Coffee with Corriveau

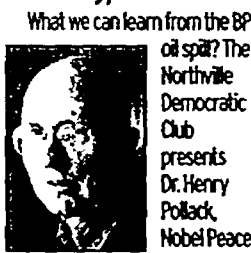

Corriveau

State Rep. Marc Corriveau (D-Northville) is having a coffee hour at Sweet 220 (133 W. Main St., Ste. 220, Northville Square) from 5:30-6:30 p.m. Friday, June 25.

Our Energy Future

Pollack

What we can learn from the BP oil spill? The Northville Democratic Club presents Dr. Henry Pollack, Nobel Peace Prize winner, scientist and author, who will speak at 7 p.m. Thursday, June 17 at Hillside Middle School Forum, 775 N. Center St., Northville.

Arts festival

The Art House will be hosting the 22nd Annual Art in the Sun - an arts festival held in historic downtown Northville as part of the newly created Arts & Acts, a city-wide celebration of Michigan arts, on June 25-27.

Proceeds of this arts celebration directly benefits arts and culture in the Northville community through support of the Northville Art House.

This event will take a lot of manpower and volunteer help is needed.

Please contact Sue Taylor if you can volunteer for this worthwhile and fun event at staylor3@comcast.net or (248) 449-8361.

Pom pom car wash

The Northville JV pom pom team will be holding a car wash from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Saturday, June 12 at Spillane & Reynolds Orthodontics on 10 Mile and Taft Road.

Arts and crafts

New Hope Center for Grief Support is offering an evening of arts and crafts at The Bee's Knees in downtown Northville on June 22. Recently widowed men and women with young children are welcome to attend.

To register, please call New Hope at (248) 348-0715.

Storm rips through town

City crew works until wee hours

BY PAM FLEMING
STAFF WRITER

A severe thunder storm ripped through Northville on June 4, uprooting trees and keeping city workers up until the wee hours of the morning on Saturday.

The story hit about 8 p.m. last Friday night, with the clock by Town Square stuck on 8:35 p.m. for a while when downed wires caused a power outage along Main Street.

The second Talent for the Title Contest has to be stopped between 8 and 8:30 in Town Square when rain, high winds and hail prohibited the continuance of the outdoor performances in the community talent show.

Laurie Jarski and Mary Starring, co-coordinators of the event, tried to move the contest to Northville Square, but the subsequent power outage prevented that from happening.

Jarski said on Monday that fortunately no sound or musical equipment was damaged by the rain.

The contest will pick up again from 7-9 p.m. tonight at Town Square, with a brief awards ceremony planned at the end.

TREES UPROOTED

winds, crashing into homes on Grace and Rayson streets south of Eight Mile Road and east of Center Street. Gawkers could still be seen driving by the next day, with Grace Street closed to through traffic until cleanup could be completed. City workers also had to clean up a large pine tree by city hall that fell into Wing Street.

"There were probably 10-12 large trees downed that we had to attend to and in some instances close the road," said Jim Gallogly, director, city of Northville Department of Public Works.

Jim Allen, city of Northville Fire Chief, said his department received 51 calls from Friday night through Sunday

Northville plans 4 road projects

Disruption to be minimal for all

BY PAM FLEMING
STAFF WRITER

The city of Northville will undertake four construction projects this summer, with minor disruptions to be expected for local motorists.

Northville Township doesn't have any construction going on at this point, but there may be some road work coming in the future if residents approve a special assessment district.

CLEMENT ROAD

Clement Road within the city limits, from Lexington Boulevard to Woodhill Road, will receive a complete reconstruction, according to Jim Gallogly, director, Department of Public Works.

"It will be a concrete road, and the project will include the entire roadway including the driveway approaches to each home along Clement. Spot repair will be done on sidewalks, and new street signs will be erected.

"It will look like a new road in a subdivision when we're done," Gallogly said. The work will be done half at a time to allow emergency access through the neighborhood.

The approximately $300,000 project will take about six weeks to complete. This project was a special request by the residents on Clement Road, who came to city council and pleaded to have the work approved in this budget year.

"We had planned this for budget year 2013, which really means we would have done the work in 2012," Gallogly said. "But the residents petitioned us to do the work now due to the poor condition of the road. There's no argument that it's a bad road, and there was enough reserve in the street improvement fund for us to

Northville's landmark community well now closed

Possible contamination cited as cause

BY PAM FLEMING
STAFF WRITER

A long-time landmark in downtown Northville - the community well on South Main Street - was shut down June 1 due to the threat of oil contaminants.

"We haven't had any complaints, and I thought we would," said Jim Gallogly, director, Public Works.

Gallogly said water from the well was typically used by people who live east of Northville who had used the well for years, believing that the water had some special qualities.

It used to be water from a natural artesian well; but the water had come from a community well for years - since 1968. That's when members of the Northville Rotary Club

Talent for the Title tonight

The second Talent for the Title community talent show in Northville ended abruptly June 4 when the big storm hit. Belting out the song "Some Kind of Wonderful" by Grand Funk Railroad before the rain came was Alexandria Lintner of the band Affection Cent accompanied by Jourdan Fletcher and Dylan McWilliam. Killian Pauls is also a member of the group, but he was not present at the June 4 performance. The contest will wrap up at 7 p.m. today at Town Square for the remaining seven out of 22 entries. For more information, call (248) 374-5596 or go to www.talentforthetitle.com.

At Goodman Orthodontics, we believe that orthodontics involves more than straightening teeth. It not only enhances a person's health and appearance, it also adds to self-esteem and confidence, improving the overall quality of life.

Even though people think of pre-teens and teens when they think of orthodontics, there are good reasons your child should get an orthodontic evaluation much sooner. Goodman Orthodontics follows the American Association of Orthodontics recommendation that every child have an orthodontic evaluation by age 7. Not every 7 year old will be ready for orthodontic treatment, but an early exam allows us to monitor growth and development to determine the appropriate time to start treatment. We offer a full spectrum of orthodontic care for children, teens, and adults. Our office uses the most sophisticated equipment and materials to provide every patient with an outstanding experience with unsurpassed treatment results.

Choosing to pursue orthodontic treatment is making an investment that will last a lifetime. We offer a variety of payment options and are in-network with many major insurance companies to make orthodontic treatment affordable to everyone.

Dr. Robert and Dr. Sindy Goodman are husband and wife who jointly practice orthodontics. They believe in the "Golden Rule" of treating patients and their families as they would want to be treated. Both Drs. Robert and Sindy Goodman are Diplomates of the American Board of Orthodontics, the highest achievement in orthodontics.

do the work now. Once we received the petition from everyone on the block we recommended that city council modify the budget and add it to this year's road program, which they did."

The project is under design now. Survey work should be going on this week, as it was approved at the last council meeting in May.

SPRINGFIELD COURT

A similar project will take place on Springfield Court, which will also consist of constructing a new concrete road on this street that parallels Taft Road.

The road is west of Taft Road off of Morgan Boulevard between Eight and Nine Mile roads. There will be new driveway approaches constructed to each of the houses off this road with spot repair on the sidewalks and new street signs in this $300,000 project.

"The trick with this project is there is no outlet to this road," Gallogly said. "It's a court, so there's not enough room for two cars to pass if you try to divide the roadway construction. We'll have to work this out with the residents. Maybe we'll do it all at one time to shorten the time the roadway is down. We could probably allow residents to park along the shoulder of Taft Road. There is also a small parking lot that goes into a park in this subdivision where residents could park and walk to their houses."

This project will probably start in August and be finished in October.

GRISWOLD STREET

Two blocks of Griswold Street, which is a concrete road, will be capped with asphalt from Main Street to Beal Street by the Tipping Point Theatre.

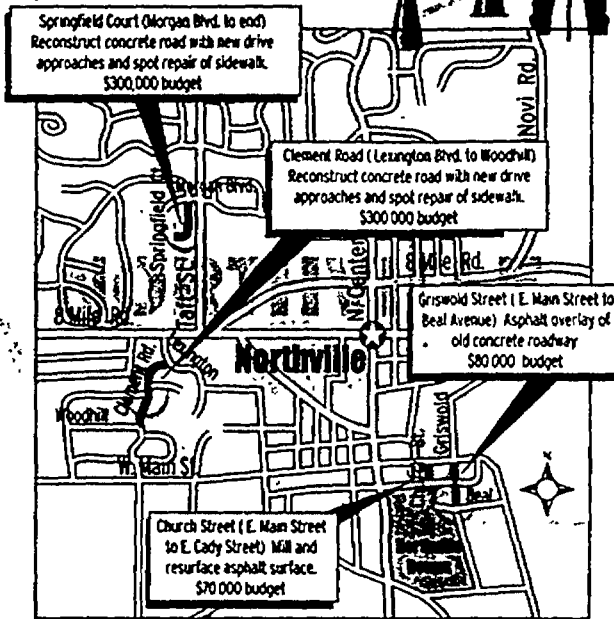

"This road was built in the 1970s, but it has a lot of joint problems, so it's a pretty rough road," Gallogly said. "It's almost like driving down a pair of corduroy pants." The roadway will be capped with three-four inches of asphalt. "It's not a complete reconstruction, so it will be a lot quicker project," Gallogly said. "It will be a very nice road when we're done and last about 20 years." This is about an $80,000 project that will take only a couple of days.

CHURCH STREET

Starbucks Coffee customers in Northville will have to park and walk for a cup of their favorite beverage during the $70,000 road

2010 ROAD PROJECTS

For 2010 approved a contract with Zelmet Wozniak to design four road projects for the City of Northville.

construction project along Church Street south of Main Street between the coffee house and the First Presbyterian Church.

"The parking areas are OK, it's just the street that is breaking up, so probably what we will do is mill down the center of the road and overlay the bad areas," Gallogly said. "The driving area of the road will be redone, but not the parking spaces." The work will take place from Main Street to Cady Street. The project will take only a couple of days.

How budget reductions will impact athletic programs

As you know, the current economic crisis in Michigan has brought about some challenging times for school districts across our state. Based on predictions for the 2010/11 school year, the Northville Board of Education is confronted with a budget deficit of $7 million.

The purpose of this letter is to explain the impact budget reductions will have on our athletic program and how you can help in this difficult process.

Feedback from the Managing our Future Forums was clear: our stakeholders value our athletic and extra-curricular programs, and the Board of Education would like to maintain our current programming options. In order to accomplish this goal, a combination of budget reductions and revenue generation is necessary. Pay to Participate fees will be increased for high school athletes from $200 to $300, and for middle school athletes from $100 to $150. In addition to this increased revenue, line items from the athletic budget will be reduced, achieving a final reduction of general fund contribution to athletics.

