BRIDGING THE PAST

Earlier this month, 16 volunteers rebuilt the wooden structure welcoming visitors to the Griswold Road park, Mill Race Historical Village.

Project revives village's spirit of volunteerism

By Maureen Johnston
RECORD STAFF WRITER

For 30 years, the wooden bridge over the Mill Pond has been a portal to Northville's past.

Amateur historians, school children and brides-to-be routinely traverse the railed arch to enter the Mill Race Historic Village. The handmade expanse has borne a generation of newlyweds posing for photographs, scouts ascending to their next troop level and families strolling in the footsteps of their predecessors.

So, this summer, when a boy crashed through a rotted support beam into the shallow pond below, local historians responded quickly to the splash.

"That's the whole thing behind Mill Race — the army of volunteers," said Northville Historical Society board member Keith Paterson. "It had never been replaced.

"Once we started looking at it, it was all in pretty rough shape."

'Temporary fix'

The wave of enthusiasm that erected the bridge in 1975 crested again earlier this month when 16 volunteers reconstructed it.

"This is the first time the bridge has been repaired," said Mill Race office manager Juliet Culp, who talked to the parents of the boy who was unhurt during his plunge into the three-foot pond.

"I said, 'Thank you for letting us know,'" she said. "I went out and roped it off."

"Keith (Paterson) came in the next day with a temporary fix."

With weddings and special events planned on the historic park grounds throughout the summer and fall, the Nov. 3-4 weekend was the first opportunity for the volunteer bridge reconstruction crew to report to work.

Mothers' Club counts on community support

For first time, district budgets club's donations

Susan Russell Malfese will be sipping hot cocoa and carrying a tune next Friday while supporting Northville education.

Malfese is a member of the Mothers' Club of Northville and an annual supporter of the organization's holiday All Aglow Illumination for Education campaign.

The organization holds the December fund-raiser every year to raise money for Northville Public Schools.

Members donated more than $60,000 last year, providing assistance to all district schools.

Northville Public Schools officials said because of down economic times this year, the district is counting on the club's help for needed items like textbooks.

Officials said this is the first year the district has included in its budget donations from the organization.

Malfese said the school district's reliance doesn't change the organization's efforts.

"We always try to raise as much money as we can each year," she said.

As the fund-raising portion of the All Aglow Illumination for Education campaign, the Mothers' Club is selling tree lights through December 31 for members of the community to purchase in honor of family members, friends, teachers and other meaningful people.

Organizers said the lights will be hung in honorarium on the large evergreen tree at the downtown gazebo.

RECORD STAFF WRITER

Oh, you better watch out: On Sunday, 1,100 runners are coming to town.

For the fifth consecutive year, the city is hosting the Jingle Bell Run for Arthritis on downtown streets starting at 9 a.m. Sunday at Northville Downs. As some folks don church frocks, others will lace bells to their running shoes for the annual fund-raiser.

Traffic will be detoured to accommodate the race.

Streets will be blocked starting at 8 a.m., starting with Center Street from Cady to Fairbrook. Other roads will be blocked from 8:30-10 a.m.

City of Northville staff and event organizers have notified local congregations, and residents and businesses along the route.

Annual 5K run returning to downtown

Foundation special events director, said runners look forward to returning to the Northville race and it grows in popularity every year.

"The city is so welcoming and easy to work with," she said. "The town is so beautiful."

Five years ago, an invitation from former city council member Jerry Mittman and former city manager Gary Word — both participants in the Birmingham Jingle Bell Run — helped bring the 5K event to Northville, Lanigan said.

Now, foundation officials are considering consolidating the two fund-raising runs into a single location, she said, based partly on the attractiveness of the venue, including use of the Downs facility courtesy of David Karoub.

"The cost of putting on two of them is getting prohibitive," Lanigan said, adding the Northville site could accommodate up to 2,000

2006 Race: A tribute

This year's Jingle Bell Run is dedicated to the memory of Mary Youngs, the first time in the Arthritis Foundation's 19-year history the event is named in an individual's honor. The 56-year-old educator died recently from complications of rheumatoid arthritis, which she lived with 25 years. She died unexpectedly in her sleep from a coronary arrest as a result of her long battle with the disease.

runners.

The city council's Sept. 18 approval of the event included the host organization's provision of liability insurance naming the city an additional insured.

About 12 Northville city police department officers will help traffic circulation and protect participants and spectators. The Arthritis

Foundation covers the cost of those services.

Volunteer course marshals wearing safety vests will be stationed at each intersection.

All invited

Organizers of the professionally-timed event present medals in 14 age categories. For a $25 or $30 entry fee, Lanigan said runners experience the unique terrain of an historic small town while increasing awareness of America's leading cause of disability.

"They're raising desperately needed funds for research, health education and government advocacy to improve the lives of people with arthritis," she said. The Arthritis Foundation sponsors 131 life improvement programs across the state.

In Michigan, there are more than 2.5 million adults and 7,000 children who have one or more of the 100 forms of arthritis and related diseases, Lanigan said.

honored will be printed on a placard by the town tree.

Malfese said Northville city firemen helped kick off the campaign last week by hanging some of the lights for display.

As part of the fund-raising effort, a ceremony and community carol will be held 6:15 p.m. Friday, Dec. 8 at the downtown gazebo on Main Street.

"The school choir will sing, and there will be hot cocoa and cookies," Malfese said.

Malfese said members of the community do not have to donate to attend the Christmas caroling event.

"People are invited to come downtown to the shops and watch the tree lighting, too," she said. "Hopefully, the weather will cooperate."

Pretty as a picture

Reconstruction revives volunteer spirit that created historic village

"The sawing and the hammering would not have been very conducive to a wedding ceremony," Culp said. Revenue from rental of the gazebo and church — nestled near the base of the bridge — is the park's financial lifeblood.

Historical highlight

The bridge is one of 12 structures listed on the Northville Historical Society's brochure documenting the village attractions, including the Cady Inn, Hirsch Blacksmith Shop, Wash Oak School and homes in architectural styles common to the area prior to 1900.

Open dawn to dusk seven days a week, the grounds will revive its youthful appeal again this weekend as site of the 28th annual Christmas Children's Workshop when kids create 19th Century inspired gifts.

Once the site of a grist mill, the living museum was built on land donated to the City of Northville by the Ford Motor Company.

The Northville Chamber of Commerce funded the original bridge, flanked on the south end by brick donation walls, highlighting contributions.

This month, the historical society, which created the village in 1972, paid nearly $1,000 for materials for the bridge project. Like when the wooden expanse was first built, the labor was provided at no charge — by local history lovers.

Modern invitation

This fall, Paterson, the historical society's director of building projects, e-mailed a rallying cry to workers who had helped with past preservation projects.

In all, 16 volunteers showed up for 160 hours one chilly November weekend. For their efforts, local businesses Great Harvest Bread

The bridge's design

Northville resident, the late Don Fee, designed the bridge in 1975.

He fashioned it after the Old North Bridge in Concord, Mass., the historical site of the Battle of Lexington and Concord, the first battle day (April 19, 1775) in the Revolutionary War. The bridge was made famous by Ralph Waldo Emerson's 1837 "Concord Hymn" poem: "By the rude bridge that arch'd the flood, Their flag to the April breeze unfurled, Here the embattled farmers stood And fired the shot heard round the world."

Co., Tuscan Café, Parmenter's Cider Mill and Starbucks donated morning coffee and lunch, served by Cindy Paterson.

"It was good to have such a skilled set of volunteers," Keith Paterson said. "We tried to set it up so they could show up and enjoy the pleasure of working with their hands: measuring, cutting, fastening, working toward an achievable goal."

"We're really trying to make it look just as it did."

Council begins weighing downtown design concepts

By Maureen Johnston
RECORD STAFF WRITER

A few people got hung up on the light fixtures.

During a special Northville City Council meeting Monday night, design consultants took about 70 residents on an hour-long overhead-screen walk-through of a potential new look for the downtown.

The Grissim Metz Andriese and Associates team talked about details as specific as which tree species to plant and concepts as abstract as "reaffirming Northville's special qualities."

The tall etagere planters depicted in the dimensional drawings were a flashpoint for discussion about how to maintain historic charm, the importance of creating dramatic presence, and the cost of implementing and maintaining design improvements. People admired their timeless iron composition and doubted their hometown authenticity.

After dozens of audience questions of Grissim Metz and city representatives, there was little council comment and no action.

Time to prepare

As the consultant's Dec. 22 deadline to submit a conceptual design plan looms, city leaders have yet to take the first swipe at identifying what will happen when and at what cost.

That's OK with Mayor Christopher Johnson. He complimented the volunteer faction's push to realize change sooner than later, but stressed the importance of proper planning.

"We have to be comfortable with it all before we start putting shovels in the ground," Johnson said. "It may not happen that quick."

"Everyone would like to wave the magic wand and have it done in five minutes. That's not how it happens."

Months of study by professionals and volunteer committees produced concepts of a larger town square, improved streetscape and better access to Ford Field.

Time to prioritize

Johnson said budget constraints will help determine priorities.

City Finance Director Nickie Bateson said the Northville Downtown Development Authority is planning to borrow about $4 million to pay for downtown makeover efforts.

"We want to make sure we don't tie up all our money with the improvements," she said, citing

What's it look like?

The design concept renderings soon will be posted on the Northville Downtown Development Authority's site: www.downtown-northville.org.

promotion, recruitment and potential parking needs being identified concurrently. Preliminary cost estimates are expected to be part of Grissim Metz's presentation next month.

"It's going to come down to priorities because ultimately it's going to be a financial decision," Bateson said.

Johnson said design is one of four areas — along with marketing, business mix and parking — in which committee are working to address inadequacies documented in the city's downtown strategic plan.

Project priorities will emerge as part of a comprehensive downtown revitalization plan, he said.

"We're still a few months away from making any of those decisions," Johnson said. "At some point, the council has to decide,

"We like some of these conceptual designs. Let's take them to construction drawings."

'Time to think about it'

Monday's discussion revealed residents' wistful mix of wanting things to stay the same and wanting them to change.

Council member Jim Allen said Nancy Darga and Mike McClish made valid points about the importance of designers' deference to Northville's history.

While McClish asked if improvements should comply with the city's historic district commission standards, Darga suggested structural tributes to original local industries would cement the community's authentic appeal.

Beneath the surface of the presen-tation's aesthetic appeal was an underlying current of lasting impact: re-engineering Mary Alexander Court to allow two-way traffic, removing the gazebo, restructuring main intersections and burying utility lines near the Ford Field entrance.

Johnson said Tuesday he was still digesting the concepts outlined by the Grissim Metz team.

"You do need a little time to think about it," he said. "I just haven't come to any conclusions."

"Part of the implementation of any of the design ... you still have to have people sit down and see how it would be phased."

Allen said he was disappointed council members didn't discuss the concepts Monday.

"I do think we need to have a special meeting to talk about the concepts that were put forward and where we want to go from there," he said. "Where are our priorities and how much is it going to cost? Let's put it all out and talk about it."

