Accident takes life of man who protected three U.S. presidents

BY KURT KUBAN STAFF WRITER

Jeffrey D. Bowman of South Lyon had a sterling career in law enforcement. After four years in the U.S. Army, he served 12 years in the U.S. Secret Service, and was charged with protecting three U.S. presidents. For the past nine years, he worked for the Department of Homeland Security and was in charge of the federal marshals dedicated to protecting the passengers on flights out of Detroit.

Kristen Calder-Bowman, his wife of 17 years, said he died Sunday afternoon doing what he does best, protecting people.

Around 1:40 p.m., Bowman, 45, was driving his 2007 Ford

Northville teen grows, donates hair to those less fortunate

Went to Ohio burn victim

BY PAM FLEMING STAFF WRITER

P J Kelly of Northville is just your average eighth-grader, going to school at Hillside Middle School, and enjoying hobbies like fishing and video games.

But recently he decided to do something very special by donating his hair for boys who lose it due to cancer or other illnesses.

His parents, Paul and Chris-Anne Kelly, wanted to share his story because they thought it might encourage other boys to follow suit.

P J had fairly long hair, and about two years ago asked what happens when boys lose their hair to a disease like cancer.

They explained that there are organizations that receive hair donations, like Emma (his sister) did few years ago and make hair pieces for them.

He was told that boys probably do receive hair pieces from girls' hair because there are more girls who donate their hair.

*P J paused for a moment, and then told us that he wanted to grow his hair out and donate so a boy that needed hair could get boys hair," Paul Kelly, P J's father said.

To say the least, we were proud and speechless," Paul said. "Here is a kid who on his own wanted to help out another child."

P J got teased a lot at school when he was growing his long

"I feel great with the short hair and that a boy's happy having some boys' hair," he said.

The Kellys wanted to try to track where P J's hair would go, which was kind of difficult because it takes 12 ponytails to make a hairpiece. The family did learn, however, they learned that it will go a boy - a burn victim in Ohio.

Former state representative lands a new gig

BY BRAD KADRICH

When former state Rep. Marc Corriveau left the Legislature after his last term in the House, he'd hoped his next terms representing the 20th House District, which includes Plymouth, Northville and a small slice of Canton, thinks he's found just the thing.

Corriveau joined the Lansingbased government relations firm Kelley Cawthorne, co-founded by former Michigan Attorney General Frank J. Kelley and former House Republican Leader Dennis O. Cawthorne,

While in the Legislature, Corriveau chaired both the Health Policy Committee and the Ethics & Elections Committee. He believes his reputation for being able to work across the aisle to solve complex policy issues such as the bipartisan effort to reform the Individual Health Insurance Market in Michigan will come in handy in the new gig.

"I was motivated to find a balance between what I did serving and what I did in the Legislature," said Corriveau, who served as president of the family law firm before being elected. "I love the public policy aspect, and I love being in a position to try and make Michigan a better place. With (Kelley Cawthorne's) history and legal background, in combination with the government relations aspect ... it was a good balance."

Kelley said Corriveau's experience and knowledge of health care issues adds some perspective to the firm.

Michigan faces an unprecedented era of change and nothing is changing more rapidly than health care," Kelley said. "Having last session's Health Policy Committee chair on our team will help our clients successfully navigate complex issues such as state implementation of federal health care reform."

Corriveau, who lives in Northville with his wife and two children, served two terms in the state House. He left his House seat to run for the open 7th Senate seat, then withdrew from that race to spend more time with his family. Kelley Cawthorne will open a satellite office in Northville, from where Corriveau will be based most of the time.

Corriveau received his undergraduate degree from Michigan State University and his law degree from University of Detroit Mercy School of Law. He is currently enrolled in the University of Michigan's Executive Master's Program specializing in Health Service Administration.

Northville couple help raise funds for son's Birmingham school Have one son at Eton Academy

BY PAN FLEMING STAFF WRITER

Mark and Paula LaNeve of Northville were part of history in the making recently when the Eton Academy raised more than $500,000 at its 25th Anniversary Gala & Auction on Feb. 26. This included $100,000 in dedicated tuition assistance.

The LaNeves' son, Drew, has attended Eton since the sixth grade and is now a senior. He is a member of the National Honor Society.

Founded in 1986, Eton Academy is an independent co-educational day school in Birmingham for students with reading, attention and other learning challenges in grades one-12. The school currently includes about 185 students.

Eton students come from 50 cities and five counties. Eton has established a long-standing track record of sending about 80 percent of its graduates to higher education each year compared to about 13 percent of similar students nationwide, according to the National Center for Learning Disabilities (NCLD.) The last two years, it's been 100 percent.

This was the largest fundraiser to date for the independent school for students in grades 1-12 with learning challenges such as ADHD and dyslexia.

"It has been the most amazing experience to watch him grow at this school," said Paula LaNeve. Drew is actually a twin, and his brother has autism and attends the Burger School in Garden City. NFL All-Time-Greats Howie Long and Phil Simms attended the event as guests of co-chairs of the event, the LaNeves. Mark is a former GM vice president and currently is the head of sales and marketing for Allstate Insurance Corp. Both football legends donated auction items to join them for football fantasy trips. Boomer Esiason could not attend the event, but donated a football experience trip. "The school specializes in students who learn differently," Paula LaNeve said. "Some people say learning disability; we say learning difference.

The Gala & Auction theme: Celebrating the Discovery of Learning, provided a backdrop for more than 300 guests. The LaNeve were recognized by having Eton's Student Development Services Department named in their honor. The department serves the students' social and emotional well being and is the first department to be named for Eton supporters. The LaNeves have helped Eton raise more than $1.6 million over the past six years. Their son, a senior at the school, spoke about his success at Eton and his plans to attend college next fall.

The Miracle Ball

Honor Society students go to bat for disabled children

This past summer, I was moyed to tears while helping disabled children play baseball through an organization called the Miracle League in Southfield. I was paired with a 13-year-old boy with Down Syndrome named Hezekial, and I was to be his "buddy" for the game. The Miracle League uses this buddy system to pair able-bodied volunteers with each disabled child, and as a buddy you help them bat, catch, and field. Hezekial and I bonded right away, and he stepped up to the plate with confidence while smiling away and showing his muscles to the crowd. He looked at me and said, "I'm going to hit this one way over the fence for you." He came close enough in my book -- the ball hit the fence and bounced back in, but Hezekial seemed to ignore that aspect as he ran those bases faster than I could keep up beside him. As he headed for home plate, his smile was larger than life. He hopped onto the base and pulled me in for a hug while jumping around basking in the glory of his suc-

Of course, I could not hold back my tears in seeing Hezekial's confidence and genuine delight.