The Board of Education acknowledges that an increase in Pay to Participate fees for athletic participation will create a financial burden on our families and asks that our coaches and team parents consider the following to reduce further financial impact on families:

- * Reduce or eliminate offerings of additional apparel for team members. In any case, the purchase of additional clothing items for team members should be optional and not a requirement of participation.

- * Reduce spending on banquets, pre- and post-game meals and other non-competition related gear and equipment. Teams should consider options which would curtail costs, such as dessert only or pot luck banquets.

Our number one priority is to help students "stay in the game." Thank you for your continued support of the Northville Public Schools and its athletic programs. I am confident that, working together, we will manage the financial challenge with a continued focus on providing the best possible school experience for our students. I have requested updated reports from our Athletic Director Bryan Masi on the progress we are making with all these needed changes.

Leonard R. Rezmierski, Ph.D., superintendent of Northville Public Schools, can be reached at (248) 344-8440 or rezmiele@northvilleschools.org.

Gardening

Thornton Creek third grade student Lilli Foland helps to spruce up some of the school's flower beds during the fourth-annual grounds improvement project. Led by Jean Gertley, the kids raised $1,400 throughout the year which was then used to purchase trees and bulbs and flowers and mulch which they then planted and spread around the school's property.

Thornton Creek student Lindsey Brenton, 9, lends a hand during the school's April 27th groundscape improvement project.

NORTHVILLE ON CAMPUS

The Leadership Institute

Ben Mason of Northville, was selected to participate in Washington's Best Intern Program this summer. Mason will intern full-time at the conservative non-profit located in Arlington, Va., where he will assist the Youth Leadership School department.

Mason

Mason, a top graduate of the Youth Leadership School, accepted the invitation to spend a season at the Leadership Institute where he will receive free housing, a stipend, and access to all of the Institute's 41 training programs.

Mason is a recent graduate of Grand Valley State University.

This spring, Mason served as the executive intern at the College Republican National Committee where he researched candidates and tracked polls and competitive races. Last fall, he facilitated volunteer efforts on the Rick Snyder for Governor Campaign and the Dave Shaffer for Grand Rapids City Commissioner Campaign.

Bowling Green State University

Northville's Andrew Bray (academic enhancement) and Michael Dow (education and human development) have been named to the spring semester Dean's List for achieving grade point averages of 3.5 or better on a 4.0 scale. To be chosen for the Dean's List, undergraduate students must carry no fewer than 12 letter-graded credit hours per semester.

DePaul University

Shaun Abraham of Northville (48167) has been named to the Dean's List for the 2009-10 winter quarter. To receive Dean's List commendation, full-time students must earn a cumulative grade point average of 3.50 or above on a four-point scale.

Central Michigan University

Northville's Cheryl Haas graduated with a bachelor of science degree in biomedical science (with a minor in chemistry) on May 8.

CMU student Adam Jankovich presented research before state legislators during the university's annual Posters at the Capitol event.

Jankovich, of Northville, is a junior at CMU. He is a graduate of Northville High School and the son of David and Debra Jankovich.

Jankovich's project, Calibrating the Thickness of Metal Thin Films Using AFM, researches the methods of measuring various metal thicknesses with several measuring instruments.

Sponsored by CMU's College of Science and Technology and the Government Relations and Public Affairs Office, the 2010 Posters at the Capitol event was held at the State Capitol April 21 in Lansing. Twenty-one CMU students met with legislators to showcase their research efforts.

This year marked the tenth annual Posters at the Capitol event, which spotlights the quality and diversity of undergraduate research occurring at CMU.

Michigan Technological University

Northville's Charles S. Hansen (bachelor of science in medical engineering) was among nearly 1,000 graduates on May 1 at the spring commencement.

Davenport University

Two Northville students -- Hakdar Ismail and Nicole Nowak -- have been named to the Dean's List for the winter 2010 semester. To achieve the Dean's List, a student must maintain a minimum 3.5 grade point average while enrolled in at least nine credits of regular coursework.

Cleary University

Audra Borger of Northville graduated cum laude with a bachelor of business administration in business management.

night, including medical runs.

Gallogly said his crew was busy until about 4:30 a.m. Saturday morning operating a wood chipper and cleaning up debris. He said many neighbors stayed up late, too, watching city workers take care of the cleanup.

Mayor Chris Johnson thanked Gallogly and his workers publicly at Monday night's city council meeting for their efforts.

TRAFFIC ACCIDENT

A woman had to be extricated from her vehicle and taken to a local hospital after an accident at 4:09 p.m. Saturday at the intersection of Eight Mile Road and Center Street, Gallogly said. The woman's vehicle was T-boned due to the fact that traffic signals were out along Eight Mile Road from Beck to Novi roads.

JOHN HEIDER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Cathy Potvin fills a jug with water coming from Northville's well on South Main Street on May 26 just a few days before the well was closed. Potvin mentioned that she liked the well water better than that coming from the tap.

had the well dug and have been paying for it ever since.

HISTORICAL ASPECT

"There's some neat history behind it," Gallogly said. The well used to be a stopping place back in the days of the stagecoach where weary travelers would refresh themselves with the cool, running water.

"There was a railroad station on the other side of the tracks," Gallogly said.

The threat of contamination of the water is due to the fact that General Oil Company sat on the other side of the railroad tracks. Jack Doherty owns the property.

"They would take oil and recycle it from anyone," Gallogly said. And, their practices weren't environmentally friendly. "They would store it in the ground, which could eventually leech into the well."

The Big Three automakers have been in the process of cleaning up the site over the past few years. But, unfortunately, with GM and Chrysler declaring bankruptcy last year, funding for the cleanup became a problem. Ford Motor Co. is still involved in the cleanup process as well as a few companies that brought oil to the site.

The Environmental Protection Agency is requiring the cleanup.

Those still involved in the cleanup finally came to city leaders and asked that the well be closed.

"They were spending money to constantly test the area around the well that could be spent on the cleanup instead," Gallogly said.

At the same time, Northville Rotary Club members were spending money to have the water tested and keep the well running.

ROTARY CLUB COSTS

Tim Story, former president of the Rotary Club, said the club has paid about $2,000-$2,500 a year for testing and maintenance of the well.

"We just put in a new pump last year, and that was about $3,000," Story said. The club also paid to lease the property from the railroad.

NORTHVILLE COMMUNITY BRIEFS

Munfakh fund-raiser

A fund-raiser for Abe Munfakh, candidate for district 7 State Senator, will be held from 7:30-9 a.m. Friday, June 11, at Deadwood Bar & Grill, 18730 Northville Road, Northville.

Special guests include Mike Cox, Michigan attorney general, and Sen. Bruce Patterson (R-Canton).

Cost is $100 per person. Contact Martha Snow at (248) 767-8661 for more information.

Library trustees election

The Board of Trustees of the Northville District Library is seeking possible candidates to fill four openings for trustee positions that will occur at the end of this year. Of the four positions due to expire in December, three now have incumbents who are expected to seek re-election. The Library Board is composed of seven elected trustees whose main function is to oversee the operation of the Northville District Library. The district includes both the city and township of Northville, and any resident of these communities may run for the trustee position.

Trustees elected this year will serve four-year terms, beginning in January 2011. Meetings of the Board of Trustees are held on the fourth Thursday of each month. Trustees also serve on several standing committees, for which meetings are also scheduled.

Trustees act as strong advocates for the library, work to assure adequate funding and careful allocation of library resources, and make decisions regarding library policy. A willingness to serve the library and its community is the most important qualification for anyone seeking this office.

Northville residents wishing to run for a trustee position on the Northville District Library Board need to pick up petition forms at the library, and then collect a minimum of 40 valid signatures. The deadline for filing petitions at the Wayne

"It seemed like it wasn't being used as much as it used to be," Gallogly said.

The third strike against the well came from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. Gallogly received a letter from Steven Hoin from the state agency in May stating that based on their studies they recommended that the well be closed.

"The flow of contamination was creeping toward the well," Gallogly said.

"That letter was the final proverbial nail in the coffin for the well," said Story, who read the agency's report. "They had concerns."

So, the city received approvals from Rotary Club members to shut the well.

DRINKING FOUNTAIN?

There have been some discussions about putting something at the site, however, such as a drinking fountain for cyclists and joggers as well as a historical marker explaining the site.

"It was always called the Spring Well, because of the former natural artesian spring water," Gallogly said. "But, Rotary members call it the Rotary Well."

Story said spending to keep the well continually flowing, when very few people use it, was not making a lot of sense to many club members, when there are locations throughout the world that could use this money for a well that would give people safe, clean water to live on for the very first time.

Added to the above issues, the Wayne County Department of Health notified the city that the casing on the well is cracked and needs to be repaired. Repairing this well at this time would cost over $400.

"It had to be sealed off properly so that the different aquifers (underground flowing water) aren't contaminated," Gallogly said.

The donate companies have agreed to donate $1,000 to install a drinking fountain if the city decides to do so.

Rotary and the city may contribute to the cost of the drinking fountain/historical marker as well as continuing to lease the property from the railroad.

"We're sorry for the people who used the well that we had to close it," Gallogly said. "But, it's for the health of the community."

Buy Michigan, Northville partnering

Buy Michigan Now has announced they will again partner with Downtown Northville to host an upbeat celebration of Michigan, Aug. 6-8. The family-friendly Buy Michigan Now Festival will showcase various Michigan entertainers, businesses, products, and educational opportunities.

Launched in 2007 by Lisa Diggs, Buy Michigan Now is a statewide initiative to inform, educate and encourage Michiganders, organizations and consumers alike, to support the local economy by purchasing products and services made in Michigan and from Michigan-based companies.

The weekend celebration is designed to coincide with "Buy Michigan Week," which focuses extra attention on Michigan-based businesses and locally-produced merchandise to help stimulate the economy. This is also the second year for Buy Michigan Week, which will run Monday, Aug. 2-Sunday, Aug. 8.

The Buy Michigan Now Festival will run from 10 a.m.-10 p.m. on Aug. 6 and 7 and noon-5 p.m. on Sunday Aug. 8. More than 100 vendors and merchants are expected to participate and the festival is free to the public.

For information on vendor or sponsorship opportunities, contact Buy Michigan Now 248-390-0974 or info@BuyMichiganNow.com. A full list of events for the weekend of Aug. 6-Aug. 8 will be announced soon.