Two-Way?

A YEAR LATER: Love it, hate it or ignore it?

And the passenger was laughing ... about 3 p.m. Saturday afternoon, a red Jeep traveling toward downtown on South Main Street

Seems Carpenter Street resident Greg Swanson's save-the-trees request paid off ... something When recreation folks

Tomorrow night ... First Fridays Art and Fashion Walk downtown. From 6-9 p.m. Check it out!

Speaking of good stuff downtown ... the Northville Chamber of Commerce once again has the one-size-fits-all gift of certificates. The recipient can use them like cash at about 65 downtown businesses ...

Unseasonably warm temperatures equal a great opportunity for disc golf. All ages took advantage of the long weekend to enjoy the Wayne County course set up along Hines Drive. Great way to be outside!

Nickie Bateson cracked up the 70 people at the city council meeting Monday. Her turn up to talk about the purchase of a software upgrade, she said, "I'm glad to see there's so much interest in the city's document imaging system." Of course, much of crowd wanted to hear about proposed downtown improvement projects...

And speaking of that ongoing effort to revitalize the downtown ... let's focus on what can happen, shall we? Bemoaning what the process could have been is a tired refrain. Does creating "true consensus" mean championing the folks who never bother to show up?

Something to think about ...

Back from their trip to China, board of education members Marilyn Price and Karen Paciorek have been sharing information they gleaned, including: students attend school from 7:30 a.m.-5 p.m. and average class sizes range from 40-50 students. Interesting ...

The Northville Public Schools Board of Education recently recognized the Northville High School girls' varsity tennis regional champions who also placed

Helping you figure out the college application process

By Julie Foucher and Ron Ketelhut
RECORD SPECIAL WRITERS

When beginning the college application process, many students feel lost and overwhelmed in a sea of deadlines, application forms and essay topics.

LaDreka Stubblefield, an admissions counselor at the University of Michigan, offers this advice: "I really stress that students visit the campus."

She strongly recommends students ask themselves, "Is this the place that I can call home?"

The college application process can be extremely intimidating, as it will determine how you will conquer the next phase of your life.

Planning ahead and taking the appropriate steps for applying to college will ensure a more successful search for a place you can call home for the next four years.

Explore your options

"It's really almost never too early (to start researching colleges)," said Michael Guy, admissions counselor at Central Michigan University.

He recommends students begin researching and exploring their options before junior year.

It is important to compare and contrast information from different types of colleges and to look at the academic programs, size, location, cost and activities offered at several colleges.

"If you're taking these steps early, senior year is less pressure-packed," Guy said.

He also emphasizes the importance of taking a self-inventory and knowing yourself in order to find a perfectly fitted college.

"Keep an open mind," he said, emphasizing the importance of attending a school that is right for you, which may not necessarily be the same school that is right for your friends.

Standardized tests

Students agree taking standardized tests can be extremely nerve-racking.

Although colleges do look at test scores, they are only one of the many aspects of a good college application.

Students at Northville High School say it is a good idea to sign up to take the ACT at least twice your junior year.

Stubblefield said usually scores plateau after the third time.

Students also recommend if you have any interest in out-of-state colleges, sign up to take the SAT as well.

Wonder what it takes to get into...

U of M:	3.72-4.0 GPA	27-31 ACT
MSU:	3.58 GPA	24 ACT
Central:	3.29 GPA	22 ACT
Western:	3.27 GPA	22 ACT
Purdue:	3.4 GPA	25 ACT
Miami:	3.6 GPA	27 ACT

*Numbers are averages
SOURCE: PrincetonReview.com

Some colleges also require that you take SAT II subject tests. Make sure you plan ahead and sign up early for these tests.

Write those essays

The essay portion of a college application is often the most stressful and feared part of the process.

Many students feel lost when they begin writing, as they do not know what college admissions counselors are looking for.

Some schools require essays, while others only ask for an optional personal statement.

Guy strongly recommends always including an essay even if it is not required because it will help to create a well-rounded application.

Stubblefield said essays add a voice to the application.

She said when she finishes reading an essay, she hopes for a more personal connection with the student and to know more about his or her life and experiences.

Students recommend composing essays the summer before senior year to help relieve a lot of stress before entering the final year of high school.

Apply early

When asked for her number one piece of advice for seniors applying to college, Stubblefield said "apply early."

Applying early is often the most beneficial step students can take to relieve stress and ensure a more positive application process senior year.

Students already through the process said writing essays and filling out applications the summer prior to senior year is the best advice, as the beginning of the school year brings many other activities and opportunities aside from college applications.

It's especially important to apply early to schools with rolling admissions policies, as they begin reading your application as soon as it is received in its completed form, and they will notify you with a decision as soon as it's made.

The later you apply, the lesser your chance of being accepted.

Other schools have deadlines before which you must submit your application.

Be sure to check these deadlines, as they can sneak up quickly with the fast pace of senior year.

So sit back, breathe deeply and strive to treat the college application process as an opportunity rather than a burden.

Remember: this is the exciting beginning of the next important chapter of your life.

By applying early, staying involved, being organized and keeping a positive mindset, you can confidently conquer the college application process in order

Not college-bound?

Attending college is not for everyone.

Although a large percentage of Northville High School graduates traditionally choose to further their education at a four-year college or university, other options are available:

- Two-year programs
- Vocational trade school
- Military programs
- Apprentice programs
- Job market

to successfully find a place that you can comfortably call home.

Julie Foucher and Ron Ketelhut are seniors at Northville High School.

How I picked my college

My name is Kylea Pohl, and I graduated from Northville High School with the Class of 2006.

I now attend Miami University in Ohio.

The entire college application process is stressful, disappointing and exciting all at the same time, but it is well worth it.

Every Northville High School senior hears about the application process over and over, but no one discusses choosing the college right for you, so I thought I would discuss how I chose Miami University over others.

After receiving my letters, my decision was quickly narrowed down to Miami and Michigan State.

Each college had pros and cons; however, I knew I belonged at Miami after visiting both schools.

Even though I knew Miami was the one, my parents were unprepared to pay out-of-state tuition or have me living four hours from home.

I had a breakdown because I really wanted to be there, and I worked extremely hard in high school in order to go someplace I truly desired.

After really discussing this with my parents and helping pay for some of the expenses, I enrolled at Miami University, Class of 2010.

My advice to all Northville High School seniors struggling with the decision on where to go to school is to truly yourself where you believe you truly fit because the last thing you want is to regret your decision.

If your parents disagree with your choice, find a way to make it happen because you're the one who lives everyday at that school.

I am so happy with where I ended up, and now my parents even agree with me that Miami was the perfect fit.

So Class of 2007 stay focused as possible, have an unforgettable year, and I wish you the best of luck with the future.

Kylea Pohl

Freshman

- Get involved. Join clubs or activities that really interest you
- Study hard. Freshman year is a big transition from middle school with many distractions.
- Don't forget to maintain good study habits, as this year will set the tone for the next three.

Sophomore

- Stay involved and keep your grades up.
- Take the PLAN test. This will help to prepare you for the ACT next year.
- Start researching. Surf some college Web sites to become familiar with what college is all about.

Junior

- Take some challenging courses — AP and Honors courses will look good on your transcript and help prepare you for college
- Make sure you take a college preparatory writing course (CPC or ILW) to prepare for writing your college essays
- Take on a leadership role. If you feel comfortable about the activities you're involved in, think about stepping into a leadership role
- Study really hard. Your junior year is your final chance to make an impression on those college admission counselors.
- Go on campus visits. Explore the community, take campus tours and talk to students and faculty.
- Take standardized tests. Take the PSAT in the fall. This test could qualify you for a National Merit Scholarship, and it will help prepare you for the SAT
- In the spring, ask one or two teachers who know you well if they will write your recommendation letter.

Summer

- Conduct more research and narrow your list down to a few colleges you will apply
- Check college Web sites so that you are aware of application release dates.
- Begin writing your essays. Most essays have similar themes, so all you have to do is tweak it for each college.
- Have your test scores sent to the colleges you plan to apply. (ACT, SAT, AP scores)

Senior

- Continue to take challenging courses. Colleges do look into account your senior year curriculum.
- Continue to display leadership in your activities
- Get your applications in early and don't worry about what will happen until you receive your letter in the mail.
- Have Fun. Above all, remember to have fun your senior year. This is your last year of high school, so use it to spend time with the people in your class.

Dog park, parking return to council agenda Monday

By Maureen Johnston
RECORD STAFF WRITER

Parking fines, dog park status and branding the downtown are on Monday night's menu.

The Northville City Council will revisit two historically contentious topics and delve into a third slide to the front burner last Monday night. The regular meeting is 7:30 p.m. Monday at city hall, 215 W. Main St.

During a special Nov. 27 meeting, council members heard repeated suggestions the city needs to coordinate a marketing effort with physical improvements the city's design consultant is recommending as part of a downtown revitalization effort.

Among the approximate 70 audience members, Orin Jewellers owner Orin Mazzoni stated the importance of a concerted effort to woo consumers and businesses.

"We need the streetscape and the marketing to work together."

Like Holland has tulips

Northville Downtown Development Authority Director Lori Ward said simultaneous design, marketing, business mix and parking movements are afoot in the community. The company that will help develop a brand image for Northville will be aware of the design initiatives, she said.

Local business representatives serving on a committee to follow up on marketing needs outlined in the city's recently completed downtown strategic plan selected from a field of 20 applicants a firm to develop a promotion plan. On Nov. 21, the development authority board unanimously concurred with their recommendation to hire New Moon Visions of Highland and kicked up the final decision to city leaders.

Council will have final say whether to retain New Moon for $40,000 to develop a marketing and promotion plan for downtown.

Fine hike proposed

Another recommendation from the development authority asks the council to implement stiffer parking fines for drivers who exceed posted three-hour limits in city-owned lots.

The goal of city's parking management program is to shift all-day employees, leaving the most-convenient spaces for downtown patrons. According to the current schedule, part-time police officers patrolling lots at Wing and Main streets and behind the Marquis Theatre issue a warning to first-time offenders.

Subsequent offenses cost motorists who stay parked past the time limit $5, then $10, with fines unpaid doubling after seven days. The board unanimously recommended a fine schedule — up to $75 for a sixth offense.

The vote followed Police Chief

Gary Goss' announcement the officers will revert back to chalk-marking tires to record parking duration, after a failed experiment with electronic hand-held devices. He said the vendor will refund the city's approximate $21,000 investment in the system.

Officers will carry a "hot sheet" of license plate numbers that have been issued warnings or tickets on a frequent basis, Goss said, keying them to the fine amount to write on the citation.

When council considered the accelerated fine schedule in February, the majority voted to cap the schedule at $10. Ten months later, development authority members agreed to take another run at it.

Dog Park status

The deluge of electronic correspondence hitting the mailboxes of the Northville Record and city officials shows feelings are still running strong regarding the Cady Street dog park.

The council is expected Monday night to decide whether to extend the term of the fenced area behind the Art House which allows registered dog owners to run their pets off-leash. At press time, officials said they had not yet settled on the administrative recommendation to the council.