The abundance of strength and happiness in Hezekial moved me that day, and I made a promise to myself that I would find a way to help more disabled children smile like Hezekial because as the Miracle Leagues' motto says, Every child deserves the chance to play baseball."

Luckily enough for our community, there is a project in Plymouth underway to build a new Miracle League field behind Central Middle School. These fields are not your ordinary baseball field; rather, they are made out of cushioned syn-three-fourths of this goal, but a local businesses agreed to $.25 million is still needed.

Remembering Hezekial's smile, I knew I needed to help.

I decided I would plan a benefit dance, and I thought of the perfect play on words to name the dance -- the Miracle Ball -- ball as in baseball, and ball as in a dance! I knew exactly where to take my idea to help turn it into reality: Northville's National Honors Society. They loved the idea, and then the many hours of planning began.

National Honors Society officer Bridget Dunn came to the rescue to help with the planning, and luckily the date we picked for the dance, Feb. 19, was the only Saturday night not booked at the Senior Center for months. My luck continued as everything for the dance just seemed to fall into my lap: it was like a greater force wanted me to succeed. By a chance meeting, DJ Paul Anthony offered to DJ for free, and Mr. Watson the school principal, agreed to insure the dance. Better yet, one had a blast. The photo booth set up in the hall was a favorite to many, and, of course, the cake and coffee was a huge hit.

Many parents gave up their time to chaperon the Miracle Ball, and Officer Snider, Northville High School's police officer, donated his time to make sure everything was under control. Tear-down proved to be fairly painless with the help of a new batch National Honors Society volunteers. It truly was a miracle to see so many people come together to make this event possible.

Together we raised $1,000 for the Miracle League of Plymouth, and hopefully with our help, more children, no matter what their disability, will have the opportunity to experience the joy of scoring a homerun, playing in the outfield, and most importantly, being a part of a team.

Submitted by Becky Pokrandt, a Northville High School senior.

As part of an effort to encourage more young women to choose careers in technology, the National Center for Women & Information Technology and Bank of America will recognize 35 high-school women - including Beth Hadley of Northville High School - for their accomplishments and aspirations in computing and technology at the Bank of America Technology Stars of the Future Showcase & Awards Ceremony on March 12 in Charlotte, N.C. The young women are winners of the NCWIT Award for Aspirations in Computing, which recognizes highschool women for their computing-related achievements and interests. Each winner will receive $500 cash, a laptop computer, an engraved award for both her and her school, and a trip with a parent or legal guardian to attend the Technology Showcase and Awards Ceremony at Bank of America. The NCWIT Award for Aspirations in Computing was created to encourage the computing aspirations of young women, introduce them to leadership opportunities and careers, and generate visibility for women's participation in technology fields.

players a chance to eliminate state's deficit

BY CHRISTOPHER BERNAN STAFF WRITER

Are Gov. Rick Snyder's budgetary priorities out of whack?

Do you think you can do a better job of balancing Michigan's budget, which carries a $1.4 billion-plus deficit?

If you answered "yes" to either question, consider playing the Michigan Budget Game — an online simulation in which visitors take their best shot at eliminating the state's general fund deficit.

To play, visit www.thecenterformichigan.net and click on the game's logo.

The game, which went live last week, doesn't include all budget issues Snyder proposed, but players are given the choice of raising taxes or cutting business taxes, and must prioritize among big-ticket items like corrections, public employee compensation and public entitlement programs.

"A lot, but not all, of the governor's budget proposals that have sort of significant financial implications are in the game," explained Peter Pratt, president of Lansingbased Public Sector Consultants.

"These are hard, and it's always easy to be on the sidelines and say, 'I advocate for this. I advocate for this.' But you get to play the whole game," Pratt added.

Pratt's research group assisted The Center for Michigan, led by former Milford Times owner Phil Power, in developing budget choices in the game.

The game doesn't include the school aid fund, or ask players to decide which, if any, of Snyder's proposed business-incentive cuts they would approve or keep.

The purpose was just to give anyone that wanted to (play the game) a real sense of the choices, the spending cuts and tax-increase possibilities that legislators have to consider," Pratt said.

We also think it might be interesting to see collectively what people said who played the game and what they would be willing to cut or not cut," he added.

The game had been played more than 6,700 times as of Monday. Results will be tracked, but not used in any kind of formal study, Pratt said, because they won't represent a random sampling of Michiganders.

The idea stemmed from a similar game sponsored by the New York Times in which players try to balance the federal budget. That game can be found online at www. nytimes.com/interactive/2010/11/13/weekinreview/deficits-graphic.html.

OUR VIEWS Students unite Novi, Northville come together to fight cancer

The Northville/Novi Students Relay for Life will take place from 10 a.m. Saturday to 10 a.m. Sunday at the Suburban Collection Showplace (formerly the Rock Financial Showplace), 46100 Grand River Ave. in Novi.

This annual Relay for Life event, like hundreds of others around the nation, is truly an eye-opening experience  $\tau$  one that the participants will always cherish and never forget. It is a 24-hour event, in which the participants camp out in tents and walk around a track to honor those who have been afflicted with cancer. Some of the participants have gone through cancer themselves, while many others have lost loved ones to the deadly disease.

But there's one thing that makes this particular event different from every other: It's the only Relay for Life event in the U.S. run by high school students.

The goal, of course, is to raise money to help the American Cancer Society in its efforts to not only find cures for the many forms of cancer but also to bolster its programs that help those already afflicted. Locally, the dunk tank is one of many fun activities at Relay For Life.

"Teams of students from both Northville and Novi High Schools run this event, and this year it is expected to be even bigger than last year," said Lia Busse, a member of the Northville/Novi Students Relay for Life Public Relations Committee. "It is a great way for students in the two communities to come together to support an important cause. Often the two schools are considered rivals, but for this event we all have a common goal."

Any group of students from these high schools can form a team and participate in this event. The students sleep overnight and walk the indoor track throughout the night to draw awareness to this important cause. The community is invited to attend and participate in the activities that are happening throughout the 24 hours: selling baked goods and treats; children's games; a raffle, selling balloon hats for children and the emotional survivor's walk around the track.

Raising the money, however, is only half of the story of Relay for Life. It truly is a community event, where people make lifelong friends and are deeply touched by other participants. Nothing brings people together like a common foe. And cancer certainly is an enemy we can all despise.

The statistics are really staggering if you think about it. According to the ACS, one of every four deaths in the U.S. is a direct result of cancer. Roughly 569,490 people will die because of cancer this year - that's about 1,500 every day. So, so many people have been touched by cancer - either they have gotten it themselves or someone close to them. Nobody is immune. In fact, the ACS estimates half of all men and one-third of all women in the U.S. will develop cancer during their lifetimes. This is why Relay for Life has become such an inspirational event all over the country. It gives people a common purpose, and makes them feel like they can fight back. With their help, researchers have begun making strides in the fight, and there are now literally millions of people who have beaten cancer thanks to the advances of science. If you want to be part of this epic battle - and we recommend that you do get involved - become a warrior in the battle against cancer. You won't be disappointed. For more information about how to get involved either through sponsorship or volunteering, call (248) 663-3410 or visit www.RelayForLife.org/nnstudentsmi or http:// main.acsevents.org.