Brooks Kushman promotes Sparschu

Brooks Kushman P.C., a specialized intellectual property (IP) and commercial law firm, has appointed Northville resident Mark Sparschu, shareholder, to head the firm's trademark group. The appointment was announced by Mark

Sparschu

Cantor, president of the firm, and further the continued success of the firm's diverse trademark team. "With more than 16 years of intellectual property law experience as both in-house and outside counsel, Mark brings a new caliber of leadership to our already successful trademark team," Cantor said. "I look forward to the new dynamic he will bring in managing and fostering this growing practice area."

In his new role, Sparschu leads the firm's 25-member trademark department.

Sparschu joined Brooks Kushman in 2009 as a senior attorney. Previously, he served as chief trademark counsel for Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn, where he had overall global responsibility for the trademark law matters for Ford and its worldwide subsidiaries, including the Ford, Lincoln, Mercury, Volvo, Land Rover, Jaguar and Aston Martin brands. In this capacity, he led a group of in-house counsel in four countries and outside counsel throughout the world.

"I'm honored by my recent appointment and anticipate leading the trademark group to future accomplishments," Sparschu said. "With our talent, resources and ambition,

Kettering Mobile

Kettering University rolled out a new application for smart phones on June 3 during ceremonies in the Campus Center. Kettering Mobile is a new application for users of iPhones, Droids or Blackberry, plus the new iPad. Kettering is the first university in Michigan to have this sort of web application, which can be viewed at: <http://m.kettering.edu/>. Kettering Mobile was created by Northville students Brad Birdsall (left, senior in computer science) and Matt Gaidica (senior in electrical engineering), assisted and supported by IT staff members. One of the highlights of the new mobile application is its ability to tap into the many advanced publication features developed by Kettering University. Birdsall and Gaidica have already created their own company called Prime Studios in Northville, <http://www.primestudiosllc.com/>

we're really poised for continued growth in both the domestic and international arenas. Our trademark practice complements Brooks Kushman's world-class patent, litigation and intellectual property transactional capabilities."

Sparschu earned a juris doctor degree, graduating with honors, from Wayne State University Law School in Detroit, a master of science degree in electrical engineering from the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor and a bachelor of electrical engineering degree, graduating first in his class, from General Motors Institute (now Kettering University) in Flint. Sparschu is a member of the State Bar of Michigan, Michigan IP Law Association, Intellectual Property Owners Association (IPO) and International Trademark Association (INTA). He is also a registered patent attorney and a licensed professional engineer.

Are there leadership communication differences by gender?

Are there gender differences in the way leaders communicate?

There are those in mass media and popular culture that say, "Yes" there are distinct differences in the way men and women communicate; not necessarily wrong, but different. Popular books such as Deborah Tannen's "You Just Don't Understand: Women and Men in Conversation" and John Grey's "Men are from Mars, Women are Venus", gave examples of the way men and women communicate to one another differently, by nature.

There are studies that show that men and women communicate differently in the way they talk, the way they listen, the way they give nonverbal cues, and in their speech patterns. Mary Ellen Guffey, in her book titled "Business Communication", shared observations made by gender theorists on the differences in communication by gender.

For example, in talking the talk, research shows that women tend to try to establish rapport, while men tend to report information. Women will focus on details first, while men will focus on the big picture. Women will disclose personal information more readily, while men speak about topics that are more impersonal.

When it comes to listening behaviors, studies have shown that women view listening as an opportunity to connect with others, while men listen for facts. Women will interrupt to elaborate, while men will interrupt to gain control of the conversation. Women will maintain

Takin' Care of Business

Linda Hagan

Women will nod to confirm that they are listening, whereas men nod to show that they agree. Research on communication behaviors between men and women generally show that women pause more frequently during conversations with each other to allow a chance to take turns, while men pause more infrequently and interrupt to take turns. Women use smaller, more confined gestures, while men gesture more expansively when talking to one another.

Women, studies show, tend to use more of a soft spoken, hesitant and indirect speech in business, while men tend to be louder, clear, and use a more "take-charge" voice in business speech.

If there is a conclusion to reach, it seems to be that there may be gender differences, but it does not mean that one gender is more right or "right on" in communication than the other gender. They are just different.

While some reading this may agree with these findings, whereas others may decree sexism, most accept that in business we should not generalize or stereotype. But what we can do - both men and women - is gain a better understanding of communication styles, and modify our own styles within a given setting. People, no matter gender, race, age, or other demographic distinction, are different from one another. Having a better understanding of communication styles may help to give us insights as we interact with those different from us.

Yet, there are communication styles we do expect of our leaders - no matter what gender they are.

Michael Hackman and Craig Johnson in their book, "Leadership: A Communication Perspective", cited numerous researchers who have studied the characteristics of "transformational leaders." To model the communication styles of successful business leaders -- those leaders who transform businesses positively -- consider the communication traits of honesty, confidence, decisiveness, professionalism, credibility, openness, and trustworthiness. Transformational leaders are knowledgeable, inspirational, visionary, transparent, charismatic, and of high integrity.

Gender does not determine leadership ability. The person and his or her communication style do.

Elizabeth's bridal manor diversifies

In addition to offering wedding apparel for the entire wedding party, Elizabeth's is also featuring a collection of daytime and evening two-piece knit suits, which are comparable to famous and pricey designer knits but at comparable prices. Most two-piece sets retail for under $1,000.

Customizing and custom measurements are available. A street-length skirt can be ordered in floor length, or a pant can be ordered and you can add a matching sleeveless shell, creating your own collection. Trims may be changed or eliminated and there are many colors to choose from.

These knits will be private labeled under the name of "Elizabeth's Bridal Manor".

A trunk show had been scheduled from June 11-20.

Appointments with Elizabeth are required and she will personally assist you with your selections and customizing. Please call (248) 48-2783 for your appointment.

Real estate transactions

Friedman Real Estate Group Inc. recently negotiated the lease renewal and expansion for 3,290 square feet of office space at Farmington Hills Corporate Center I, 21800 Haggerty Road.

The landlord, FHCC-I Associates LLC, leased the space to Traveling Teams Inc., which was founded to help busy parents and coaches find available hotel rooms at the right price. Glenn N. DesRosiers, VP, represented the landlord in this transaction.

Newmark Knight Frank recently negotiated the lease renewal of 15,040 square feet of office at 4000 Town Center on behalf of the tenant, Collins, Einhorn, Farrell & Ulanoff PC. Steve Morris, executive managing director and principal, negotiated the lease on behalf of the tenant in this transaction.

Hiller's helps Girl Scouts

As part of Hiller's Markets "Good Deeds in the Making" program to benefit local charities during these challenging economic times, the family-owned chain of seven metro Detroit grocery stores (including Northville) will donate 100 percent of the profits from the sales of Cherry Pecan Chicken Salad to Girl Scouts Heart of Michigan, June 1-30.

Jan Barker, CEO of Girl Scouts Heart of Michigan, said, "We are very grateful to Hiller's for helping us build girls of courage, confidence and character. Hiller's support will help us bring Girl Scouting to girls who would not otherwise be able to enjoy these character-building benefits." Barker also emphasized that Girl Scout outreach programs included girls who were living in homeless shelters whose families were in transition.

Hiller's Good Deeds in the Making program was created last year as a way to inspire consumers to purchase high-quality, ready-to-eat meals while helping good causes in their communities. This month's charity, Girl Scouts Heart of Michigan, has over 25,000 members who learn to discover their strengths and make the world a better place. They participate in community service projects and learn new skills.

Northville chiropractic family set to celebrate 28 years in their business

Open house set all day June 14

BY PAM FLEMING
STAFF WRITER

A lot of us remember the padded shoulders, Lycra and the brightly-colored clothing of the 1980s.

The doctors at Novi Chiropractic Clinic, who live in Northville, will go back in time to that decade next week as staff members celebrate 28 years in business with an open house on June 14.

The practice is also celebrating Scelfo joining the practice in May.

Dr. Patricia Chelenyak finished her chiropractic degree in 1982 from Life University in Marietta, Ga. In keeping with that era, she and her husband, Patrick Offman, Ph.D., a nutritionist, and daughter, Tai Scelfo, also a chiropractor, will dress with clothes from that decade at the open house.

"We're doing a back-to-the-'80s theme," said Scelfo, who recently joined her mother and stepfather's practice.

New patients who come in that day can obtain an exam and X-rays at no out-of-pocket expense to them. Hours are 7-11 a.m. and 3-6:30 p.m. They will have complimentary refreshments throughout the day.

The office is located at 23975 Novi Road, Suite A-101, just south of Ten Mile Road since 1991.

FOLLOWING MOM'S LEAD

Scelfo, 25, is the oldest of Chelenyak's children that include another daughter, Kayla, and two stepchildren, Vanessa and Ryan. Scelfo graduated from Northville High School and Life University. Kayla is a senior at Lake Superior State University studying recreation management. Offman's daughter, Vanessa,

BACK TO '80S CELEBRATION

Come help Novi Chiropractic Clinic staff remember the 1980s during their open house on June 14. Refreshments will be served at the office at 23975 Novi Road, Suite A-101, from 7-11 a.m. and 3-6:30 p.m. that day. New patients who come in that day will receive an exam and X-rays with no out-of-pocket cost. Call (248) 380-9444 or go to www.novichiropractic.com.

35, is a psychologist, and his son, Ryan, 32, is an emergency room and trauma physician.

Some children choose careers unrelated to their parents', but Scelfo is excited about recently joining forces with her mother and stepfather.

"I've been adjusted (by a chiropractor) since the second I was born," Scelfo said. "My real dad, Vinnie, is also a chiropractor. When I was born, I wasn't breathing. He adjusted me, and here I am."

The new chiropractic school graduate is a firm believer in the practice.

