Register to vote

As area political groups ratchet up their efforts to mobilize voters this election season, residents who want to have a voice in the Aug. 5 primary face a July 7 deadline to register.

Residents seeking to register may go to the clerk's office or to any Secretary of State office.

Potential voters also may get a registration application from the Secretary of State website at www.michigan.gov/sos. Simply click on the Elections in Michigan tab and look for the form which, if mailed, must be postmarked by July 7.

Voters in the primary, as opposed to the general election, must cast their ballots for one political party rather than mixing up their choices.

Voters don't have to vote in every political race or for every ballot measure, but they must vote within the confines of one political party. That's because the purpose of a primary is to choose candidates who will advance to the November general election and face an opposing party's nominee.

Celebrating a true public servant

Nearly 200 show up for Chief Allen retirement party

By Kurt Kuban
Staff Writer

More than 170 people turned out last week to celebrate a Northville institution during a retirement party for retiring Fire Chief James Allen.

Those in attendance included Congressman Kerry Bentivolio, Northville Mayor Chis Johnson and Plymouth Mayor Dan Dwyer, just to name a few. Many area fire chiefs also showed up to honor Allen, who spent 50 years with the department. He was the first full-time chief in Northville's history, and oversaw big changes including the department's expansion to provide fire services for the city of Plymouth.

"It was a fantastic event," said event organizer and long-time firefighter Jason Jordan, who worked with Allen for more than 20 years. "The chief got a lot of accolades and there were many presentations during the night. Everyone chipped in to get him a stay at a North Carolina bed and breakfast. He really deserves it."

Allen's last day on the job was Monday. When it was time to knock off for the day, the firefighters surprised him by giving him a ride home in one of the fire trucks.

Allen has deep roots in the Northville community. He grew up here, his father, Mike Allen (Allen Terrace was named for him), was mayor, and his family used to own Inch Memorials, located on S. Main Street. It's fair to say he's made many friends over the years.

So it's not surprising so many showed up at his retirement party. Among those in attendance were Gary Callender, a

Ground broken on long-awaited Seven Mile/Haggerty development

By Lonnie Huhman

Schostak Brothers and Co. Chief Executive Officer David Schostak announced at the Northville Park Place groundbreaking that it already has a number of business commitments to help fill the future development, including Chipotle and Granite City Food and Brewery.

Held on the morning of Wednesday, June 25 at the southwest corner of Haggerty and Seven Mile roads, the ceremony took place while nearby workers were under way preparing the site for the second phase, which is part of the joint venture between Livonia-based Schostak Brothers and Bloomfield Hills-based REI Investment Group, Inc.

It's been a long journey for the 82 acres, from being covered in trees as part of the Northville State Regional Psychiatric Hospital to almost being annexed by Livonia to planners reaching an agreement with Northville Township to make it into a vibrant, tax-generating mixed commercial site.

"A couple of thoughts come to mind as we sit down here and one is all great things are worth waiting for and patience is a virtue," Schostak said to the gathered crowd. "This has obviously been a long time coming and there has been a lot of discussion about this project in particular."

Northville has plenty planned to celebrate July 4th

By Lonnie Huhman
Staff Writer

Fourth of July in Northville means a big, fun parade through downtown and remembering history at Mill Race Village.

Parade

Northville will be filled with residents and visitors on Friday morning when the parade makes its way through downtown.

The Northville Community Foundation is once again organizing the annual Independence Day celebration starting at 10 a.m. on July 4.

"The Northville Independence Day Parade is sure to be a hit once again as floats, characters, bands, classic and vintage cars, veterans, fire trucks, bikes, and even animals make their way through the streets of Northville," said Jessica Striegle, NCF's events and fundraising manager.

"There may even be a few new surprises in store for our spectators."

This year's theme is Celebrating America's Heroes.

The parade route begins at the corner of Griswold and Main Street in downtown and then continues down Main to Rogers to Cady to Wing to Fairbrook Street and it ends at Fairbrook and Center Street.

"Once again we must thank St. Mary Mercy Livonia for being our parade sponsor," Striegle said. "We appreciate St. Mary Mercy's wonderful generosity in sponsoring the parade year after year."

held up the plan, but now it's time to unveil what will be arriving in the next year.

According to Schostak, businesses that have signed leases thus far include Granite City Food and Brewery, Rusty Bucket, Sherwin Williams, BurgerFi, Chipotle and Jimmy John's.

Other opportunities are currently in negotiations as well, he said.

The Phase II portion is located on the northeast 22 acres of the 82-acre property owned by Schostak. The CEO said the development will open in spring 2015 and include 65,000 square feet of retail and restaurants.

The location will feature water ponds with floating fountains, an elevated waterfall, walkable paths, a gathering area and outdoor seating throughout the property, with a wide variety of perennials, ornamental grasses and flower features planted.

The company has completed Phase I of the overall development – the 100,000-square-foot new University of Michigan Northville Health Center, which is expected to open in the coming weeks.

Schostak emphasized that what brought this plan together was cooperation between public and private entities.

He said the partnership with Northville Township will eventually assist in clearing the old psychiatric hospital property of the vacant buildings that are nothing but an eyesore and impediment in making that a park.

Some of the tax revenue generated by Northville Park Place businesses will go toward the township's plan to clear the neighboring property. Park Place will be directly connected to the future Northville Township Park via bike/walk- ing paths.

Schostak also thanked the local banks, specifically Comerica, for staying committed to the investment group's plan. Although taking a "bad rap" throughout the economic downturn, Schostak said this was wrong and that banks have a commitment to the communities they serve.

"We really believe the banking community, particularly here locally, went out of its way to support the community through a very, very difficult time," he said.

There are more phases to come, from potential expansion of the medical facility to adding more retail along Seven Mile.

Mill Race Village activities

According to Northville Historical Society President Ed Gabrys, visitors to the historic village on July 4th can hear Franklin Delano Roosevelt recite excerpts from his wartime speeches. FDR re-enactor and Northville resident, Russ Dore, will deliver Roosevelt's "Day of Infamy" speech, declaring our intention to enter World War II, and others including his "Four Freedoms" declaration.

Civil War shooters and re-enactors from the Michigan 24th, the 1st South Carolina, and 2nd Texas will muster on the Village Green and demonstrate shooting with authentic, black powder muskets and cannon. They will also answer your questions about the war that gave this nation, in President Abraham Lincoln's words, "a new birth of freedom."

And to complete this tableau, Gabrys said re-enactors from the King's 8th will appear alongside Colonial militiamen, soldiers who were locked in a conflict after a decade of "patient sufferance," to quote the author of the Declaration of Independence.

"After the parade, join us as we celebrate 'In Defense of Freedom.' Bring a picnic or purchase drinks and snacks in the Village," said Gabrys.

Youth services to be impacted by millage vote

By Lonnie Huhman
Staff Writer

Northville Youth Assistance aims to be a consistently helpful and important service, said its director Sue Campbell. This is what NYA supporters hope the community will remember as it fills out its voting ballot on Aug. 5.

“We’re here to help kids in need and act as a resource for Northville families,” Campbell said. “We are always trying to improve upon what we have done by learning what new needs that the community has and then we work to fill them.”

NYA is a volunteer-supported organization that provides social services to Northville youths and their families. The program offers professional counseling as well as the opportunity for a youth to establish a supportive relationship with a trained volunteer mentor.

“The purpose of the program is to mentor youths so they may become mature, responsible adults,” said Campbell.

Examples of kids who can benefit from mentoring are those who recently moved into the community, have experienced a death of a parent, have no contact with one parent, have a grandparent as a primary caregiver or are having a difficult time making friends. The youths range in age from 5-16 years old.

Like everything this service costs money. It’s one of the shared services between the City of Northville, Northville Township and Northville Public Schools.

NYA’s funding help is part of the millage proposal on the Northville Township primary ballot, which calls for levying an additional dedicated millage of 1.550 mills for the next seven years – of which 1.250 mills would be dedicated solely for Northville Township Public Safety and 0.3 mills dedicated for parks and recreation, senior adult services and youth assistance programs.

One program taken up by NYA is its partnership with the Northville Garden Club to plant a garden plot at Thayer's Corner Nature Area.

“We want to give these kids an opportunity to be of service, so last year we initiated a project at the Thayer's Corner community garden,” she said. “Our volunteers and their mentees plant and maintain the garden through the summer, then donate produce to seniors who visit the Northville Community Center.”

This year she said the Northville Garden Club offered to help out and club member Margaret Fleming supplied NYA with plants and some help getting them in the ground.