Pounding the pulpit for Palin

All evidence of leadership has vanished from Washington, so the pretenders are around once more, and liberal minions stepped up a barrage of attacks on Sarah Palin hoping to destroy her. I like and trust Palin much more than many wishy-washy phonies in politics. An outstanding governor, she sought fresh air by offering no courtesy to politicians in jailing members of her own party to set a marker for good governance. Tea Parties surfaced even more of these female merry missionaries to challenge the politically enshrined. Real classy women, totally opposite the petulant and sour women of the left mired in the clinging mud of collectivism. The election of 2010 rejected the lame assumption - if our country is crippled, broke and impotent the world will like America.

Now potential to restart national growth will never happen in creating economic stagnation and expanding more and new collars of entitlement. American progress is linked to fixing all starters on all engines of private interest to stir American resourcefulness and jobs. Still hopeful, left-leaning hucksters hang over scripted megaphones passing out monopoly money waiting and waiting for their elected mystical and mythical savior to awaken.

competition and innovation. A collectivist wedge of power also relies upon developing an aristocracy of control over information, public services and especially distribution of public funds. His anthem cry is for social justice and greater access to free lunches. All can observe his managed media soaking up liberal governance with sympathetic varnish to suppress evidence of terrible performance. Always attempting to justify an inexcusable debt multiplied by strategic political waste.

Competent Palin's choice may be best to support a candidate she feels suitable to repair the wreckage, there are so many new talents. The replay options are very tiresome personalities seeking the center stage, and like 2008, few pugnacious enough to be useful leaders and should just give it up. Tea Party warriors are assembling soon to retire the wasteful spending left and dump the wimps. America's best replacement must be an honest communicator unafraid of the whining over any effort to save the nation, one with a winning bearing to gain lost respect and unleash free competition to ignite growth and to restore the belief in our Constitution. Very impressive governors with visible backbones have risen who may heed the serious call to save our nation's children and also retrieve the esteem and confidence of a desperate nation.

Women may indeed admire Palin, not for what they lack but for what she has and is. Caring mothers who want their kids to emulate America's best and find it hard to make a selection more recent than Reagan. Despite would reveal a more positive view of Palin if she were frumpy. Carried over from Victorian era, most women defensively yield to men for top jobs and harshly measure other females. Liberals too have been successful in promoting their big fraud of being always more charitable in declaring feelings more important than function, like a cute car with no engine. Credit Palin, as well, for bringing America's attention to some wholesome American women and to discovering Alaska.

The collectivist seeks to build a society first of dilution, and finally the deletion of the spirit of individualism that would activate from the Middle East now? Might there be another 1776 in us all? Could Americans be driven to demand change, and if so, what kind of change?

Where is our own American vitality — that shared vision, common agenda and sense of

I am not necessarily speaking of a "taking it to the streets"style revolution, but I would love to see that sense of nationalism well up around a purpose grander than one individual's needs and wants. Thinking of the missed opportunity to rally the country after 9/11, it seems we have failed to come together around a common purpose. Having stepped up to the plate, at best we have swung and missed, remaining "Red" vs. "Blue" States of America.

The best we could do after 9/11 was encourage Americans to "go shopping" while we, based on faulty intelligence, some claim or lies, invaded Iraq — a country that had nothing to do with the attack on the U.S.

Obama's 2008 presidential election electrified America's youth around the "Yes We Can" theme which collided with the economic meltdown, even as an out-of-control Wall Street, on display for all the world to see, brought the world to its economic knees.

Those times produced a few great country songs that captured American anger, but little else — John Rich's Shutting Down Detroit http://www.youtube.com/ watch?v=GoIXxFSq7og and Toby Keith's Courtesy of the Red, White and Blue (Angry American) http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/ Courtesy_of_the_Red,_White,_%26_Blue_ (The_Angry_American)

We have since witnessed the very people on Wall Street who made millions taking our country down, skip off with hard-working Americans' tax dollars and millions in bonuses as part of their economic "stimulus" even as 14 million Americans remain out of work.

The current 9.4-percent national unemployment rate rises to 17 percent when you take into account those working part time and those without work for so long they have given up looking, remaining part of the underground economy. At a snail's pace now, job growth is likely to remain stagnant until 2017, before the hope of the eight million jobs lost since 2007 are replaced.

UNEMPLOYMENT UP, AVERAGE JOE'S WEALTH PLUMMETS

Property values continue to plummet while corporate profits and bonuses on Wall Street

are once again taking off and setting new records while the national deficit exceeds $1.3 trillion dollars. For every dollar our government spends, we borrow 40 cents.

Detroit, Michigan's largest city and school district, teeters on the precipice of bankruptcy even as multiple municipalities and school districts, scattered throughout our state and nation, are in the same boat.

Many economists believe the bank, auto and other stimulus spending benefited the national economy; however, "it could have been worse" does NOT make for a national rallying cry.

We witnessed the potential for a second American Revolution with a "mad as hell and not gonna take it any more" moment that morphed instead into the Tea Party, with a resulting weak tea — not much more than the standard conservative Republican rhetoric on steroids. Their simple "cut our way to prosperity" plan is not any better than the Democrats' "borrow and spend" mentality. Too much of the deficit/stimulus money spent to-date propped up the past, protected the status quo, and was not an investment to creating a brighter future.

In light of Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder's new austerity budget, we are reminded the only humans that like change are infants! If "we" get the benefit it is good and if "they" benefit it is bad seems to be the mantra.

While China continues to save and invest in massive infrastructure projects — airports, seaports, bullet trains, roads, and bridges — they are also creating Wi-Fi networks, and new educational systems, working to expand clean and green energy. All the while, our country disinvests in projects that have the potential to once again make us competitive on this new world stage.

WHERE IS THE OUTRAGE?

Perhaps it is too much to expect that the crisis facing Michigan and America could be transfigured into a collective nobility of purpose and purity of selflessness — for this is what we need.

Pressure is building in our cities, states and nation with the potential to blow at any moment. Steam escaped through the exhilaration of the Obama election, the Tea Party movement, a slight economic reprieve and the 2010 political party elections reversal. But Americans won't be fooled again. Like the retreat of a tsunami out to sea, the force of a sea change is building and could come washing ashore at any time.

The next two years will be a pivotal turning point for Michigan and America.

If the "Angry American" does not see some relief soon, "taking it to the streets" might well become our own national past time.

This is a story about William...and what a local chiropractor did to him...