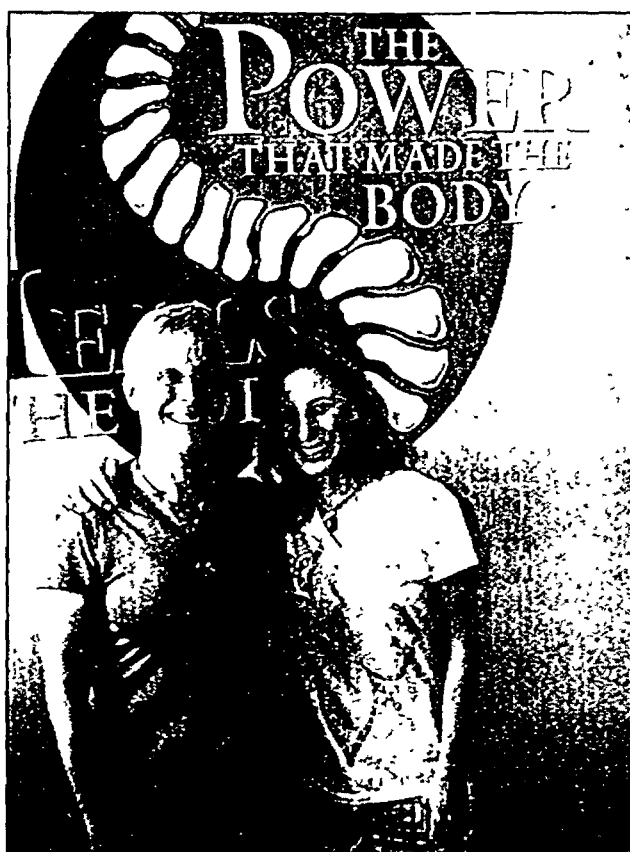

"You gain life," Scelfo said. "It's not just about pain management. Chiropractic allows the brain and body to connect."

Scelfo loves working with babies, children and athletes and is quite athletic herself. She, her mother and stepfather are all black belts in karate, and Scelfo played soccer while a NHS.

Chelenyak and Offman actually met while running, and Scelfo enjoys hiking and biking as well as travel.

TREATING ALL AGES

The three doctors treat all ages — from infants to senior citizens.

JOHN FEIDER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Dr. Tai Scelfo has joined her mother, Dr. Patricia Chelenyak at Novi Chiropractic Clinic on Novi Road south of Ten Mile Road. Dr. Scelfo began practicing with her mother and stepfather, Dr. Pat Offman, a nutritionist at the clinic, in May.

"I have moms who stop by on their way to deliver their babies," Chelenyak said. She and her Scelfo will even go to the hospital to adjust a newborn baby.

"Birth is so traumatic on the neck," Chelenyak said. "If we can adjust babies from Day One, they'll be a lot healthier."

Chelenyak said one of their young patients had open heart surgery and has asthma.

"She's no longer on any medication for her asthma," Chelenyak said, which she attributes to the care she has received at Novi Chiropractic Clinic.

Chelenyak said the chiropractic profession has changed a lot since the 1980s.

"They're requiring more education now," she said.

But, she believes in getting back to the basics of chiropractic developed in the late 1890s.

"We work a lot with the upper neck, putting a lot of emphasis on the first two bones of the neck, because that's where the brain stem comes through," Chelenyak said.

The bride-to-be, daughter of Randy and Sandy Rodriguez of Plymouth, graduated from Eastern Michigan University and currently substitute teaches in elementary school.

Her fiancé, son of Mark and Leslie Churella of Northville, graduated from the University of Michigan. He is director of operations for the University of Michigan wrestling team.

An Oct. 15, 2010 wedding is planned at The Inn at St. Johns.

ENGAGEMENT

Svoboda & Philpot

Ken and Kathy Svoboda of Northville announce the engagement of their son, Leo Robert Svoboda, to Jill Marie Philpot, daughter of Tom and Brenda Philpot of New Bremen, Ohio.

The bride-to-be is a 2004 graduate of New Bremen High School; and a 2008 graduate of Bowling Green State University with bachelor's degree in education. She is employed as an eighth grade math teacher at Sandy Springs Middle School.

The groom-elect is a 2004 graduate of Northville High School; and a 2008 graduate of Bowling Green State University with bachelor's degree in business administration. He is employed with UPS Investment Group as a portfolio manager.

The couple, residents of Atlanta, are planning a June 26 wedding at Holy Redeemer Catholic Church, New Bremen, Ohio.

Green Up Northville member Christine Santucci talks to Meads Mill Middle School seventh-graders in "The Pit" on June 4 about the negative impact bottled water has on the environment. Green Up Northville members 'talk trash' at Meads Mill

Students learn about water, worms

Members of the local environmental awareness group Green Up Northville "talked trash" to Meads Mill seventh-graders last week.

The group presented an interactive environmental presentation, "Let's Talk Trash," on June 4 to about 50 students in three separate 45-minute sessions.

Christine Santucci of Green Up gave a brief talk about the damaging effects of plastics, bottled water production and distribution.

"Students listened intently and seemed surprised to learn that most bottled water comes from municipal sources," said Teresa Pilarz of the group. Santucci explained that only a small portion of plastic bottles are actually recycled and that plastic can take more than 1,000 years to break down in landfills. Aside from the negative environmental impact, plastic bottles can leach toxic chemicals into the water, especially when left in the sun, and they can also develop harmful bacteria if reused.

There are a wide range of everyday actions that people can take to minimize reliance on plastics, such as carrying a reusable water bottle and bringing their own bags to the store.

Students also viewed a nine-minute DVD from the Algalita Marine Research Foundation titled "Synthetic Sea: Plastic in the Open Ocean" that explains how non biodegradable plastics are negatively impacting ocean fish and birds in addition to humans.

Special guest Laurie Williams, representing her company "The Worms Do It," discussed worm composting and the special red worms that go to work eating organic waste and making nutrient-rich soil. Among other fascinating facts, students learned that worms have five hearts.

Williams also explained how to prepare and maintain a hospitable worm bin and cautioned students not to chop the worms in half because contrary to popular belief, only the head portion may survive and grow a new tail.

THREE STATIONS PROVIDED

Students visited three different stations. In one area, they learned how to separate recyclables from garbage and practiced their sorting skills. They also participated in a water-tasting challenge to see if they could tell the difference between bottled water, filtered water from a Northville home and water from the drinking fountain at their school. Most of the students preferred the latter two. The composting was a big attraction as students gathered to view the worms and their eggs under a microscope.

This was the second year that Green Up Northville members visited Meads Mill students. The objective is to use this as a pilot program that can be used at other schools. Volunteers are always welcome. Green Up members meet at 6:30 p.m. on the first Tuesday of every month at the Red Pepper Deli on West Main Street. The group will also be present during the upcoming Solstice Run June 26 at Ford Field north of Main Street between Hutton and Griswold streets.

Reusable water bottles can be found at Red Pepper Deli or the Friends of the Northville Public Library Store.

The Grad Girls want to help get graduation parties started

Northville grads create business

BY PAN FLEMING
STAFF WRITER

Have you ever wished you had a couple of people to help you get set up before a party as well as assist with the dreaded cleanup afterwards?

Two Northville women, Sidney Migoski, 19, and Eliza Wood, 18, are at your service.

The 2009 Northville High School graduates and current University of Michigan students have created a new business called The Grad Girls.

They make themselves available to do graduation party set up and clean up for a fee.

To contact them, e-mail them at thegradgirls@gmail.com or call (978) 866-9024.

Migoski is studying architecture and enjoys baking, and Wood is majoring in communications and takes dancing. So, how did they cook up this business adventure?

"I kind of have to give my mom (Tamara Wood) credit," Wood said. "For my grad party we hired a girl to do the same thing that we want to do. My mom loved having her there because she was able to enjoy the party and hang out with the guests. Everything ran really smoothly. It's nice to be able to talk to family and friends without having to worry about replenishing the food."

After the start of their second semester in college, Tamara Wood suggested to her daughter to get together with Migoski, with whom she had been best friends with for a long time, and form the new business.

"She thought we would make a great team," Wood said.

"We both really love food, helping people and doing something creative," Migoski said. "With this business, we can combine all of these interests."

GREAT SUMMER JOB

Wood said because of the current down Michigan economy, there aren't as many summer jobs for young people.

"This is a great thing to come back to in the summer, because there are so many graduation parties," Wood said. "We just want to lend people an extra hand."

Migoski said she's talked to a lot of people who thought The Grad Girls business was a great idea.

"So many graduates have told me, 'I didn't even get to enjoy my graduation party because my mom kept asking me to go do this or that,'" Migoski said. "We can see this being really helpful."

Wood said the idea is to take the stress away from the immediate family so that they can just have fun.

Migoski pointed out that, "People are giving you money (at graduation parties), so you should be spending time with them."

Parents should also be able to spend time with their friends as well, since it's not just the graduate's friends at these parties.

"We want the party-throwers to be able to celebrate with the graduate and enjoy the day instead of having to worry about all the little stuff," Wood said.

"It's not like a birthday party," Migoski said. "A grad party is the celebration of an accomplishment."

The Grad Girls don't need a lot of notice, as long as they're open on the day in question.

They will set up food, make sure it's restocked throughout the party and will clean up at the end. They will also go around and serve additional food or even pick up the food. They'll even assist with floral decorations if requested.

"We can tailor our services to whatever the needs of the people hosting the party," Wood said.

Flag Day

A chance to show respect

There are a variety of times during the course of a given year the American flag moves front and center as citizens pay tribute to their country, its freedoms and the men and women who fight for them.

There's the just-passed Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Veterans Day and, coming up Monday, Flag Day, all designed to allow American citizens opportunities to pay their respects not only to their country, but to its most visible symbol.

And when they do, it's important they do it properly. If you're displaying an American flag, Public Law 94-344, The Federal Flag Code, contains guidelines (if you're worried about how deep the federal government is getting into our lives, know this: The code contains no penalties, though some states have their own codes and may impose penalties):

- Traditional guidelines call for displaying the flag in public only from sunrise to sunset. However, the flag may be displayed at all times if it's illuminated during darkness. The flag should not be subject to weather damage, so it should not be displayed during rain, snow and wind storms unless it is an all-weather flag.

- It should be displayed often, but especially on national and state holidays and special occasions.

- When flags of states, cities or organizations are flown on the same staff, the U.S. flag must be at the top.

- This one seems to be "violated," for lack of a better term, more often. During the hoisting or lowering of the flag or when it passes in parade or review, Americans should stand at attention facing the flag and place their right hand over the heart. Men not in uniform should remove any headdress and hold it with their right hand at their left shoulder, the hand resting over the heart.

- Here's one that gets violated occasionally in school gymnasiums or football fields: When the flag hangs from a staff in a church or public place, it should appear to the audience on the left, the speaker's right.

- When the flag is worn out or otherwise no longer a fitting emblem for display, it should be destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning.

Here are a couple of things not to do with the American flag:

- Do not let the flag touch anything beneath it: ground, floor, water, merchandise.

- Do not place anything on the flag, including letters, insignia, or designs of any kind.