“It's really great to see these adults and kids working side-by-side for the benefit of others,” Campbell said.

Students finish school year on green note

By Lonnie Huhman
Staff Writer

Northville Public Schools have gone green.

All six of the district's elementary schools have been recognized by the Wayne County Regional Educational Service Agency as "Green Schools" for their environmental leadership in encouraging students, staff and parents to improve energy conservation and become environmental stewards, according to NPS Superintendent Mary Kay Gallagher.

This includes Silver Springs Elementary School achieving "Evergreen" status, Amerman, Moraine, Ridge Wood and Winchester elementary schools achieving "Emerald" status and Thornton Creek Elementary School achieving "Green" status.

For Ridge Wood this designation wraps up a year of hard work.

An environmental conscious

It had a lot of environmental conscious things already in place, but it stepped it up even more this year through a variety of activities including waste free lunch days, receiving a National Wildlife Habitat designation for their bird habitat and now, with some grant help from the Northville Mother's Club, the school has developed a monarch butterfly way station.

"The students have really stepped up their leadership with this and have really come to understand what it means to be environmental stewards," said Ridge Wood teacher Sue Beth Balash, who along with a team of teachers has worked to organize the efforts.

The school has had an extensive recycling program, but they expanded this year with the help of student-led Green teams. It's doing so well that some money is actually gained from it and put right back into the school-wide environmental programs.

The projects have become an important part of daily life for the students.

"This is important to us and needs our leadership," said fourth-grader

Gregory Stanton.

To mark the occasion of becoming an official Green School Ridge Wood planted trees, which were given to the school by the local Home Depot. It was a great way to end the year while looking forward to the future.

"It feels like all our work has been worth it," said fourth-grader Jonah Koilpillai.

Annual walk to feature six ‘diverse’ gardens

By Kurt Kuban
Staff Writer

The Country Garden Club of Northville’s annual garden walk has been a community tradition for more than two decades. The event, in its 21st year, takes place from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Wednesday, July 9.

According to organizers, the theme of this year’s garden walk is “Beautiful Michigan” and will feature six diverse and unique private gardens in and around Northville and Northville Township that all showcase flowers, shrubs, trees and water features.

Club president Ronnie Cambra said one of the main goals of the walk every year is to feature gardens that will appeal to a variety of gardeners. Some are owned by club members, but others are not.

“We select them randomly. We try to select a variety of gardens,” she said. “We try to appeal to everyone. We have big gardens, but also some smaller ones. Not everyone has ostentatious acreage to build a garden. We choose all kinds so people can relate.”

This year is no different. Among the six featured gardens are large, spread out gardens in the township and smaller pocket gardens in the city, like Terry Snyder’s on Gardiner Street.

Cambra said people will really enjoy Snyder’s garden, which features plenty of flowers but also vegetables, including jalapeno peppers grown from heirloom seeds brought up from Mexico.

On the larger side, there is a three-level garden in the Hidden Ridge sub owned by a builder, which includes impressive water features that take advantage of the natural drainage of the property.

“He has more land-

scaping, where some of the others are more flower-based,” Cambra said. “People will get something different from each one.”

Another one of the gardens is modeled after Butchart Gardens located on Vancouver Island.

Tickets for the event are $10 and can be purchased at Gardenviews Garden Gallery, 117 E. Main Street, at the ticket table in Mill Race Village on the day of the walk or ordered online at www.cgcnv.org.

In addition, Music on the Green will be going on at Mill Race Village during the garden walk. There will be a number of vendors on site selling garden products, as well as music and homemade goodies. Club members will be there to answer any questions.

The garden walk is the club’s biggest fundraiser, and is used to provide an annual scholarship to a Northville High student who pursues a degree in horticulture or a related field.

Terry Snyder’s Gardiner Street garden will be part of this summer’s Country Garden Club of Northville Garden Walk. Snyder has been hard at work transforming the double lot garden since 1991. Snyder particularly likes the well-worn wood on the pergula she’s passing through.

The club’s 53 members also put together floral arrangements each week for hospice patients, and care for the gardens at the library, Post Office and at the Hunter House in Mill Race Village.

Families cool off at metroparks' Splash-N-Blast

By Laura Colvin
Staff Writer

Scott Young and his family recently came from Howell for some fun family time at Kensington Metropark's Splash-N-Blast water park in Milford.

"We came out to enjoy a nice day," Young said, noting that, while they frequently spend time at Kensington Metropark, it was the family's first-ever visit to Splash-N-Blast. "My wife and I both work all week, so this is a great place to come on the weekends to enjoy some time with the kids. It's a fun place, and it's nice, after a long winter, to finally get out of the house."

Located on the north end of Martindale Beach, Splash-N-Blast, opened in 2006 and includes two 240-foot twisted water slides and an adjacent spray area where water shoots from colorful cannons, palm trees, serpents and a whale. Riders also choose between the open slide or ride down in the dark through the enclosed slide.

"I love the closed slide," said Katie Stephenson, Splash-N-Blast supervisor. The water park is appropriate for all ages, but those who wish to ride the water slides must stand at least 48 inches tall. "It's like a tunnel, and you don't know what's coming next."

The Splash-N-Blast is open daily from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. through late summer. Entry to the Splash-N-Blast is $5 for adults and $4 for kids. After 5 p.m., adults pay $4 and kids enter for $3. A metroparks vehicle entry permit also is required to enter any metropark.

"We get a lot of repeat customers," Stephenson said.

Entry also includes a wristband, which allows Splash-N-Blast visitors to come in and out of the park during the day.

Thirteen metroparks offer natural oasis from suburban life

What is a metropark? The question itself is a lot easier asked than answered. With almost 25,000 acres of land stretching across five counties, serving approximately 9 million visitors annually, a better question to ask would be, what isn't a metropark?

The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, better known as the metroparks, is a regional special park district encompassing Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and Livingston counties. Currently, 13 metroparks make up the authority and cover nearly 25,000 acres.

The metroparks are located along the Huron and Clinton rivers, providing a greenbelt around the Detroit metropolitan area. Recreational facilities are provided at 12 sites stretching in a loop from Lake St. Clair to Lake Erie. The parks are generally more than 1,000 acres each, with Stony Creek, located in Shelby Township, and Kensington, located in Milford, being more than 4,400 acres.

The metroparks provide a natural oasis from urban and suburban life and they provide an ever-growing variety of outdoor recreational and educational activities year round in safe, clean environments. Picnicking, fishing, swimming, boating, hiking, nature study, biking, golf, disc golf, winter sports and a host of special outdoor programs and events are available within a short drive to southeast Michigan residents.

Extensive paved hike/bike trails and scenic golf courses make the metroparks easily distinguishable from other parks. More than 55 miles of paved hike/bike trails course through the metroparks and some of these trails connect with many more miles of trails outside the metroparks, and the system operates eight regulation golf courses and two par-3 courses.

With a strong commitment to environmental education and preservation, the metroparks operates nine full-service interpretive centers — nature, farm and historical — that provide a variety of programs both on site and off site, for almost 1.75 million people annually. A 10th interpretive center, the mobile learning center, is a fully-stocked vehicle filled with exhibits and hands-on activities that visits schools, community centers, fairs and other locations in southeast Michigan to conduct nature, farm and history programs to groups that may not have the means or opportunities to visit a metropark.

The metroparks are funded principally by a property tax levy, limited to one-quarter of one mill, and by revenues from vehicle entry fees and other user fees for various facilities such as golf courses.

A vehicle entry permit is required to enter any metropark and is $30 annually for regular admission, $20 annually for seniors or $7 daily.

So next time instead of asking the question, "what is a metropark?," head to the closest one and find out for yourself all of the amazing things it has to offer, and you'll quickly realize that "what isn't a metropark" is a much shorter answer. For more information and for a list of amenities and attractions that each metropark has to offer, visit our website at www.metroparks.com.

John P. McCulloch is the director of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

Mackenzie facing two challengers for his seat on the 52-1 District Court bench

Three candidates are vying for a seat on the 52-1 District Court – incumbent Judge Brian MacKenzie, Scott Powers (son of Judge Dennis Powers, of the 52-1) and attorney Travis Reeds (MacKenzie’s former law clerk). The two with the most votes in the August primary will move on to the November general election. This is a six-year term. The district includes Novi, South Lyon, Walled Lake and Wixom, the townships of Commerce, Highland, Lyon, Milford and Novi and the villages of Milford and Wolverine Lake.

