neighbors through the voting routine. Their pay for the day ends up about $6 an hour, Hillebrand said. "It's a long day," she said. "They work very hard to do everything right."
If they're not as quick as you would like ... be considerate and patient at the polls."

And hold that "Duh!" when precinct workers offer seemingly obvious tips like "there are two sides."

"Every voter they hand the ballot to, they are required to give some sort of instruction to," Hillebrand said. "It's not that they're implying they don't know what they're doing."

At the end of the night, the precinct workers help ensure the ballots are balanced, Hillebrand said.

"They've got to account for every single ballot," she said. "There's a lot of pressure on them."

"They're working hard to make sure your vote gets counted, it's secret and your vote matters."

4. Don't get embarrassed — it's better to ask.

Although there tends to be plenty of booths at precincts, the lone tabulating machine can be what slows down the process, Massa said.
And voters with their completed ballot in hand have nothing to do but scrutinize their fellow citizen at the front of the line about to slide their ballot into the foreboding slot.

Without fail, an "undervoted" ballot will be rejected first time through as the machine offers a final opportunity to fill in a blank.

"If it comes back out — if it rejects it — don't be embarrassed," Hillebrand said. "It happens a lot."

"Michigan law doesn't require you to vote in every race."

Hillebrand said she assigns an inspector to each tabulator and other workers are ready to help.

"Don't feel stupid. Ask," Hillebrand said. "Don't feel embarrassed that you should know what you're doing. We don't vote that often."

"We really want people to turn out and vote and to understand the process."

Massa said that's why workers are at the precincts, to help voters.

"We'd rather have them ask than not, and not have their vote count," she said. "They'll tell them how to do it, but they have to do it themselves."

5. Grab notes, but leave "Pick Me" pins in the car.

Voters can bring in cheat sheets, as long as they are not visible to other voters, Hillebrand said. Nor can they discuss their choices to other people at the polls.

Also, spoiled ballots for reference, she said. Election law prohibits a voter from possessing more than one ballot at a time.

Massa said voters will be asked to conceal shirts, buttons and hats recommending people vote a particular way.

"You're welcome to walk in with any campaign literature and use it in the booth," she said. "You're not to leave it in the booth. Take it with you."

"We recommend it, actually — that way they don't feel pressured to hurry and vote."

Go vote: Exercise your privilege and your patience on Tuesday

Will he do "New York, New York"? Northville Co-op Preschool parents lined up a Frank Sinatra impersonator for their 18th annual auction at the Western Golf and Country Club tomorrow night. Interested in $20 tickets? Call Annette McGowan at (248) 305-9337. It's up to you ...

In Northville

It's always something

Tissue, tissue very much ... CVS managers said they were impressed by the recent show of support for their tissue packet drive for Northville Civic Concern. Patrons who took them up on their buy one-donate one campaign contributed 1,500 packets to the local emergency service agency. Nice teamwork.

Where are the boards ... What if you couldn't go to check out the downtown makeover conceptual design presentation at the senior center last week? The city's design team, Grissim Metz Andriese and Associates is reworking them a bit before the next presentation. Stay tuned where to get a peek ...

Here's a seed that needs to germinate over the winter ... the city's Beautification Commission needs volunteers. Long-time chairperson and commission workhorse Linda Lestock is leaving town and her efforts will be sorely missed. The handful of volunteers held their final meeting of the season this week, planning to resume efforts in April. Got a green thumb you'd like to share ... call city hall at (248) 349-1700.

Northville Public Schools Superintendent Leonard Rezmierski was a little lighter last week, after donating a pint of plasma at the annual Northville High School blood drive. The student congress-organized event drew quite a crowd of students and members of the community ...

Just when the magic of Halloween has passed ... the Marquis Theatre is hosting Las Vegas entertainers Jeff Ezell, Losander and Rudi and Liza Shemada Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Check out showtimes at (248) 349-8110 or www.northvillemarquistheatre.com.

Speaking of downtown celebrations ... Hometown holidays — featuring the Friday night lighted parade and Candlelight Walk — are right around the corner on Nov. 17-19. It's not too late to put a float together — call the Northville Chamber of Commerce or visit www.northville.org.

That same weekend, Mill Race Historical Village is hosting its 25th annual Christmas Walk. Enjoy an old-fashioned holiday with guided tours of eight historic buildings decorated for the occasion from 1-4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 19. Acoustic music, old-fashioned handcraft demonstrations, refreshments — it's already relaxing ...

And speaking of Mill Race Historical Village ... don't let your first through sixth graders miss the chance to participate in the annual Christmas workshop! Sign-up is at the Stockhausens' 218 W. Dunlap St. house 7 p.m. tomorrow night. It's hands-on fun Dec. 2 and the kids get to surprise the adults with a gift they made! Priceless ... well almost priceless at $15.

Speaking of children ... overheard at the Northville District Library last week: an excited girl with DVDs in hand asked her mother how much it costs to rent movies there. She explained, "We should get movies there!"

That's Bobette the Builder to you ... An all-girls crew at Northville High School is working hard behind the scenes preparing the set for the drama department's production of "Come Blow Your Horn." Laura Halash, Colleen Ferguson, Liz Dielesch and Liz Kerr are hammering, painting and building. Way to go, girls!

Hey, basketball fans ... the Turkey Shoot is right around the corner and fast approaching. The Northville Parks and Recreation Department annual event is set for Nov. 16. Round up those aspiring hoopsters age 8-13. Hiller's Markets again is contributing the prizes for plucking. Stay tuned for more details ...

Weather permitting, you'll see The Walk logo on downtown sidewalks ... Local merchants are adding fashions to their artful mix. If you haven't been to Main and Center streets during a First Fridays event yet, get there tomorrow night! There's stuff to see ... in your Northville.

Attention, string students! That's middle and high school level — instrument players with 2-3 years of experience are forming a new club meeting 3:30-4:30 p.m. Wednesdays in the Music Ensemble Room at Northville High School. Cost: $75. Interested? E-mail RayHejJo@northville.k12.mi.us.

Can you relate? Northville city and township clerks Dianne Massa and Sue Hillebrand were full of helpful tips how to go vote Tuesday. It's interesting to note, precinct workers are required to offer instruction to voters. C'mon, have you ever mumbled under your breath. No kidding ...

Designers tweaking plans before next presentation to city planners and council

"Mostly people wanted to understand things — how we are going to accomplish certain things," Metz said. "Once we explained it, they were quite enthusiastic."

The Grissim team took a stack of surveys and public commentary back to their Cady Street office to fine tune the concepts before their presentation at a joint meeting of the Northville City Council and planning commission, tentatively scheduled for Nov. 27.

Local volunteers, championing the downtown makeover effort and working alongside professional consultants the past two years, are hoping to see the first changes by next summer.

The council will have final say about which projects materialize. The Northville Downtown Development Authority, acting as a clearing-house for design, marketing, business mix and parking volunteers, has earmarked about $4 million for improvements.

HIGHWOOD: Commission wants more time to review project plans

p.m. and lasted until 1:20 a.m.

The actual public hearing portion of the meeting didn't start until around 10 p.m., after the planning commission asked the developers for additional information and clarification on several aspects of the plan, including traffic and road design, building configuration and landscaping.

"We did our best to listen carefully to all the comments leading up to this meeting," said Bob Schostak of Schostak Brothers. "We read carefully every word of your Planned Unit Development. This is the stuff we do every day."

No vote was taken that morning because of the length of the nearly seven-hour-long meeting.

Instead, Jennifer Frey said another meeting has been set at 6:30 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 21 at Northville Township Hall.

"This is not another public hearing," she said. "The planning commission concluded the public hearing on (Oct. 24)."

She said the next meeting will likely be a continuation of the discussion truncated last week due to the lateness of the hour.

She said she doesn't know if the commission will vote on the subject during the next meeting.

"I don't have a feeling or advanced notice of what the planning commission may do," she said. "This is a big project for them, and they want to make sure they make the right decision."

to the board," Rezmierski said. He declined to comment on where the cuts may come from, saying details will be discussed Tuesday.

Rezmierski said if executive order cuts are made to school funding, the budget would need balancing.

Gov. Jennifer Granholm approved in August increasing the per-pupil foundation spending amount by $210 for all Michigan districts.

John Street, Northville Public Schools director of business and finance, said the district's current $63 million budget is based on $8,435 per student.

STATE SENATE 7TH DISTRICT

Bruce Patterson: Serving a 'privilege'

By Tony Bruscatto
GANNETT NEWS SERVICE

As the chairman of the state Senate Technology and Energy Committee, Sen. Bruce Patterson,

B. Patterson

R-Canton Township, said Michigan needs to become a leader in the development of alternative fuels.

"Long range energy is a huge issue," Patterson said. "A year before the governor called for alternative fuels in her state-of-the-state address, I said we've got to do this way. We've got to do cutting-edge change in this state."

"We send $22 billion in energy dollars out of the state every year, whether it's acquiring coal, gas, oil or natural gas, and that's a huge anchor on our economy," Patterson said. "Everybody is looking at ethanol as if it's the silver bullet, and farmers are investing in it. It's very regional — if we grow it here, we'll use it here. It may help us."

Patterson is campaigning for a second four-year term in the state Senate, which would be his last — if re-elected next Tuesday — because of term limits. Patterson said he signed petitions in 1992 for term limits, and even voted for the measure.

However, he now believes term limits are a deterrent to developing long-range plans for the state, especially with business leaders who — over a 20-year investment span — could see multiple governors and hundreds of legislators in and out of office.

"There is such a risk that can't be calculated because of term limits," said Patterson. "That capitalists and entrepreneurs aren't going to make investments in our state."

Patterson said he's concerned about Proposal 5 on next week's ballot, which — if passed by voters — will guarantee annual funding increases for public school districts, colleges and universities. He said it could mean an additional billion dollar expenditure from the already taxed general fund.

"Even it were well-intentioned, I think it would be a mistake," Patterson said. "It would hamstring the legislature and the governor, who has to be in a position to propose the budget based on the circumstances at the time. And, to remove that level of funding from the general fund, I just don't know how we would responsibly fund the government."

"The comprehensive budget of the state is $40 billion, and we spend 40 percent of it on K-16 education," he said. "I think we've done a fairly good job keeping public schools whole."

As for the state budget, Patterson said the time has come for consolidation of public services.

"We're going to have to look at how much government we need in this state ... how many layers of bureaucracy are warranted ... what kind of consolidation is going to have to occur, whether it's school districts, police, fire or public safety," Patterson said. "We're going to have to make some serious changes. Things won't be able to stay as the status quo."

Patterson, who noted he's only missed nine votes during his tenure as a state lawmaker — all during his four years in the House — said he likes to be known as an independent thinker.

"I have shown a commitment to learn the issues and work on both sides of the (political) aisle," Patterson said. "This is an extreme privilege and an awesome responsibility, making informed decisions that affect the entire state."

Mark Slavens: Economy's top priority

By Tony Bruscatto
GANNETT NEWS SERVICE

In his quest to wrestle the State Senate 7th District seat away from incumbent Bruce Patterson, R-Canton Township, next Tuesday, Democrat Mark Slavens said he and his campaign staff knocked on more than 12,000 doors to deliver his message.

M. Slavens

Slavens, who wants to represent constituents from Northville to Gibraltar, said he's also taken away a message from those he's met.

"No matter whose door I've knocked on — whether it be Downriver or Northville — they all have the same concerns," said Slavens, who resides in Canton Township. "They want change, new leadership, protection of jobs, diversification of the economy and they're scared to death about their health care."

"This is a 48 percent Democratic district, and I believe this is going to be a strong Democratic year," he said. "Along with the fact there's a real anti-incumbency move out there and a real mood for change."

Slavens, in his seventh year on the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education, said he's focused those years on a few issues — academics, school funding and anti-bullying — in order to accomplish them. As a member of the state Senate, Slavens said he'd be focused on several important issues, with the state economy at the top of the list.

"I don't think we're using the Michigan Economic Development Corporation enough," Slavens said. "Last year they helped bring in Bosch and Karmann Ghia to this community (Plymouth Township). We've got to diversify and bring in more high-tech jobs, like Google (in Ann Arbor).

"We need to invest in improving the quality of life in this state, and invest in our schools, public roads, fire and police," added Slavens. "We're not doing that, and it's hurting us. We need to promote this state as a high tech state."

Slavens said he favors the K-16 Coalition's Proposal 5, which — if passed by voters — will guarantee annual funding increases for public school districts, colleges and universities.

"The only reason this is happening is because the legislature has failed to adequately fund school districts," Slavens said. "I don't think it's a perfect solution, but it's gotten so bad that this is the only thing they can do at this point in time."

"We're at a crucial point where we have got to invest in education," he said. "Our kids can't afford to go to school, and now — more than ever — they need four-year universities."

Slavens said promoting the state as a vacation spot, a leader in alternative energy and a place where stem cell research is welcome would bring credibility to diversification of the economy, as well as jobs.

"We need to look into alternative energy," Slavens said. "I'm really excited about ethanol 85 (E85) and hydrogen fuels. Especially with ethanol, we could help our farmers create an industry."

"We are keeping people away from this state because we aren't actively supporting stem cell research," he said. "We need to invest in it for moral reasons. There are people with physical ailments, and if we have the ability to create a cure for them, then we have a social responsibility to do that. It also promotes a better economic climate."

Slavens is critical of Patterson for the incumbent's actions as chairman of the Senate Technology and Energy Committee.

"I'm a small businessman, and I believe in profit," Slavens said. "But, I don't believe a monopoly, or an oligopoly like the big energy companies, should be allowed to engage in gross profit-taking, like they're doing right now and overcharging customers."

"Is he (Patterson) investigating anything about what they're doing?" questioned Slavens. "He talks about a 30-year plan to investigate energy. People don't have 30 years to wait for an investigation."

35TH DISTRICT COURT

Lowe says experience crucial

By Tony Bruscato
GANNETT NEWS SERVICE

Citing his 12 years of experience sitting on the bench and doling out justice, 35th District Court Judge Ron Lowe believes that's the key why voters in the Plymouths, Northvilles and Canton Township should return him to the bench for another six years in the Nov. 7 election.

"With 12 years of doing the job and trying to do it well, you can't help but learn something and the right way of doing it," Lowe said. "If you have someone with 12 years of experience and someone with zero, voters at least know they have a known quantity and some experience."

Lowe said he not only hands out rulings in his courtroom, but also takes the opportunity to educate those who stand before him. "If I'm sitting in the courtroom and I have a chance to educate them, I will do that," Lowe said. "If you were ever to spend time in my courtroom, I probably give an inordinate amount of time in formal lectures, bench trials and jury trials educating people."

"There are lawyers who have told me the reason they're supporting me is because they've watch me sit on the bench and struggle with a decision," he said. "They tell me 'I realized you heard me, you understood me, did the homework, and I've never been disappointed by your decision. It's not always what I wanted, but I'm not disappointed.'"

Lowe, who was Plymouth city attorney for a dozen years before winning a seat on the 35th District Court bench, said he lives by the philosophy handed down by his father, also an attorney.