"There are a few neighbors on Wing Court who are opposed to the dog park at that location," said Northville Parks and Recreation Director Traci Sincok. "On the other side of the coin, there are the dog park users who like to walk to the park and use the other amenities downtown."

Sincok said the recreation department has not measured use at the city park since opening a second off-leash facility in Northville Community Park at the end of August. Some dog owners use both parks; others specifically request the city site, she said.

Opened in May 2003, the Cady Street park currently has 167 registered users, including privileges for about 200 dogs when accounting for multi-pet households. The recreation department no longer is accepting new registrations for the city park.

The park is self-sustaining with fees paid by park users, Sincok said.

"The dilemma for council is how do they balance the concerns of the neighbors versus the request of the users," she said. "It's always been a temporary park."

Our fundamental purposes are to enhance the lives of our readers, nurture the home towns we serve and contribute to the business success of our customers.

City: Key assignment pending

During the special Northville City Council meeting Monday, several people spoke about the need for an effective campaign to market the downtown. Bingo. With a history of the merchant association, chamber of commerce and downtown development authority working toward the same goal — downtown vitality — but not always in concert, this is a great time to buy into a professional campaign all the players could rally around. All the planned physical improvements in the world won't recast Northville as a destination in the minds of consumers who are unaware our jewel exists. Response to promotional efforts are hard to quantify. But as the town stakeholders — for the first time represented by a common message collectively conceived — a marketing and promotion plan will be the hook to get us all pulling in the same direction. Council, get hiring.

Schools: Bring on the fun

It's the beginning of the holiday season for Northville Public Schools. Many wonderful school events will take place in December highlighting the special talents of Northville students. We encourage all area residents to take advantage of the many events like holiday choral concerts and the Mothers' Club All Aglow event celebrating and benefiting the district. For a full listing of events, see the Northville Record community calendar or visit the district Web site at www.northville.k12.mi.us.

If you need a hospital, give Providence a look

About five miles from our downtown Northville office is a hospital that many of you may or may not know about.

It's pretty hard to miss the huge construction project that is taking place on the southwest corner of Beck Road and Grand River Avenue, but when it's completed in July of 2008, the new Providence Hospital will be even better than it is now, and that's saying something.

I know, because I had surgery there two weeks ago. This was my fourth major surgery, the previous being at St. Lawrence in Lansing and University of Michigan Hospital, and Providence definitely gets my vote for the best yet (I'm hoping this was my last).

I arrived at 1:30 p.m. for rotator cuff surgery and was quickly brought into pre-surgery to verify some information, get a wristband and put on a gown. A nurse gave me a shot on top of my left hand to ease the pain of an intravenous tube, and the anesthesiologist gave me a "block" in my neck to numb my entire right arm.

I remember being wheeled down the hall on a stretcher, and then I woke up an hour or so later. No pain in the shoulder. Feeling from the anesthetic. And I was on my way home around 6 p.m.

We got to park (for free) very close to the entrance. There literally was no waiting once we arrived. The staff was extremely friendly, answering any questions I had and putting me at ease. And they followed up with phone calls the next day to make sure everything was satisfactory.

And my surgeon, Dr. Jeffrey Placzek, was pleasantly surprised to find out that my injury wasn't nearly as bad as we thought. Lots of scar tissue, frayed muscle and a bone spur (no muscle tear, which means no sling).

I can't say enough good things about Providence Hospital and the staff. There are bigger facilities with bigger names, but you'd be hard pressed to find any whose service is better.

Keeping Northville unique

Last night, a special City Council meeting was held to present the Downtown Development Authority Strategic Plan being designed by Grissim, Metz, Andriese Associates. The Council chambers were full with numerous individuals standing around the periphery in that it was open to the public. The crowd was not disappointed as the graphic presentation unfolded across a large screen. The presentation opened with the remarks that the design was based on preserving the unique qualities of Northville. The design included integration of Ford Field to the downtown area, the reopening of Mary Alexander to two way traffic with modification, to the present parking pattern and dumpster areas.

As the spectacular drawings and design scenarios unfolded, the audience began to diverge on what they thought the redesign of the town square should feel and look like. Some participants expressed concern about the replacement of the old lights with elevated sconces. Others were concerned about the replacement of the gazebo with a portable stage. A gentleman standing against the wall expressed his desire to see the design follow a marketing strategy for the city given that a retail complex bigger than all of downtown was being proposed at the old Northville Hospital site on Seven Mile Road. One older lady from the audience pointed out that she understood that the town center needed updating and that some of the features were dated, such as the band shell and street lights, but as hokey as some of these features may be, she loved them. She loved bringing her lawn chair to the square to hear concerts. She likes watching kids dance across the band shell when no one was around, pretending they were stars. She did not want to sacrifice a home spun feel to be slick. That remark was followed by a question by Tom Sweeney of the consultant on, "What uniqueness of Northville were they preserving and designing to?"

The question got lost in the following banter, and I would like to address it. I have been heading a committee to develop a historic walking tour of downtown and Northville, and driving tour of the surrounding Northville Township. The dedicated group of individuals, who have been searching and mapping these unique stories and places throughout Northville, have taught me that there is no other place like our city. It was forged by the vision of entrepreneurs who built mills, and bells, and developed fish farms, and elixir cures, and condensed milk. These independent doers helped escape slaves travel to freedom when the Fugitive Slave Act enacted harsh penalties. These people broke away from Plymouth Township making it the only township in the state to not be the required 36 square miles.

It is a city of independent spirit, not franchises. It is a place formed from cold water, steel, lumber and stone. It is a true American town that proudly flies stars and stripes. It is a town that the people want to cozy up to with flower beds, seating benches and town clocks, rather than be dazzled by bright lights and contemporary architecture. It is a town that people want to walk or bike through, not drive through. It wants to tell its unique story in the bricks, metal, and stone that we use to revitalize it. It never has been, nor does it want to be, like every body else.

Supporters of the Cady Street Dog Park

I am writing in support of keeping the Cady Street Dog Park open on a temporary basis for as long as we can — until the city has a more important permanent use for the property. It is presently scheduled to close on December 31, 2006.

I have been an active member of the Dog Park Users Group since shortly after its inception.

This is a wonderful facility for both the dogs, their owners, and the community. It brings Northville neighbors together to the downtown area, which is good for business as we stop to rest with an ice cream cone from Rebecca's, a slice of bread from Great Harvest, a gelato from the American Spoon, to mention a few. As we rest on the benches in town, most people stop and talk with our dogs, and we proudly tell them about the Downtown Northville Dog Park and they are very impressed. Families have driven past the park, backed up and stopped to see the park and show the dogs to their children.

We are proud to have this Dog Park in the downtown area. It is kept clean by the members, it costs the city nothing to maintain because we, the members, cover all maintenance costs. We are self policing and do not let dogs that are not "members" into the park. When prospective members have stopped at the fence to ask about membership, we tell them how important this park is to the city as well as the two and four-legged members, and how great it is to live in Northville.

This park is very safe for our members. It is in walking distance for everyone in the City, and older members do not have to drive to take their dogs to the park. Water is available, and on three sides we do not conflict with anyone.

I believe that since the opening of the Community Park Dog Park, in the township, many of the larger dogs now go there because there is more space for them to run and play, and barking not the problem as it is for the neighbors on Wing Court. I also realize that it is not only the larger dogs that bark. Little ones bark also, but they do not bark in the night and noisy play that larger dogs enjoy. We have tried valiantly to keep the barking to a MINIMUM as a courtesy to these neighbors and I do understand that "continually" listening to barking dogs is a major nuisance. I would like to point out that there are other dogs in the neighborhood not associated with the dog park that bark that we may be getting "blame" for.

I believe that with the lessening of the number of dogs using the Cady Street Dog Park, and with our continued diligence in keeping the barking to a minimum, the Dog Park members and Cady Street residents can co-exist.

We hope that City Council will vote to continue the Cady Street Dog Park at the December 4 meeting, and we appreciate the support of our community.

Northville is a wonderful community of fine, involved, intelligent, responsible citizens. Many of Northville's families have one or more dogs, and it is good for the dogs and good for the owners to have a place where nice dogs can run free and play together. The off-leash playing is a great stress reliever for both owners and pets. We really need more dog parks for this activity. Such parks also teach responsible dog ownership by requiring owners to pick up and dispose of pet waste. Please don't eliminate the only dog park we have. We are already miles behind many other communities which have multiple parks, and dog washes, too!

Carol Geake
DVM

City Council members, I am contacting you to request that you approve an extension of the Cady Street Dog Park until such time as you have determined that there is another need for it such as the possible enlargement of the Post Office that has been proposed.

The site is located in that it is so centrally located that it can be easily walked to by city residents, it can also be used by those who come into town to shop, use the library, Post Office, or go to City Hall. Additionally there are those who have physical issues that make it difficult to appropriately use the larger park-some just can't walk that far. Some have found that the smaller site provides a greater intimacy and better opportunity to interact with other owners.

I am aware that there are some concerns from neighbors about the noise from the park, those who use the park generally try to be "good neighbors" by keeping the dogs from barking, this has also been stressed in the required training sessions for users. It is probably quieter than it would be if the site was utilized for band concerts, parking lot etc.

Dear Northville City Council Member: This letter is to notify the Northville City Council of our desire to keep the "Cady Street Dog Park" access available for the use of our community Dog Park Members. It is a well-located gathering area for "man's best-friends" and also our community dog owners. It is an asset to our town.

We support keeping the "Cady Street Dog Park" open.

An open letter to our governor

Dear Gov. Granholm: Congratulations on your reelection.

You rolled up a remarkable winning margin — 533,409 votes — against a fantastically well-funded opponent. That establishes you as the most gifted political communicator in recent Michigan history.

With the House of Representatives now Democratic (led by Speaker-designate Rep. Andy Dillon, D-Redford, a smart and sensible guy) you are much better positioned with the legislature than you were during your last term when the Republicans ran things. Back then, they were darned if they were going to let you get anything done for fear you'd take credit for it during the campaign. This time around, I'd guess both the House and the Senate will be less partisan and more inclined to collaborate.

They'll need to. Michigan is facing its worst economic crisis since the Great Depression. The University of Michigan's economic forecasters have just issued a very gloomy prediction. They think our state will likely lose another 24,200 jobs next year and 9,200 more in 2008. That will mean eight straight years of job losses.

Phil Power

By the end of this year, according to those highly respected economists, Michigan will have lost a net total of 170,000 manufacturing jobs since 2001. True, we've seen worse.

The state lost nearly 15 percent of our jobs back in the early 1980's, double today's loss, but then the employment outlook improved sharply as the auto industry surged. It won't this time around. General Motors, Ford and Chrysler should sell around 8.8 million vehicles this year, two million fewer than in 2001.

All this brings me to the decisions you face in your political and legislative agenda for the next four years.

You have two basic choices. You can be bold, setting out a far-reaching agenda for restructuring our economy and laying the foundation for our future prosperity in a rapidly globalizing world.

