ON THE RECORD

Coffee with Corriveau

State Representative, Marc Corriveau will be having a coffee hour on Monday, Sept. 20, 2010 at George's Senate, 39430 Dun Roin Drive, Northville.

He will be available from 5:30-6:30 p.m. to discuss any concerns or questions people might have.

Speer in concert

Allison Durham Speer, a regular on the popular Gaiher Homecoming Videos, will be performing in concert in Northville on Sunday, Sept. 19 at Detroit First Church of the Nazarene, located at 21260 Haggerty Road. The doors will open at 5 p.m. and the concert begins at 6.

For additional information, call (248) 348-7600.

Evanovich signing

Best-selling author Janet Evanovich will sign copies of her new book, Wicked Appetite, at the Barnes & Noble on Six Mile in Northville Township at 6 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 16.

Due to the anticipated popularity of the event, the store will be issuing tickets on a first-come basis beginning at 7 a.m. that day for anyone wishing to meet the author and get her autograph. Barnes & Noble staff will instruct fans to line up according to the color of their ticket starting at 4 p.m.

Wicked Appetite will be released on Tuesday, Sept. 14. The book is the first in the Unmentionable Series, a spin-off of the author's popular Stephanie Plum novels. Evanovich will sign copies of Wicked Appetite, as well as new copies of other new releases such as Troublemaker and Sizzling Sixteen, and all new copies of books in the Plum series.

"Proposals" auditions

Spotlight Players, the resident adult theater group at the Village Theater, announces auditions for the comedy "Proposals" by playwright Neil Simon. This is a black-box production in the Biltmore Studio.

Auditions will be held at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 20-21. Performances are Nov. 12-14 and 19-21. All auditions and performances are at The Village Theater at Cherry Hill, 50400 Cherry Hill Road, Canton.

School has started, the weather is starting to get cooler in Northville, and that means it's time for the 22nd Annual Victorian Festival, which opens tomorrow downtown.

The three-day festival that celebrates the city's Victorian heritage will kick off with the annual parade through the downtown streets at 6:30 p.m. Hours are 5 p.m.-10 p.m. tomorrow; noon-10:30 p.m. Saturday and noon-4 p.m. Sunday.

This year brings the World Famous Flying

Wallendas performing their aerial act at Ford Field.

"After more than 20 years, it's always a bit daunting to come up with new ideas for the festival," said Jody Humphries, director of the Northville Chamber of Commerce. "So, this year we looked back to some of the original entertainment from 20 years ago and were fortunate to be able to bring the Flying Wallendas back to perform."

DDA looks at ways to spend 'extra' money

Projects selected for further discussion

BY PAM FLEMING
STAFF WRITER

Because of a $685,880 grant, the Northville Downtown Development Authority has the enviable job of deciding how to spend some leftover bond funding.

On Sept. 9, DDA board members had a special meeting to decide what projects they would like to recommend to the City Council.

The board asked Lori Ward, DDA director, to obtain more information before its next meeting on Sept. 21, with the hopes of being able to present their recommendations to council members at their Oct. 4 meeting.

Because the $685,000 is a reimbursable federal grant from the Department of Transportation, administered by the state, the money for the extra projects will actually come from money left over from the sale of $2 million worth of bonds.

FULL $2 MILLION REQUESTED

City staff requested the full $2 million for the sidewalk and streetscape improvement project because in January when the bonds were sold, city staff did not know yet if the transportation grant would be approved.

The DDA received notice in May that Northville would receive the grant mainly because many other cities in the running for the money couldn't provide the matching funds required and had to withdraw their application.

Funds from the sale of bonds should be used within three years, according to a legal opinion from Miller Canfield in Detroit.

If the city lets the money sit and collect interest, the city would have to pay tax on that interest. Using the proceeds of the bonds to pay off the bonds early would mean severe financial penalties and costs for the city, according to Pat McGow of Miller Canfield.

PROJECTS REVIEWED

The following projects were selected as possible ways to use the left over bond money:

Purchase $20,000 worth of trees, spend $30,000 on landscaping the Hutton Street curve and Mary Alexander Court, spend $60,000 to mill and resurface Center Street from Cady Street north to Dunlap Street, spend $60,000-$80,000 to mill and resurface Mary Alexander Court, spend $25,000 on a sound system for Town Square; enhancing the surface of other major intersections besides Main and Center streets at a cost of about $200,000, purchase $50,000 worth of historic markers, spend about $165,000 on additional induction lighting in streetlights, spend about $100,000 on directional signs, improve the alleyways by Rebecca's Restaurant and Orin Jewelers at a cost of $38,000 and come up with a design to enhance Ford Field for about $100,000.

"We can attempt to get some better quotes," Ward said.

"Let's see if we can tighten the numbers and do as much as we can (with the leftover bond money)," said Greg Presley, DDA chair.

PUBLIC RESTROOMS DISCUSSED

There was some discussion about the possibility of building a downtown public rest room, as Bob and Margene Buckhave will close the rest room in Old Church Square to the public on Dec. 31.

Ward said even if improvements aren't made to the two alleyways mentioned that it is important for the city to at least acquire easements for these two areas.

Mayor Chris Johnson thinks it's important to have all the streetlights the same to provide a more uniform look to the downtown area.

LARSEN LEAVING BOARD

It was mentioned at the end of the meeting that attorney David Larsen will be leaving the DDA board after many years of service. His last meeting will be on Sept. 21. Longtime members Lou LaChance and Jim DeHaan left the board a few months ago.

Teenager loses life in Salem Township crash

GANNETT NEWS SERVICE

A Howell teenager died and two Northville teens were injured after their vehicle hit a tree in Salem Township. The crash happened at about 5 p.m. Sunday. The three were eastbound on 6 Mile Road east of Curtis Road when their 1995 Jeep lost control, ran off the road and crashed into a tree. The two backseat passengers, a 17-year-old Northville girl and the Howell boy, were thrown from the vehicle, according to a news release from the Washtenaw County sheriff's office. The victims' names were not available.

The Howell boy was pronounced dead at the scene, and the girl was flown to the University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor in critical condition. The 17-year-old driver was taken to the same hospital for non-life-threatening injuries. Alcohol and speed do not appear to be factors in the crash, according to the release. The backseat passengers were not wearing seat belts. Anyone with information is asked to call the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Office confidential tip line at (734) 973-7711 or Deputy Douglas McMullen at (734) 973-4482.

Pack 721 grows garden

Northville's Cub Scout Pack 721 planted seeds in the community garden at Thayer's Corner Nature Area this past spring. Then each den took turns weeding and watering over the summer. Last week the cub scouts, who represent Moraine Elementary School and Our Lady of Victory School, harvested the vegetables and sunflowers and took them to Northville Civic Concern. Civic Concern's distribution to needy area families was the next day so the fresh produce was much appreciated. It included tomatoes, green beans, green onions, broccoli, basil, carrots and more. Pictured are some of the scouts and their siblings. Boys and their families in grades 1 through 5 may join Cub Scouts. Visit pack721.org for information about the New Scout Orientation taking place on Wednesday, Sept. 22 at 61Y.

Northville attorney defends two from Ann Arbor Punk case

Case attracts broad attention

BY PAM FLEMING
STAFF WRITER

Northville attorney Michele Kelly recently defended two of the eight arrested at the Ann Arbor Punk Week event last month.

The case is now closed, with those arrested returning to their respective lives after being sentenced to time they had already served in jail.

The incident occurred on Aug. 15 at Bandemer Park on 1352 Lake Shore Drive in Ann Arbor. Eight people -- Page Callison, 22, of Oakland, Calif.; Melissa Lyon, 20, of St. Louis, Mo.; Elijah King, 19, of Oakland, Calif.; Spencer Dilday, 21, of Haslett, Mich.; Katherine Andaas, 21, of Lansing, Mich.; John Hoopes, 31, of Buffalo, N.Y.; Kolby McMinn, 24, of Tularosa, N.M.; and Ryan Walker, 25, of West Columbia, S.C. -- were arrested for assaulting/resisting/obstructing a police officer, a felony punishable by two years and/or $2,000, and disturbing the peace, a misdemeanor punishable by 90 days and/or $500.

POLICE DISPATCHED TO SCENE

Police were dispatched to the park after someone called to say that a group of about 25 people were smoking marijuana, lounging naked and having sex near the dock, according to the police report.

Kelly represented Callison and Lyon in the case.

"There were no drugs found, and no one was having sex," Kelly said.

Kelly said articles that appeared about the case on the Ann Arbor News website, www.annarbor.com, prompted about 200 people to comment online.

"People felt very strongly about it," Kelly said.

The annual Punk Week festival includes activities such as a Zombie Walk, Shopping Cart Race and bands, according to Kelly.

Although the attendees dress differently, Kelly said some of them have full-time jobs and some are travelers who hop freight cars.

"I learned a lot about their language and lingo," Kelly said. "It was fascinating."

YOUNG PEOPLE INVOLVED

Kelly, who has been practicing law since 1987 and works in an office with her husband, daughter and son at 433 E. Main St., said, "I look at them, and I see kids. That's what I told the court when I argued (the case)."

She just recently moved to Ann Arbor and learned about the case when she read about it in the media.

"I was actually walking to the park about a half hour after this occurred," she said. A social worker on the case referred the arrestees to Kelly, who had called the Ann Arbor News reporter and expressed her concern about the arrests.

Four of them initially contacted her, but she told them that she couldn't represent all of them. She put out an all points bulletin to the criminal defense community about the situation. Nine lawyers responded.

"Not one had their hand out," she said.

The National Lawyers Guild's Police Misconduct Committee contacted Kelly, saying they were interested in the case. John Minock, a high-level criminal defense attorney out of Ann Arbor, also met with the young people.

Two of the young women suffered injuries. Formal complaints have been filed against the officers. An internal investigation is now under way in the Ann Arbor Police Department over the incident.

Kelly said that although she has the greatest respect for police officers and works with many closely in her practice, in the Bandemer Park incident, "I have never seen this type of excessive force from police officers," she said. "There was no reason for it."

SERVED JAIL TIME

"They (the defendants) were not committing any crime at the time, and they were all thrown in jail," she said. "Three of the young men were in jail for over 10 days." Some of the defendants were in jail for four days.

One of the female arrestees was tackled by police, according to Kelly. Another was wrestled to the ground and dragged by her arms through gravel and thrown over a fence, then into a police car where she was hog-tied with a rope, Kelly said.

"I have photos of her injuries," Kelly said.

Kelly said five officers were involved, and the conduct of three is being questioned.

Kelly said this case, referred to as the Bandemer Eight Case, is the reason she practices law -- "to protect those who can't protect themselves."

