Getting ready to...

It's not too early to prepare for golf season

By Pam Fleming
RECORD STAFF WRITER

Brian Ashley knows that "I'll meet you at the dome" is a familiar phrase with area golfers. As owner of the Oasis Golf Center in Plymouth Township, Ashley said whether young or old, beginner or a pro, his staff can help you with your golf game. And, Ashley said now's the time to get back in the swing of things for the 2007 golf season. "February through April is our busiest time of year," he said. The center's new dome opened in the 2005-2006 season and is brighter, warmer and open longer than the old one. The center opened in 1963, with the dome opening in 1983.

Voted Best Indoor Center

Oasis was voted the Best Indoor Practice Center by Range Report magazine, an industry trade publication, for 12 consecutive years. The indoor facility features 55 tees, and it's always 63 degrees at the dome. "It's the oldest golf dome site in North America and one of the busiest," Ashley said. It was the second golf dome built in North America. Owners of the first one — Red Oaks in Madison Heights — lost their lease five years ago. Ashley has owned the Plymouth Township facility since 1992 and also owns the Royal Oak Golf Center at 3950 Edgar. Ten years ago, more than a dozen golf domes could be found within 100 miles of each other in

New direction: Recreation emphasis shifts to township

■ Officials say residents won't feel change in administration

By Maureen Johnston
RECORD STAFF WRITER

The players supplying the bats and ball wanted to be the home team. Some fans in the stands objected due to the perceived advantage if the game gets tight. But, in the end, the teams compromised because the chance to play together was in jeopardy.

And, there's no game without equipment.

City of Northville and Northville Township officials were talking about more than baseball Monday night when they decided to continue sharing their playing field, changing the way they administer the Northville Parks and Recreation Department. "The day-to-day supervision will be by the city manager," said Sue Hillebrand, township clerk and liaison to the Parks and Recreation Commission. "The direction will come from this new commission. This is a compromise.

"John C. Smith resident out there will not even notice a hiccup."

No front-line impact

In a 3-2 vote Monday, the city council amended their shared services agreement with Northville Township and revised Northville Parks and Recreation Commission by-laws. Council members Michele Fecht and Tom

Swigart voted "no."

The board of trustees is expected to follow suit at the March 15 regular township meeting.

The action followed nearly two hours of discussion of the change's ramifications. Officials said the thousands of area residents who enroll in aquatics to yoga won't know the administrative chain of command has been tweaked.

"The services to city residents will not be affected," said Council

Who's afraid of the MME?

■ Educators explain new state test for juniors

By Renee Gates
RECORD STAFF WRITER

From March 13-16, Northville High School juniors along with their classmates across the state will endure two to four days of mandatory testing while taking the Michigan Merit Exam (MME).

This is the debut year for Michigan's new standardized test that replaces the MEAP for high school juniors.

"This year's juniors will be the first to take the Michigan Merit Exam," said Monty Shambleau, assistant principal at Northville High School.

"One of the reasons it was created was because of the (new) Michigan Merit Curriculum and to gauge how our students are doing and how our teachers are teaching the curriculum," he said.

The state's new curriculum requirements will start with the class of 2011, so for the next two years, state education officials said the MME will be scored much like a MEAP test.

"As we get further down the road teaching the curriculum the exam will evolve too," Shambleau said.

"So the students aren't going to be penalized this year and next because they haven't had the curriculum."

ACT and MME

The MME has three components, the ACT Plus Writing, WorkKeys® and Michigan math, science and social studies. The ACT section of the exam is free, and scores can go toward college admissions. Including the ACT as part of the exam is an added bonus for students, educators said.

Northville High School students like Marisa Fink, left, will be taking the Michigan Merit Exam this spring, an aptitude test that will formally replace the MEAP.

Metro Detroit. Now, it's down to three. The other two are Mulligan's Golf Center in Auburn Hills and the Van Dyke Golf Center at Van Dyke and 13 Mile Road.

Driving ranges going strong

Ashley said golf courses and high-end golf facilities have been hurt by the downturn in the economy. But, driving ranges are still going strong.

"I think it's the fact that people may not be able to afford to go out and drop 40 or more dollars plus four hours of time for a round of golf, but for $9 they can get it out of their system in a half hour," Ashley said.

Camp Mirage awaits juniors

Oasis Golf Center used to include a 14-hole, par-3 golf course. But when owners lost the lease on the property, most of the golf course was sold off to be developed.

"That left us with about five acres of land," Ashley said. Four years ago, he and his staff came up with a plan to develop the property and turn it into a day camp for golfers age 7-13.

Last year, Hour Detroit magazine rated Camp Mirage the number one day camp in Metro Detroit out of 28 camps. This year will be the camp's fourth season.

"Last year, we had 1,500 kids,"

Get back in the game

- $11 from 5-10 p.m. Monday-Thursday,
- $9 all day Friday, and

Instructors are on duty 10 a.m.-7:30 p.m., seven days a week. Walk-in lessons are available. Call (734) 420-4653.

Changes at Oasis Golf Center

The Oasis Golf Center at Five Mile and Haggerty roads has been completely refurbished.

"We replaced the entire structure, including all the mechanicals — such as inflation and the heating system — as well as the lighting," said owner Brian Ashley. "We also refinished and repainted everything inside."

Ashley said 60,000 new Top Flite balls were also put in play at the double-decker dome last season.

Ashley said, "And, this year we expect about 2,000. Our repeat rate is about 90 percent."

The center also offers pre-camp and post-camp activities for junior golfers whose parents work.

The camps take place from 9 a.m.-noon, but parents can leave their children at the facility until as late as 6 p.m. The center offers a variety of activities for young golfers.

Ashley said these days, golf is a year-round sport.

"We have people who come in twice a week year-round so their golf muscles never get out of shape," he said.

Exotic locales becoming golf destinations

■ Travelers hit the links in Europe, Mexico and Dominican Republic

By Maureen Johnston
RECORD STAFF WRITER

Avid golfers reluctant to wait for their local course to thaw are heading south and east.

Brookside Travel owner Jim Echehalt said golfers ready to hit the links in the next few weeks visited his Novi Road agency to book trips to destinations overseas, in lieu of domestic locales like Myrtle Beach.

People who planned ahead are headed to golf hot spots like Scotland, Ireland, Cancun, Jamaica and Punta Cana in the Dominican Republic, he said. They scheduled March and April trips well in advance.

"Now is the time to plan your summer golf," Echehalt said. "But you can get wonderful deals in May — and it's not that hot."

"We do get some last-minute golf deals."

Amidst the flurry of customers planning vacations to coincide with schools' April spring break, the Brookside Travel staff fielded airfare requests for golf trips, Echehalt said.

"One thing I've found out, they research the golf courses," he said. "They are the people going specifically for that."

"Golfers are a whole breed of their own."

Echehalt said he typically talks to players looking for challenge or a unique experience based on their ability. His agency makes the travel arrangements after they've found courses they'd like to explore.

"I don't want to be the one specifically telling them (where to go)," he said. To that end, when people visit Brookside Travel with the intent of a giving a golf package as a gift, he suggests a gift certificate.

"Then, they can choose where they want to go," he said. "They want to do something unique."

Golf Stretches

Stretching should be done slowly without bouncing. Stretch to where you feel a slight, easy stretch. Hold this feeling for 5-30 seconds. Move a fraction of an inch farther into the stretch until you feel a mild tension again. Hold for another 5-30 seconds.

Stretch #1: After holding the bent knee position, stand up and then slowly bend forward from the hips until you feel a slight stretch in the back of your legs. Always keep knees slight bent. Let neck, arms and hands relax.

Stretch #2: With arms overhead, hold the elbow of one arm with the hand of the other arm. Keeping knees slightly bent, gently pull your elbow behind your head as you bend from your hips to the side. Hold for 20 seconds; do both sides.

Stretch #3: Place hands on hips, feet pointed straight ahead with knees slightly flexed. Turn your hips as you look over your shoulder behind you. Hold for 10-15 seconds. Stretch both sides twice.

Stretch #4: In a standing or sitting position, interlace your fingers above your head. With palms facing upward, push your arms slightly back and up. Hold for 15 seconds.

Stretch #5: Stand with knees slightly bent in your best "ready to hit" position. Gently hold onto the back of your left elbow if right-handed, opposite if left-handed. Slowly pull your elbow toward your right shoulder as you rotate your hip into a hitting position until you feel an easy stretch in the back of your left shoulder. Keep head still; hold for 15-20 seconds. Do twice.

Stretch #6: Use a golf club to stretch arms, shoulders and upper back and chest. From a standing position, grab your club at each end and with your arms straight, bring the club up, over and behind your head. Hold for 20 seconds. Do twice.

Note: If you have had any recent surgery, muscle or joint problems, consult your health care professional before starting a stretching or exercise program.

Technological advances in game offer options for today's golfers

■ What items are hot for spring '07

By Pam Fleming
RECORD STAFF WRITER

Pete Line says when it comes to the game of golf these days, it's all about the technology.

Line, general manager of Carl's Golfland in Bloomfield Hills, has a front row seat when it comes to seeing the latest in golf equipment.

The store also has a location in Plymouth Township at Five Mile and Sheldon roads.

"We've had great traffic the past two Saturdays during our Demo Day promotion," Line said.

So, what's hot for the 2007 golf season?

"There's a lot of interest in geometric-shaped drivers," Line said. "They have a higher MOI, which stands for 'moment of inertia.'"

In layman's terms, that means less twisting of the club on an off-center shot, less spin on the ball and more speed.

"In other words, you can hit it longer and straighter," Line said.

It's those marginal swings, according to Line, where the new technology can really help the golfer, whether amateur or pro.

The new Callaway irons are getting a lot of buzz right now, too. The X20 irons feature the more forgiving, cavity-back design. And a larger hitting surface is a given in all new golf clubs.

"There's new technology in every piece of equipment, even in apparel," Line said.

Moisture-wicking materials

The latest technology in golf apparel involves new moisture-wicking materials that make golfers not feel as hot or cold, depending on the weather situation.

The materials literally pull moisture away from the body.

"Instead of wearing that old 100-percent cotton shirt, now golfers can keep their cool even in temperatures up into the 90s," Line said.

A large number of vendors are using these new performance fabrics, according to Line.

Each vendor has their own brand, but they basically work the same way.

Golf ball manufacturers are also coming out with "new and improved" models each year.

New golf shoes on the market include the SP8 by Nike.

This shoe features the new caged air sole for improved stability.

"It's waterproof and the same shoe Tiger Woods wears," Line said.

Foot Joy also has a new shoe, the Reel Fit, with no laces.

Instead, the golfer custom tightens the shoe with a device on the back of the heel. The design is currently available only in men's styles.

Colors are big this spring in golf shoes, with Ecco leading the way with its European-style designs for women.

Designer styles include a light rose argyle and a white-and-light purple combo.

"There are all kinds of new colors out this year," Line said. "It just depends on what strikes your fancy."

Line offers some tips on how to get the biggest bang for your buck when it comes to golf footwear.

"Don't wear your golf shoes when they're wet if you can avoid it, because this can stretch out the leather," he said.

He also recommends having more than one pair of golf shoes and rotating them in order to extend the life of both pairs.

District will maintain current class sizes, use portables as necessary

■ Boundary plan coming later this month

By Renee Gates
RECORD STAFF WRITER

Northville Elementary schools will maintain their current class size and 29 classes per building, using portables and Early Childhood classrooms as necessary.

The Board of Education unanimously approved the district's recommendations to manage its growing elementary school population as presented during the school board meeting last week.

The district presented the findings to the board along with its recommendations after an analysis of all the information collected at the Managing our Growth community forums held in January and February.

"Clearly, the feedback indicates a preference to maintain our current class size targets to the extent possible, followed by a preference to keep our current maximum of 29 classes per building," said Mary Kay Gallagher, assistant superintendent for instruction.

From the 247 feedback forms collected at the Managing our Growth forums, nearly 80 percent of respondents selected this option as the most preferred short-term scenario, district officials said.

If a class size increase becomes necessary due to fluctuations in state funding levels, kindergarten through second grade class sizes will receive priority to remain low over upper elementary grades, the district recommended.

The district also recommended developing a boundary plan to implement at the end of March in preparation for the end of the Kindergarten Relocation Plan.

To address the overcrowding in Ridge Wood Elementary, kindergartners were placed in other elementary schools throughout the district through their first grade years. This is the last year of the relocation plan.

The boundary plan will address where those students will be placed next school year.

View the district's Managing our Growth findings and recommendations on its Web site: <http://www.northville.k12.mi.us/default.asp>

March 13 - Board of Education meeting:

- Adopt final parameters
- Administration proposes a boundary plan.

Weeks of March 13 and March 20 - The community will have an opportunity to ask questions and provide feedback regarding the proposed boundary plan.

March 27 - Board of Education meeting, final boundary plan adopted.

Boundary Plan criteria:

- Keep families together (K-5 children attend same school)
- Develop a long-term plan
- Keep neighborhoods together to the extent possible
- Students living close enough to walk to school should be assigned to that school
- Maintain middle school feeder system to the extent possible (three elementary schools feed each middle school).

High School students will be taking the Michigan Merit Exam Tuesday.

"Prior to now, parents had to sign their children up or students had to sign up to take the ACT and pay for it," said Mary Kay Gallagher, Northville assistant superintendent for instruction.

"Now, for free, all Michigan juniors are able to take the ACT. That's the bonus piece."

Because the ACT is a separately administered and scored test, all juniors across the state will take it together on March 13.

At Northville High School, only juniors will be in the building when the test is administered. There is no school for freshmen, sophomores or seniors next Tuesday. Juniors are to report at the regular start time of 7:21 a.m. and will be dismissed at 12:15 p.m. when the test is completed.

The remainder of the MME can be administered from Wednesday through Friday, depending on the school district. Northville juniors will take the remainder of the test in one day of testing on March 14.

Juniors will report to the high school gymnasium by 7:21 a.m. They will break for lunch, provided by the school, and will complete the testing by 2:16 p.m. ninth, 10th and 12th-graders will be in the building and following their regular schedules, Shamblau wrote in a letter sent home with juniors.

"The state gave some flexibility to spread out the Michigan components over two days or three days, but we're choosing to do it all in one day so it doesn't disrupt the learning process for everybody else more than it needs to," he said.

"We decided on the gymnasium because we could house the students there and not disrupt the rest of the learning going on in the building. We can section off that part of the building for testing, and then the academic wings would not be affected."

Excused absences

Northville juniors will miss one day of instruction during the MME. Obviously, it will count as an excused absence, Shamblau said, and students can make arrangements to collect the work they will miss next Wednesday. The important thing is for juniors to be in attendance for the mandatory test.

"We really need all of our juniors to be in school that day," Gallagher said. "This is a very important opportunity for them and a necessary opportunity for them."

If juniors are absent from the test, the state has scheduled make-up dates. Dates are also available for students desiring to take the test again to improve their test score and qualify for the Michigan Promise Scholarship.

Students and parents should ask their school counselor or test administrators, or visit the Michigan Department of Education Web site www.michigan.gov/mde for more information about make-up dates, scholarships and retests. Select the school assessment and accountability link to find all the information on the Michigan Merit Exam.

MME testing schedules may change for next year, school administrators said.

"We will evaluate how this works," Gallagher said. "We'll be talking to our colleagues in other districts to get their thoughts on how their plans worked and then go forward from there."

The Michigan Promise Scholarship

Students who receive qualifying scores on the Michigan Merit Exam may receive up to $1,000 per academic year for each of their first two years of college enrollment, and up to $2,000 after the successful completion of two years of postsecondary education with at least a 2.5 GPA.

Students who do not receive qualifying scores on the MME may still receive up to $4,000 after the successful completion of two years of postsecondary education with at least a 2.5 GPA.