Or you can be cautious and non-confrontational, limiting your reforms to baby steps. Given that big-time but highly necessary changes are easier to make at times of crisis, I urge you to be bold.

Here's how I see some of the main issues.

Taxes: Sure, the $1.9 billion hole in the General Fund created by the repeal of the Single Business Tax will have to be filled.

But you have a terrific opportunity to go further and force a hard look at structure of our entire tax system. Should the rate of the sales tax be reduced and the base broadened to include services?

Should the personal property tax which hurts capital-intensive industries like manufacturing be reduced? Should the income tax be made progressive so richer people pay more?

These things need to be looked at — hard.

Education: The Cherry Commission you appointed several years ago recommended we double the percentage of our high school leavers who go to college, but nobody discussed how to pay for it. You've said you want to increase the merit college scholarship plan to $4,000, and you can probably get that through the legislature.

But why not go a bold step further? The "Kalamazoo Promise" pays full tuition to all graduates of the Kalamazoo public schools.

Why not look to see if there is a way that could be scaled up to create the Michigan Promise? A GI Bill for all Michigan citizens, whether kids leaving school or laid-off workers looking for serious retraining, would have a profound impact on our economy.

A profound impact, that is, for decades to come.

Budget and spending: Tom Clay, the respected director of state affairs for the Citizens Research Council of Michigan, has just finished a new study of our budget situation. He points out that Michigan has faced a chronic structural billion-dollar-plus budget deficit for the past six years. Now, all the relatively painless one-time accounting fixes to balance the budget have been used up.

So he concludes that — unless serious changes are made — the budget deficit will certainly balloon over the next decade, causing a "fiscal train wreck." Sure, you can probably cobble together a budget fix for the next fiscal year. But wouldn't it make more sense to take a hard multi-year look at our financial affairs?

One small example, compared to our neighboring states, we imprison more people for longer periods of time. If our incarceration rate were only average, we'd spend $500 million less each year on prisons. Could adjusting sentencing guidelines fix this?

Public investments: Businesses in trouble take a hard-eyed look at investments to beat the competition. We should do so, too.

We ought to concentrate on our "enduring assets," those that can't be moved, those that help us compete worldwide. Instead of cutting back state support for universities (especially research-oriented ones), we should be investing in them.

Instead of paying lip service to the environment, we ought to invest in our "North Coast" resources such as the Great Lakes. We shouldn't do this to please the "tree huggers." We should and must do it because the lakes and a healthy environment represent the future of economic development in our region.

William Shakespeare had it right in Julius Caesar:

There is a tide in the affairs of men,

Which, taken at the flood,

Leads on to fortune;

Omitted, all the voyage of their life

Is bound in shallows and in miseries.

What you achieved in the election is very, very rare: A mandate. Use it boldly, and you'll go down as a great governor.

Waste it in timidity and caution, you'll be remembered, if at all, as not much more than average.

With every good wish,

Phil Power

Directed by Dr. Darlene Kuperus, the Northville Concert Chorale returns to perform Handel's "Messiah" during First Presbyterian Church's annual Christmas concert at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Handel's "Messiah" centerpiece of annual concert this Sunday

By Maureen Johnston

RECORD STAFF WRITER

People have told Darlene Kuperus they can feel the "Amen" chorus.

Ten-year director of First Presbyterian
Church's music program, Kuperus said the climax of Handel's world-renowned oratorio "Messiah" swells the sanctuary with music and song, moving the audience with sound and emotion.

As part of the church's annual fine art concert series, members of the Northville Concert
Chorale will perform the traditional Christmas concert at 7 p.m. Sunday. Kuperus said tickets are still available.

"There's a huge Amen chorus that's just an incredible closing to the piece," said Kuperus, who conducts the candlelight concert. "People who come to the concert said they can feel the music."

"There's something wonderful about it being in an intimate setting and in a church."

Holiday tradition

Kuperus said all ages are invited to join the inspiring musical as a welcome to the holiday season.

The 90-minute event, with one intermission, will be held in First Presbyterian's 300-seat sanctuary, maintaining a 50-year Christmas tradition at the historic downtown church.

"One of the comments I hear from visitors is they feel it's more intimate," Kuperus said.
"You're in a room where you can feel connected to the performers."

"You're close enough to see their facial expressions and feel the music from all the musicians."

Singers, from Northville, Novi, Plymouth,

Livonia, Brighton, South Lyon, Howell, Troy and

Pontiac auditioned to join the choir, Kuperus said.

Beloved choruses such as "Hallelujah," "For Unto Us a Child Born" and "Worthy is the Lamb"

are among the selections scheduled.

Handel's signature

The "Messiah" composition, based on the life of Jesus Christ, is George Friderick Handel's best-known work, Kuperus said. It was first performed in Dublin in 1742.

The text of "Messiah," drawn from the Bible, tells the story of Jesus Christ — the prophecies
from the Old Testament, his birth, suffering death and resurrection.

The compositions first were performed in this country in the 1880s, Kuperus said. Northville's 175-year-old First Presbyterian Church picked up the tradition.

The conductor said part of the aura of Sunday's performance will come from the church pipe organ, professional orchestra members from Ann Arbor, four professional soloists and a harpsichord, a Baroque-period instrument from Handel's composition era.

SPOTLIGHT ON: ALLERGY & ASTHMA

Presented by Michael S. Rowe, M.D., F.A.C.P., C.C.R.I.

ALLERGY SHOTS

If you have ever heard of someone receiving allergy shots, you may have wondered if it's an option for you or a family member with allergies. An allergy shot contains small amounts of an allergen, and the exposure helps the body create antibodies. Doctors use shots most commonly in people with pollen, mold, animal dander, dust and bee sting allergies. The shots can also help some people with asthma improve their symptoms. People with severe asthma and children younger than age five, should cautiously approach allergy shots. Also, pregnant women should not start allergy shots, although if they have been doing them for a while, their doctor can discuss continuing the injections with safety during pregnancy.

Vision Computer Solutions Brings Friendly, Expert Advice to your Home

Today's home and corporate computing environments have a myriad of pitfalls and frustrating scenarios. With the threat of viruses, spyware, and vulnerability of sensitive data, computer problems have reached a level of frustration for many that exceeds the computer's value.

Foreseeing the many threats that prevail in today's environment, Vision Computer Solutions was founded, focusing on serving the customers' frustration first, and worrying about the technology second. The technicians at Vision Computer Solutions of Northville can address viruses and other reactive items, or can address both home and business issues in a proactive light before problems arise.

"It can be so frustrating when your computer isn't working," said Dave Marino, who owns the company with Lou Agoston. "You don't want to wait, and you don't feel like unplugging the whole system and taking it in."

RESIDENTIAL SERVICES

After long discussions with many of its customers, Vision recently made the decision to alter the format of its Residential Services from a traditional "Repair Shop" model to a system designed to alleviate many common customer pain points by sending the technician to the home. Technicians arrive promptly when they are scheduled, equipped with all parts and new components necessary to finish the work at the home, doing their best to eliminate the need to remove the computer from the house or schedule return visits.

"We know from follow up calls that there are two items that customers really value the most from this service," said Marino. "First, we arrive when we schedule appointments, rather than a block of hours where we may arrive within, and secondly, in most cases, we can take care of the customer's issue right in the home on that visit."

An additional benefit of this approach is the customer's ability to work side by side with the technician, ensuring all problems are addressed and all questions are answered. While working with a Vision Technician, the customer has an opportunity to outline preferences and help the technician select items for backup so that valuable data like pictures and music can be saved without loss.

"Usually when your computer gets fixed the goal is to make it like new," said Marino. "But people don't want it like new, they need it as good as or better than it was it was before, with all of their data and preferences restored."

And with a flat service call rate of $45 for residences to get a technician to the home, the services are affordable.

Upon the arrival of the Vision Technician for the service call charge, the technician will examine all of the equipment in the environment and present a list of a la carte, flat-rated prices to address any issues that are uncovered. Customers are then free to select any number of the suggestions, each of which the technician is typically able to take care of right at the time of approval. The service call fee is applied to the first approved suggestion.

"And, if for some reason the customer elects not to take advantage of any of our offers, well, at least we've been able to help the customer get some answers about a difficult computer, and we've done it for an affordable price," said service manager Kevin Mooney.

Vision's Residential Service Department understands some of the challenges families deal with in today's computing environment. Having presented at Northville High School in last spring's Internet Safety Night, technicians can help parents with decisions such as internet monitoring, increasing PC security, virus and spyware detection, and secure configuration of home networks. As a Microsoft Certified Partner, they can also advise on future purchases with confidence. Knowing the many challenges that parents face, technicians are trained to take extra time to discuss each item suggested thoroughly, making sure that parents understand the reasons behind the suggestions and do not feel as if they are being belittled due to a lack of technical knowledge.

"We don't hire geeks," said Kevin, "we make sure that our technicians are not only proficient, but they're able to communicate to people of a wide variety of technical skill. I'm proud that we have such high standards for our employees. We just won't settle for the stereotypical 'computer guy'."

CORPORATE SERVICES

After 11 years in business, Vision Computer Solutions has also developed a solid reputation as a service provider for business technology. Vision's "Total Lifetime Care (TLC)" program offers businesses of all sizes access to a reliable IT Manager without hiring a full-time employee. A technician will work on site anywhere in the Metro-Detroit area for a period of several hours to several days per week, and provide phone support.

"We often pay for ourselves in the money we save by helping with things like billing, Web site, phones, accounting and technology policies," said Marino.

Vision Computer Solutions is located at 511 North Center Street in downtown Northville. Technicians will come to your home or office. Just call (248) 349-6115 or go to www.vcsolutions.com.

FRIDAY NIGHT HIGHLIGHTERS

Williams, Chew and Hasse named to First Team

By Jeff Theisen
RECORD SPORTS WRITER

Northville continues to try and build a winning football team, and many lessons can be taken from the Mustang's three first team All-Area players: Dittrick Williams, Greg Hasse and Aaron Chew.

"Those three guys right there kind of epitomize what playing football is all about," said Ryan Hockman, Northville head football coach. "They didn't miss snaps. All of them played with pain. All of them fought through tough times."

"They're just good football players, and that's something that we're building our football program around."

The All-Area list is comprised of the best athletes from Milford, Lakeland, South Lyon, Novi, Northville and Detroit Catholic Central and is voted upon by the sports staffs of the Milford Times, the South Lyon Herald, the Novi News and the Northville Record.

Williams ran into second place in Northville history in four categories — carries in a season (216), yards in a season (1,313), 100-yard games in a career (12) and 100-yard games in a season (8). He also moves into fourth place all-time with 1,956 yards rushing for a career.

"We started every day and every gameplan with what we were going to do in the running game and then everything built off of that," Hockman said. "He led the Western Lakes Conference in rushing. He was obviously one of

His approach to the game hasn't changed all that much since seventh grade, when he started playing with the Milford Mustangs.

"I've always gone into it like it's just another game," Milford senior linebacker and co-captain Mike Petrucci said.