Fund-raiser to help kids with cancer

Christoph's ALL Stars is holding their 4th Annual Charity Evening from 6-9:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 3 at the Toll Brothers Model Home on 17205 Crestbrook Drive in Northville's Steeple Chase subdivision. "The Charity Evening is our annual event to raise funds for our organization and achieve our mission," said Anita Bartschat, co-founder. "We have received tremendous community support and will offer many great items in the auction as well as a musical performance by the Northville High School Treble Makers." Silent auction items will be available for bidding from 6-8 p.m. The live auction will begin at 8. Some of the items up for bid include rare sports memorabilia, original artwork, and restaurant gift certificates. Guests will enjoy a strolling dinner with offerings donated by Cantoro Italian Market and several area caterers. The dessert selections will feature custom sweets from Northville bakery Sweet 220.

"Once again the community has been so generous donating items for the Charity Evening. Their support allows us to give 100% of the contributions directly to the doctors who are working to find the desperately needed cures," said Bartschat. "When you find out that your child has cancer you feel absolutely powerless. These kids, some just babies, endure long, sickening, and painful treatments. We have learned that a treatment is not the same thing as a cure."

Christoph's ALL Stars Charity Evening is the annual fund-raiser in honor of Childhood Cancer Awareness Month. Other community events are held throughout the year. Area schools have supported Christoph's efforts and students have made and sold bracelets and Spirals of Strength key chains.

"It's great to see so many people helping out," said Christoph Bartschat, co-founder.

grade at Northville High School, was diagnosed with Acute Lymphoblastic Leukemia (A.L.L.) in May 2007. He responded well to the chemotherapy and just completed the 40 month treatment plan before school started.

"The treatment was tough, but Christoph handled it without much complaint. Unfortunately he has lost some clinic friends to the disease. He understands that this is a fight for life," explains his mother, Anita.

Christoph has also learned firsthand about the need for blood donations. During his treatment for leukemia he needed over 30 blood transfusions. Donating blood to the American Red Cross is a way to help kids with cancer without spending a dime. During the Charity Evening they will be promoting a blood drive to be held at Northville Hills Golf Club Subdivision on Oct. 15.

Northville volunteers helping out schools

Volunteers spread mulch, plant flowers

BY PAM FLEMING
STAFF WRITER

Some Northville PTA members and students are providing some hands-on help to local elementary schools in these tough economic times.

At local schools, including Meads Mill, Ridge Wood and Silvers Springs Elementary, volunteers are taking on volunteer projects such as spreading mulch around flower beds to make the schools look more beautiful.

The mulch was provided to them; they are just volunteering the labor to put it down.

Michelle Jazewych, mother of Alexandra Jazewych, an eighth-grader at Meads Mill, volunteered to spread the mulch and is a member of the Meads Mill Beautification Committee. Other parents who helped her are Lynne Kerr and Laurie Williams.

"We also pulled a ton of weeds," she said. "I took home about six bags home, and Lynne took home about three bags."

PTA members and students also planted flowers at the school.

"We wanted to make the school grounds look nice for Transition Day (the day that students transition back into the school year)," she said. Jazewych isn't sure if the other elementary schools have similar committees through the PTA.

"I've been part of the Beautification Committee at Meads Mill for three years," Jazewych said. "I know that some of the volunteer work that PTA members (and students) have taken on has been due to budget cuts in the school district."

Recently, she was at Northville High School and noticed that a woman was working on the grounds there as well.

"A lot of parents are doing this," Jazewych said.

The parents paid for flowers that were planted themselves, and all of the labor was done at no cost to the school. The superintendent's office secretary said parents interested in volunteering to such outdoor projects can contact PTA President Debbie Peck at (248) 942-2488.

JUDY WALSH

Beloved Mother of two, Nana to five, passed away the morning of August 25 at the age of 71. In addition to being a wonderful Mom and friend, Judy was an incredible contributor to the youth sports scene of Northville throughout the 1980's and 90's. She served as President of both the Northville High School Athletic Booster Club and Northville Junior Baseball, sat on the board of the Northville/Novi Colts, and volunteered for more than 15 NABF World Series. Additionally, she was head coach of the NHS Varsity Pom-Pom squad, and then later, the Varsity Cheerleading Team. Her tireless and broad effort to improve the athletic pursuits of Northville kids will never be forgotten, and is a big reason for the success and sophistication enjoyed today. Judy is survived by her son Eddie (wife Rachel, kids Annie 13, Mikey 11, Sophie 7), and Danny (wife Leah, kids Reagan 6, Jackson 5). In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations be made to the Northville Football Parents Association in honor of Judy Walsh (checks payable to NFPA, 46998 Merion Circle, Northville, MI 48168).

Ghoultide Gathering

A collective of twenty-three artists has been assembled for the fourth annual art show known as Ghoultide Gathering: A Halloween Artists Spectacular. This one-day event will take place from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 2 in Mill Race Village, 215 Griswold, Northville. Admission is $5 at the gate.

Juried artists work to create spooktacular collections to charm and sell at this Halloween-only show. Using both traditional and non-traditional mediums, their visions of Halloween offer a spellbinding take on the season that has fascinated many since childhood.

More information, and a list of Ghoultide Gathering participating artists is available on the show website at www.ghoultidegathering.com.

Have a Heart for Hunger

The second annual Have a Heart for Hunger fundraiser to cover the cost of Kids Against Hunger meal-packing events this school year by Northville and inner-city students will be Saturday, Nov. 20 at Northville High School. Soup supper is from 5-7 p.m. featuring soups donated by several area merchants. Join in the excitement of assembling rice meals for the world's hungry. Beginning at 7 p.m., enjoy the NHS production of Rodgers and Hammerstein's Broadway Musical, "Cinderella".

Don's Friends donation

The Second Annual Don's FRIENDS 5K Fun Run took place on the weekend of Don Ausman's 24th birthday (May 30) at Edward Hines Park in Northville. Over 200 friends and family from across the country came to enjoy this celebration planned by Don's mom, Renee Wauldron; father Phil Ausman; step-mom Michelle Ausman and step-dad Jim Wauldron. Three local restaurants donated food for runners and walkers, including Rocky's of Northville, China Cafe, and Kerby's Coney Island. Each participant received a colorful T-shirt showing a photo of Don running. Money raised at this event and others, including the Don's FRIENDS 5K Run/Walk in St. Augustine, Fla. on April 10, allowed Don's Foundation to donate $5,000 to Michigan State Universities Alternative Spring Break Program. The St. Augustine FL Run drew 350 runners and raised over $20,000.00.

Don attended Michigan State and was very involved with the Alternative Spring Break Program, where students use their vacation breaks to travel and help others in need. Don traveled with fellow MSU students to Africa and Mexico and had planned to travel to New Orleans as the Site Leader until his untimely passing on Jan. 28, 2009 at the age of 22. For more information about Don, his Foundation and the Don's FRIENDS Runs, visit www.DonsFRIEND.com. Pictured, Don's mom, Renee Wauldron (right) presents a check to Ann Marie Lindley, representing Michigan State University's Alternative Spring Break program.

For more information, go to www.haveaheartforhunger.net. Tickets go on sale Oct. 1. They will only be sold at the door if available.

off of Griswold Street north of Main Street at 1:30, 3:30 and 5:30 p.m. on Saturday and at 12:30 and 2:30 p.m. on Sunday.

"They certainly are a different and exciting act, and we look forward to watching their high wire performances."

The streets will be blocked off to traffic throughout the festival on Main Street from Wing to Hutton streets and on Center Street from Dunlap to Cady Street. Many townspeople, including Mayor Chris Johnson, will dress in period costumes. The festival will feature storytellers, magicians, musical entertainment and demonstrations. Ryde Park features rides for children, and the Victorian Saloon, sponsored by Edward Jones, will offer libations on Friday and Saturday.

Visitors can also shop in Northville, play old-fashioned games and check out a variety of food booths. Victorian Teas and Fashion Shows will take place on Saturday, and Mill Race Village will also host activities on Sunday. The festival is hosted by the Northville Chamber of Commerce.

FARMER JOHN'S ANIMALS

"We are also excited to have Farmer John and his animal act at the festival throughout Saturday and Sunday," Humphries said. "He has a really wonderful show that is fun for everyone, and when not performing, he has a little petting area for the children." Farmer John's Barnyard Express will be located on E. Main by Poole's Tavern and Long's Plumbing. Hours are noon-5 p.m. Saturday and noon-3 p.m. Sunday. The Craft Market will be open from noon-5 p.m. on Saturday and noon-4 p.m. on Sunday on E. Main Street. The Northville Art House Gallery and Store at 215 W. Cady Street will also have a photography exhibit, "Focus on Michigan" that includes photos from locations in Michigan, including Northville. The Art House will be open from 1-5 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

MILL RACE VILLAGE ACTIVITIES

Festivities at Mill Race Village on Griswold Street will take place from noon-4 p.m. on Sunday and include children's games and craft demonstrations, a tea room, book sale, PTA Food Tent, artifacts and a Mourning House. All Mill Race Village buildings will be open on Sunday. A Cake Walk is slated for 1 p.m., a Barnshop Quartet at 2 p.m., with the annual duck race at 3:30 p.m. This Mill Race Village fundraiser offers plastic ducks for sale for $5 each. The Eclipse Base Ball Club will play at Ford Field at 7:30 p.m. against the regular Base Ball Club of Mt. Clemens. Saturday at 1 p.m. they take on the Port Huron Welkins, and Sunday at 1 p.m. the Mighty River Hogs of Midland.

On Saturday from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. the American Association of University Women Home Tour will offer five homes raine or shine for viewing. Tickets are $20 in advance, with children under age 10 not permitted.

Tickets are sold at the Chamber of Commerce, Gardenviews, Pear-aphernalia, Solid Grounds and Starring the Gallery.

VINTAGE VICTORIAN FASHION SHOW, TEA

The First Presbyterian Church, 200 E. Main Street, will be the site of a fashion show and tea at 2 p.m. on Saturday. Guests are invited to view a presentation by historian Pam Yockey and see beautiful Victorian gowns. Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for students. For advanced tickets call (248) 349-0911. Tickets are also available at the door. Victorian attire is not required to attend.

LIVE MUSIC

Festival-goers can also listen to live music at several locations in downtown Northville. The saloon, open from 7-10 p.m. Friday and Saturday behind city hall, will have entertainment, with a couple of stages set up on E. Main Street for various types of family entertainment. The Toll Brothers Stage Town Square Stage will be across from the clock on E. Main Street. The Carhartt Stage will be located at the intersection of Main and Center streets.

There are many ongoing events throughout the three-day festival. See the special section in this week's issue for more information and a full schedule of events.