- Do not use it as wearing apparel, bedding or drapery. It should not be used on a costume or athletic uniform. However, a flag patch may be attached to the uniform of patriotic organizations, military personnel, police officers and firefighters.

- Do not use the flag for advertising or promotion purposes or print it on paper napkins, boxes or anything else intended for temporary use and discard.

There are more, and you can find them on the website of the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs. But these guidelines give you a good idea of ways to treat the American flag with respect.

During ceremonies such as the recent Memorial Day activities, proper respect is paid to this country's military men and women, who have given so much in representing their nation.

As Flag Day approaches, it's important to remember the American flag, the symbol of our country, deserves the same respect.

Relay for Life thanks

As a member of this year's American Cancer Society Relay for Life of Northville committee, I would like to thank the residents of Northville for their generosity and support. Eighteen teams participated in this year's event, held May 15-16, and raised more than $57,000 to help the Society's fight for every birthday, threatened by every cancer, in our community and throughout the world. This outstanding show of support proves that the people of Northville stand shoulder-to-shoulder with the American Cancer Society to achieve its mission of saving lives by helping people stay well, by helping people get well, by finding cures, and fighting back.

We were honored to be joined by over 40 survivors who walked the opening Survivors Lap, officially kicking off this year's event. These survivors are the reason we continue the fight. Their participation inspires hope in those currently battling cancer.

A special thanks to the many Relay For Life volunteers who worked to make this event a success - celebrating the lives of those who have battled cancer, remembering loved ones lost, and pledging to fight back against the disease. The Relay for Life committee did an outstanding job of putting the event together and demonstrating leadership in the fight against cancer in our community.

We also appreciate the generosity of this year's corporate sponsors - Bright House Networks, Meijer, ITC Transmission, Amerman Elementary School, and the Northville Rotary Club. In addition, we would also like to recognize this year's list of donors - Champpps Americana, Panera Bread, Bahama Breeze, Chili's Grill & Bar, Buca di Beppo, Brann's Steakhouse & Grille, Romano's Macaroni Grill, T.G.I. Friday's, Papa Vito's Italian Kitchen, Einstein Bros. Bagels, P.F. Chang's China Bistro, Charley's Deli Grille, Rocky's of Northville, Sweet 220 Pastries and Specialty Cakes, Edwards Café & Caterer, Claddagh Irish Pub, Starting Gate Saloon, Starring The Gallery, Solid Grounds Coffee House, Red Pepper Deli, Rebecca's Family Restaurant, Senate Coney Island Restaurant, Detroit Zoological Society, Lucido Fine Jewelry, and Starbucks Coffee. Relay for Life would not be possible without them.

It's not too late to support the Relay for Life of Northville. Donations can be made online by finding our event at RelayForLife.org. We hope to see you all again at the 2011 Relay for Life - because there is no finish line until we find a cure!

They're teachers, not numbers

My name is Stacy Sutter, and I graduated from Northville High School in 2009. I am currently attending Michigan State University studying English with a focus in Secondary Education Certification. It has been my dream to return to NHS as a teacher after college, and as you can imagine, the news of teacher-layoffs has been heartbreaking for me. More than anyone else I know, I believe in the teachers here at NHS. They inspired me to perform to the best of my ability and fulfill potential I never thought I had. It is because of them I decided to pursue education as a career, and I consider them some of the most influential people in my life.

I understand the heavy responsibility of balancing the budget. I know it's a difficult job that requires tough decisions and that sometimes, it comes down to numbers. I can respect that - I really can. Sometimes, though, I think looking at things from the perspective of numbers can take away the human aspect of this difficult process. I attended the board meeting on May 26, and I noticed that there wasn't a lot of student perspective represented there. I would like to contribute my thoughts in hopes of giving a better representation of what the student population feels and believes.

My teachers changed my life. Without them, I would not be the student or the citizen that I am today. I would have never seen the academic success I did in my first year of college, and I wouldn't be the kind of young person that feels compelled to stand up for my beliefs. By laying off young, eager teachers, the board is depriving the students of our district. The district's mission statement claims that students' learning is the highest priority. As a student, I do not think the decision to lay off teachers is in agreement with the district's mission.

I am begging my fellow citizens to keep in mind throughout this process that these individuals are not numbers - they are educators and leaders. They are mentors and role models. They are exemplary people who have passion that shines through in the classroom. As an aspiring teacher, I am astounded by their ability to inspire students. To treat these people with anything less than the utmost respect is an insult to not just them, but also the students of the Northville district.

The impact of a teacher

Tears streamed down my face as I struggled to brush my teeth and put in my contacts. May 26 was the last day of my ninth year of teaching. I would say goodbye to my 60 seventh-graders who I have held dear to my heart for the past 180 days. Every year, each student leaves a tiny footprint on my heart and reminds me why I come back over and over to start again at square one.

As a teacher, I know my impact is great. I know for many students, school is the only place they feel safe and loved. I know parents entrust me with their children and expect me to work my hardest to educate them and prepare them for the 21st century. However, my true impact hit me for the first time today.

I turned 30 this year. It has been 19 years since I was in the sixth grade at Cooke Middle School. Yet, this morning when I lazily read my Facebook page before climbing out of bed, I read a message that changed my life. "If you had Ms. Capraro as a teacher, please pray for her. She is battling with cancer."

After almost 20 years and countless teachers, every time I am asked who my favorite teacher is, I respond, "My sixth-grade science teacher, Ms. Brandt." (Ms. Capraro's maiden name). As a recent graduate from Eastern Michigan University, Ms. Brandt had accepted a job at Cooke Middle School. At a time when my home life was more than turbulent, this special teacher was there each day to inspire me, encourage me, and care for me. With a mother undergoing a double hip replacement and a father who lived out of state, at 11 years old, I had become the caretaker of my house. I learned to cook, do laundry, and even had to shave my mother's legs before I learned to shave my own. Yet when I came to school, I was a kid again. She provided me with the love, care, and guidance that my family was unable to provide.

It was today that I realized the true impact of my teaching career. I touch the hearts of children as much as they touch mine. I provide them with security, comfort, direction, and cheer that they may only get while under my care. As I wiped the tears away from my face, I realized that Ms. Capraro played a major role in shaping my future. She helped me get through some of the hardest times of my life. She inspired me to go above and beyond in my classroom, to reach out to students in need.

I encourage anyone reading this to look up a past teacher and thank them. Thank them for helping you become the person you are today. Thank them for believing in you, caring about you, and inspiring you. To Ms. Capraro, thank you a million times over. You were an amazing teacher even during your first year, and I am sure you have continued to inspire students for the past 19 years as a science teacher and as an assistant principal. From myself and the hundreds of others you have influenced - we love you dearly and are praying for you each and every day.

Northville Township family plagued by nearby group home

Can you imagine having 3 or 4 on one street like one neighborhood has? I have heard that by law they can not be stopped, but something has to be done for safety and controls.

analyticthinker

Gotta agree, AT. This is the sort of thing that should be in a medical plaza or something. This should not be in a neighborhood. I could see it may be difficult to create one in a non-residential area, but it seems putting a place like this in a neighborhood is asking for trouble.

DTgringo

Yes, these homes are a needed thing, but it is the responsibility of the group home owners to provide the correct style of caregivers for each home ... and there are a lot of these homes in every neighborhood that operate without issue. So, hopefully the state board can help this family with the issues they are having

Northville girls end season with two All-State track stars

Mustang track squad finishes 18th overall in state finals

BY SAM EGGLESTON
CORRESPONDENT

It was a great day to be a member of the Northville Mustangs girls track team when they took to Rockford for the state finals.

The squad, coached by Kerry Barnett, finished 18th overall with 11 team points, giving them their best finish in years.

Leading the way for Northville were two outstanding All-State athletes. Chelsea Ciampa proved herself to be one of the state's best athletes, finishing third in the always-difficult 300 hurdles with a time of 45.93. Her finish earned her All-State status.

Michelle Steslicki earned All-State honors with a four-place finish in the pole vault, clearing 11-feet-3-inches in the event.

Also competing in the state finals for Northville were their top-tier athletes. Beth Roach and Alex Moynes each cleared 5-2 in the high jump to tie for 14th place, while Jacki Konopka advanced to the semi-finals in the 100 hurdles but did not qualify for the finals.

In the relays, the team of Roach, Ciampa, Morgan Mallow and Gina McNamara ran a 4:01.69 in the 1,600-meter race but did not place. Neither Roach nor McNamara placed in the 800 run, either, with times of 2:16 and 2:23, respectively.

Plymouth stops Mustangs' girls soccer squad

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Plymouth head varsity girls soccer coach Jeff Neschich, junior goalkeeper Marissa Williams and the rest of the Wildcats knew Thursday night's Division I district tilt against Northville would be a defensive struggle.

They prepared for it, knowing keeping the high-powered, state-ranked Mustangs off the scoreboard might be the only recipe for success.

When the contest at Livonia Stevenson was over, after double overtime and penalty kicks, Plymouth owned a 1-0 victory and a berth in Saturday's high noon title matchup with Salem.

"We had to stop them, had to," said Neschich in the aftermath of his team's win — which featured a pair of diving, desperation stops in PKs by Williams and a 4-for-4 mark by his own shooters.

The coach could barely get the words out when talking about the way Williams performed.

"Marissa was just awesome," he said. "Stoning them on the first two was huge."

NOTHING BETTER

Williams provided the exclamation point to her shutout by diving to her left to block the first PK (by Kelsey Fiscus) and going right to get in front of Caroline Castelli's attempt.

"Yeah, those were pretty lucky," said Williams, smiling. "PKs, they're supposed to go in on you so you got nothing to lose. It's mostly a guess, you dive, it hits you. It's the best feeling in the world."

Those stops provided the difference because the Wildcats made all four PKs. Scoring in succession against Northville senior goalkeeper Shelby Foerg for the Wildcats were Abigail Livingston, Jessica Scott, senior co-captain Jessica Heck and Katelyn Moss with a blast under the crossbar.

After Moss scored, the Wildcats (10-4-4) mobbed each other on the Stevenson turf field and took a joyous victory lap.

For Northville (15-3-2) it was a shocking end to the season.

"Look at my girls," said Mustangs head coach Eric Brucker. "I have 11 seniors that are never playing high school ball again. They're crushed."

Brucker said he would welcome a system where teams played overtime until "somebody scores a goal naturally. I hate going to PKs and having it dictated by six people when it's a game of 11."

All night, Plymouth employed a bend-but-don't-break style of defense, mostly keeping Northville's dangerous forwards such as Mallory Weber on the outside. Williams was ready whenever the Mustangs did threaten.