Except that the games — and the players — got bigger and bigger over the years between seventh grade and 12th grade. But so did Petrucci's talents and, ultimately, his accomplishments.

Those talents and accomplishments culminated during his just-concluded senior season and helped Petrucci earn the 2006 All-Area Dream Team Player of the Year award.

From a coach's perspective, Petrucci was indispensable on both sides of the ball. He terror-

Former 'Stang Higgins imitates role of 'Rudy'

By Pat Dooley
GANNETT NEWS SERVICE

It wasn't quite Rudy, but it was close. There probably won't be any movie rights but it was no less inspirational.

Tim Higgins sat in the meeting room where he spent so many hours knowing he wasn't going to play, answering questions Saturday about playing. On Senior Day, nobody expected to be talking to this senior.

"I don't deserve a chance to be a Florida Gator," he said. "I don't deserve to get on the field to play. I definitely don't deserve to get the ball in my hands."

"This is a dream come true," Urban Meyer would disagree that Higgins, a receiver from Northville, Mich., didn't deserve what he received on a beautiful Saturday afternoon in The Swamp. He has seen the 5-foot-7, 162-pounder take hit after hit, doing whatever was necessary without the carrot dangling at the end of a stick.

Meyer put Higgins on scholarship this year because he was so impressed with the effort, the drive, the desire to help others get better.

"I saw a little guy who did everything we asked him to do," Meyer said. "If you said, 'Tim, get over here and run into two guys and get your helmet knocked off,' he'd do it and do it again."

"He's a classy guy who is going to graduate. Watch what Tim Higgins is going to do the next 20 years."

Unlike Rudy Ruettiger at Notre Dame, Higgins had no trouble getting into school at Florida. He was a National Merit Scholar. He chose Florida because his father Kevin, now the head coach at The Citadel, had a friend on the UF staff when Higgins was young and he grew up a Gator fan.

But like Rudy, he had some help getting on the field. A letter appeared on Meyer's desk earlier this week asking him to play Higgins. Members of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes made signs — "We (heart) Higgins" — and passed out pamphlets encouraging Meyer to put Higgins in the game. They chanted his name late in Florida's blowout win.

"People were screaming, 'Give me Higgins!'" Meyer said. "So I gave them Higgins."

When No. 37 ran onto the field, it was deja vu for anyone who has seen "Rudy" multiple times. Same strange sight of a little guy among the giants, same loud cheer from those who had been yelling for him, even the same choppy steps and the reach for his chin strap to buckle it up.

He should have the mannerisms down. He watched the movie this week "three or four times."

The story gets better. Higgins is a wide receiver, but Meyer wanted to be sure he got the ball so he told him to get with quarterback Tim Tebow because Higgins would be going in at running back.

Tebow, the quarterback who outweighs his new tailback by almost 60 pounds, showed Higgins the steps required to run the play that would be called.

"He had to line me up because I didn't know where I was going," Higgins said. "I've never taken a handoff at any level."

If they ever make a movie, the actor playing Higgins will probably break tackles on his way to a big gain, maybe even a touchdown. Higgins was even a touchdown.

Diggins matter.

"All the shots I've taken on scout team, all of the times getting a ball over the middle and getting blown up, all the sweating and bleeding, wondering if it would ever pay off," he said. "There were times when I was frustrated, but I was lucky enough to be brought up in a family where you don't quit."

"I always believed God had a plan for me, but sometimes I wondered why I was here."

He's here to get an education, a history major who plans to teach and coach. And he was here for Saturday.

Until that one carry, Higgins was best known to teammates for being in the National Spelling Bee twice where his best finish was a tie for 22nd. But that didn't compare with what happened on Senior Day.

"I thought coming out of the tunnel was exhilarating," he said. "What a rush to have this be the culmination of everything."

Tim Higgins will never forget his last game in The Swamp. But it's not the end. It's just the beginning.

the best players in the Metro area. "He's what we want our program to look like physically. Just the football-mentality that he brought to our football team made a big difference and hopefully it will make a big difference for our team."

Chew came on toward the later part of the year as a top-notch receiver. He finished with a team-high 328 yards and five touchdowns on just 17 catches for an average of 19.3 yards a catch.

"I think he surprised himself," Hockman said. "When he made the big play against Walled Lake Western, he thought, 'Hey, I can do this.' Then he made another big play in that game. Then followed that up with some big plays as the year went on."

"He really became our most productive wide receiver."

Hasse simply tackled anything that got near him. He finished with 111 tackles, good for fifth all-time for a tackle in a season for the Mustangs.

"He's a big, strong, physical tough guy that's going to make plays inside the tackle box. He's smart. He's just a solid football player," Hockman said. "When the honors came out in the league, he got no recognition, which that's the way it goes when you're struggling in certain areas ... and record-wise."

The Rest of the Best

The three Mustangs join a first-team All-Area that starts with MVP Mike Petrucci from Milford.

Petrucci's teammates Jordan Fox, Cory Williamson and Joel Foreman join him on the offensive first team.

Also on the offensive first team are Cody Leavenworth from Lakeland, South Lyon's Ian McGee, M. Ryan Rockswold, Ryan Gotha, Chris Groth and Ryan Moulding along with Novi's Brandon Carnegie.

The All-Area defensive team is made up by Kyle Frankovich and Jordan Kidd of Milford, Danny Taylor and Chase Lundin of Lakeland, South Lyon's Miska Lampe, Mark Brostman, Chad Wright, James Hornbrook and Nate Sarkissian, Novi's Mike Kolis and Mike Martin and Jeremy Bednarz-Gray from Catholic Central.

Holding down the special teams spots are Pat Sijan from Novi, Paul Consiglio of Milford, Kyle McNulty of Lakeland and South Lyon's Tyler Hockey.

Mustang girls reload

The Northville Mustangs are in what can truly be called a rebuilding year, having graduated 12 players this past year from the girls hockey squad.

"We haven't seen this many new faces on a varsity team here in Northville since our inaugural year, back in the fall of 2002," said Mustangs head coach Bill Holden.

The second hurdle the Mustangs will face will be one of the toughest schedules in the league. Once again, like last year, they will be in the "leagues" top tier, facing perennial power and defending state champs Grosse Pointe South twice, along with Grosse Pointe North, Cranbrook and Ladywood.

The offense will be led by junior and third-year starter Krysten Ruzyllo and second-year varsity forwards Carrie Pichan, Eve Avdoulous, Danielle Hirka and Lisa Fishbeck, each of whom had plenty of ice time last year and should be up to the task.

The key to the offense will be the first-year varsity forwards Hannah Deacon, Michelle Oldham, Alex Davis, Natasha Nemcheck, Beth Nichols and Abby Riechard; all have come up through the JV program.

These are the players that will have to "step up" if the Mustangs are going to make a run at the title, said Holden. He's an advocate of running three lines and knows that this is the team's best strategy for the offense to score goals.

The Mustangs will carry only 10 forwards this year, and knowing the Mustang system, they can count on seeing plenty of ice time this year.

The Mustangs' strength over the past four years has been their defense, every year having All-State and All-League player honors bestowed on defensemen. This year's defense will be led by (last year's standout, Erin Hietala (sophomore), who Holden refers to as the best all-around defenseman in the league. Erin will have plenty of help this year with returning defensemen junior Alex Kaszuba and sophomore Melissa Kosztowny, who have both been outstanding for the Mustangs during the preseason. The big surprise has been the addition of freshman Leanne Ellison, who has been outstanding, both offensively and defensively.

The test for the Mustangs will be their goaltending, which looks to be split between juniors Jordyn Bell and Megan Brennan. Both goalies are entering their second full seasons between the pipes. If the Mustangs are to have success, it will be as a result of two very good goalies who may be lacking in experience but will make up for it in their athleticism and determination.

"The way the high school season is set up, every year is working to get ready for the playoffs in March. When you look at the pros and cons of tier one, the higher division is where we want to participate," said Holden.

If there was ever a team that could emulate the saying, "We don't rebuild. We reload," the 2006-07 Mustangs are that team.

PETRUCCI: Milford two-way player wins MVP both sides of the ball. He terrorized the offenses of opposing teams with his airtight defense at linebacker but was also a major scoring force for the Mavericks in the slot receiver position.

"He's a great athlete, a great competitor and a great leader," Milford head coach Pat Fox summed up simply.

On defense, Petrucci finished the season with 70 tackles and eight quarterback sacks. And on offense, he scored 13 touchdowns on the season and rushed for more than 1,400 yards. He'll be playing for Central Michigan University starting in 2007.

Petrucci seems to hate discussing his individual accomplishments, though. He pointed out that Milford's success this season — which included a share of the Kensington Valley Conference title as well as a district title — was the result of the efforts of everyone wearing red and white and not just a few superstars.

"We had great team chemistry," Petrucci said. "Everybody worked really hard, and everybody wanted to win. We wanted to win a KVC championship, and we did it. It's a great memory."

Vinegar is the Secret to Zing

Brilliance IN A BOTTLE

FAMILY FEATURES

Savvy cooks today know a culinary secret that's been around for centuries. This solution to balancing flavors and adding a creative flair awaits in your pantry.

Vinegar is a must-have ingredient to create intriguing and contemporary flavors in salad dressings, sauces, marinades and more. If a dish lacks pizzazz, a dash or two of one of the endless varieties of vinegar brings it to life or balances out flavors.

The extended vinegar family includes such favorites as apple cider vinegar, balsamic vinegar, rice vinegar, wine vinegar and white distilled vinegar to name a few. Each variety offers its own distinct flavor and appeal. Numerous vinegar infusions can also be created with fresh herbs or fruit for countless flavor possibilities.

Whether you are preparing a four-course meal or more casual fare, vinegar is certain to add a special zing to your menu. Put more pep in your cooking by checking out the ideas at www.versatilevinegar.org.

Spinach and Baby Beet Salad With Balsamic Vinegar and Plum Vinaigrette, Hazelnuts, and Goat Cheese

Serves 4

- 1 bunch baby beets
- 2 teaspoons white vinegar
- 1 pound baby spinach
- 1 small red onion, peeled, sliced and caramelized
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh mint
- 3 ounces goat cheese, crumbled
- 1/2 cup toasted hazelnuts

Vinaigrette:

- 1/2 cup extra virgin olive oil
- 1/4 cup balsamic vinegar
- 4 to 5 dried plums, snipped
- 1 teaspoon coarse Dijon mustard
- Freshly ground pepper to taste

Combine all vinaigrette ingredients with whisk; set aside.

Rinse and scrub baby beets. Trim each end; place in small saucepan with water to cover. Add white vinegar. Bring to boil over high heat. Reduce to simmer and cook until tender, about 25 to 30 minutes. Drain and cool.

Place spinach in large bowl with onions and mint. Cut beets into quarters and add to salad. Top with goat cheese and hazelnuts. Drizzle salad with desired amount of vinaigrette; toss and serve immediately.

Warm Pasta Salad With Roasted Vegetables and Red Wine Vinegar-Garlic Dressing

Serves 4

White wine vinegar may be substituted for red wine vinegar. Replace oregano with 3 to 4 leaves of fresh basil, sliced. This recipe can also be served cold.