"My father taught me to find out the facts, apply the law to the facts and let the cards lay where they may," Lowe said. "The law will always be the top priority."

As with all entities in Michigan, 35th District Court is facing a budget crunch, and Lowe said it's time to put everything on the table to curb expenses, including the third judgeship which was awarded by the state legislature four years ago.

"The salary is paid for by the state, but you have to figure out how much it costs to pay for the court officer, the court reporter and other incidental expenses, like health insurance," Lowe said. "That's $200,000 in expenditures out of a $4 million budget. You have to look at it."

"The magistrate's position. You've got to ask yourself, could the three judges do it without a magistrate?" questioned Lowe. "Of course we could. That would mean each judge would have to work in the afternoon one week out of a three-week rotation, saving money."

Lowe also said while he isn't advocating cutting programs like the juvenile and sobriety courts. "If you're in a budget crunch, can you justify spending money on programs district courts aren't even supposed to run?"

Lowe recently took a major hit from Chief Judge John MacDonald, when the latter criticized Lowe and endorsed challenger Jim Plakas. Lowe admitted he and MacDonald have had their differences, but said they haven't affected justice handed out by the court.

"You don't see John and I argue about how we dole out justice," Lowe said. "The disagreements John and I have are about management of the court."

"I've honestly voiced my opinion, and it's not always gone along with the way John wanted it," added Lowe. "But, John is the chief judge, and I've always toed the corporate line after the decision was made."

Lowe has been criticized by Plakas for being inconsistent in his rulings, to which Lowe takes exception.

"In the 12 years I've been here, no one has told me that I'm not performing," Lowe said. "I have an open door ... come in and tell me what you think. I strive for feedback."

Challenger Jim Plakas emphasizes consistency

By Tony Bruscato
GANNETT NEWS SERVICE

When Jim Plakas talks about his campaign for 35th District Court judge, he chuckles at the tag some have put on him in what is a non-partisan election.

"Opponents love to label me a liberal Democrat," said Plakas, 38, of Northville Township. "Am I really a liberal or a Democrat? Maybe I'm really just a fair person who will do the job effectively."

Plakas, an 11-year attorney with the Westland law firm of Angelo Plakas & Associates, said his experience includes representing plaintiffs, as well as prosecuting cases as an assistant city attorney for Westland.

Plakas said it's that experience that gives him a good understanding of what it will take to become a district court judge representing the Plymouths, Northvilles and Canton Township the next six years.

"Other attorneys know I know the law, they know I'm well-prepared, they know I don't make knee-jerk decisions on things," Plakas said. "I have a willingness to help people better themselves."

"It's always been my nature to want to help and bring out the best in people," he said. "In my job as a prosecutor, I can do that to a certain extent, but at some point I pass that file on to a judge and then it's out of my hands. Every once in awhile you get someone who thanks you for helping to change their life for the better, and it's a good feeling."

Chief 35th District Judge John MacDonald made waves recently when he criticized incumbent Ron Lowe and announced he would support Plakas in the Nov. 7 election. Plakas said he's heard the same criticisms of Lowe, and is quick to point them out.

"It's a lack of respect, a lack of courtesy, making knee-jerk decisions and a lack of being consistent," Plakas said. "I'm not going to say he's not fair, but I don't think he has the temperament for the job."

"District Court should be a place where the judge brings finality to disputes between people as quickly and efficiently as possible, and that's not happening," added Plakas. "You have to be a decision-maker and a mediator. You have to resolve disputes between people, and for them, in a way that's really going to solve it."

Plakas shrugs off the whispers that he moved into Northville Township four years ago to run against Lowe because he couldn't get elected to a judgeship in Westland, where he practices.

"Judge (C. Charles) Bokos in Westland retires in two years, and I could walk into that seat if I wanted to," said Plakas, who noted he lived in Plymouth for nearly eight years beforehand. "I love where I am, I love this community. I have a 3- and a 5-year-old and I'm raising them here. They're not going anywhere, this is where I'm staying."

Plakas said as a judge the best way to connect with residents in the five communities is to meet face-to-face.

"People aren't educated about what's going on in the courts or how the courts work," Plakas said. "A judge can educate people at the local library, one day a month in each community, where they can come and ask you about what's going on in the courts or the cases they may have read about."

What do you do when Viagra, Levitra, or Cialis doesn't work?

If you are one of the nearly 6 million men with erectile dysfunction for whom pills don't work, learn how the Internal Penile Pump restores normal sexual function.

Oral medications such as Viagra, Levitra, and Cialis are successful in restoring erections for 65% of the 20 million American men who are affected by erectile dysfunction (ED). However, a third of all those suffering from ED require a more advanced treatment option; fewer than 40% of men after prostate cancer treatment respond to oral ED medication.

A simple procedure to get back a lifetime of pleasure.

The Internal Penile Pump is an inflatable, water-filled device. During the course of a 45-minute outpatient procedure, the pump is inserted through a one-inch opening in the scrotal sac. By squeezing the pump (which is contained completely within the scrotum), for approximately a minute, fluid is pumped into the penis, resulting in a long lasting erection. To return the penis to a flaccid state, simply press and hold down the pump. Once, inserted, there is no maintenance required for the pump which can remain in place for a lifetime.

The control and quality you want, the pleasure your partner will appreciate.

The highlight of this treatment is that it restores the patient's control over his body, so that he is able to obtain and maintain an erection at will. Couples are once again able to have spontaneous sex. Normal sensation, including orgasm and ejaculation, is not affected. The procedure is covered by most insurance policies, including Medicare.

GET WALKIN'

Merchants add fashion flair to First Fridays

By Maureen Johnston
RECORD STAFF WRITER

Lindsey Fowler can talk skinny jeans. Carolyn Keating has a reversible brown jacket with a smart tweed inside. And Stephanie Mullen is showing stylish wardrobe options for women eight-months-along.

L. Fowler
First Fridays Art Walk to create the Fashion Walk.

The Art Walk monthly promotion, launched by Main and Center street businesses last year, brings hordes of pedestrians downtown the first Friday of each month for complimentary refreshments and entertainment, camaraderie and what merchants are banking on — commerce.

"Hundreds of people come down here on a Friday night," Fowler said. "We're hoping to piggy back off that for an extra incentive for people to come down."

"Maybe they'll come in our stores, too."

New additions

After several false starts, Belli Couture co-owner Mullen said the designer maternity store will open tomorrow. The West Main Street boutique will be the first retailer to welcome patrons to the newly-renovated Northville Square — just in time for the first Fashion Walk.

Across the street, one-year-old upscale jeans store, Urban Blues, will join neighboring 120 West Main art galleries, STUDIO 427 and Swearingen Visions, in the evening hours foray.

"We're hoping it's going to bring more exposure to downtown," Fowler said. "In the past year, numerous new stores have been opening up. This is a shopping destination."

By promoting First Fridays as a social event, merchants are hoping to introduce local residents to stores they might not have an opportunity to visit during the day.

"There are goods that people want and can use in their lives," Fowler said. "There are a lot of people who tell us they would rather shop in Northville as long as there's goods they want."

"All the 11 stores are really excited about it. We're all committed to staying open until 9."

Cohesive effort

Owner of STUDIO 427 and Taurus Cafe, Regina Abraham launched the First Fridays Art Walk campaign last summer, targeting marketing patrons like her fellow galleries Swearingen and Sherrus each month since.

After cultivating a consistent following, she said she wanted to help kickstart the fashion effort by mailing the first Fashion Walk invitation to her clientele.

"That's why I wanted to develop of the merchants to stay open to entice more consumers to come down to Northville," Abraham said. "Two years ago, if you needed an outfit you went to the mall."

"Now, downtown isn't just window shopping for crafts — there's shoes, lingerie, jewelry, a lot of fashion-minded stores."

First Fridays is an opportunity to visit downtown's restaurant variety, then check out the changeover in businesses, Abraham said. Staying open until 9 p.m. allows career- and family-minded residents to finish their

On the Art Walk ...

Northville's galleries continue to host the downtown social scene with their First Fridays Art Walk 6-9 p.m. tomorrow. Among the highlights:

- Dancing Eye Gallery will feature artist Nic Farquhar displaying her funky handmade jewelry.
- Northville Art House will welcome visitors to the new store on the main level, offering jewelry, painting, glass and other unique gifts.
- Northville Gallery is unveiling a new fall inventory and a chocolate buffet.
- Sherrus Gallery of Fine Art is opening an "Under Heaven" exhibit and sale featuring Michigan figurative oil artist Jeff Von Buskirk.
- STUDIO 427/Taurus Cafe will unveil collaged monoprints by artist Claudia Hershman. Also featuring: Live music by Bocco Band.
- Swearingen Visions will open an exhibit for famed watercolorist Mary Ann Beckwith.

For the fashion-minded

Tiger paraphernalia one week gives way to cool weather wraps the next.

Showcase windows along Main and Center streets have become a rotating view of the latest fashions.

"Right now, the skinny jean is huge," said Lindsey Fowler, co-owner of Urban Blues and with her sister Dana. "That's what all the fashion magazines are showing."

"Long tops, tunics and the big wide-band belts are really big, too."

Around the corner on Center Street, Pendleton sales associate Carolyn Keating will help patrons fit petite, regular and plus sizes. She said Pendleton is known for their timeless fashions, including reversible skirts and jackets the store is showing in red and brown this season.

"You get two completely different looks," Keating said. "It's like two jackets in one."

Tomorrow's later hours are nothing new for the Pendleton staff.

"We've been open First Fridays this whole time," she said. "We've just never told anyone. We hoped they would just stumble in from the art stores."

Check out the chalk

The cross-walk signal pedestrian silhouette that has been the First Fridays Art Walk symbol now is fashion walking, too. STUDIO 427 owner Regina Abraham ordered a stencil to spray chalk the sidewalk in front of participating galleries and fashion-minded businesses. It's scheduled to debut tomorrow night, weather permitting.

Friday routine, then head downtown. Maureen Johnston can be reached at (248) 349-1700, ext. 103, or via e-mail at mjohnston@gannett.com.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the township board of the Township of Novi will conduct a public hearing at 43976 Cottisford Court, Northville, Michigan on November 13, 2006 at 7:30 pm to consider the proposed special assessment roll prepared by the township assessor pursuant to the direction of the township board, concerning the Fire Protection Special Assessment District previously created.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the Fire Protection Special Assessment District within which the cost of fire protection is proposed to be assessed includes the entire township and the estimated cost of providing fire protection within the special assessment district for the calendar year 2006/2007 is approximately $23,000. The amount of the special assessment is based upon the special benefit to real property from the nature and level of fire protection service to be provided by the township.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the total amount proposed to be specially assessed in the Fire Protection Special Assessment District for 2006 and the millage rate proposed are:

TOTAL: $19,084.60 MILLAGE RATE: 2mills

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that copies of the proposed budget and of the proposed special assessment roll may be inspected by contacting the township clerk at (248) 231-6210, and may also be inspected at the hearing.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that at the public hearing the township board will review said proposed special assessment roll and any comments or objections thereto which might be made or filed with said board at or prior to the time of said public hearing, and will consider any revisions, amendments or changes to said proposed special assessment roll and the amount of special assessments to be levied against benefited property.

Appearance and protest at this public hearing is required in order to appeal the amount of the special assessment to the State Tax Tribunal. An owner or party in interest or his or her agent may appear in person at this hearing to protest the special assessment, or shall be permitted to file his or her appearance or protest by letter received at or before that public hearing, and if such a letter is filed, then the personal appearance of the person protesting is not required.

The owner or any person having an interest in the real property who protest in person or in writing at this hearing as set forth above may file a written appeal of the special assessment with the State Tax Tribunal within 30 days after the confirmation of the special assessment roll.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that if the proposed special assessment roll is confirmed, or is modified and confirmed, the special assessment will be collected in the same manner as property taxes as provided for by law.

All interested persons are invited to be present at the aforesaid time and place to submit comments concerning any of the foregoing, or to protest the proposed special assessment roll and/or special assessment.

The Township of Novi will provide necessary reasonable auxiliary aids and services, such as signers for the hearing impaired and audio tapes of printed material being considered at the hearing, to individuals with disabilities at the hearing upon four days' notice to the township clerk. Individuals with disabilities requiring auxiliary aid or services should contact the township clerk at the address or telephone number listed below

BLOW YOUR HORN Northville High play features small cast with big potential

By Victoria Mitchell
RECORD STAFF WRITER

Weeks into practicing for the fall play, Ryan McBride was rushed to the hospital for an emergency appendectomy.

The rest of the Northville High School cast tried rehearsing without him - a difficult task considering McBride is a central character in the production of Neil Simon's "Come Blow Your Horn."

Really, though, all cast members play central characters considering this year's production features a cast of only seven hardworking students.

"It's really great," said Hilary Frimenko, playing the role of Mrs. Baker. "With a small cast we get to know each other very well."

Students said another small cast perk includes the luxury of placing a greater focus toward developing relationships between the characters.

"A lot of scenes are one-on-one," said Ron Ketelhut, playing the role of Mr. Baker. "It really allows you to establish the character."

Director Christina Johnson said choosing a small cast play is often a necessity for the high school's fall production.

"The turnout is better for the spring musical," she said.

Johnson said 50 students auditioned this year, including 10 young men. She hopes to attract more male actors in the future.

"We need to show drama is cool," she said.

But come Nov. 9-11, the show will go on with the production's three male roles. A play the group is excited to share with members of the community.

"Come Blow Your Horn," they said, is a comedy of errors focusing on a stereotypical New York family.

"When we first did our run-through, we were actually really laughing," said Caitlyn Knisely, playing the role of Peggy.

Johnson said the play - Neil Simon's first Broadway hit - is the story of brothers Alan and Buddy Baker.

Alan, a swinger supreme, uses his New York apartment as a harem of sorts for his legion of lady friends. Buddy, wishing to break loose from his protective parents, moves in with his older brother, hoping to emulate his sibling in the "lady" department, she said.

Johnson said by the end of the story Alan, behaving more like a parent than his parents, steers Buddy on the straight and narrow before finally settling down himself.

She said despite hiccups along the way, her cast is doing a great job and is ready for opening night next week.

Knisely said the pressure of land-

Register tomorrow for annual Christmas workshop

It's almost time for Northville's young elves to return to their Christmas workshop.

The Northville Historical Society will host its 28th annual Children's Christmas Workshop on Saturday, Dec. 2, in the New School Church at Mill Race Village.

Registration for first-through-sixth graders begins 6 p.m. tomorrow at the 218 W. Dunlap St. home of workshop creators, Carole Jean and Bill Stockhausen.

Historical society members will have first dibs on the limited enrollment openings. Non-member registration begins at 7 p.m.

During the workshop, children make old-fashioned Christmas gifts for the special people on their list. Each year's projects are top-secret, but past gifts have ranged from cookie cutters and chutney to a birdfeeder and rain gauge.

Stockhausen said the intent of the workshop is to surprise family members with the gifts that the children have worked on and made themselves.

"The children can then truly delight in the mystery of surprise gift-giving," she said. So, the church is off-limits to parents while the children are at work.

