Allen Drive, Novi Street area getting more sewer fixes

By Lonnie Huhman
Staff Writer

The city of Northville will be doing additional work this spring to ensure there will be no further sanitary sewer backups into homes along Allen Drive and Novi Street neighborhoods. Northville City Council awarded a contract for the Allen Drive Sanitary Sewer Modifications Project to Rowe Professional Services Co. in the amount of $33,972.

Gallogly

City of Northville Public Works Director Jim Gallogly said following a 2011 rain event, which resulted in sanitary sewer backups into homes along Allen Drive and Novi Street, the city undertook an engineering investigation as to what steps could be taken to prevent backups in the future.

Following this study he said Public Works made improvements to the existing sanitary sewer system in the area which will significantly reduce or eliminate storm water and ground water infiltration into the sanitary sewer pipes in this area.

"It is believed that this work solved the capacity problems experienced in our sanitary sewers in this part of the city," Gallogly said. "However, beyond the improvements already made, it is proposed that an existing overflow pipe, which discharges into the North Huron Rouge Valley Sanitary Sewer System, be enlarged to provide additional assurance that the backups experienced in 2011 will

Rotary placing six little libraries around community

By Lonnie Huhman

The Northville Rotary Club's Little Free Library project is coming along well, and there will soon be six of them set up around the community to give interested readers an opportunity to find good reads – or share a few.

A Little Free Library is a gathering place where community members share their favorite literature and stories with a box full of books where anyone can stop by and pick up a book or two and bring back another to share.

"Rotary is really excited about the Little Free Library project and that it is on track," Rotary member John Kelly said.

Rotary members and their families met at Home Depot in Northville last month and constructed six Little Free Libraries. Home Depot generously furnished all the supplies, tools and lumber pre-cut to the plans. They even had several workers helping them along the way.

City's brush collection rules changed

By Lonnie Huhman
Staff Writer

Residents in the city of Northville have a new option in getting rid of a brush pile in their yard.

The Northville City Council on Monday approved a contract change order with Waste Management increasing the contract amount by $45,000 per year, which will be accompanied by some changes in how homeowners can get dispose of unwanted brush in a way that isn't so back breaking.

"City staff has looked at the possibility of providing a curbside collection program where brush will no longer need to be bundled. This would make it easier for residents to dispose of their brush," Northville Public Works Director Jim Gallogly told council.

Changes

Prior, residents would have to bundle branches that could be no bigger than four feet in length with a similar diameter. That's changed to six feet in length and six in diameter.

Piles still need to be neatly placed at the curb. The entire set of guidelines will be detailed on an upcoming water bill for residents.

The city's program was a weekly brush collection during the months of April through November. That's also changed; it will now be year-round.

"This program required residents to wrap their brush with twine/rope into bundles four feet in length, which many of our residents choose not to do," according to Gallogly. "As such, the back yards of properties in our neighborhoods tend to fill up with piles of brush, which are unsightly, but more importantly, present a fire hazard to our community."

Another new guideline states that should the city suffer an ice not happen again.”

In addition to enhancing the capacity of the sewer system in this area, Gallogly said the city is also looking at spot repairs to the existing sanitary sewer line in Allen Drive which was found to have significant dips and irregularities.

The plan is to have a larger diameter relief sewer be constructed to replace the current one on the north side of Novi Road, east of Novi Street.

“This sewer will have a backflow preventer on it to prevent any flows from the county’s 42-inch interceptor sewer from backing up into our community,” Gallogly said.

“In addition, a spot repair will be made on the existing sewer on Allen drive to eliminate a large dip in the line, and backflow preventers will also be considered for two houses on Novi Street.”

or wind storm, a special collection could be implemented to collect debris from any downed trees.

And instead of picking up bulk brush and placing it into a truck to haul away, the brush will now be chipped into a truck on the street and then removed.

“This minimizes trucking cost and most efficiently removes this solid waste material from our community,” Gallogly told council.

Cost

Overall, the changes save money and time. Residents won't see a rate increase just yet because in the city's current fund balance in the residential portion of the City's Solid Waste Fund covers this increase cost for April, May and June, allowing this new program to begin the first full week of April.

However, come July the city will look to initiate a slight rate increase to cover the expanded service.

“To cover this increase in cost to our solid waste program, it will be necessary to raise the city's residential solid waste fees as part of the city's annual budget process. A $45,000 program added to our residential collection program will result in an increase to each customer of $1.71 per month,” according to Gallogly.

He added this enhanced service is not intended to replace the private contracting of tree and brush removal, as the city intends to continue to hold contractors responsible for the disposal of brush, limbs and other debris resulting from professional tree cutting and pruning activities.

“This program is being designed to assist private property owners who's trees may have been impacted by a storm event, or to assist them with brush removal they perform incidental tree trimming/removals on their property,” Gallogly said.

“Home Depot and their staff were terrific, and Rotary extends a big thank you,” Kelly said.

The libraries are now being painted, weather-sealed and decorated. They should be up soon. Kelly said the specific locations haven't been named yet, but they are looking at locations in the Northville community that are primarily pedestrian with accessible car parking. He said many people in the community have contacted Rotary about the placement of the libraries.

“The library location should be easily accessible so that books can be replenished as needed and the library can be maintained,” he said.

They are considering Ford Field and the walkway in the front of Northville Township Hall as possible locations, and the Rotary is also looking for help and advice.

“We welcome anyone who would like to assist in the stocking and maintenance of the libraries,” Kelly said.

Renovations at Smoky’s include liquor license and new bar area

By Lonnie Huhman
Staff Writer

Smoky’s Northville Cigar Bar and Lounge has completed its renovations, and a new bar area gives this local favorite even more appeal.

Owner Teresa Jaafar has wanted for awhile to add on to the lounge at the shop, which is located in the Highland Lakes Shopping Plaza off Seven Mile Road. Now it’s completed and she wants the community to stop by and check it out – and maybe have a drink with their fine cigar.

“We’re very excited about this,” she said standing next to the bar. “It adds a new detail that many of our customers have wanted and are happy to see.”

Five years ago, Jaafar bought the cigar shop which was Trader Tom’s for 30 years. Since then she has worked to maintain what makes it a great shop while also trying to make it better. Getting a liquor license and adding the bar not only appeals to customers, but it also diversifies the longtime shop.

There has always been a wide variety of cigars. There are so many that Jaafar has sort of lost count. The shop’s walk-in humidor and selection of premium brands, such as Padron, has made it a destination. The ventilation system is state-of-the-art, giving those wishing to hang out but not smoke a cigar a comfortable setting.

The lounge area which has been expanded into the bar area can only be described as comfy and relaxing. It has leather-bound chairs that are roomy and inviting with a bar that can sit up to six people. The handful of televisions also makes it a great place to watch sports.

The bar is fully stocked with beer, featuring a variety of craft brews, liquor and wine. Jaafar said since it’s so new they are taking suggestions from customers for potential ideas to add to the selection.

There will be an official grand opening in the next month at the 43249 W. Seven Mile Road locale, which can be reached at 248-348-8333.

Two CC robotics teams capture state crown

Last month was a great one for Shamrocks robotics, as two Detroit Catholic Central VEX robotics teams partnered with a team from Haslett to roll through the state tournament and be named state champion.

Team 2030C from Catholic Central High School was the No. 1 seed in the tournament and selected No. 3-ranked Haslett as its first ally, followed by Team 2030A, also from Catholic Central.

The three-team alliance then competed against seven other groups, all composed of teams ranking in the top 40 in the state. The CC/Haslett/CC combo proved to be a great one, as it scored a state record 84 points on its way to the title.

Team 2030B from Catholic Central was also competing in the tournament as part of the No. 2-ranked alliance, which was unfortunately knocked out of the tournament in the first round.

Co-coaches Ben Ahronheim and Heather Vingsness said they are very proud of all three teams, which have competed well all season.

Another highlight of the year was a win at the Central Toronto VRC Qualifying Event earlier this month, where CC partnered with its Basilian Brothers at St. Michael's College School on the way to victory. The next step for the teams will be the world championships, which will be held in Kentucky in April.

The Detroit Catholic Central High robotics team celebrated its state championship with a group photo including all three Shamrocks squads.

Novi High School's fifth annual International Talent Show will be held at 7 p.m. Friday, March 20, in the auditorium. All proceeds are donated this year to Doctors Without Borders to aid in the fight against the spread of ebola. More than 300 people attended last year's event, which raised almost $2,000 for The International Justice Mission.

The show will feature Novi High School students performing in acts representing various countries. Some of the many acts include dances, soloists, instrumentals and more. Following the performances, a food court will be set up where attendees can sample international foods.

The production was organized by Novi High School's IB Diploma candidates as part of their CAS (creativity, activity and service) requirement for earning the IB diploma. The students planned all aspects of the show from recruiting to advertising, ticket and program preparation, and emcee duties. In addition, many of the IB students are performing in the show under the direction of their staff coordinator Barbara Clift.