For more information on the Michigan Promise Scholarship, contact the Office of Scholarships and Grants at 1-888-447-2687 or e-mail OSG@michigan.gov.

The Michigan Promise replaces the Michigan Merit Award beginning with the class of 2008. Students from the high school graduating class of 2007 who have already taken the MEAP test and received qualifying scores for the Michigan Merit Award already qualify for the Michigan Promise scholarship.

Township, city reach for input on Parks & Rec Master Plan

By Pam Fleming
RECORD STAFF WRITER

Rich Hewlett, president of the Northville Youth Football Association, said the organization has grown so much that it needs another practice field for a second team.

This new team will include about 100 players.

"We don't need anything fancy, just a big open field," he said.

Jerry Mittman, Friends of Maybury Park, talked about the possibility of providing better access to Maybury Park at Seven Mile and Beck roads.

"Maybury Park has approached the state about this," Mittman said.

These are just two of the community needs residents expressed at a public hearing last month on the Northville Community Parks and Recreation Master Plan.

Traci Sincok, director of Parks and Recreation, said the Parks and Recreation Commission must approve the draft by March 15, when Northville Township board members will hopefully give their stamp of approval to the plan.

Northville City Council members will then hopefully give their blessing to the plan on March 19. All three bodies must approve the plan by the March 31 deadline.

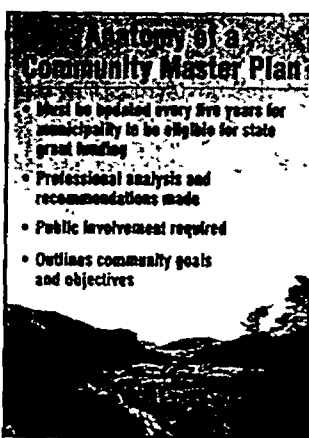

The plan must be updated every five years, and the public hearing took place Feb. 14 at the Northville Community Senior Center.

The 2007-2011 draft can be viewed on the city's Web site at www.cityofnorthville.org.

What's the plan's purpose?

The purpose of the plan is to update the inventory of park land and recreational facilities in the two communities and provide strategies for the funding and implementation of recreation programs.

The conceptual plan for Thayer's Corner Park was pulled from the document due to time constraints and the many changes requested on the plan. This project will be dealt with separately in order to make the March 31 state deadline.

SOURCE: Northville Parks & Recreation Department

Sincok explained that meeting the deadline is important because the plan must be approved before the two communities can apply for any Michigan Department of Natural Resources grant funding for parks and recreation projects.

Commissioner Sue Hillebrand wanted more details on what design improvements are planned for parks, such as making them all accessible to handicapped visitors. "I want some clearly defined goals," she said.

Hillebrand also said the $300,000 budgeted in 2007 and $400,000 in 2008 for Fish Hatchery Park on Seven Mile Road was too much money to spend when she doesn't think it will attract that many additional programs.

Plans include repaving the parking lot, improving the park's stormwater facilities and possibly shifting the park entrance to the east.

Northville School Board liaison Ken Roth said the parking lot and the entrance to Fish Hatchery Park need to be repaved.

"It's not a trivial issue," he said. "It's a safety issue. Let's do bits and pieces at a time rather than nothing."

Sincok and township board of trustees member Marv Gans said the five-year plan does not have to be that detailed as long as it meets the communities' goals.

Pam Fleming is a staff writer for the Northville Record. She can be reached at (248) 349-1700, ext. 105, or by e-mail at pfleming@gannett.com.

member Jim Allen. "I don't really think anything will change except it will be a board of six elected officials."

The amended by-laws call for a commission comprised of the mayor or mayor protem and one other council member; the township supervisor, township clerk and one other township trustee, and one Northville Board of Education member.

Also newly created is an administrative committee of the recreation director, city manager, township manager and commission chairperson that will review operational matters and provide feedback to the director about municipal matters which may impact the commission.

"There's always been a dual reporting on (recreation director Traci Sincok's) part," said Township Manager Chip Snider. "That will continue."

History of cooperation

ed resident members of the current advisory-only Parks and Recreation Commission, to the most vocal opponents to the administrative shift.

"I think it's more politically motivated than service-oriented," Swigart said. "Any issues raised could be resolved without these changes."

Addressing the council, Township Supervisor Mark Abbo said change is necessary to better plan for the big picture of recreation. The township funds 80 percent of the program and owns 90 percent of recreation land, he said.

"It was important to us to revise our chain of command so there's a direct link to the township," Abbo said. "It's just not happening now the way it needs to be happening."

Abbo also stressed the city and township's history of cooperating to provide programming for the entire community.

"I believe that has to be evaluated in the context of what type of partner Northville Township has been thus far," he said, citing projects like creation of the Recreation Center at Hillside, Northville Senior Community Center and new dog park. "I believe we have a great partnership and that will continue."

Updating overdue

Policies driving the shared service of recreation should be weighted more toward the greater area of population, investment in facilities and growth potential, Abbo said. The township population, which has invested in recreation with voter approval to purchase millions of dollars of park acreage and to levy a dedicated operational millage, is expected to increase by 10,000 residents in the next 20-plus years, he said.

"The township is interested in how we can further respond to the needs of the community," Abbo said.

To answer 13-year recreation commission member Nancy Darga's concern about hearing public sentiment, Abbo said commission meetings will continue to be open to the public and resident input on programs, development and the budget will be gathered through committees.

Mayor Christopher Johnson said times have changed since the recreation department was created when the city's population and state-equalized value were larger than the township's.

"I just think this is the next step in the evolution of how we deal with each other," he said. "I think it really does address an issue that's been out there for a while."

"The city is a smaller entity now."

NORTHVILLE CITY COUNCIL NOTEBOOK

March 5 Meeting

All Present
Next Meeting: March 19

Rezoning progresses

In a 4-1 vote, the Northville City Council introduced for the first reading a zoning ordinance amendment changing a parcel at 361 E. Cady St. to central business district from its current light industrial status. The property near the northeast corner of Cady and Grisswold streets, purchased last month by Chuck Gaidica and Chuck Lapham, would house the non-profit professional Tipping Point Theatre group. Mayor Protem voted "no," citing insufficient exploration of other ways to allow the theater use within current zoning designation. Second reading and possible adoption is scheduled for the next regular council meeting.

Shared services amended

In a 3-2 vote, council amended the city's shared services agreement with Northville Township and adopted new Parks and Recreation Commission by-laws. Council members Michele Fecht and Tom Swigart voted "no." While Fecht proposed tabling the issue pending further examination of the proposal, Swigart stated his opposition as "Clearly, the township is in control."

Funds designated

Council voted unanimously to reallocate $27,000 in the city's public improvement fund to the following areas: Master Plan update, $8,000; grant for the Mill Race Historical Village general store, $5,000; business registration and licensing program, $4,895, and contingency/grant match, $9,105. The funds, part of "breakage" revenue from Northville Downs, previously had been allocated to the parking ticket enforcement system.

Carport to proceed

Council unanimously agreed to pay $28,630 to Carport Structures Corp. to build a six-vehicle carport to protect the city's police cars and a covered walkway from the building to the carport.

Summer concerts planned

Council unanimously agreed to pay $8,000 to Signature Audio Services of Wixom to produce the 2007 Summer Concert Series downtown. For the first time this summer, the Northville Chamber of Commerce and Parks and Recreation Department will replace the Northville Arts Commission as concert series host. Due to planned renovation of Bandshell Park across from the Main Street clock, the Friday night concerts will be held in the grassy area behind city hall near the corner of Wing and Cady streets.

Up next for town square

City Manager Patrick Sullivan updated the council on town square expansion plans. City staff members met with representatives from Farmington Hills-based McCarthy and Smith Inc. regarding a potential construction management contract to proceed this spring. If Northville Downtown Development Authority board members approve contract provisions at their March 13 special meeting, that recommendation likely will be considered by council members at their next regular meeting.

On the consent agenda

Council unanimously approved several items on the consent agenda, including:

- appointment of Gary Haas to the Housing Commission through Sept. 15, 2011.
- adoption of a Wayne County "annual permit" resolution permitting the city's Department of Public Works to repair utilities and sidewalks located in the county right-of-way without seeking advance approval.
- permission for the Knights of Columbus to conduct their annual Tootsie Roll drive downtown March 30-April 1.

Northville residents reflect on Amerman's Otto C. Wiley

By Renee Gates
RECORD STAFF WRITER

It was the way Otto Wiley lived his life that Northville residents still talk about now that he is gone.

It was how he always did a little extra than what was required of him, how he always made time for children and how he never met a stranger.

Otto C. Wiley

"He was very much beloved at Amerman School," said retired principal William Kraft.

"The students liked him, the teachers liked him, and I liked him," he said.

City of Northville employee Wendy Gutowski sent all of her children to Amerman Elementary while Wiley worked there as a custodian from 1971-79.

"I just remember them coming home and talking about how nice of a man he is," she said.

"They would say, 'The janitor at the school is so nice, he always has candy for us.'"

Loving legacy

Wiley, 93, passed away peacefully on Feb. 2, his son James said.

"He was really at peace," he said. "He wasn't afraid to die. At that point, he was kind of welcoming it. It stuck with all of us," said James, 70, the oldest of Wiley's three sons.

But many of the friends and people whose lives Wiley touched in the community he loved did not get the news in time to pay their last respects.

Mildred Madigan, of Allen Terrace, had a 50-year friendship with Wiley, she said. They met in the 1940s when he managed the former Chase Farms property on Eight Mile Road, before the land was sold for subdivision.

The farm had cattle, pigs and corn. Madigan and her four sons and one daughter lived across the street from the farm. Her sons would wander on to the property, and Wiley would take them under his tutelage and put them to work.

"My boys just idolize him, to this day," said Madigan, 94. "They just enjoyed being with him, and he enjoyed being with them. He was easy to meet, enjoyed being with children."

Madigan called her sons in California as soon as she learned Wiley passed. She did not make it to the funeral.

"I was so disappointed," she said. "(Allen Terrace) got the message on Wednesday, and I went over to (Casterline Funeral Home)... the funeral was on Tuesday, and I missed it," she said.

Wiley worked on Chase Farms for 12 years. He was hired by the Northville Board of Education as a custodian in 1959. He started off at the high school and transferred to Amerman.

Madeline Crawford worked at Amerman Elementary for 23 years as a secretary, and she lived on the corner of Lake and Center. She recalled how much Wiley did for the school and the community.

"He shoveled my sidewalks for me after my husband was gone," she said.

Wiley owned a snow plow and shoveled snow in the winter for St. Paul's Lutheran Church. He passed Crawford's home on his way to the church parking lot.

"He was just a kind person. He did it for a lot of people probably. That's the kind of person he was," she said.

"If kids didn't have enough money for lunch he would give his money," Crawford, 80, left Amerman before Wiley retired in December 1979. She is a resident at Allen Terrace.

Amerman and the community sent Wiley out with a celebration in 1979.

1979.

"They had a huge retirement party for him, and all the children and parents came out," said Pat Howard, who sent her children to Amerman during Wiley's tenure there. "Each grade level did something special."

Classrooms gave Wiley a garbage can full of popcorn and over 200 pounds of bird seed, Howard said.

"He loved to feed the birds. The kids were trying to think of something appropriate to give him," she said.

"One of the TV stations came to the retirement party," said Howard. "Amerman made it onto the five o'clock news."

The Northville City Council passed a resolution declaring December 5, 1979, Otto Wiley Day in the City of Northville.

"I guess I didn't realize how much of a community impact he had," said James of his father. "It seems like he had a lot more than he ever told us about."

Even after his retirement, Wiley continued volunteering at Amerman School until 1989. He and his wife of 63 years, Faye, moved into Allen Terrace. She passed away in 1998.

In 1990 the courtyard in Amerman was rededicated the Otto Wiley Courtyard. The plaque still hangs on the wall in the school's foyer.

When his health began to deteriorate, his family moved him to an assisted living program at the Botsford Commons Senior Community in Farmington Hills.

"Despite the dementia, if you talked to someone... they would tell you, 'We just love that guy because he's so pleasant and so nice,'" James said.

"Apparently he was pleasant all the way to the end."

Wiley is survived by three sons, 14 grandchildren, 26 great grandchildren, a host of family members, loved ones and friends.

NAMES IN THE NEWS

Pozolo named AIA president

Cynthia K. Pozolo, AIA, NCARB, LEED AP, has been named 2007 president of the American Institute of Architects Detroit.

From a Northville/Novi perspective, Jacquelyn Arredondo,

C. Pozolo

AIA, of Fanning Howey Associates Inc. in Novi, serves as secretary of the AIA Detroit Executive Board.

Verizon salesmen honored

Verizon Wireless has named Douglas Buth and Howie Blanchard of the Northville Verizon Wireless Communications Store to the company's prestigious President's Cabinet.

Buth, a retail sales manager at the store at 20580 Haggerty Road, was named to the cabinet for the second consecutive year.

Blanchard, who was recently promoted to assistant retail sales manager of the Northville store, earned the designation while serving as a retail sales representative at this location.

The two demonstrated exceptional sales leadership in 2006 by providing metro Detroit area customers with outstanding service related to company products and service plans.

They earned the award by meeting several criteria, including being ranked in the top 1.2 percent nationally in 2006 sales, placing them among the company's top performers out of its more than 17,000 sales associates.

Interim HR director named

Northville Public Schools officials have named Donald E. Thomas of Ann Arbor as interim director of human resources.

Thomas recently retired from the Brighton Area Schools where he served for 12 years as assistant superintendent for human resources and pupil services.

"We have been reviewing for some time the need for an interim human resources director to assist in the office of administrative services," said Northville Superintendent Dr. Leonard R. Rezmierski.

"However, given the district's current financial situation, we also knew that person would have to be someone who was already in the retirement system. Don is that person. He comes to us with many years of experience as a human resources director. He is knowledgeable and ready to get started."

The school district, with about 1,000 employees, has done without a human resources director since the fall of 2005 when the position was eliminated as part of district spending cuts.

While Thomas will receive a salary, the fact that he has already retired means the district will not have to pay costly health care or retirement expenses related to the position.

As interim director, Thomas will assist and advise the district regarding human resources needs and issues over the next year and a half.

Prior to joining Brighton Area Schools, Thomas served for four years as director of administrative services for the Washtenaw Intermediate School District.

He also worked for 20 years for Willow Run Community Schools as a teacher, building administrator and director of personnel/labor relations and pupil accounting.

Residents oppose township's funding of Highwood cleanup

Vote on plan for brownfield at former hospital March 26

By Pam Fleming
RECORD STAFF WRITER

As the saying goes, "It's not over until the fat lady sings."

And it's definitely not over in the continuing saga of the proposed multi-million-dollar Highwood development in Northville Township.

A group of township residents came to a Brownfield Redevelopment Authority meeting Monday night to vehemently oppose the township providing any funding at all for the project.

The Highwood project would feature 1,117 new residential units, plus commercial, retail and open space, including more than $500 in construction costs.

Developers Real Estate Interests Group and Schostak & Brothers Company (REIS) are trying to get the township to agree to a brownfield redevelopment plan and reimbursement agreement to help pay for the estimated $15 million in demolition and cleanup costs on the property.

The funding would come from tax increment financing, a method in which the developer would gain a portion of tax dollars from the project over a designated number of years.

Located on the site of the former Northville Psychiatric Hospital on Seven Mile Road between Northville and Haggerty roads, the more than 400 acres REIS purchased from the state is riddled with abandoned buildings, asbestos-contaminated tunnels and buried medical waste.

But, at least some of the taxpayers in the township don't feel it's their responsibility to pony up their dollars to help the developers pay for the project.

Frank Carlson lives within 200 feet of the property.

"I don't see why we should give them a $15 million grant to begin their project," he said. "That's their cost of doing business, not the taxpayers."