Again this year, there will be a morning session from 10 a.m. to noon and an afternoon session from 1-3 p.m., making it possible to accommodate 150 children.

The creative tradition dates back 28 years when the Northville Historical Society wanted to thank the community for their support in founding Mill Race Historical Village.

The society board of directors decided to do it in an unusual way, creating a workshop where the community's children could surprise their parents and others on their Christmas lists by making quality old-fashioned gifts.

They incorporated history lessons as part of the workshop, so the children would understand what it was like in days gone by to make gifts with materials at hand rather than buy them.

Registration is conducted on a first-come, first-served basis. The cost is $15 per child, payable by cash or check payable to the Northville Historical Society.

Parents can receive a $2 rebate by bringing an empty coffee can that measures 5" across the top, with both ends off, to the registration.

atives in Davison, Michigan. I was somewhat saddened because my memories of Michigan go back to the 1960's when businesses were booming and people were moving "to" Michigan to get one of the many good jobs Michigan had to offer.

I drove through Flint and remembered it as a boom town, yet now it appeared to be nearly abandoned. As I drove through the surrounding towns and countryside I noticed house after house with items for sale in their front yards. To me, this was an indication that people were hurting and were selling their goods to help make ends meet.

Today, many businesses have moved out of Michigan and unemployment is high.

Serious changes must take place in order for Michigan to get back to the great economic state it once was. I believe the leaders of a movement for this change must be the government officials on all levels, (city, state, county and federal). It doesn't matter if the government officials are Democrats, Republicans or Independents, what Michigan needs are intelligent government officials that are motivated and capable of solving the problems Michigan is facing. Leaders with the vision and capability to get Michigan turned around and headed in the direction of economic prosperity.

I first got to know Mike Bouchard some 25 years ago during our yearly deer hunting trips that a small group of us took each year to Northern Michigan. At that time, Mike was a police officer in Southeast Michigan. Even in those early days, it was obvious that Mike was going places in this world. Not only was he smart, he was also popular. Everyone liked "Mikey" as we called him.

Today, Mike is the Sheriff of Oakland County, one of the most populated counties in Michigan, and Mike is running for the U.S. Senate. Mike is an intelligent problem solver and is ideally suited to sell Michigan's "vision for change" to the highest levels of our federal government in Washington D.C.

I love Michigan, so nothing would please me more than to see Michigan back on the road to the prosperity it once enjoyed. To accomplish this task will take talented officials in Michigan's government and Mike Bouchard is one of those special individuals capable of leading such an initiative.

Plakas for judge

As a long time resident of the 35th District Court community, I am writing to share my thoughts about the election for Judge of the 35th District Court on Nov. 7. To put it simply, in my opinion, it's time for a change. Jim Plakas should be the next judge of the 35th District Court.

Plakas is a long-time resident of the court community, with impressive credentials and a depth of experience. He has the proper temperate and people skills to handle the dynamics and pressure of the courtroom.

As we know, no one goes to court more than our police officers. When choosing a judge, it is important to me, and I am sure to everybody else except the criminals, to see which candidates police officers support. Those who have taken an oath to "serve and protect" us and our communities should know what is best when it comes to our courts and judges. It is important to note that Jim Plakas has been endorsed by the Police Officers Association of Michigan (POAM), the Michigan Association of Police Organizations (MAPO), the Detroit Police Officers Association (DPOA), and Wayne County Sheriffs Local 502 AFL-CIO as the best choice for Judge of the 35th District Court.

The endorsements of these major associations of professional law enforcement officers tell us, from their point of view, Jim Plakas should be our next Judge in the 35th District Court. Our police officers are telling us it is time for a change.

Jim Plakas has also been endorsed by the Honorable John MacDonald, chief judge of the 35th District Court. Judge MacDonald has served on the court for 22 years, the last 17 years as chief judge. He said, "I have always tried to do what is in the best interests of the court, and electing Jim Plakas Judge would unquestionably serve the court's and our community's best interests". Who would know better about someone's performance on the job than a co-worker? Ask yourself, after all these years, why hasn't the incumbent ever been selected to be the chief judge or even chief judge pro tem? If it is so unusual for an incumbent district judge to be challenged in an election, why did the incumbent have two challengers in the August primary? Judge MacDonald's endorsement and the answer to these questions tell us it is time for a change.

The Journal and Eagle Newspapers, Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack, Trustees

Melissa McLaughlin and Karl Zarbo, other judges, various organizations and citizens have endorsed Jim Plakas in this race. Perhaps Supervisor Yack said it best when he said, "It is essential that the judges of our 35th District Court meet or exceed our expectations. That has not been the case with Ron Lowe. Although I have supported him in the past, I can do so no more. It is time for a change. I will be supporting Jim Plakas for judge of the 35th District Court".

Make no mistake, it is time for a change. I will do my part to help make that change come about by voting for Jim Plakas for 35th District Court Judge on Nov. 7.

B. Jean Carmean
Canton

Chief Judge MacDonald's response

When I came out publicly with my endorsement of Jim Plakas for judge of the 35th District Court, I was surprised at the way it was stated in your newspaper that it was something I should not have done, and that I have somehow broke tradition. I was also surprised at how Judge Lowe twisted it to be just a case of clashing personalities. It is actually much more serious and significant than that.

To begin with, this is the first time in the history of the 35th District Court that an incumbent has been challenged, and thus, there never has been a tradition in this court of the judges imposing a gag order on their opinions about a fellow judge's race. As an elected official who has served this court and community for 22 years, I am under an obligation as your public servant to inform the people when I believe something is amiss at the court, even though it may be contrary to the good-old-boy network philosophy and concern a fellow judge. To fail to do so would be an injustice to the community.

While some like to emphasize supporting Ron simply because of his community service, they fail to know and understand that it has come at the expense of the court and the administration of justice. At times when Ron is obligated to be at the 35th District Court during work hours, he is out doing community related events. Such actions come at taxpayer expense, and at the expense of those who appear in the 35th District Court. Each and every judge is elected for the purpose of serving the community as a judge, first and foremost.

What is most usually telling about this race is the fact that the sitting judge is not endorsed by any police or law enforcement agencies, other than Wayne County Sheriff's Department Local 502, who in fact issued a dual endorsement for both Ron and Jim Plakas. Why has the challenger to a 12-year incumbent received the endorsement of the Chief Judge, the Police Officers Association of Michigan (POAM), Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack, the Michigan Association of Police Organizations, and Wayne County Prosecutor Kym L. Worthy? It is the people who know the 35th District Court first-hand who have emphatically embraced and endorsed Ron's challenger, Jim Plakas. The clear consensus is that it is time for a change.

Jim Plakas is an exceptional attorney who is decisive, and possesses the fairness, judicial temperament and respect for people and the law that is lacking in Ron. With the best interest of the Plymouth, Northville, and Canton communities in mind, I urge the people to vote for Jim Plakas for Judge of the 35th District Court on Nov. 7.

John MacDonald
Chief Judge, 35th District Court

Judge Lowe responds

In the Oct. 29 issue of the Observer, Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack publicly explained his reasons for not endorsing my re-election. While Mr. Yack is a friend and certainly entitled to his opinion, I believe it is only fair to the voters that I respond.

Despite having had dozens of formal and informal meetings with me over the course of the last 12 years of my tenure, this is the first time I have heard Mr. Yack express the concerns he has raised in his letter to the editor. He has never sat in my courtroom, and so I must take his criticisms of my courtroom demeanor as nothing more than speculation. In law, we call his type of statements "hearsay", and do not allow it in the courtroom because it is inherently unreliable. In my 12 years on the bench I have learned that every decision has the potential to distress one side or the other. As the one who must make the final decision, I presume that both sides will not always be content with the decision, but the correct legal decision has to be made. And the buck stops here. As for his allegation that I have not been endorsed by a single police officers organization, Mr. Yack is misinformed. I am endorsed by the Michigan Association of Police Organizations, Wayne County Law Enforcement Supervisory Local 3317 - AFSCME, Wayne County Sheriff/Airport Police Local 502 and Michigan Court Officers. As for the local police departments, I have been informed that they have taken the politically prudent position of sitting out this election, as they have for all previous judicial races.

I am not surprised to read that Mr. Yack was unhappy with the outcome of the "infamous" Big Boy sign case. Mr. Yack would certainly prefer that all legal cases be decided immediately in his favor. That is not the world in which we live, and certainly not the way a court should be run. Mr. Yack did not handle the Big Boy sign problem properly, and left it to the courts to clear up the legal confrontation. I encouraged the parties to find a middle ground, and eventually the parties settled the matter without a trial. That is how cases are resolved by an independent judiciary. An elected official should ask for no more than a fair and impartial handling of the case.

Mr. Yack also publicly critiques my handling of the currently pending Canton Police employer-employee grievance case. As he is not an attorney, he may be unaware of how completely unethical it would be for me to comment on a pending case. However, I can say this. While Mr. Yack feels that this case should be immediately decided and, as he puts it, "dismissed in minutes", I can assure him that his opponents do not feel the same way. They too are entitled to be heard. This matter, as all matters before me, will be resolved according to the law as applied to the facts and without undue influence from Mr. Yack's office.

Shortly after I took the bench I was presented with a controversial case that could put one of the municipalities in a bad light should I decide the question according to the law. Another Judge counseled me that the politically responsible course of action would be to ignore the law, decide in favor of the community and let the matter get sorted out at the Circuit Court on appeal. I declined and applied the law to my political detriment. I can live with myself not being a Judge, however I cannot live with myself being a Judge but choosing the politically beneficial option while ignoring the law I am sworn to uphold.

As a sitting incumbent judge, I don't like to be unfairly maligned for properly performing my judicial responsibilities. I trust that the voters will support impartial justice. Please vote Tuesday.

Judge Ron Lowe
35th District Court

Vote no on Proposal 2

Most of us have a little girl in our family who is very dear to our hearts. We wish for her the very best; exposure to opportunities and the chance to be the best that she can be. Passage of Proposal 2 will erase or threaten many of the opportunities that we have enjoyed and have come to take for granted over the past thirty or more years.

If our little girl's dream is to become an astronaut, don't count on any after school or summer opportunities for females interested in science, math, engineering or technology. Don't plan on taking her to the hands-on University of Michigan Sally Ride Science Festival. Forget about the possible education scholarship or fellowship to make the dream a remote possibility.

Suppose that she decides to start her own business. There will no longer be a legal need to notify women and minorities of public contract bids. So what is the chance of her being awarded a government contract?

Then there is the worst-case scenario of our grown up "little girl" and her children falling prey to domestic abuse. Even shelters for women and children have been challenged in California as a result of Proposal 209. Maybe there will be no shelter in Michigan to help her.

What happened to our wish for the very best for our little girl? The Northville-Novri Branch of the American Association of University Women urges voters to vote "no" on Proposal 2, the Michigan Civil Rights Initiative. This proposal will ban affirmative action programs that fight discrimination and create opportunities for women and minorities when it comes to jobs and education. If this proposal passes, programs that bring people of diverse backgrounds together will be eliminated. When there is diversity, the chances of understanding increase and stereotyping and bias decrease. The language of this proposal is very deceiving. It does not confer additional civil rights on the basis of race, gender, ethnicity or national origin; it bans them. In California, where a nearly identical constitutional amendment was adopted in 1996, programs providing access and exposure to education, employment and business opportunity for women and minorities have been eliminated or amended. There are lawsuits challenging breast cancer screening and battered women's shelters programs.

Affirmative action does not benefit only women and minorities; it provides opportunity for each of our families. Vote NO on Proposal 2.

Don't shoot doves

I wanted to respond to Kristen Janney's article, "Prop3: Initiative would allow dove hunting." There is no reason to shoot mourning doves. They are not overpopulated. They are not a nuisance. They have very little meat on them, so they are not a viable food source. The only reason to shoot mourning doves is for target practice. We have 40 other bird species to shoot. We do not need to add mourning doves to the list.

Mourning doves are fast which makes for hard-to-hit targets. That is why there is a known 30-percent average wounding rate on mourning doves. That means 30 percent are shot, crippled, and not retrieved. Vote for sound wildlife management. Vote no on shooting doves. Vote no on Proposal 3.

William McMullin
Mt. Morris

Another reason not to shoot doves

There is no good reason to hunt doves - they are not pests, there are over populated, they are not a significant food source, but shooting doves is a danger to the environment. Although toxic lead shot has been eliminated for waterfowl, it's allowable for "upland birds". And lead they use in profusion in dove shooting. It's cheap and "soft" on the barrel; however, sprayed over our fields and farmlands, it poisons wildlife and our crop growing soil.

One shotgun shell has 350 lead pellets and it said that it takes a good hunter four to six shells to down a dove. And, Proposal 3 encourages novice hunters - the young, elderly and handicapped - who would likely waste boxes of shells.

Even one lead pellet ingested by a dove to grind the food in its gizzard can kill it and the scavengers and raptors that eat the lead infected doves also sicken and die. Wildlife rehabilitators have reported that the downstream effects of lead shot are terrible.

A sportsmen's club in Oakland County can attest to the detriment of lead shot. The drift from their target range to the nearby Clinton River poisoned over 200 swans and numerous other water fowl before the DEQ initiated an expensive dredging project in 2004. Fortunately, the club paid for the cleanup.

Who would pay for cleaning up the fields and farm lands after dove shooting season? And what about run off into our rivers? The best cleanup is one that doesn't have to happen. The sensible option is to ban dove shooting, by voting NO on Proposal 3.

Anne Honhart
Birmingham

No on Proposal 3

The dove has long been recognized as the bird of peace. Christians have recognized the dove as an expression of the Holy Spirit of God for over 2000 years. In our state, the mourning dove was officially designated Michigan's bird of peace in 1999. Why would anyone want to shoot this little backyard song bird that has such a meaningful designation? Doves do not harm property or people, doves are not overpopulated, and since the meat from one dove only provides a small bite of food, the shooting of doves can only be justified as target practice. In a time when violence is so pervasive in our world, let us stand united to protect the innocent bird of peace. As a pastor, a Christian, and a human being, I urge you to vote no on Proposal 3.

ECZEMA
Eczema, also called atopic dermatitis, is a skin condition that often flares up on the face, elbow, and knees. It is a red, scaly, itchy rash most commonly seen in infants. It can also affect older people who have a personal or family history of asthma or allergies. Eczema may ooze or look very dry. The best way to manage the condition is to identify triggers and prevent continued exposure to them. Common triggers include overheating or sweating, pets, or contact with wool. In older people, emotional stress can exacerbate symptoms and trigger a flare-up. To prevent itching and rubbing, patients can apply cold compresses or lubricate the skin with cream or ointments. This helpful column is important for all who suffer with allergies. Call the ALLERGY & ASTHMA CENTER OF MICHIGAN to arrange for a consultation. # Spotlight on Business

Community at home at Main Street Bank

After two years in business in Northville, Main Street Bank is already expanding to serve its growing customer base. A new bank headquarters with a second branch will open in the Northville Square Building in January. Then a few months later a third branch will open on Main Street in downtown Plymouth.