Tina Maruszewski, D.C.

Dear Friend.

This is a story about William, whose birth was a difficult one and he was born pre-mature. He stayed in the hospital an extra month, was sick often and by the time he came home he was very colicky.

During one of his visits to the pediatrician, the doctor noticed that the front of his forehead was becoming abnormally shaped on one side. Almost like one side was growing outward. Of course William's parents were very worried. He was sent to a specialist, who then recommended that William would be fitted for a helmet

(Pat) was a tough cookie. She raised a few children mostly on her own and worked hard to pay the bills. She was the sole care taker and provider of her family, so when it came to grandbaby William, she didn't hesitate to seek out some answers or help.

neighbors and other family about this issue with many new answers came her way. However, on one visit to a different doctor, she was intrigued by this doctor's insight. You see, she was just talking about her grandson in passing. Bragging about how cute he was and how she was going to spoil him rotten! This doctor treated her for her problems, why would she ever consider this doctor for her grandson?

The doctor at first asked some basic questions curious, wanting to learn something new.

uncomfortable to very painful. The doctor also told results.

Pat left feeling hopeful, but also questioning why she didn't even think about this doctor being able to help in the first place. This doctor sees many children and it never occurred to her to even ask.

Pat did what the doctor told her to do. She looked for the head turning to one side, which it repeatedly did. Both William's parents didn't like the idea of the helmet, but did it anyway because there was no other alternative. . they thought. So they agreed to meet this doctor.

Did I mention this doctor is a chiropractor? You won't believe what this doctor did to William.

The doctor examined him, explained, and then of all things...gave him a treatment. It wasn't scary, and it didn't hurt. The doctor made some recommendations and William's parents gave it a try.

This is the great part! Four weeks later when the helmet came in...it didn't fit! So they did another fitting. Another month goes by and the new helmet doesn't fit! The specialist asks the parents... "what are you doing differently for William? "His head appears to be getting better. They explained EVERYTHING.

The specialist said with a smile on her face *keep doing what you're doing".

You should know that the chiropractor is me, Dr. Tina Maruszéwski and I don't heal anyone of anything. What I do is perform specific and gentle spinal adjustments to remove nerve pressure and the body responds by healing itself. We get tremendous results. It's simple as that!

Our promise to any patient is if we cannot help you we will not accept you as a patient. I am very realistic in my recommendations and have been in this community long enough to have built a solid reputation. I have seen thousands of patients ... yes I look young, but I've been in practice eleven plus years and have been able to many children and adults.

Amazing offer- If you are interested at all, call my office and schedule a complimentary consult with me. This will allow me an opportunity to see if I can even help. For people who do not have insurance, we offer affordable plans.

My assistant is Linda and she is a really great person. Our office is both friendly and warm and we try our best to make you feel at home. We offer a wonderful service. Our office is called Lakepointe Family Chiropractic and it is at 42875 Five Mile Rd. (next to the BP gas station). Our phone number is 734-420-1004. Call Linda or me today for an appointment. We can help you. Thank You!

saved our daughter's life. We are so proud of him. And I'm sure he is proud, too."

Bowman's daughter suffered minor injuries, according to friend Patricia Fantanzian, who worked with him at the Department of Homeland Security Transportation Security Administration Office of Law Enforcement Federal Air Marshal Service in Detroit.

"A bystander was able to yank her out of the car," Fantanzian said. "She is doing great considering what she has been through. She has been asking a lot of questions, but she is OK."

Bowman was transported to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

The driver of the Jeep Liberty, a 48-year-old man from Belleville, was transported to Botsford Hospital, where he was treated for nonlife-threatening injuries. Northville Township police officials said the accident investigation is ongoing. Fantanzian said Bowman was in charge of scheduling all federal marshals on flights departing from Detroit that traveled the globe, a job he held since 2002. Before that, he served in Washington, D.C., where he was a sergeant` with the Secret Service. He protected three presidents: George H.W. Bush, Bill Clinton and George W. Bush. He also served four years in the U.S. Army Reserves.

"He was so respected. He is irreplaceable," Fantanzian said. "This is just such a terrible tragedy.

"He had some incredible stories about all the dignitaries he has protected over the years. He was just such an interesting person. He will be missed," she added.

In addition to Lexi, the Bowmans have one other child, 9-year-old daughter Brooke. His wife said he cared about his family above all else.

"Number one, he was dedicated to his children. He spent as much time with them as possible. On the Saturday before he died, he took them shopping. He was very hands on," she said. "Jeff would always take the first day of school off and the last day of school off. Those were big milestones in our family. He was very serious about the education of our girls and he was extremely active in their education. The girls know that, and will remember that." Bowman was also dedicated to his career, though he often kept it to himself. He rarely talked about the fact that he rubbed shoulders with presidents and other dignitaries.

"He was always humble about it. In fact, it was exhausting much of the time. He did not brag about it, because he remembered where he came from," Kristen said.

Bowman is the son of the late Donald and the late Ellen Bowman; son-in-law of Kathy Murray and William (Angela) Calder; brother of Carol (Nick) Schenavar, Donald (Linda), Marguerite "Linda," Dollie, Sheryl (Dr. Mark) Pettovello, Timothy Murphy and the late James. He is also loved by many aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews and friends.

Visitation will be held 1-8 p.m. Friday, March 11, at Casterline Funeral Home, 59255 10 Mile Road, South Lyon. The funeral service will be at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, March 12, with visitation beginning at 9:30 a.m. at Ward Presbyterian Church, 40000 Six Mile Road, Northville.

In lieu of flowers, donations would be appreciated to a trust being formed to benefit Lexi and Brooke.

But then the doctor asked "when William is on his back, does his head turn or rotate to one side? Pat just looked at the doctor blankly and said "I don't know". The doctor replied "next time you see your grandson, look to see if he turns his head to one side and then check to see if it's always the Pat that this is a condition she has treated before in patients both young and old with very good Development, and about 5,600 square feet. It's zoned general commercial now. A PUD would mean that the developers would not have to request a zoning. In turn, the city gets to place certain conditions on the site plan.

The developers would have to purchase parking credits. Patrons could be seated in the dining room, bar dining, banquet, plus almost 80 seats outdoors.

The Evasics promise to preserve the historic charm of the old gas station that was gardenviews garden shop for 15 years or longer.

That business moved to East Main Street last year.

The developers will have to appear before Historic District commissioners, the Planning Commission and City Council again before any shovels hit the pavement.