Resident Mark Peper said with a brownfield redevelopment plan, it would be six-10 years before the township would see any money from the project.

"They (REIS) went into this with their eyes wide open, and I don't think the township can afford that," he said.

Steve Lawrence, who lives on Pierson Drive said, "These guys are going to make a bundle no matter what happens. You're about to get sucker-punched. They can afford it (the demolition and cleanup). If you want to make us mad, then approve this (the brownfield plan)."

Resident Shannon Harbin, a commercial real estate appraiser, said, "I am appalled at the figures being thrown out," referring to $3 million assessed value or $6 million actual value REIS recently deemed the property cost for tax purposes even though they paid $31.5 million for the land.

"This is prime real estate," Harbin said. "It's unbelievable."

"I am adamantly opposed to this (the brownfield plan) as a taxpayer," said Diane Carlson.

"This developer knew the liability they were assuming when they bought the property. They need to stop looking to the little people to help them fund their project."

REIS wants to move forward

"Let's put the brownfield (plan) at the township board level so the project can move forward," said Grant Trigger, a representative from REI.

The brownfield redevelopment authority can only make a recommendation to the township board.

Only the township board can give final approval to the plan. The authority wants to vote on the plan at its March 26 meeting if a revised draft outlining what the developers are willing to do can be put together by then.

"I still have reservations as to whether we want to go forward with this or not," said authority member Joseph Xuereb. "I just don't know if it's the best interests of the community and the taxpayers to subsidize this development."

Authority member John Miller agreed.

"I don't know if this is the right time to introduce a new development," Miller said. "I have some serious reservations as well, and I'm not ready to finance somebody else's project."

Trigger said the burdens on the developer are great, considering the tremendous demolition and cleanup costs.

"I don't look at this as a hand-out," he said. "If we don't advance the brownfield, the project won't move forward."

New advanced portable heater can cut your heating bill up to 50%

Heats a large room in minutes with even heat wall to wall and floor to ceiling

Does not get hot, cannot start a fire and will not reduce humidity or oxygen

By John Whitehead, Media Services

A new advanced quartz infrared portable heater, the EdenPURE®, can cut your heating bills by up to 50%.

You have probably heard about the remarkable EdenPURE® as heard on Paul Harvey News and on television features across the nation.

The EdenPURE® can pay for itself in a matter of weeks and then start putting a great deal of extra money in your pocket after that.

And that's just the start of the benefits for the new EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater.

A major cause of residential fires in the United States is portable heaters. But the EdenPURE® cannot cause a fire. That is because the quartz infrared heating element never gets to a temperature that can ignite anything.

The outside of the EdenPURE® only gets warm to the touch so that it will not burn children or pets. Pets can sleep on it when it is operating without harm.

The EdenPURE® will also make you healthier. That is because, unlike other heating sources, it will not reduce humidity or oxygen in the room. Typical heating sources reduce humidity which dries out your sinuses, makes you more susceptible to disease and makes your skin dry. With other heating sources, you'll notice that you get sleepy when the heat comes on because they are burning up oxygen.

The advanced space-age EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater also heats the room evenly, wall-to-wall and floor-to-ceiling. Other heating sources heat rooms unevenly with most of the heat concentrated high in the room and to the center of the room. And, as you know, portable heaters only heat an area a few feet around the heater. With the EdenPURE®, the temperature will not vary in any part of the room.

Unlike other heating sources, the EdenPURE® cannot put poisonous carbon monoxide into a room or any type of fumes or any type of harmful radiation.

For more details on the amazing EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater, here is my interview with Julius Toth, Director of Product Development for BioTech Research®.

Q. What is the origin of this amazing heating element in the EdenPURE®?

A. This advanced heating element was discovered accidentally by a man named John Jones. He had a large old farmhouse that was impossible to heat. Jones had a coal furnace in his basement. Jones placed a sheet of cured copper near the furnace to store it. Cured copper is a type of copper that goes through an extensive heating process to give it special properties.

After the fire went out in the coal furnace, Jones noticed that the sheet of copper was heating his entire basement evenly, even though the furnace was no longer putting out heat. He also was amazed as to how long the heat stayed in the copper and continued to warm the room.

Jones was so taken back by this that he started to experiment. He formed a company to develop a heating source out of

Never be cold again

Cannot start a fire; a child or animal can touch or sit on it without harm this cured copper. But Jones had a number of children and he did not want a heating source that would cause a fire or create other hazardous situations like creating carbon monoxide or radiation. He also did not want his children to get burned.

To make a long story short, through a great deal of research and development, Jones developed a heating source that utilized commercial infrared quartz tubes.

Q. What advantages does infrared quartz tube heating source have over other heating source products?

A. John Jones designed his heating source around the three most important consumer benefits: economy, comfort, and safety. The final development of this infrared quartz heat source cannot be matched by any other heating system in the world.

In the EdenPURE® system, electricity is used to generate infrared light which, in turn, creates a very safe heat. Infrared is the safest form of heat because it does not create carbon monoxide or harmful radiation. And, most importantly, infrared heat does not reach a burning temperature.

After a great deal of research and development, very efficient infrared heat chambers were developed that utilize three unique patented solid copper heat exchangers in one EdenPURE® heater. Over 5 years of research, development and real life field testing stand behind this heat source. It has now worked in residential and commercial applications worldwide for over 25 years.

Q. Why is it that this quartz infrared heating source uses less energy to create heat than other sources?

A. Actually, there is more than one reason. One of the primary reasons is that heat at combustion level, which is what all other heat sources use, causes the heat to instantly rise to the ceiling. Therefore, the heat is not evenly distributed, causing a very inefficient and uncomfortable heat source.

The EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater does not use burning heat. Once the heat exchanger absorbs the infrared heat, it exhales the heat into the living area which is carried by the existing humidity in the air. This causes the heat to travel rapidly and evenly throughout a room.

In actual studies, photos using infrared lighting demonstrated that the heat was almost perfectly even from floor-to-ceiling and wall-to-wall. The EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared efficiency is based on the distribution of energized air, not on just fan movement. This heat is coined as "soft heat" due to how comfortable it is.

Q. What are the other disadvantages of combustion heat sources?

A. Heat sources that are above the burning level have many unhealthy side effects. One of these is that it creates dry, irritating indoor air. It also burns a great deal of oxygen in the air. If you remember, when you sit in front of a fireplace or a portable heater or close to a heat source, you will remember yawning. This is because you are not getting enough oxygen.

This dry irritating heat and lack of oxygen dries out sinuses and mucus in the throat, and makes people susceptible to disease. The lack of oxygen causes fatigue.

Also, many combustible heat sources produce carbon monoxide, static cling, and some produce radiation.

Q. So you're saying that children or pets can come up to this unit and touch it and not be harmed?

How it works:

A. That is absolutely correct. As a matter of fact, pets are actually drawn to this heat because it is a natural source of heat, just like the sun heats the earth. Animals are much more instinctive than humans. This heat not only heats the air, but it also heats the objects in the room. It is a perfectly balanced heat.

Q. How can a person cut their heating bill by up to 50% with the EdenPURE®?

A. First, the EdenPURE® uses less energy to create heat than other sources, but that is just part of why it will cut a person's heating bill. The EdenPURE® will heat a room in minutes. Therefore, you can turn the heat down in your house to as low as 50 degrees, but the room you are occupying, which has the EdenPURE®, will be warm and comfortable. The EdenPURE® is portable. When you move to another room, it will quickly heat that room also. This can drastically cut heating bills, in some instances, by up to 50%.

Q. I also understand that the EdenPURE® produces clean fresh air without furnace filters. How can it do that?

A. A furnace generates a lot of dust due to the combustion. By lowering the furnace temperature, you are using your furnace less and therefore reducing the requirement for the furnace filters. Also, when there's no combustion, there are no harmful fumes.

Q. So, the EdenPURE® is totally safe to use?

A. It absolutely is. The EdenPURE® has zero clearance, which means you can push it up against the wall or furniture without risk of fire. Tests prove the unit does not transmit any energy into the atmosphere that will burn or harm anyone regardless of distance between the person and the EdenPURE®.

The EdenPURE® will pay for itself in weeks. It will put a great deal of extra money in a users pocket. Because of today's spiraling gas, oil, propane, and other energy costs, the EdenPURE® will provide even greater savings as the time goes by.

The EdenPURE® comes in 2 models. Model 500 heats a room up to 300 square feet and Model 1000 heats a room up to 1,000 square feet.

IT'S ALWAYS SOMETHING

'Small on purpose': Theater seeking Northville setting

Careful out there ... Dr. Kenneth Stopa Jr. said he's seen a rash of housewives at his Main Street Family Chiropractic Center lately with back pain due to ice removal and snow shoveling injuries. "Their husbands are gone to work, and they're out there because they want it done," Stopa said. Check out his conditioning suggestions in a future issue of the Northville Record.

Speaking of snow and ice ... word is that building owners — or, by extension, the businesses trying to entice patrons through their doors — are responsible for shoveling their storefront sidewalks. Timely action is better. Safer.

And the winner is ... Arun Chopra of Northville Township. Cindy Abar of the Northville Downtown Development Authority received 111 responses to the downtown Northville brand survey prepared by the city's marketing consultant before the March 1 deadline. City clerk Dianne Massa drew the winning entry, entitling Chopra to $100 in gift certificates.

Here's one for you ... when you're off vacationing somewhere and start talking with folks on the next beach towel about your hometown, do you say, "I'm from the City of Northville? I'm from the Charter Township of Northville? No! You say, "I'm from Northville!" The point ... we share a school district, a library, a town name, standard of living and, dare say, core values. So unless you're determining where to pay your water bill or complain about your property assessment, why draw a line in the sand?

And more on the subject ... Monday night an outspoken few spewed power-mongering barbs. Their target? Those selfish township leaders who helped create a senior center and recreation facility in the city, discouraged the post office from relocating their Wing Street operation, negotiated for land for new schools, updated public safety dispatch, and took the risk of playing hardball with Seven Mile Road developers in an effort to protect downtown's commercial core.... Why a line in the sand?

And speaking of recreation, kind of ... the Northville Parks and Recreation Web site has a new look designed to be fun, easy to use and a good source of information about programs, facilities and services. Check it out: www.northvilleparksandrec.org. Up next: Online registration.

Want to get heart smart? For $40, CPR training is available at Northville City Hall from 6-9 p.m. Tuesday, March 27. Thanks to the Northville Fire Department. Still time to register ...

No lightning rods at the Maybury Farm? Word is ... the Voices of Maybury Farm's offer to purchase the devices for the rebuilt barn (destroyed by fire in 2003) was rejected by the Northville Community Foundation. Hmmm ...

Looking for a way to support the fast-approaching Relay for Life in Northville? The newly-remodeled Marathon station on S. Main Street is the latest local business selling moons and stars paper memorials for $1 to go to the American Cancer Society, host of the May 19-20 event at Ford Field. Thanks, Jadalhahs!

And speaking of philanthropy ... Curves of Northville on Seven Mile Road is participating in the fitness chain's annual food drive to benefit local food banks. Through Saturday, Curves will waive its normal service fee for any new member who brings in a bag of nonperishable groceries. Others wishing to donate may drop off nonperishable food items at Curves Monday through Saturday during business hours through the month of March. An excuse to feel good for two reasons ...

And speaking of feeling good ...

longtime Northville resident John Colizzi delivered several compliments about the level of service provided by city employees at the council meeting Monday — from neighborhood patrols to ensuring safe travel for seniors. Way to go!

During discussion of potential rezoning to allow the Tipping Point Theatre to come to Northville, the "positive PR" the venture has been generating reached the council chambers. WDIV-TV4 weathercaster Chuck Gaidica, who partnered with Chuck Lapham to provide the theater group's home, reminded the council the name of "Northville" is attached to each press account. Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers was quick to clarify, "I'm not complaining about it. I would not complain about the PR the city gets at all."

On the theater topic ... Gaidica responded to why Tipping Point didn't opt for an existing venue. The group is looking for a setting more like the Purple Rose in Chelsea than a traditional fixed-seat theater like the Marquis or Penn. "We want this to be an intimate theater," he said. "The mission was for it to be small on purpose." And the bottom line: Tipping Point founders want to be in Northville.

Tipping Point Theatre gala fund-raiser set for Saturday night

■ City council leans toward granting rezoning request to allow theater

By Maureen Johnston
RECORD STAFF WRITER

The stage will be set with paparazzi, red carpet entrances and search lights criss-crossing the sky.

Tipping Point Theatre Executive Director Christina Johnson is producing the new performance venue's full-scale opening night treatment.

"We'll have some photo opportunities with local celebrities," she said. "Local photographers will line the carpet."

(Tipping Point Theatre board of directors president) Chuck Gaidica will deliver a keynote speech.

Last month, WDIV-TV4 weathercaster Gaidica and long-time downtown business owner Chuck Lapham partnered to purchase a now-vacant manufacturing facility at 361 E. Cady Street.

Saturday night, arts supporters will get their first glimpse inside.

Behind the scenes

On Monday night, Gaidica and Lapham's plan to convert the building to a home for the non-profit professional Tipping Point Theater group received a nod from the Northville City Council.

After lengthy discussion about the future of the city's former industrial district, they took the first formal step toward amending the zoning map to permit rezoning of the parcel near the northeast corner of Cady and Griswold streets.

Planning Commission Chairman Jay Wendt responded to council's questions about his body's recommendation to approve the rezoning. He said the redevelopment project fits the commission's long-term vision for the area: the former industrial area to a "Cadytown" district with a yet-to-be-determined zoning classification.

Pointing out the infrequency of rezoning requests, Mayor Pro Tem Carolann Ayers questioned the procedure for fulfilling parking requirements if council agreed to classify the property as central business district.

"I just want to make sure we do it right when we do it," she said.

Still work ahead

Lapham said they still are working with the city to determine requirements for the estimated 140-seat theater scheduled to open this summer. He cited temporary parking arrangements with adjacent property owners of Northville Downs and Foundry Flask.

Gaidica stressed the theater group's desire to locate in Northville. Creating the theater on Cady Street will serve as a catalyst for development in the area, he said.

Plus, area residents will have access to four or five affordable, professional theater productions in their home town.

A second reading and possible adoption of the zoning map amendment is scheduled for the council's next regular meeting March 19. Among the subsequent steps for the theater owners is submission to the planning commission of a site plan with detailed parking accommodations.

'32 Ford owners ready to roll at 75th anniversary celebration

■ Autorama show just one of many

By Pam Fleming
RECORD STAFF WRITER

Lynn Stringer says the 1932 Ford is more than just a car.

It's a legend.

This year, the 55th Annual Autorama will have a special display in celebration of the 75th anniversary of the 1932 Ford.

Stringer, of Northville Township, will display a 1932 black Ford roadster and a red 1932 Ford five-window coupe at the Detroit show Friday-Sunday.

"This is a big year for the 1932 Ford, and Autorama's display will feature 32 1932 Fords," Stringer said.

The cars will be on Cobo Hall's main level.

Stringer said the 1932 Ford was a popular body style for both classics and hot rods.

In the history of automotive design, the 1932 is one of Ford's most famous models. Stringer said. It was styled by Henry Ford's son, Edsel.

The '32 Ford is remembered as the car that initiated the hot rod culture with the first V-8 motor and is sought after today by collectors and hot rod enthusiasts all over the world.

"It is the quintessential hot rod," he said. "Nothing else compares to its popularity."

The little Deuce coupe

The 1932 Ford was nicknamed the "Deuce" because of the "2" in the model year 1932. The '32 display at Cobo this weekend will include classic cars, plus original and modified hot rods.

"I'm working on a committee, and we're going to have a similar celebration in August in Dearborn," Stringer said.

Retired from Ford Motor Co., Stringer worked in truck engineering in Dearborn. He actually has six 1932 Fords.