"The people of Plymouth are so excited about us coming to the community," said Audrey Mistor, president and chief operating officer of the bank. "We are asked all the time when the new branch is opening."

It's clear to anyone that has ever visited Main Street Bank that it's not an ordinary bank. Stopping by the bank is like going to visit a friend. The homey atmosphere includes refreshments and a comfortable environment that doesn't look or feel like a bank.

"Our customer service is simple; we treat people how we would treat guests in our own homes," said Mistor. "And people love it — who wouldn't?" Plus the specialty programs are a bit different than at big banks.

The small bank is making big progress with a cutting edge business banking service call Remote Deposit Express. When businesses take checks as payments, they can now scan in the checks and using a Web based program, their deposit is electronically transmitted to their account. There's no need to run to the bank to make deposits. And there's less room for error. Most businesses qualify for Remote Deposit Express. With a very modest balance requirement, the scanner and training are provided at no charge.

"Because we are small we can be responsive to the needs of our customers and implement good programs without the delays of a larger bank," said Mistor.

Consumers are also likely to see big benefits with a newer construction loan program that doesn't require any payments during the construction process. The bank doesn't want to saddle those building a home with payments on their construction loan while they are still paying the mortgage on the home where they live. So at Main Street Bank, all payments during the construction period are postponed to the end of the loan term, which is at the point in time when the borrower obtains an end mortgage. The interest is either rolled into their end mortgage or they can pay some or all of the interest at closing...after they've sold their existing home. It makes life more manageable, and encourages folks to continue to build, even during an uncertain economy.

All of the business and personal banking programs at Main Street Bank are geared towards convenience and cost saving.

ATM card users can actually use any ATM in the entire world for no charge, up to six times per month. That just isn't something offered at other banks.

Families can open free checking accounts with no minimum balance, free interest earning checking accounts, and sensible savings accounts. Money market accounts and CDs both earn interest at very competitive rates.

A full-service loan department offers auto loans, home equity lines of credit, mortgages and construction loans.

Business checking accounts are tailored to the needs of the businesses. Small businesses will find just the right fit with a free business checking account while medium sized businesses could benefit from an interest bearing checking account with analysis.

The friendly staff at Main Street Bank can talk to business owners about needs for business loans, business lines of credit and business banking services. There's something to fit the needs of every business.

Businesses and families can both take advantage of convenient Internet banking, tele-banking and even banking by mail. Technology makes life a little easier when combined with the personalized customer service at Main Street Bank.

Main Street Bank is located at 201 E. Main Street in downtown Northville. For more information call (248) 449-3700 or go to www.mainstreetbank.net.

MUSTANGS RUN TO STATE

Northville girls finish second at regionals

By Jeff Theisen
RECORD SPORTS WRITER

The Northville girls cross country team extended its season to the final week with a second-place finish Saturday at the regional meet.

The Schoolcraft College course was a muddy mess, but it wasn't about to stop the determined Mustang bunch from scratching another goal off their list.

"Northville hasn't been to the state finals since 2000, when I started here," said Nancy Smith, Northville girls head coach. "This team is one of the best I have coached and very deep in talent. It is always a hard decision on which seven to run, as we can go pretty deep into our lineup on any day."

Livonia Churchill won the meet with 30 points. The Mustangs finished with 78, and Livonia Stevenson also advanced to the state meet with 100. Novi missed the cut with a fifth-place finish with 120 in the 12-team meet.

Leading the Mustangs on Saturday was senior Mary Sprader with a seventh-place finish in 19:55.

Lindsay Hagan finished right behind Sprader in 20:05.

Stephani Hamel placed 17th in 20:47, followed by Anna Hardenbergh in 21st (21:10) and Kelsey Katynski in 25th (21:17).

Karina Puskorius finished in 32nd (21:35) and Jenny Murphy finished 40th (22:02) to round out the final seven.

"Weather did not stop senior Mary Sprader in achieving her goal in her final season to advance as a team to the state finals," Smith said. "Sprader led the way for her teammates and received All-Region honors."

Hagan also received All-Region honors with her eighth-place finish.

All year, Northville girls cross country has been knocking off goals. Only one remains as the Mustangs travel to Michigan International Speedway on Saturday for the state meet.

"As we started to reach each goal, the other ones looked more reachable," said Nancy Smith, Northville head coach. "The off-season conditioning boosted their confidence."

"I knew from the start of the season that this team was capable of making it to the state finals. All 33 girls worked hard this season and it is a total team effort."

The Mustangs haven't been to the state meet since 2001, and only Jenny Murphy has state experience on the team.

For senior Mary Sprader, it was her last chance, and she helped make good on one of her goals.

Her goal all season long was to get to the state meet as a team," Smith said. "She's led them from the start of the season."

With only one senior in the Varsity lineup right now, this team should only become better in the years ahead. For now, Northville hopes to finish in the top 10.

Smith said the team will run with little pressure on them as they aren't ranked in the top five.

But she does want the team to soak up the atmosphere as the future looks extremely bright for the Mustangs.

Northville sets focus on conference meet, regionals

Northville lost a lot of talent from last year's swim team. This year, the Mustangs lost 4-7 but aren't losing by a lot.

Three of the losses have come by four points each.

The close defeats have served as motivation for the Mustangs heading into the league meet and regionals.

Miller, a senior captain, admits to putting extra pressure on herself early.

"We really expected a lot from our team, especially winning everything last year," she said. "I think we lost one meet. Winning conferences and beating Stevenson — we had a lot to live up to. Our first meet was hard since we lost."

"It's hard just because we lost a lot of good swimmers."

The focus has switched from trying to win every meet to focusing on the league meet and regionals.

"We're hoping to do really well at conferences," Miller said. "We finally realize exactly what we need to do to win. I think we could win conferences if we keep pushing ourselves. There's no room for slacking."

"League meet prelims and finals are what I've been looking forward to all season."

Miller said each of the non-senior classes have stepped up to help out throughout the year.

One of the sophomores stepping up has been Jessica Weber. She already has several state cut times and is looking forward to the big meet at the end of the season.

"This season has been going really well," Weber said. "I'm really hoping to improve a lot at the conference meet."

"I'm very fired up. I'm very excited to hopefully get a couple of first places for my team and really help win conferences."

Weber said her favorite races are the 50 and 100 freestyle because, "I like a good race."

101. Northville finished sixth with 166 points in the 13-team meet.

Jasen Turnbull turned in the top time for the Mustangs with a 14th-place finish in 17:03.2.

"Jasen has had an up and down season," said Chris Cronin, Northville boys head coach. "Jasen should be relaxed for next Saturday. He didn't run a great race at the regional, therefore, he won't be tabbed as one of the favorites. When Jasen runs relaxed, he is capable of great things."

Frank Griffiths, a freshman, was next in for Northville in 33rd (17:56.5), followed by Nick Kolbow in 37th (18:07.7), Erik Peterson in 38th (18:08.4) and Jon Zurck in 44th (18:16.3).

"The team's sixth-place finish was disappointing," Cronin said. "We didn't reach our potential this season for a variety of reason. I'll take the blame for that. It's my job as a coach to get ready, and we were not ready."

Erik Peterson was a bright spot on an otherwise miserable day, Cronin said. "Erik has really come on this season, and he has positioned himself for a great senior campaign."

"All the hard work really does pay off," Smith said. "Every one of the girls on the state team did offseason conditioning or they ran track."

Northville senior Jasen

Turnbull also qualified for the state meet. He finished in 14th, making it inside the 15th-place finish needed to make the state cut.

"Jasen has had an up and down season," said Chris Cronin, Northville boys head coach. "When Jasen runs relaxed, he is capable of great things."

Head coach Brad Brockway knows that Weber is an important part of the Mustangs' future.

"With our two superstars leaving from last year, she kind of got thrown into the spotlight," he said. "She had an undefeated season going into the Ann Arbor (Pioneer) and Mercy meet. She still won the 50 but lost the 100."

"She's kind of been a leader to the kids, showing them that this is the way to do it; you work hard and it shows up in the swim meets."

Brockway said that Weber has improved in the freestyle events

but more so in other events.

"The sprints haven't really improved dramatically, but her other strokes have picked up. Her 200, intermediate medley, 100 breaststroke and 100 backstroke, she's really become a much more versatile swimmer."

"She's been pretty much the best swimmer in each of those events. She's just starting to blossom."

The Mustangs compete in the league meet today through Saturday at Salem.

Rough starts leave Northville with split

By Jeff Theisen
RECORD SPORTS WRITER

The Northville basketball team climbed out of one hole but couldn't pull off the feat a second time.

Northville trailed 8-4 after one quarter before finding its offense in a 44-35 win against Walled Lake Western. The Mustangs fought back for a 16-15 lead by halftime and took a commanding 34-24 lead into the fourth quarter Oct. 24.

Jessica Boerger led the way with 11 points for the Mustangs. Chelsea Atzinger pitched in 10 points, and both of them grabbed a team-high five rebounds. Sarah Stern scored seven points and dished out a team-high six assists.

"Stern, Atzinger and (Kelsey) Baskins did a great job against their pressure," said Pete Wright, Northville head coach. "We were able to guard them effectively in the half court. There were only a couple of breakdowns where players got to the rim."

Canton 42, Northville 31

Canton roared out of the gate and claimed a 16-1 lead before rolling on to a 42-31 win Oct. 26.

It is extremely difficult to climb out of a 16-1 hole," Wright said. "We did not match Canton's intensity in the first quarter. They attacked our zone defense very well and had some easy scores."

"I was proud of the way the girls battled back. It would have been easy to pack it in and get beat by 30."

The Mustangs spent a lot of energy in cutting the lead to 21-16 by halftime and had little left after the break.

Canton took a 28-20 lead into the fourth before putting the game away with a 14-11 edge in the final quarter.

Allison Holmes led the Mustangs with 10 points. Boerger scored four but had a team-high nine rebounds.

Northville Swimming and Diving

The Northville swim team has had a busy couple of weeks, competing against Canton (Oct. 26), a double-dual with Ann Arbor Pioneer and Farmington Hills Mercy (Oct. 20), Franklin (Oct.

19) and Plymouth (Oct. 12).

The Mustangs posted a pair of wins, 110-75 against Canton and 145-41 against Franklin.

Against Canton, the Mustangs started off the meet with a win in the 200 medley relay. Ashley Filipowicz, Emily Hopcian, Meghan Kanya and Chelsea Miller won in 2:01.59.

Jessica Weber posted the next win in the 50 freestyle (25.44).

Racheal Englert won the 100 freestyle (5:20.94).

Weber posted another win in the 500 freestyle (5:20.94).

The team of Tanya Tereszczenko, Miller, Hopcian and Weber were first in the 4x50 freestyle relay (1:46.20).

Tereszczenko won the next event, the 100 backstroke in 1:06.25.

The 4x100 relay team of Kanya, Weber, Racheal Englert and Tereszczenko finished the meet with a first-place finish in 3:48.99.

"This was a great win to end the regular dual meet season," said Brad Brockway, Northville head coach. "All the girls swam really well, many swimming the best they have all year."

Northville 145, Franklin 41

The Mustangs exploded in a big win against Franklin, finishing first in every race and diving.

Individual winners included Englert in the 200 freestyle (2:05.18) and in the 100 freestyle (58:80), Weber in the 50 freestyle (25.25), Hopcian in the 200 individual medley (2:28.35), Kanya in the 100 backstroke (1:08.04), Kelly Burford in the breaststroke (1:18.52), Micheala Keady in the 500 freestyle (5:40.48) and Hannah Gill in the 1-meter diving with 157.0 points.

In relays, Filipowicz, Burford, Kanya and Miller won the 200 medley (2:01.73), the 4x50 team of Tereszczenko, Miller, Hopcian and Weber won in 1:46.21 and the 4x100 team of Kanya, Hopcian, Tereszczenko and Englert won.

"This was a good win after suffering some close losses," Brockway said. "Everyone gave their best effort."

Plymouth 95, Northville 91

The Mustangs came up just four points shy of a win against Plymouth.

Winning for the Mustangs were Miller in the 200 freestyle (2:15.53), Hopcian in the 200 individual medley (2:25.17), Gill in diving with 175.95 points, Tereszczenko in the 100 freestyle (57.60) and the 100 backstroke (1:07.80), Weber in the 100 breaststroke (1:14.88) and the relay teams of Filipowicz, Burford, Kanya and Blair Powers in the 200 medley relay (2:04.12) and the 4x100 relay team of Miller, Ally Davidson, Tereszczenko and Weber (3:57.33).

"This was a tough loss, mainly because I didn't manage my personnel as well as I could have," Brockway said. "They made some changes with their swimmers in the later events that I didn't counter, and it cost us the meet.

"The girls all swam their very best and put forth a great effort."

AA Pioneer 140, Northville 45; FH Mercy 143, Northville 42

The Mustangs took their lumps from two of the best teams in the state during a double-dual.

Weber took the lone first-place finishes in both meets. She won the 50 freestyle in 24:87.

"Ann Arbor is the best team in the state, so we knew this would be a tough meet," Brockway said. "Farmington Hills Mercy is probably the second best team in the state, and swimming them in a double-dual with Ann Arbor Pioneer is a tall order.

"This is great practice for the conference and state meets."

WATER WHEEL

With age will come the weight

As I stepped up and let the number showing on the weight scale register, my mind quickly raced looking to fix on some reason why it was showing 6 pounds heavier than just a short while ago. The scale is wrong; I must have a lot of water weight, wrong time of the day to weigh myself. I finally settled in on one of the oldest (and my personal favorite) excuses of all...

"I am almost 50 years old now, my dam metabolism is changing and that weight gain comes with the age."

Never mind the fact my wife just had a complete hip replacement and I have been home for the last month or so to help and certainly couldn't sneak out for my regular workouts and my wife needs me far too much to go out and take a 15 minute walk, it's cold out there and the Tigers are on soon. Also never mind the fact the refrigerator is only 8-10 feet away 24 hours a day and the large bowl of chocolate candy has been sitting out in anticipation of Halloween for the last few weeks, and I have been mysteriously refilling it weekly. Heck, I only grab one or two small miniature candy bars when I pass by (5 or 10 times a day).

Time to face the facts.

The exact same science of weight loss applies to an almost 50-year-old man in denial as it does to an active 20-year-old! Burn more calories than you take in and create a caloric deficit and you will lose weight. Take in the same calories as you burn, you will stay the same weight and take in more than you burn and you will gain. Stinks, doesn't it? Maybe the scale is off? More facts...Every decade after age 25 our resting metabolism slows 2% (if your resting metabolic rate was 1200 calories/day, 10 years later it would become 1176), which is a very minor reduction and easily offset by moving a little more (300 steps or three minutes on an exercise bike) or consuming less (one bite of about anything).

For the majority of older adults it simply becomes harder to follow the rules of weight management. Keep one important statistic in mind: the average normal child takes between 12-16,000 steps/day while the average adult takes less than 6,000—that's more than half your daily movement that disappears in adulthood!