'Last of the Red Hot Lovers' showing at Tipping Point Theatre

Kicks off All-American Season

BY PAM FLEMING
STAFF WRITER

Barney Cashman isn't looking for trouble, he's just worried that life is passing him by.

The gentle owner of a successful seafood restaurant is sure he can spice up his life with an extra-marital fling. And, when his mother's New York City apartment becomes available one day a week, Cashman is sure his dreams have come true.

The hilarious and unsuccessful attempts at an affair that unfold and the life lessons Cashman learns along the way reveal a tender man who just can't succeed at sinning in "Last of the Red Hot Lovers," the season-opening performance at Northville's Tipping Point Theatre.

Neil Simon's "Last of the

DETAILS

The show continues through Oct. 16 at the theatre at 361 E. Cady St.

The curtain rises at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, with matinees at 3 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $28-$30 for adults and $26-$28 for students and senior citizens. All are on sale now and available by calling the box office at (248) 347-0003.

"Red Hot Lovers" is a timeless comedy from one of the best-known classic American playwrights, and kick off to Tipping Point's 2010-11 season full of award-winning shows penned by American writers.

STARS OF THE SHOW

The production stars Dave Davies and Sandra Birch in the leading roles under the directorial debut of James Kuhl. Davies starred in Tipping Point's first production, "Don't Dress For Dinner," and has recently been in "The Dinner Party" and "Every Christmas Story Ever Told (And Then Some)."

Birch, who is a former resident artist at Chelsea's Purple Rose Theatre, was last seen at Williamston Theatre in "Home; Voices from Families of the Midwest" and "It Came From Mars," and is making her debut at the Tipping Point with this production.

Davies was cast perfectly in the role of Cashman as the would-be ladies man who tries to be naughty, but he's just too nice. Birch shows her range by playing all three of Cashman's love interests, which are quite different, to say the least.

Although the play becomes intense at times with a lot of yelling and on-purpose over-acting, the play is funny and entertaining throughout. With all he goes through, it makes the audience wonder why Cashman is so intent on having a fling when he's got the best woman in the world waiting for him right at home.

MORE TO COME

Also on tap in the Tipping Point's All-American Season are the family classic "Wiley and the Hairy Man," the hilari-

Horseless Carriages Return to Northville

Mill Race Village comes alive with the sights and smells of the early 1900s as about 25 vintage horseless carriages arrive. The South Michigan Motorists Chapter of the Horseless Carriage Club of America and the Snapper's Brass & Gas Touring Region of the Antique Automobile Club of America will be hosting the 29th running of the Lansing to Dearborn Run preceding the Old Car Festival at The Henry Ford. For more information contact the Northville Historical Society at (248) 348-1845 from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Monday-Friday, or visit www.millracenorthville.org.

General Store dedication

Over two years ago ground was broken for the new General Store at Mill Race Village in Northville. Built by the dedicated volunteers of the Northville Historical Society, another building has sprung up in the quaint little village. Workers salvaged as much wood as possible to recreate the building as it originally stood at 166 Main Street. Built in the 1850's the General Store was the home of many businesses over its 160-year history, most recently a beauty salon. Many still remember Saxton's Feed Store, Paul's Sweet Shop, the Black Whale Restaurant and Sheehan's Little Caesar's Pizza formerly gracing Main Street. The General Store will be dedicated at a ceremony during the Victorian Festival at Mill Race Village at 12:15 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 19. The name of the store has been a closely guarded secret and will be unveiled at the dedication. The proprietor will be on hand to greet visitors. For more information, call (248) 348-1845 or visit their website at www.millracenorthville.org.

Victorian dress sale

Local icons headline Michigan Sports Hall of Fame class

Induction ceremony held in Oakland County for first time

BY NATHAN MUELLER
STAFF WRITER

Popular NASCAR team owner Jack Roush has had a plethora of success in Michigan since coming to the state in 1964 to work for Ford Motor Co.

It's where he started his racing career, anchored his business, Roush Industries, and for part of the year calls home.

So it's no surprise when the Northville resident was inducted into the Michigan Sports Hall of Fame on Monday at the Rock Financial Show place in Novi that he was humbled by the honor.

"The people in southeast Michigan are in my tribe," he said. "It's been a great honor to be part of this community and be recognized among these people."

Roush, who is affectionately known as The Cat in the Hat for the wide-brim Panama hats he wears, is the co-owner of Roush Fenway Racing and has won five NASCAR championships in that capacity.

He also is an avid flyer who looked to be recovering nicely from injuries suffered in his second plane crash in eight years that occurred in July in Wisconsin.

On Monday, he was his usual energetic self and eager to help the hall of fame work toward its goal of reaching the state's youth.

"I'm always anxious to give young people encouragement," he said, adding that his focus is not just on sports but on helping them become good business people. "My role is to be an inspiration to young people who have dreams."

Joining Roush in the 54th induction class was former PGA golfer Meg Mallon.

Mallon, who grew up in Birmingham and graduated from Mercy High School in Farmington Hills, called her inclusion in the hall of fame "incredibly cool."

"I was just a kid who got to play these sports in Michigan," she said. "And it is a great honor to be part of this class of great athletes and great people."

The 47-year-old recently decided to step away from the game after 23 seasons on the PGA Tour and has put an offer on a house in Leelanau County. She won 18 times on the tour, including two U.S. Women's Opens, and in 1991 was named the Female Player of the Year by the Golf Writers Association.

But one of her biggest accomplishments came in 1979 during Mallon's junior year of high school when she, her mother and "Mrs. Bileti" founded Mercy's golf team.

The team allowed Mallon to get a golf scholarship at Ohio State University and eventually led her to pursue a career in the sport.

"Everything for me has been a real wonderful surprise," she said.

Also inducted in the class Monday night were Bob Becker, George Blaha, Steve Fraser, Bill Fleming, Marian Ilitch, Rick Leach, Herman Moore, Eddie Murray, John Urbanchek and Peter Karmanos, who was a member of the 53rd class.

The inductees were announced in 2008, but due to economic struggles, had to wait until 2010 for the induction ceremony. This also marked the first time the ceremony was held outside of Detroit, and Steve Leshner, chairman of the MSHOF board, said he hopes the hall of fame's reach will continue to grow as a result.

"The hall of fame to me is bigger than a hallway at the Cobo Center," he said. "I see it as a way to inspire youth."

The board is currently working on a community outreach program that will talk about the legacy and history of the members through a touch-screen multimedia slide show.

Leshner said they will be put in heavy traffic areas through-

Tea Party case shows parties have too much say on elections

The presumably Democratic-inspired effort to put a faux Tea Party party on Michigan's ballot once again highlights a central flaw in state elections: Political parties run the state's election machinery. Partisan interests, not voter needs, come first in Michigan.

Nowhere is that more obvious than this Tea Party carnival's when the Board of State Canvassers deadlocked 2-2 on whether the Tea Party could appear on the ballot, with the "no" votes coming from the Republican members of the board. The two Democratic members voted "yes."

Now, a citizen with common sense might wonder at the wisdom of stocking a state elections panel on the basis of partisan membership. Wouldn't a partisan have a vested interest in keeping party interests high and competition low? Of course. But Michigan does not score highly for running its elections anyway.

"The first pillar on which a modern electoral system must build is the establishment by statute of an independent, non-partisan, professional election commission in each state," argues a 2009 report from the Center for Democracy and Election Management. Yet, this report noted that Michigan not only does not have an independent board, but also operates its elections under a partisan official — the secretary of state.

Far from being concerned with political independence, state law requires the Board of State Canvassers to be split between the two major political parties: The "state central committee of each major political party shall submit to the governor the names of three individuals as nominees for each position that is up for reappointment that the major political party is entitled to" on the board.

There you have it, voters, the Democratic and Republican parties are "entitled to" positions running Michigan elections. If that isn't a direct conflict of interest, what is?

On Sept. 3, the Michigan Supreme Court ruled (5-2) that the mysterious Tea Party will not appear on Michigan's ballot in November, but out state's system of managing elections already stands convicted of excessive partisanship.

Color Guard supports Northville High with style

It's nerdy, plain and simple.

DTgringo

It is obvious that you don't know much about Color Guard or the Northville High School Band. However, I cannot blame you. Because we are not a competing band, we don't receive a lot of press. First of all, in order to be a member of the Guard, each student must also be a part of the band. When marching season ends, they become important members of the symphonic bands each playing an instrument and competing in festivals. Secondly, although it may be a stretch to call Color Guard a sport, it is certainly a variation of dance that incorporates spinning flags, rifles, and sabers. The addition of a Color Guard adds an exciting visual and brings the music to life. Members of the Color Guard practice every day for almost half of their summer to put on a show for the residents of Northville. Although it is unlikely any of the girls will choose to become professional guard members, they love what they do and deserve support.

The Bourne Identity for voters

The movie "The Bourne Identity" was released over eight years and it is still one of today's most-watched DVDs. In this movie, actor Matt Damon has amnesia and valiantly endeavors to recover his memory. However, there are powerful forces working against him.

This movie is an excellent allegory of what is happening today in our national politics. Many voters have developed amnesia as to what happened during the Bush/Cheney administration where the following occurred:

- We were attacked on 9/11 even though memos were presented months in advance of the attack that Bin Laden was "determined" to attack the U.S. by flying airplanes into buildings
- We invaded Iraq on the basis of lies spread by the Bush/Cheney administration. We know now that Iraq had nothing to do with 9/11 and had no weapons of mass destruction.
- For the first time in our 240-year history, Bush/Cheney and the Republican-controlled Congress instituted tax cuts which were predominantly a relief to the most wealthy Americans. When Bush was asked what sacrifice we Americans should embrace to help with the war effort, he said that we should "go shopping."
- Because regulators were lunching (and actually sleeping) with Wall Street bank executives, our financial system went to the brink of collapse. As a result, Bush/Cheney passed the TARP which lent billions of taxpayer money at 0 percent to the banks that had bet against American investments and paid their executives millions while the value of our 401(k)s went into the toilet.
- Home values also went into the toilet and home foreclosures and bankruptcies hit all time highs.

- We were losing 700,000 jobs a month.
- And we kept the cost of our wars off the books while borrowing billions every day from China and other countries which tripped our deficit.

Jason Bourne successfully battled nefarious forces that used everything they had to keep him from remembering his past. I submit that we Democrats, Independents and reasonable Republicans are engaged in a similar battle. Jason Bourne remembered and won. I hope we voters do, too.