"I've picked them up over the years," he said.

The coupe he'll have on display at Autorama came from Kalamazoo, and the roadster came from Pennsylvania.

"They're both slightly modified hot rods," Stringer said. "I call them traditional '50s-type hot rods."

Car lovers know 1932 as the first production year of the Ford flat-head V-8 engine, which became a popular engine for hot rods.

Stringer drives all of his 1932 Fords.

"I don't do body, paint or upholstery work," he said. Instead, he's the builder — taking them apart, putting them back together and doing all the mechanical work.

"It's like a house," he said. "You do certain things and you contract out the rest."

Stringer has had cars on display at three Autoramas in the past.

"It's a good hot rod, custom car show," he said. "It's very well-known and one of the top indoor shows in the country."

Local galleries unveil annual student art exhibit tomorrow

■ Wide variety of art mediums to be displayed

By Maureen Johnston
RECORD STAFF WRITER

A shiny silver tea service, vivid colors of a peacock feather and a desert landscape are intricately depicted by young fingers.

Nearly 200 artworks like these by Northville Public Schools sixth through 12th graders will be on display from 6-9 p.m. tomorrow during the Northville Arts Commission's eighth annual Student Fine Art Exhibit. The juried selections will be shown at four downtown galleries and the Northville Art House through March 14.

"We did it for the first time as a gallery crawl last year," said art commissioner Sue Taylor, the exhibit's founder and organizer. "Everybody really liked it that way."

"The students and the families really liked it because their works were being showcased in a professional gallery."

Once again, the gallery owners will welcome the flow of evening patrons to their Main and Center street businesses.

Winners unveiled

Students from Hillside and Meads Mill middle schools and Northville High School submitted creations in painting, drawing, photography, metals, graphic design, mix media and ceramics categories for judging.

"Several people in the art business select the work that is going to be shown," Taylor said. Young artists behind the displays will learn tomorrow night whether their entry has earned a prize ribbon.

Like the First Fridays Art Walk that the galleries and Art House host the first Friday of each month, the crawl tomorrow night will have the feel of an exhibit opening, Taylor said.

"The public is invited to see the works by the students," she added. "The biggest participation is in the painting and drawing, definitely the two-dimensional work."

Taylor said art supporters have been wowed by the students' efforts portrayed on the promotional flier created by the Tom James Gallery of Fine Arts staff. "There's some real talent in these schools," she said.

Five stops to see it all

The Art House, 215 W. Cady St., will house the 60 middle school contributions. About 30 works each will be displayed in the Tom James, Northville Gallery, Sherrus Gallery of Fine Art and Swearingen Visions.

Taylor said this eighth annual exhibit is part of a series of student shows throughout the month. The Art House opened March with the non-profit Michigan Art Education Association Region 2 juried art show.

The final student exhibit of the month will be the Northville senior show March 30-April 1 at the Cady Street venue. Students will plan and execute the entire show, including sale of some pieces.

Taylor said these events are great opportunities for students to show off their ability.

"For the students, I think it's personal recognition for some of the outstanding work that they're doing in a field that isn't always encouraged and appreciated these days," she said. "So often, the kids are complimented for high grades in math and science."

"The arts are one of the first things to go when there are budget cuts."

Our fundamental purposes are to enhance the lives of our readers, nurture the home towns we serve and contribute to the business success of our customers.

Let's all play nice

The air was thick with accusations of conspiracy at the Northville City Council meeting Monday night.

"Political hacks." "Taxation without representation." "Cowing to special interest groups." "Subjugation to a permanent minority position."

These insults were hurled at neighbors, people who all say they're from Northville, allegedly partnered in sharing services in the best interests of the entire community.

Label the township's demand for increased influence in the shared recreation programming strong-arm tactics if you want. To call changes in the department's long-term planning focus anything other than overdue restructuring is a detachment from reality.

At what corporation — if the desire is to run government as an effective business — does the smallest shareholder get the largest voice? Do those same critics want to send the township packing with their interest-free funding of shared facilities? The hand repeatedly extended for assistance is suddenly repulsive?

To cloak the self-centered determination to cling to the status quo with the need for the average resident to be heard was disingenuous. There was no threat of choking public input.

Checked the response rate of any public surveys lately? Busy people want the local leaders they selected as champions of their values to act on their behalf. They act or they're not asked back.

Clutching the way things are just because that's the way they've always been works with antique tablecloths, not healthy relationships. Only self-examination, continuously communicating needs and solid cooperative planning will nurture a mutually satisfying partnership.

Cooperation is not a concept of convenience. It's a desirable process that yields benefits to parties sharing as they are able. You know, things like recreation.

Invest future on research universities

Any company in big-time trouble has to do two things: First, cut costs to the bone. That's rule one for survival. But no company can prosper without driving up sales of its major product lines.

Therefore, the second rule for any struggling concern: Launch a long-range investment program designed to strengthen your most competitive, durable and proprietary assets.

Doing that equips you to compete, and maybe even thrive.

And the tragedy up to now is that Michigan has done neither.

We've had plenty of chances. Over the years, we could have radically cut costs by restructuring state government. We could have closed prisons and taken a hard look at our generous state pension and health care benefits. We could have slashed wasteful overhead costs in school districts and overlapping local government units.

But we didn't do it. We could have faced the fact that Michigan led the nation in job losses for the entire decade, 1995-2005. Those numbers could have told us, had we cared to analyze them, that the long-term auto manufacturing base of our economy was in desperate trouble.

But we didn't. We could have taken serious, far-reaching steps to fix the chronic billion-dollar-plus structural deficit in the state's General Fund. But we didn't do that, either.

Instead, over the last five years we adopted a series of one-time accounting gimmicks that never got to the heart of the problem and merely patched the state's finances together with the fiscal equivalents of chewing gum and bailing wire.

And we could have, meanwhile, taken a hard look at what kind of Michigan we wanted to construct over the next decade. We could have identified our durable, distinctive competitive assets and launched an investment program to feed those assets and regain our competitiveness. But again, we didn't do that either.

Instead, we starved our university system, especially the research universities. We short-changed the environment that sustains our marvelous quality of life. And we cut back on investing in human capital — the brains and skills of our people.

So when Gov. Jennifer Granholm comes back to Lansing from her tour around the state, she won't find things much different in Lansing than when she left. And when House Speaker Andy Dillon and Senate Majority Leader Mike Bishop finally sit down to thrash out what needs to be done — pronto — to resolve a billion dollar hole in the state budget, they won't have time to do much more than apply more chewing gum and bailing wire to the balance sheet.

It's too bad, because all three of our top leaders are smart and sensible people, trying to do their best with an impossibly difficult situation. But they're as locked in as anybody else by a pervasive lack of long-term strategic thinking about our state's future.

Yet there is one thing that happened last week which is cause for a glimmer of optimism, and that's what the three research or "constitutional" universities did last week.

They came together and proposed that University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Wayne State University be separately funded from the other 12 public universities in the state.

The big three argued that the research universities in fact drive a lot of the state's economic future. They noted too that state funding for their institutions has experienced something like a net 14 percent cut in state support since 2001.

"Here we are," said WSU President Irvin Reid, "the three research universities, bringing in in excess of $1.3 billion (in federal, state and business research grants) annually to the state. ... And we are spending that here in the state. ... we're not only creating jobs, ... we're creating knowledge, which hopefully will lead to more jobs."

The core of the argument for supporting research universities is a powerful one: Collectively, they return $26 to the state for each dollar of state support. "You find me another place where the state invests $1 and gets $21 (she meant to say $26) back," U-M President Mary Sue Coleman told the Detroit Free Press.

The presidents pointed to the "Research Triangle" in North Carolina as an example of what can happen over time. Fed by three high quality research universities — Duke, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and North Carolina State University — the triangle today hosts 157 companies, some 50,000 direct and contract employees and an annual payroll of around $2.8 billion.

For years and years, Michigan's leaders have oddly looked on spending money on research universities as an expense, not an investment. You can't get much more wrong-headed than that.

If we're going to get anywhere, the corporation known as the State of Michigan needs to figure out what kinds of long-term investments we need to make in order to survive and compete.

Our great universities are a terrific place to start.

Mr. Lomske's Planned Better Relocated

I am compelled to respond to the alternate town square proposal offered by Mr. Lomske in last week's guest column. Although well intended, his proposed structure will not work in the center of town as well as the open-air plaza currently being designed. I have three reasons.

First, it does not reflect the will of so many people who participated in the strategic planning process these last 30 months. When asked what downtown Northville needs, there was great consensus around the idea of more greened public space in the downtown.

Our current design on the drawing board proposes an open-air plaza with many large overhanging shade trees in wide raised planted flowerbeds. Green vines would grow up both side-building walls, and low flower pots would surround the plaza. This treatment really "greens up" the center of town and would be quite inviting. Lomske's brick building cannot do as good a job of greening the town square as do large shade trees. Frankly it is just too much orange (brick) and not enough green.

Also, I am opposed to this alternate proposal because it is not open. His proposed structure, however open at the ends and presumably glass-roofed, is still a building.

It would provide no visual relief from the brick-walled streetscape as one walks on Main Street toward the plaza. An important principle of town planning is to widen the open-air public promenade in the center, thus providing an open "room" for public gathering. Our current design does that well. Lomske's design does not.

Finally, I oppose the proposed building because it is too expensive. The $2.5 to $3 million price tag (my estimate) is twice the cost of our current design. It would preclude us from fixing the streetscape, which is in need of refreshing and repair.

So I am opposed to this alternate proposal because it is neither green enough nor open enough nor financially feasible. However, I do like Lomske's idea for another location. It would be better suited where the former Stinson factory was actually located, in what we refer to as "Cadytown" (bounded by E. Main, Griswold and the Rouge River).

If the Farmer's Market were to relocate someday to Cadytown, this glass-covered building could provide a great anchor for market day. Also, it might also become another performing venue in the future "theater district", made possible by the opening of the new Tipping Point Theater.

I thank Mr. Lomske for taking the time and creative energy to get involved and encourage him to join our Volunteer Design Committee, where all ideas are valued.

Why not consider more options for the Town Square concept?

Hopefully, more citizen discussions could occur to help the town square concept take on a more meaningful theme.

It is hard to picture our Victorian Festival taking place within the current town square concept. It would be nice if the citizens could have alternative proposals to view and discuss prior to making a final decision.

If we were to explore a pavilion type of concept we could host vintage car shows, a farmers market, fund-raising events, concerts, and caroling all within a partially protected enclosure. We also could set up long rows of tables, bring in a German band and host an Oktoberfest. All income producing activities. Volunteers could create a month long, "Charles Dickens" Christmas display.

All of this would be possible in a pavilion that could have overhead illumination, and secured at night to protect the displays vs. an open plaza. Just think how beautiful the pavilion's upper mezzanine would look with Christmas trees all around it, lights and garland hanging from the rafters and handrail.

During our Christmas Walk week, you would look through the entrance arch, and see a huge decorated Christmas tree lighting up the center of the pavilion.

A fireplace could welcome visitors in to warm up by, and cast a flickering glow onto the interior brick and plaster walls.

The interior brick walls of the pavilion could have murals on them, similar to the Common Grill in Chelsea, Michigan.

The plaster sections would have a rich patina, as if they dated back for many years, and positioned between the arched windows.

The murals would depict the rich history of Northville. The historical story book would start on the mezzanine level and gradually work its way down to the main level. The murals would be painted by local artists or students. It would be an outdoor art gallery.

Each year or so to commemorate a unique event, to honor an individual or group that contributed to Northville's ongoing history, or someone who gave their life for our country, a new mural would be added.

The walls of the pavilion would become a pictorial time capsule of our town for students, citizens and visitors to enjoy and learn from. We could start the story with Starkweather, Tibbits, Yerkes, Thayer, Hines, Haggerty, Ford's influence, and work up to Gov. Jennifer Granholm, Senator Robert Geake, and State Representative, Marc Coriveau, to name a few, and may be even a future U.S. President from Northville.

I hope our town square concept will be a dynamic, evolving showplace for Northville and Michigan, that future generations can contribute to, and continue on with. We have a wealth of history here that we should be proud to display, and share.

A town square concept should be capable of changing with time and be able to take on a personality of its own with age. We need to determine how we define our town. Some people use words like, "out dated, run down, in disrepair" to describe it.

While others say, "historical, charming, quaint, or old fashion." There needs to be further discussion of whether we are destroying something that is "historical" or are we simply replacing something that is "out dated."

If we just hurry up and build something we may be missing a very important opportunity to fully enhance the unique qualities that makes Northville so inviting to most residents, and visitors.

McCotter's Real Results

After receiving an update letter from U.S. Congressman Thaddeus McCotter of the 11th district I felt the need to respond to it. In this letter the congressman went into the detail of 3 different bills that he had co-sponsored during the 109th Congress. They all sounded like they would be good for Michigan, but they all also died with the close of the 109th Congress so none of them became law.

Now I understand that members of Congress are always running for office and they may see the need to remind voters that they are doing something under their job responsibilities, but with the 109th controlled by the Republican party, and he a member of that party, why would he want to remind voters that he was a member of the 109th Congress? A Congress controlled by republicans and dubbed the "do nothing" Congress. A Congress that failed to deal with pressing major issues like the projected future funding short fall of Social Security, and the on going invasion of our country by illegal aliens, just to name two and then add more to the list of things not done.

Along with saying what he worked on, and failed, while his party was in charge, is he telling us to expect less from him in the 110th Congress with democrats in charge?

I suggest to Mr. McCotter, as I have before, that if he wants to get something done for the voters of the 11th district he should consider switching parties.

Restore Health Education Funds

One in nine Michigan citizens has kidney disease, and many do not even know it. Yet vital state programs that help prevent diabetes and kidney disease are about to be terminated. Unless budget cuts to the Michigan Department of Community Health are restored, Michigan will lose $1.1 million in federal funds, eliminating proven programs that educated over 150,000 Michigan citizens last year and can actually reduce long-term health care costs.

These programs are essential to Michigan's present and future health. Please contact Rep. Marc Coriveau today and urge him to restore funding to the diabetes and kidney program line of the 2008 MDCH budget, and to the Healthy Michigan Fund.

Pass the Workplace Smoking Ban Bill

I support SB 109, a bill to make workplaces smokefree, because it protects all Michigan workers, including bar and restaurant employees, from the deadly toxins of secondhand smoke.

The surgeon general states that the only effective protection against secondhand smoke is to completely eliminate indoor smoking. And according to the American Heart Association, constant exposure to environmental tobacco smoke—in the workplace or home—nearly doubles the risk of having a heart attack.

Smokers claim they have rights but they do not have the right to expose citizens to deadly toxins and increase their risk for heart disease.

According to a 2005 CSA poll, two-thirds of Michigan registered voters are in favor of smokefree workplace legislation that includes bars and restaurants, and 80 percent said it is important to work in a smokefree environment.

Michigan needs to join the 26 other states that have enacted smokefree legislation. I call on the Michigan Legislature to protect its workforce and pass SB 109.

Signs of Trouble for Northville?

This morning, I learned that Comerica is headed for Texas, a black day for Michigan. This seemed to be a continuation of last night's theme at the City Council meeting.

Chris Johnson, Carolann Ayres and Jim Allen voted to reorganize the Recreation Commission allegedly to "improve the organizational framework" of the Commission. They, along with Mark Abbo, were the only ones who spoke in favor of the action. Several spoke against but were unheard, except by Michelle Fecht who, much to her credit, cited these comments as influencing her opposition to the plan. The new Commission will be three Township, two City and one School Board, ALL ELECTED OFFICIALS (politicians).

Sacrificed in this decision were the wealth of expertise, experience and dedication of the current board (one of which retired as the Wayne County Director of Park Development), public involvement in the process and at least some insulation from political pressure. The mayor's argument was basically that the Township wants it this way. They now dominate recreation. The City just pays its share of the bill.