As we get older things change:

- As most people age they find it more difficult to move for many reasons: Becomes painful on the joints or muscles especially when overweight.

- Maturity inhibits movement: we don't chase our friends or spouses around the restaurant or run from place to place as when we were kids because it looks funny or appears strange.

- We grow more fond and become addicted to more non-movement activities such as dining, favorite TV shows, or our jobs simply become more sedentary.

- Exercise is not fun for older adults and although it's not true, they believe they must exercise to lose weight

- Hormone production changes, which is part of the aging process. This affects our appetite including the foods we choose.

Many times older adults (30+) report that they work out more and eat better than they used to, but have still put on a few pounds or find it more difficult to keep weight from increasing. The reality is that if you truly are working out more and eating healthier or less (focusing more on what you eat), then you are simply moving less during the entire day than you used to when things were "easier" (remember how many steps you used to take as a kid?).

It has nothing to do with your workout or food selection. If, in fact, you have increased your workout volume and you eat less, then that difference in calories is making up for your overall day's reduction in movement compared to previous years. Moral of the story is that you don't have to work out harder or eat less as long as you maintain your non-exercise daily activities (or increase them when weight begins to creep up).

Home Owners... Make Your Garage Door Is In Good Condition And Operating Safely!

Your garage door is probably the largest moving object in your home. The garage door may weigh about 400 pounds. For your family's safety, make sure it is in good operating condition.

Balance: Overhead garage doors have gravity to deal with. In the absence of some type of balancing mechanism, the door would slam shut as soon as you release it. In addition, some doors would probably be too heavy to open. Older garage doors may employ a weight and pulley system for balance. Today virtually all garage door systems use springs to balance the door. If you open your garage door about 1/2 way it should balance there. If it does not then we recommend having it checked for safe operations and balance adjustment.

Spring Failure: The springs used to balance the weight of the door are under stress. If a spring should break pieces of broken metal could cause injury. Modern spring features incorporate safety features to avoid such flying pieces of metal. As an example, extension springs should have a cable in the middle of the spring to contain the spring upon failure. If you are unsure of the condition of safety features of your garage door then have it inspected. DO NOT attempt to service the garage door yourself as this could be very dangerous.

Randall Patterson

Automatic Openers: Automatic door openers are not a replacement for a properly balanced garage door. The opener is not powerful enough to lift the entire weight of the garage door. The opener works in conjunction with the springs to counter balance the entire system.

Auto Reverse: An automatic garage door opener should stop and reverse on meeting an obstruction. Many older systems may not have the safety feature. These older systems should be replaced to provide your family proper safety of the door.

Testing Auto Reverse: Place a roll of paper towels on the ground in the middle of the door. Activate the garage door to close. If the roll of paper towel is crushed then the door requires maintenance and service. The pressure sensor on the door should notice the paper towel roll and auto reverse without crushing the roll.

Electric Eye: The safety eye of modern garage doors should be mounted 5" to 6" off the floor. This will sense objects in the path of the door and will reverse automatically and not have to rely on the pressure sensor. This is much safer operations.

Testing Electric Safety Eye: As the garage door is closing make sure you are not standing under the garage door and interrupt the eye sensors with your hand or foot. The garage door should stop closing and reverse.

Emergency Release: During a power outage the garage door will not operate. There should be an emergency release cord on the drive track to manually release and operate the garage door. Pull this release cord and you should be able to manually operate the garage door. If this does not work then we recommend having the system checked and serviced to obtain intended operations.

Other Tips: Remember an overhead garage door that is poorly maintained may pose a safety hazard to your family and pets. Sectional garage doors pose a pinch hazard to fingers. The remote control to your garage door is like a key to your garage. Keep this remote in a safe place and hidden when in your vehicle. When you move into a new home it is recommended that you change it to the remote to provide security for your home. If the garage door in your new home is older then we recommend upgrading the system in order to provide the safety features mentioned above.

Educate Children: Children need to know and understand to apply safety for the garage door operations. Bikes and toys should never be left in the door path. Make sure they know not to play with the garage door opener button on the all or the remote control. Avoid children playing with the garage door button on the wall by mounting higher than five feet above the closest location of the floor or step where the button is located. Call us to have your home checked and ensure your safety features of the garage door and your home.

The Dixboro General Store, located at 5206 Plymouth Road in Ann Arbor, has something for everyone this holiday season.

Dixboro Store rekindles holiday memories

Popular store has something for everyone

By Kate Phillips
SPECIAL WRITER

Taking a step over the threshold of the Dixboro General Store in Ann Arbor is like taking a step back in time.

This historic store, and the adjoining Merchants Home houses one of the busiest country gift and furniture stores in Michigan. Although customers love the unique jellies, candies and fudge found at the store, what really attracts people is its selection of furniture, home accessories and year-round seasonal items.

This time of year Christmas dominates the store's appearance. From ornaments, garlands, wreaths and trees to unique gifts and table top items, the store is a great place to shop for the holidays.

Each year, the Dixboro General Store hosts the highly anticipated Christmas open house. This year's event will run from Nov. 7-12, with savings on all holiday merchandise, refreshments, door prizes, and free carriage rides.

Author Mark Kimball Moulton and illustrator Karen Hillard Good will be on hand signing their popular children's books, and a signing appearance by Dan DiPaolo, creator of the collectible August Moon figures will be held during the Open House.

Store has colorful history

Nestled in the small village of Dixboro, just outside bustling Ann Arbor, the Dixboro General Store has long been a landmark to neighboring towns.

The store was built around 1840, seven years before the birth of Thomas Edison, and nearly 20 years before the beginning of the Civil War. It sold general merchandise, surviving in the early years by trading with locals and travelers. Plymouth Road was once the main route connecting Detroit and Ann Arbor, taking a team of horses with a load of goods a minimum of three days.

The upstairs usually housed the merchant's family, who often entertained neighbors on the front porch with their guitars and fiddles.

The east side of the current store, which now houses the store's Beer Room, player piano and kitchen, was actually a separate house until it was connected to the general store in 1995.

Around 1915 and continuing for many years, the upstairs of the store was used as a Saturday night dance hall. Customers now walk on the same hardwood dance floor installed in the 1920s.

In that same decade, the store owner added a gas pump and sold gasoline for those fashionable Model Ts that replaced the horse and buggy. Later, a small hot dog stand was even set out front to grab the attention of the many cars traveling Plymouth Road to University of Michigan football games.

In 1964, the store changed from general merchandise to antiques and remained an antique store until the 1980s. The store had been vacant for several years when Allan and Cheryl Goode purchased the property in 1990, renovated the store and reopened its doors in 1991.

"When we first reopened the store in this tiny village we didn't know if people would come," Allan said. "But as soon as we opened our doors we knew it was a success."

"People visit the store for an afternoon in the country, even though we're only a few miles from busy Plymouth and Ann Arbor."

Old-fashioned family fun

Today, thousands of people cross the threshold into the general store each year, and it has nearly 40,000 people on its mailing list.

Not only does the store offer a unique shopping experience, but during special events scheduled several times a year, customers can enjoy such activities as carriage rides, outdoor bands, signings by nationally known artists and authors and a twice-yearly barn sale.

"I hear a lot of women say that this is one of the few stores that their husbands actually enjoy!" Cheryl said.

Children love the old-fashioned candy and toys and parents like to show little ones items they remember from their younger days.

Specialty gifts for holidays include several lines of candles, including the popular Yankee Candles, collectible pottery lines, and hand-painted signs. An eclectic mix of American Made Furniture and home accessories gives the store a warm, charming feel that can't be duplicated, and keeps Dixboro's customers returning often to enjoy this unique shopping experience.

Furniture and upholstery

The Dixboro General Store has a wide variety of furniture styles, wood types and colors. Upholstered lines feature hundreds of fabrics and styles. Shoppers can find something for every room in the house.

"Many people don't realize that we sell furniture," Cheryl said. "But in fact, we are one of the top dealers for most of our furniture lines."

Not only is all of the store's furniture American made, but it is hand-crafted from solid wood, and built to last a lifetime.

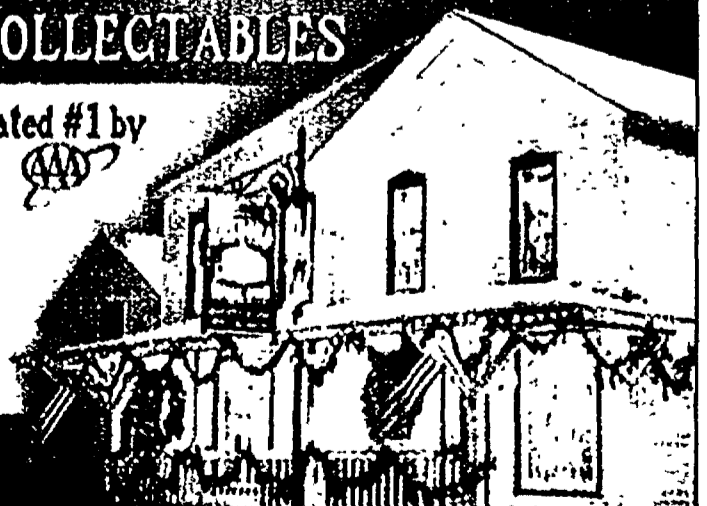

Looking for a special piece? Check out the store's online catalog (www.dixboro.com) for ideas, options and merchandise.

No matter what you are looking for, you're likely to find it at Dixboro general store. A visit to this lovely village store will likely be long-remembered by both young and old alike.

Bulletin board can't be a free for all posting

Q. We have an issue as to what some co-owners wish to put on our bulletin board. Do you have any suggestions?

A. Obviously, many communities have bulletin boards in their lobbies or common areas. Typically, associations use the boards to post meeting agendas, reminders about upcoming events and information for members. But letting members post on bulletin boards can cause problems and it is important for the association to pass community bulletin board rules to prevent bulletin board problems. These rules should include banning material that may violate fair housing laws, banning postings related to illegal or illegitimate activity, banning profane and pornographic material, requiring postings to be approved by the board of directors, limiting the size of postings that can stay up, saying only the manager may put up and remove postings, and restricting the size of postings. You should, however, consult with your community association attorney with respect to any rules to be published.

Q. We are thinking about passing a rule prohibiting dogs in our condo. At present, there is no prescription on dogs. Can we pass a rule?

A. It is difficult to answer that without looking at your bylaws but if your bylaws do not limit dogs at this time in any way, you may not be able to pass a "rule" as opposed to a bylaw amendment. A bylaw amendment will no doubt require two-thirds of the co-owners to approve it whereas a rule can generally be promulgated by the board of directors. You are best advised to consult with an attorney knowledgeable about condominium law before proceeding.

Attention first time home buyers

Timing is Everything...

Buying a home in this market is the best decision you could make. Below are just two examples of buyers benefiting in this "buyers" market.

Brad purchased a home in Hamburg for $149,900 with closing cost assistance of $5000. The appraisal came in at $178,000. Brad has instant equity of $28,100 before he even closes on the home.

Shannon purchased a home in Westland for $127,000 with closing cost assistance of $3000. Her appraisal came in at $152,000. Shannon has instant equity of $25,000 before she even closes on the home.

Both people are set to have 20% equity in the home after two years and they are in terrific shape to make a lot of money in this real estate market.

To have a story of your own like these, call 1-800-642-4719 and enter #2222 for a recorded message on how this opportunity can work for you.

FlooringAMERICA design tips

- 1. Go For Contemporary
To achieve a contemporary look, try a maple-look laminate accented with geometric area rugs. You'll create clean, simple lines for an interesting, modernist touch.
- 2. Create A Conversation Space
Keep your furniture away from the walls. Anchor the furniture in your room with an area rug to create an intimate space and interesting floor design.
- 3. Balance Color
If you love color, mix it up with neutral tones to balance out the brightness. Neutrals will break up the color blocks and add depth so that the color isn't so overwhelming.
- 4. Kick the Clutter
Removing knick knacks and unnecessary junk can streamline a room in a snap. Clear wall space and table tops. Instead, showcase art in identical frames and matting or group favorite pieces in strategic spots to accent the room...not cover it!

Gunsmoke actor Ken Curtis

Q Did Ken Curtis, who played Festus on Gunsmoke, ever sing with the Sons of the Pioneers?

—V. Smith, Williamsport, Pa.

Colorado-born Curtis was a Big Band singer before he found his way to Hollywood. Prior to joining the TV series Gunsmoke as cantankerous deputy Festus Haggen in 1964, he sang with the Sons of the Pioneers from 1949 to 1952 (and rejoined them briefly in the studio in 1955). He died of a heart attack in 1991 at the age of 74, and his ashes were scattered on the Colorado flatlands.

Rick Nielsen, Hank Williams Jr. and Steven Van Zandt

Q Who are the new guys singing the theme to Monday Night Football this year? I recognize Hank Williams Jr., but that's all.

—Robert M. Ruston, La.

Hank Jr. has indeed returned to open each game of Monday Night Football (now on ESPN) with a revised version of his hit song "All My Rowdy Friends Are Coming Over Tonight," a telecast tradition that began in 1989. But this year he's joined by an all-star cast of other musicians, including Little Richard, Charlie Daniels, Joe Perry of Aerosmith, Rick Nielsen of Cheap Trick, Clarence Clemons of Bruce Springsteen's E Street Band, Bootsy Collins from Parliament Funkadelic, and musical director "Little Steven" Van Zandt.

Q What is the nationality of actress Sandra Oh from Grey's Anatomy? And what else has she been in?

—Maleah Arby, Willits, Calif.

Toronto-born Oh, who plays Dr. Christina Yang on the hit ABC-TV series, is the daughter of Korean parents who attended college in Canada. She's appeared in numerous films, including Big Fat Liar, Under the Tuscan Sun and Full Frontal, but found her breakthrough role in the 2004 hit Sideways.

Sandra Oh starred in Sideways.

"40 Days That Shaped Country Music"

A new two-hour CMT special will spotlight 40 dates that forever impacted country music, such as Shania Twain's release of the top-selling album of all time by a female artist (Nov. 4, 1997) and Hank Williams Jr.'s launch of the Monday Night Football theme song (Sept. 11, 1989). 40 Days That Shaped Country Music premieres Saturday, Nov. 4, at 7 p.m. Central.

Alabama gets spiritual on new CD

Superstar country group Alabama has released dozens of

No. 1 hits, sold 46 million albums and taken home countless awards. But the foursome from Fort Payne, Ala., had one more dream to fulfill, one they'd been planning since 1990. Their new CD, Songs of Inspiration, makes that dream a reality with 15 church hymns and other spiritual songs, including "In the Garden," "Jesus Loves Me," "Amazing Grace" and "The Old Rugged Cross." "These are songs that we grew up listening to as little kids," says lead singer Randy Owen. "They've been 'hits' for hundreds of years, and our hope was to just carry them along in the same tradition."

Braving the Mighty Mississippi

A photographer's
lone canoe
journey down
Old Man River

Like so many incurable romantics, John Guider has always been a dreamer. But in early 2002, he dreamed of a grand adventure that he couldn't get out of his head.