The candidates were asked 14 questions. Due to space limitations in the print edition, not all are included here. However, please visit www.novinews.com to read the entire Q&A.

1. How could the costs of judicial administration be reduced? Can you give us a specific example of how you have reduced costs in your law practice/court?

MacKenzie: Most of the cost of judicial administration comes from two sources, salaries for our staff and rent for the building. Those costs are difficult to reduce. However, during the recession, the court was given a budget task of cutting more than $100,000. We were able to meet the task without laying off staff, the loss of whom would have degraded our ability to serve the public. Instead, as part of meeting the task we made many small cuts for everyone in the courthouse. Examples of these cuts include giving up mileage reimbursement requests for local travel and adopting two-sided printing in order to save paper. These many small cuts, in total, reduced the cost of operating the court.

Powers: The 52-1 District Court building is not owned by the county. A part of the court’s budget is used for paying property taxes for this building. Over time, I believe the court would significantly reduce its administration costs if the county owned the building and the property. Most recently, my law office removed its internal servers and started using the Google Cloud Platform. This significantly reduced our hardware, software and information technology costs while still providing the same benefits.

Reeds: Judicial administration has developed in such a fashion as to be labor intensive and costly. The first step towards reducing costs is through organization and systems management using technology such as e-filing as is currently used in the federal courts and some circuit courts. There are a variety of ways that the costs at the courthouse might be reduced. Technological advancements are definitely one area for potential cost savings. These programs can lead to greatly improved efficiency, which in turn cut costs. At the Reeds & Reeds offices in Walled Lake, I have implemented new technology to save repetitive and time-wasting jobs to streamline our work product, which leaves more time for personnel to perform other tasks.

2. What have been the most effective methods for improving court procedures and efficiency? What other methods would you suggest?

MacKenzie: Despite being one of the busiest district courts in the state, 52-1 has been a model for changing court procedure to ensure that everyone’s case is heard in a timely manner. When I came to the bench, I inherited 40 pending jury trials. Now every jury trial is set within a month. Our court pioneered the rock-et docket for domestic violence cases and the fast-track arrangement/pretrial program.

Powers: From a practicing attorney’s perspective, the e-filing systems used in some courts are very efficient. Simply put, it saves time and resources for the public, the court and attorneys. I would also like to see the court’s register of actions available online with the ability to order copies of documents in the court’s file online. Again, it saves time and resources for everyone, and it’s convenient.

Reeds: Implementation of the JIS (Judicial Information System), a computer program designed for courts which assists with docketing and organization, was a good first step. However, I understand there is next-generation technology which, if implemented, would increase efficiency. Technology is not the only area where improvements are available. Cost savings can be secured through implementation of procedures designed to reduce time spent handling case files. In some courts, written orders are given to litigants before he/she leaves the courtroom. The clerk prepares the document on the spot, and there’s no need for transferring the file to another clerk to process. Another area for improvement is more efficient docket scheduling. Presently, multiple cases are scheduled at the same time which often results in litigants, witnesses and law enforcement personnel waiting for hours for the case to be “called”. As a small businessman, I’m aware of the need to operate efficiently and cost effectively.

3. What do you perceive as the greatest obstacles to justice, if any?

MacKenzie: In a district court the greatest obstacle to justice is caseload volume. While the current caseload of about 45,000 cases for three judges is well above state average, it is still manageable. I know from experience that a caseload in excess of 60,000 cases impacts on a judge’s ability to provide a litigant in the courtroom with a sense of justice. No person should leave a courtroom thinking that a judge did not have the time or interest to hear their concerns.

Powers: People’s inability to use the courthouse during normal court hours and lack of funds are obstacles to justice. People are often unable to take time off from work because vacation days aren’t available, they’ve started a new job, or they can’t afford the lost wages to appear in court. If they are struggling financially, then they are unable to hire an attorney to appear in court on their behalf. When this happens, most people will choose a path that ensures they don’t have to go to court or that minimizes their court appearance, without regard to justice.

Reeds: Lack of accessibility to court services has become an increasing obstacle to justice. As the costs of litigation and appeals increase, for many people in our community, the district court is the court of last resort. Citizens are imbued with constitutional or statutory rights which can be expensive to exercise. The judge can reduce the cost of litigation by being punctual and hard-working. The reduction in cost will result in justice being achieved and in a strong community feeling that the court is there to serve and provide the necessary time and consideration for the cases that it handles.

4. Do you believe there is such a thing as a "victimless crime?" If so, what offenses would you place in this category?

MacKenzie: A so-called victimless crime is an offense with no apparent victim. The classic example is prostitution, where supposedly both parties consent. But as far as the communities that are served by the 52-1 District Court are concerned, prostitution is not a victimless crime. Once an area of prostitution exists, property values begin to decline and local crime and the drug trade increase. The entire community is effected by this so-called victimless crime.

Powers: There is no such thing as a victimless crime. Someone is always affected by criminal actions, whether it’s a family member, a third party or the community. The judge must determine the degree of impact and sentence fairly and appropriately based on the facts of the case.

Reeds: I believe that all criminal offenses, whether malum in se or malum prohibitum, have at some level a victim, even if it might be society generally. However, a judge must follow the law and, regardless of personal feelings, a crime is a crime because the legislature has so decided. The concept of victimless crimes at the district court usually involve minor in possession of alcohol and pertain to those crimes which are non-violent and have no particular victim. The judge must determine the appropriate punishment at sentencing and consider the impact on the victim. I believe that the punishment should fit the crime, and that the role of a judge is to punish those that deserve it and provide treatment only for those that need it, but with fairness for all. Our community demands protection and deterrence, but everyone who comes before the court should be treated with dignity.

5. Do you ever wake up in the middle of the night thinking about a case, wishing you had handled something differently? If so, please describe one situation.

MacKenzie: I am affected not so much by a particular case, but a way of handling cases. At the start of my time as a judge, I was not as effective in my sentencing as I am now. Over the years, I have developed more effective methods of sentencing that more frequently result in a defendant changing their behavior. For instance, we recently established an opiate court docket that focuses mainly on young women addicted to heroin. The sentencing approach used here is already showing good results.

Powers: Being as passionate about my clients as I am, there are times when this happens to me. The most common situation for me is recollecting testimony from earlier in the day and asking myself, “Should I call this witness or not?” “Will this line of questioning help or hurt the case?” And my favorite, “Is this an issue that the judge will listen to or am I wasting everyone’s time?”

Reeds: Yes. I believe it would be disingenuous for anyone to say that he/she could go through life without ever rethinking a decision. As a judge, decision-making is part of the job, and I am willing to undertake the responsibility of making tough decisions to protect our community. I also believe that acting with dignity and honesty places me, personally and professionally, in the best position to make the right decision most often. Once I make a decision, I am always confident that it was not made without due deliberation. I have always believed in myself, and the times when I wake up in the middle of the night are from concern about the welfare of a client or the family, and not concern that I should have handled the situation differently.

6. Please describe one instance in which you faced an ethical dilemma and how you resolved it.

MacKenzie: As a general rule, if someone I have socialized with is charged with an offense and appears on my courtroom, I disqualify myself. On a more personal level, a few years ago a former defendant contacted the police saying he was in my backyard with a gun. He was actually a few miles away, and the police found and arrested him. Shortly thereafter, I was contacted to see what my thoughts would be about charging him. I said, as a victim, I should not have a role in the charging decision. So, I left it where it belonged – with the police and prosecutor.

Powers: In a civil matter, a client discussed with me the facts of the case and presented me with questionable documentation supporting his position. The client wanted me to present these materials to the court and argue his position based on them. It seemed to me that he was being disingenuous and the veracity of the documentation was questionable as well. It begs the questions of how much due diligence must an attorney use in a case, and how much can he rely on the representations of his client? The dilemma was resolved by using more due diligence and requesting more documentation until I was comfortable that I understood the truth of the matter.

Reeds: One instance where I was confronted with an ethical dilemma involved a client who came to consult with me about a civil case. During the course of the interview, it became clear to me that the case was going to focus on another former client. As this raised a clear conflict of interest, I handled the situation by stopping the interview and referring the client to another attorney.

Kids can get down, dirty at Mud Day on July 8

The Nankin Mills Area of Hines Park will become a mother's worst nightmare when Wayne County Parks turns into sloppy playground from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Tuesday, July 8, for its 26th annual Mud Day.

Parks workers will create a giant 75-foot by 150-foot mud pit where children ages 12 and younger will have the opportunity to get down and dirty in one of the messiest playgrounds southeast Michigan has ever seen.