This is not a good deal for either City or Township. For example, the current millage budget, as presented to Parks and Rec. last fall, includes an annual Soccer and Baseball subsidy (which Mark Abbo prefers to call "creative revenue reallocation") of approximately $120,000/yr. Could politics be a factor here?

Another Council agenda item, a report on hiring a construction manager for the downtown DDA project, drew comments from Council that we are really under-informed on this project. The DDA is using high-pressure tactics to piecemeal this project in to being by pushing for small approvals at various commissions. A valid project would not require this. Experience tells me that there are no big decisions, only a series of small ones that make the big ones inevitable.

A bright spot was a request for rezoning to permit a theater at Cady and Griswold. I think this would be a good thing for Northville and I hope the two Chucks (Lapham and Gaidica) can make a fair profit in the process. I respect their courage and creativity. Given Michigan's plight and circumstances in Northville, it seems that starting a new enterprise here is akin to buying a ticket on the Titanic after seeing the movie. This project could help turn that around. The discussion of the zoning request did, however, highlight the lack of planning for that section of town and the downtown as a whole, an issue currently being addressed by the Planning Commission.

While the above are separate events I see themes of weak leadership, special interest politics, planning shortcomings and public apathy. However, being the eternal optimist, I expect some of you will prove me wrong. But, please don't wait till the fall election.

Education system changes needed

Phil Power is absolutely correct that we must look at different ways to run our education system. We should root out every expense that is not core to providing education for our children. Business and some departments of government are already doing this.

Beyond what Phil proposes, I would also add: Privatize all non-core functions such as transportation, janitorial services, and outside maintenance. Go beyond consolidating non-instructional functions into Intermediate School Districts and question whether we need as many ISD's as we have. We could lessen the administrative overhead of ISD's if we had Regional School Districts, each encompassing several ISD's. Along those lines, question whether we really need 549 local school districts. While the State should negotiate medical coverage with the Teacher's Union, the Union should not be allowed to dictate where the insurance is purchased. Let the State find the lowest cost provider consistent with the coverage. And, as Phil stated, definitely link pay to performance.

I'm sure there are many more good ideas. Definitely, we need to change the system as it exists, because the trend of resource vs. need is not favorable.

First Presbyterian presents music of composers Bach and Rutter

At 7 p.m. on Sunday, the First Presbyterian Church will present the music of two very different composers but with one common theme: music that reflects the struggles of faith and God's role in those struggles. The concert, a part of the church's Fine Art Series, will feature the music of Johann Sebastian Bach and contemporary composer John Rutter.

Bach wrote an extended musical piece for chorus, soloists and orchestra that was based on the beloved hymn, "A Mighty Fortress is Our God," written by Martin Luther and the "theme song" for the Protestant Reformation. This will be performed by church's pipe organ, harpsicord and orchestra as well as the voices of the Northville Concert Choral and soloists Karen Roberts, Monica Swartout-Bebow, Ryan Banar and Chris Grapentine. The choral will be conducted by Dr. Darlene Kuperus, director of music for First Presbyterian.

The second half of the concert will feature African American Spirituals composed by John Rutter in 2001. The music will reflect the pain, struggle and deep faith of those under the oppression of slavery. Spiritual favorites such as "When the Saints Go Marching In," and "Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child" will also be performed. The choral will be accompanied by the Michigan Sinfonietta Orchestra of Ann Arbor.

Tickets for the concert are available at the church office from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Tickets prices are $15 for adults, $10 for seniors, and $5 for students.

The Fine Arts Series at First Presbyterian presents four to five concerts per year as well as a juried art show. For more information, go to www.firstpresville.org.

Think it over: Officer says drunk driving 100-percent preventable

City cop Chmielewski wins MADD award for fifth consecutive year

By Maureen Johnston
RECORD STAFF WRITER

Sgt. Justin Chmielewski braces for a waft of sickening breath when a suspected drunk driver rolls down the window.

Years of experience have taught the Northville city police officer motorists crossing lanes, bouncing off curbs and driving far over or under the posted speed limit may have overimbibed. He'll respect their rights, but he'll also arrest them.

"It's not such a personal crusade," he said. "Professionally, number one, it's 100-percent preventable."

"No one's forcing people to drink and drive — they're choosing to do so — and that poor decision puts a lot of people at risk."

The many drivers Chmielewski has put through the sobriety paces added up to an award MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Driving) of Wayne County presented last Thursday. For the fifth year in a row, the Northville officer has tallied the most drunk driving arrests for his department in both Wayne and Oakland counties.

Striving for safety

Chmielewski was among 33 officers MADD-Wayne County honored March 1 during an annual Lifesavers Luncheon for their records of removing drunk drivers from Michigan's roadways.

Northville police Capt. Michael Carlson, Chmielewski's training officer, complimented his achievement.

"That's the bottom line — to make the community safe — that's what we're all about," he said.

Chmielewski regards his record of drunk driving arrests as execution of his duties rather than an individual mission.

"The more I do this, the more clearly I can see how it affects people's ability to drive a car," he said. "It endangers everyone on the road."

Watch out at night

pended licenses or drunk driving.

"Most of our arrests do result from traffic stops," Chmielewski said. While on patrol, officers watch for telltale signals, from traveling without headlights in the dark to pulling out in front of other drivers.

"Any number of things could indicate a possibly intoxicated driver," he said. "The evening would be your high occurrence times."

"We see them on the day shifts as well."

Totally preventable

Thanks to video equipment mounted in Northville police patrol cars, every traffic stop is recorded. The tasks Chmielewski asks suspected drunk drivers to perform — touching their nose, walking toe-to-toe and reciting letters or numbers — are measures of alcohol's impact on their motor skills.

"That translates into their ability to drive a car," he explained, adding driving is multi-tasking, requiring maintaining speed while staying in a lane.

"Those simple tasks become hard for someone intoxicated," he said. "People will say that they had 'nothing to drink,' but it's so clear they have."

"I understand it's a very embarrassing situation — standing on the side of the road with everyone passing able to watch."

"It goes back to decision-making, and it's a poor decision."

Executing his duty

When Chmielewski documents his arrests on reports that follow drivers through the court system, he uses words like "glassy eyes," "slurred speech" and "odor of intoxicants."

"It's a very distinct odor, it stands out over perfumes and cigarette smoke," he said. "It's like a slap in the face — it's that obvious."

Chmielewski knows some of the people he leaves behind in holding cells have problems with alcohol.

"Some people do need help," he said. "That's a choice they have to make on their own."

"Sometimes it's a relief to be done with that particular person."

His advice to anyone who consumes alcohol: Before getting behind the wheel, call a friend. These days, most bars have a program set up to supply sober rides home, he said.

"A lot of the people I encounter think the police are out there to give them a hard time," he said. "Our primary responsibility is to enforce traffic safety. And that's for every driver on the road."

Sobering Statistics

- According to the Michigan Drunk Driving audit in 2004, the state had 364 alcohol related traffic fatalities (58 in Wayne County alone).
- More than 100,000 deaths in the U.S. each year are attributable to excessive alcohol consumption.
- Alcohol kills five times more teenagers than all other drugs combined.
- A study by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration shows there are nearly two alcohol-related traffic deaths per hour, 43 per day, and 303 per week. This is the equivalent of two jetliners crashing per week.
- One out of every two Americans will be involved in an alcohol related accident in his or her lifetime.

NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP POLICE REPORT

Woman arrested for assault

An 18-year-old Northville Township woman was arrested for assault and battery after she got into an argument with her mother at 11:40 p.m. Feb. 16 at their home on Jamestown Circle.

The woman's mother told police that her daughter had come home intoxicated and proceeded to swear, shove, hit and spit on her mother.

A preliminary breath test showed a blood alcohol level in the daughter of .13 percent.

No injuries were reported on the mother.

with a stolen license plate at 5:06 p.m. on Feb. 15 at Seven Mile and Haggerty roads.

The man told police that the vehicle he was driving was his, but that the license plate was not. He said that his plate had expired, and he needed to drive to work. He found the plate lying on the side of a liquor store in Detroit, took it and placed it on his car since it had a valid registration tag.

He said he didn't know that the plate was from a stolen car, but that he didn't have permission to use it.

Items stolen from woman's car

A 47-year-old Northville Township woman told police that someone took some items from her purse in her unlocked car between 12:15 and 2:30 p.m. Jan. 30 on Maple Hill Court.

The woman said she had returned home from shopping and parked her car in the driveway. At 2:30 p.m. she went to the drugstore to purchase some items. When she tried to pay for the items, she noticed that her U.S. Bank Visa, Marriott Rewards Visa, $158 in cash and four gift cards valued over $77 were missing from her wallet.

There are no suspects at this time, but the case is still open. None of the credit cards had been used.

A member of a fire cleanup crew continues to extinguish hot spots inside an apartment building of Northville Township's Harbour Village after last Friday's blaze.

Morning fire destroys unit at Harbour Village Apartments

■ Blaze caused by burning candle left unattended

By Pam Fleming
RECORD STAFF WRITER

An early-morning fire caused by a burning candle left unattended destroyed a unit at Harbour Village Apartments off Seven Mile Road in Northville Township on March 2.

The candle that started the 7:35 a.m. blaze was located in the bathroom off of the master bedroom.

"The mother was asleep in the bedroom, and the daughter smelled smoke, awakened her, got both of them out of the apartment and then called 911," said Deputy Chief David Carignan of the Northville Township Fire Department.

Livonia, Plymouth Township and off-duty Northville Township firefighters were called to assist. "Livonia is the designated RIT — Rapid Intervention Team — for Northville Township," Carignan said.

"When we arrived on the scene, flames were coming out of both sides of the building, and it had entered the attic space," he said.

Firefighters made an aggressive interior attack on the building and were able to contain the fire to the apartment of origin and the attic space directly above.

Some structural damage

Some structural damage occurred to the building. The building was immediately evacuated with the assistance of police and apartment maintenance staff.

A few nearby apartments suffered water damage, and ceiling material had to be pulled to prevent extension of the fire.

"The problem is, once a fire spreads into the attic space, it's hard to get to the fire, so we have to pull ceiling in order to get to it," Carignan said.

How to help

To make a donation of food, clothing, household or personal items to fire victims or other needy people in the community, contact Northville Civic Concern at (248) 344-1033.

The brick and frame building affected by the fire is located just east of the apartment complex clubhouse.

Residents in the building, which contains eight apartments, have been temporarily displaced since electricity and water had to be shut off. Some of the apartments weren't occupied, according to Carignan.

"We did allow people to go back to their apartments to gather personal belongings," he said.

Ward Presbyterian Church purse snatcher charged

■ Man arraigned on fourth offense

By Pam Fleming
RECORD STAFF WRITER

A purse snatcher who allegedly preyed on women while they were attending services at Ward Evangelical Presbyterian Church in Northville Township was arraigned in 35th District Court in Plymouth last week.

Terry Hinz, 42, of Westland, appeared before Judge John MacDonald on March 1 and was charged with felony larceny in a building.

He was also charged as a habitual offender, as this was his fourth offense.

The first theft in the case occurred during a New Year's Eve service last year at the church at 40000 Six Mile Road when a purse was stolen off a coat rack while the owner was distracted.

T. Hinz

Three other purses were taken the next day, just after an 11:40 a.m. New Year's Day service, according to township police.

Purses left in bathroom

All of the purses were left in the church bathroom. A surveillance video caught the theft and suspect on tape, and the video was aired on a local station after a television reporter read the report about the theft in the Northville Record.

Subsequently, the Northville Township Police Department received an anonymous call about the suspect.

Hinz was located and interviewed by Northville Township Police detectives. He is not a member of the church and evidently selected the church at random.

Bond set at $10,000

The larceny charge carries a four-year maximum prison term and/or $5,000 in fines. The habitual offender notice can add up to 15 years in prison or less to the charge. MacDonald set Hinz's bond at $10,000.

DNA evidence solves '05 case involving theft of snowblower

■ Suspect back in court March 16

By Pam Fleming
RECORD STAFF WRITER

Like an episode of the popular television crime show "CSI," DNA evidence has led to Northville Township police solving a year-old case.

DNA is an acronym for deoxyribonucleic acid, a nucleic acid that contains genetic instructions for the development and functioning of living organisms.

On Nov. 14, 2005, a Northville Township resident caught a suspect in the progress of stealing his snowblower out of his garage. During the theft, the suspect had a physical altercation with the resident

"The robber suffered a bloody nose in the fight," said Sgt. Matt Mayes of the Northville Township Police Department.

T. Hynes

The suspect and a female suspect escaped with the snowblower. Township detectives conducted investigations for several months with no leads.

Blood samples collected

But, Northville Township Police evidence technicians had collected blood samples left at the scene by the suspect and transported them to the Michigan State Police Crime Laboratory for analysis.

On Dec. 15, 2006, the lab identified the sample through the Combined DNA Index System (CODIS). This system takes DNA specimens from Michigan convicted offenders for analysis.

On March 2, 2007, the suspect, Timothy John Hynes, 40, who is currently incarcerated at the Macomb Correctional Facility, was arraigned in 35th District Court in Plymouth Township before Judge John MacDonald on felony home invasion first degree, unarmed robbery and habitual offender, fourth offense.

A preliminary exam has been set for March 16, according to Mayes.

HARD WORK PAYS OFF FOR D'ANNA

Mustang wrestler Jonny D'Anna spars with teammate Evan Bentley in preparation for the state tournament.

State meet today for 119-pounder

By Jeff Theisen
RECORD SPORTS WRITER

Confidence builder

Northville junior wrestler Jonny D'Anna wants nothing more than to celebrate a state medal with a heaping helping of shrimp fettuccine alfredo.

D'Anna said that will be his celebration dinner if he places at the individual state meet, beginning today at the Palace of Auburn Hills.

"I want to place top four," D'Anna said. "I'll be happy with top eight ... but top four is my ultimate goal."

As long as that comes with a big plate of pasta.

D'Anna (33-8) faces Brighton's Kenny Richmond (43-11) in the first round.

Opening ceremonies begin at 2:15 p.m., with wrestling to start at 2:45 p.m.

D'Anna says he always struggled to gain the confidence that he was going to win every match. The WLAA meet presented him with the opportunity square off against two kids that returned with state-meet experience. D'Anna beat both of them, and his confidence soared.

"Around conferences, I don't know what happened, but something in me picked up and I just kind of been going from there, and I need to keep it going," he said.

"I beat the first kid and I was just like, 'Yeah, I guess I've got this.' I stuck the second kid and I was like, 'I really got this.'"

Northville wrestling head coach Jeff Balagna says he saw the change in D'Anna almost a month before the league meet.

"He just turned it on halfway through they year," Balagna said. "You could see the look in his eye. You could see the switch. He went from being content and wrestling well to he's going to win every tournament he's in."

The waiting game is two-fold for D'Anna. He said the anticipation to get it going is there, but having another week to fine-tune and prepare isn't such a bad thing.

"I'm going to treat it like it's my only shot. I'm guaranteed to go to states this year but not next year," D'Anna said. "I'm just trying to think of it as another meet. It's just when you win it, it's more important."

"I'm just trying work on keeping myself mentally prepared and keeping myself sharp. I can't really improve from now until state. I can decline."

Today at State

The quest to place and celebrate with the shrimp pasta begins today. D'Anna begins his tournament in the 30th match of today's state meet that begins at 2:45 p.m. He faces Kenny Richmond (43-11) of Brighton in the opening round.

Being the lone Northville representative doesn't match the pressure that he puts on himself.

"I'm just like I have to do it. I have to do it, I have to do it," he said. "I have to get that top four in the state. I want to be on the wall of fame in the school."

The only real pressure is on myself to reach that goal."