"I decided that one day I would leave my Williamson County (Tenn.) farmhouse, walk to the creek on the edge of my property, board a canoe, and paddle as long as it took to reach the high river banks of New Orleans," says Guider, 57.

The dream was fueled by a serious case of job burnout, brought on after a 30-year career as one of the South's most successful commercial photographers. "I had reached a crossroads," says Guider, who grew weary of the monotonous procession of shooting products on tabletops and lifeless models in glitzy fashion wear. "I felt the need to change myself."

John Guider's canoe rests near his farmhouse.

Inspired by Peter Jenkins' landmark 1979 best seller, A Walk Across America, Guider's dream began to crystallize before him: photographing people, landscapes and life all along the great Mississippi River while canoeing its mighty waters in search of adventure.

"I liked the idea of exploring nature and humanity simultaneously," he says. "I wanted to do something that honored people who are generally forgotten; to give homage to average hardworking people. I wanted to find the real Americans."

With that resolve, on Aug. 9, 2003, Guider cast off in a 16-foot red canoe full of supplies and camera equipment at Spencer Creek behind his home in Franklin, Tenn. (pop. 53,311). It would be the first and longest leg of his mission: to canoe the entire length of the Mississippi River, photographing its people and places along the way. The initial trek, from Franklin to New Orleans, would take three months and see him traverse five rivers—the Harpeth, Cumberland, Tennessee, Ohio and Mississippi—totaling 1,200 miles.

"I don't know if it's so much what I learned about myself, but what I affirmed within myself."

—John Guider

8 out of 10 Americans don't get enough sleep. The other 2 probably have a Tempur-Pedic.

Finally, a comfortable night's sleep

You know how it goes: toss, turn, flip the pillow, toss, turn, toss. You could spend half the night just trying to fall asleep. Not so with Tempur-Pedic's Weightless Sleep® mattress. Spend the night on one and see what sleep clinics have proven — we reduce nighttime tossing and turning by more than 70%.

Revolutionary pressure-relieving material
Our unique viscoelastic sleep surface cuddles you. Our revolutionary pressure-relieving material conforms to every point on your body, with relaxing molecular TEMPUR® cells that give you the best night of sleep you'll ever have. No wonder Consumers Digest rated Tempur-Pedic as a Best Buy. No wonder we're the only mattress recognized by NASA.

Unheard of warranty
And our 20-year limited warranty means you won't lose sleep over your Tempur-Pedic's durability. We guarantee its comfort for double the life of a regular bed. Plus it never needs to be flipped. It just doesn't get any better. And it's only from Tempur-Pedic.

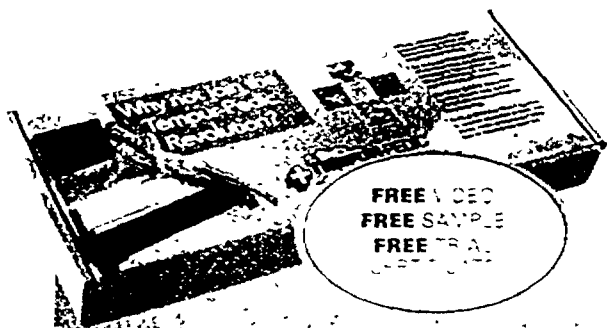

Tempur-Pedic's remarkable pressure-relieving material conforms to your body, rather than making you conform to it. Order your FREE sample and demonstration kit today.

Tempur-Pedic owners love their beds:

- 92% sleep better and wake up more refreshed
- 82% describe Tempur-Pedic as the best bed they've ever owned

A perilous journey

It wasn't long before Guider's imagined journey met with reality. "The plan and the dream were purely romantic notions," says Guider, who had little previous canoeing or camping experience. "Reality has a way of being a little more ugly than a dream."

Some of his journey's perils included overcoming 4-foot-high wakes from ocean-going freighters, negotiating around 200-foot-long river barges, and the time a docked barge accidentally discharged a spray of sewage into his parked canoe, destroying $5,000 worth of cameras and film stock.

And then there were the deadly whirlpools lurking along the riverbanks. "They are like monsters, roaming the river like inverted tornados," says Guider of the swirling 30-foot-wide menaces. "They don't seem to have a path. You try to avoid one only to have another come at you. If a whirlpool gets you, it could suck you down 90 feet and you might never come back up."

"Every day on the Mississippi, I would ask myself if I wanted to live or die," says Guider, who also had run-ins with a bear, coyotes and pair of deadly cottonmouth snakes. "There was no gray area, you did what you had to do. It was basically being a caveman, and at the end of the day, I was just so exhausted that I could barely set up the tent."

He undertook no specific training regimen for the ordeal either, electing to paddle his way into shape, losing 30 pounds over the course of the first leg. It was a blessing in disguise that Guider began his adventure on a small creek before graduating to the larger rivers.

"Each river had its own experience and its own challenge, which prepared me for the next," Guider says. "Had I gotten on the Mississippi at the start, I would've died."

Meeting real Americans

But the journey also provided wonderful surprises, like the people he met and photographed, such as George Rye, an elderly fisherman from Cumberland City, Tenn., who regaled Guider with yarns of old trips to Alaska and the joys of early morning fishing on the Cumberland River. Rye was the proud owner of a 30-year-old pickup truck that evoked questions from friends as to how long it would be before he'd sell it. Rye joked that he planned to die in it, thereby saving on the cost of a casket.

"His conversation lifted my spirits," says Guider, who adds that no matter where he went, people along the river were full of generosity.

"People looked out for me wherever I went," he says. "From the guys on the harbor tugs who offered me food and showers, to the people in the towns and riverside campsites who would drive me to the market to replenish my supplies. Every personal meeting was memorable. I learned that everyone has a story and every life is worthwhile."

Along the way, Guider captured mesmerizing photographs of people and landscapes, more than 10,000 shots in all, which he plans to exhibit in museums in 2008.

A hero's welcome . . . sort of

Of course, no journey of such magnitude ever had a more slapstick ending than Guider's victorious arrival into downtown New Orleans. Reaching his take-out point, he joyously reunited with his wife, Mona, there to greet him at journey's end. Suddenly, four squad cars, a police helicopter, the Coast Guard and the harbor patrol descended upon the pair, after a protective citizen spotted Guider from a bridge overpass and phoned police, convinced the city was under terrorist attack. Fortunately, a quick explanation by the mild-mannered Guider soon diffused the situation.

Guider took to his canoe again in August 2005, this time journeying the Mississippi from its point of origin, near Lake Itasca in northern Minnesota, to Minneapolis—a jaunt of 550 river miles. The month-long passage was highlighted by a near-death experience, in which Guider capsized in marsh water near Bemidji, spending the night in 38-degree temperatures and paddling through the night to ward off hypothermia.

But even under those harrowing circumstances, Guider found splendor in the experience. "It was the most beautiful evening I've ever seen in my life," he recalls. "Meteorites were going this way and that; I saw constellations I've never seen before. I was just enthralled. I thanked God that, if this was the night I was going to go, He couldn't have provided a better exit."

This past August, Guider attempted canoeing the final leg, from Minneapolis to Cairo, Ill., to complete his 2,800-river-mile excursion. A misadventure, however, near Bellevue, Ill., in which his canoe capsized outside a river lock, sinking his camera equipment, caused him to abort. Undaunted, he will try again in the spring. Nonetheless, the many and varied lessons gained from his eventful voyage have registered an indelible impact upon him.

"I don't know if it's so much what I learned about myself, but what I affirmed within myself," he says of his experience.

"One thing is that it's really going to be hard for me to ever be afraid again." ☆

Lovers United by Destiny, Inspired by Lee Bogle's Most Famous Painting

A power and passion beyond words draws these two lovers together. Their hearts beat as one, for they are...soul mates.

"Soul Mates" is inspired by Lee Bogle's famous painting of the same name, accurately sculpted and hand-painted to recreate the artistry and emotion of the original work. The two lovers' bodies are entwined in a sensuous, back-to-back embrace. Their passionate pose is visible from all angles, enhanced with real fabric fringe, feathers and beads.

Bottom Line Financial Advice

by JOHN NARDINI

Americans are hit with so much financial advice that it's impossible to understand and keep up with it all. Like many others, you probably just want to know the bottom line—what are the most important financial steps I need to take? To cut through the clutter, American Profile asked four top personal finance experts to offer their single best piece of advice. Here's what they had to say:

Riches in real estate

I'm often asked what's the secret to being rich. If I could only give a person one piece of advice when it comes to money it would be this—buy a home. You simply cannot get rich renting. According to the Federal Reserve, the average renter in America today is basically broke (worth less than $5,000). On the other hand, the average homeowner is worth more than $171,000. That's 34 times more than a renter. The simple truth about building wealth in America is this: "Nothing you will ever do in your lifetime will realistically build you as much wealth as buying a home." Don't believe me? Go ask your parents and grandparents right now if their home was their best investment. The answer is almost always a resounding "yes." My grandmother bought her home for $10,000 and, when she went to sell it a few years ago, she sold it for more than $400,000. I remember as she was packing up the house she turned to me and said, "If only we'd bought a few more houses and rented them," we would have really been rich. If you're renting right now, start saving to buy a home. It's the smartest investment you'll ever make.

—David Bach is the author of Start Late. Finish Rich and The Automatic Millionaire.

Control your finances

The key to getting your money to behave is to bother. Caller after caller to my radio show have gotten themselves into financial messes because they were going through life like Gomer Pyle on Valium and not paying attention to what their money was doing. But people do smart things if they just bother! Get on a plan and stick to it. I learned through my own financial mistakes that the key to financial success was making the guy I shave with behave. Winning at money is 80 percent behavior and 20 percent head knowledge. It's not about sophisticated financial theories; it's about taking control. I won with money and you can too. Like Nike says: "Just do it!"

—Dave Ramsey is a personal money management expert, radio talk show host and author of The Total Money Makeover, Financial Peace and More Than Enough.

Keep it simple

All of the best investments are the simple ones. If you're shown a gee-whiz financial product with a lot of bells and whistles, you can be sure of two things: You don't need it and it's overpriced. You can get better results with something plainer and lower cost. What's simple? Term life insurance. Automatic savings plans, like company 401(k)s. The mutual funds called lifestyle funds. A college savings plan bought directly from your state. Do I use these ideas myself? You bet!

—Jane Bryant Quinn is the author of Smart and Simple Strategies for Busy People.

Question conventional wisdom

The single best piece of advice I can give is this: Be careful what financial advice you listen to. Most financial advice—such as "save money," "get out of debt," "invest for the long term" and "diversify"—is fine for the middle class or the poor. It's not good advice if you want to be rich because it is obsolete advice. For example, in 1971 the U.S. went off the gold standard and the U.S. dollar became a currency and . . . currencies are designed to lose money. That's why today, "save money" is bad advice. Remember, your mind is your greatest asset, so be careful what you put into it.

TV Ears 2 is better than ever!

- Sharper Sound- No Interference. 2.3Mhz technology provides a clearer signal for superior sound quality without interference and frequency drifting. Line-of-sight coverage up to 900 square feet.
- Comfortable and convenient. New patented TV Ear Tips provide greater comfort and superior sound quality. The new quick-charge base fully recharges the headset in just 1 hour.
- TAP (Television Audio Processing) Technology. New circuitry lifts program dialogue above soundtrack and background noise for the ultimate TV listening experience.

TV Ears® 2 is powerful (120 dB), and features voice enhancement technology to make hard to hear words easier to understand and keep background sounds in the background. Beware of cheap TV headsets that are limited in output and inferior in quality.

"Now my husband can have the volume as loud as he needs...and I can have the TV at my hearing level. "TV Ears" are so uncumbersome that Jack forgets he has them on! He can once again hear and understand the dialogue. We have given "TV Ears" as a gift to dear friends. They are absolutely the finest product." Sincerely

— Darlene and Jack B., CA

Audiologist-recommended TV Ears® 2 has helped thousands enjoy TV without cranking up the volume, now it's new and improved.

More than 32 million Americans have some degree of hearing loss. If you struggle to hear TV, or family members complain the TV is too loud, you need TV Ears® 2! TV Ears® 2 is a powerful new device that has helped thousands of people with mild, moderate, or severe hearing loss hear the television clearly without turning up the volume. Now you can listen to television at your own level while others may adjust the volume to fit theirs. TV Ears® 2 helps you hear every word clearly. Imagine watching your favorite programs, and actually being able to hear every word and sound—it will change your life! If you are dealing with the frustration and arguments that come with turning up your TV volume too loud...read on.

From Dr. John W. House, president of the House Ear Institute

"I have found patients with mild to moderate hearing loss gain the most benefit from TV Ears®. They are the patients who do not wear hearing aids or do not use them at home. They use TV Ears® because other members of the family complain

Transmitter and Recharging Base NEW recharges headset in just one hour and operates up to 10 hours! (Base can charge two headsets)

that the TV is too loud. I personally use them to watch TV while I'm riding my exercise bike. I can have the volume of the TV low and therefore not bother my family with the loud TV."

Try them yourself! If you aren't totally amazed...send them back! We're so sure you'll be absolutely astonished with the increase in sound and clarity when using the TV Ears® that we're backing them with firstSTREET's exclusive in-home 90-day trial. ## Doesn't Know acid reflux may be damaging her esophagus.

Even if you're treating your heartburn, you may still have damage.

 If you suffer from acid reflux disease—persistent heartburn 2 or more days a week, despite treatment and diet change—you could have serious damage to your esophagus and not know it.

Unlike your stomach, the esophagus offers little protection against acid. This means the heartburn pain you feel is actually from stomach acid rising up into the esophagus. That acid can eventually wear away the lining of the esophagus leading to a potentially serious condition called erosive esophagitis.

This condition may affect 1 in 3 people with acid reflux disease,* and if left untreated, could get worse. Only a doctor can determine if you have this condition.

However, 1 prescription NEXIUM pill a day not only provides 24-hour relief from heartburn, for many people it can also heal even the most severe erosions in the esophagus caused by acid reflux. Most erosions heal in 4 to 8 weeks. Your results may vary.

*Source: AstraZeneca Data on File: DA-NEX-58

NEXIUM has a low occurrence of side effects, which may include headache, diarrhea, and abdominal pain. Symptom relief does not rule out other serious stomach conditions. Ask your doctor if NEXIUM is right for you.

Please read the important Product Information about NEXIUM on the adjacent page and discuss it with your doctor.

Ken Klotzbach

Kids, don't try this at home!

Dave "Cannonball" Smith, 63, kneels at the opening of his 33-foot-long, star-spangled cannon. As the barrel elevates, he waves to the crowd at the Steele County Free Fair in Owatonna, Minn. (pop. 771), and slips into the steel cocoon that's aimed toward a net 145 feet away. But first he must soar 60 feet into the air and pass over two Ferris wheels.

The crowd counts down: "five, four, three, two, one!" With a loud boom and a cloud of smoke, Smith hurtles out of the cannon. The force of 9 Gs blurs his vision and distorts his body until he eventually tucks his head and flips onto his back to prepare for landing. As he hits the net, he quickly grabs hold to keep from ricocheting off. Fortunately, Smith's 3.2-second flight ends safely with thunderous applause.