Tickets are $7 per person and can be purchased at the door.

Wildcats win medals

Five Novi High School students are National Medalists in the largest art and writing competition in the nation: Rylie Butner, silver medal, ceramics; Jacob Carlson, silver, digital art; Lauren Kim, silver, painting; Jeffrey Wan, silver, design, and gold, design art.

Southeast Michigan had 24 award winners; Novi High School was the second highest high school with the most earned medals.

The top 2,000 works in the country earned National Medals and will be celebrated at a ceremony June 11 at Carnegie Hall. There will be an ongoing exhibition at the U.S. Department of Education and the President's Committee on the Arts and the Humanities. In addition, National Medalist art and writing will also be displayed in cities across the U.S., as part of the ART.WRITE.NOW national touring exhibition.

Novi School District calendar.

The GSRP program uses the High Scope Curriculum. This curriculum supports the children learning through hands-on activities and follows the state of Michigan Early Childhood Standards. Lesson plans reflect social, emotional, physical, cognitive and language development.

Registration begins April 1. Space is limited and enrollment is not guaranteed. Parents or guardians should contact the Community Education Preschool office at 248-449-1713. Empower Yoga collecting for Civic Concern Empower Yoga Studio is teaming up with Northville's Civic Concern to help families in need. Empower's owner, Julie Cook, believes in giving back to the community and has included Karma Yoga – the act of selfless giving – into her Yoga Teacher Training program.

Trainees are asked to choose a local organization to help during their Karma Yoga Project in which they collect donations in the community and then volunteer in the organization of their choosing. The trainees have picked Northville Civic Concern, a nonprofit organization created by local concerned citizens who wanted to help those in need within their own community. Northville Civic Concern helps families in the city of Northville, Northville Township and Focus HOPE recipients.

Empower Yoga Studio will be accepting donations until March 20. The trainees will be volunteering March 21 at the Northville Civic Concern's pantry, stocking shelves and distributing the items collected.

You can help by bringing canned goods, paper products, soap, cereals or baby products to Empower Yoga Studio (41620 Six Mile Road, Northville) to donate. Phone 248-719-7520 for more information.

March 31 tax foreclosure deadline

Oakland County Treasurer Andy Meisner is urging property owners in Oakland County to beat a statutory March 31 deadline for tax foreclosure by entering into a monthly payment plan and applying for the Step Forward Michigan Loan Rescue Program, which provides eligible families with up to $30,000.

Oakland County property tax foreclosures peaked in 2012 with around 1,650 and are expected to be fewer than 800 in 2015. Property tax foreclosure in Michigan is administered by the county treasurer under Public Act 123 of 1999 and involves a three-year process of notices, interest and fees and eventual loss of property.

Want to be a mentor?

Northville Youth Assistance is looking for adults who are interested in becoming mentors for Northville youngsters. Volunteer mentors participate in 10 hours of training and then are matched one-on-one with a child or teen in the community. The purpose of the mentoring relationship is for the young person to have a positive adult role model to help get him or her through some tough times.

All of the clients live in Northville Township, the city of Northville or in the Northville Public School District. Some of them come from single-parent families; others are new to the community and may be having a hard time fitting in. Sometimes another child in the family requires a great deal of attention due to illness or another difficulty, and the family is looking for positive attention for their other children.

Volunteers are asked to spend an hour or so per week with their mentees for at least a year, taking them places and enjoying activities such as sports, crafts, games or cooking. Mentors and mentees are carefully matched according to personalities and interests, since research suggests that the most important factor in a positive, impactful mentoring relationship is that the mentor and mentee have fun together.

Northville Youth Assistance will be holding volunteer mentor training 7-9 p.m. Wednesday, April 1, 8, 15, 22 and 29, at the Northville Community Center, 303 W. Main St. This five-session training includes information about the program, techniques for positive communication and discussion about the impact that one positive adult role model can have on a young person in the community. Preregistration is required.

Volunteers need to be at least 21 years old and be able to pass a criminal history background check.

If you think you might be interested, call NYA Director Sue Campbell at 248-344-1618 to schedule an interview. Coming to training doesn't commit you to becoming a mentor; training can help you decide whether mentoring is the right fit for you.

Fox Run residents volunteer

More than 1.2 million volunteer hours were given to charitable organizations in 10 different states last year by men and women who live at Erickson Living-managed retirement communities. This marked the fifth successive year in which residents volunteered more than 1 million hours. Maryland-based Erickson Living manages Fox Run retirement community.

In Novi, residents volunteered at hospitals and hospice facilities, schools, churches and synagogues. They also volunteered at libraries and military-support organizations. Agencies that benefitted from their volunteerism and philanthropy included the ALS Association, Alzheimer's Association, Second Chance, The Salvation Army and Make-a-Wish.

"Giving back is what matters most to our residents," said Jeff Watson, director of operations. "They bring their interests and volunteering efforts to us, and in doing so they educate our employees and staff on the importance of having love and relationships with their local communities."

Want to learn more about road-funding initiative?

Officials with the Road Commission for Oakland County are available to give educational presentations about the upcoming May 5 ballot initiative that would provide additional funding for Michigan's roads and increase the state's sales tax - Proposition 1.

Prop. 1, placed on the ballot by the state Legislature, would provide a long-term solution to Michigan's road-funding crisis while also eliminating the sales tax on fuel in the state. At the same time, the initiative would raise Michigan's sales tax rate from 6 percent to 7 percent and dedicate the

"We would welcome the opportunity to meet with any organization in Oakland County to provide education about Prop. 1," RCOC Managing Director Dennis Kolar said. "We will not advocate for or against the initiative, but we will explain what it is, how it would work and what will happen if it passes and if it does not pass."

Kolar noted that he and the three RCOC commissioners, Ron Fowkes, Eric Wilson and Greg Jamian, are available to make presentations as are other key members of the RCOC staff. "This is an important issue for Michigan and for Oakland County," he said. "So we are making our selves available anywhere and anytime there is a group that would like us to speak."

To schedule an RCOC official to discuss Prop. 1 with your group or organization, contact Peggy Pentecost in the RCOC Managing Director's Office at 248-645-2000, ext. 2252, or via email at ppentecost@rcoc.org.

Limited quantity of tax forms at the Novi Library

During tax season, many people head to the Novi Library for their tax forms, but this year the library will see a decrease in materials it receives for residents. Due to budget cuts at the IRS, the Novi Library will only have access to a limited quantity of the most popular tax forms - 1040, 1040A and 1040EZ - and instruction books for these forms will not be provided.

Forms can be downloaded and printed through the IRS website (www.irs.gov/Forms) or to request forms to be mailed, go to www.irs.gov/orderforms or call 800-829-3676. All printouts of forms/instructions can be made on a library computer, with a library card and reproducible copies of the forms and instructions are also available at the library for making copies (10 cents per page).

Mile, Northville).

"The State of the Community luncheon provides an opportunity for residents and the business community to hear from its city, township, school district and state officials on past year successes and on future plans for their respective organizations" said Traci Sincock, Northville Chamber of Commerce associate director.

'The Case of the Dead Paparazzi'

The Novi Parks, Recreation and Cultural Services Department is recruiting teams of four to participate in an interactive murder mystery, The Case of the Dead Paparazzi, at 8 p.m. Friday, May 1, at the Twelve Mile Crossing at Fountain Walk shopping center.

The mystery starts when a member of the local paparazzi is found dead in a Novi apartment. The local police will narrow down the suspect list to eight, the suspected weapons list to seven and the possible crime scenes to six. It is now up to you, the CSI Department, to determine whodunit, with what weapon and where. Clues are scattered throughout the area and special agents will be working on the case, forwarding on the information as it's received.

The Case of the Dead Paparazzi will take place entirely on foot and features actors, riddles, a scavenger hunt and problem solving. This event is limited to 25 teams. Register early as tickets are expected to sell out. The price is $80 per team. There will be time for fun stops; however, purchases are not included in the registration price.

For more information, contact Cultural Arts Programmer Amelia Purdy at 248-735-5615 or apurdy@cityofnovi.org.

What's on your bucket list?

Looking for ways to ensure 2015 is a great year? Creating a bucket list is a good way to start. A bucket list, whether big, small or random, notes things you most want to do, goals you want to achieve and dreams you hope to fulfill while making the most of life experiences. Achieving bucket list items initiates conversations, revitalizes direction and provides a feeling of self-satisfaction.

"The beauty of creating of bucket list is actually the process of putting items in writing," said Karen Kapchonick, Novi's Older Adult Services manager. "Putting things in writing seems to hold us more accountable for achieving them."

Novi citizens ages 55 and older are encouraged to share their bucket list items via www.cityofnovi.org, at the Older Adult Services Office (45175 10 Mile) and at the Meadowbrook Activity Center, 25075 Meadowbrook Road. Novi's bucket list will be on display through April 30.