Kidz Kamp kudos

On Aug. 19-20, at Mill Race Village, the word community took on special meaning for New Hope Center for Grief Support when we held our first KIDZ Kamp for grieving children. A grant from The Hitachi Foundation spearheaded the idea and funded this summer camp. But then, we still needed individuals and businesses in the area to make this dream a reality. We are extremely grateful to those in the community who gave so generously and helped us provide a wonderful experience for the 29 children who participated.

We want to thank The Northville Historical Society for donating the use of their grounds and buildings and allowing the children to make a memorial garden in the backyard of New Hope at 315 Griswold. The garden was one of the many highlights of the camp as each child painted a stone in memory of their loved one and placed the stone next to their plant. This is now a place for every child to visit and remember their loved one. Hometownlife.com has a video of this ceremony.

We want to also thank Dana Mulder, a landscape architect from Mulder Design Group who gave of her time and talents to design the garden and help us choose the right plants. We are grateful to The Plymouth Nursery who donated a large portion of the cost of the plants. Thank you to Stone City in Novi who gave us a discount on the stones and to Home Depot on Five Mile in Northville who donated all the paint we needed.

The success of the camp also depended on volunteer staffing. Twenty-three men, women and teens came forward and worked at the camp or helped with the creative planning. Healthy lunches were provided by Bucca Di Beppo in Livonia.

Thank you to all of the above mentioned people who helped make KIDZ Kamp the wonderful success that it was. This is just another example of how great things can happen when a community works together. We welcome visitors at our New Hope home on Griswold and would love for any members of the community to stop by and learn more about how we help grieving adults and children. And, while you're there, you can visit our new Children's Memorial Garden.

No one likes to hear the unpleasant truth on government

We have entered the silly season, these last two months before the Nov. 2 general election in Michigan.

Millions of dollars will be spent on TV, radio, the Internet, mailers and robo calls to educate and confuse the voters about the candidates' positions.

Wall Street vs. Main Street, shipping Jobs to China, political insider, novice outsider, World's Angriest Mayor and One Tough Nerd — and these are the "nice" descriptions of the respective candidates.

Our state has been through gut-wrenching economic times that are not yet over. The next eight weeks of campaigning will produce nostalgic and unrealistic calls to rewind the tape to better times.

While the state needs an optimistic and visionary leader, we do not need unrealistic, rearview mirror pandering. We need a governor who is a pioneer not a settler, a leader who will boldly set sail for the future, not drop anchor in the past.

Here's a message that may not be a great vote-getter but needs to be drilled into the psyche of every voting Michigander: In this century, globalization, knowledge, talent, creativity, entrepreneurialism and innovative spirit are going to drive everything.

The economy we once had — that enabled someone to drop out of school, walk onto the factory floor and into the middle class — is gone, never to return.

In this environment, where ideas and jobs can and do move around the world effortlessly, the old Main Street and factory floor now circle the globe.

While not what battered Michigan workers (whether blue or white collar) want to hear, no job in Michigan is safe from competition from around the globe.

This is true regardless of whether the Angry Democrat Mayor Bernero, or the One Tough Nerd Republican Snyder becomes our next governor. Technology and a globally connected economy are here to stay.

This harsh message needs to be drilled into the heads of elected leaders who think we can afford to dawdle in making key decisions that will drive our future. It also needs to be internalized by every parent and student in Michigan.

Knowledge will drive opportunity. Education is the best investment we can make as a state and nation.

The individual, city, state and nation that maximizes their investment in quality education and skill development from the cradle to the grave will be the individual and government subdivision that thrives in the 21st century.

Everyone needs to understand that Michigan's past success is not a guarantee of future success.

We do not have one child to waste in Michigan and America if we wish to be productive in the hyper-competitive, transformational, disruptive, unpredictable, technologically driven, global, knowledge economy.

This message is not pleasant or popular and is unlikely to be a great vote producer. However, it is a message that needs to be heard and internalized with a great sense of urgency.

The first step to problem-solving is problem identification. Our problem is the world has changed and Michigan's culture of minimal education and maximum wages has not.

No, our best days are not behind us.

If we are inspired by Michigan's next governor who dares set a shared vision, and a common agenda that we can rally around, there is nothing we cannot accomplish.

If Michigan commits to enhancing the skills, talent and education of our citizens, we will once again head down the path to prosperity. If not, we will sink like a rock in the turbulent global economic seas.

"They have done 6,700 titles of towns and events all over America," Fecht said. "It allows for organizations like historical societies and libraries to publish local history books at an affordable price. It gives people a chance to showcase their local history, which is wonderful."

Fecht will appear along with Mayor Chris Johnson for a public launch of the book at the Next Chapter Bookstore on E. Main Street immediately after the Victorian Festival Parade about 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

She will also have the book at a Northville Historical Society booth at the festival this weekend.

The book, which sells for $21.99, is also available in the Mill Race Village office in the Cady Inn.

The new book features pages and pages of archival photos of Northville. Arcadia staff actually wrote Johnson a letter in 2009 saying they had had more requests for a Northville Images of America book than anything else.

Johnson then contacted Fecht to see if she would be interested in taking on the project.

"I said, 'I'd love to,'" she said.

Fecht received much help on the project from Heidi Nielsen, curator and archivist of the Northville Historical Society.

"She's the keeper of the treasures," Fecht said. "I stole so many of Heidi's hours delving into the incredible collection that the society has."

LOTS OF RESEARCH

Fecht also used Barbara Louie's book, Northville, Michigan, from the Making of America series published by Arcadia in 2001, as a resource. She also used Jack Hoffman's book, Northville:

PAM FLEMING/NORTHVILLE RECORD

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Michele Fecht is a Michigan native and longtime resident of Northville. She began her writing career as a reporter for The Northville Record before moving to The Detroit News as a reporter and assistant editor. For the past 15 years, she has worked as a freelance writer and editor for publications such as the Chicago Tribune, Detroit Free Press and others.

She is a longtime member of the Northville Historical Society and currently serves on the Northville City Council. Fecht is a former trustee of the Northville District Library and Northville Youth Assistance. She also served as chairperson of the City of Northville 50th Anniversary Committee in 2005.

Her husband, Steve, a professional photographer and former photo director for The Detroit News and the Ann Arbor News, lent his expertise in the digitizing of the historic images featured in Northville.

The Fechts and their children, Clara and David, live in a historic house in downtown Northville. Built by the son of one of Northville's earliest settlers, the Victorian-era structure continues to be a work in progress.

The First Hundred Years, in her research. Hoffman was a longtime editor of the Northville Record.

Another resource was Bill Sliger's 1969 Centennial Edition of the Northville Record.

Fecht said the project took her about six months. "I had to follow the history of the city from its inception," she said.

There were some generous citizens who provided some photos, including Dick Ambler, Fred Hicks and Mayor Johnson.

"I didn't realize what an industrial giant Northville was from the late 1800s through the 1930s," Fecht said.

Faces & Places: Initiative formed to preserve history

In her research for her new book "Northville" in the Images of America series from Arcadia Publishing, Michele Fecht began to realize the importance of historical images and documents.

Now, in conjunction with the Northville Historical Society, she is helping to launch "Faces & Places: Preserving Northville's Historical Images & Documents," a new initiative of the Northville Historical Society's Archives.

The capital campaign will raise money for three areas: preservation, restoration and acquisition of archival items.

The Northville Historical Society Archives is a repository of photos, letters, diaries, maps and other materials relating to the history of Northville.

Since the society's beginnings in 1964, the organization has collected thousands of documents. The preservation and accessibility of these materials is important to maintain a historical record of the community.

Contributions are now being accepted in the Faces & Places program starting at $25.

Those who donate between $250 and $499 will become a member of the Mary Lapham Society. She was a leading citizen and chairperson of Northville's library organizing committee in 1889. She donated the first 250 books to the library, became president of the Ladies' Library Association and eventually deeded the church for the library.

Those who donate $500 or more will become a member of the John Miller Society. He was one of Northville's earliest pioneers. In 1826-27, he built Northville's first gristmill, which was the catalyst for much of the community's growth in its early years.

Those who would like to make a contribution to the Faces & Places initiative can send a check to the Northville Historical Society, 215 Griswold Ave., Northville, MI 48167. Please write Faces & Places on the check memo line and make checks payable to the Northville Historical Society.

THE NORTHVILLE DEMOCRATIC CLUB likes VIRG BERNERO because...

We Can Count on Virg Bernero to shake things up...

From day one, the Bernero administration will start putting middle class families first. We'll protect the families that make Michigan great by:

- Creating a state bank to support small businesses and keep our assets in Michigan.
- Limiting tuition increases to make college more affordable.
- Expanding adult education to equip workers for the global economy.
- Encouraging foreign investment in Michigan and stopping the outsourcing of American jobs.

...because he's done it before.

Virg Bernero with daughters Virginia and Kelly and wife Teri, a public school principal.

Other candidates talk about change, but Virg Bernero has gotten it done in Lansing. Despite Michigan's tough economy, he:

- Attracted more than a half a billion dollars in new, private investment.
- Retained and created more than 6,000 full-time jobs.
- Erased more than $40 million in city budget deficits without raising taxes.

- Improved efficiency and reduced government by 20% without laying off a single worker.
- And Virg Bernero cut his own pay and benefits because he believes ALL must share in the sacrifice during tough times.

VIRG BERNERO WILL MAKE MICHIGAN WORK!

Relieve Chronic Pain.

Back Pain? Neck Pain?
Nerve Pain? Arthritis?
Tissue and Bone Injuries?

Chronic pain can be annoying, stressful — sometimes disabling. And treating it is often complex.

As the area's first comprehensive, community based pain clinic, we focus only on relieving your pain, using a variety of advanced techniques.

Our practice includes our dedicated board-certified physicians, medical staff, physical therapists, and psychologists. Our state-of-the-art facilities and equipment allow us to accurately locate the source of pain and deliver medications precisely — from epidural steroid injections to reduce inflammation, to disc decompression, to treating osteoporosis fractures. We can often eliminate pain immediately.

We treat the whole person — body, mind, and spirit — and work with you continually to control and reduce your pain, or eliminate it entirely.

Begin Getting Some Relief.

That's a Real Job?

Anthony Balderrama,
CareerBuilder.com
writer

One of the many unfortunate effects of the Great Recession was felt by longtime professionals who found themselves looking for a job for the first time in decades. These skilled and experienced workers discovered that the job market was significantly different than it was 20 years ago, or in some cases, even just five years ago.

A shift in public demand can create new jobs or cause others to fade away. Technology also plays a significant role in the evolution of career opportunities, as some of today's jobs (think Internet security) couldn't have existed 40 years ago. The job industry has a natural give and take that permanently removes certain jobs and creates other. For instance, within the manufacturing industry alone you can witness a shift from one emphasis to the other. Once upon a time turntables and large console stereos were being built in droves because they were found in every home. Today digital music players and music-playing phones are being churned out for music lovers. The production is still there, but the job titles changed.