"Mud Day is a fun, unique and rare annual event that draws international attention," Wayne County Executive Robert Ficano said. "Regardless of the time of year, Wayne County Parks have great opportunities for families to enjoy themselves and create life-long memories."

Thousands of kids will charge into the mud at 11 a.m. Youngsters will be separated into age categories for events, such as "Mud Limbo" and wheelbarrow races, before the 2014 King and Queen of Mud are crowned.

Children should wear old clothes and shoes and bring a clean change of clothes. There are no showers on-site; however, a cleanup area is available with hoses to aid in rinsing off the mud. Parents are also advised to bring a supply of towels. Plastic bags will be provided to ensure that all dirty clothes are properly contained for the trip home.

The Hines Park Nankin Mills Area is located on Hines Drive, east of Ann Arbor Trail in Westland. Sponsors for Mud Day include ITC Holdings, Community Alliance Credit Union, Kroger, CVS, Friends of Wayne County Parks and the Western Wayne County HMRT.

For more information on Mud Day or any other Wayne County Parks event, call 734-261-1990 or visit parks.waynecounty.com.

Ann Arbor Symphony Orchestra coming to Northville Farmers' Market

The Northville Chamber of Commerce is bringing the Ann Arbor Symphony Orchestra to the Northville Farmers' Market on Thursday, July 17. The Ann Arbor Symphony Orchestra's Brass Quintet will perform at the Market at 11 a.m., with an Instrument Petting Zoo throughout the Market hours of 8 a.m.-3 p.m.

The visit is part of "Taste of Music", a three-year program funded by the Community Foundation of Southeast Michigan which moves classical music out of the concert hall and into the community at area farmers' markets.

Children of all ages will have the opportunity to try out real violins, cellos, trumpets and clarinets. Child-sized instruments, along with trained "zookeepers" ensure that even the smallest child will have a successful first instrumental experience. The Northville Farmers' Market is held every Thursday from May to October at the northwest corner of Seven Mile and Center Street.

The Ann Arbor Symphony Orchestra is a regional orchestra offering live, symphonic music for audiences of diverse ages and classical music experiences. The A2SO performs in front of more than 76,000 people every year, from tiny tots to seasoned citizens in venues ranging from the Michigan Theater to Hill Auditorium, as well as schools in the five-county area.

For concert or educational programming information, contact the A2SO by calling 734-994-4801 or e-mailing info@a2so.com. For more information on the Northville Farmers' Market, contact the Northville Chamber of Commerce at 248-349-7640 or visit www.northville.org.

NUECHTERLEIN RONALD R.

Ronald R. Nuechterlein Age 70, of Northville, passed away June 26, 2014 after a battle with a rare form of lymphoma. He was born August 2, 1943 in Frankenmuth, Michigan; son of Richard and Agnes (Hecht) Nuechterlein. He was united in marriage to Penny S. Pennell on July 30, 1966; they spent 47 years together. Ronald spent his childhood in Frankenmuth; he has been a resident of Northville for the past 40 years. He worked as a construction manager for 45 years with various companies and most recently was self-employed. Ron was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Northville for many years; he sang in the choir and shared his fine woodworking skills with the church through many projects he built. He was a member of Midforest Lodge and Detroit Gun Club. Ron was an avid outdoorsman; hunting and fishing were his passion. He was very active and ran marathons for years. He was a family man; cherishing the time he spent with his family, especially his grandkids. He was very outgoing and friendly; enjoyed spending time with his friends, which often included a delicious fish fry. He always had a chainsaw in his hand, either working on his own projects or ready to tackle a challenge anyone else had. Ron was a talented woodworker; his projects often began from a tree in the forest, and transformed into whatever project he was working on. He is survived by his loving wife, Penny S. Nuechterlein; his children, Wendy (Mike) Ripper and Mike (Kerri) Nuechterlein; his siblings, Charlie (Pauline) Nuechterlein and Pauline (Jeff) Johnson; and his grandchildren, Mikayla, Ben, Veronica, and Keegan. He was preceded in death by his parents. A funeral service was held Tuesday, July 1, 2014 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Northville. Pastor Christopher Fairbairn officiated the service. Mr. Nuechterlein was laid to rest at Rural Hill Cemetery. Memorial gifts suggested to Angela Hospice, 14100 Newburgh Road, Livonia, MI 48154, or St. Paul's Lutheran Church – Music Fund, 201 Elm St., Northville, MI 48167. OUR VIEWS

Put safety first this Fourth of July holiday

In January 2012, it became legal for Michigan residents to buy consumer fireworks, such as Roman candles, bottle rockets and other items that leave the ground.

Now the landscape is peppered with an assortment of stores and tents to peddle the pyrotechnics to the public, who wholeheartedly embraced having their own fireworks displays long before state lawmakers made it legal, by buying fireworks in Indiana and Ohio.

But the new found residential banging and booming comes with some rules that some people chose to ignore. For them, celebrating the Fourth of July holiday can start as early as several weeks before the holiday and runs well past. But lawmakers tweaked the law last summer, giving communities the power to restrict the use of aerial fireworks from midnight to 8 a.m. on nine holidays and the days immediately before and after. On New Year's, fireworks are restricted from 1-8 a.m. For the rest of the days of the year, municipalities can restrict fireworks use as they see fit. Violators can face a fine of up to $500.

But beyond the noise factor, care is needed in handling fireworks. Every year, injuries from consumer fireworks send thousands to the emergency room. The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has found that a majority of fireworks-related injuries happen around the Fourth of July holiday. Its data shows that there were more injuries last year than there has been since 2000. There were an estimated 11,400 injuries in 2013, up from 8,700 in 2012 and 9,600 in 2011.

According to the report, children younger than 15 years of age accounted for approximately 30 percent of the estimated injuries. And of the total overall injuries, 12 percent, or 600, were to the eyes. Burns were the most common injury to all parts of the body, except the eyes, where contusions, lacerations and foreign bodies in the eyes occurred more frequently.

Groups like the public health-based organization Prevent Blindness continue to support development and enforcement of bans on the importation, sale and use of all fireworks and sparklers, except for authorized public displays by competent licensed operators. The group believes such bans are the only effective means of eliminating the social and economic impact of fireworks-related trauma and damage.

But such bans may be an uphill battle. The American Pyrotechnics Association reported a record $662 million in personal-use fireworks revenue for last year, compared with $328 million for display fireworks, such as those used at public shows. In Michigan, more than 880 certificates were issued for vendors to sell fireworks this year, up from 727 in 2013 and 704 in 2012, according to the Michigan State Fire Marshal's Office.

So those planning to use fireworks on, before and after the Fourth of July, follow the rules. Find out what the times are for fireworks in your community and follow them. And, do it safely. The Consumer Product Safety Commission offers these safety tips when using fireworks:

- » Never allow young children to play with or ignite fireworks.
 - » Avoid buying fireworks that are packaged in brown paper because this is often a sign that the fireworks were made for professional displays and that they could pose a danger to consumers.
 - » Always have an adult supervise fireworks activities. Parents don't realize that young children suffer injuries from sparklers. Sparklers burn at temperatures of about 2,000 degrees – hot enough to melt some metals. They can cause severe skin burns or ignite clothing.
 - » Never place any part of your body directly over a fireworks device when lighting the fuse. Back up to a safe distance immediately after lighting fireworks.
 - » Never try to re-light or pick up fireworks that have not ignited fully.
 - » Never point or throw fireworks at another person.
 - » Keep a bucket of water or a garden hose handy in case of fire or another mishap.
 - » Light fireworks one at a time, then move back quickly.
 - » Never carry fireworks in a pocket or shoot them off in metal or glass containers.
 - » After fireworks complete their burning, douse the spent device with plenty of water from a bucket or hose before discarding to prevent a fire.
- Put safety first this Fourth of July. Enjoy the parades and picnics, and if you must shoot off fireworks, do it with the utmost care. Fireworks can and do injure, maim and kill, if not handled properly.

Meads Mill myth

The otherwise very informative article by Mr. Gene Scott ("Tour of Hines Drive filled with nature, history," June 26) contained a longstanding myth about the Meads Mill area of Hines Parkway. The stone structure on the river is not the remains of a bell foundry nor any other 19th century industry. It is actually what's left of a 1937 W.P.A. project, designed by Detroit architect Nathaniel O. Gould.

Functionally, the dam structure created a suction basin for a water intake that supplied the nearby Wayne County Training School. However, it was also clearly a decorative feature for the parkway that was being built at the time. To that end, it had an operating five-foot diameter cypress wood waterwheel that did not drive any machinery. Perhaps this was Mr. Gould's tribute to the mills that were once in the vicinity. The design also included a drinking fountain for park visitors.