Those who add to the list will be entered into a drawing for gift certificates. Success stories will be shared in a future edition of the Enhance newsletter, online at www.cityofnovi.org and at both the Older Adult Services Office and Meadowbrook Activity Center.

For more information, contact Kapchonick at 248-347-0414 or kkapchonick@cityofnovi.org.

Veterans benefit counseling

In 2010, a nationwide Veterans Administration survey found fewer than half of all veterans understood their benefits, including medical care, college tuition reimbursement and pension or disability payments. City of Novi Older Adult Services has partnered with the Michigan Paralyzed Veterans of America to increase awareness of VA benefits and medical care for those who qualify.

Bonnie Williams, a service officer from MPVA, will host free, 30-minute, one-on-one counseling sessions 1-3 p.m. the fourth Monday of each month - March 23 and April 27 - at the Meadowbrook Activity Center (25075 Meadowbrook Road). To schedule an appointment, call 248-347-0414 or stop by Older Adult Services office in the Novi Civic Center, 45175 10 Mile.

For more information about Veterans Benefit Counseling, contact Sandy Fisher, Social Services coordinator, at 248-347-0414 or sfisher@cityofnovi.org. To learn about additional older adult social and educational programs, go to www.cityofnovi.org.

Elizabeth's Bridal Manor honored by The Knot

By Lonnie Huhman
Staff Writer

Northville business woman Elizabeth Clancy recently achieved some great accomplishments both professionally and personally with her successful bridal shop being put in a hall of fame, plus she placed highly at the Senior Olympics for ballroom dancing.

Clancy has been feeling good since being chosen to be in the hall of fame of popular wedding website The Knot, which comes after five consecutive selections to The Knot Best of Weddings and then winning first, second and third places at the Michigan Senior Olympics in several dance competitions.

"It's really exciting to be recognized by The Knot in this way," she said of the well-respected wedding resource. "And I'm smiling even more after having success at the competition, because it's such a fun and personal accomplishment."

There are a variety of categories in The Knot's hall of fame pick, but only 2 percent of shops become part of it. Customer reviews of her shop on south Main Street in Northville played a big part in making this happen. Other awards for the shop include Editor's Choice in Styleline magazine.

Having customers rate the shop so highly means a lot to Clancy.

"I would like to thank all of my customers and supporters throughout my 26 years in business and to extend sincere appreciation and thanks to my loyal and exceptional staff who have greatly contributed to Elizabeth's Bridal Manor's success," she said.

The dancing success is fairly recent for Clancy, but it's something she has been working on with teacher and competition partner Dwight Davis of Wixom, who is an award-winning instructor and performer.

Clancy participated in the Michigan Senior Olympics Dancesport Competition at the Royal Park Hotel in Rochester last month and took first place with Davis, performing the samba, as well as second and third in the East Coast swing and tango.

This was her third competition since performing dance more seriously over the last nine years.

"This feels good. It does mean a lot to me," she said of the dancing honors.

Elizabeth's Bridal Manor can be reached at 248-348-2783 and is located at 402 S. Main Street in Northville. Its website is www.elizabethsbridal.com.

Kalass named Ascend Fellow

Starfish Family Services announced that CEO Ann Kalass has been selected by The Aspen Institute to join the 2015 class of national Ascend Fellows.

The Ascend Fellowship invests in diverse leaders from a range of sectors who have breakthrough ideas to build economic security, educational success and health and well-being for low-income families in the United States.

Kalass will collaborate with other leaders who are on the front lines of new solutions to bridge inequality for children and their parents. Ascend Fellows fuel their work with a two-generation approach that invests in both children and their parents.

"This is an extraordinary opportunity for me to learn with and from other leaders across the country who are equally committed to supporting families and children in some of our most distressed communities," Kalass said. "This experience will also help me become a more effective advocate for policy change that supports low income families."

Kalass and her husband Scott reside in Northville with their two daughters.

Famie wins Matrix Award

Keith Famie has been selected by the Association for Women in Communications Detroit Chapter for the organization's prestigious Matrix Awards.

The Wixom-based documentary filmmaker has been selected to receive the Diamond Award for portraying women positively in the media.

He will be celebrated at AWC Detroit's annual Matrix Award's presentation Thursday, May 14, at The Community House in Birmingham.

Keynoting the evening's celebration will be Denise Ilitch, an integral member of Detroit's business and philanthropic communities, serving as a business leader, devoted community servant, tireless advocate for women and children and supporter of many charitable causes. She is "Of Counsel" at Clark Hill PLC, where she advises clients in the areas of business practice, corporate law and government policy.

An Emmy award-winning director/producer, Famie is being honored for his recent documentary The Embrace of Aging, the female perspective of growing old, the second film of a trilogy exploring the aging process. A 13-episode series detailing what getting older signifies to women around the world, Famie's documentary debuted on Detroit Public TV, WTVS-TV (Channel 56) in October.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Fox Run earns highest ranking

Fox Run retirement community's Continuing Care Facility in Novi received the highest overall rating of five stars in U.S. News & World Report's seventh annual Best Nursing Homes, available exclusively at <http://www.usnews.com/best-nursing-homes>.

Created by the publisher of Best Hospitals and Best Children's Hospitals, the Best Nursing Homes 2015 ratings highlight the top nursing homes in each city and state, out of nearly 16,000 facilities nationwide. The goal is to help users find a home with a strong track record of quality care.

To create Best Nursing Homes 2015, U.S. News drew on data from Nursing Home Compare, a program run by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, the federal agency that sets and enforces standards for nursing homes. U.S. News awarded the "Best Nursing Homes" designation to facilities that recently earned the agency's highest overall rating of five stars.

Businesses call on Legislature to protect programs

More than 80 Michigan businesses representing tourism, real estate, construction and other industries called on the Michigan Legislature to protect of the state's highly successful energy-efficiency programs in a letter sent to policymakers last week.

"From a business perspective, energy-efficiency is a clear winner, helping to reduce our operating budget while improving the comfort of our showrooms," said Rachel Tronstein, president of Gardner-White Furniture, a Michigan family-owned business started in 1912. Gardner-White recently undertook a series of energy-efficiency upgrades across its nine standalone showrooms that are expected to result in a one-year return on investment.

The letter outlines the success of the state's energy-efficiency programs, including:

» Helping tens of thousands of businesses reduce energy costs and improve their competitiveness

» Saving ratepayers $2.5 billion since 2011

» Lowering energy rates by reducing the need for investment in new generation

"Michigan's energy-efficiency industry is a driving force in our economy, employing more than 46,000 Michiganders and contributing billions of dollars to the Michigan economy each year," said Dan Scripps, president of the Michigan Energy Innovation Business Council. "Eliminating our energy-efficiency programs would kill jobs, increase energy costs for businesses and make Michigan a less attractive place to invest and do business."

The cost of eliminating the current energy-efficiency programs is estimated at $8 billion in lost economic activity over the next 10 years and that doesn't include lost energy savings for businesses and homeowners.

Sing Out 4 Kids

JULIE YOLLES

It was karaoke at its finest Saturday night at the Emagine Theatre Royal Oak. Standing ovations greeted the 11 performers who were this year's "Sing Out 4 Kids" participants. The third annual event, attended by 150 donors, was a benefit for the FAR Conservatory of Therapeutic and Performing Arts. Pictured are Sara Simon of Bloomfield Township (left) and Irena Studnicka of Novi. Kroger was the presenting sponsor. The sold-out event raised more than $40,000 for FAR, based in Birmingham, and will go toward providing art, music, dance, recreation and sports therapy to children with special needs.

Conference addresses baby boomer dilemma: What's next?

Oak Pointe Church will host a baby boomer conference from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, April 18, in conjunction with the city of Novi and other surrounding communities.

Boomer University-Dream Again will have something to offer all baby boomers, including live music with Michael King and The Boomer Band and Ken Calvert of WCSX-FM (98.7) and former Detroit Pistons PA announcer.

Chuck Gaidica from Oak Pointe Church will lead the conference and share a bit of his story and encourage other

DETAILS

Oak Pointe Church is located 50200 W. 10 Mile, in Novi. Tickets are $10 and are available online at www.oakpointe.org; seating is limited. For more information, go to www.oakpointe.org or call 248-912-0043.

boomers in transition or thinking about transition to dream again. The conference promises to be inspirational, informational, helpful and entertaining.

Various speakers will share their own baby boomer stories, how to transition in life and how to re-fire when life changes or it gets changed for you.

How to move life from Success to Significance will be the main topic presented by keynote speaker Rhonda Kehlbeck from The Half Time Institute in Dallas, Texas.

Each attendee will receive a complimentary copy of the book Half Time, Moving Life from Success to Significance. For fun there will be muscle cars and cool motorcycles on display, lots of free coffee and grab-and-go snacks. There will be plenty of parking and friendly faces.