Now, as you try to find the right career, you just don't recognize some of these job titles. In order to simplify your job hunt and perhaps realize where your skills can be put to good use, we've put together a list of five jobs that many job seekers don't recognize but that are real opportunities. In some cases the jobs are relatively new, while others are just often overlooked.

Here are five careers you've probably never heard of:

Social media managers / social media strategists

Industries: Technology, public relations and communications

What they do: Social media has emerged in the past six years as a messages they should be conveying and how to measure success. Social media experts can be part of a marketing that is promoting a new ad campaign online or serious player in the business world. Although MySpace, Facebook, Twitter and Foursquare began as ways to kill time or connect with friends, they have become essential extensions of a company's brand. Social media managers and strategists help organizations understand how to use social media to connect with customers, what they can be a liaison who interacts with customers and presents feedback to managers and company leaders.

Cybrarians

Industry: Library and information sciences

What they do: Cybrarians are exactly what the name implies: a librarian for the 21st century. Cybrarians have the same research and data gathering skills of traditional librarians, but they apply that knowledge to online technology. They are experts in accessing online information and using the latest technology to conduct research. (Many libraries and research centers do not distinguish between the two, as many traditional librarians have the same education and technology skills as a cybrarian.)

Risk management specialists and managers

Industries: Finance, technology and insurance

What they do: Risk management professionals look at specific projects or initiatives and assess the potential damage that could occur to any involved parties and set plans for dealing with it. Although that description is vague, it can be applied to a variety of industries. In one setting, a risk manager might estimate the cost of a natural disaster and what the financial repercussions would be. In the technology sector, a risk manager can look at computer safety issues, such as data leaks or security flaws.

Patient advocates

Industry: Health care

What they do: Patient advocates work for health care patients who need assistance understanding the often confusing world of medical bills and treatments. They educate patients on their rights and ensure they are consulting with the proper specialists. They also help patients sort through medical bills and keep important items in order.

Futurists

Industry: Science and social sciences

What they do: Simply, futurists are the opposite of historians. Futurists predict how an industry, consumers or even nature might change over time. They use research and case studies to understand what is happening today and then attempt to figure out what will happen in the coming years. Futurists are employed by many organizations, from an educational institution to a corporation wanting to create a business plan that is ahead of consumers' demands.

EWANICK FOCUSES ON BUILDING CHEVY, BUICK, CADILLAC, GMC

Advertising Feature

By Dale Buss

Don't expect to see the new CEO of General Motors, Daniel Akerson, appear in a corporate television ad the way his predecessor, Ed Whitacre, did several months ago. At least not if Joel Ewanick has anything to say about it.

"General Motors is not a brand," the 50-year-old Ewanick, recently hired as GM's chief marketing officer, recently told Edmunds.com's AutoObserver.com.

Indeed, from sun-up to sun-down these days, Ewanick's focus is singular: building up the Chevrolet, Buick, Cadillac and GMC brands to the exclusion of everything else. In that effort, among other things he plans to boost GM's ad spending by single digits this year after it laid out $2.2 billion last year, according to outside estimates — and to rejoin the Super Bowl telecast in February after a two-year absence from the game.

Without irony, much of what he is doing is trying to return the company to the architecture of distinct brand identities established by Alfred Sloan, GM's chief at mid-century, who coined the idea of a vehicle "fit for every purse and purpose" and built the company around ways to get American consumers to step up from a Chevrolet to a Pontiac to an Oldsmobile or Buick and, ultimately, to a Cadillac.

Chevrolet. To Ewanick as well as to many who analyze GM from the outside, the task must begin with Chevrolet. It's by far the biggest remaining GM brand, responsible for about 70 percent of sales this year, but it's also the most needy in some ways.

Fortunately, Chevy dealers lately have been stocked with robust new products that haven't required a lot of brand coddling. Camaro and Equinox remain hot, and the new version of Malibu is still doing relatively well three years on.

Chevrolet marketing over the next several weeks will continue to be product-oriented as the division starts a new campaign for Camaro; handles the crucial launch of the Cruze compact, its highest-priced and potentially most lucrative small car ever; and paves the way for the revolutionary Volt extended-range hybrid.

"We made a conscious decision not to get too fancy about the brand as we launch these vehicles," he says. "We don't want to get in the way of ourselves."

But by this fall, the outlines of Ewanick's broader plans for Chevrolet will emerge. And they'll be made crystal clear, he says, during the Super Bowl ads.

Buick. Ewanick seems jazzed by the fact that Buick sales have taken off so strongly over the last couple of years even without a concomitant improvement in its brand identity. The successive launches of the Enclave CUV, then the LaCrosse sedan and, this summer, the new Buick Regal have excited American consumers about driving and being seen in Buicks again. One of the surest signs, Ewanick says, is that GM hasn't had to incentivize sales of any of these products.

GM's new marketing chief, Joel Ewanick, with the 2011 Chevrolet Volt.

The new Regal is helping build momentum for Buick.

Yet, Ewanick believes Buick has the biggest upside of any of GM's four brands. "We want to position Buick as the brand that allows you to come as you are" or as "understated luxury" that is surprisingly affordable. Buick's TV and radio ads comparing vehicles with Lexus already have been making this point.

Cadillac. Ewanick ditched the brand's existing tag line, "The Mark of leadership," and has re-introduced "The standard of the world," an old Cadillac slogan; though Ewanick hasn't been clear about whether it will stick.

"We haven't done a good job of telling the Cadillac story over the last decade," Ewanick says of GM. Yet the brand's distinctively chiseled design language and some new products such as the super-fast CTS-V have kept Cadillac's fortunes rising nonetheless.

Again as with Chevrolet and Buick, Ewanick is enthused about what Cadillac can achieve given marketing that is worthy of its products. The CMO is intent on bringing to the brand the notion of what has been called "red-blooded luxury" which among other things distinguishes Cadillac from foreign-built competitors such as Lexus and Mercedes-Benz. Expect him also to tout Cadillac as an innovator, harking back to its history as a trailblazer in luxury amenities such as power windows.

GMC. The truck brand of General Motors has been rolling with the tag line "Professional grade" for several years. While one could argue that it's becoming less relevant to more GMC shoppers as the brand's lineup of consumer-oriented SUVs expands, Ewanick stands by the positioning. "A big part of the truck market gravitates to GMC as premium models," he says. "And 'Professional grade' resonates beyond professional buyers."

One reason Ewanick can concentrate so clearly on brand building is that the much slimmer GM now has a strong handle on its production and inventory situation, letting neither get out of hand. As a result, GM's average incentives per sale have been dwindling while its transaction prices have been going up. Those are exactly the trends that Ewanick requires to assist in his brand-enhancement efforts.

Girls harriers second at Bath Invite Clarkston takes first place with tie-breaker

BY SAM EGGLESTON
CORRESPONDENT

Sometimes you get the luck of the draw and sometimes you're just a little short.

The Northville Mustangs girls cross country team was, unfortunately, in the latter category as they found themselves taking second place in the Bath Invitational behind Clarkston last weekend. The squads both finished with 89 points, but Clarkston edged Northville in the tie-breaker to earn the top spot.

"I was extremely pleased with the efforts put in by the entire team today," said coach Nancy Smith. "The weather was ideal and we raced well. I chose this meet so we could race on the course which will be used for Conference Finals later in the season and gain some experience. We are slowly coming around but will need to continue to train hard, improve each week and stay healthy to order to continue to compete with the teams we will be seeing for the remainder of the season. It is still early so we have time."

Leading the way for the Mustangs was the familiar fleet-footed Gina McNamara, who took seventh overall with a time of 20:26. Not far behind her was freshman Nicole Mosteller in 11th with a 20:40. Freshman Erin Zimmer finished in 20:44 for 13th overall.

Taking 18th overall was Alex Rodriguez in 21:02, while freshman Grace Doolittle ran to 40th in 22:07 and junior Lisa Hamel was 50th in 22:36.

"We have an abundance of talent and every week someone else steps up to change the dynamics which makes us stronger all-around and creates competition which will eventually make us a better and a more competitive team," said Smith. "The freshmen still continue to amaze me as they just get better and better each week and are really racing well in their debut season."

Mustangs trample South Lyon East

Squad preparing for South Lyon this week

BY SAM EGGLESTON
CORRESPONDENT

The Northville Mustangs football team is looking like they want to prove to the world that last year's playoff appearance was no accident.

With a 57-13 shellacking of the South Lyon East Cougars last Friday, the Northville grid gang stands with an undefeated 3-0 record. They have six more games to go and only need to win half of those to secure a playoff spot again this year.

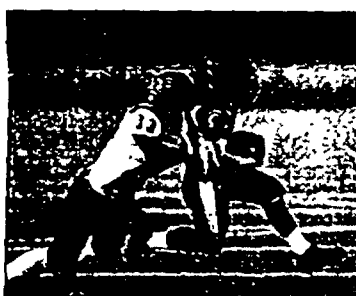

"We took care of business tonight," said coach Matt Ladach. "Our team played really well on both sides of the ball. I couldn't ask for a better team effort."

Especially a better first-half team effort. When the teams headed into the locker room, Northville was already leading 50-0. To say Northville was firing on all cylinders is an understatement, as is noting that South Lyon East didn't play their best game of the season as they fell to 1-2 on the season with a win over Waterford Kettering and a loss Walled Lake Northern.

Northville started the game with a 33-point first quarter starting with a 78-yard jaunt by Brandon Love with 11:47 left on the clock in the first quarter. Jeff Gertley found Jonathon Alandt for a 47-yard passing touchdown with 7:16 left in the quarter before Gertley added a running touchdown of his own on a 59-yard scramble just a minute later to put Northville up, 20-0.

With 5:32 left in the first stanza,

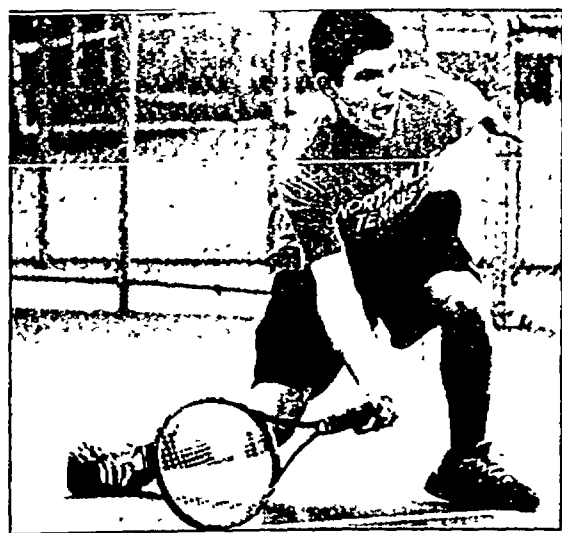

Mustang Michael MacLean pops a Cougar runner to the ground with a solid hit.