"Our defense, our four on the D and our four in the mid were incredible," Neschich said. "It

The number four doubles duo of Christy Murphy and Megan Foland won the state title for Northville.

Mustangs' fourth doubles team captures state title

Northville tennis team, as a whole, takes fifth

BY SAM EGGLESTON
CORRESPONDENT

What an impressive season the Northville Mustangs girls tennis team had in 2010.

After losing seven seniors to graduation from the season before, there was no certainty just how well the Mustangs would fare this year. The carnage they left behind them is impressive when tallied up: Undefeated in Central Division play, second place in the Conference tournament, second in the regional and fifth in the state finals.

Add to that the fact that the fourth doubles duo of Megan Foland and Christy Murphy are hoisting their flight state championship trophy and the picture comes clear: This was one tough Mustangs team.

"I'm very proud of the way they played, how they improved during the season, and how well they represented their school," said coach Sandy Woolfall.

Foland and Murphy made quite the impression as representatives for the Mustangs. They entered the state finals seeded No. 1 in their flight and went up against a very tough Port Huron Northern team in their first match. They won, 6-2, 3-6, 7-6(11), though they stressed Woolfall out the entire time.

"This first round match was one of the toughest matches I've ever coached," admitted Woolfall. "The girls were extremely nervous and certainly didn't want to lose the first match when they were seeded one. They were down, 4-1, in the third set and somehow managed to turn things around, winning the match in a tiebreak, 13-11. They were much more confident going into the second match against Clarkston."

The duo beat on the Wolves, 6-0, 6-2, before blasting Ann Arbor Pioneer, 6-2, 6-2.

In the final match, against Grosse Pointe South, the nerves were back for Murphy and Foland. They lost the opening set, 6-3, and held on in the second, breaking the tiebreak, 7-2. In the final set, they calmed themselves down and played the game they knew they could, winning 6-3 to secure the title.

"This is such a great accomplishment for these girls in their first year on the varsity team," noted Woolfall.

Foland, a senior, played two years on junior varsity but never gave up trying to make the varsity line-up.

"She has a great work ethic, loves tennis and hopes to continue playing club tennis at Central Michigan," Woolfall said.

Murphy, a junior, played two years on JV as well.

Ali Arastu stays undefeated in 300 hurdles with state title

Stellar senior also takes second in 110 hurdles event

BY SAM EGGLESTON
CORRESPONDENT

Ali Arastu is the best.

It's not a statement that is made lightly about any athlete in any season, but this season Arastu made a point of erasing any doubt in anyone's mind about his abilities. This year, he proved it.

Arastu finished first in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles at the state championship meet last weekend. His time of 37.50 seconds was enough to edge Deonte Hurst of East Kentwood, the hurdler who had beaten Arastu last year in the same race and had come back to defend his title this year.

"We always knew he was the best intermediate hurdler in the state, even when he ran second last year," said Northville boys track coach Joe Knisely. "But knowing it and actually winning the state championship are two different things. It's very gratifying to conclude his career here at Northville with such a nice accomplishment."

As though such a quick time in the 300 hurdles wasn't enough while visiting Rockford, Arastu added a second-place finish in the 110 high hurdles with a time of 14.51 seconds.

"I knew he was having a great day as he ran through the prelims and semis of the highs. When he finished second, we knew he was rolling," Knisely said. "The highs are a very different race than the intermediates, requiring almost completely different skills. The fact that he almost doubled (as state champion) is a great testimony to Ali's talent."

Arastu has been selected to run the 300 hurdles on the All-Michigan Team in the Midwest Meet of Champions next week. The event will be held in Fort Wayne, Ind.

The Midwest Meet of Champions is a meet between the all-star teams from Indiana, Ohio and Michigan. Arastu will help Michigan in its bid to repeat as champions of the meet.

Mustangs second at golf regional

BY SAM EGGLESTON
CORRESPONDENT

The Northville Mustangs boys golf team can check off another item on their to-do list thanks to a second-place finish in the regional tournament last week.

The team, coached by Matt Stetson, has made it a goal in the beginning of the year to qualify for the state finals. They did just that, finishing second with a team score of 300, which tied them with Plymouth. Temperance Bedford finished first at the West shore Country Club in Grosse Ile with a 296. Livonia Stevenson missed the state finals cut by finishing fourth with a 301.

"It was a day that we really showed our depth," said Stetson. "I don't think a single guy on the team would say they played especially well, but they grinded it out to qualify for the state tournament, which has been on our list of goals."

In the regional, the Mustangs were led by Trevor Grigg, who tied for third overall with a one-over-par 72. Northville's Blake Bonatz and Mike Walton shot 75 each, while Alex Bernstein shot 78 and Brandon Northville will be competing in the state championship this week at Forest Akers in East Lansing.

Cameron carded a 79.

Northville will head to Forest Akers in East Lansing this week for the state championship tournament.

"Now all we have to do is put together two solid days at the state tournament," said Stetson. "If four of our five guys play well each of the two days, we have a chance at the title."

Northville has finished in the top five in the past two seasons and was seventh three years ago. The four seniors on the team, Stetson said, know what to expect.

"The pressure is much higher at the state tournament, but the guys shouldn't feel like they have pressure on them to win," Stetson noted. "Hopefully, they will just play relaxed and enjoy the moment, and who knows? Maybe something special will happen."

Mustangs' lacrosse season comes to a close

BY SAM EGGLESTON
CORRESPONDENT

The Northville Mustangs boys lacrosse team has to take a moment and forget about the final game they played this year. Instead, they have to take a moment and look back over the history-making season they created.

The squad, coached by Greg Durham, took steps no lacrosse team at Northville had ever taken. They won their division. They won their conference. They won the district. They beat Novi. That's what the team has to focus on.

Not their final game, though that, admittedly, was one of the best games played in recent memory.

Northville jumped out to a four-goal lead over Forest Hills, the No. 3 ranked team in the state. They just couldn't hold on as their foes came back with a vengeance, scoring eight unanswered goals on their way to an 11-10 victory.

The Mustangs led, 2-0, after the first quarter, and 4-3 headed into the half. The third quarter, said Durham, was the deciding factor.

The Mustangs kept fighting, trailing 9-5 after the third before scrapping their way back to make it a 11-10 game with 19 seconds left in the game.

Ian Meador was a big part of that, winning the last five face-offs in the game to get his squad back in it, and scoring the 10th goal to bring his team within one. He won the final face-off with 19 seconds left, but Northville wasn't able to secure a goal.

David Ketelhut played extremely well in goal, making 16 saves and had what his coach described as "his best game of the season."

On offense, Jakob Kippola had four goals and one assist while Dylan Gelven had one goal and four assists. Nick Melucci and Kyle Galdes added one goal and one assist each.

Mustangs bow out of baseball playoffs

BY SAM EGGLESTON
CORRESPONDENT

It wasn't the way the Northville Mustangs wanted their baseball season to end, but there's definitely nothing for the players to hang their heads about.

The squad, which was 10-8 at one point this season, finished with a 25-10 record and earned a share of the Central Division title and had an opportunity to win the KLAAs. The team earned a win in the playoffs and then bowed to Farmington to end the season.

"I'm disappointed with the loss, but proud of how we turned our season around," said Northville coach John Kostrzewa. "We lost a lot of seniors last year, but still were able to have a very successful season and compete for championships."

Northville will return a slew of underclassmen who Kostrzewa noted "made great strides throughout the year."

Northville's playoff run began with an 11-1 win over Harrison with Dylan Breault winning the game on the mound with a complete game, allowing just one hit. The win marked his third one-hit performance of the season.

Northville was led on offense by Dan Mills, who went 3-for-4 with a double, while Davin Montgomery, Matt Stojkov and Brett MacDonald were all 2-for-3 with a double each. MacDonald added a two-run homer in the win.

Against Farmington, Northville fell behind 4-0 in the first inning on a three-run homer and couldn't recover as they struggled to a 6-2 loss to end their season.

Mills went 2-for-4 with both runs batted in for Northville. Montgomery went 2-for-3 while Breault added two hits and Colin Gerish added one.

Northville's season was capped with all-conference and all-district selections. Mills and Breault, unsurprisingly, were named to the All-District team this year while Mills, Breault, Stojkov, Gerish and Montgomery were All-Conference selections.

"Christy continued to improve all season," Woolfall said. "She is always open to advice on improving her game, will never give up during a match, chasing down every ball on the court from every corner on the court. Her final match against GPS was the best I've seen her play."

Northville also had two flights make the semi-final round. Mackenzie Powers, seeded fifth in four singles, won her first match against Rockford, 7-5, 6-0, and went on to upset the fourth seed from Grosse Pointe South, 6-0, 6-0.

"She played her best match of the season," said Woolfall. "Mackenzie had lost to GPS, 6-1, 6-2, at the Ann Arbor Pioneer tournament, so this was an amazing turnaround."

In the semi-final match, she fell to the No. 1 seed from Midland Dow, 6-2, 6-2, who went on to win the state title as she had done last year.

Northville's three doubles team of Ally Weaver and Jackie Kjolhede also made the semi-finals. They were seeded No. 2 in the tourney. The duo won their first match against Holland West Ottawa, 6-3, 6-2, and then beat Rochester, 6-0, 6-1. They lost a close, three-set match to Pioneer, 0-6, 6-1, 6-2.

"This unseeded team from Ann Arbor Pioneer knocked out four seeded teams to win the state title," noted Woolfall. "Ally and Jackie had the best team record coming into the tournament, having lost only one match the entire season. This was the first year for both girls playing in the state varsity line-up. Getting to the semi-finals was a great accomplishment."

Northville's two singles standout Erin Doud won her first round against Grand Blanc, 6-1, 6-3, but fell to Saline, 6-2, 6-1. Jessica Yu, at three singles, won against Grand Blanc, 6-2, 7-5, in the first round before losing to Saline, 6-1, 6-2.

The one doubles team of Laura Taylor and Caiti Darish won their first match over a tough team from Rockford, 7-5, 6-7, 6-4, before falling to Saline, 7-5, 7-6.

"It doesn't get much closer than that," said Woolfall of the loss to Saline. "The girls have shown all season that they can play with any team in the state, having had three set matches with the number one and two seeded teams and then playing the third seed this close. The number one doubles teams at the state level are very talented tennis players. Caiti and Laura showed that they were among the best."