Not mentioned in Mr. Scott's article is the Cass Benton Comfort Station. This was the first of the Hines comfort stations and, in my opinion, the most impressive. It was built in 1926 in a Tudor revival style on land donated to the county by Cass Benton's widow. Cass had been a state legislator and was the grandson of Gideon P. Benton, one of Northville's first settlers. In the early days, the comfort station was open day and night with attendants on duty. The Benton donation formed the beginning of the parkway.

Extraordinary act of kindness

I just read Kurt Kuban's story "A final resting place" (June 26) about the 59 deceased remains given a final resting place set up by the L.J. Griffin Funeral Homes. It brought a tear to my eye. Everyone deserves respect at the end of their lives and a final resting place. I would like to commend the honor guard from American Legion Post in Livonia and Father Jack Baker and pastor Rob Allen for delivering eulogies.

Finally a big thank you to David Griffin. The extraordinary act of kindness and respect hopefully showed all of us how to do the right things.

Supporting Phil Cavanagh

If you are fed up with Robert Ficano and "politics as usual" in Wayne County, then you need to vote and Phil Cavanagh is by far the best person to get Wayne County back on track.

This election is about many issues that impact our daily lives. For example, if you drive in Wayne County then you need to vote and Phil Cavanagh is by far the best person to get Wayne County back on track.

Phil Cavanagh has the experience and the integrity to make wise and intelligent decisions. He will work for everyone in the county – not just the special interest groups. Phil will be above board and transparent in all his dealings.

I believe that Phil Cavanagh is the best choice for Wayne County Executive.

'Time for a change'

Who is best qualified to fix the mess that Wayne County finds itself in? The first reality is that the winner in November will be a Democrat. The county is over 60 percent Democratic. The winner for all practical purposes will be the candidate who wins the Aug. 5 Democratic primary.

Eleven candidates are listed, but only five have real campaigns and any chance of winning. They are Phil Cavanagh, Warren Evans, Robert Ficano, Kevin McNamara, and Bill Wild.

As part of a Northville Democratic Club screening committee, I recently had the chance to question each of the five in depth on a wide range of county issues. We concluded that Phil Cavanagh was the best qualified candidate, though we noted two other candidates as well qualified.

Mr. Ficano did not make either list. We unanimously concluded that it is time for a change. The county government has squandered around $250 million on poorly conceived and poorly executed projects, including the failed county jail project, over $40 million in cost overruns on the renovation of the Guardian Building, and over $30 million in infrastructure for the Pinnacle Raceway, a horse track southwest of the airport. Also, under Mr. Ficano's watch the county pension funds have plummeted from over 100 percent funded to only 45 percent funded today.

Phil Cavanagh has the education, the experience, the brains, and the integrity to find solutions for what ails the county. He served as a Wayne County commissioner for eight years. And he has served the past two terms in the state Legislature. As commissioner, he consistently raised concerns and opposed the Ficano administration on the aforementioned projects.

Most importantly, Phil Cavanagh has the integrity to run an honest, transparent county government. He and his family have dedicated their lives to public service, and have never brought shame or scandal to their positions. His father, Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, was considered one of the nation's best mayors. His uncle, Michael Cavanagh, has served with distinction on the Michigan State Supreme Court.

Cavanagh worked his own way through University of Detroit Law School. He also studied in the famed Harvard Kennedy School of Public Administration. I was somewhat shocked to learn that two of the other leading candidates lacked even an associate's degree. Wayne County government is a massive $2 billion per year operation. I want a CEO who can at least finish a college degree.

In conclusion, if you agree with me that it is time for a change; time to clean up Wayne County government; please consider Phil Cavanagh as the best qualified candidate.

A banner year

The Northville High School Mustangs will raise yet another banner, that of the state championship girls soccer team, to their already wide variety of victorious proclamations in their west hallway. It has been an amazing year for the Mustangs. The girls cross country team also won a state championship, while many teams won regional (girls cross country, boys cross country, volleyball, girls track and field, girls tennis and girls soccer), district and conference titles (football, girls cross country, boys cross country, baseball, girls soccer, girls track and field, girls tennis and boys lacrosse). All in all, it was a banner year for the Mustangs. JOHN HEIDER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

ALL-AREA BOYS GOLF

Shamrocks freshman Piot leads loaded field

2014 All-Area Player of Year won four tournaments

By Jeff Theisen
 Sports Writer

It's not often a freshman can come along in any sport and create waves like Catholic Central's James Piot did in golf, especially at the Division 1 state finals.

Piot had a monster year with an average of 73.23 for 18 holes while winning four tournaments – Grosse Ile, Forest Akers West, Forest Akers East and the Catholic League.

The 2014 All-Area Player of the Year capped his season by leading the Shamrocks to a runner-up finish at states by tying for sixth place individually, just one stroke out of a five-way playoff for first.

Piot showed incredible consistency by finishing in the top 10 in nine of his 12 matches.

First team
Glenn Piot
Catholic Central

The junior was another strong force with a 75.46 average, including five top-five finishes. He finished tied for first at districts with a 71, tied for third at Grosse Ile with a 73, tied for third at Bedford Valley with a 74 and tied for fifth at regionals with a 74. He shot a pair of 74s at states. He was also captain of the team.

Dominic Mancinelli
Catholic Central

The senior was another model of consistency with seven top-10 finishes. He carded a 74 to tie for third at Bedford Valley for his top round. He shot an even-par first round at state and a 76 on Day 2 for a total of 148. He was also a captain.

Garret Buckley
Novi

The senior filled the No. 1 spot in impressive fashion with a 37.29 average for nine holes and 74.38 for 18. He recorded rounds of 69 at Oakland County, 71 at KLAA Conference and 73 at the Holiday Inn Express, all for medalist honors.

"Garret was honorable mention all-state as a junior and had a better senior year," coach Brad Huss said. "He was all-KLAA for the fourth time and finished tied for fifth at districts.

Catholic Central's James Piot holds the Shamrocks MVP award. The freshman is the 2014 All-Area Player of the Year.

Always Basketball

Former Brazilian pro passes love of hoops to area youth

By Lonnie Huhnan
 Staff Writer

The team at Always Basketball knows basketball. They're offering girls and boys in grades 3-6 a chance to learn about the sport at a new summer camp being held at Northville Community Center.

Led by Northville resident Vitor Imbuzeiro, Always Basketball's summer camp makes its debut in July to give kids a chance to learn the game in a way that leaves everyone feeling good about picking up and dribbling a basketball.

"It's about having fun, but they are also learning the basics and fundamentals at the same time," Imbuzeiro said. "What we teach isn't that difficult to learn, so that's what makes it enjoyable for everyone."

Campers will focus on drills specific to the core elements: passing, ball handling, shooting and defense. The staff of Always Basketball includes current and former professional and college players, as well as coaches and many of their former players.

Imbuzeiro brings a ton of playing and coaching experience himself. Originally from Brazil, he played professionally there and then went on to coach youth and high school teams, and it was overseas where he permanently caught the coaching bug.

"After I finished my professional playing career, I was invited to go to Japan and coach high school level over there," he recalls. "What was scheduled to be a three year program turned into an 11-year run with four state tournament titles and five bids to the national tournament."

It was also in Japan that he met his wife, who is from Michigan,

BUCKINGHAM WINS STATE'S TOP HONOR

Miss Soccer award caps stellar high school career

By Sam Eggleston

It's been one heck of a year for Northville girls soccer players, coaches and fans, but it's been especially notable for senior Megan Buckingham.

Buckingham, who was named the Hometown Newspapers All-Area

Player of the Year as well as Michigan's Player of the Year by Gatorade, added to her accolades with the state's top honor — the Miss Soccer award.

The award, which is determined by the Michigan High School Soccer Coaches Association, is given to the best player in the state.

"It's just sort of rewarding to get the recognition for the work I've put in," said Buckingham when asked about the honor. But, in Buckingham style, she was quick to give credit elsewhere. "I could not have done it without my support system."

That system, which includes Buckingham's parents, teammates, coaches and more, has been with her for the World champion triathlete overcomes disability

By Dan O'Meara
Staff Writer

Aaron Scheidies has never allowed his disability to discourage him or stop him from achieving what he wanted to do in athletics.

Despite being nearly blind, the 32-year-old former Farmington resident has become a world champion triathlete and an inspiration to people worldwide.