Northville notched another score with Gertley hitting Alandt for a 30-yard scoring strike, followed up by another score to end the quarter with Gertley hitting Matt Celentino for a 42-yard score and a 33-0 lead. "Jeff (Gertley) played really well tonight," said Ladach. "He made good decisions, he threw the ball well, and he ran the ball well too." To start the second quarter, Northville scored on a 51-yard pass from Gertley to Alandt.

"Jon (Alandt) continues to be a scoring machine," noted Ladach. "He must have an internal GPS that is locked in on the end zone." Northville tacked on another score at the 7:52 mark in the second quarter as Jzordon Lawrence scored on a 1-yard run, followed by a 45-yard field goal by Victor Bodrie to end the first half. The second half found Northville finalizing their scoring in the fourth quarter on a one-yard run

Northville has strong showing in Berkley Invite Volleyball team playing like it has something to prove

BY SAM EGGLESTON
CORRESPONDENT

The question that comes to mind when the Northville Mustangs volleyball team takes the court and starts to play is simple -- where did this fierce group of spikers come from?

From a team that has struggled over the past few years to a team that is looking to win each and every time they play, the Northville Mustangs are seemingly transformed. They showed that their intense play to begin the season has been no fluke when they played in the Berkley Invitational last week and came away with some huge wins.

"Every player contributes to a competitive practice environment," said coach Amanda Yaklin. "Results on the floor during matches are at a steady climb. I am excited to see where it will lead."

tional, Northville collected a win over Southfield, University Prep and Ferndale and tied Avondale. In the playoffs, the team beat Ferndale, 25-14, 25-18 and Harrison, 25-20, 25-17. In the finals, they met up with a very tough Notre Dame Prep squad and fell, 26-24, 25-17.

Northville's stats were as impressive as their play. As a team, the attack average was above .200, a goal Yaklin had set for her squad in the beginning of the season.

Individually, Northville had several players stand out. Leading with attack percentage and kills were: Jenna Borgstrom: .857 attack and six kills; Jennifer Buckingham: .409 attack and 10 kills; Megan Gertley: .375 attack and 21 kills; Lindsey Fox: .344 and 30 kills; Megan McCrohan: .310 and 12 kills; Rebecca Martin: .269 and 17 kills; and Taylor Young: .263 and 15 kills. Leading the team's aces were: Makenzy Wilson: 13 aces; McCrohan: nine aces; Young: eight aces; and Buckingham: seven aces. Leading in digs: Danielle Borthwick: 13 digs; Wilson: eight digs; and Buckingham: seven digs. Leading in blocks: Megan Gertley: three solo, six assists and Michelle Mueller: one solo and five assists. Leading the team in assists: Jenna Borgstrom: 54 assists; Rachel Zinkosky: 21 assists; and Martin: 18 assists.

Boys harriers take second at Bath

BY SAM EGGLESTON
CORRESPONDENT

The Northville Mustangs boys cross country team took another big step in the direction of reaching their goals this season with a strong second place finish at the Bath Invitational last weekend.

"It felt like cross country this morning," commented Northville coach Chris Cronin.

The harriers on his squad must have felt it, too, as they ran through the mid-50s temperatures in the second slot out of a field of 11 teams with a total of 78 points. Perennial powerhouse Saline took first with an impressive 41 points.

"This was how I expected we would run today," said Cronin. "We had a few runners return this week from injury, and the team had a great week at practice. This team knows how valuable each day can be, and they won't squander the opportunity to work hard."

Chad Cini once again lead the Mustangs, finishing fifth in 16:40.

"Chad is running strong right now, but I think he's just getting started," Cronin said. "His forte is the last half of the race. Today, he was able to close down on the leaders. He was just steps away from finishing third."

Not far behind, finishing 12th, was Ed Clifton, who ran a strong race with a 16:59.

"Ed showed us last year that he was a big time racer," Cronin said. "I'd look for him to really shine next week at Michigan State."

Christian Guenther, Matt Sierra, and Trent Johnson also medaled at the event, finishing 16th, 19th and 26th, respectively.

"This group will be such a key to our success this year," said Cronin. "If they can run as a tight pack and steadily drop time, we'll be a tough team to beat."

Rounding out the Northville harriers' performance was freshman Dan Sims, who ran to 32nd overall as the Mustangs' six runner. He completed the race in 17:44.

Northville beats both South Lyon schools

BY SAM EGGLESTON
CORRESPONDENT

Wind or no wind, the Northville Mustangs soccer team knows how to earn victories.

The squad, coached by Henry Klimes, earned two big wins last week against Central Division foes as they beat South Lyon and South Lyon East.

Against South Lyon, the Mustangs collected a 2-0 victory despite extremely windy conditions.

"It was difficult playing in those conditions," noted Klimes. "Even on free kicks, with that artificial turf, the ball would start rolling because of the wind."

Luckily for Northville, both Tom Pickren and Brandon Burdette know how to kick the ball aerodynamically and each tacked on a score in the first and second half, respectively.

Burdette's goal came from about 22 yards out.

"It was a beautiful goal," noted Klimes, who has seen more goals in his career than most would care to count.

Northville's strategy for the game was a good one and proved to be a winner. When South Lyon took the wind in the first half, Northville played keep away with the ball while still being aggressive on the

ON TAP

Northville's soccer schedule looks like the state tournament in terms of talented teams this week as they face Salem today at 7 p.m. and Saline at noon on Saturday with both games at home. The Mustangs will then visit Novi at 7 p.m. Sept. 21.

attack. In the second half, when the wind was with them, the Mustangs pushed forward to pressure the South Lyon Lions.

Earning the shutout victory in goal was senior Matt VanHouten.

Northville then took on South Lyon East, a game they won 3-0, though Klimes indicated he had seen his team play better and expects better.

"They played a very good defensive game against us, though they never attacked too much," said Klimes. "Their goalies played outstanding. I wasn't too pleased with our play, as we missed some golden chances, even though we ended up winning."

In the first half, Northville's eventual game-winning goal came from Brandon White. Joey Zywiol and Pickren added a goal each in the second half as insurance.

Northville girls golf falls to Novi, beats Salem

You win some. You lose some. It just so happens that the ones you lose can be absolutely heart-breaking.

For the first time in coach Mary Jane Ossola's coaching career, she watched as her squad bowed to a Novi golf team. They had beaten Salem earlier in the week, but it was likely a small consolation by the time the Novi match ended last Friday.

Against Salem last Thursday, the Northville Mustangs earned a 185-245 victory over Salem with Lauren Grigg leading the way with a 43, followed by Camilla Zhao's 45 and Lindsey Matych's 48. Bailey Winter shot a 49 in the victory, followed by Chloe Page's 57 and Megan Ye's 59.

"For our match on Thursday, I played a few varsity players and a few JV," noted Ossola. "Salem is trying to get their program going and they do not have a JV team. Lauren Grigg had a good day and it was a good experience for the three JV players to play in a varsity match."

But the team wasn't able to have such an easy day when they traveled to Novi's home course of Cattails the following day. While Brianna Roberts recorded a 43 to lead her team, she didn't get enough support from her team as Novi walked away with a 181-187 win over Northville.

Zhao shot a hard-fought 45, but Northville began to struggle at that point with Stephanie Sakorafis shooting a 49, Jackie Kjolhede and Emily Foland shot 50s and Grigg carded a 54.

Northville swimming beats Churchill

There are ups and downs in every season and the Northville Mustangs girls swimming team has experienced both early in the season.

The squad started the year off with a convincing 116-70 victory over Churchill, but then turned around and finished second in the Walled Lake Invitational--a meet the Mustangs had the ability to win.

"This was not the result we had hoped for," admitted coach Brian McNeff. "We were a little short handed because of the ACT (tests), but we were still in position to win the meet. We did not swim the greatest, and we lost because of that."

Northville finished second behind a tough South Lyon squad, which won the even by just four points.

NORTHVILLE ROUNDUP

"We will see them in a dual meet and at the conference meet, so there will be a little extra motivation to beat them now," said McNeff. "Hopefully we can use this meet as a way to regroup and realize that we just can't walk into a pool and expect to win. We have to put together good races in order to get the results we want."

Northville JV volleyball wins tournament

The Northville JV volleyball team launched its campaign and we started off with an exciting tournament win at Walled Lake Central last weekend.

The team earned wins in all five matches to secure the tournament victory. Northville won three matches in pool play before marching to the finals with a victory over the Walled Lake Central Vikings before beating a tough Franklinton team under the guidance of coach Rick VanderVeer.

JV girls strong at Bath

The junior varsity girls cross country team turned in some impressive times at the Bath

Invitational last weekend. Leading the way was Mary Boyd, who stepped up and finished with a season-best time of 22:17, followed by sophomore Claire Courtney's 22:18. Senior Emily Sklar had a strong day, too, running a 22:28 while sophomore Katie Vandervoort ran a 22:31 and junior Erin Keiffer turned in a 22:34 on the day.

JV boys third at Bath

The Mustangs junior varsity boys cross country team had some motivated runners last weekend when the team showcased the teachings of coach Chris Cronin and ran to a third place finish out of a field of 20 teams.

Leading the way was Neson Nesmith, who took second overall with a time of 17:26.

In fact, the entire JV team ran impressive races.

Taking 16th overall was Jack Fielden, while Josh DuFranse ran to 17th with times of 17:57 and 18:02, respectively. Taking 23rd was Rick Momoi with an 18:05, while Nathan Tager ran an 18:06 for 25th and Joe Craig ran an 18:26 for 37th.

by Brandon Patrone for a 57-0 lead. Bodrie hit all extra points except one.

South Lyon East scored twice in the fourth quarter, finding the end zone with 10 minutes left in the game on a 72-yard sprint, and again with 2 minutes on the clock on an 8-yard run.

Northville's ground game was led by Love, who put up 92 yards on just four carries, while Gertley added 64 on two carries and Perrino went 51 yards over four runs.

Gertley went 5-for-5 for 176 yards and four touchdowns with Alandt pulling down three passes for 128 yards and three scores.

Northville had 446 yards of total offense, though once again lost a fumble in the game and was penalized three times for 20 yards while South Lyon East committed no fumbles nor fouls.

The Mustangs' defense pulled down six interceptions in the game to stymie any attempt by the Cougars to march down the field. Out of the 12 drives the Cougars put together, six of the first 10 ended in interceptions and the other four were punts with the final two ending in scoring plays. Northville scored on its first eight drives of the game.