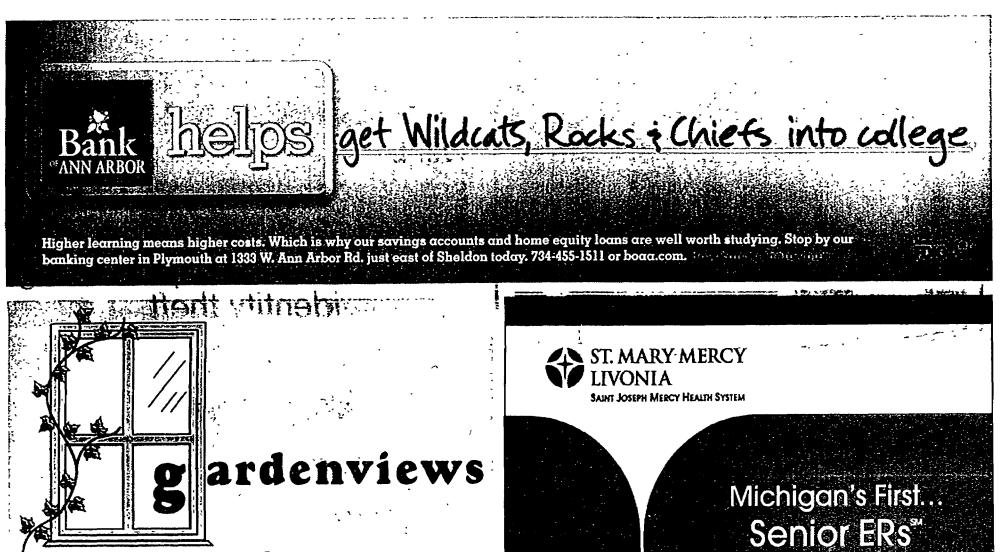

A public hearing would also have to be scheduled.

They said they have looked at things like parking, lighting and odors and will address these issues. There will be no outside trash receptacle.

"We look forward to becoming a bigger part of the community," the Evasics said.

The restaurant is supposed to have an American grill theme with an Italian flair. Menu items will include everything from steaks and burgers to brickfired pizza, pasta and salads.

Mustangs earn win in strange fashion Squad moves past Walled Lake Central with victory

BY SAM EGGLESTON CORRESPONDENT

The Northville Mustangs ended their regular-season in strange fashion last week, beating Walled Lake Central on the road in a game that earned them their thirdmethodical style." That methodical style left the first quarter with Northville in the lead, 2-0, before entering halftime with an 8-7 advantage. When all was said and done, Northville walked away with a headscratching 35-34 victory under turnovers to get back into the game.

With 1:30 left in the game, the Vikings had narrowed Northville's lead to 33-30 before taking advantage of several Mustang mistakes to take a 34-33 lead with 45 seconds left.

The girls, coached by Bill Holden, earned a 3-1 victory over the defending state champion squad from Cranbrook as they opened up the playoffs.

Getting the early lead put enormous pressure on Cranbrook, but our defense never faltered, allowing there only goal when we were down by two players due to penalties," said Holden. Northville's early lead came off the stick of Gabbie Guibord, who wasted little time to put her team up 1-0, scoring on her first shift of the game off a rebound from a Lauren Grigg slap shot. Allison Holden was also credited with an assist.

The girls fended off some intense pressure from the Cranes, ending the first period up, 1-0.

Northville's offense, however, turned the up their own pressure. Following a shot that went wide from Guibord, Kate Sell snagged the loose puck and fired from behind the goal. The puck hit the back of the Cranbrook goalie's leg and bounced into the net for a 2-0 advantage.

The Mustangs strategy to keep someone close to Caley Chelios and Amanda Schimpke of Cranbrook seemed to work well as the defense of Sara Blackhurst, Carly Morrell, Cloe Page and Cristi Karcher made sure there was no room to maneuver and cut off the passing lanes.

Northville's defense was being highlighted by the play of goalie Avery Allman, who had turned back all of Cranbrook's 12 shots on goal to that point. Unfortunately, it's hard to stay perfect in the post season and the Cranes came back and notched a goal of their own two minutes into the third period on a two-player advantage power play that resulted from a cross-checking and a roughing penalty against the Mustangs.

Northville wasn't about to buckle, despite their lead being sheared in half, and the defense tightened down and kept the Cranes away from the goal. The offense, however, stayed on their toes and pushed Cranbrook until the exhausted Cranes could no longer keep up, pull-ing their goalie with hopes of tying the game before Natalie Demuro clinched the victory on a long wrist shot into the open net.

Northville coach Todd Sander wasn't sure what to say when discussing the box score, which found just 15 points being scored between the two teams in the entirety of the first half.

"We had quite a few really good looks in the first half just didn't convert many," he said. Neither team was holding the ball, but WLC typically plays a their belt.

The Mustangs opened things up in the third, jumping out to a 26-13 lead by the end of the quarter to hold a commanding lead before allowing the Vikings to get back into the contest. The difference came when Walled Lake switched to

Stirton earns All-State honors Mustang finishes seventh in individual wrestling state finals

BY SAM EGGLESTON CORRESPONDENT

When the smoke cleared and the points were tallied, Northville found that one of its all-time best wrestlers had earned his season-long goal of claiming All-State status. Ian Stirton, who wrestled at 125 pounds in the finals - a weight class up from his typical division — finished seventh in the title tournament.

Stirton wasn't alone in his trek to the finals, however, and was joined by teammates Trevor Maresh and John Montgomery. Montgomery bowed out in the second round of the tournament while Maresh earned a win over a grappler from East Kentwood before falling to the eventual fourth-place finisher. Stirton, on the other hand, earned two big wins as he defeated the fifth- and sixth-ranked wrestlers at the finals on his way to his seventh-place finish.

Two Mustang gymnasts advance to state finals

Kemp, Dempsey on the hunt for All-State honors

BY SAM EGGLESTON CORRESPONDENT

The Northville Mustangs saved some of their best scoring for the final competition of their season as they took on some of the area's best gymnastics teams at the regional tournament last weekend.

The squad, coached by Erin McWatt, scored 133.925 points in the regional to take sixthplace overall. The score is their second best this season.

"That says a lot because at regionals, scores tend to be very tight. They are looking for the best of the best," said McWatt. "Our 133.925 was an excellent team finish for the season, as well as more than a 10-point increase in our very first team score of the year we were able to peak at the right time, and we finished 6th in our region."

The top three teams that advanced to the state finals were Canton, which had 146.975 points; Grosse Pointe United, which had 138.575; and Salem, which finished with a 137.625 - just two-tenths of a point ahead of Livonia Blue.

While the team, as a whole, won't be advancing to the state finals this Saturday, they will have two representatives in senior Allison Kemp and junior Taylor Dempsey.

"Allie was spot on all day and had a phenomenal, consistent and confident day," said McWatt. "She posted a career-high floor score and allaround, and for the first time this season she stood up her handspring front on vault."

Kemp's all-around score of 37.475 made her the all-around champion for the regional tournament.

Dempsey also had a strong showing on the day, finishing fourth on the bars with an 8.2 to earn a trip to the state finals.