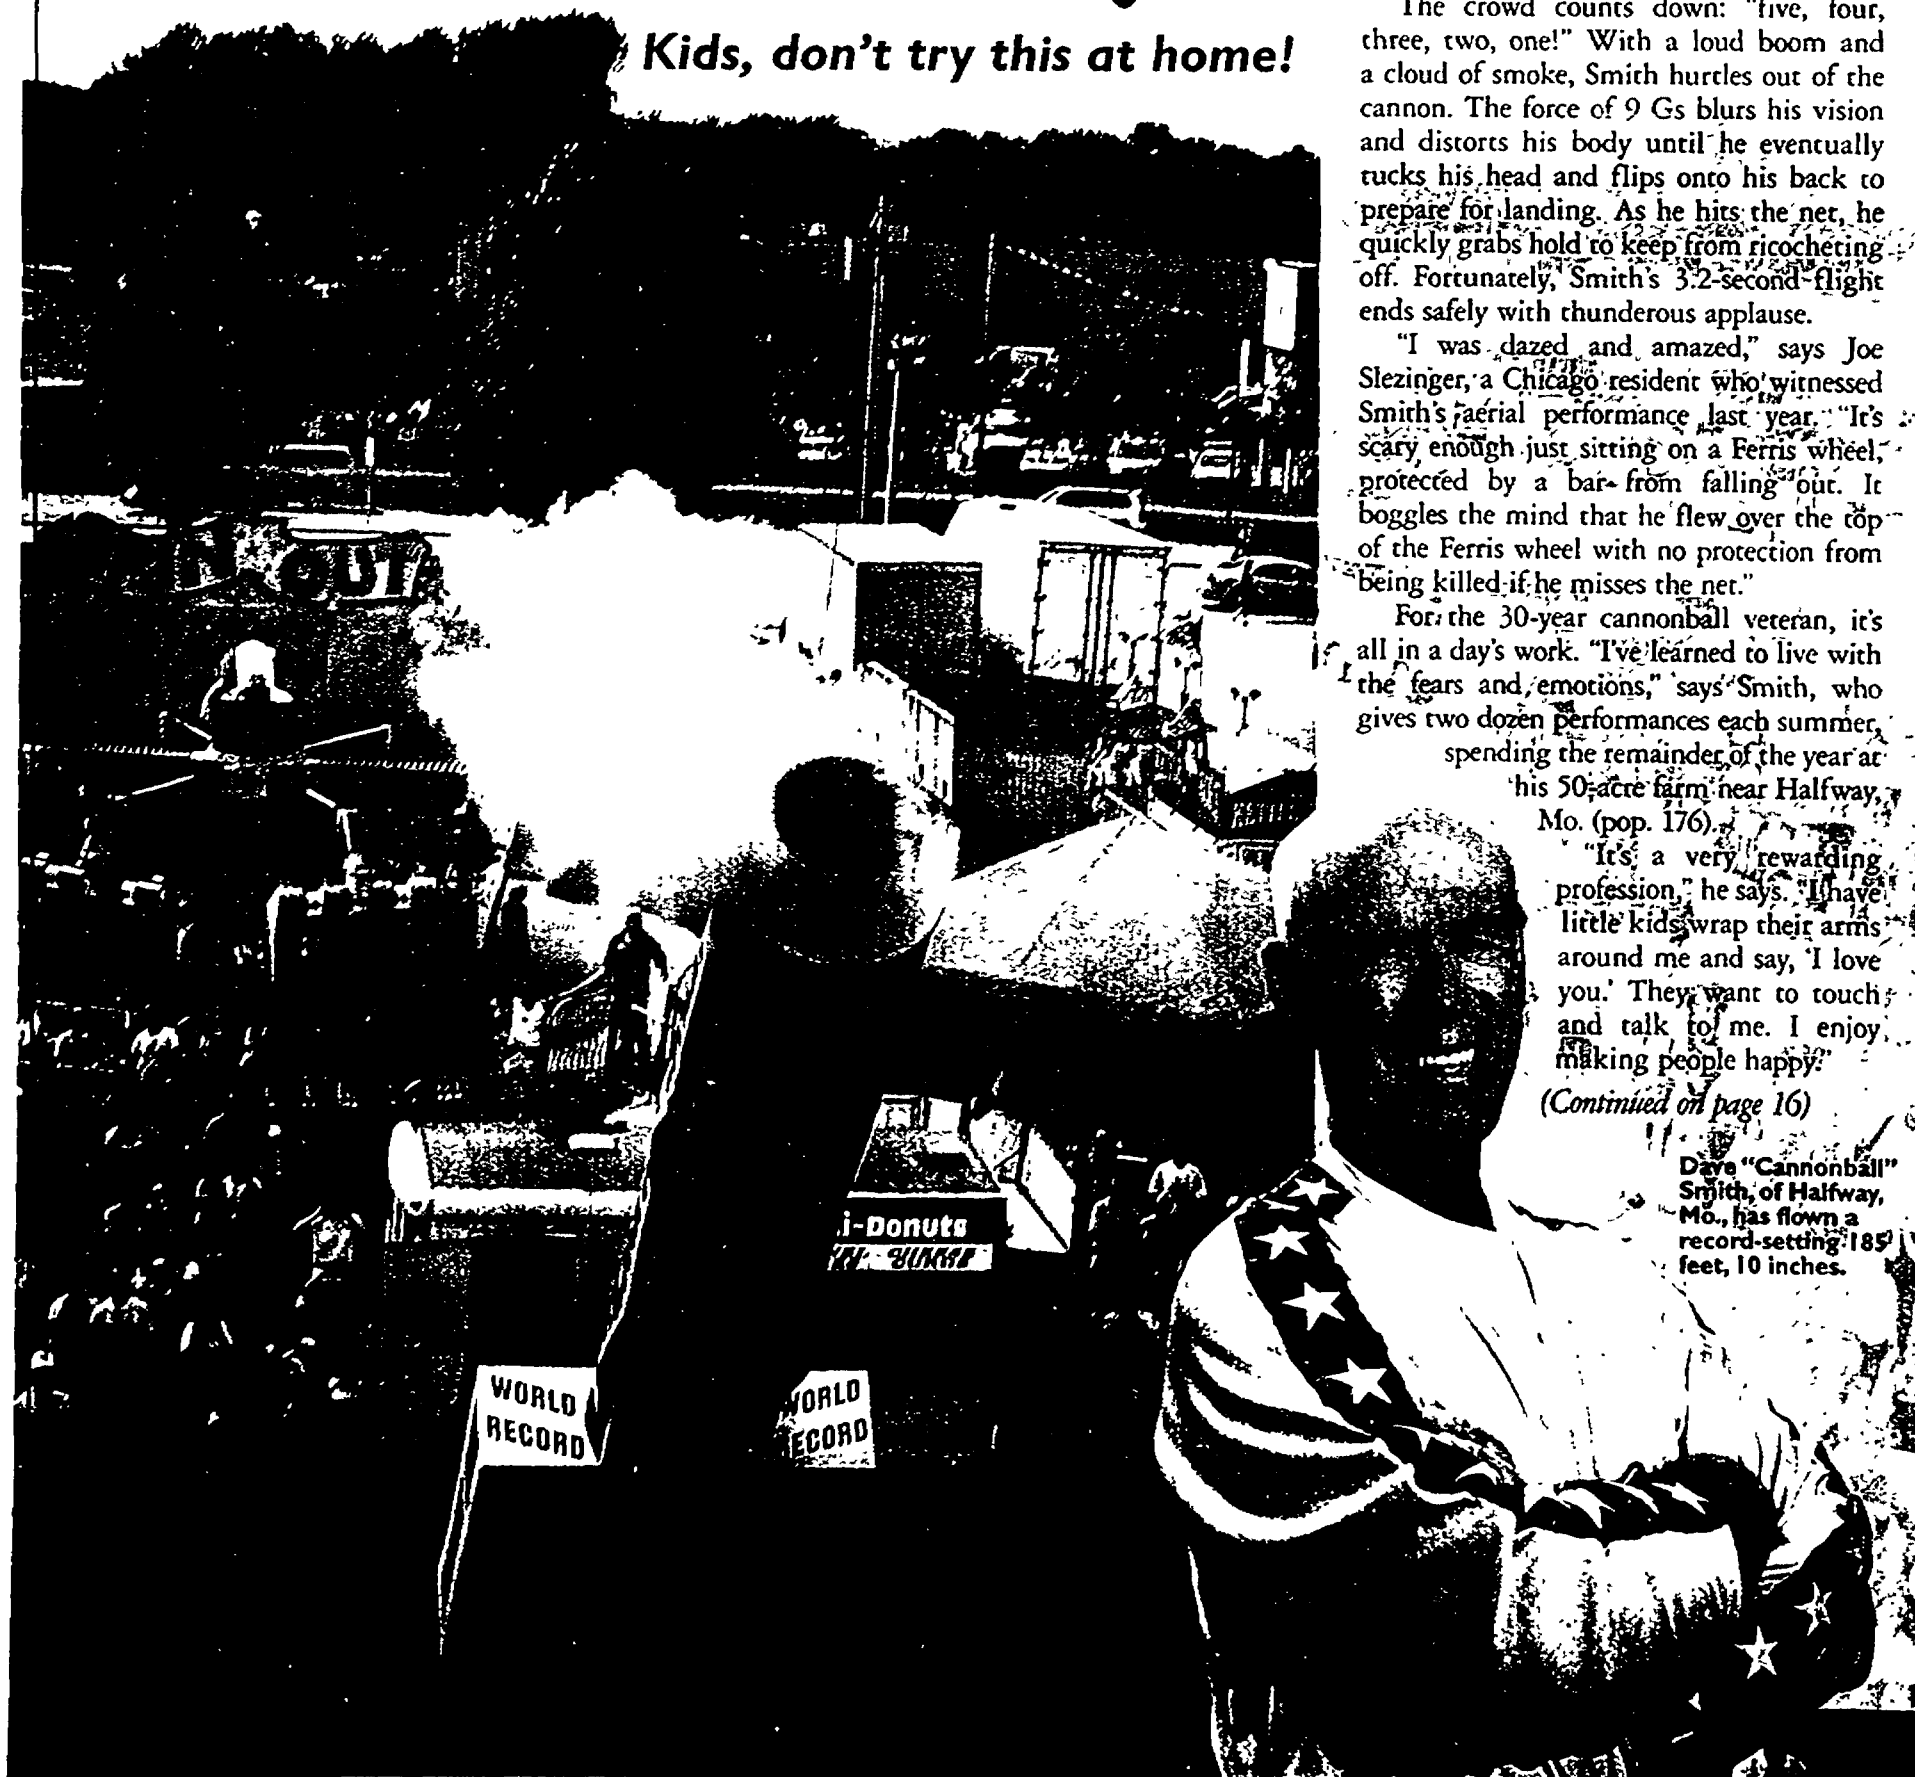

"I was dazed and amazed," says Joe Slezinger, a Chicago resident who witnessed Smith's aerial performance last year. "It's scary enough just sitting on a Ferris wheel, protected by a bar from falling out. It boggles the mind that he flew over the top of the Ferris wheel with no protection from being killed if he misses the net."

For the 30-year cannonball veteran, it's all in a day's work. "I've learned to live with the fears and emotions," says Smith, who gives two dozen performances each summer, spending the remainder of the year at his 50-acre farm near Halfway, Mo. (pop. 176).

"It's a very rewarding profession," he says. "I have little kids wrap their arms around me and say, 'I love you.' They want to touch and talk to me. I enjoy making people happy."

Dave "Cannonball" Smith, of Halfway, Mo., has flown a record-setting 185 feet, 10 inches.

Smith's high-flying career launched in 1970 when he joined a traveling circus as a catcher in a trapeze act. Ambitious to star as a solo act, he designed and perfected a human-launching cannon in his spare time.

In 1975, he took to the air, performing his first show in Saginaw, Mich. Since then he's meticulously recorded the angles, humidity, distance and temperature of thousands of his shots.

"The gun is very accurate," he says. "Given certain conditions, I can go right where I want." Of course, that doesn't mean it's not dangerous. "I have just the length of the barrel to accelerate enough to go the distance I want. There's enough power to turn me into peanut butter if anything went wrong."

Smith's daughter, Jennifer Schneider, of Boliver, Mo. (pop. 9,143), grew up watching her father perform as the human cannonball at corporate conventions, fairs and amusement parks. "It was just what my dad was," she says. "I didn't think it was strange until I was older. Then I did it too." Schneider, who goes by the nickname "Cannon Lady," is among three of Smith's 10 children who are professional cannonballs, using cannons built by Smith.

The family performs together for special events such as appearances on the Today Show and The Tonight Show with Jay Leno. Otherwise, their separate careers take them around the world. Jennifer, 32, works at motocross events in the United States; Stephanie, 28, stars in Australia as "Lady Cannon;" and Supplements on or before July 1, 2006. If you qualify, you may: submit a Claim Form to get benefits; exclude yourself; or object. If you only purchased Shape Up! Bars and Shakes, you are a Class Member, but you will not receive personal benefits; instead your benefits will go to Court approved charities. This Notice is only a summary. The Settlement Agreement, posted at www.shapeupsettlement.com, contains the complete terms of the proposed settlement.

WHAT ARE SHAPE UP! PRODUCTS AND HOW WERE THEY USED?

Defendant CSA Nutraceuticals, GP LLC ("CSAN") began selling Shape Up! Products in 2003. These products include the Shape Up! Apple, Pear, and Intensifier Supplements and Shape Up! Complete Nutrition Bars and Complete Nutrition Shakes (consisting of shake mixes and ready-to-drink shakes). Shape Up! Products were sold nationwide.

WHAT IS THIS CASE ABOUT?

Consumers filed a class action on behalf of all U.S. residents who purchased Shape Up! Products, including Supplements, Bars and Shakes. The representative Plaintiffs allege that Defendants CSAN and Philip C. McGraw made material misrepresentations concerning Shape Up! Products. Defendants' position is that the Shape Up! Products were accurately described, that Defendants acted properly, and that McGraw did not receive any money from the sale of the products as his endorsement fee was paid directly to charity. The settlement is not an admission of wrongdoing or an indication that any law was violated. The Court did not reach any decision regarding the case or make any determination about the strengths or weaknesses of the parties' contentions.

WHAT ARE THE TERMS OF THE SETTLEMENT?

A fund recovery fund will be established consisting of $6.0 million in product (Nutrilite® Daily Multivitamin Multimineral, 6-month supply) and $4.5 million in cash (the "Fund") for the benefit of Settlement Class members. McGraw will have no personal obligation to provide any cash or product required for the Fund. Purchasers of Shape Up! Supplements can claim cash or product, but not both. All administrative costs of the settlement, Plaintiffs' attorneys' fees, Plaintiffs' incentive awards and purchasers' cash reimbursement claims shall be paid out of the $4.5 million cash portion of the Fund.

WHAT ARE MY RIGHTS?