The first part of the conference brings in live music, videos and the nationally recognized speakers: Craig De-Roche, executive director of Justice Fellowship; Bob Shirock, senior pastor at Oak Pointe; Gaidica, pastor of Outreach at Oak Pointe; Robert Werntz from Mission Next; and Blaine Dennison on money issues.

All of the speakers will address the question of "What could be next for me" and will also discuss the milestones of reaching the halftime part of life. These milestones include issues of the heart and soul, financial planning, health screenings and many more life issues. The goal of this conference is to help baby boomers make a plan for their transition from success to significance.

The rest of the conference will provide attendees with a free medical health fair with free health screenings and dozens of info-tables set up to encourage and help guide boomers to think or dream about what's next in life; how to change careers; where to volunteer locally and beyond; learn to fly an airplane; strengthen their marriage; and where to travel with a purpose.

There is more after the conference, too. Each Tuesday night for six weeks, starting May 5, at Oak Pointe Church, Gaidica will lead additional sessions along with additional speakers and Oak Pointe staffers who will continue to encourage and guide boomers to plan for and dream about their future. A book study of the Half Time will be included each week. Everyone who attends the main conference and/or the additional sessions will help design a new "baby boomer movement."

Plan a Pure Michigan vacation this summer

With temperatures warming up, couples and families are starting to make summer travel plans.

This year, consider vacationing in our home state. You will save money on gas and tourist attractions, support the local economy and enjoy the great outdoors amidst some of the most breathtaking scenery in the country.

Michigan has more than 3,200 miles of freshwater coastline – more than any other state – more than 11,000 inland lakes and 36,000 miles of rivers and streams. No matter where you go, you are never more than six miles from a lake or stream or more than a few hours from a Great Lake.

Michigan also has 102 state parks, 600 campgrounds and 650 public golf courses, where people can appreciate the state's natural beauty.

New this year, Michigan library patrons can get into more than 230 state parks, historic sites, forest campgrounds and recreation areas for free.

On May 24, the MI Big Green Gym program is being added to the Michigan Activity Pass program, which will continue to offer free admission or other discounts to more than 100 cultural attractions throughout the lower and upper peninsulas.

The Michigan Activity Pass program is and always has been free for library patrons. Some attractions offer free admission, others free offers or discounts in the gift shop. Five passes are available per attraction per library each week. Patrons visit www.michiganactivitypass.info to print out their passes, which are good for seven days.

The expanded Michigan Activity Pass program will include a free, one-day pass to get into the park of your choice.

Also for 2015 are several new attractions, which may or may not participate in the Michigan Activity Pass program. They include The Richard and Helen DeVos Japanese Gardens at the Frederick Meijer Gardens and Sculpture Park and the Discovery of King Tut Exhibit at the Grand Rapids Public Museum, both in Grand Rapids; a $21 million Penguinarium at the Detroit Zoo; the Sea Life Michigan Aquarium at Great Lakes Crossing in Auburn Hills; and Michigan's new statewide trail stretching from Belle Isle Park to Ironwood.

Political correctness is evil

President Ronald Reagan and Pope St. John Paul II combined forces to set the stage for the collapse of the iron curtain and freedom for millions. The iron curtain collapsed, but communist ideology survived and it learned what it needed to ultimately prevail.

The legal and moral foundation of America, like most of Western civilization, is based on Judeo/Christian principles firmly rooted in the Ten Commandments. This is the source of the American sense of fair play and empathy for the less fortunate. The forces of evil have mounted an all-out campaign, under the guise of political correctness, to undermine and dilute our moral foundation. As Thomas Jefferson warned "Even under the best form of government, in time, and by slow operations, perverted it into tyranny." Tyranny is coming our way at light speed.

By using the camouflage of political correctness, the forces of tyranny have removed discussion of religion and thus removed morality from public life under the guise of separation of church and state.

It is that removal that is the source of the deterioration of the way of life our forefathers passed to your care. Political correctness has made it illegal for preachers to preach moral issues, redefined by them as political issues, from the pulpit.

Unfortunately, most of the religious powers have, out of convenience, surrendered their right to preach and educate their congregations on how political issues and specific politicians align with the Christian foundation of the Ten Commandments.

If this country is to be turned from tyranny, it will take someone with extremely strong moral character firmly rooted in the Ten Commandments, along with the firm, vocal and unwavering support of the Christian community. So, as we approach this next election, I plead with voters to ignore all the political noise and vote for the candidate with a track record firmly demonstrated to align with the Ten Commandments.

Agrees with Guiliani on Barack Obama

Former New York City mayor Rudy Giuliani came under fire from the media and White House when he commented the president "wasn't brought up the way you were brought up, and I was brought up through love of this country." The response was ridicule, not rebuttal, suggesting Giuliani's sentiments may have touched a nerve. It certainly raises questions.

How many Fourth of July or Memorial Day holidays do you suppose Barack Obama celebrated in Indonesia with his Muslim stepfather?

How often did he recite the Pledge of Allegiance or sing or hear the national anthem or hear about George Washington's heroics while attending Indonesian schools in Jakarta? How many of you were exposed to Marxist ideology from age 10 through high school by Frank Marshal Davis, a close friend of your grandfather, who asked Davis to mentor you because he felt you needed a black father figure?

Davis was a member of the Communist Party USA and writer for the communist newspaper the Honolulu Record. Frank Marshall Davis did not love America. That's why he was on an FBI watch list for 19 years during the Cold War.

Did some of Davis rub off on his young protege?

In Obama's book, Dreams from My Father, he spoke fondly of a man named Frank. He talked about "choosing his friends carefully" including "Marxist professors" while attending Occidental College and Columbia University. He listened without objecting to the anti-American rants of pastor Jeremiah Wright for 20 years until he had to sever ties with Wright before he became a campaign liability in 2008.

Can you harbor both Marxist thinking and love for a country founded on principles that conflict with it? It doesn't seem likely. Perhaps his campaign promise to "fundamentally transform the United States of America" offers a clue.

Move to popular vote in the United States

I am so glad that a recent letter writer pointed out to me the inequities in the current system of electing a president using the Electoral College. It sounds like the winner in each state takes all the electoral votes.

So, according to her, everyone in Michigan who voted for Romney in the last election lost their vote and it was given to Obama by the Electoral College. And she thinks that this is a fair way to run an election.

The only fair way to run an election is to simply count the popular vote nationwide.

The candidate with the majority of votes, nationwide, is the winner. This method would reflect the will of the majority. No one would lose their vote.

We need to do away with the outdated and unfair Electoral College system. I have thought this for years.

Fix our roads

Last summer, as I drove along Warren Road between Canton Center and Beck, I noticed the roads' lines had been repainted. Immediately, I knew that we Canton/Sunflower Subdivision residents would be dealing with this washboard, potholed-infested road for another winter.

Tonda Elementary is located within this stretch of Warren, so it is particularly dangerous to residents and teachers, not to mention the hundreds of students driven to school each day. Merely painting the lines on this stretch of Warren truly brought to mind the phrase "lipstick on a pig."

I realize this is only one of hundreds, maybe thousands, of similar dilapidated road situations throughout our crumbling state. Surely, something more than "lipstick" paint must be available. Otherwise, save the paint money.

Support affordable care

"Obamacare is a job killer!" Did you notice that you don't hear that anymore? The reason is that it is not true. It never was.

During the Obama presidency, jobs have been created. The unemployment rate has been cut in half. The stock market has doubled.

Now conservatives are trying to kill the Affordable Care Act in the Supreme Court on a technicality. The ACA has resulted in 7 million Americans having health insurance who could not afford it before. The conservatives have no alternative plan to offer. Please support our president in defending the Affordable Care Act.

Supports ballot proposal

The Michigan Townships Association supports the May 5 transportation funding ballot proposal and will encourage its members to do the same.

MTA's Executive Committee believes a funding increase is in the best interest of townships and the state as a whole. Townships already spend more than $186 million a year on roads and bridges even though they aren't required to do so by law.

Quality roads are a critical driver for Michigan's economic prosperity and for the safety of our residents. MTA plans to work with other organizations in the coming months to actively support this proposal and ensure its approval.

GUEST COLUMN

Students, parents don't need to stress over state's change to SAT

The Michigan Department of Education rang in the new year with an announcement that impacts many college-bound students.

After nine years of offering the ACT as part of the Michigan Merit Exam, Michigan will require public high school juniors to take the SAT as part of the MME, starting in the 2015-16 school year.

While many school administrators are wondering what this means to their school's curriculum, many more 10th-graders are wondering what this means to their college plans, since standardized test scores can play a big role in a college application. As more information becomes available about this important change, here are some key ideas for students and parents to consider:

Gretchen Parks

COLUMNIST

» Michigan colleges accept both SAT and ACT scores. Parents may remember a time when most Michigan colleges required all applicants to take the ACT. Those days are long gone; all Michigan colleges that require standardized testing for their admissions process, typically, are happy to accept either the SAT or the ACT.