The defensive corps was led by Levi Perry, who had 4.5 solo tackles and one assist and two interceptions in the game, while Michael MacLean added four solo tackles and two assists and Jeffrey Hewlett had three solo tackles. Trevor Maresh added 2.5 solo tackles, three assists and two interceptions. Patrone and Love each had one interception in the game.

NORTHVILLE STALLIONS ROUNDUP

Varsity bested by Braves

The varsity squad headed north to the Walled Lake Braves stomping grounds on a sunny, breezy Sunday afternoon. The Stallions offense showed flash, but struggled to capitalize on key chances while their defense looked to slow the Braves creative offense.

Unable to convert a first down on their starting possession the Stallions were forced to punt it away. The Braves return man did to the outside for a touchdown run, followed by a converted point after attempt. An outstanding kickoff return by Michael Townsend was pulled back on a penalty. A Braves interception gave them another turn at offense but they faced some stiff defense with key tackles by Keenan Moss, Drew Skedel, Jake Justice and Noah Huffman. After initially being stymied the Braves worked their way down for a rushing touchdown, but missed on the point after leaving the score 14-0.

On their next possession the Stallions had tough runs by Huffman and Moss. They came up inches short of a first down on a 4th and 2 situation and the ball reverted to the Braves with good field position. A Braves completed 22 yard pass to the corner of the end zone and the converted point after left the score 22-0.

After a fine Townsend return the Stallions offense saw great pressure by the Braves who ultimately regained possession. But with time draining in the first quarter, Stallions pressure led to a strip and fumble recovery by Scott Lohman. Following the recovery, the Braves stingy defense thwarted giddy runs by Huffman and Moss leading to a Stallions punt. The next Braves drive was nearly stopped on several occasions with tackles by Nick Green, Michael Townsend, Omar Serrano, David Weber and Justice. But the Braves broke it loose for a touchdown scamper along with a successful point after leaving the score 29-0 with 7 minutes left in the half. The Braves would not score again.

Now settling down, the Stallions began to kick their heels. After a short run and an incomplete pass Moss broke around the edge for a 29 yard run, but a penalty brought it back. Ultimately the drive was thwarted by a Braves interception. But the determined Stallions stepped it up with hits by Skedel, Green, Moss, Justice and George Matrusias, and then a tackle for a loss by Huffman to regain the ball on downs on the Stallions 40 yard line. The offense got it moving with a 56 yard run by Moss leaving it 4th and goal to go. However the clock was spinning and with less than 50 seconds left the Stallions ran out of time on their 3rd attempt to get over the goal line, ending the half.

The second half was a classic battle of wills, neither team scoring while the Stallions started to shine. After trading fumbles the Stallions began to move from deep in their own territory. A 9 yd completion from Townsend to Cleveland Tarp left them 4th and 1. A successful fake punt, with Moss on the carry, got them the first down. Later the drive would stall but the Stallions defense would dig in. Tackles by Skedel, Tarp, Serrano, Huffman, Meyers, and Mohammad Beydoun kept the Braves bottled in.

The rest of the game was played between the zones and featured some big offensive plays by quarterback Townsend, runner Moss and wideouts Tarp and Huffman with the Stallions moving the ball well at times. There were many defensive highlights, with both Matrusias and Justice posting tackles for a loss. Time expires in the 4th quarter with the score holding to the first half tally of 29-0.

JV falls to Walled Lake

The Northville JV Stallions went head to head with Walled Lake Braves this past Sunday on a perfect day for Football!

The Stallions started the game with a 5 yard run up the middle with Brennan Pelland carrying the ball and Cameron Dixon and Brandon Grizer opening the hole. On the next play the Stallion receiver and Brave defender wrestled for a thrown ball which resulted in a turnover on their own 34 yard line.

Two plays later, the Braves were up by 6 on a touchdown run off tackle then failed on the extra point conversion. After recovering the ensuing kick-off, the Braves failed to move the ball with back to back tackles for losses of 5 and 6 yards by Colin Gardner and then a tackle, on a run up the middle, by safety Marcus Lee forcing the Braves to punt. After going three and out, Stallions punter Ben Schmidt delivered a great 47 yard kick with no return pushing the Braves back deep in their own end. The Stallions defense looked like they would hold with Jonathan Michalak making a solo tackle on a second and 7 but the Braves gained 4 on the next play for a first down and then struck with another long touchdown run up the middle. The 2-point conversion was then blocked by Stallion Jake Gourd leaving the Braves up by a score of 12-0 at the end of the first quarter.

The second quarter started with the Stallions moving the ball against the wind. After a three and out and short punt the Braves took over the ball in great field position. They then took advantage on the next play on a run up the middle by the Braves Cody White for a touchdown and conversion putting the score at 19-0. Both teams exchanged possessions highlighted by a Marcus Lee interception that was later nullified by a Stallion penalty. Solid play by the Stallions Defense stopped the Braves from scoring at the end of the half and the teams went into half-time with a 19-0 score.

The second half began with an on-side kick by Stallions Brandon Grizer that was recovered by Colin Gardner. After handing the ball over to the Braves on downs, the Stallions went to work. Tyler Walton ran for 27 yards with a block from Gardner that helped spring the speedy back. A tough run to the goal line by Gardner set up Matthew Stinebiser's run for the touchdown bringing the score to 19-6 before a failed extra point. The ensuing on-side kick by Tyler Troyer was recovered by the Stallions. However, another turnover by the Stallions and TD by the Braves pushed the score to 26-6. The Stallions then showed tough defense with tackles by Michalak on a sweep and Pelland on a run that lost 2 yards. The Stallions regained possession and Stinebiser's long pass to the swift Lee was then followed by a short touchdown pass to Lee highlighting the pass attack and making the score 26-12. The Braves took over on their 40 yard line and retaliated with a touchdown run putting the score at 33-12 where it stayed.

The JV Stallions will tackle the Livonia Eagles at home next Sunday, September 19th at 1pm.

Freshmen earn first win

The Walled Lake Braves started the game with an on-side kick off to the Stallions. This proved to be successful as the Braves recovered the ball allowing Walled Lake to take advantage of the good field position and quickly put seven points on the scoreboard. The Braves attempted another on-side kick off but that was quickly covered by Wall Barrott and the Stallions took over on the 49 yard line. Several running plays later, the Stallions found themselves on the Braves 35 yard line. Alex Karam carried the ball into the end zone and put the Stallions first points on the board. The following extra point attempt by the Stallions was unsuccessful and the first quarter ended with the Braves up 7-6.

The second quarter started off with the Stallions having control of the ball but they were unable to score and turned the ball over on downs to the Braves. Several key defensive plays allowed the Stallions to get the ball back. The second quarter consisted of good defensive stops by both teams which resulted in neither team scoring. With three minutes left in the half, the Stallions took over at their own 35 yard line. Jack Pevovar ran in for a 65 yard touchdown, however, the play was called back due to a false start. The following Braves offensive possession started on their own 22 yard line with 1:14 left in the half. They were able to move the ball down the field but several key stops from Max Lewter, Cooper Leverton and Grant Hood prevented them from adding any more points and stopped them inside the 10 yard line. The score going into half time was still 7-6 Braves.

The third quarter started with the Braves receiving the ball and several Stallions contributing to many key defensive stops, including Lukas Van Arman, Tyler Voss, Owen Steele, Jakob Hoffman, Michael Merritt and Mark Baker. These defensive plays led to the Stallions taking over the ball on the 9 yard line. Pevovar followed up with a 91 yard touchdown run putting the first points of the second half on the board. This gave the Stallions the lead with a score of 12-7.

In the fourth quarter, the Stallions had more key defensive plays lead by Merritt, Hood and Pevovar. The Stallions eventually took over on their own 38 yard line where Leverton ran the ball 68 yards to the Braves 2 yard line. A few plays later Michael Williams ran the ball in for a touchdown, bringing the Stallions lead to 18-7. The Northville Stallions kicked off to the Braves who took the ball over on their 36 yard line. After several plays the Braves found themselves on the Northville 14 yard line, where the Stallions, with good defensive pressure, were able to stop them from scoring again. With about a minute remaining on the clock, Northville took over and ran the clock down and ended the game with their first win of the season with a score of 18-7.

NORTHVILLE COLTS ROUNDUP

Varsity Chargers outplay Colts, 16-6

The Varsity Colts started their game Sunday against the Chargers strong, maintaining a tight defense against the powerful Chargers offense, and the score was 0-0 until the halftime. Then at the beginning of the second half, the Chargers, receiving the Colts kick, ran in a touchdown on the first play, and the Colts struggled to keep up for the remainder of the game.

Colt Anthony Redmond carried the ball numerous times at the start of play, but was unable to attain a first down. Then, the Colts' punter, Alessandro Gonzales, sent the ball deep, and Ian Rachelson tackled the Chargers' ball carrier, holding the Chargers in Colt territory. The Colts' defense quickly brought the ball back into the Colts' possession, but again, numerous short carries by David Dillon, Zachary Prystash, and Redmond failed to move the ball very far. With blocking by Colt linemen Dunne and Middlemass, Prystash carried the ball. Now the Colts' quarterback Dillon completed a nice pass to Alec Coppock. The little yardage gained fell short of a first down and there was yet another turnover on downs so that the first quarter ended scoreless.

The Colts continued with passing plays in the 2nd quarter, but incomplete passes by Justin Zimbo and David Dillon contributed to the Colts' loss of possession. Now, the Chargers were in position to score but defensive action held them, including nice tackles by Colts Luke Booth, Ryan Roberts, Michael Minick, and Redding Haines. The Colts took both the football, but cold not progress, and again the Chargers were dangerously close to scoring. The talented Chargers ball handlers Nicholas Krumm and Kone Bowman almost brought in a score but were stopped by the versatile Colt PJ Schneppe.

The Colts were not as fortunate in the second half, which began with Krumm's kick return touchdown and a good extra point kick, bringing the score to 16-0. The Colts stayed defensive, stopping the ball several times, but the Chargers touchdown was scored after the Chargers intercepted a Colts' pass, making the score 16-0.

Refusing to back down, the Colts came on strong, and two nice passes down the sideline by the valuable Prystash moved the ball into scoring position and kept the clock from running. Another Prystash carry into the end zone brought the score to 6-16. The Colts' defense now proved their worth, keeping the aggressive Chargers from scoring for the remainder of the game.

Coach Russ Gregory commended his players on their determination to stay in the game despite their relative youth and inexperience. He reminded the players that they should learn from their experiences on the field and use that knowledge to achieve future success.