McWatt said both girls will be looking to earn All-State honors.

Mustangs bow out in regional hockey final

Squad adds an exclamation point to a hard-fought season

BY SAM EGGLESTON CORRESPONDENT

Someone must have forgotten to tell the Northville Mustangs that no one thought they would make it to the regional final last week. The squad, coached by Jeff Hatley, made short work of both the Canton Chiefs and the Salem Rocks to earn the right to play in the regional final. It was there, however, that they Mustangs met up with the undeniably talented Orchard Lake St. Mary's squad and fell, 9-3.

We were going to try to 'ham and egg it' around the rink against them," said Hatley, noting that the term means working well together and keeping it simple. "They are very fast up front and very aggressive in the offensive zone, so we knew we were going to be under a lot of pressure in our end, and we would have to chip the puck off the glass a lot.'

The tactic may not have led to a victory in the regional final, but it let Northville put up one heck of a fight. Ben Crabill ended the year on a nigh note, scoring two goals with assists from fellow sophomores Riley Marotta and Matt Evasic. Cole Brown scored Northville third and final goal off a stretch pass from Robbie Thornburg that sent him in alone, one-on-one, against the St. Mary's goalie. Despite the loss, Northville had plenty to be proud of last week. The team upended Canton, 4-2, before defeating Salem, 6-3.

The victories came with the team being without six players due to injuries and, Hatley said, that was largely in part to the role the seniors played as leaders. Robbie Thornburg, Logan Hill, Stephen Champagne, Brady Marotta, David Ketelhut, Sean Bretz and Mike Comben were all key in the victories.

They showed great leadership and determination in our preparation leading up to talent. We all came up with a game plan together on how we thought we could beat them and our seniors delivered, playing their best hockey of the season."

Northville's budding talent, however, shows a lot of promise for the next few years. Sophomores Riley Marotta, Buddy Debrabrander, Jacob Strom, and Ben Crabill chipped in goals during Northville's playoff run and

NORTHVILLE ROUNDUP

Mustangs send 11 tankers to state

The Northville Mustangs swimming and diving team will have 11 tankers in eight events — not including the three relays they qualified for — in the state finals this weekend.

The squad, coached by Rich Bennetts, will be well represented in the 200 freestyle event with four Mustangs competing: Johannes Henriksson, Alex Miller, Tim Shea and Chris Kim. Swimming in the 200 individual medley and the 100 breaststroke will be BoFang Zhang while Spencer Miller and Will Greenlee will swim the 50 freestyle. Greenlee will also swim the 100 butterfly while Ryan Winkler swims the 100 freestyle and Shea and Austin Hunt take on the grueling 500 freestyle. Kevin Bain and Will Price will be looking to add points to Northville's final score in the diving event.

"We are going into this meet with high expectations," said Bennetts. "There is a sense that we do not have the 'big guns' to compete at the state meet. This team is used to having to prove people wrong. I know this: our team has fought hard all year and we always swim the fastest when it means the most. I expect nothing different from my boys this year. It will be a great meet and we expect to be in the mix at the end." Northville will also compete in the 200 medley, 200 free and 400 free relays.

The state finals will be at Oakland University tomorrow and Saturday.

Mustangs end season with loss to state-ranked Canton

The Northville Mustangs girls basketball team ended their season last week with a loss to third-ranked Canton, 46-32.

The Chiefs made a trip to the final four last season and will potentially make a repeat trip this season as they returned their top six players and have lost only twice this year — once to No. 1 ranked Inkster and once to Class B No. 2 ranked Country Day. "I'm proud of the way our girls played tonight" and all season," said Northville coach Todd Gudith. "We never backed down and wanted to prove we could play with anyone. Our girls battled a team that's been ranked for the past two years and for the most part held their own. Canton's a good, physical team with loads of big-game experience. They didn't shoot the ball well but they were aggressive on the boards and that really hurt us. Canton finds a way to get points on the board."

The Chiefs jumped out to an 18-8 lead over Northville in the opening round of the district tournament before extending that lead to 30-13 by halftime. The Mustangs held Canton to just one basket in the second quarter, but Canton crashed the offensive boards and Northville got into foul trouble while Canton went 10-for-14 from the free-throw line to take a 17 point halftime lead.

Canton got to the line 17 times in the first half and went 14-for-23 for the game. Northville, on the other hand, was 0-1 from the foul line for the game.

Northville regrouped in the second half and outscored Canton 19-16, but it wasn't enough as they fell in the state tournament to end their season.

The Mustangs were led by senior Katie Giacomini, who had nine points, while junior Meredith Williams added eight.

The team finished 10-11 on the year.

Two Mustangs place at the indoor track and field state finals

Northville High School athletes Edward Clifton and Gina McNamara earned accolades for their club track and field performances last week.

Clifton, who ran in the distance medley relay with teammates from the Dearborn Track Club, finished eighth in the event. McNamara ran in the 800-meter run and took eighth.

CC beats South Lyon 69-42 in district basketball opener

BY MATT THOMPSON CORRESPONDENT

Catholic Central juniors Matt Doneth and Kyle Cooper scored a combined 33 points to beat South Lyon 69-42 in the first game of the boys basketball district playoffs at Catholic Central on Monday night.

The Shamrock's started the second quarter up 17-13. Cooper scored eight straight points increasing the CC lead to 25-16.

"He's been like that for us all year," Novi Head Coach Bill Dyer said of his forward. "He's a pretty special player, a great student and better kid."

Cooper scored 16, and importantly, scored 14 while the game was still tight before halftime. Two of the 14 came on a steal in the backcourt and a two-handed slam to finish his eight-point run. "He's a really talented kid at six-foot-seven that can move and has skills," South Lyon head coach Doug Host said. "He's a deadly outside shooter, too. He had a really nice game tonight both inside and outside." South Lyon was able to eliminate the lead Cooper built in the second quarter at 27-27. Senior Jonathon Gould had two quick layups along with four points from sophomore Luke Short and two foul shots from senior Trey Sidney to mount the comeback.

Catholic Central senior Shea Kettner 555 fed the next five points as a part of a 9-0 run before halftime to put South Lyon down 36-27 going into the break. South Lyon never came that close the rest of the way.

They got that little spurt before half," Host said. "We didn't execute a lot of things on defense in the first half. We knew they were going to run flex so we worked for a week on defending the flex. Thought ng well, but w got out here tonight and we didn't." The 69 points Catholic Central scored was the second most points allowed by the Lions all season. For South Lyon seniors Jacob Elliott, Gould, Taylor Saie, Sidney, Jeff Schmitz, Tom Berry, William Hanna and Zachary Weidman all played in the last game of their high school basketball careers.

We're real proud of them," Host said. "We were 4-9 at one point and won six of our last seven games. That's doesn't happen in high school basketball. Teams pack it in but our kids never did. They kept improving.