At two doubles, Jenna Grezlik and Amy Bernstein, seeded fifth in the tourney, won their first match against Rochester, 6-2, 6-4, and fell in the next round to Pioneer, 6-5, 6-3.

At one singles, Joanne Weber lost a tough three-set first round match to Hudsonville, 2-6, 7-5, 6-1.

Northville collected 16 points, one shy from tying with Novi, who finished fourth. Taking first overall was Ann Arbor Pioneer, followed by Midland Down and Saline.

Northville will return three singles players and a large portion of their doubles line-up next year.

was great how we collapsed on them and really limited their opportunities all night."

The lone downer for Plymouth was an injury sustained by junior defender Katelyn Quinlan. She was hit in the face by a hard-kicked ball late in the second half and had to leave the game.

"I'm sure it (the Quinlan injury) did to some extent," said Neschich, about whether that gave the Wildcats another reason to dig deep. "But we bought into this a long time ago. This is what you practice three months for, the state playoffs."

Williams, who thought all day about the challenge at hand, said her defense really supported her. "They came through for me in the game like no other. I applaud those girls highly."

As for her poise in front of penalty kicks, she credited plenty of practice in recent weeks as well as drawing from her experience at goalkeeping camps such as Five Star.

GAMESMANSHIP

Before each Northville kicker, Williams would ask officials to give her a little more time to get set. She said it was strategy, picked up at those goalie camps.

"It's really just to psyche them out as much as possible, to freeze them, just like a baseball timeout (called) by the pitcher," she explained.

Although Northville's Alex

Gnonaj and Stacy Clough did beat Williams on the two following kicks, it was not enough because the Wildcats clinched the game when they scored their fourth PK goal.

When Moss scored to end it, Northville's Foerg threw her glove down on the field and buried her head in her hands in agony.

Not to minimize Plymouth's smart, hard-working defensive effort, Foerg wouldn't have been put in such a tough spot had Northville's usually strong offense produced as usual.

"We've already experienced this once, against Canton in our conference crossover," Brucker lamented. "So we're well-versed on what happens when we can't find the back of the net after 110 minutes."

Novi's Top 10 students

Name: Anirudh Vinnakota

Parents: Krishna Rao and Umarani Vinnakota

Academic honors: 3 Time Forensics States Semi-Finalist, National A.P. Scholar, Summa Cum Laude, Top 10 in Debate States, and National Chemistry Olympiad Runner-Up

Extra-curricular activities: Forensics, Debate, Quiz Bowl, Math Club, Science Club, National Honor Society, and Tennis

Post-graduation plans: Attending Northwestern University

Career plans: probably in the medical field

Who has influenced you most in your academic career and why: To pinpoint only one specific individual who has wholly contributed to the past 4 years of my life would be near impossible. It was the community that I had here- my peers, my teachers, my counselors- that enabled me to pursue everything I wanted to do at the highest level. No one stopped me from engaging any of my interests, interests that I felt would enrich and broaden my learning experience. If I had to narrow it down though, my family would come first, with all of the amazing teachers I have been privileged to have in a close second.

Most memorable high school moment? It would probably be during the Forensics States Competition, during the Semi-Finals. The tension, the stomach-wrenching feeling in my gut before my performance immediately vanished as I stood up, ready to speak. I was perhaps the most focused, most determined during that brief interval of time. Most importantly, I was happy with what I had done, regardless of what the outcome would be.

Name: Neha Verma

Parents: Rajendra and Priti Verma

Academic Honors: Four Year Honor Roll; Academic Second Bar; Summa Cum Laude; Phi Beta Kappa; Presidential Award for Educational Excellence; National Merit Letter of Commendation; AP Scholar with Honor; Accounting/Finance Award

Extra-curricular Activities: The Debate Team, Novi Youth Council, Model United Nations, The Novi Public Library's Teen Advisory Board, National Honor Society, Forensics, and Drama.

Post-Graduation Plans: I plan to attend the University of Michigan in the fall as a pre-admit to the Ross School of Business. I'm hoping to earn a dual degree in business and political science.

Career Plans: I plan to eventually become a lawyer.

Who has influenced you most in your academic career and why: My parents have definitely influenced me the most during my academic career because they've always pushed me to do my best in everything that I do. I greatly appreciate their support throughout this journey.

Most memorable high school moment: My most memorable high school moment was when we held the state competition for Debate at our high school in the December of 2008. Not only did I receive the 5th Best Speaker Award, Novi's Debate Team became the best team in the state!

Name: Jessie Hong

Parents: Yong Hong and Jin Yan

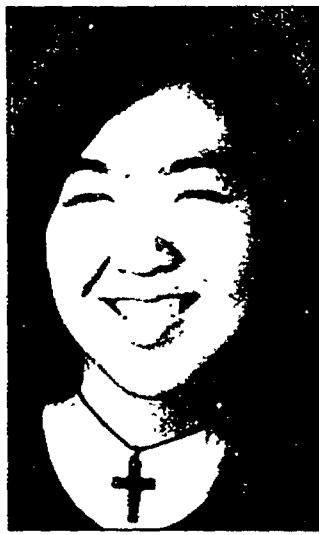

Academic Honors: Summa Cum Laude, National Merit Winner, Phi Beta Kappa, Presidential Award for Educational Excellence, Choral Department Award

Extra-curricular activities: Choir (2-time Michigan Youth Arts Festival participant @ Western Michigan University, music director for Novi High School's "Beauty and the Beast" (2009) and "Fame" (2010)), freelance accompanist/musician, ex-Math, ex-French club member

Post-graduation plans: Michigan State University, major undecided

Career plans: undecided

Who has influenced you most in your academic career and why: The choir teacher, Mr. Daniels, has influenced me the most. While teaching me these past four years, he has enriched my choral life, encouraged a passionate understanding of music, and strengthened my linguistic skills through deep involvement in the potpourri of choral pieces. The comfort of his choral environment has lead me to often stay after school to help classmates with music and schoolwork, fiddle around on the piano, or just discuss choral situations in his office.

Most memorable high school moment: I do not have a specific moment, but all the events leading up to my selection as the first sophomore girl in Novi Singers were quite overwhelming. I did not find out until a week after the list was posted through a good choir friend of mine and have now stayed in the ensemble for a record three years.

Name: Yunbo Nie

Parents: Zifeng and Xing

Honors: Summa Cum Laude, National Merit Finalist, 4 year honor roll

Ex-curricular activities: SPUD, track, Quizbowl, DECA, piano

Post-grad plans: I want to pursue a college education in the biological sciences or business track

Career plans: undecided

Who has influenced you the most in your academic career and why: The most influential person in my academic career would be myself. Without self-motivation, none of this would have been possible.

Most memorable high school moment: When my quizbowl team made play-offs at nationals by winning 4 games in a row.

Name: Anand Salem

Parents: Lalitha Ravichandran and Ravi Salem

Academic Honors: Magnum Cum Laude, Honor Roll (all 4 years), AP Scholar with distinction.

Extra-curricular activities: Quiz Bowl, SPUD.

Post-graduation plans: Attending the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Hoping to major in some sort of biological field.

Career plans: Pediatrician...for now.

Who has influenced you most in your academic career and why: I think my father has influenced me the most because he just sets a high bar for me that I feel the need to achieve. Being successful in academics himself, my father's success constantly pushes me to do well, if not better.

Most memorable high school moment: I had many great times in high school, but if I were to pick one, probably 2010 Nationals with my Quiz Bowl team in Chicago, Illinois. We had a blast and I just had a great time, one that I will never forget.

Name: Vishnu Venugopal

Parents: Mr. Venugopal Shan and Mrs. Vasuki Venugopal

Academic Honors: Summa Cum Laude; Phi Beta Kappa; Brooks Kushman Scholarship; Presidential Award for academic excellence; Novi High School Honor Roll (4 years)

Extra Curricular Activities: Member, City of Novi Youth Council; Vice President, National Honor Society; Varsity Tennis (4 years); Member, Student Council; Editor, Novi High School Newspaper (The Wildcat Roar); Member, International Thespian Society; Social Issue Theatre

Post Graduation Plans: Plan to attend University of Michigan.

Career Plans: Biological Sciences.

Who has influenced you most in your academic career and why: Don Crockett and Dan Lowes. These two teachers helped me to understand and shape my thoughts around Biology and its present and future role in the world around us; My parents who have instilled the importance of excellence in everything which I choose to pursue, including academics.

Most memorable high school moment: Being selected for the Novi High School Social Issue Theatre troupe, (awkward pause...) in my sophomore year.

Name: Alex Engebretson

Parents: John & Sue Engebretson

Academic Honors: Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarship; Academic All-State Varsity Baseball; Novi News Top Ten All-Area Academic Team; Mathematics Department Award; Summa Cum Laude; 2nd Academic Bar; Phi Beta Kappa; Presidential Award for Educational Excellence; 4 Year Honor Roll

Extracurricular Activities: 3 Years Varsity Wrestling; 2 Years Wrestling Captain; 2 Years Varsity Baseball; SADD Member

Post-graduation plans: Attending the University of Michigan - Ann Arbor to study pre medicine

Career Plans: Attend medical school and study to become a family physician.

Who has influenced you most in your academic career and why: My parents because they have always pushed me to work hard in school and achieve to the best of my abilities.

Most memorable high school moment: Senior prom and qualifying for regionals senior year in wrestling.

Name: Gavin Patient

Parents: Dan and Rose Patient

Academic honors: Honor Roll, MMPC top 100

Extra-curricular activities: FIRST Lego League Mentor, Japanese Club Member, Math Club Member

Post-graduation plans: attend University of Michigan LSA college in honors program

Career plans: physicist

Who has influenced you most in your academic career and why: My father, for always pushing me to do my best and teaching me to value academics.

Most memorable high school moment: The Oakland University

Summer Mathematics Institute was the most enjoyable activity for me. There I was able to interact with some incredibly gifted other students who had a passion for mathematics that just isn't normally found in high school students.

Name: Peter Zhang

Parents: Xiaoling Liu and Guorong Zhang

Academic Honors: Phi Beta Kappa, Four Year Honor Roll, Presidential Award, Summa Cum Laude, Academic Second Bar

Extra-Curricular Activities: Varsity Tennis Captain, Ping-Pong Club President, Freshman Academic Seminar Mentor, Youth Group

Post-Graduation Plans: In the fall, I will attend the LSA Honors program at the University of Michigan

Career Plans: Undecided. I am thinking of business or economics.

Who has influenced you most in your academic career and why: My parents have influenced me the most because they have taught me the values of perseverance and ambition.