» Both tests are also welcome at almost all colleges in the United States. It used to be that some colleges on the East and West coasts would only accept SAT scores, but this also isn't the case anymore. Every college in the United States that recruits nationally will take results from either test – and many no longer require any test scores at all.

» Students should take both the SAT and the ACT at least once by the end of junior year. Each test measures student knowledge differently, so it's important for students to make sure they're taking the test they are most comfortable with. The best way to do that is to take each test once and then take the test they're most comfortable with a second time. Ideally, this first round of testing should be done by the end of the junior year if applying to competitive colleges. Counselors have given this advice for years and it's still a good idea, even with the change in the MME.

» The best way to prepare for either test is by doing strong work in the classroom. Each test asks different questions, but the best way to be "test ready" is to do the reading, studying, questioning and thinking that leads to strong learning and good grades. This involves much more than just memorizing answers for a test and forgetting them once the exam is over. Good students are deep thinkers and take the time to understand the "why" behind the facts they're learning.

» Test prep resources for the SAT and ACT are readily available and often free. Students wanting to know what each test will look like can take advantage of free test prep materials available on the College Board and ACT websites. In addition, free test preparation and sample tests can be found on the Khan Academy website, as well as the Learning Express Hub of the Michigan eLibrary. Your school counselor knows of other test prep resources; be sure to ask about them.

» Your SAT scores on the MME aren't automatically sent to any college. All scores on the MME are sent to your high school, but the only way a college will see your scores is if you ask the College Board to send them. All Michigan colleges requiring test scores will give you the choice of sending only your best scores as part of your application. A few colleges outside of Michigan ask for all of your test scores, but they almost always consider only your best scores. It is important, therefore, to give the MME your best effort, but one shouldn't worry if the scores aren't everything you would hope they would be.

It's easy to be nervous about this change in the MME and it's understandable why students want to get strong test scores. Doing strong work in classes and working closely with your school counselor are the best ways to make sure you'll be test ready and prepared to make the most out of college.

Trott learning the ropes in Washington, D.C.

By Jay Grossman
Staff Writer

These past several weeks have served as boot camp for Dave Trott as he shifts from the private sector to public service.

“One of the things people said to me – you’ve been running a business and now you’re going to be one of 435 people in Congress, how is that going to work?” he said Tuesday while enjoying a week-long spring break back in his district. “I went in with that understanding – I didn’t have an expectation that John Boehner was going to come to me every time he made a decision to make sure I was good with it – and that certainly hasn’t happened. So I knew that making the transition work would be part of the process.”

Trott replaced the outspoken Kerry Bentivolio as the representative for Michigan’s 11th U.S. House District. While the two Republicans might vote in similar fashion, their approach to politics could not be further apart.

Bentivolio trampled into Congress like an angry rhino, constantly making headlines with threats to start impeachment proceeding against President Barack Obama.

When Trott met Obama, the two talked about their golf games. Their first meeting took place when he and the other new members of Congress were invited to the White House right after the November elections.

“He came over to my wife and I and we started talking about golf,” Trott said of the conversation. “At one point, the president looked at my wife and asked, ‘Do you play?’ My wife is a good golfer, better than me, and before she could answer, I said, ‘Mr. President, she’s a very good golfer ...’ and then out of nowhere my wife points at me and said, ‘He’s got a horrible reverse pivot!’ Mr. Obama then looked at me and said, ‘I’d rather play with you then.’ You had to be there, but it was a funny moment.”

He then pauses for a moment.

“Whether it’s Bill Clinton, Ronald Reagan, Obama or Bush – they’re all pretty talented when it comes to being a people person. ... Obama looks you right in the eye and he seems sincere – and again, I don’t agree with a lot he’s done – but it was very nice to invite us to the White House.”

Getting settled

The 11th District encompasses portions of western Wayne and Oakland counties. Even though the district leans Republican, voters quickly tired of Bentivolio’s political grandstanding as they bounced him from office after one term.

Trott says he’s in it for the long haul, having divested himself from the family law firm of Trott & Trott. His district office is set up in Troy and he has his 14-member congressional staff in place. He’s been appointed to several prominent committees and he’s already voted on a number of bills.

And he’s enjoying a lot of Chick-Fil-A.

“That’s another thing about D.C.,” he said. “There’s a lot of meetings and at every single meeting they feed you and it’s not always the healthy stuff. Although (Republican Whip) Steve Scalise, whenever he has a meeting, he has Chick-Fil-A – that’s pretty tasty stuff. I see a Scalise meeting on my calendar, I don’t eat lunch or breakfast.”

Trott, who lives in Birmingham with his wife Kappy and their three children, admits there’s a lot of rushing around in Washington, tons of committee meetings and perhaps a bit too much partisanship. But for the most part, he’s enjoying the ride.

Now, if he could only improve that reverse pivot.

Proposal 1 wording approved

By Wayne Peal
Michigan.com

Wording was approved Feb. 25 for Proposal 1, a tax issue headed for the May 5 ballot, but a local activist remains unhappy over what it will say.

If approved, Proposal 1 would increase the state sales tax to 7 percent to pay for road repairs, as well as set aside money for public schools, local government and other projects.

But Wes Nakagiri, of Hartland Township-based RetakeOurGov, said the proposal offers no guarantees the money would be used as indicated.

“Prop 1 provides no constitutional guarantees that funds won’t be diverted to legislative pet projects,” said Nakagiri, who was among those testifying at a hearing before Michigan’s state board of canvassers. The board voted 3-1 in favor of the wording. This is how Proposal 1 will appear on the May 5 ballot:

“A proposal to amend the State Constitution to increase the sales/use tax from 6% to 7% to replace and supplement reduced revenue to the School Aid Fund and local units of government caused by the elimination of the sales/use tax on gasoline and diesel fuel for vehicles operating on public roads, and to give effect to laws that provide additional money for roads and other transportation purposes by increasing the gas tax and vehicle registration fees.

The proposed constitutional amendment would:

Eliminate sales/use

taxes on gasoline/diesel fuel for vehicles on public roads.

Increase portion of use tax dedicated to School Aid Fund (SAF).

Expand use of SAF to community colleges and career/technical education, and prohibit use for 4-year colleges/universities.

Give effect to laws, including those that:

Increase sales/use tax to 7%, as authorized by constitutional amendment.

Increase gasoline/diesel fuel tax and adjust annually for inflation, increase vehicle registration fees, and dedicate revenue for roads and other transportation purposes.

Expand competitive bidding and warranties for road projects.

Increase earned income tax credit.

Should this proposal be adopted?”

Legally blind in one eye, WWII vet still served country

World War II veteran Bruno Douglas “Doug” Williams of Novi was honored as the Veteran of the Month for March by the Sons of the American Legion Squadron of the Myron H. Beals American Legion Post 32 in Livonia.

Williams served in the Army from 1942-46. He was drafted in 1942 at 21 year, but a childhood injury left him legally blind in his right eye so he was assigned to the U.S. Army Special Forces.

He was inducted at Fort Custer in Michigan and sent to Fort McCoy in Wisconsin for boot camp and then to Rock Island, Ill., for training. With a background as a truck driver, the Army decided to make him a baker.

Knowing nothing about baking, he was fortunate to be teamed up with a seasoned baker who taught him all he needed to know. He was even more fortunate that he was able to have his wife join him while stationed there. He was then sent to Camp Ellis, Ill., an Army Service Forces Training Center and P.O.W. camp for German troops, where he served as an M.P.

At the time he was drafted, he was told that he would serve out his time in the United States as he could not be part of the infantry. But, with the escalation of the war in 1944, he found himself on a troop transport ship, two months after D-Day, on his way to France.

He was a supply sergeant there and spent the next year following and supplying the infantry through France, Belgium and Germany. A day never passed that he felt safe and secure, but he had the utmost admiration and sympathy for those on the front line as they were in real danger 24 hours a day. His most precarious and fearful time was in Belgium when the Germans mounted a major offensive with plans to break through the Allied lines and retake Paris. His group was right in their planned route. It was later known as the “Battle of the Bulge.”

Williams served out his remaining year in Germany after the war as an entertainment director. He returned to the U.S. in May of 1946 to an overwhelming surprise — his wife Frances had rented an apartment and had it fully furnished and waiting for him. He is proud of his time in the service but was relieved to be home safe and sound.

Williams is a member of the American Legion Post 32-Livonia and VFW Post 6695, Plymouth. His current passion is singing karaoke, and he can be seen every Friday night at either the American Legion or the VFW enjoying a song or two. He was interviewed by members of the S.A.L. Veteran of the Month committee at his home in Novi, and a video was made of the interview. In his honor, he was presented a plaque containing his picture and service information and an additional plaque was put on display in the entrance hall of the Post 32 for all to see.