1000 ng.

Lions leading scorer, Schmitz, wasn't able to get in rhythm with foul trouble. He knocked down a three early in the game but foul trouble had him on the bench a lot of the game.

"It killed us to have our leading scorer foul out of the game early," Host said. "He really just didn't get into the flow of the game tonight with fouls throughout."

The team, coached by AJ Bridges, rolled a total score of 3,405 in the preliminary round of 18 teams to finish fourth and qualify for match play. The squad then went on to beat Taylor Kennedy, 1,378-1,281, to advance to the Final Four.

It was there that the team met their match as they fell to John Glenn, the eventual state runner-up, 1,262-1,150.

"Overall it was a very successful season," said Bridges. "We have three players returning next year and look forward to being in the hunt again."

Three Shamrocks also qualified for the state singles tournament. Eric Pavlov, Matt Nugent and Tom Zahari all competed in the individual finals with Pavlov and Nugent qualifying to advance to match play. There, Nugent lost in the first round by a single pin to the eventual singles champion, Jordan Hornes of John Glenn, while Pavlov advanced to the final eight with a victory over Anthony Logarta of Utica Ford by a score of 475-344. ## IT'S YOUR BUSINESS Northville barista brews up her dream with new Plymouth coffee shop

BY MATT JACHMAN OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Since beginning her first barista job in Northville 17 years ago, Teresa Pilarz has been studying the mysteries of good coffee.

"Actually, it's a more complicated beverage than wine is," said Pilarz at Espresso Elevado, the specialty coffee shop she opened in Plymouth on Thursday. "With coffee, there're a lot more flavors you can pull out. It's a lot harder to pull them out."

Espresso Elevado (the name is Spanish and meant to suggest a higher or sublime coffee experience) represents a long-held dream for Pilarz, who double-majored in Spanish and marketing in college and worked in a variety of fields but kept returning to coffee. The shop is on Main Street at Wing, in the former Suburban Harvest food market, near downtown Plymouth.

MADE TO ORDER

Pilarz, who lives in Northville Township, wants to spread the coffee gospel, the story of its flavors, its traditions, the best ways to prepare it. Espresso Elevado's coffee beans - many of them certified organic and grown through fair trade cooperatives - are roasted in house, and each cup is individually prepared.

"It's not a fast-food model, so everything takes a little bit longer," Pilarz said.

There aren't any self-serve air pots at Espresso Elevado, nor any of the Bunn or Krups coffeemakers one might find at other shops, or in home kitchens.

Instead, each cup is made by hand, starting with grinding the beans. For regular coffee, Pilarz uses either a filter cone, a press pot (also called a French press), or a "clever dipper, which is a hybrid of the cone and the press pot. For espresso drinks, there is a handcrafted Synesso machine, one of only five in Michigan, she said.

The Synesso is more hands-on, less automated than other espresso machines, Pilarz said.

*It gives the barista more control over all the functions," allowing for more nuanced coffee, Pilarz said. "I think you have to understand the coffee a little bit better. You can't just push a button." : ~ of sugar blunn want their drinks, especially that first cup, ASAP, and won't give much thought to how it's prepared.

"If someone doesn't want a sermon, I'm not going to give them one," she said.

PLYMOUTH'S CHARMS

Turner Broughtôn, a stylist at Salon Awesome! in Plymouth, stopped by Thursday to pick up coffee and other drinks for himself and colleagues. Pilarz had dropped off some business cards at the salon, he said, and co-workers pointed them out to him. "Everybody there knows I always have a coffee in hand," Broughton said. Broughton said he was excited to have another choice among Plymouth coffee shops. "I like to spend my money in town.... I like ... to promote anybody that's in town, that's for. sure," he said.

Pilarz grew up in Canton Township and graduated from Salem High School and Michigan State University. Her first job was as a candy girl at the Penn Theatre, and she's long been in love with Plymouth.

"I think they've done something right," she said. "It seems like they support the businesses. There's a lot of foot traffic."

Pilarz has taught Spanish, done marketing work, and worked in accounting, as well as worked in coffee shops (including Starbucks and, most recently, Mighty Good Coffee in Ann Arbor), but all the while kept dreaming about coffee.

She's had the goal of opening her own place at least since 1996, she said, and has been scouting sites for two years or more.

She was sorry to see Suburban Harvest close she went to high school with the owner,

- but knew the site would be perfect for her.

Teresa Pilarz roasts her own coffee beans, using the roaster in the background.

"All the things I've done have helped lead up to this," Pilarz said. "I've taken a long, circuitous route toward this, but I think it's all for a purpose."

COFFEE-TASTING AND MORE

In addition to coffees, Espresso Elevado also carries teas, hot chocolate drinks, and cold drinks like juices and sparkling water, plus baked goods from the Biscotti Bar in Plymouth Township. Pilarz plans to roast coffees to order for customers and host roasting demonstrations and coffee-tasting events.

Taubman picks Northville firm

Taubman Asset Group has selected Northville IT services company Vision Computer Solutions to overhaul its entire information technology infrastructure and to provide ongoing IT support.

The initial project involved a complete overhaul of the IT infrastructure including new servers and workstations. In addition, Vision provided the Taubman Asset Group with a completely virtual-ized environment with thin clients on the VMware platform. This virtualization allows the company to enjoy benefits such as high availability, centralized data and secure storage with full disaster recovery. Vision is providing ongoing 24/7 IT outsourcing support via its ForeSite managed IT program.

This effort was a major transition for our network and a process of not only changing out all of the equipment but also training our staff on how to use it," said Brian McCullough, controller at Taubman Asset Group. "The team at Vision consistently walked us through each step of the project to ensure we completed each task.'

"Taubman Asset Group wanted the type of personalized and responsive IT support at which Vision excels, while at the same time retaining the ability to control their own network security and policies," said Peter Marsack, vice president at Vision Computer Solutions. ## Red Cross: Be prepared for a power outage

Preparing for a power outage is important any time of year, but especially in colder weather. The American Red Cross Southeastern Michigan Chapter offers these tips on preparing for a power outage.

To help preserve your good, keep the following supplies in your home: One or more coolers - inexpensive

Styrofoam coolers work well.

 Ice — Surrounding your food with ice in a cooler or in the refrigerator will keep food colder for a longer period of time during a prolonged power outage.

•A digital quick-response thermometer - With these thermometers you can quickly check the internal temperatures of food to ensure they are cold enough to use safely.

The American Red Cross recommends you put together an emergency preparedness kit with these supplies in case of a prolonged or widespread power outage.

•Water — one gallon per person, per day (three-day supply for evacuation, two-weekly supply for home).

·Food - nonperishable, easy-toprepare items (three-day supply for evacuation, two-week supply for home).