Submitted to the Northville Record

Northville Boys Varsity hockey had an amazing week of play-offs, bringing down three respectable opponents who stood in the way of the regional title.

After finishing their regular season 15-8-1, the Mustangs definitely needed to bring their best. They proved that they wanted it more every time, with a solid win against Salem at 8-4, hammering South Lyon 10-3 and dominating Brighton 6-1 at the regional match. The regional upset was huge for the Mustangs, since Brighton beat them at last year's regional game and went on to win the State Championship.

In a four-year span, Northville has averaged 17.5 victories, won or shared four straight Western Division WLAA titles and has never been eliminated from the state play-offs by anyone but the eventual state champion Northville was certainly the underdog last Saturday night, and they will head into the quarterfinals with the same covert advantage as they face off with the big dogs of Michigan high school hockey.

The Mustangs took the lead about half way in to the first period of their match against the South Lyon Lions last Thursday at the Plymouth Cultural Center, and they kept a comfortable lead the entire game in spite of the fast paced and physical game South Lyon brought to the all important pre-regional contest.

The first two goals were back to back at a little over six minutes on the clock, and each play involved 4-on-4 turnovers at the blue line, with sophomore Wes Gates and Hohl each scoring unassisted. The Lions scored with 4:52 left, and Northville responded with a series of beautiful short-handed goals.

At 3:49 on the clock, Dawson took the puck in and circled it for a drop pass to Wales for the goal. About a minute later, senior Anthony Deneau tallied another goal. The fifth Mustang goal started when Dawson fought for possession along the boards and dished the puck to Wales who flew in and sent a top shelf shot home. Kreager made the most of the last minute of play when Deneau and sophomore Matt Dembicki set him up and he made an outwardly impossible angle shot that amazed and delighted the goal hungry Mustang fans. With 16:4 seconds left, the Lions scored to end the period 6-2 Northville.

Northville 8, Salem 4

Northville pulled out four goals in the third period to take control against Salem in the opening round against Salem.

Ross Riehl started the scoring for the Mustangs, but the Rocks tied it up, and the period ended one-all.

Both teams traded three goals in the second, with Matt Kreager, Steve Dawson and Brandon Wales tallying goals.

The Rocks kept the pressure on early in the third, and Mustang senior goaltender Andrew Flynn denied them repeatedly until senior Mike Garbarz scored what would be the winning goal with 9:23 on the clock with assists from Dawson and senior Kyle

In the second, Dawson took the puck behind the net and got it to Hohl for the seventh goal. A couple of minutes later, a symphony of rebounds from Wales, Jezak and Hohl finally ended with a quick shot home from Duff who streaked in from the point. The Lions were still playing hard, and notched their third and final goal of the game with 1:01 left on the clock, ending the period 8-3 Northville.

Sophomore defenseman Drew Lamoureux stood out early in the third period, making some smart defensive plays, body blocks and solid passes, which eventually gave Dawson the opportunity for the ninth goal

■ Mustangs place fourth at regionals

Submitted to the Northville Record

The team that almost wasn't, Northville High School Gymnastics, is headed to the State Finals on Friday at Troy Athens High School.

With the implementation last spring of an MHSAA ruling requiring the former Northville-Nowi Wildstangs co-operative team to disband, the future of Gymnastics at Northville High School was uncertain, to say the least. With only three returning gymnasts, Northville Athletic Director, Bryan Masi, provided all of the support that he could, and presented an opportunity for one final year of competition before possibly dissolving the program.

Coached by former University of Michigan gymnast, Erin McWatt, the Mustangs recruited well, and with five freshmen and one new sophomore, they have improved steadily throughout the year. At the Region 2 meet at Plymouth on Saturday, the young Mustangs remained poised in the most important meet of their season to finish fourth of 12 teams. They earned a team score of 142.2 to earn the wildcard berth to the state meet, just 0.45 behind the third-place team, Livonia Red.

Canton was the Regional Champion, with a score of 143.8, followed by Livonia Blue (143.65).

"I couldn't be happier with our team's performance on Saturday," McWatt said. "We knew it would be tight, as the top teams in the region have traded position by tenths of a point, back and forth all season. Our girls were up for the challenge and definitely well prepared, having performed beautifully at the Conference meet last week."

The Mustangs were lead by senior captain, Julie Foucher, who came back from a frightening fall on her bar routine dismount to earn first place finishes on Beam (9.275), Floor (9.35), an 'A' Vault (9.35), and an all-around title (36.325) in Division 2.

"I'm honored to lead this wonderful group of girls, with six of them competing in their first regional meet," Foucher said. "I'm so proud of how they maintained their composure to focus on each event."

In addition to the team competition on Friday, individual competition will be held at Troy Athens on Saturday.

Five of the Mustang's nine gymnasts have qualified for the individual meet. Foucher will compete in all events, as will sophomore Amy Reynolds, who qualified with a third place finish on bars (8.95) and beam (9.175) and fifth all-around (34.8). Julie Davison, also a sophomore, will compete on beam, where she finished eighth (8.8).

WLAA Runner-Up

By Jeff Thelsen
RECORD SPORTS WRITER

Despite beating Canton twice during the regular season, the Chiefs won the third matchup and claimed the WLAA tournament title with a 50-40 win Feb. 28.

The loss snaps a 12-game winning streak for the Mustangs and denied them of repeating as tournament champs.

Northville looked in control early, taking an 11-6 lead by the end of the first quarter.

The Chiefs caught fire offensively in the second quarter and took a 24-21 lead into halftime.

The lead stretched to 38-32 by the end of the third quarter.

Clutch free-throw shooting allowed Canton to pull away and stretch the lead to 14 with just under two minutes to play.

Alvin Storrs led all scorers with 25 points.

Neil Sharma led the Chiefs with 23 points, including four three-pointers.

The two met up again Wednesday night. If the Mustangs won, they advanced to the district finals 7 p.m. Friday at Canton.

Northville Volleyball

The Northville volleyball season came to a close against No. 3 ranked Livonia Churchill in district play. The Mustangs cruised through the first two games before running into Churchill.

Northville finishes the year a school-record 43-6-3. All losses came to state-ranked teams except one.

"Every school record was broken," Northville head coach Steve Anderson said. "I couldn't ask for more from the senior class. They're truly athletes."

Northville beat Plymouth to start district play, 25-19, 25-19, 25-17. The next match was blowout against Canton 25-8, 25-19, 25-6.

Churchill win the district with a 25-19, 25-19, 25-17 victory.

"It was a battle of top-20 teams," Anderson said. "Whoever makes the most mistakes will lose the match. We matched up in all areas, but we had trouble with our serve receive."

The Mustangs placed four on the All-Region team: Joanna Foss, Krysta Cicala, Katie Moran and Amanda Marquardt.

Northville Cheer

The Northville competitive cheer team finished ninth of 14 teams at the regional meet Saturday in Southgate. The Mustang season came to an end as only the top two teams advance to the state meet.

The Mustangs scored 182.5 points in the first round, 184.1 in the second and 270.5 in the third for an overall score of 637.1.

Southgate Anderson won the regional with 734.3 points. Novi also advanced with 728.5.

Northville won Saturday's regional by knocking off Brighton, last year's state champs.

with 12:42 on the clock, assisted by Hohl and Wales. Smart defense continued to be the name of Northville's game for the remainder of the third period. Juniors Andy Close, Mike Piotrowski and Dembicki worked like a well oiled machine, maintaining possession in the Lion's zone until Piotrowski delivered a huge check and followed up with a pretty shot to score the 10th and final goal of the game, with assists from Kreager and Dembicki. Final score, 10-3 Northville.

Northville 6, Brighton 1

The Regional Final on March 3 was an exciting match for the duration of the game, in spite of the 6-1 score, and both teams played a clean game, which made for a great contest. Northville knows better than to face state champions like Head Coach Paul Moggach, and players Jason Fellwock and Matt Pietilla lightly, but Brighton may have underestimated the Mustangs going in. Northville took the early advantage with 13:12 on the clock when Wales shot through a crowded slot with assists from Hohl and Ziomek. Just under four minutes into the game, Hohl notched another with assists from Wales and sophomore Wes Gates. The Mustangs finished the period with defensive finesse against a seemingly stunned Brighton team. Highlights included strong goaltending by Flynn, big hits by Duff, and a brilliant poke check by Kreager, which shut down a threatening drive by Fellwock. Shots on net were 10 by the Bulldogs and seven for Northville.

Early in the second period, Flynn went to the corner and was knocked down trying to clear the puck and Gates stepped in to defend the net and stopped a series of shots that any seasoned goaltender might have missed. TJ Hohl scored the first goal of the period for the Mustangs from the slot with assists from Kreager and Jezak. At 8:45 on the clock, Uetz drove in on a breakaway from the blue line to slip it in through the five hole for the fourth Mustang goal, with assists going to Wales and senior Kyle Storey. A few minutes later, Dawson out hustled two Bulldog defensemen to pop it in the net, with assists from Gates and Storey. Pietilla took advantage of a pass across the slot to score one for the Bulldogs, and the period ended at 5-1 Northville, with the Mustangs now outshooting the Bulldogs 16-14.

Hohl earned his hat trick early in the third with assists from Ziomek and Duff. Before it was over, Northville out shot Brighton 25-20, and the game ended with a final score of 6-1, with Northville winning the regional and advancing to the quarterfinal playoffs.

If Northville beats OL St. Mary's in the quarterfinal, it will advance to the semifinals 8:30 p.m. Friday at Compuware.

MY FOOD FOR THOUGHT

fax (248) 349-9832Home Owners Do You Know
Five Dangerous
Hazards in your Home?

Increasingly, home-owners are learning the inside story on how hazards found inside homes can pose threats to their family's health.

The items identified below are important reasons homeowners, and homebuyers, need to have the home thoroughly tested by a certified home inspector. Not only are certified home inspectors able to detect such problems, but we have access to experts who can remedy the issues.

Randall Patterson

Here are a few hazards to understand and have the home tested for:

• Radon, a colorless, odorless, tasteless gas, can be present in surrounding soil and can penetrate into the home. The radioactive particles radon creates can damage your lungs and cause lung cancer. The only way to know if your house has radon is to test the house. If the home has elevated levels of Radon there is a simple and relatively inexpensive solution to remove the radon, but it is not a do-it-yourself project.

• Asbestos is a fibrous material used in construction because it's durable and fire retardant, but it has also been identified as a cancer-causing substance. Asbestos can be found in insulation, around pipes and furnaces and in vinyl tiles and flooring materials. When it's moved, tiny asbestos fibers are released into the air and can be inhaled. Once ingested, asbestos fibers can lodge in the lungs. Surveying the home and removing the asbestos should be done by trained and certified professionals. Have your home checked if you are unsure if you have any Asbestos issues.

• Hazardous wastes are potentially dangerous materials, such as pesticides or fertilizers that were not properly stored or disposed of. Some hazardous wastes can cause death even when ingested in small amounts. Other hazardous wastes have been linked to elevated levels of cancer, permanent damage to organs, respiratory difficulties, skin rashes, birth defects and diseases that attack the central nervous system. Removal methods depend on the type of waste. Be aware of these issues when storing materials in your garage, etc.

• Well water contamination occurs when hazardous chemicals seep down through the soil into underground water supplies. The U.S. Centers for Disease Control reports an average of approximately 7,500 cases of illness linked to drinking water in the United States each year. Faulty septic systems can also contribute to this hazard. The only way to know if your water is contaminated is to test it. We provide both Well Water testing and Septic System inspections that will identify any issues. You will receive Peace of Mind in knowing the conditions of these systems for your family's health.

• Air Quality Did You Know? According to the Environmental Protection Agency, your indoor air can be two to five times more polluted than outdoor air. Homeowners can identify and know the existing conditions of the air in their home. Having a home air quality test completed will detect and identify any possible health hazards in the home. You will receive a detailed report which identifies the type of molds that are present in your home. Mold spores in your home may cause your family to have various health related issues.

Call us to have your home environmental testing completed.

Tempting FLAVOR PAIRINGS

Make Main Dishes Shine

FAMILY FEATURES

Good things come in pairs, and flavor is no exception. Professional chefs know the secret to combining sweet, hot, tangy, salty, bitter and sour for crave-worthy dishes, and now everyday cooks are discovering this concept as well. The right combinations can turn basic main dish meals into tasty adventures. With a greater variety of ingredients and influences at our fingertips — in restaurants, grocery stores and on TV cooking shows — experimenting with flavor pairings has never been easier or more exciting.

Crystallized ginger and salted pistachio, maple and wasabi, and toasted mustard and fennel seeds are among the trendiest flavor pairings, according to the "McCormick Flavor Forecast 2007."

The palate-pleasing combination of salty and sweet goes upscale with crystallized ginger and salted pistachio. While it is an ideal pairing for desserts, the dynamic duo is equally delicious in main dish recipes, such as Ginger-Pistachio Crusted Chicken With Tangerine Sauce.

Watch out when wasabi and maple — the ultimate in sweet heat — team up. Accented by ginger and garlic, Maple Wasabi Glazed Salmon features an exciting twist on teriyaki. This combination is also great for enhancing the flavor of stir-fries, ribs and chicken.

Though their appearance is tiny, when mustard and fennel seeds join forces, the result is a mighty punch of flavor and texture. For a light, delicious main dish salad, try Fennel and Mustard Seed Crusted Shrimp With Apricot Dressing. Toasting the seeds adds depth to their flavor.

For additional recipes and more information on this year's Flavor Forecast, visit www.mccormick.com or call 1-800-MEAL-TIP (1-800-632-5847).

Toasting spices
is fast and easy:

1. Place dry skillet over medium heat.
2. Once pan is hot, pour in desired amount of seeds.
3. Using a spatula, stir seeds in pan until they become fragrant, approximately 1 to 2 minutes.

 3. Heat oil in large skillet on medium heat. Add shrimp; cook 3 to 5 minutes or just until shrimp turn pink, turning once. Divide greens among 4 serving plates. Top with shrimp. Serve with apricot dressing.

Course offers sales training for real estate agents

BY GREG MULLIN
STAFF WRITER

A new sales training course aims to help newly licensed real estate sales agents develop a sustainable business plan.

Rick Conley, the new director of educational development for the Metropolitan Consolidated Association of Realtors, says that without formal training, a real estate agent will likely fail within the first year.

"They are lacking an effective business plan to sustain for a year," Conley said. "They need a business plan. They need a contact management system to stay in contact with customers and clients so that they'll get repeat business."

Conley

"They don't know how to effectively prospect for business."

The "Agent Accelerator" is an eight-day, 40-hour sales course. The cost of the class is $197, which includes a leatherette presentation portfolio and all course materials.

Future start dates for the course include May 14, Sept. 24 and Nov. 26. The courses are being held in Troy, at 2125 Butterfield, and Clinton Township, at 36800 Gratiot Ave. The class meets Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday for two weeks.

"This is for newly licensed sales agents," Conley said. "And it is highly recommended for re-start agents (those re-entering the business). This gives them two to three years of experience by taking this eight-day course. This gives them a full, complete foundation for the entire real estate process."

The course aims to: Provide agents with hands-on sales listing and closing experience; teach agents how to conduct presentations and dialogue to their advantage; show how to leverage the Internet and contact management systems; and offer sales-tracking strategies. Also included: How to understand real estate client relationships; manage risk; comply with laws and rules; and more.

"Without a course like this, an agent is just not prepared," Conley said. "I can't overemphasize the need for this."

Conley said the course is approved by the state of Michigan as 14 hours of continuing education credit.

The MCAR School of Real Estate is open to the public.

For those who would like to become licensed, MCAR is offering a new pre-licensing course which costs $197 and prepares individuals for the Michigan Real Estate Salesperson's Exam. It is also offering a six-hour "Con-ed" course that is $50 and addresses Michigan real estate myths, updated Michigan statutes and rules and real estate-related case law.