To receive cash or product under the settlement, you must postmark and mail a Claim Form on or before January 22, 2007. For each box of Shape Up! Supplements purchased up to a maximum of four boxes, you can get a distribution of either: (i) two bottles of Nutrilite® Daily Multivitamin Multimineral, six-month supply, suggested retail price totaling $83.20; or (ii) $12.50 in cash. The court will reduce payments if there are more claims than cash or product available for distribution. Cash and/or product remaining after claims are paid will be donated to charitable organization(s).

If you do NOT want to remain part of the Settlement Class, you may exclude yourself ("opt-out") by postmarking and mailing a written request, postage prepaid, on or before November 28, 2006. If you wish to object to the settlement you must do so on or before November 28, 2006. A detailed notice, posted at www.shapeupsettlement.com or available by calling (888) 212-5570, explains the requirements to exclude yourself, object, or submit a Claim Form.

You may contact counsel before deciding whether or not to participate. The Settlement Website www.shapeupsettlement.com identifies Plaintiffs' Class Counsel. A Final Approval Hearing, when the Court will consider the adequacy and fairness of the settlement and any application for payment of attorneys' fees of up to $2.5 million for investigating the facts, litigating and negotiating the settlement, plaintiffs' incentive awards, and the validity of certain requests for exclusion has been scheduled for December 15, 2006 at 8:00 a.m., 600 S. Commonwealth Ave., Dept. 324, Los Angeles, CA 90005. To appear at the Final Approval Hearing, you must, no later than November 28, 2006, file with the Court and postmark and mail to the address below a written notice of intention to appear together with supporting papers including a detailed statement of the specific objections or contentions made.

HOW DO I GET MORE INFORMATION?

Call (888) 212-5570, visit the Settlement Website address: www.shapeupsettlement.com, or write to Shape Up! Litigation Settlement, c/o The Garden City Group, Inc., P.O. Box 91177, Seattle, WA 98111-9277, for more information. You may also seek advice and guidance from your own attorney at your expense.

PLEASE DO NOT WRITE OR CALL THE COURT FOR INFORMATION ABOUT THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT OR THIS LAWSUIT.

Dave Smith Jr., known as "The Bullet," has blasted across the Grand Canyon and often performs in the Middle East.

In 1998, both father and son broke the 1940 record for the longest human cannonball flight, launching simultaneously in Pennsylvania's Kennywood Park. Dave Jr. landed first at just over 181 feet, besting the 1940 record by 7 inches. A split second later, Dave Sr. outdistanced his son with a 185-foot, 10-inch flight, which stands as the world record.

"I live for those kind of moments," the elder Smith says.

When he's not performing, Smith usually can be found at his Missouri farm, where his barn holds farming equipment, as well as a trampoline, trapeze and a gym for off-season training.

"I'm doing something I like," he says. "A lot of people can't do that. I won't stop until I keel over." ☆

AS HEARD ON PAUL HARVEY NEWS

New advanced portable heater can cut your heating bill up to 50%

Heats a large room in minutes with even heat wall to wall and floor to ceiling

Does not get hot, cannot start a fire and will not reduce humidity or oxygen

Never be cold again

How it works:

A new advanced quartz infrared portable heater, the EdenPURE®, can cut your heating bills by up to 50%.

You have probably heard about the remarkable EdenPURE® as heard on Paul Harvey News and on television features across the nation.

The EdenPURE® can pay for itself in a matter of weeks and then start putting a great deal of extra money in your pocket after that.

A major cause of residential fires in the United States is portable heaters. But the EdenPURE® cannot cause a fire. That is because the quartz infrared heating element never gets to a temperature that can ignite anything.

The outside of the EdenPURE® only gets warm to the touch so that it will not burn children or pets. Pets can sleep on it when it is operating without harm.

The advanced space-age EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater also heats the room evenly, wall-to-wall and floor-to-ceiling. And, as you know, portable heaters only heat an area a few feet around the heater.

Unlike other heating sources, the EdenPURE® cannot put poisonous carbon monoxide into a room or any type of fumes or any type of harmful radiation.

Q. What is the origin of this amazing heating element in the EdenPURE®?

A. This advanced heating element was discovered accidentally by a man named John Jones.

Q. What advantages does infrared quartz tube heating source have over other heating source products?

A. John Jones designed his heating source around the three most important consumer benefits: economy, comfort, and safety.

In the EdenPURE® system, electricity is used to generate infrared light which, in turn, creates a very safe heat.

After a great deal of research and development, very efficient infrared heat chambers were developed that utilize three unique patented solid copper heat exchangers in one EdenPURE® heater.

Q. How can a person cut their heating bill by up to 50% with the EdenPURE®?

A. The EdenPURE® will heat a room in minutes. Therefore, you can turn the heat down in your house to as low as 50 degrees, but the room you are occupying, which has the EdenPURE®, will be warm and comfortable. The EdenPURE® is portable. When you move to another room, it will quickly heat that room also. This can drastically cut heating bills, in some instances, by up to 50%.

The EdenPURE® comes in 2 models. Model 500 heats a room up to 300 square feet and Model 1000 heats a room up to 1,000 square feet.

End of interview.

The EdenPURE® will pay for itself in weeks. It will put a great deal of extra money in a users pocket. Because of today's spi-

Cannot start a fire; a child or animal can touch or sit on it without harm

raling gas, oil, propane, and other energy costs, the EdenPURE® will provide even greater savings as the time goes by.

It's the Great Pumpkin, Charlie Brown: The Making of a Television Classic by Lee Mendelson and Bill Melendez
 Soft cover book

Millions of Americans have grown up with this perennial October TV special since it first aired 40 years ago. Now this dandy anniversary salute—by the program's producer and animator—takes viewers on a wonderful jog through the pumpkin patch with a script of the show's dialogue, full-color scene-by-scene artwork, dozens of tidbits about the special, and recollections from the now-grown-up kids who provided the well-known voices of Charlie Brown, Lucy, Linus, Peppermint Patty and the rest of the immortal gang of Peanuts characters.

Daniel Boone: Seasons 1 & 2
 DVD box sets

As the theme song to this hugely popular 1960s TV drama reminded viewers every week, "Daniel Boone was a man—yes, a big man." Now these two box sets do justice to the pop-culture magnitude of the legendary, coon-skin-cap-wearin', flintlock-rifle-shootin' frontiersman. Each set contains eight DVDs and 28 fully restored seasonal episodes (1964-65 and 1965-66), plus bonus features including a recent interview with long-out-of-the-spotlight star Fess Parker. ☆

The 2006 American Eagle Silver Dollar

(A $50.00 Value) FREE (*Pay just for processing and handling.)

This May Be Your Last Opportunity To Get The 2006 Silver Eagle Before It's Gone

This popular silver bullion coin, struck by the U.S. Mint, is now available to you at a very special offer for FREE! It contains one full ounce of pure silver and is one of the first United States Silver Dollars of the year 2006. Due to high collectibility - and the rise in the value of silver - the 2006 Silver Eagle is one of the most sought after coins of the year.

In Brilliant, Uncirculated Condition!

But what's even more special is that these historic coins are not available directly from the U.S. Mint to the general public in uncirculated condition. What's more, the U.S. Mint destroys the original dies each year, so no more 2006 Eagles will ever be minted again. To make way for the new 2007 Silver Eagles, the American Historic Society is cleaning out our supply of these 2006 genuine, uncirculated Silver Dollars and is making them available to new customers for FREE! This may be one of your final opportunities to claim this historic coin. ACT NOW to take advantage of this very special offer! Call toll-free to claim yours today.

Are Prescription Male Enhancement Pills for You?

Ask The Expert

SEX: How To Improve. Increase. ENJOY.

Q: Dear Stefanie,

For the past year, I've been having some confidence issues. It's really dragging me and my relationship with my wife down. I wanted to try some pills but with all the potential side effects and the embarrassing doctor visits, I was hoping to find something safe and effective that I could just buy directly. In your judgment, is there anything else out there that could help me with my problem?

Jason M.
Manhattan Beach, CA

A: Well Jason,

The verdict is in and I just happen to have the perfect answer to boost you and your confidence, while giving your wife the time of her life...repeatedly!

For months my husband was feeling the exact same way you were and then, one night, we shared the most phenomenal experience, EVER. I had never seen him more excited and powerful. He took control right from the start and the feelings we shared together were totally mind-blowing. And, here's the best part, every time since that night, he just keeps getting better and better. It's amazing! I can't get enough of him now!

Finally, the other day, my curiosity took over. I had to know what brought about this drastic change. So, I asked him. To my shock, he handed me a tube of Maxoderm™. I just didn't believe this product Maxoderm was actually what's making him feel fuller and more virile. I did a little research and was surprised by what I found.

Maxoderm IS Sexual Performance. Recommended by a Leading Urologist, it's the only all-natural, fast-acting topical lotion designed to instantly enhance erection quality and virility, while intensifying our pleasure for the ultimate experience. Since 1998, men have had the option to turn to prescription drugs. But with embarrassing doctor visits required and even worse the potential side effects that's been in the news recently, more and more men are searching for safe alternatives that work. To my "intimate" knowledge, Maxoderm's targeted delivery system immediately and effectively reaches the desired area directly upon application, maximizing absorption, resulting in a performance to be proud of each and every time. I am a huge (and grateful) fan of Maxoderm. And, trust me, I know my husband is too!

You can check out Maxoderm by calling 1.800.454.6515 or going to www.maxoderm.com. I know they offer RISK FREE TRIALS and even give a FREE MONTH SUPPLY with your order. Oh and best of all, Maxoderm is backed by a 90 Day Money Back Guarantee. You can't beat that!

Hometown Recipes

Fall Favorites

Hearty soups, stews and chilis, and homemade breads are perfect for suppers on cool nights. As vegetables simmer on the stovetop and bread bakes in the oven, the kitchen fills with tantalizing aromas, drawing your family to the table.

This week, we feature two dishes that seem tailor-made for crisp fall nights.

JoAnn Simon, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., sent us her recipe for Snow Day Vegetable Soup. "This recipe has been in the family for years. My husband and I have always believed in a good hearty soup for a cold, snowy day," she explains. Although the recipe calls for dried parsley, thyme and basil, you can use fresh herbs if they're available. The general rule when you're substituting fresh for dried is to triple the amount of dried herbs called for in a recipe.

Round out your meal with Theresa Slemp's recipe for Whole-Wheat Soda Bread. "This is a hearty bread that goes very nicely with soups," the Afton, Tenn., resident says. This classic Irish quick bread uses baking soda instead of yeast as leavening. And according to baking lore, the cross that's cut into the loaf before baking scares away the devil.

As always, American Profile looks forward to receiving—and publishing—your favorite recipes each week and sharing them with our millions of readers across the nation. ☆

Snow Day Vegetable Soup

- 1½ sticks unsalted butter
- 3 celery stalks, chopped
- 1 large white onion, chopped
- 2 green onions, chopped
- ½ garlic clove, minced
- 3 large white potatoes, diced
- 3 large carrots, diced
- 1½ teaspoons each dried parsley, thyme and basil
- 1 or 2 bay leaves
- Garlic salt
- 3½ quarts chicken broth or water
- 2½ (6-ounce) cans tomato paste
- 1 cup green peas, fresh or frozen
- 1 cup corn, fresh or frozen
- 1 cup green beans, fresh or frozen

Melt butter in a large Dutch oven and add celery, onion, green onions, garlic, potatoes and carrots; sauté vegetables until slightly tender. Add parsley, thyme, basil and bay leaves; stir to combine. Season with garlic salt. Add chicken broth and tomato paste. Bring to a boil. Add green peas, corn and green beans. Reduce heat to medium-low. Simmer 45 minutes to 1 hour. Garnish with grated Parmesan cheese if desired. Serves 8.

RECIPE

Whole-Wheat Soda Bread

Theresa Slemp
Afton, Tenn.

Styling & Photography

Whole-Wheat Soda Bread

- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons cold butter
- 2 cups whole-wheat flour
- ½ cup old-fashioned rolled oats
- 1½ cups buttermilk

Preheat oven to 375F. Grease a baking sheet. Combine all-purpose flour, sugar, soda and salt. Mix well. Cut in butter with two knives or a pastry cutter. Stir in whole-wheat flour and oats. Make a well in the center and pour in buttermilk all at once. Mix with a fork until well blended. Turn dough out onto a floured board and knead 1 minute. Shape into a ball and set on baking sheet. Press into a 6-inch circle. Cut a cross in the top. Bake 40 minutes or until well browned and loaf sounds hollow when tapped on the bottom.

△DELL PREFERRED ACCOUNT (DPA): Offered by CIT Bank to qualified U.S. residents with approved credit. Creditworthiness determined by lender. Taxes, fees, shipping, handling, and any other applicable charges are extra, and vary. Monthly payments based upon pre-rebate price. Minimum monthly payments of $15 or 3% of account balance, whichever is greater.

*PRICING/AVAILABILITY: Prices, specifications, availability and terms of offers may change without notice. Taxes, fees, shipping, handling (other than systems free 3-5 day shipping and handling offer, if applicable) and any applicable restocking charges are extra, and vary. Offers may be combined with other select offers or discounts. Valid for U.S. Dell Home Systems Co. new purchases only. Systems free 3-5 day shipping and handling offer valid in Continental (except Alaska) U.S. only. Electronics and accessories purchases not included in systems free shipping and handling offer. Dell cannot be responsible for pricing or other errors, and reserves the right to cancel orders arising from such errors. LIMITED WARRANTY: You can get a copy of our limited warranties and guarantees by writing Dell USA LP, Attn: Warranties, One Dell Way, Round Rock, TX 78682. To purchase warranty only or for information on other service options please call 1-800-915-3355 or visit www.dell.com/termsandconditions. AT HOME SERVICE: At-Home service provided via third-party contract with customer. Technician will be dispatched, if necessary, following phone based troubleshooting on the next business day. Availability varies. Other conditions apply. HARD DRIVE: For hard drives, GB means 1 billion bytes; actual capacity varies with preloaded material and operating environment and will be less. On Dimension, XPS, and Inspiron systems, for Norton Ghost 10 and Dell DataSafe users, up to 25% of the stated hard drive capacity may be utilized by your system as dedicated backup space. SHARED SDRAM: Up to 224 MB of system memory may be allocated to support integrated graphics, depending on system memory size and other factors. DUAL CHANNEL MEMORY: Dual channel memory requires 2 each of the same capacity memory DIMMs. DVD BURNER: Discs burned with this drive may not be compatible with some existing drives and players; using DVD+R media provides maximum compatibility. WINDOWS VISTA CAPABLE: Based on currently available information from Microsoft. Requirements subject to change. Since the operating system and drivers are not final at this time, Windows Vista has not been tested on all user configurations. Dell systems must be configured with a minimum of $12MB system memory (RAM) for "Windows Vista Capable" designation. Systems which meet only minimum requirements for the "Windows Vista Capable" designation will not provide the full benefits of "Premium Ready," including the Aero interface. Some Dell systems may not meet the requirements for Premium Ready, no matter the configuration. Please visit www.windowsvista.com/getready for more information.