- 3 large carrots, peeled, halved and quartered
- 1 sweet onion, cut into wedges
- 3 zucchini, halved and quartered
- 1 red pepper, seeded and cut into chunks
- 8 ounces mushrooms, quartered
- 2 teaspoons olive oil
- Freshly ground black pepper
- 8 ounces fettuccine pasta
- 3 tablespoons shredded Parmesan cheese
- 2 teaspoons chopped fresh oregano

Dressing:

- 1/3 cup extra virgin olive oil
- 2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
- 2 teaspoons Dijon mustard
- 3 teaspoons honey
- 1 head garlic, roasted and cloves mashed
- Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste

Combine dressing ingredients in bowl with wire whisk. Set aside.

Preheat oven to 400°F. Gently toss vegetables, olive oil and black pepper in large bowl. Spread vegetables in single layer on large baking sheet. Roast vegetables 20 to 30 minutes until beginning to brown, turning once.

While vegetables are roasting, cook pasta in large pot of lightly salted water. Drain pasta and transfer to serving bowl; keep warm. Add roasted vegetables to pasta and toss with dressing. Top with Parmesan cheese and oregano. Serve immediately.

Roasted Pork Tenderloin With Cider Vinegar-Peach Marinade

Serves 6

The pork in this recipe is excellent for sandwiches. To use exclusively as a sandwich variation, omit potatoes from the recipe. Let pork cool completely before slicing. Add 1/3 cup mayonnaise to cooled Cider Vinegar-Peach Marinade and use as a sandwich sauce.

- 2 pork tenderloins (about 15 ounces each)
- 10 to 12 small redskin potatoes, quartered
- 2 sweet onions (such as Vidalia), cut into wedges
- 1 teaspoon olive oil
- Salt and freshly ground pepper

Marinade:

- 1/2 cup peach jam
- 3 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 1 tablespoon tomato paste
- 1 teaspoon brown sugar
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 2 teaspoons minced fresh thyme

Whisk marinade ingredients (except salt and pepper) in bowl to combine. Place pork tenderloins in glass baking dish, pour marinade over top, cover and refrigerate 4 to 6 hours.

Preheat oven to 400°F. In large bowl, combine potatoes, onions and olive oil.

Remove tenderloin from marinade (reserve marinade) and place on large baking sheet. Surround pork with potatoes and onions, season with salt and pepper. Roast, uncovered, 20 to 30 minutes until thermometer registers 145°F.

Meanwhile, simmer reserved marinade in small saucepan 10 minutes. Remove pork from oven; let rest 10 minutes before slicing. Serve with reserved marinade.

Salt and Vinegar Shrimp on Stir-Fried Napa Cabbage

Serves 4 as an appetizer

- 1 teaspoon coarse salt
- 1 teaspoon cracked black pepper
- 2 teaspoons olive oil
- 2 cloves garlic, peeled and chopped
- 1 pound large shrimp, peeled (tails left on) and deveined
- 2 teaspoons rice vinegar

Combine salt and pepper in small bowl. Set aside.

Heat oil in large skillet over medium-high heat. Add garlic and sauté 1 minute. Add shrimp to hot pan in single layer (2 batches may be required). Add 1/2 salt mixture to each batch. Sauté shrimp 2 minutes per side; do not overcook. Transfer shrimp to platter. Sprinkle shrimp with rice vinegar. Serve immediately on bed of Stir-Fried Napa Cabbage.

Stir-Fried Napa Cabbage

- 2 teaspoons soy sauce
- Juice of 1/2 lime
- 1 teaspoon grated fresh ginger
- 2 teaspoons sesame oil
- 1 teaspoon olive oil
- 3 cups thinly sliced napa cabbage
- 1 cup bean sprouts
- 1/2 jalapeño pepper, seeded and thinly sliced
- 1 small red bell pepper, thinly sliced
- 1 bunch green onions, chopped
- 2 teaspoons toasted sesame seeds

In small bowl combine soy sauce, lime juice, ginger and sesame oil. Set aside.

In large skillet or wok, heat olive oil over high heat. Add napa cabbage, bean sprouts, jalapeño pepper, red pepper and green onions. Stir-fry quickly, about 2 minutes. Transfer vegetables to serving platter, top with sesame seeds. Salt and Vinegar Shrimp and serve.

Home Owners

Do You Know...

What is Sick House Syndrome?

Sick House Syndrome is a consequence of poor indoor air quality. This can cause or aggravate allergies, asthma, chemical sensitivity, migraines, cancer and emphysema. These conditions can affect many people differently.

Indoor air contains particles, fibers, spores, and gases, of which many are substances of concern. They may be categorized as irritants, allergens, sensitizers, estrogenic substances or toxins.

Particles:

Of concern include lime and silica dust from concrete, older homes which may have lead paint, pet dander, carbon from burning fuels & candles, and body parts from mites and mold.

Fibers:

Of concern include asbestos, fiberglass, animal hair, and carpet/textile fibers.

Gases:

Of concern include volatile and semi-volatile organic compounds and solvents, carbon monoxide, Radon and moisture.

Randall Patterson

These may be emitted from buildings, furnishing, or cleaning materials — or tracked in on shoes, clothes, pets, air leaks in the home or grow in the form of mildew/mold, or mites in the house.

To improve Indoor Air Quality it is best to perform an audit to locate typical sources, perform tests as necessary, and to ensure the heating, cooling and ventilation equipment is cleaned and in efficient operation. Each substance has a recommended EPA method for remediation (clean up) and some like lead, asbestos, radon, and mold should be assessed by trained and licensed professionals. Always take caution on do-it-yourself renovations and clean up projects in order to avoid serious health effects.

General Ways To Improve Indoor Air Quality Include:

- Install & maintain clean filters in furnace
- Clean Air Ducts on regular basis (Every 3-5 years as required)
- Use bath & kitchen exhaust fans for proper moisture removal from home
- Ensure downspouts and landscape drainage is away from foundation (basement)
- Use mite proof mattress and pillow covers
- If you have allergies use non-allergenic blankets, etc.
- Avoid using pesticides and synthetic fertilizers for house plants
- Use mats at doors to wipe shoes prior to entering home
- Air out dry cleaning prior to bringing indoors (Hang in garage for 1-2 days)
- Remove paints, solvents, pesticides from inside storage in home
- Use solvent-free, low toxicity, and hypoallergenic products
- Consider carbon filters on shower to reduce chlorine exposure
- Consider using a HEPA vacuum cleaner
- Do not smoke in the home

ADDITIONAL CONSIDERATION AND ACTION TO TAKE: MINIMIZE MOLD GROWTH TO IMPROVE INDOOR AIR QUALITY.

Once a mold problem has been detected, the two main courses of action are to eliminate the source or conditions that allow the mold to grow. Second you should remove (mitigate) any mold that has grown. A number of allergenic molds can be removed by utilizing an anti-fungal solution or chlorine on hard surfaces and by removing, and replacing, the insulation of drywall, if it has been contaminated. If the property is contaminated with a toxic mold it is necessary to remove all porous materials such as drywall, insulation, some types of sheathing, carpeting, etc. Depending on the amount of penetration and contamination to the structural system it may be necessary to also remove and replace the framing (Rebuild as required depends on amount of damage).

- Additional steps to help include:
- DRAIN AND VENTILATE AREAS UNDER & AROUND THE HOUSE, ESPECIALLY CRAWLSPACES
 - DECREASE MOISTURE AND KEEP HUMIDITY LEVELS LOWER THAN 40%
 - REMOVE OR REPLACE PREVIOUSLY SOAKED CARPETS AND FURNITURE
 - REPAIR ALL WATER DAMAGED AREAS (drywall, curtains, furniture, etc)
 - USE DEHUMIDIFIER DURING HUMID MONTHS
 - SEAL LEAKY A/C DUCTS, ESPECIALLY THOSE IN CRAWLSPACES & HOT ATTICS
 - DO NOT CARPET BATHROOMS OR BASEMENTS (Avoid continued sources of dampness)
 - ADD MOLD INHIBITORS TO PAINT BEFORE APPLICATION
 - TEST HOME FOR ELEVATED LEVELS OF RADON & CARBON MONOXIDE

Make it memorable

Custom jewelry from Rottermond makes the holiday special

By Kate Phillips
SPECIAL WRITER

Rottermond Jewelers in Milford and Brighton has long been known for beautiful custom jewelry.

Even as Dean Rottermond was first opening a small jewelry store in Milford 22 years ago, Rottermond's was already creating amazing custom pieces that are still worn lovingly, so many years later. Now Rottermond's wins accolades — bringing home three top honor state awards — for original designs.

"We built our business on our custom designs," said Dean Rottermond. "Our custom jewelry brings together the creativity of our customers and our designers, to make unique pieces that are unlike anything you've ever seen."

A custom experience

When customers come to Rottermond Jewelers for a custom piece of jewelry, it's more of a luxurious experience of self-expression than a purchase. It's the opportunity of a lifetime to partner with the staff for the creation of a unique piece that will likely become a family heirloom.

Rottermond Jewelers is a comfortable, elegant setting where customers can relax and feel well taken care of. Staff will bake cookies and prepare refreshments to make a customer feel welcome.

During a custom-jewelry consultation, Dean or one of the GIA gemologists will spend time getting to know the customer, learn more about preferences, and what sort of jewelry would suit the customer's lifestyle.

Staff can show the customer various pieces in stock, noting aspects of each piece that the customer likes. While some people come in with a clear idea of what they want, others piece together the perfect design that includes the best parts of a number of items.

Then designers make a mold and cast a wax model for the customer to try on.

"This isn't a quick process," said Cindi Rottermond. "We want to make sure that the piece turns out just perfectly."

The jeweler can make changes to the design at that point, to make sure that everything looks just right. Once the customer is absolutely satisfied with the design, it is cast in precious metal — 18K white gold, 18K yellow gold, 14K yellow gold, or platinum.

Gem stones are set to add beauty and sparkle to the ring. Diamonds are always a popular choice, but the store also works with the bold colors found in tanzanite, tourmaline, aquamarine, topaz, ruby, citrine and alexandrite.

Then when the jewelry is picked up, the customers can't help but fall in love with the works of art — after all, they created them.

Why custom?

A custom piece of jewelry is a bit like leaving a personal imprint on the world. Instead of buying something that is mass-

What could make the day any better than receiving a custom Rottermond ring like this?

produced, individuals can design something that reflects their artistic slant, and their unique view on the world.

"The designers can bring your personality into the piece you are creating," said Cindi Rottermond.

For some, it's creating the ultimate ring — something they've been dreaming of since they were a child. It may be paved with brightly colored gems, pave style, or it could be a smooth and sleek white gold creation. Designing a custom piece can literally make a dream come true.

Custom jewelry is the ultimate gift from the heart. There's nothing more personal than crafting a gift that expresses feelings that can't even be put into words. The love that went into the creation of the gift will shine through each time a person wears a ring or necklace created by a loved one.