For more information about upcoming classes, visit www.mcaronline.com.

MCAR is an association devoted to serving real estate agents, brokers, appraisers and affiliates in Oakland and Macomb counties.

Builders association names VP

Robert (Bob) Jones, a luxury home builder from Bloomfield Hills was elected vice president and secretary of the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) by its 235,000 members. Jones' company, Robert R. Jones

Homes, is expected soon to announce a major new luxury housing development in the Ann Arbor area.

"I'm honored and excited to serve the industry I've been a part of for more than 25 years," said Jones. "The tide is shifting in the right direction in our business, and we need to make sure we provide the resources our fellow builders need for success."

The election took place during the NAHB's annual International Builders' Show in Orlando on Feb. 9. Jones' new role elevates him to the level of Senior Officer in the NAHB and puts him on the ladder to become president in 2010.

Jones said many priorities from 2006 will remain on the NAHB agenda this year - efforts to reform oversight of housing government sponsored enterprises, secure federal funding for key housing programs, expand the availability of workforce housing and improve federal regulations designed to protect the environment.

During his run for office Jones embarked on a yearlong nationwide tour, visiting state and local business associations, attending regional builders conferences and meeting with past NAHB leaders, as well as some of the best and brightest new talent in the industry.

"The common attribute among all our members is their commitment," Jones said. "They are involved and knowledgeable about the industry and candid about the challenges they face. The thoughts they shared provided me with a solid understanding of national home builder issues. This campaign has been a fantastic educational experience."

Jones and his wife Carole founded Robert R. Jones Homes in Michigan in 1979, and he became involved in local, state and national builder associations early on. Previously, he was Michigan's national representative to NAHB and named National Representative of the Year. Jones was president of the Michigan Association of Home Builders and served as president of the Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan, which inducted him into its Hall of Fame in 2000. He served as chairman of several major NAHB committees and participated in various other committees and task forces, including positions on NAHB's powerful Budget and Finance Committee.

Jones

Two-story homes planned

Westchester Village, a Bloomfield Township community of some 350 ranches first developed in 1953, will now allow the construction of two-story homes, as the result of a change in a deed restriction.

Builders Wellington-Chase Homes of Bloomfield Hills and Hunter-Roberts Homes of Birmingham are involved in the re-development of the community.

With four new homes already built, and more to come, owners of existing ranches are getting on the redevelopment bandwagon: they're considering renovating their ranches to include first-floor masters, and redesigning layouts suited to empty nesters.

"We're really excited about this opportunity to enhance the community," said Ken Peterson, partner, Wellington-Chase Homes. "It's the perfect neighborhood for this mix of one and two-story homes. Unlike other upscale urban areas, the two-story homes in Westchester won't infringe on the privacy of neighbors, or cast shadows on their homes - the lots in Westchester are large."

Wellington-Chase Homes, at 36240 Woodward Ave. in Bloomfield

Hills, was established in 1999 and specializes in the Birmingham-Bloomfield area. Partners Brett Boes, Ken Peterson and Ron Grobelny have backgrounds in engineering, architecture and construction. Wellington-Chase Homes is a member of Licensed Builders - State of Michigan, National Association of Home Builders - Washington D.C., Building Industries Association of SE Michigan, Michigan Association of Home Builders and The Birmingham Builders Task Force. They are also members of and contributors to the Macomb County Habitat for Humanity (Ken Peterson is a past president) and Rebuilding Together Macomb - president. For Realtors it pays to be a Good Neighbor - applications open for $10,000 grants

The National Association of Realtors is seeking nominations for its eighth annual Good Neighbor Awards, which recognizes Realtors whose extraordinary commitment to volunteer work has enhanced and improved their communities.

The five winners will be announced in November in REALTOR Magazine and recognized at the 2007 REALTORS Conference & Expo in Las Vegas. Each winner will receive travel expenses to the conference, national media exposure for his or her community cause, and a $10,000 grant. In addition to the winners, five honorable mentions will each receive a $2,500 grant. Last year's program drew more than 300 entries.

"The Good Neighbor Awards program highlights the volunteer work that Realtors across the country are quietly doing to help others in their communities," said NAR President Pat Vredevoogd Combs, of Grand Rapids and vice president of Coldwell Banker-AJS-Schmidt. "These people don't expect any recognition, but they certainly deserve the spotlight. I'm proud that the Good Neighbor Awards allows NAR to honor some of the many Realtors who strengthen their communities through volunteer work."

Last year's winners contributed a combined total of nearly 7,000 hours to their causes.

Good Neighbor Awards winners say their charities benefit from much more than the grant money. "When I received the Good Neighbor Award, it immediately brought attention to both of the projects I was working on," said Craig Conant, Warrensburg, Mo., a 2001 Good Neighbor Awards winner. "The publicity let people know about the needs of Big Brothers/Big Sisters and brought a great deal of attention to the Children's Memorial Park. We received other donations and new volunteers from the publicity."

Good Neighbor Awards entries must be received by May 25. For more details and a nomination form, call (800) 874-6500, go to www.realtor.org/realtormag and click the "Good Neighbor" button, or see the March 2007 issue of REALTOR Magazine.

Lawyer asks if documents violate perpetuity rule

Q. I am a lawyer and am wondering whether our documents, which contain a right for a first refusal, might be in violation of the rule against perpetuities, which I've never understood. Do you have any comments?
A. Generally, the rule against perpetuity would not be implicated because a right of first refusal is contractual in nature and does not create an interest in land. The agreement can be interpreted as not violating the rule against perpetuities but it would take too much of my column to try to simply explain what the rule is; suffice it to say that you do not have a problem based upon a recent Michigan Court of Appeals decision. In any event, rights of first refusal are disfavored by the secondary mortgage market and you ought to consider removing it from your condominium or community association documents.

willing to cooperate or even live by its own documents. This may be the tip of the iceberg in terms of what the developer should be doing for the association. You should retain a knowledgeable community association lawyer as soon as possible and raise sufficient funds among the co-owners to retain the attorney to assist in the turn over process and to otherwise negotiate with the developer to insure that the co-owners are protected and are knowledgeable about the turnover.

Q. Our condo association is preparing to take over from the developer but the developer has refused to meet with the advisory committee. What should we do?
A. The developer's unwillingness to meet with the advisory committee is an indication that the developer is not

Benefits are out there for buyers

Real estate trends and economic conditions are beyond our ability to control, but within our ability to use for strategic advantage.

Right now in Southeastern Michigan, home shoppers gain an upper hand because of enticing choices, price flexibility, cost-free upgrades and lower mortgage rates than during 2006. This timely convergence generates fresh interest in a market sector where activity had slowed.

This February, for instance, the rate for a 30-year fixed mortgage dropped to 6.3 percent in a national survey of large lenders. That's an average of rates that slip below 6 percent in a few cases. Last summer, the benchmark rate was nearly 7 percent. Here in our area, many builders offer discounted financing and deal-closing incentives that make borrowing costs ultra-attractive. Some provide assistance selling a house to clear the way for a move.

Other attractions include top-quality homes throughout Southeastern Michigan in all styles, sizes, settings and price categories. Designer touches often are standard installations, such as granite work surfaces, landscaping, whirlpool tubs and other high-end appliances.

With buyers' advantages unlikely to get stronger, it's an opportune time to advance to a larger home, to relocate to an amenity-rich new community or to enjoy the comfort and practicality of energy-efficient technology used in modern homes and condominiums.

"We're seeing more and more traffic from local homeowners who realize this market opens a chance to trade up," comments John Babcock, president of Babcock Homes. "Even if their current home has dipped a bit in value, the price of higher-end properties also is down. And at the same time, they have extra bargaining power because builders want to reduce inventories before the new construction season."

Interest also arises among apartment tenants eager for the tax savings and equity of home ownership, as well as from empty-nesters looking at the maintenance-free convenience of a resort-style community with recreation facilities.

Choices include townhomes with two or three bedrooms at Beacon Hill, a Babcock Homes project in Commerce Township, or its new single-family communities in White Lake, Clarkston, Northville and South Lyon — with listings that start at $335,000.

By spring, which traditionally brings out home shoppers, the marketplace balance could tilt. Mortgage rates move monthly. Timid shoppers may regret awaiting the absolute best deal, which can come and go while they're on the fence.

The most dangerous hazards in your home

(NAPSI)-Increasingly, homebuyers are learning the inside story on how hazards found inside homes can pose threats to their health.

"These hazards are an important reason homebuyers need to have their home thoroughly tested by a home inspector," said Dan Steward, president of Pillar To Post, North America's leading provider of home inspection services. "Not only are home inspectors able to detect such problems, but they have access to experts who can treat or remove the problem."

Here are a few hazards to look for:

■ Radon, a colorless, odorless, tasteless gas, can be present in surrounding soil or well water and seep into the parts of the home closest to the ground. The radioactive particles that radon creates can damage your lungs. The only way to know if your house has radon is to test the house. There are relatively inexpensive ways to remove radon, but it's not a do-it-yourself project.

■ Asbestos is a fibrous material used in construction because it's durable and fire retardant, but it has also been identified as a cancer-causing substance. Asbestos can be found in insulation, around pipes and furnaces and in vinyl tiles and flooring materials. When it's moved, minute asbestos fibers are released into the air and can be inhaled through the nose and mouth. Once ingested, asbestos fibers can lodge in the lungs. Surveying the home and removing the asbestos should be done by trained professionals.

■ Lead is a metallic element that, when ingested, can accumulate in the blood, bones and soft tissue of the body. High concentrations of lead in the body can cause death or permanent damage to the central nervous system, the brain, the kidneys and red blood cells.

Children are especially vulnerable since their bodies are still growing. Lead can be found in drinking water and in old pipes and can be airborne or present in lead-based paint. The only way to know for sure if your home's paint contains lead is to have it tested in a qualified laboratory.

Ask American Profile

Q What is Steven Seagal doing? We miss his movies.

—J. Margaret Bryan, Carnegie, Pa.

Watch for Seagal, 55, to be back in his rock'em, sock'em groove with the upcoming movies Flight of Fury and Once Upon a Time in the Hood. He also is a musician with a world-class collection of vintage and unique guitars. His second album of original blues, Mojo Priest, was released last summer.

Steven Seagal makes movies and music.

Q Can you tell me if Mickey Rooney is still alive?

—Kent Syverson, Willmar, Minn.

Very much so! The 86-year-old Hollywood veteran is busy juggling several movie roles. He plays a night watchman in Night at the Museum, recently in theaters, and has parts in the upcoming comedies Halloween, The Greatest Show Ever and Bamboo Shark.

Mickey Rooney

Q I loved watching The Rifleman. Whatever became of Chuck Connors and the actor who played his son?

—Jean Johnston, Elk City, Okla.

Kevin Joseph Aloysius "Chuck" Connors, who played sure-shootin' Lucas McCain on the TV Western from 1958 to 1962, died of lung cancer and pneumonia in 1992. His tombstone in San Fernando, Calif., is etched with the Rifleman logo, plus logos of the three professional baseball or basketball teams (the Dodgers, Mets and Celtics) for which he briefly played before finding Hollywood stardom. Connors' TV son, Mark, was played by Johnny Crawford, now 60 and fronting his own band, the Johnny Crawford Dance Orchestra, in Los Angeles. Good news for Rifleman fans: The Encore Westerns premium channel airs reruns every weeknight and Saturday mornings.

Chuck Connors, right, and Johnny Crawford starred in The Rifleman.

Q Please tell me about CBS reporter Thalia Assuras. She's my favorite.

—Dollie Griffith, Cleveland, Tenn.

Canadian native Assuras, 55, graduated from the University of Western Ontario with a degree in microbiology and immunology. Coming to the U.S. in 1993, she worked for ABC, then joined CBS in 1997. As a national correspondent for CBS' The Early Show since 2002, she's covered dozens of major stories, from the Kosovo refugee crisis to 9/11, and says some of the heartbreaking scenes forever will be etched in her mind. "It's hard, but you can't let it affect you," she says. "And often, these tragedies display a reaffirmation of the human spirit."

Actor Van Johnson

Now 90, Johnson made dozens of movies during his acting career, which began in the 1930s and frequently found him in musicals or cast as the all-American Yank sent off to do his patriotic chore overseas—even though a metal plate in his head, the result of a car crash in 1942, kept him out of World War II service in real life. He worked steadily into the early 1990s, making his last movie appearance in the 1992 drama Clouning Around and then retiring in New York.

Q One of the best things about the television series Mythbusters is the beautiful Kari Byron. What can you tell me about her?

—John Foster, Kissimmee, Fla.

Byron was a natural for the gonzo science of Mythbusters. By age 5, when not using dolls as crash-test dummies, she was setting up experiments involving her little sister. Luckily, her parents usually intervened before her sis took a ride down a laundry chute or became the subject of a 360-degree swing-set test. After graduation from San Francisco State University, where she studied film and sculpture, Byron worked in model-making and toy prototyping, which is how she got her break with Mythbusters. She recently married and lives in San Francisco.

Kari Byron lights up Mythbusters.

Sharing His Faith

by BEVERLY KEEL

Tom Lester as "Eb"

Until they saw him on television playing the bumbling but loveable farmhand Eb on Green Acres in the late 1960s, almost no one in Tom Lester's hometown of Laurel, Miss., thought he would become a successful actor in Hollywood.

"They said, 'You are too tall, too skinny, too ugly, you have a Southern accent and you don't look like Rock Hudson,'" says Lester, now 68, who stands a gangly 6 feet, 4 inches.

But he persevered, and the same sense of self that landed him in TV land eventually drove him from Hollywood into an even greater calling.

Today, the Green Acres TV star runs his family's farm and shares his Christian convictions.

Greg Campbell

Today, Lester is a farmer and Christian speaker who travels the nation, preaching a message of faith and obedience.

He acknowledges it has been an improbable journey.

After studying chemistry and biology at the University of Mississippi, graduating in 1960 and teaching for one year in Purcell, Okla., Lester decided to follow his heart, move to Los Angeles and start acting—even though he had no theater experience.

"God never took the time to make a nobody," he says. "People go through life wishing they had tried to do something, but they're afraid to try because they're afraid they'll fail. The failure is in not trying."

Less than three years later, Lester beat out 400 other would-be stars to land the role of Eb Dawson on the CBS comedy Green Acres, which aired from 1965 until 1971.

After the series was canceled, Lester parlayed his Green Acres stardom into an opportunity to share his lifelong Christian faith, speaking almost every weekend in churches. He landed a few more acting roles, including a part in the 1974 movie Benji, but his spiritual beliefs increasingly began to conflict with scripts that crossed his desk.

"I couldn't go into a church and share my faith and be in a movie downtown that people in the church wouldn't see because of the subject matter or language," he says. After he turned down a beer commercial, his talent agency dropped him.

So 13 years ago, Lester returned to Laurel (pop. 18,893) and began a new life tending the land and spreading God's word. Never married—"The Lord never gave me the right one," he says—he lives with his parents, both of whom are in their 90s, and runs the 500-acre family farm in nearby Vossburg.

"He is strong in his convictions, whether it is working or raising wild-life or loving the Lord," says his close friend, Robert Woodall.

Lester makes about 25 speeches annually—fewer last year because he was repairing damage from Hurricane Katrina, which blew five giant oak trees onto his house—mixing folksy stories of Green Acres with his views on religion, education and politics.

"Tom is one of the most warm and winsome folks that you will find anywhere," says Randy Turner, pastor of First Baptist Church in Laurel. "One of the strongest things about him is his Christian faith, and he is very consistent with that."

Lester tries to live his faith authentically. "If, with God's help, I wasn't living the Christian life, then me speaking across the country wouldn't have the effect that it has," he says.