•Flashlight - Do not use candles during a power outage due to the extreme risk of fire.

•Battery-powered or hand-crank radio (NOAA Weather Radio, if possible).

•Extra batteries.

•First aid kit.

 Medications (seven-day supply) and medical items.

Multipurpose tool.

•Sanitation and personal hygiene items.

•Copies of personal documents (medication list and pertinent medical information, deed/lease to home, birth certificates, insurance policies).

 Cell phone with chargers. •Family and emergency contact information.

Extra cash.

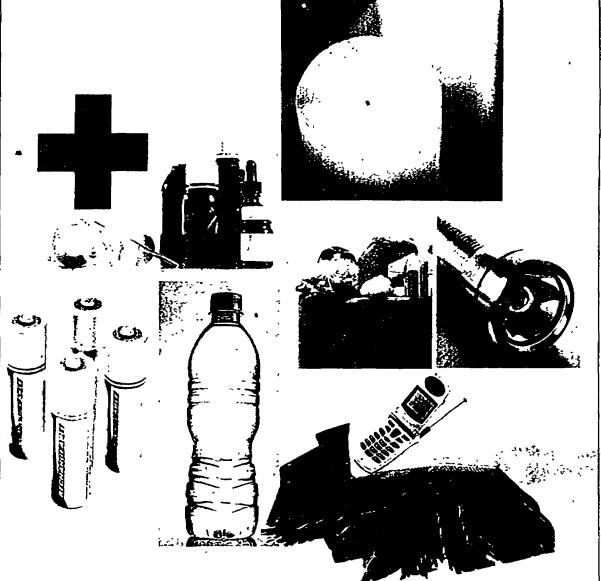

•If someone in your home is dependent on electric-powered, life-sustaining equipment, remember to include backup power in your evacuation plan.

•Keep a noncordless telephone in your home. It is likely to work even when the power is out.

•Keep your car's gas tank full.

FOOD SAFETY

Keep refrigerator and freezer doors closed as much as possible. First use perishable food from the refrigerator.

An unopened refrigerator will keep foods cold for about four hours. Then use food from the freezer. A full freezer will keep the temperature for about 48 hours (24 hours if it is half full) if the door remains closed. Use your nonperishable foods and sur staples after using food from the refrigerator and freezer.

If it looks like the power outage will continue beyond a day, prepare a cooler with ice for your freezer items. Keep food in a dry, cool spot and keep it covered at all times.

ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT

Turn off and unplug all unnecessary electrical equipment, including sensitive electronics.

Turn off or disconnect any appliances (like stoves), equipment or electronics you were using when the power went out. When power comes back on, Surges or spikes can damage equip-

Leave one light turned on so you'll know when the power comes back on.

Eliminate unnecessary travel, especially by car. Traffic lights will be out and roads will be congested.

SAFE GENERATOR USE

When using a portable generator, connect the equipment you want to power directly to the outlets on the generator. Do not connect a portable generator to a home's electrical system.

If you are considering getting a generator, get advice from a professional, such as an electrician. Make sure that the generator you buy is rated for the power that you think you will need.

Additional information on power outage safety can be found on the local Red Cross website, semredcross. org, including what to do when power comes back on. Throwing out unsafe food and avoiding carbon monoxide dangers are both key.

Be well aware of insurance needs

Q: Does the Michigan Condominium Act have any requirements for insurance in the documents?

A: Although the statute does not specifically require any insurance, the bylaws certainly should and can maintain insuring the association and/or owners against risks affecting the project. It is generally recommended by our firm

that the association have the best directors and officers liability insurance as well as, of course, liability insurance covering all potential exposure to the association. It is also important that you retain a knowledgeable community association insurance agent to help you with your insurance needs. Q: Before hiring a contractor to do any work at a community association's facilities, why should the association make sure that the contractor is covered by an insurance policy that also protects the association?

A: It is not uncommon for property to be damaged or someone to be injured during installation or renovation of projects. Such damage or injury could result in a lawsuit<sup>10 h</sup> not only against the contractor, but against the association, board of directors and manager. To protect themselves against any lawsuit, a manager should be sure to get a copy of the contractor's insurance policy before work starts.

Alina Dizik, Special to CareerBuilder

While Facebook can sometimes seem like a way to simply post a few photos or let your friends know about your birthday -- there are ways it can come in handy in your professional career. Facebook lets job seekers tap an informal network of friends or friends of friends who can be instrumental in creating success. "The collection of friends you have through Facebook are the ones most likely to have your back," says Jenny Foss, a job search expert who blogs at JobJenny.com. With so many different options, Facebook is a good place to start if you're job hunting or just seeking to network.

Here's what to do to get started:

Customize vour avatar

In an online search, your avatar is typically the first thing a potential employer sees on Facebook. So if you're in job search mode, it's important to have a professional avatar that can help you get hired. "You can create a custom avatar that includes your contact information and that you are in the job market," says Jessica Miller-Merrell, chief executive of Xceptional HR. Additionally, while your profile should be kept private, include an e-mail address and job history in the visible information so recruiters can reach out to you directly.

Use your status

Find a good way to let your Facebook friends you're looking. For example, refer them to your own site, which showcases samples of your work and a résumé, or ask them to drop you an e-mail if they know of a lead. Being specific about what type of job or company you're looking for can make it easier for people to help, Foss says. Throughout your job search use your status to update your friends on how it's going. Don't inundate friends with every little detail and make each status conversational and optimistic. "Keep it genuine, make it real," Foss says. "But don't come across as the saddest, most desperate #### person alive."

Take out a Facebook ad

When Marian Schembari graduated from college and wanted to land a publishing job, she took out an ad on Facebook to target publishing houses. The ad showed up for Facebook users who listed companies like Random House and HarperCollins as their employer. Once they clicked on the ad, users were referred to her personal website that contained her résumé. A person from each of the publishers e-mailed that he or she passed on her résumé to HR or wanted to meet, she recalls.

After placing her ad, others in the industry wrote about Schembari's pursuits and she was able to get her foot into the publishing world. "Facebook was the easiest . and fastest way to network with a huge number of. publishing people at once," she says. "It was like a networking event on steroids with an added bonus of never needing to leave my house or get out of my pajamas."

"Like" companies where you'd want to work

Since most companies have a Facebook presence these days, clicking the "like" button on that company's fan page will signal that you're interested in a job there, Foss says. Additionally, it's a simple way to learn the latest company news, which can help during an interview. Additionally, "some companies list their open jobs right on their [Facebook] pages," she says.

Keep it real

- Since Facebook is a less formal network, people expect to see a more casual part of your personality so there's no need for a professional tone, points out Craig Fischer, vice president of sales at Ajax Social Media. "I have hired many people through Facebook," he says. "Many of my customers and job candidates are people who I network with [on] . there."