A 94th birthday party was held Feb. 22 at the American Legion Hall in Livonia by his seven children and was attended by a multitude of family and friends. S.A.L. members were in attendance to present his plaque, show the video and introduce him as the March “Veteran of the Month.”

Williams was also recognized at the S.A.L. meeting March 3 to show appreciation for his service to our country.

The S.A.L. invites local residents to attend their monthly meetings to listen to the Veteran of the Month. The public is also encouraged and to nominate veterans to be honored at its meetings. Nomination forms can be picked up at the American Legion Hall, 9318 Newburgh Road, Livonia.

Residents in unaffected areas can help the Red Cross restock its shelves immediately. As a national network, the Red Cross can help ensure blood products are available for patients at local hospitals as well as hospitals throughout the country.

The Red Cross urges donors of all blood types to make and keep appointments in the coming days. Platelet donors, as well as blood donors with the most in-demand blood types – O-negative, A-negative and B-negative – are particularly encouraged to give now to help replenish the blood supply.

Platelets help prevent massive blood loss and are a vital part of cancer and organ transplant treatments. With a shelf life of just five days, platelet donations are especially needed. Eligible donors with types O-negative, A-negative and B-negative blood are encouraged to donate double red cells where available. During a double red cell donation, two units of red cells are collected while most of the plasma and platelets are returned to the donor.

To find a convenient donation opportunity and schedule an appointment, donors can download the free Red Cross Blood Donor App, go to redcrossblood.org or call 800-RED CROSS (800-733-2767).

County recruiting volunteers to report severe weather

By Laura Colvin
Staff Writer

Interested in learning about severe weather? Want to play a role in community safety? The National Weather Service is looking for individuals to participate in Skywarn, a program that aims to save lives by providing free training for weather spotters. After completion of a 90-minute class, volunteers are tasked with keeping an eye on the sky and reporting severe weather in their neighborhoods.

The program is coordinated by the Oakland County Homeland Security Division, which will host classes in various locations during March and April.

Human eyes, said Rich Pollman, warning coordination meteorologist for the National Weather Service station in White Lake, are the only “instrument” able to detect a tornado or funnel cloud with complete certainty and are therefore essential to issuing accurate warnings during severe weather.

“Radar is good at seeing rotation in the cloud base,” Pollman said. “But it is not able to differentiate between whether that rotation is the first stage of formation of a wall cloud – something you learn about in the Skywarn training – or if it becomes a funnel cloud or if it becomes an actual tornado. So we need the spotters to help us out.”

Radar is also able to detect hail inside a cloud and whether the hailstones are large or small.

“But we can’t tell if that hail is golf ball-size or baseball-size and that makes a difference as far as the damage it’s going to cause,” Pollman said. “We can see the meteorological factors coming together to produce wind out of a thunderstorm, but whether that wind is 60 mph and pushing over some trees or if it’s 75 mph, causing widespread tree damage, radar may not have a handle on that, either.”

Spotters also play a role in verifying the weather that shows up on radar.

“Every storm is a learning opportunity for better warning,” Pollman said.

Class details

During the class, instructors will walk participants through a recap of last year’s severe weather and take a look at how spotters played a role helping with warning operations.

Attendees will also learn how to report – via amateur radio or a phone call – to the National Weather Service, as well as how to remain safe during severe weather.

“Then we’ll actually get into some of the meteorology and the visual observations that will help them report that information, whether it’s severe thunderstorm or tornado development,” Pollman said.

Some 5,000 spotters across 17 counties in southeast Michigan participate in the Skywarn program and more are always needed; the footprint of any given storm is often relatively small – usually about five to 25 miles in diameter, so a trained spotter is not always available in the storm’s path.

Local spotter

That was the case last July, when Highland resident Jim Pearson was away and arrived home – too late to make a report – just moments after a storm blasted high winds and large hail through parts of the township, causing serious property damage.

Pearson began volunteering in the Skywarn program in the 1980s after establishing the Milford Amateur Radio Club at Milford High School, where he taught for more than 30 years.

After learning about the program from other local ham radio operators, Pearson decided to join the effort. Over the years, he’s called in details on numerous weather events, but one storm he experienced from his classroom at MHS in the 1990s stands out in his mind.

“We were getting extremely high winds and rain,” Pearson said. “We were in storm cellar mode – heads down in the hallway. I turned on my (walkie-talkie) and realized there was no weather reporting going on.”

So he broke into a conversation on the main repeater in Oakland County to report the severe weather activity. “That, I believe, alerted the rest of the county that some bad stuff was coming,” he said. “Highland, Milford and South Lyon are quite critical in warning everyone downwind of us in Oakland County; we’re the first ones to see this kind of weather coming in.”

Since knowledge about severe weather continues to evolve, volunteers are asked to take a refresher Skywarn class every other year or so.

“There’s something new every year,” Pearson said. “I would compliment the Weather Service; the presentations get more precise, and better, every year.”

TAP INTO MAPLE SUGARING

March is maple-sugaring month in Michigan and Wayne County Parks has a sweet Saturday program available for your entire family March 21 and 28. Bundle up and join park naturalists for the annual Maple Sugaring program at the Cass Benton Park picnic shelter in Northville, where a historic "sugar bush" still exists.

Cass Benton Park is located off of Northville Road, north of Six Mile Road.

Learn the history of maple sugaring and take a short hike into the woods for an actual tree-tapping demonstration. In celebration of this early spring ritual, the group will enjoy pancakes topped with the "real thing" afterward.

"The Maple Sugaring program is one of many diverse activities Wayne County Parks offers for the entire family," Wayne County Executive Warren Evans said. "This is a great opportunity to experience a unique, hands-on, educational program that is exclusive to our region during the early spring."

The practice of maple sugaring dates back to when Native Americans taught early settlers how to collect and boil sap. The freezing nights and warm sunny days of spring create pressure and force sap out of the maple tree.

The duration of the program is approximately 90 minutes. One may register for either March 21 or March 28 and choose a start time of either 10 a.m. or 11:30 a.m.

Dress accordingly, as this is an outdoor program and the trail may be muddy. All ages are welcome. The program fee is $6 per child and $2 per adult for Wayne County residents. Add $1 per person for non-county residents.

Advance registration and payment is required at the Wayne County Parks office (33175 Ann Arbor Trail) or call 734-261-1990. Cash, credit card or check payable to Wayne County Parks is accepted. For more information, go to www.parks.waynecounty.com.

Staff Writer

The sweet aroma wafting out of the sugar shack at the Tollgate Education Center and Farm in Novi is a signal that spring is around the corner and tasty maple syrup is being made.

Novi resident John MacInnis started the maple syrup program at Tollgate years ago in what he calls a humble beginning, with 12 tree taps. Over the years, it grew and now in the forest at Tollgate there are at least 300 taps producing an average of more than 100 gallons of maple syrup a season.

Along the way, he has received help from the staff at Tollgate and its many volunteers, one being John Woodrich.

"It's a fun thing to do," said Woodrich, who is also a volunteer at one of the farm's gardens, "plus Tollgate is such a great place for the community that I like to be out here as much as I can to help."

The maple syrup season started last month, but it really picked up in March with the colder temperatures at night and the warmer days. MacInnis said at the start the syrup is lighter in color, but as the season moves on it gets darker – and that's what he thinks tastes the best.

He said they have a smaller system for processing the sap into syrup, which he believes makes it even better in the end. It takes up to 40 gallons of sap to boil into one gallon of syrup. Last year, they produced 126 gallons of syrup, which volunteers usually have the first dibs on.

A variety of groups, from school kids to adults, is currently taking field trips at Tollgate to learn about this process. It's a hands-on program, offering the chance to tap into a tree to tasting the final result.

To learn about participating in a field trip, email tollgateprograms@anr.msu.edu or call 248-347-0269. Tollgate is located at 28115 Meadowbrook Road.

Wayne Watson checks a storage bucket collecting maple sap March 12 at Novi's Tollgate Farm. Volunteers at the farm at 12 Mile and Meadowbrook roads are working to collect the sap that has begun to run from the trees as the days finally get above freezing. The sap is then boiled down in the farm's sugar shack, bottled and sold to visitors. Tollgate has been sponsoring groups during the week to show them how sap is turned into syrup and held a demonstration day March 8.

Catholic Central players, coaches and support staff celebrate after repeating as boys hockey MHSAA Division 1 champs following a 5-2 win over Grandville.

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

For the 12th time in school history since the Michigan High School Athletic Association began sponsoring a state tournament, Novi Detroit Catholic Central was the last team standing in boys hockey.

The Shamrocks didn't need any luck just three days before St. Patrick's Day. They seized the day and found their pot of gold Saturday night with a 5-2 win over Grandville in the

The Shamrocks, who repeated as Division 1 champions, finished 24-5-1 overall under interim coach Danny Veri, who took the job after the school parted ways with Doug Itami only a week prior to the regular season.

Evan Rochowiak's goal from Nick Macari and Brendan Cleary with just 3:10 remaining in the game sealed the victory and CC's ninth MHSAA Division 1 crown.