Some customers create a piece for a child to commemorate a special birthday or milestone. Others create a diamond ring for a spouse or fiancé to wear every day of their lives together.

And there's nothing lovelier than wearing something created together with a loved one. It's a truly special way to mark an anniversary, retirement or an upcoming birth. It is the type of Christmas gift that is remembered each and every day — something that is well-loved because the couple spent time designing it together.

When couples design an engagement ring or matching wedding rings, they are linked as a couple, by these precious creations that are wrapped around their fingers — a symbol of their collaboration in the past, present and future.

Passing on a legacy

Those with family heirlooms that are outdated or impractical can rework them into new pieces that can be enjoyed again. It's a way to honor and memorialize family members that have passed on jewelry, by putting stones into new forms. When the new jewelry is complete, it is like walking around wearing a locket carrying the picture of a loved one.

Instead of keeping gorgeous earrings in a jewelry box or vault, customers can rework them and turn them into something more practical that they can enjoy everyday. It's a perfect solution for lovely gifts that just don't get used much.

"Instead of letting something sit around, collecting dust, we'd rather turn it in to something that can be worn and enjoyed now," said Cindi Rottermond.

Some customers redesign their engagement rings to mark an anniversary celebration. Others take outdated jewelry that they bought decades ago and turn it into something new and exciting. Custom designing is a terrific way to conserve resources and make things that are already treasured more of a treat.

Even with limited resources, parents can give their children precious gifts for a birthday, graduation, wedding or holiday.

Fine repairs

Rottermond can also help repair jewelry so that it can be worn again this Christmas. Delicate jewelry, and even antiques can be repaired with the state-of-the-art laser welder at Rottermond. Even pieces that other stores may have advised against repairing can be fixed by the experienced technicians at Rottermond, using the laser welder. It's the only laser welder being used in the Milford and Brighton areas.

The jewelry doesn't heat up as much with the pin-point accuracy of the laser, and no solder is applied so there is less chance of gemstones cracking. It's a safer way to care for special jewelry.

"When we use the laser welder, the joints are even stronger than before, so the jewelry is actually more durable for the future," said designer and technician George Teufel.

Extricating self from terms one option

Q. I have just signed a purchase agreement which required me to get a mortgage commitment withing fifteen (15) days at current market prices. I was not able to do so and the seller now wants to give me more time to find a mortgage but I don't want to pay the rate. What can I do?

A. If you don't want to pay the rate, exercise your option to extricate yourself from the agreement before you become bound by it. Otherwise, obtain financing that you can live with and go ahead with the transaction.

Q. I am concerned that our association treasurer is not spending our money wisely. He is the only officer to sign checks for the association expenses and the owners do not receive statements as to how the money is being spent. Should I demand that the board obtain a certified audit of our accounts?

A. Your association lacks the basic financial protections. The board has not complied with basic recording requirements and you are best advised to have more than one person on the check signing if you do not have a professional management company. The expense of an audit is justified if the board suspects that there has been unusual activity or that the association funds or the size of the building requires a complete examination. While the audit need not be certified, it should be done by a qualified CPA.

Fountain Park Apartments in Westland earn kudos

On Nov. 11, Fountain Park Apartments of Westland, owned and managed by The Brody Companies of Bloomfield Hills, was awarded the 2006 Best Overall STAR Community Award by the Great Lakes Area Star (GLAStar) Awards. The award, given each year to the best apartment community in the entire state of Michigan, was presented at a gala dinner dance at the Kellogg Center at Michigan State University.

Apartment communities from across the state were represented at this awards show, which range from owners of single-family rentals to large multi-family rental communities and their staff. Fountain Park Apartments of Westland won this honor based upon site management, maintenance service, strong leasing by a leasing professional, all managed by a property management team. Fountain Park Apartments of Westland, on Newburgh between Joy and Warren roads, has 448 one- and two-bedroom garden apartments, including the popular dual master suite. All apartments have private entrances, washers and dryers and many other features.

Fountain Park Apartments of Westland is one of several apartment complexes owned and managed by The Brody Companies, a family-owned, professionally managed real estate company with more than 50 years of management experience. They are specialists in real estate development, building and management, with a primary focus in the residential marketplace.

They work closely with the Property Management Association of Michigan (PMAM) to monitor state legislation, and nationally, has joined forces with the National Apartment Association and the National Multi Housing Council.

6 Reasons why the Triton Extreme should be your next keyboard!

- 1 More sizzling new sounds than ever! Beneath the new cool blue exterior lurks a red hot 160 MB of crisp 48kHz wave ROM- That's 5 times the ROM of the classic Triton! And you won't believe the punch of the new vacuum tube processing, you can now add just the right amount of warmth and snarl to your sound! You'll be amazed by exciting new samples, expressive acoustic and electric guitars, woodwind and brass instruments, stellar organs, authentic choirs and one of the best concert grand pianos you've ever heard! You get 1,334 programs with another 1,280 combinations. You also get 50 drum kits. If you wanted to spend 10 seconds checking out all the new cool preloaded sounds, be prepared to add some overtime to your 8 hour day!
- 2 USB connectivity makes it easier than ever to interface your other gear with the EXTREME. For starters you can add compact flash to create up to 1 GIG of internal storage...just think what you could do with that. You could also add USB hard drives or even the new mini "thumb" drives. The only limit is your creativity.
- 3 More sound creation horsepower than ever! Twin tone generators pump out a generous 120 notes of polyphony. Dual polyphonic arpeggiators can spit out machine-gun cascades of notes, hold down a groove or generate a simple acoustic guitar picking pattern. 489 arpeggiator patterns come preloaded.
- 4 It's an amazing sampler too! Triton Extreme is also a 16-bit, 48kHz sampler. You can now creatively resample your Triton Extreme performances, including performances enhanced by the sequencer playback and the arpeggiators. The Extreme's sampling engine is "In track Sampling," where you can sample audio directly into the sequencer as it plays. Now you can add vocal lines, guitar solos and other audio performances to your sequenced songs. You can also sample or resample directly to Compact flash or Microdrive media. The Extreme ships with 16MB of sample memory, expandable to a full 96MB.
- 5 Stay in Control The Extreme includes a powerful and easy to use Touchview display panel plus a unique selection of realtime controls, including a joystick, ribbon controller, four realtime control knobs and more.
- 6 It's a great composing tool! 16 tracks, 200 sounds and 200,000 notes are just the beginning. Step time, real time, looping and pattern based recording modes allow you to capture your music, your way.

The Triton Extreme is available in both 61 note and 76 key synth action models- both feature variable velocity and aftertouch response. The Triton Extreme 88 is equipped with our premium RH2 keypad for progressive graded hammer action, aftertouch and a real piano feel.

Q I miss seeing Ed Asner on TV. Does he have anything in the works?

—Nancy Gibbon, Rochester, N.Y.

Asner, 76, a seven-time Emmy winner who's performed in more than 200 movies and TV shows, will be back on television Dec. 9 on the Hallmark Channel in The Christmas Card, a story that grows from a handmade greeting sent from a stranger to a soldier. Asner, so memorable as TV's crusty newspaper editor Lou Grant, also is teaming with another TV veteran, Dick Van Patten, for a theatrical movie called Once in a Lifetime: Just Go For It, currently in production.

Q I haven't heard anything lately from one of my favorite performers, jazz pianist Diana Krall. Is she still active?

—Jordan E. Keller, Texas

Absolutely. Krall, 41, just released her latest CD, From This Moment On, a collection of standards from the songbooks of Irving Berlin, Cole Porter, Johnny Mercer and others. She'll take time off the concert trail next month to celebrate her third wedding anniversary to British rocker Elvis Costello, with whom she's expecting twins in December.

Fleetwood Mac's Lindsey Buckingham, country's Little Big Town in 'Crossroads'

Former Fleetwood Mac singer, guitarist and songwriter Lindsey Buckingham takes the stage with hit country group Little Big Town for the latest installment of CMT Crossroads, the popular series that pairs country stars with entertainers from other genres to share songs, swap stories and explore the common bonds of each other's music. Catch the new CMT Crossroads on Saturday, Dec. 2!

Q Are Elton John and Olivia Newton-John brother and sister?

—Phyllis Olson, Algona, Iowa

No. Even though both were born (18 months apart) in England, the singers are not related. Elton did, however, co-write and sing on the title track to Olivia's 1988 album The Runaround.

Q I'd like to know more about ESPN commentator Teddy Atlas. He really knows a lot about boxing. How did he get that scar on the left side of his face?

—Sally Brown, Capm, Ill.

Atlas, 50, a ringside analyst for ESPN2's Friday Night Fights, had a rough life as a kid growing up on Staten Island, N.Y., and the scar on his face—which required 400 stitches—came from a neighborhood knife fight. He was sent to prison on Riker's Island for his participation in several petty crimes. Eventually released under the custody of superstar boxing trainer Cus D'Amato, Atlas fought competitively but was sidelined by injury and became a trainer himself, coaching stars of the ring such as Joey Gamache and Tracy Patterson before beginning his career as a TV commentator.

M. JOHNSON

"People see it as a place of peace at a hectic time of year, and it helps them focus on what Christmas is all about," Howells says. "And we're energized by hearing new people express their awe at the variety and beauty of the display."

In the late 1980s, schoolteachers Howells and Crenshaw realized they were both avid Nativity collectors, and dreamt of someday displaying their collections to raise money for charity. Howells' husband, Huw, came up with the name "No Room at the Inn" and an appropriate cause—to help the homeless in honor of Jesus, Mary and Joseph, who were in need of shelter that first Christmas. When Judy Crenshaw and Nora Howells created the annual display in 1993.

One of 600 Nativity scenes that entrance visitors to the No Room at the Inn fund-raiser in Southern California.

"They have found a way to combine the spiritual and artistic with the practical and tangible—sharing the Nativity story in order to help the homeless."

—Pastor Jim Decker-Mahin

Huw died of colon cancer in July 1993, Nora decided to honor his memory by putting the idea into action. She took a sabbatical from her teaching job and devoted her time, with help from Crenshaw and other friends, to creating the first event, held in December 1993 in a vacant Camarillo storefront.

"That first year, as we overcame so many obstacles to make it happen, we could feel Huw guiding us," Howells says. "Every year, we still feel Huw's presence, and we know that in some way, he is praying for us."

Today, the three-day event alternates annually among churches in Howells' hometown of Thousand Oaks and Crenshaw's hometown of Camarillo (pop. 57,077). A Friday night gala opens the festivities with music, food and a silent auction. On Saturday and Sunday, thousands of people come to view the Nativities, which range from crystal and porcelain figurines to cornhusk dolls and teddy bears. Admission costs $3 per person or $5 per family.

"It's amazing that with 600 Nativities, we have no duplicates," says Crenshaw, who owns 238 Nativity sets.

Dr. Jim Decker-Mahin, pastor of Camarillo United Methodist Church, which hosted last year's No Room at the Inn, sees an important message in the women's efforts. "They have found a way to combine the spiritual and artistic with the practical and tangible—sharing the Nativity story in order to help the homeless," Decker-Mahin says.