Scheidies, who now lives in Seattle, is training and hoping to qualify for the 2016 Paralympics in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

It will be the first time the triathlon is included in the competition, which will follow the Olympics Games in early September.

Scheidies competed recently in the Dallas and Chicago triathlons for impaired athletes, both of which afforded him major points toward his qualifying goal.

He also had taken to doing marathons. He has run the Boston and California marathons the last three years and could possibly qualify in that event for the Paralympics.

Scheidies will do five more triathlons this year and the New York City Marathon in November as part of his two-year "Road to Rio" effort.

In addition to winning a gold medal in 2016, Scheidies' other great ambition is to win an ESPY Award. He came close in 2011 when he was a finalist.

"An ESPY is like the academy award of sport," he said. "Anybody can be nominated. I was up for Best Male Athlete with a Disability. It's a world type of thing."

"It was pretty much the experience of a lifetime. I went to the ceremony in Los Angeles. I'd like to win it next time."

Scheidies, who graduated from Farmington High School in 2000, earned an undergraduate degree from Michigan State and then a doctorate in physical therapy from the University of Washington in 2008.

Broadens horizons

While he still works in that field with geriatric patients, his success as an impaired triathlete

Aaron Scheidies high-fives well-wishers during a para-triathlon competition. CDIFFERENT WITH AARON spawned another career in public speaking.

With the help of a manager, Scheidies has traveled the country to give inspirational talks, including appearances at NASA and with the Young Presidents, an organization of young entrepreneurs.

"I talk about how I live my life and have gotten to where I am, about having a good attitude," he said. "It filters to being an inspirational and motivational type speech."

"I get a lot of emails from people who found out they were losing their vision, or they're a blind, impaired individual who wants to get into athletics and they reach out to me because I've had a lot of success."

"It's nice to be able to impact people and help them figure out ways to get through it and not look at it as a death sentence or something negative but find the good things in it."

"It's one of the things I like most about being an athlete, being a role model for people and inspiring people."

He's a writer, too

Scheidies also is active in social media. He maintains a website (cdifferentwithaaron.com) and writes a blog that was picked up by the Huffington Post and can be accessed via his web page (/throughmyeyes).

"My website is my movement to change society's perception of the blind and impaired community – what they can do and how they live their lives," he said.

"I've substantially increased what I do. I'm moving toward writing a book here at some point when I can get some time."

"The subject will be about living life as a blind person and finding ways to succeed and be resilient. I haven't outlined it yet; I've just thought about it in my head."

When his vision was last classified, it was 20/600, but it has gotten worse, Scheidies said, adding he sees mostly blurry blocks. He can see the 'E' on an eye chart from a foot away.

When he does triathlons or runs marathons, Scheidies does so with the help of a guide, as do the other visually impaired athletes.

He and the guide are tethered at the waist for the swimming and running portions, and the guide takes the front seat on a tandem bicycle for the biking competition. Ben Collins was his guide in the Chicago triathlon.

"He's pretty much like my eyes on the course," Scheidies said. "He swims the course like he's swimming on his own. I feel a tug on the bungy-chord tether to nudge me to go the other way."

Changes in the sport

The sports is evolving, however, and Scheidies is trying to keep up with the changes and increased competition.

A handicap system was introduced this year. Partially but legally blind athletes start 3 minutes and 43 seconds after completely blind individuals.

"The Paralympics are becoming a more elite level type of competition around the world," Scheidies said. "They're trying to make it as fair as possible."

"It's not exactly accurate. Three-forty-three is way too much. It's not a good statistic. They'll change it before the Paralympics."

"The sport is really growing and they want it to be a headline event in the Paralympics. They see a lot of promise in triathlon as a spotlight event, and they want people to watch it."

Consequently, the length of a race has been cut in half. Swimming is now 750 meters; the biking and running elements are 20 and five kilometers, respectively.

Scheidies, who began doing triathlons in 2000 and was president of the triathlon club at MSU, has won four world championships. Four were won at the short-course distance, four at the half-ironman distance.

"They've made it a sprint event," he said. "It's more spectator friendly. It's real close competition, that type of stuff. It's all about what the media and TV want."

"It's going to a shorter, faster race and I'm getting older. I'm really having to get back to training my anaerobic system more than (was necessary for) the longer stuff I was doing."

Big accomplishment

Scheidies achieved a major career objective in 2008 when he became the first para-triathlete to break two hours in an Olympic distance race.

"That was a cool experience," he said. "It was special because it was breaking down barriers and showing even someone with vision impairment could compete on an elite level."

His best time at that distance is 1:57:24. That was double the distance he does now. His times on the shorter course are around one hour.

"I have broken an hour in the sprint distance triathlon," he said. "It depends how long the transitions are, how far I have to run from the water to the transition area."

Swimming is still the favorite and best event for Scheidies, who was a swimmer and runner in high school. Running is his strongest event.

"I'm still better than the average triathlete at swimming," he said. "Triathletes tend not to be good swimmers. That's what makes me a pretty good triathlete. I'm pretty well rounded in all three."

Trying to stay on top

Scheidies said he continued to get faster until a couple years ago, but age and injuries have made it difficult to continue performing at the same level.

"I've done pretty well because I was already at a really high level with respect to the competition," he said, adding the biggest challenge nowadays is the recovery time between races and not getting injured.

"They're easier because I've done so many of them. They're not easier because I'm still pushing myself to the limit."

"A lot of times it can be a challenge finding a guide, finding people to train with and ride a tandem with, because I can't just go out and ride on my own."

In the big scheme of things, Scheidies has done very well on his own, however.

Hurricanes snag Nedeljkovic

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

Mike Vellucci saw goalie Alex Nedeljkovic play enough with his old team — the Plymouth Whalers — to make sure he gets to see him in the future with his new one, the NHL's Carolina Hurricanes.

Vellucci, the longtime coach and general manager of the Whalers from Farmington Hills who recently was hired as assistant GM and director of hockey operations by the Hurricanes, undoubtedly was a catalyst behind the team selecting Nedeljkovic early in Saturday's second round (37th overall) at the NHL Entry Draft in Philadelphia.

"It's very surreal right now," said the 18-year-old Nedeljkovic during a Saturday afternoon telephone call. "You grow up, you dream of getting drafted and getting an opportunity to play on an NHL team."

"It's still kicking in right now that my dreams are just starting to become reality."

Nedeljkovic added that it was thrilling to pull a red Hurricanes' jersey over his head and "amazing and incredible that Coach Mike thinks so highly of me that he tried to push as much as he did to get me drafted by Carolina."

The native of Parma, Ohio, heard his name called at Wells Fargo Center one pick after the Vancouver Canucks selected netminder Thatcher er Demko of Boston College.

Both Nedeljkovic and Demko are clients of Stan Matwijiw, who is goaltending coach for the Ontario Hockey League's Whalers as well as founder and director of Bandits Goalie School.

"I'm having a wonderful day," Matwijiw said. "I had back-to-back, 36 and 37. Thatcher Demko is also one of my guys, so it was a pretty special day for me, pretty emotional."

"I can't even put it into words how proud I am of Ned and of Thatcher, and all the hard work they put in over the years toward their game. To see them get called this early is extremely, extremely special and I can't even begin to tell you how proud I am of both of them."

Both Matwijiw and new Plymouth GM Mark Craig praised Vellucci's hockey acumen and noted that Vellucci's influence from watching Nedeljkovic with the Whalers had a definite impact on the choice.

"I'm sure Mike had influence," said Craig, who also attended the draft. "But certainly, Ned in the second round, we pretty much knew that if he was available in the second, we were pretty sure that Carolina was going to grab him. I mean, that's really a good pick. That's a great pick."

"Especially after Thatcher Demko went it didn't surprise me at all. I'm sure Mike had influence, but he (Nedelj-kovic) is just such a great kid. He's just got everything. That's the nice part."

No doubt

Chiming in about Nedeljkovic going to Vellucci's new team was Matwijiw. The Hurricanes and Whalers both are owned by Peter Karmanos.

"Look, Mike is a very smart hockey man," Matwijiw said. "Obviously, he was the one that played Ned the 65 games this year (2013-14) and gave him that workload. He knew that boy could play."

"And I think there was no choice that if Alex was around at 37 that they weren't going to draft him."

The first goalie picked in the seven-round draft was Mason McDonald by the Calgary Flames, with the 34th selection. Then came Demko and Nedeljkovic in rapid fashion.

But Matwijiw said the goalie nicknamed "Ned" definitely would still have been picked by Vellucci and new Carolina GM Ron Francis even if the other two goalies were still available.