"I told them a story about planting grass and believing in the process," Veri said of his talk prior to the final period. "And we've done it all year long. And we just got to make sure we stick with it. We had 17 minutes. I always tell stories before our games. That one happened to be during it. We told them a story about perseverance, keep mining for the gold. I told them, 'If you plant your grass for 17 minutes, you'll be mining out gold. So just keep to the process, just do what we

CLASS A BOYS BASKETBALL DISTRICT

Plymouth denies Mustangs in district championship tilt

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Plymouth's Brent Davis harkened back to his practice habits when he stepped to the free-throw line with 26.6 seconds remaining and the boys basketball Class A district title hanging in the balance.

Northville, which trailed most of the game, took a 46-42 lead with 55.6 seconds left on a basket by Nate Kellum, but the host Wildcats got a clutch triple from Josh Reynolds from the wing to pull within one, then forced a turnover before Davis got fouled.

"That last free throw, everyone was counting on me and I knew I was going to be the guy that lost the game if I didn't hit at least one," the 6-2 junior said. "So when the first one went off the backboard, it was like, 'OK, maybe I can hit the second one.'"

Davis swished the go-ahead foul shot and Northville couldn't convert on three attempts during final moments as the Wildcats, who improved to 16-6 overall, cut down the nets for the first time in their brief school history with a 47-46 triumph.

CC's Walsh breaks two state marks

Shamrocks place eighth in Division 1 team standings

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Jack Walsh not will only go down as perhaps the greatest swimmer in Novi Detroit Catholic Central history, but also among the state's elite following Saturday's MHSAA Division 1 boys swim state finals.

The senior established two new state records and was a member of two relay teams that placed as well while leading the Shamrocks to an eighth-place showing in the team standings with 134.5 points at Eastern Michigan University's Jones Natatorium.

Catholic League rival Birmingham Brother Rice repeated as team champion with 358 points, with Holland West Ottawa (247), Ann Arbor Pioneer (178.5), Saline (158) and Zeeland (151) rounding out the top five.

Walsh, who plans to continue his swimming career at Stanford University, successfully defended his 100 backstroke crown with a Division 1 record time of 48.48.

And in the 200 individual medley, Walsh established an MHSAA all-class

MHSAA BOYS SWIM STATE MEET

Future bright for both Northville, Novi

Mustangs were 12th and Wildcats 21st

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

It was an encouraging finish to the season for both the Northville and Novi boys swim teams following the MHSAA Division 1 state finals held Friday and Saturday at Eastern Michigan University's Jones Natatorium.

While Birmingham Brother Rice repeated as team champion with 358 points, Northville placed 12th with 58.5 and Novi was 21st with 27 as both schools boasted a pair of all-state performances (top eight).

Northville freshman Kirk Maibach placed eighth in the 100-yard freestyle (47.13), while junior Chris Geng took eighth in the 100 breaststroke (1:00.15).

In Friday's prelims, Geng and Holland West Ottawa's Mitch Plaggemars tied for ninth with identical times of 59.59. The two then met in a swim-off for the 'A' final heat after the second qualifier, Hartland's Ryan Geheb, was scratched due to an injury, forcing a swim-off.

Geng edged Plaagemars by two-hundredths of a second in the two-man race, 59.22 to 59.24.

"Crazy day at the state meet," Northville coach Rich Bennetts said. "We were involved in something I have never seen in 17 years of a coaching. This was probably the most watched swim-off ever as they usually take place after the meet is over on Friday and most teams and spectators have already headed for the exits."

Also scoring individual points for Northville were Mat-

Novi's Ryan Katulski was eighth in the 50-yard freestyle and 10th in the 100 freestyle at the MHSAA Division 1 state finals thew Schafer, 11th, 500 freestyle (4:45.51); Maibach, tied for 13th, 50 freestyle (47.13); and James Xue, 16th, 200 individual medley (2:00.27 after going 1:58.15 in prelims).

The Mustangs' 400 freestyle relay team of Xue, Fred Schulz, Mark Kaminski and Maibach also added a 10th (3:12.60).

"That 400 freestyle relay at the end has become a really competitive race within our division," Bennetts said of KLAACentral. "Northville, Novi, Stevenson and South Lyon were all in the consolation heat for finals and for us to finish ahead of all of those teams, yet again, was awesome. We left with a smile on our faces, that's for sure."

Northville's quartet of Larry Zhao, Geng, Xue and Maibach also contributed an 11th in the 200 medley relay (1:37.99).

"We had some really good swims and although we fell short of our goal of top 10, we still improved from what we did at the (Kensington) conference meet," Bennetts said.

"Most of the kids will be coming back next season, so with the experience that we gained this year, we should be able to do even better next year at this meet."

"I really enjoyed coaching this team. They developed some toughness during the course of the season and I'm really proud of them for that."

Meanwhile, Novi's 200 medley relay team of Joey Berman, Nayaryan Manivannan, Arthur Shi and Ryan Katulski placed seventh in the prelims (1:37.99), but was disqualified for a false start in the 'A' final.

Junior Ryan Katulski placed eighth overall in the 50 freestyle (21.65), after posting a prelim time of 21.28, to earn all-state recognition. He also scored with a 10th in the 100 freestyle (46.97) and teamed with James Popyk, Shi and Siddhardha Kareddy for a 13th in the 400 freestyle relay (3:14.38).

Berman also contributed a 16th in the 100 backstroke (54.23).

"We really had a solid state meet," Novi coach Brent Pohlonski said. "I was so happy with the guys on Friday (prelims). When last season ended and were we looking to where we wanted to be this season, our whole goal was just to get guys to the state meet and get them some experience so next year they could make finals. We lose some seniors that were on our relays that scored, but we get all our individual (qualifiers) back next year."

Pohlonski is even more optimistic about the Wildcats' future.

"Our team is far ahead of where we thought we would be at this time," he said. "We had some disappointments that still hurt, things that we were so close to achieving and just came up short on. This team just exceeded all expectations. I never imagined we'd set four school records this year and was beyond our wildest dreams, to be honest."

Orlando, Fla. "I was racing Nick (Arakelian) last year when he set that (200 IM) record, so that was one of the things I was kind of aiming for this year ... try and drop another second and beat that record. It was nice to see that happen."

"I had couple of races with a couple of guys who pushed me to those records, Mark Blinstraub (Brother Rice) in the IM (1:48.24) and Gust Kouvaris (Brother Rice) in the back (48.79). It was pretty close. I was just trying to hit my hand at the wall first and it ended up happening. It was definitely fun."

Walsh also teamed with Matt Loniewski, Christopher Vela and Grayson Arnold for a third in the 200 medley relay (1:34.17) as well as a fifth in the 400 freestyle relay along with Arnold, Loniewski and Jonathan Lee.

While Walsh was personally responsible for 55 of CC's 134.5 points, the Shamrocks also racked up 27 points in the 100 breaststroke, led by Loniewski, who placed fifth (58.22); Daniel Long, ninth (59.66); and Lee, 13th (1:00.00).

Arnold also contributed a 13th in the 100 freestyle (47.52).

"I had a lot of great teammates to push me and that I had a lot of fun with my four years," Walsh said. "And my coach (Shannon Dunworth) helped me become a better swimmer and person and really pushed me."

"This past year, I had my little brother (Charlie) on the team, so that kind of made it fun. He's a freshman, so it was fun to have him on the team."

BOYS HOCKEY DIVISION 2 QUARTERFINAL

Spartans' three-goal flurry stuns Novi

Stevenson returns to D2 semifinal with 5-1 triumph

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

High school hockey games last 51 minutes, but it took only one minute for Livonia Stevenson to continue its run in the MHSAA Division 2 boys hockey state tournament.

The Spartans, who captured the Division 2 title in 2013, broke a 1-1 deadlock with three goals during a 55-second span in the second period and went on to beat KLAA Central Division rival Novi, 5-1, in the state quarterfinal March 10 at the University of Michigan's Yost Arena.

Stevenson, which improved to 19-5-5 overall, went on to beat Escanaba in the state semifinals March 12, 3-2, before losing in the championship final Saturday at Compuware to Birmingham Brother Rice, 6-3.

Against Novi, the Spartans struck first after a scoreless opening period on defenseman Zach Finzel's wrist shot from the left point off an assist from Andrew Nowak on a delayed Novi penalty at 2:37.

But Novi responded with a power-play goal by senior forward Brad Hofelich, assisted by Bryan Fegert and Ryan Baxter, at 9:29 to even the count at 1-1.

But just 35 seconds later, Stevenson went "bingo-bango" (as Detroit Red Wings TV color commentator Mickey Redmond likes to say) with a rapid-fire three-goal flurry.

Nate Sudek tallied what proved to be the game-winner on another wrist from just inside the blue line from Joe Alcantara at 10:04, followed by Vince Glenn's goal from Josh Denomie and Alex Hunt at 10:24. Then Stephen Olschanski delivered at 10:59, assisted by Shane Leonard, to make it a three-goal advantage.