Howells, Crenshaw and a 37-member committee begin working in September to organize the fund-raiser and its large display. "You'd think we'd be tired, but we have so much fun doing this that you never hear a word of complaint," says Howells, who has 175 sets in her collection. "We're truly blessed by the spirit of Christmas."

In 2005, No Room at the Inn donated $18,500 to 16 Ventura County homeless programs, including the Turning Point Foundation and the Winter Warming Shelter. Since its inception, the event has raised more than $135,000.

"No Room at the Inn performs a great service for the community," says Cathy Brudnicki, board president of the Ventura County Homeless and Housing Coalition. "Most agencies use the money they get from No Room at the Inn for matching funds. They have to prove community support, and this money certainly shows that."

In recent years, the No Room at the Inn concept has been adopted by communities in Dallas, Pa. (pop. 2,557); Port Clinton, Ohio (pop. 288); Des Moines, Iowa; Billings, Mont.; and Lincoln, Neb.

Crenshaw is amazed at how the idea has

Linkletter at home with one of his most recent honors, a Lifetime Achievement Daytime Emmy

The door to Art Linkletter's low-slung home in Bel Air, Calif., swings open. "Come in!" says a familiar voice. It takes a moment to register that the television icon himself—not a publicist, a housekeeper or anyone else—opens his own front door.

But it's a clear indication that Linkletter remains the friendly host loved by generations of TV viewers on the popular shows People Are Funny and House Party, which aired from 1952 to 1970, making it one of the longest-running daytime variety shows in television history.

"This house is my one extravagance," Linkletter explains. "I live a very modest life. I don't have a personal jet, a yacht. I don't have horses and I don't gamble."

The home, which he shares with Lois, his wife of 70 years, bears the stamp of many loving touches over time, including the needlepoint rugs, crafted by Lois, scattered on the hardwood floors.

Time has taken its natural toll on Linkletter, who turned 94 last July. His hair is thinner and there are a few more wrinkles than when he was a familiar presence on televisions across America. But he still has the quick smile and twinkle in his eyes that once famously enabled him to get kids to say the darndest things.

No retirement plans

As he approaches the midpoint of his ninth decade, Linkletter has become a beacon of hope for aging with dignity. He is alert, active and has no plans to retire any

So Linkletter walked away from television and turned his energies to a passionate anti-drug crusade. He spoke at churches, on radio and TV, and wrote the book Drugs at My Doorstep.

Linkletter currently is facing the loss of yet another of his children. His 69-year-old son Jack has been undergoing treatment for mantle cell lymphoma. Getting kids to "say the darndest things"

He managed to find work wherever he went because he had picked up a skill in school that stood him in good stead: He could type 80 words per minute. He was pecking away at his keyboard in the bond department of the National City Bank on Wall Street in 1929 when the market crashed. He simply packed up and moved on.

After taking a job as a sailor on a cruise to South America, Linkletter decided there was security in teaching and returned to San Diego, where he enrolled in a free community college.

In his final year of school, "I got this telephone call from a local radio manager," he says. "He said, 'I've been hearing about you from your professors. Everybody talks so well of you, I wonder if you'd like to be part-time radio announcer?'"

Man with a microphone

That call changed his life. But after studying the comedic radio shows of Jack Benny and Bob Hope, Linkletter wasn't sure he had what it took to be a success in broadcasting. Then the radio industry discovered the "man on the street" interview, and Linkletter recognized a good idea when he heard it. He sold himself to a local sponsor and got his own radio show. Having been a member of his school's debate team, he knew that talking was something he could certainly do.

His career in radio broadcasting prospered, beginning with local shows and moving to national ones. But then he was fired from his job as the radio director for the 1939 World's Fair in San Francisco following a dispute with his boss over what entertainment should be featured on the opening broadcast. "I went home and told Lois, 'I have a whole new plan for my life. I am never going to work for anybody again.' And I never have," he says.

Linkletter became the ultimate freelancer, creating his own TV shows and building a diversified business empire involved in the building and management of storage property, office buildings, cow-calf operations, real estate development, cattle and sheep ranches in Australia, and various oil ventures around the world.

As Linkletter closes in on his 100th birthday, he still finds time to schedule 75 paid speaking engagements a year, attend numerous board meetings, work on behalf of the United Seniors Association and plan an annual weeklong gathering for the 27-member Linkletter clan—which includes son Jack, daughters Dawn and Sharon, and their spouses, kids and grandkids—at a resort.

What's his secret? It's no secret, he says.

"I have this saying that I use in my lectures," he says, then recites a brief poem.

*I never want to be what I want to be Because there is always something out there yet for me
I get a kick out of living in the here and now
But I never know the best way how
Because there is always one hill higher with a higher view
Something waiting to be learned, I never know
So until my days are over, never fully fill my cup
Let me keep on growing. ☆*

A floor lamp that spreads sunshine all over a room, and pays for itself!

The Balanced Spectrum® floor lamp combines the benefits of natural daylight indoors with a savings of $77 over the life of one bulb!

Ever since the first human went into a dark cave and built a fire, people have realized the importance of proper indoor lighting. Unfortunately, since Edison invented the light bulb, lighting technology has remained relatively prehistoric. Modern light fixtures do little to combat many symptoms of improper lighting, such as eyestrain, dryness or burning. As more and more of us spend longer hours in front of a computer monitor, the results are compounded...and the effects of indoor lighting are not necessarily limited to physical well-being. Many people believe that the quantity and quality of light can play a part in one's mood and work performance. Now there's a better way to bring the positive benefits of natural sunlight indoors.

The Balanced Spectrum® floor lamp will change the way you see and feel about your living or work spaces. Studies show that sunshine can lift your mood and your energy levels. But as we all know, the sun, unfortunately, does not always shine. So, to bring the benefits of natural daylight indoors, use the floor lamp that simulates the full spectrum of daylight. You will see with more clarity and enjoyment as this lamp provides sharp visibility for close tasks and reduces eyestrain.

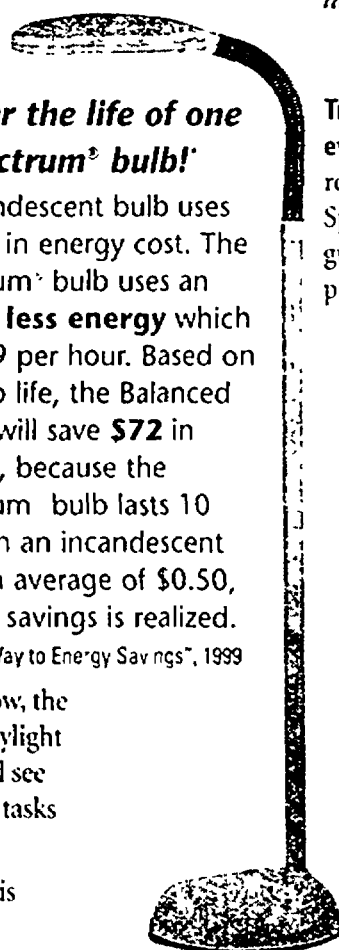

Its 27-watt compact bulb is the equivalent to a 150-watt ordinary light bulb. This makes it perfect for activities such as reading, writing, sewing, needlepoint, and especially for aging eyes.

Experience sunshine indoors at the touch-of-a-switch. This amazing lamp is easy on the eyes and easy on the hands. It features a special "soft-touch, flicker-free" rocker switch that's easier to use than traditional toggle or twist switches. Its flexible gooseneck design enables you to get light where you need it most. The high-tech electronics, user-friendly design, and bulb that lasts 10 times longer than an ordinary bulb make this lamp a must-have.

SAVE $77 over the life of one Balanced Spectrum® bulb!

A 150-watt incandescent bulb uses $0.013 per hour in energy cost. The Balanced Spectrum® bulb uses an average of 70% less energy which saves you $0.009 per hour. Based on 8,000 hours bulb life, the Balanced Spectrum® bulb will save $72 in energy cost. Plus, because the Balanced Spectrum® bulb lasts 10 times longer than an incandescent bulb priced at an average of $0.50, an additional $5 savings is realized.

*Source: "Lighting the Way to Energy Savings", 1999

Height as shown: 50"

"As soon as I turned on the lamp and began to read the newspaper I could see the wonderful difference. This lamp is just what I needed. Thank you so much."

Greens Galore

The wide variety of greens at most grocery stores offers the opportunity to add flavor to main dishes and salads. Dark-colored greens, such as arugula, mache, endive, mustard and kale, are loaded with potassium, vitamins and antioxidants. They provide flavor, in addition to crunch and texture, to any dish.

Arugula punches up the flavor of Jo Ann Geary's Shrimp with Arugula and Penne Pasta. "As a registered nurse living in Manhattan with a miniature galley, I created simple healthy dishes that could be made in one or two pots, including this delicious combination," says Geary, now a resident of Whispering Pines, N.C. The warm pasta slightly wilts the arugula when the two are folded together and brings out the peppery flavor of the greens.

The Tuscan Cranberry Almond Salad recipe submitted by Nancy Rens of Prescott, Ariz., provides an opportunity to experiment with different salad greens. Rens suggests using a bagged spring mix and American blend (romaine, iceberg, cabbage, carrots and radishes), but any combination of flavorful greens—endive, escarole, baby romaine, radicchio, red leaf lettuce—can be used.

Graceland: An Interactive Pop-Up Tour (hardcover, 18 pages) by Chuck Murphy

Between the ornate, gold-colored covers of this bulging, treasure chest of a book are nine remarkable, three-dimensional "pop-up" spreads, which unfold up and out when each page opens to re-create rooms inside musicdom's most famous mansion. A special forward by Priscilla Presley begins your colorful tour of Graceland's private spaces, where you'll encounter an explosion of facts and interactive surprises—like a cardboard pair of pull-out sunglasses, a display case of firearms and (in the music room, of course) a flip-through collection of some of Elvis' favorite LPs. This Tour will make you feel like a gleefully nosy guest inside the Tennessee castle that the King of Rock 'n' Roll called home.

Christmasland (hardcover, 122 pages) by Ralph Del Pozzo and David High

This warm, witty sleigh ride down memory lane presents a wide-ranging photographic collection of nostalgic Christmas items from the 1950s and '60s—miniature churches, adorable angels, whimsical Santas, skating snowmen and other colorful reminders of an era when homes were dutifully decked each holiday season with the holly-jolly pixie dust of inexpensive tabletop knickknacks and dime-store bric-a-brac. ☆

To order Graceland: An Interactive Pop-Up Tour for $46 (INCL. S/H) or Christmasland for $15.95 (INCL. S/H), go online to www.americanprofile.com/store or please have your credit card ready and call (800) 715-6248; or send check to Our Picks—Dept. AP, P.O. Box 340, Harrison, AR 72602.

Residents of CA, TN, IL, AR and NY add sales tax. NSF checks will be automatically debited for the amount of the check plus applicable fees. Offer is limited and expires 1/26/06. Please allow 2-4 weeks for delivery.