Most Memorable High School Moment: When the tennis team placed 5th at the Division I State tournament both in the 2008 and the 2009 seasons. We exceeded expectations and proved ourselves as contenders.

Name: Jonathon Muncie

Parents: Kimberly and Michael Muncie

Acedemic Honors: University of Michigan Regent's Scholarship, Knights Templar Scholarship, Michigan State Honors College Scholarship, Lawrence Tech University Science and Engineering Scholarship, Brooks Kushman P.C. Technical Scholarship, University of Michigan Club of Greater Northville Scholarship, David Langham Memorial Scholarship, Phi Beta Kappa Recognition, Presidential Academic Excellence, Four Year Honor Roll, 2nd Academic Bar, Summa Cum Laude

Extra-Curricular Activities: Novi Marching Band, Novi Wind Ensemble, Novi Jazz Band, Cofounder/ President of Novi High School Plastic Recycling Program, Health Advisory Board Student Representative, Musical Crew Head, Freshmen Academic Seminar Mentor, MSBOA Solo and Ensemble Festivals, Original Member of Novi High School Paper Recycling Program

Post-Graduation Plans: Attend the University of Michigan, majoring in Biomedical Engineering and Pre-Medicine

Career Plans: Either continue on to med-school to become a surgeon or work as a biomedical engineer in medical research

Who has influenced you most in your academic career and why: Aside from my parents, my AP Calculus teacher, Mr. Anderson, has had the biggest influence on my academic career. He taught us how to break down a problem, look at it from all angles, and use everything we "put in our pocket" to solve it. A strategy that applies far outside of calculus. Most importantly, he taught us how to teach ourselves. Mr. Anderson's lessons will stay with me through college and everything I do.

Most memorable high school moment: Marching at MCBA State Championships in front of 6,000 people at Ford Field with 200 of my best friends.

Post-Graduation Plans: I plan to be a part of the Honors Program in Medical Education (BA/MD) at Northwestern University/Feinberg School of Medicine.

Career Plans: I'd like to someday be an oncologist.

Who has influenced you the most in your academic career? My physics teacher/science olympiad coach, Ms. Cheriyn Watkins is, quite honestly, the perfect teacher: brilliant, capable, qualified, and empathetic. I've had the pleasure of having Ms. Watkins as both my physics teacher and as my Science Olympiad coach. As a teacher, she is strong willed, determined, and incredibly focused on helping her students succeed. As a Science Olympiad coach, she dedicates hours of her free time to working with the team. What impresses me most about Ms. Watkins, however, is not her dedication to her profession. I love that she genuinely cares about her students - I've seen Ms. Watkins take an hour out of her busy schedule to talk with an unhappy student and really try to help. I have trusted Ms. Watkins implicitly, and if I ever need an adult's help, she's the first person I have turned to.

Most Memorable High School Moment: My most memorable high school moment was playing in my first varsity ice hockey game.

Name: Zhounan Xie

Names of parents: Chen Zhang, Jingbo Xie

Who has influenced you most in your academic career and why: During my sophomore year, my English teacher, Mr. Scheuermann gave me a new outlook on learning. "Aristotle said that all men, by nature, desire to know," he would explain. "And after this class, you will realize that a desire to know is the most important quality of any education." Mr. Scheuermann retired after my sophomore year, but he became more than a teacher to those of us who were in his class. He became a symbol of education at Catholic Central. He encouraged us to develop a new way of thinking and to question things that we would normally take for granted.

Your most memorable high school moment: Out of all the amazing experiences I've had this year & being at the football state championship game, traveling the country with classmates, meeting the Queen of England's representative and giving him a tour of the school & one of my most memorable high school moments was being interviewed on the radio for the Paul W. Smith show. A few days after I learned that WJR Radio would be broadcasting a show about Catholic Central, I was asked by Principal Ranalletti to speak with Paul W. Smith on "Excellence". It was an incredible experience to be interviewed on national radio, with my classmates watching the interview and friends from farther away tuning in to listen as well.

Name: Michael Yurko

Who has Influenced you most in your academic career and why: Both my dad and my mom have influenced me the most throughout my academic year. My parents came to America from southern India in search of a better life with nothing but a few dollars and faith that God would help them. They provided me with a truly strong example of hard work and faith. From birth to the present, they have always been there for me, supported me, and pushed me to produce my best work.

Your most memorable high school moment: All four years at Catholic Central were filled with great moments. But I'll never forget my time as the young scholar who never got around to drinking apple cider in Mr. Scheuermann's Honors English II class sophomore year.

Target Your Résumé to Prospective Employers' Needs

CareerBuilder

Your résumé isn't about you, it's about them. That is the first guiding rule you should remember as you craft your employment history and achievements to match the needs of the companies you want most to hire you.

Consider your audience by researching the company and its industry, and tailoring your résumé to the challenges faced by both. Point out how your talents and training dovetail with the company's needs, so hiring managers can picture you in the job they have available or other opportunities that come up in the future.

Start out with a short professional profile that succinctly draws a picture of your job skills, work ethic and natural abilities that translate into the kind of worker you are. The rest of the résumé should follow suit as it lays out a clear story of your work experience, education and the skills you developed.

Understand that most hiring managers are viewing your job history in a quick sweep. They want to see something that is easily readable. Don't use industry jargon or long sentences that create dense, hard-to-read narratives. Tell your story in bulleted form to create punch. Don't resort to résumé formats that look like a thousand others.

Throughout the résumé, aim for action. Using words like "I was responsible for..." don't get to the heart of your abilities. Be specific about accomplishments, punctuating them with hard numbers — figures — where applicable. Use details to explain your work story. A résumé isn't just about what you've done, but about what you have learned, achieved and produced.

Online portfolio and extracurricular activities can play a role in your résumé

Don't indulge an inclination to show how social media-savvy you are by providing links to personal pages on YouTube or Facebook, because they are just that — personal. A more professional tool is to have a link to an online portfolio that has visual presence with well-written sections about your accomplishments, career highlights and leadership and work style. Or direct people to your professional biography on LinkedIn or BrightFuse.

At the same time, your extracurricular activities or community service may tell something about the skills you bring to the job. If they show qualities such as organizational ability, leadership potential and creative thinking, list them along with work and educational history to show how you use your talents outside the workplace.

There's never a good reason to lie on your résumé, and any overstatement of job history or academic achievements can easily tarnish your credibility. Routine background checks and online research can so easily expose an untruth that the risk simply isn't worth taking when your integrity is at stake.

The progress you've made in your career shows a prospective employer the kind of direction your work experience has taken. This may be especially necessary for those moving into a new industry, where transferable skills are particularly important. Showing how your job skills are relevant to the requirements of a company's industry, as well as the company itself, is one way to portray yourself as the solution seeker they are looking to hire.

Judges laud Parade of Homes winning designs

The Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan announced the winners of its 21st annual Parade of Homes architectural judging. Parade of Homes is an exhibition of 30 new model and inventory homes and condominiums, one remodeled home and a number of lots for sale, all located throughout southeastern Michigan. The showcase takes place June 1-30. BIA, Bank of America Home Loans and DTE Energy/MichCon sponsor the event.

In this year's architectural judging, blue ribbons were awarded to the model homes in six categories plus one honorable mention. Winning homes were selected based on the following criteria: best value for the price, best use of space, most innovative design and aesthetic appeal. Before being judged in these categories, participating homes were divided into categories by price.

The blue ribbon homes are:

- Attached Condominiums — Abbey Woods at Abbey Woods in Canton Township built by Abbey Woods, LLC
- Homes Base Priced Under $200,000 — Marlee at Parkside By The Lakes in Commerce Township built by Parkside By The Lakes
- Homes Base Priced Over $200,000 and Under $300,000 — The Barclay at Partridge Creek Village in Clinton Township built by Lombardo Homes
- Homes Base Priced

Over $300,000 and Under $400,000 — Country Manor at Hillsborough Estates in Brighton Township built by S & S Homes

• Homes Base Priced Over $450,000 and Under $525,000 — Dover at The Manors Of Deerwood in Clarkston built by Robert R. Jones Homes

• Homes Base Priced Over $525,000 — Hampshire at Cheltenham in Novi by Chamberlane Homes.

An Honorable Mention was given to Finished Basements Plus for its basement remodel to a home located in Novi. The company was commended by the judges for bringing the importance of remodeling into the spotlight. The judges encourage other remodeling professionals to become a part of the Parade of Homes in the future since the remodeling of existing homes is an important part of the housing landscape in Southeastern Michigan.

A panel of local architects and industry experts judged the homes. Participating judges were Paul Salloum, sales manager, Bank of America Home Loans; Ben Tiseo, A.I.A., Tiseo Architects Inc.; and Lonny Zimmerman, A.I.A., STA Architects.

The Parade of Homes models are located throughout southeastern Michigan and can be viewed via open house tours, or online at www.biaparadeofhomes.com.

Featured homes include condominiums and single-family homes ranging in base price from $95,900 to $1,299,900. For additional information on the Parade of Homes, please call (248) 862-1016 or visit www.biaparadeofhomes.com. Free Parade of Homes magazines are available at area Bank of America Home Loans locations.

The blue ribbon homes included, for Attached Condominiums, Abbey Woods at Abbey Woods in Canton Township built by Abbey Woods, LLC

Headquartered in Farmington Hills, BIA is a trade association representing nearly 800 builders, remodelers, multi-family property owners, developers and suppliers to the single family and multifamily residential construction industry. BIA is affiliated with the Michigan Association of Home Builders in Lansing and the National Association of Home Builders in Washington, D.C.

A blue ribbon honoree in Homes Base Priced Over $525,000 was Hampshire at Cheltenham in Novi by Chamberlane Homes.

Heed privilege of attorney, client

Q: I am a member of our Board of Directors was present when our attorney addressed the co-owners at our condominium and I am wondering whether or not his discussion about a pending lawsuit in detail may have breached the attorney-client privilege.

A: The attorney-client privilege attaches to the client which is the condominium association acting through its Board of Directors.

Any discussions by the attorney concerning legal advice should be given strictly to the Board of Directors in an executive session so that the minutes and any dialogue at that meeting are deemed to be protected by the attorney-client privilege. Once the attorney discusses sensitive issues and legal advice to third parties, including members of the association, he has, in effect, breached that attorney-client privilege since the homeowners are not under any fiduciary obligation to maintain confidentiality. Your attorney should be questioned as to why he made those statements particularly if you are contemplating litigation as he may have clearly breached the attorney-client privilege which may have detrimental effects on the association.