Because of a dearth of roles in Hollywood that meet his standards, Lester began to create his own. Last fall, he released a 58-minute DVD movie called Mel and Tom in Huntin' Buddies, which features country star Mel Tillis and veteran comic actor Tim Conway. "It's funny and something decent the family can watch," he says. "You can show it in church if you want to. The American public is crying out for clean entertainment."

Lester has no regrets about a life and career built on faith and family values

Helpful Tips for Around the House

Garbage bag holder

Keep your garbage bag in place with sections of old garden hose. Cut four 9-inch-long pieces of hose, slit them lengthwise and place them over the garbage can rim.

Baseball cap trim protector

Prying a bent nail from woodwork with a hammer can leave an unsightly mark. To prevent these marks, place the bill of your baseball cap behind your hammer. The bill protects your trim from damage.

Quick fix for running toilets

Here's a nifty way to prevent the lift chain on your toilet flapper from getting caught underneath when the flapper closes. Cut a plastic soda straw in half and feed the chain through it. This stiffens the chain and keeps it from being sucked under the flapper.

Posthole gauge

Digging a posthole requires you to constantly stop and remove the digger to measure the depth of the hole. Skip the hassle by turning the handles of your posthole digger into built-in measuring sticks. With a permanent marker, make a line every 6 inches up the handles from the tips of the digging blades. When you get close to the desired depth, stop digging (leaving the digger in the hole) and check the depth on the handles.

Carpenter's pencil keeper

Keep your carpenter's pencil close at hand with half of a clothespin. Remove one leg of the clothespin and replace it with your carpenter's pencil. Clip your pencil to a pocket or sleeve so you can grab it when needed.

Mousetrap disposal bag

The only thing more unpleasant than setting a mousetrap is removing a squished mouse and resetting the trap. To avoid touching the mouse, bait a disposable wooden mousetrap and carefully slide it into a paper lunch bag. After it's sprung, toss the whole mess into the garbage.

Living Small

The big idea behind tiny houses

Jay Shafer appears larger than life, standing on the front porch of his 100-square-foot home in Sebastopol, Calif. (pop. 7,774), welcoming a visitor with an outstretched hand and a big smile. Inside his miniature wooden house, large windows on three walls and a half-glass front door give the illusion of a greater living space.

"The question most people ask is, 'Don't you ever get claustrophobic?'" says Shafer, 42, founder of the Tumbleweed Tiny House Co. "I tell them that you don't in a space that's well designed. I spend most of my time inside at my desk or lying in bed. You can only take up 12 square feet at a time; everything beyond that is just elbowroom."

Although it's nowhere near the United States' average home size of 2,500 square feet, Shafer's tiny house includes the usual amenities. The ground floor boasts a kitchen, bathroom, shower and a "great" room that serves as a living room, work area and dining room. Two small chairs flank an efficient heating unit, allowing Shafer to heat his American Carpenter Gothic-style house for less than $60 a year. The kitchen has a large sink, well-designed storage space, a small refrigerator and a two-burner propane stove. The bathroom/shower area is compact and uses a low-flow toilet. The bedroom loft can accommodate two people.

"I'm not an aesthetic," says Shafer, sitting inside his cozy living room. "I need my stereo and DVD player, but I don't like having stuff around that I'm not using."

A small idea

Shafer grew up in a 4,000-square-foot home in Mission Viejo, Calif., but downsized in 1997 while teaching art at the University of Iowa in Iowa City. "I was fed up with maintaining and paying for more space than I needed, so I built a 100-square-foot house to meet my needs rather than adjusting my needs to the space," he says. "It took about 400 hours, or two months with help from my friends."

With no experience building a house, he relied heavily on his art and design background to create a comfortable and eye-catching abode. "The gabled roof and the floor plan are very traditionally American, just scaled down," he says. "Most of my friends thought it was a good idea."

After that first home, Shafer had no desire to build more houses. That is, until a couple of years later when news organizations around Iowa City began reporting on his tiny dwelling and people began inquiring about how to get their own small house. In response, Shafer created the Tumbleweed Tiny House Co. in 1999.

Three years later, he partnered with small home enthusiasts Gregory Johnson, Shay Salomon and Nigel Valdez to found the Small House Society, an organization to promote the research and development of affordable and ecologically responsible tiny houses. "Most people realize they need to be more self-reliant and self-sufficient," says Johnson, also of Iowa City. "They're trying to cut back on expenses, driven in part by escalating rent."

In 2003, Johnson became one of Shafer's customers, moving from a rented room in a large home into a 140-square-foot home. "I was a little panicked about it at first," Johnson says with a laugh. "The room I was living in at the time was 10 (feet) by 12 (feet). And so when I saw the main floor plan was 10 by 7, I thought, 'Wow, that's tiny!' But then I figured the bed's going to be up in a loft, and downstairs will have a desk, and the total square footage was more than what I was living in at the time. So then I thought, 'This will be doable.' I figured I'd try it for a year or two. Now it's been three years and I really enjoy it."

Living with less

Today, the Iowa City-based society has a membership that includes 40 architects and urban planners who have built at least 500 tiny homes around the world. "I think there's a desire to return to a smaller, simpler way of living," Johnson says.

Shafer's tiny house inspired carpenter and homebuilder Shay Salomon, 40, to promote small living. "Even though almost no one is willing to live as small as Jay and Greg, their homes inspire the imagination," says Salomon, who shares a 1,100-square-foot home in Tucson, Ariz., with two other people. "It's the art of presenting possibility."

Salomon has built six homes under 500 square feet in the last few years. "As a builder, I see the emotional, spiritual and financial toll big houses take on people in terms of the environment, free time and family life," she says. "A small house needs less cleaning and maintaining, which gives you more time for living."

Last year Salomon authored the book Little House On A Small Planet to share the advantages of living with less space. "All over the U.S. and Canada I met people either living in small homes or planning to build a small home. They all said that as their homes got smaller, their communities got bigger."

John Edmonds embraced small living in 2003 when he built a 600-square-foot cabin in Cloudcroft, N.M. (pop. 749). "The small-house movement is about reordering lifestyle

Hometown Heroes

Saving St. James

by

In 2000, St. James, Neb., literally disappeared from state highway maps, leaving behind a single tavern and a vibrant Catholic parish as the only establishments left to anchor the Cedar County hamlet. Little surprise, then, that residents in the rural farming community were devastated later that same year when the Saints Philip and James Church closed and consolidated with neighboring parishes.

In the search to bring hope and vitality back to St. James, five neighbors—Louise Guy, Vicky Koch, Jeanette Pinkelman, Mary Rose Pinkelman and Violet Pinkelman—came together for a revitalization meeting hosted by the Center for Rural Affairs, a rural advocacy organization based in Lyons, Neb.

"We wanted to save our community," Mary Rose Pinkelman says. "We put our heads together at that meeting and decided to open a weekend marketplace in St. James, where we could keep our sense of community and sell food items and crafts."

Fortunately, the town was equipped with an ideal location for the new venture. Although the 1918 Saints Philip and James School had been closed to classes since 1968, it had been well maintained by the church for social gatherings.

In May 2001, the five spirited farm women rented one of the schoolhouse's old classrooms and officially opened the St. James Marketplace with 16 vendors selling farm-fresh food and handcrafted products. The goal was to "be the needle and thread of the community," offering family-oriented events, quality products and fresh homemade baked goods.

Today, the marketplace occupies the entire building, and nearly 60 vendors sell items such as homemade soaps and lotions, farm fresh fruits, vegetables, meat and eggs, wooden crafts, baked goods, greeting cards and books. The five women oversee the operation, but vendors often pitch in and volunteer as clerks and helpers.

"The major objective of this project has never been about making money," says Mike Heavrin, cooperative development manager for the Center for Rural Affairs. "It demonstrates when local people work together, the whole community can benefit."

Connie Gompert is among the beneficiaries, selling her hand-woven rugs amidst the bustling marketplace. "It's so valuable to have an outlet for rural people to sell the products they make at home," says Gompert of Center, Neb. (pop. 90). "And it's such an interesting place with so many local vendors."

Since the hamlet is void of a performance theater, the marketplace also has become St. James' cultural center, providing shows in the school's auditorium. Visitors enjoy performances by cowboy poets, writers and musicians, as well as nostalgic programs that offer a glimpse of local German heritage dating back to St. James' founding in 1857 in northeast Nebraska Territory. The five women also restored one classroom to show area school groups what classes were like for earlier generations of students.

"You can do so many things in one place," says visitor Julia Kleinschmit Rembert, who brings her children to several events during the marketplace's season from May through the first weekend of December.

The marketplace sponsors its most popular event, Heritage Fest, on the last Sunday in September when it revisits the community spirit of old-time church picnics. More than 1,000 visitors watch demonstrations of time-honored activities such as picking corn by hand, hand-shelling grain, baking bread and separating cream.

Like their vendors, each of the founders "uses their own unique God-given talents," not only in creating wares to sell at the marketplace, says Jeanette Pinkelman, but also in developing entertainment programs.

"The ladies have achieved a restoration of community to rural northern Cedar County," Heavrin says. "They demonstrate that there is real grassroots leadership in the area."

As a result, townsfolk have discovered new talents, rediscovered a sense of community, and put St. James back on state highway maps. "I guess all of us are over-achievers," Violet Pinkelman says. "Opening the marketplace helped us through the loss of our parish and we have been supported very well." ☆ priorities," says Edmonds, 38, who sold his large home and quit a corporate job to start a more economical life. "I previously lived in a three-bedroom house and never went into two of the bedrooms. Now my house costs about two bucks a day to heat and cool." Edmonds created the website www.dreamsmall.net, where he shares his story and challenges others to "dream small."

Two such dreamers are Stephanie Johanesen, 35, and her husband, Daniel, 36, who live in Welches, Ore., in a 550-square-foot home built in 1956. "We got rid of a lot of stuff to move in here, but found that most of the clutter served no purpose," Stephanie says. "We intend to raise our family in this house. We're thinking of adding one of Jay's tiny houses as a guest unit, but that depends on what the next year brings."

Wave of the future?

In 2005, Shafer moved back to California, where he runs the Tumbleweed Tiny House Co. from his tiny house.

Shafer says that most Tumbleweed homes, which range in size from 70 to 700 square feet, can be built for less than $50,000, with the smallest home costing about $40,000. "I've built 10 by myself from the ground up," he says. "I have 50 sets of plans I supply to people on my website (www.tumbleweedhouses.com). The biggest problem is making sure the house feels roomy and comfortable despite its size. It's a challenge, but it's more about design than the amount of space."

His clients invest in tiny houses for various reasons. "Some are interested in a second home or vacation cottage, some are interested in a free-standing addition to their existing home, or adding a studio or extra bedroom," Shafer says. "Then there are people like myself and Greg who want to live in them full time."

Of course, Shafer realizes that small homes aren't for everyone. "I don't know if tiny houses are the wave of the future," he says stepping out onto his front porch. "But I'm pretty sure they're a tiny ripple in the wave of the future." ☆

Medicare Covers Erectile Dysfunction Correction

Nothing impacts the sexual health and well-being of a couple and their intimate relationship more than Erectile Dysfunction (ED).

Therefore, any treatment used must address the needs of both people involved.

The male erection involves a very complicated interaction of many of the body's systems. The natural erection process can be interrupted by many underlying disease states and/or conditions.

The most common underlying causes of Erectile Dysfunction are: Diabetes, Hypertension, Vascular Disease, and Drug Interaction.

For many, the first-choice of treatment for ED should be Vacuum Therapy.

Unlike drugs, pills, or injections, Vacuum Therapy is non-invasive and has no side-effects. Negative pressure mimics the body's natural function and produces an almost instant erection.

This uniquely simple technology uses the body's blood to create erection much in the way the natural process works and maintains erection for sexual intercourse. The big difference is with Vacuum Therapy you control erection-with drug treatments the drug controls erection - not you.

In fact, Vacuum Therapy is predictable, reliable, and gives spontaneous results other treatments simply cannot claim. You and your partner will be able to control when, where and how long you want to be intimate.

Vacuum Therapy is also the only treatment that provides a significant therapeutic benefit while also creating functional erection.

Some men actually regain spontaneous erections as vascular health is improved using Vacuum Therapy. Countless couples have brought the joy back into their lives with the ED Vacuum Therapy systems.

Vacuum Therapy Systems are covered by Medicare and many insurance companies. That means little, if any out of pocket expense to you!

Vacuum Therapy Systems are safe, simple, effective, reliable, predictable, spontaneous and produces an almost "Instant Erection".

Each system includes an instructional manual, instructional video, pump head, cylinder, cylinder sizing inserts, loading cone, tension systems, personal lubricant, carrying case and LIFETIME MANUFACTURER WARRANTY.

Discount Diabetic also provides NO COST - Arthritis Heating Pads - covered by Medicare and many insurance companies! *Deductible and copay may apply.

In the fading light of a deep-winter day, the wolf pack gathers for the hunt. Only by working together will they succeed, ensuring the survival of the pack through the long winter ahead. PET TIP OF THE MONTH!

Spring means more outdoor walks, so be sure your pet has the right size/type collar.

- You should be able to fit two fingers between your pet's neck and the collar.
- A harness, not a collar, should be used for walking cats and small delicate dogs.
- A head collar, which fits around the muzzle and neck, is an excellent solution if your dog pulls a lot on a leash.

Tests That Can Save Your Life

1. Stroke Screening/Carotid Artery

Plaque buildup (also known as atherosclerosis) is an abnormal collection of calcium and cholesterol on the artery walls. As you can see in the image at left, plaque builds up along the walls of a diseased artery. This buildup can restrict blood flow to the brain or break off and become lodged in a blood vessel – causing a stroke.

Through ultrasound technology, Life Line Screening can visualize the inside of your carotid arteries. Early detection allows your personal physician to advise you on an appropriate course of action that could be life saving.

2. Abdominal Aortic Aneurysm (AAA) Screening

An Abdominal Aortic Aneurysm (AAA) is a “ballooning” of the wall in the abdominal aorta. Like strokes, AAAs are most often caused by atherosclerosis (plaque buildup). The majority of people with AAAs have no symptoms. If an AAA ruptures, the mortality rate is as high as 80 percent, with many not surviving long enough to reach a hospital.

More than 15,000 U.S. residents per year die of AAAs. The good news is that AAAs can be identified in minutes via a painless, non-invasive ultrasound screening.

3. Peripheral Arterial Disease (PAD) Screening

Ultrasound technology is also used to screen for Peripheral Arterial Disease (plaque buildup in the arms/legs). Eight to twelve million Americans suffer from PAD.

4. Osteoporosis Screening

Ultrasound screen for abnormal bone mass density in men and women. Osteoporosis is painless and silent in its early stages.

Complete Wellness Package (all 4 screenings) only $129. Save $41!

You will receive your results in 21 days. Screenings in Kansas are performed by Life Line Screening of America, LLC on behalf of Life Line Screening Physicians, P.A.

Insurance Note: At the present time, Medicare does not cover the cost of these screening services. Life Line Screening does not file insurance claims.

Tests That Can Help Save Your Life

Life Line Screening is America's leading provider of quality health screenings. These tests quickly detect arterial abnormalities which can cause disrupted blood flow. Our screenings are fast, accurate, and available at an affordable rate.

We provide these non-invasive, completely painless screenings using Doppler ultrasound technology.

Stroke Screening/ Carotid Artery

This screens the carotid arteries in the neck for plaque buildup. The #1 cause of stroke is linked to carotid artery blockage.

Abdominal Aortic Aneurysm Screening

This screens for the existence of an aneurysm in the abdominal aorta. The vast majority of people who have an aneurysm have no symptoms.

Complete details on reverse side.

Peripheral Arterial Disease Screening

This screens for peripheral arterial disease (plaque buildup) in the lower extremities which is linked to coronary artery disease.