JV diffuses Commerce Chargers, 18-13

Running back Cole Gingell proved to be the Northville Colts biggest weapon in its 18-13 win over the Commerce Chargers. Gingell racked up 236 yards on the ground and scored three touchdowns. On defense, he led the Colts with 10 tackles, including several for a loss, improving the Colts record to 2-0.

On the second offensive play from scrimmage, Cole Gingell dashed 41 yards for the first score putting the Colts ahead early 6-0. The Colts defense stuffed the Chargers and forced them to punt. On the next play, Gingell scored on a 55-yard highlight reel touchdown behind key blocks from Ethan Moss, Drew Atkinson and Isaiah Popp making the score 12-0 Colts.

Opening the second quarter, the Commerce offense began to move the ball using a steady run attack to drive the ball all the way to the Colts 4-yard line. The Colts defense dug in and stopped the Chargers on three consecutive plays leaving Commerce with a key fourth and goal situation on the Colts 1 yard line. On fourth down the Colts defense smothered the Chargers runner just short of the goal line and took over on offense deep in their own territory. On the very next play, Cole Gingell ran around the right end and darted for a 99-yard touchdown increasing the lead to 18-0 Colts. On the following Chargers possession, Zach Tardich intercepted a Commerce pass and the Colts offense took over. The Chargers defense held and took over on downs and Commerce scored at the end of the half making the game 18-6 Colts.

Elijah Gash opened the 2nd half with a nice kick return to mid-field. Both teams moved the ball but were unable to score in the quarter and the game remained 18-6 going into the final period.

Early in the 4th quarter the Chargers moved the ball deep into Colts' territory. On third down, the Commerce quarterback threw what appeared to be a sure touchdown pass towards the end zone. Cornerback Ben Brady dove and broke up the pass, preventing a touchdown. Cole Gingell stuffed the next play on fourth down and the Colts defense again thwarted the threat. The Chargers scored with 3:39 left on the clock and made the score 18-13 Colts. The Chargers stopped the Colts on their next possession and took over. Using their hurry up offense, the Chargers drove the ball down to the Colts 16-yard line. Isaiah Popp made a game saving tackle with 0:22 left on the clock and the Chargers couldn't score on the last play as time ran out. The game ended 18-13 Colts.

The Colts defense played well and made several tackles led by Cole Gingell (10), Abe Khoury (9), Aaron Slusser (5), Connor Wright (4), Ethan Moss (3) and Elijah Gash (3). Zachery Zoss, Ty Kilar, Joseph McCormick, Adithya Boddu, Isaiah Popp, Connor Gibraltar and Marcello Gonzalez added tackles as well.

Freshmen take tough loss to Commerce

The Freshman Colts got their first away game started with Mick Farrell's kick off but the Commerce Chargers wasted no time in securing a lead with an opening drive touchdown.

The gritty Colts answered with their own drive which ended with a tough Nick Prystash touchdown run of 12 yards. The Chargers began their second drive on the 50-yard line, but the Colts defense tightened and after big tackles from Jet Giammarusti, Nolan Loomis, Joe Borthwick and Robert Johnson the drive stalled at the 35-yard line.

The Colts offense took over and began marching down the field using an effective ground game, but as the first quarter ended they faced a fourth- and-goal at the 10-yard line. Being protected by lineman Jagur Nafso, quarterback Dan McLaughlin rolled right and started the second quarter with a touchdown pass to Nick Prystash. After a missed extra point the Colts led 12-7.

The Colts defense did well to stop the Chargers offense on the next drive with tackles from Ryan Silberg and Isaiah Gash. Unfortunately the offense could not sustain a drive and had to turn the ball back over to the Chargers with a Blake Evans punt. The Chargers stormed down the field to score a touchdown and take a 13-12 lead into the half.

The second half began with great blocking by Brady Withey, Cade Nelson, Tim Ference and Tim Garby enabling Ryan Logan and Chase Bellamy to run the ball down to the 25-yard line setting up the Colts third touchdown.

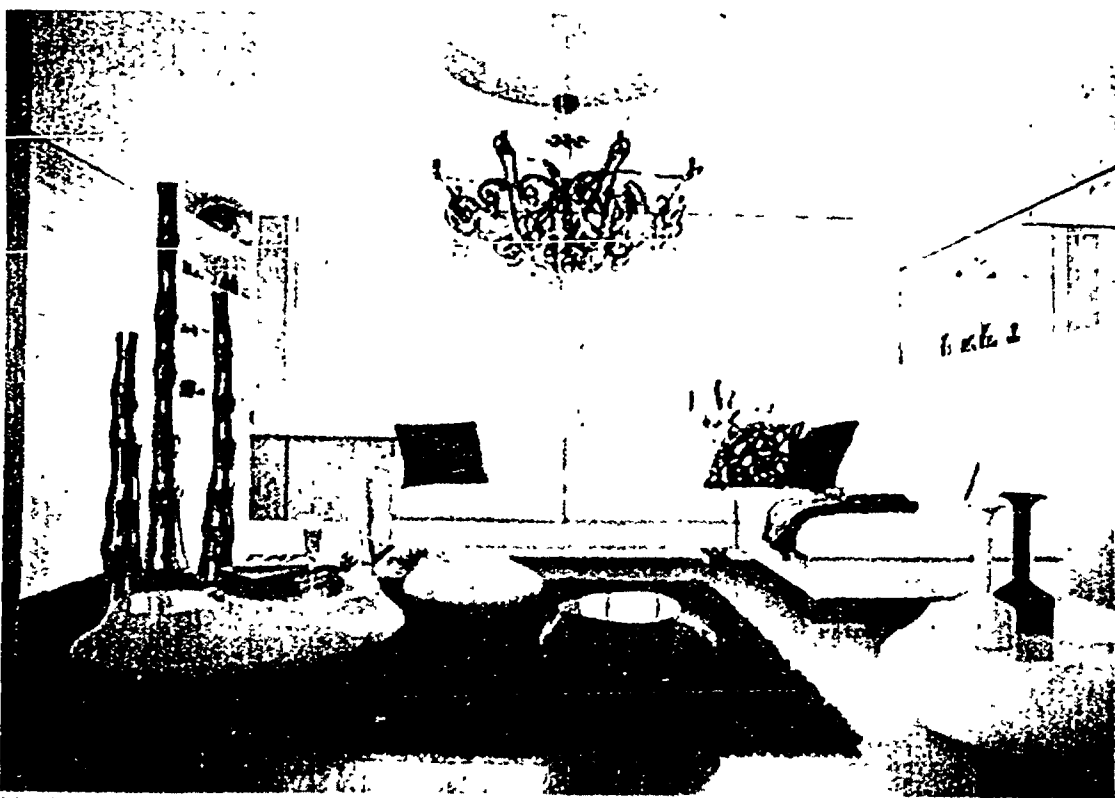

After a great kickoff return set up a first-and-goal for the Chargers, it took an interception by Luke Waldman to preserve the Colts 18-13 third quarter lead. However, after a couple first downs the offense stalled and turned the ball back over to the Chargers and they answered with a touchdown drive to retake the lead 20-18.

Despite a valiant effort by both the Colts Offense and Defense led by Alex Schoenberger, Jacob Weiskopf and Demir Tagani the Chargers would not relinquish the lead giving the Colts their first loss of the season!

Tell us about your business, including types of services and/or products you feature:

We are a family-oriented salon. We feel like everyone is family when they walk through our door. We offer perms, high- and low-lites, roller sets, color, waxing, haircuts and styles.

How did you first decide to open your business?

I've always wanted to open my own salon one day. At the time, my husband, Ahmad, gave me encouragement and lead me to push my foot in the door and said, "Susie, you can do this. Your strong enough and you have this in you. I have faith in you." That same day, my son said, "Momma, do it. It's a great idea." He was only in preschool at the time. It was such a great feeling to hear.

Why did you choose this area?

Ahmad worked in the area before and spotted the location, so he was familiar with the people and what a great community that they have there. It's been wonderful to watch families grow over the years. This is our 10th year. We are celebrating our 10th anniversary by offering special prices on Saturday Sept. 25, 9 a.m.-6 p.m. -- kid's cuts (8 and under) are only $5; men's cuts $10; and women's cuts $13. We will also be giving away great gifts throughout the day, providing refreshments and handing out balloons for the kids. If it weren't for the people in the community and the support from family, I wouldn't be where I'm right now, and for that I am truly grateful.

What makes your business unique?

First, customer service is a number one priority with us. We love our kids and they put big smiles on our faces, which our customers love to see when they come for cuts.

How has it changed since you opened?

We have remodeled the salon since we opened, but that's about it. We do not have a high turnover of employees and our customers are loyal. They keep us going.

Do you have a funny tidbit or story about your experience as a small business owner to share with our readers?

One of our child customers, named Jack, whom I adore, wrote a little story about coming to the salon to see me for his haircuts on a Father's Day note. He was only about 4. His mom said he just added that in out of the blue. That was very precious to me that he thought about me and coming here to write about.

How has the recent economy affected your business?

People have moved away. Clients are taking longer to come in because everyone needs to budget more than ever. That's why keep our prices reasonable. We need to work together to survive and think positive. Things will change. I highly believe that we just have to hang in and hope for the best.

Any advice for business owners?

Believe in yourself and always keep your faith up. You live once, do the best you can.

What's in store for the future of your business?

I would love to open another salon so our friendly at-home atmosphere here at Jolee's can continue.

The sidewalk on the south side of Mary Alexander Court in downtown Northville has been replaced, and the sidewalk on the north side of the street will be completed in the next week. The contractor will also be placing asphalt on Mary Alexander Court mid-week. One-way traffic will remain on Mary Alexander Court and parking on the south side will remain disrupted while the remaining work is completed. Although sidewalks have been removed access to all businesses will be maintained. Once new sidewalks have hardened, pedestrian traffic will have full access.

The contractor is completing the curb work on Center Street in preparation for sidewalk replacement. The sidewalk work will likely take place next week. The Center Street detour at Cady will remain in place for a few more weeks while the contractor works on the wall, walks and pavement on the east side of Center between Mary Alexander Court and Main. Replacement of the brick wall and rail on the east side of Center Street between Mary Alexander Court and Main Street is under way and will continue next week.

No work will be taking place Friday, Sept. 17 due to the Victorian Festival.

Throughout the project, the contractor and the City's Department of Public Works will make every effort to keep the area clean and traffic moving smoothly. Despite months of careful planning, however, situations may arise that were not expected. For this reason, an AEW on-site inspector, Mike Smith, is available by mobile phone to respond to business and residential concerns at any time during construction hours. He is your best resource for up-to-the-moment information and problem resolution. His number is (586) 709-8463.