"Hats off to Mike, he's already starting to make his mark with the Carolina Hurricanes and what a mark it is," Matwijiw continued. "Because he (Nedeljkovic) is a very, very, very special talent."

"There is no doubt in my mind that Alex Nedeljkovic will be an NHL goalie."

Nedeljkovic, the 2013

Ontario Hockey League Goaltender of the Year and the fourth-rated goalie overall by NHL Central Scouting entering the draft, has two full seasons left with the Whalers.

That means Whalers fans will still have the chance to go to Compuware Arena to catch a glimpse of Nedeljkovic's netminding brilliance.

He stopped over 2,000 shots last season, posting a 2.88 goals-against average and .925 save percentage while almost single-handedly leading the Whalers into the playoffs for a league-record 23rd consecutive year.

Four others picked

The Nedeljkovic pick wasn't the only good news to come out of Wells Fargo Center for the Whalers.

Also drafted by Vellucci's Hurricanes was Plymouth Whalers defenseman Josh Wesley (fourth round, 96th overall).

Taken in the third round were Whalers right wing Connor Chat-ham (71st overall, New Jersey) and defenseman Alex Peters (75th overall, Dallas).

A fifth Whalers player selected was left wing Matt Misteles, taken by the Los Angeles Kings with the 180th pick overall (last pick of the sixth round). Plymouth defenseman Yannick Rathgeb was not drafted.

The four-year letter winner shot a 1-under-par 143 at the state finals to finish tied for ninth. It capped an average of 76.36 for the year. Pahl also shot a 76 at regionals and a 75 at districts. He tied for third at the KLAA Association tournament with a 77.

Andrew Sarokin Northville

The senior averaged 37 for nine holes and 78 for 18. He earned KLAA all-conference honors, was district champ and earned Team MVP honors three years in a row. He also recorded four top-10 finishes. He will continue his career at Oakland University.

"The true No. 1 player on my team," coach Jeff Balagna said. "He played his best golf on the biggest stages throughout his career. He is one of the hardest working players I have ever coached, he was never satisfied with his game and was always looking to improve. I always felt comfortable that he was going to put up a good number — just as steady as they come."

So what's next for the state's best player? A career away from the state, actually. Buckingham will continue her career at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

"(Going to UNC) has always been a dream of mine and if I wasn't going to play soccer I would still want to be in that environment, so it was an easy choice for me," said Buckingham.

Buckingham will use her athletic scholarship to help her study business while playing for the Tar Heels.

As new memories are being made at the NCAA Division I level, Buckingham will no doubt reflect on her career in Michigan, and the friends and soccer family she has made along the way.

"My favorite memory is probably a montage of all the trips I take with my best friends and teammates," she said.

"Soccer is what brings us together, but we bring the best out of each other on and off the field, which is what I love most. The best memories come with smiles."

Oakland leads in job growth

Oakland County's job growth since 2010 has outpaced other key counties of similar population around the United States, Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson announced.

"Oakland County plays a significant role in Michigan's economic recovery because of our deep dive into the knowledge-based economy," Patterson said. "And from the looks of it, we are a leader in the nation as well."

The May 2014 jobs figures from the Bureau of Labor and Statistics indicate that Oakland County's labor force increased by 5,600 participants to 594,916 and the number of employed residents grew by 2,800. Because of more participation in Oakland County's work force, the May unemployment figure for Oakland County is 6.9 percent, up from 6.5 percent in April.

In an effort to diversify the economy, Patterson launched Oakland County's Emerging Sectors initiative in 2004 to identify the top 10 sectors that will attract

COMPARISON

Oakland County has 11 percent more jobs than it had in 2010, said Dan Riley, a market research analyst in the Department of Economic Development & Community Affairs. Using the May 2014 jobs numbers just released by the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), Riley compared Oakland County to other counties of similar size — the same ones to which the University of Michigan compares Oakland County in its annual economic outlook report: (County and percentage more jobs since 2010)

- » Oakland County, Mich. — 11 percent
- » Wake County, N.C. — 10 percent
- » Macomb County, Mich. — 9.4 percent
- » DuPage County, Ill. — 7.9 percent
- » Hennepin County, Minn. — 6.6 percent
- » Orange County, Calif. — 6.2 percent
- » Fairfield County, Conn. — 3.9 percent
- » Nassau County, N.Y. — 2.4 percent
- » Fairfax County, Va. — 2.3 percent
- » Montgomery County, Md. — 2.2 percent

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Cooper Standard enters into agreement

Novi-based Cooper Standard Holdings Inc., the parent company of Cooper Standard Automotive Inc., announced that Cooper Standard has entered into an agreement with Halla Visteon Climate Control Corp. to sell HVCC its thermal and emissions product line. The company said the sale allows Cooper Standard to focus on the product lines where it holds a leading market position and can gain the greatest competitive advantage.

"A strategic decision was made to divest our thermal and emissions product line and allow the company to focus resources on our four core product groups: sealing and trim, fuel and brake delivery, fluid transfer and anti-vibration systems," said Jeffrey Edwards, chairman and CEO, Cooper Standard. "We will work closely with HVCC to ensure a smooth transition."

Cooper Standard products, including exhaust gas recirculation modules, electronic coolant pumps and valves, electronic wastegate actuators and electronic throttle bodies, as well as related assets from operations in North America, Germany, France and the Czech Republic along with certain engineering and other resources in North America and Germany are intended to transfer to existing HVCC locations over the next several months as a part of the transaction.

The sale is subject to adjustment, certain regulatory and other approvals and is expected to be finalized in the third quarter of 2014.

ITC share repurchase program

ITC Holdings Corp. has entered into an accelerated share repurchase program (ASR) with JPMorgan Chase Bank, National Association for up to $150 million of the company's common stock. The ASR is part of ITC's board-approved share repurchase program authorizing the repurchase of up to $250 million through Dec. 31, 2015, as originally announced on April 15.

"This ASR demonstrates ITC's commitment to our balanced capital allocation strategy and how our model aligns the ability to invest and grow the business for the benefit of customers while also delivering value to investors," said Joseph L. Welch, chairman, president and CEO. "We remain focused on preserving our credit quality and financial flexibility to reinvest back in the business while also maintaining a strong balance sheet and delivering returns to investors."

Under the terms of the ASR, ITC has agreed to repurchase up to $150 million of its common stock from JPMorgan in total with an initial delivery of approximately 2.9 million shares based on current market prices. The final number of shares to be repurchased will be based on the volume-weighted average share price of the company's common stock during the term of the transaction, which is expected to be completed by year-end 2014.

Retail forecasts rise despite sluggish May sales

Michigan retailers' outlook rose to its most optimistic level in more than nine years in May, following sluggish sales that didn't keep pace with April's post-winter surge, according to the Michigan Retail Index, a joint project of Michigan

Retailers Association and the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

Retailers' 90-day sales forecasts rose more than five points in May after shooting up by 11 points in April.

"We expected sales to keep rising in May after a strong rebound in April. Instead, they fell off," said James P. Hallan, MRA president and CEO. "Retailers' optimism continued rising anyway, likely because they know the economy is improving and consumers should be willing to spend."

The May survey of MRA members showed 30 percent of retailers increased sales over the same month last year, while 46 percent recorded declines and 24 percent reported no change. The results create a seasonally adjusted performance index of 47.7, down from 51.1, in April. A year ago May the Index stood at 54.9.

The 100-point Index gauges the performance of the state's overall retail industry, based on monthly surveys conducted by MRA and the Federal Reserve. Index values above 50 generally indicate positive activity; the higher the number, the stronger the activity.

Looking forward, 63 percent of retailers expect sales during June-August to increase over the same period last year, while 8 percent project a decrease and 29 percent no change. That puts the seasonally adjusted outlook index at 79.3, up from 73.9 in April and the highest since November 2004. A year ago May, the Index stood at 76.6.

ICSC selects six communities

The Michigan cities of Marquette, Ferndale, Westland, Bay City, Brighton and Port Huron have been selected by the International Council of Shopping Centers to participate on the Municipal Runway at the 44th annual Michigan Idea Exchange & Alliance Program on July 24, from 8:45-9:30 a.m. at the Suburban Collection Showcase in Novi. These communities were selected following a two-month, statewide competition because of their best practices in crafting public/private partnerships that have attracted capital, created jobs and raised the tax base in their communities.

Signature sells space in Novi

Signature Associates has negotiated the sale of 33,025 square feet of industrial space located at 22285 Roethel Drive, Novi.

Steve Kozak and Steve Gordon of Signature Associates represented the seller, Graham Clements Management, LLC. Kozak also represented the purchaser, Shastco, LLC.

Pho Lucky coming to Novi

Pho Lucky, one of metro Detroit's favorite little Vietnamese noodle shops, is opening a second location with far more seating — and parking.

The new restaurant on Grand River at Haggerty in Novi will accommodate about 100 guests, compared to about 30 in the original location on Joy Road in Redford Township, said owner Cong Nguyen. He plans to open on July 7, the Monday after the Fourth of July weekend.

Pho — pronounced FUH — and considered the national dish of Vietnam — is made with a flavorful clear broth, flat rice noodles and the diner's choice of meat, usually beef. Cilantro and green onions are often served on top, with a side plate of fresh herbs, lime wedges and bean sprouts added to taste.

Prop 1 good for business

A broad-based group of supporters, including Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson, AARP Michigan Volunteer State President Tom Kimble, small business owners and other community leaders, urged a yes vote on Proposal 1 on the Aug. 5 ballot, which would solve two problems at once without a tax increase on anyone. Proposal 1 would eliminate the double tax on local small businesses and it would stabilize local communities by dedicating 100 percent reimbursement of the estimated revenue lost from the Personal Property Tax (PPT) for police, fire, ambulances, jails, schools, roads, libraries and other community services. Eliminating the Personal Property Tax is expected to create up to 15,000 jobs and $450 million in additional investment. Proposal 1 is not a tax increase. It is paid for by eliminating special corporate tax breaks the legislature has voted to end, and by establishing a statewide Essential Services Assessment paid only by manufacturers receiving a PPT reduction.

MICHIGAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Smoke alarm use focus of fire prevention effort

The National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) June 9 announced “Working Smoke Alarms Save Lives: Test Yours Every Month!” as the theme for Fire Prevention Week 2014, Oct. 5-11. As the official sponsor of Fire Prevention Week for more than 90 years, NFPA announced the theme at its 2014 Conference and Expo in Las Vegas.

“Smoke alarms can make a life-saving difference in a fire, but they need to be working,” said Lorraine Carli, NFPA’s vice president of Outreach and Advocacy. “Unfortunately, many home fire deaths result from fires where a smoke alarm is present but does not operate. This year’s Fire Prevention Week theme focuses on motivating people to test their smoke alarms each month to make sure they’re working properly.”

According to NFPA statistics:

- » Having a working smoke alarm in the home cuts the risk of dying in a fire in half.
- » On average each year, three out of five home fire deaths result in fires where there are either no smoke alarms or no working smoke alarms.

“Smoke alarms can make a life-saving difference in a fire, but they need to be working.”

LORRAINE CARLI

National Fire Protection Association’s vice president of Outreach and Advocacy

- » In one-quarter (23 percent) of the home fire deaths, smoke alarms were present but did not sound.

“Nearly 3,000 people continue to die in fires each year, with most of those deaths occurring in homes,” said Carli. “The vast majority of home fire deaths are preventable, and working smoke alarms play a big role in helping reduce those numbers.”

NFPA recommends:

- » Installing smoke alarms inside every bedroom, outside each sleeping area and on every level of the home, including the basement.
- » Testing all smoke alarms every month by using the test button.
- » Replacing all smoke alarms every 10 years or sooner if they don’t respond properly when tested.

Fire Prevention Week occurs annually in October during the week in which Oct. 9 falls, commemorating the Great Chicago Fire of 1871. Each year, NFPA works in coordination with partnering companies, organizations and fire departments to promote Fire Prevention Week and its fire safety messages throughout North America.

For more information on Fire Prevention Week and this year’s campaign theme, “Working Smoke Alarms Save Lives: Test Yours Every Month!”, visit www.fpw.org.

NFPA is a worldwide leader in fire, electrical, building, and life safety. The mission of the international non-profit organization founded in 1896 is to reduce the worldwide burden of fire and other hazards on the quality of life by providing and advocating consensus codes and standards, research, training, and education. NFPA develops more than 300 codes and standards to minimize the possibility and effects of fire and other hazards. All NFPA codes and standards can be viewed at no cost at www.nfpa.org/freeaccess.

Tax or real estate lawyer can explain exemption changes

Q: I have heard that Michigan has amended its general property tax as it relates to additional exemptions. Do you have any information?

A: Yes, the amendments discontinue a short-term exemption from school operating taxes for new construction on development property, replacing it with an exemption for both the underlying real property and the structure. They exempt from school operating taxes the development property on which a formerly exempt new construction was located, for limited periods, to the same extent as provided for a principal residence under other state statutes. “Development” property means real property on which rests a residential dwelling, condominium, or other residential structure that has never been occupied, has been available for sale, has never been leased, and has never been used for any business or commercial purpose (except as an onsite office in a specified development). You are best advised to consult with your tax or real estate lawyer in connection with this new legislation.

Q: I am selling my condo for a substantial gain, but I have concerns about the taxes I will have to pay. The association has made substantial improvements to the condominium since I have owned my unit. Is there any way to incorporate those improvements to reduce my tax liability?

A: Yes. As a condominium co-owner, you have a percentage ownership interest in the entire condominium. Correspondingly, you have a percentage interest in the capital improvements to the condominium. The dollar amount of that percentage interest can be added to the tax basis of the unit when calculating the gains attributable to the sale of the unit, reducing your tax liability.

Robert M. Meisner is a lawyer and the author of “Condo Living 2: An Authoritative Guide to Buying, Selling and Operating a Condominium.” It is available for $24.95, plus $5.55 for tax, shipping and handling. “Condo Living 2” is available in both print and e-book editions. The e-book is available for download through iTunes, Amazon.com and barnesandnoble.com. He is also the author of “Condominium Operation: Getting Started & Staying on the Right Track,” second edition. Assessment of new physician jobs: Specialists represent untapped talent

By Angela Rose
HEALTHeCAREERS.com

Physician's considering a transition into retirement, looking for part-time work, or just exploring other options, will find one discipline in extremely high demand.

Are you a retired surgeon who wants to start seeing patients again? Perhaps you've spent years as a dermatologist or rheumatologist and would now like to grow your specialty practice by including general family medical care.

Maybe you've been dreaming of transitioning to part-time work in a medical field where doctors are in extremely high demand. If any of these situations—or innumerable others—describes yours, you may want to consider a move to primary care.

Shortage in primary care

Primary care physicians—particularly those in family medicine—are in short supply and many experts predict they will only become more so in the coming years. In fact, a 2012 study published in the Annals of Family Medicine estimated the primary care physician shortage will reach 51,025 by 2025. A number of factors are contributing to the problem, from more than 10,000 Baby Boomers turning 65 every day to increased access to preventative healthcare for millions of Americans under the Affordable Care Act. Additionally, while the Association of American Medical Colleges predicts medical school enrollment will increase 30 percent between 2002 and 2017, too many new medical students choose sub-specialties over primary care fields.

A cap on federal financing for residency programs has compounded the issues, making it impossible for many medical school graduates to complete the final portion of their training necessary to practice medicine.

It's easy to see why many healthcare employers are desperate to hire family medicine physicians and other primary care staff. A recent nationwide survey of hospitals and medical groups by one staffing firm found 31 percent of respondents intended to increase their medical staff with primary care doctors. Many will look at untapped sources of talent as they search for candidates, and retired specialists and other physicians looking to make a career change are exactly that.

Online transition program

Becoming a family medicine physician after a successful career in another specialty doesn't require a return to medical school. Last year Dr. Leonard Glass, a retired reconstructive and plastic surgeon, launched an online course designed to make it simple for specialists to transition to primary care. Doctors—from those currently practicing to those who have retired yet retained their medical licenses—can refresh and deepen their family medicine skills through the 100-hour web-based Physician Retraining & Reentry program.

The program features a curriculum developed by professors at the UC San Diego School of Medicine and covers everything a doctor might see in a primary care setting. Each of the 15 units includes pre and post-tests, and physicians must pass a final online exam covering the entire curriculum before completing a final practicum at the UC San Diego primary care simulation lab. The reward for successful completion of the program is 100 credits in continuing medical education, new family medicine job opportunities, and a chance to help alleviate the primary care physician shortage.

If you are interested in enrolling in the Physician Retraining & Reentry program, visit the website to schedule a free consultation. And when you're ready to search for your new family medicine position, remember you'll find thousands of opportunities at hospitals and clinics nationwide on HEALTHeCAREERS Network.