"I didn't even know it was 55 seconds, to tell you the truth," Stevenson coach David Mitchell said. "We just talked about staying the course. All year long, this team has been so determined. Whether we score or the other team scores, we have a bump-up shift and we come back. We focus on the next shift. We've been doing it all year long. Give our guys all the credit in the world for bouncing back there."

The three-goal barrage proved to be a back-breaker for the Wildcats, who were making their first quarterfinal appearance since their 2011 Division 1 championship season.

"We tie it up on a power-play goal and got momentum," Novi coach Mark Vellucci said. "I think the second goal shocked (goalie) Josh (Richardson), definitely, and was one he wanted to have back."

Novi, which bowed out with a 17-9-1 record, was unable to recover from that second-period Stevenson blitz.

"It's tough to come back from and I give a lot of credit to Stevenson," Vellucci said. "They played a great game. Good game plan and they executed it, nothing fancy, just chip the puck out. I think the first period was kind of a chess match, the teams going back and forth getting a feel for one another. That's how it happens. We couldn't get to that second goal. We had a few chances and (Cullen) Barber made a couple of nice saves there."

In the final period, Stevenson tightened up its defense and put the game away with 3:50 left on Glenn's second goal of the night on a power-play effort from Nowak and Alcantara.

"We just tried to get a jump, get pucks to the net, crash, managed to get the first one," said Glenn, a senior forward. "From there, we just had bump-up shifts that kept us going. When we got our bounces, we buried them."

The unofficial stats had Stevenson outshooting the Wildcats 30-25, including 9-6 in the first period.

"The first period, I thought we could be better and we could have skated more," Mitchell said. "But give Novi credit. They put us in bad situations. That's a good hockey team over there. They're well-coached with top high-end guys that skate real well and produced high numbers this year. Wasn't real thrilled with the first period, but at the end of it it was 0-0."

The Wildcats had some chances during the first two periods, but could only score the Hofelich power-play goal.

"Cullen Barber is a guy who thrives in these pressure situations," Mitchell said of his junior goaltender, who made 24 saves. "He held us in there when we were not very good early on. He did really well and he's an extremely hard worker and you can see his attention to detail in practice and everything that he does."

The effort he puts into practice, you can see how he plays in the game."

Stevenson also won the first meeting between the two teams, 5-2, Jan. 28 at Novi Ice Arena.

"We tried to do some things, change the lineups around a little bit," Vellucci said. "The first game, we weren't ready for them. I think we were ready for them today, but unfortunately three goals in a minute and a half was a stunner. We thought about calling a timeout after the second and third goal, but it's just one of those things."

It was a somber dressing room afterward for Novi, which loses 10 players to graduation.

"Our seniors were great," Vellucci said. "Hofelich's line producing on the power play and we just couldn't get one by Barber there. He played well and it was tough because we didn't get a lot of shots in the third period. I don't think we had our first shot until the seven- or eight-minute mark. It's tough to come back when you can't get pucks to the net like that."

do and we'll be OK."

The Shamrocks got off to a good start as junior JoJo Mancinelli lifted a quick backhand by Grandville goaltender Myles Madden at 3:07 of the first period off assists from Ryan Burnett and J.P. Lafferty.

Catholic Central struck again at the 10:36 mark on Andrew Spiegel's goal from Dillon Jones to make it 2-0.

CC also killed off a pair of penalties during the final 3:16 of the first to lead 2-0, while outshooting the Bulldogs, 13-7.

The Shamrocks then went up 3-0 at 6:30 of the second period on Luc Krasicky's rebound goal from Owen Kipke and Jones.

And at that point, it appeared CC was well on its way to perhaps a lopsided win.

But the Bulldogs (25-4-2) started to show some life and apply some offensive pressure, scoring back-to-back goals a 14-second span in the second.

Jacob Baum lit the lamp at 13:50 on a power play off a rebound following a shot by Mitchell Parsons. Gianni Vitali scored again for the Bulldogs from Zach Vanderwl and Brandon Rozema at 14:04.

But just 46 seconds later, after Vitali was sent off for a hooking penalty, the Shamrocks responded with a power-play goal of their own by Rochowiak off an assist from Kyle Mulka to make it 4-2 at the end of two periods.

"It was a great play on the power play by Blake (Veri)," said Rochowiak, a senior forward. "When they put two goals behind us, we got a little bit nervous and I think the goal kind of took the pressure off us a little bit.

"I think we recovered well. We got into a little bit of a slump in the second period and we weren't playing like we did in the first. So we just decided to step it up again and it turned out well."

CC outshot the Bulldogs 15-12 during the second period, but it was by far Grandville's best period.

"We were within a hair's-breath of tying that up,"

Grandville coach Joel Breazeale said. "It was a great game and a great team won. Two great teams competed."

The two teams played in Grand Rapids during the regular season, with the Shamrocks coming out on top 4-1.

"The big thing we realized was that although we lacked the depth that CC had, we knew certainly from a grit standpoint, the speed standpoint, we could compete," Breazeale said. "Honestly, this performance was better than the Van Andel (Arena) performance, in my opinion, considering everything that was at stake."

Madden kept the Bulldogs close with 42 saves. Although CC's Spencer Wright had to make just 20 saves, he always seemed to come up with the key stop.

"Spencer is a great goalie," CC senior captain Andrew Lane said of his teammate. "I've been playing with Spencer since the eighth grade in Farmington. He's always been reliable. He's the best goalie you can have in this state, honestly. In my opinion, he's the best."

Although the CC players celebrated jubilantly with their massive student section following the victory, it was almost a sigh of relief for many connected with the team.

"It's unbelievably stressful, the pressure from the school, parents, family, friends ... everyone is relying on you, especially this year," Lane said. "Luckily, we had a team that all bought into the program. It was unbelievable to win again, probably the greatest feeling in the world."

Veri, CC's third head coach in three years, said afterward that he'll return to his JV duties next season.

"We had great leadership and these guys are a really, really tight group," the interim coach said. "They really went to battle for each other. I believe it. They're a great bunch of guys. It's been fun. I saw them come in as freshmen and go out and win as seniors."

And although the Shamrocks had some mid-season woes, they were able to bounce back and close the season on an 11-game winning streak.

"We had some adversity at the very beginning of the season with the coaching change," Veri said. "We as a staff had to build the trust of the players. I did coach a majority of these guys already through the JV program, so at least they knew who I was. And they bought in. They had that little slump in the middle of the season and I told them that was probably the best thing in the world that could have happened to them, because it made them realize that when we steer away from what we are doing, we're going to run into some trouble. They got back on track."

BOYS HOCKEY

It was a Veri special ending for CC interim coach

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Novi Detroit Catholic Central's Danny Veri literally tried to hide from the spotlight all season when he was dealing with the press, always deflecting the attention away from himself and putting it toward the players.

While the media was waiting for the interim boys hockey coach out in the hallway following an impressive 6-0 January victory over Rochester Unified in a match-up of the state's top-ranked teams, Veri had already headed out the back door of Plymouth's Compuware Arena and to the parking lot.

While he was driving on Beck Road, a CC assistant coach reached Veri on his cell phone and said the media were waiting for some quotes.

Veri immediately turned around and headed back inside the arena with one polite stipulation: "No videos, please. I'm too ugly to be on camera, thank you."

But after Saturday night's 5-2 victory over Grandville, Veri couldn't avoid the lenses that were aimed directly at him.

And as always, Veri handled the post-game press conference like he handled his newly crowned 2015 MHSAA Division 1 state champions – cool, calm and collected.

Veri, who served as CC's White and Blue JV coach during the past four seasons, certainly found himself on the hot seat after being named interim coach just one week before the regular season following the departure of Doug Itami, who parted ways with the CC administration following a 23-7 record and a 2014 Division 1

Veri, who builds homes for a living and owns his own construction firm based in Livonia, found himself starting from the ground up, although he was surrounded with a solid cast of assistant coaches, including Gordie St. John – who guided or co-coached CC to seven MHSAA crowns – along with Rick Buttery, Tom Nugent and Mark Johnson.

"We had some adversity early in the season with the coaching change," Veri said. "We as a staff had to build the trust with the players. I did coach a large majority of these guys already through the JV program, so at least they knew who I was. And they bought in."

CC, as always, played a demanding schedule and the Shamrocks (24-5-1) took a few lumps along the way after starting out 10-0-1.

A pair of weekend losses occurred against Culver (Ind.) Military Academy, one of the nation's top prep hockey programs. CC also fell to Division 2 champ Birmingham Brother Rice, lost to and tied Division 3 champ Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook and lost to Grand Rapids Forest Hills Central.

"We had that little slump in the middle of the season and I told them that was probably the best thing that could have happened to them, because it made them realize if you steer away from what you're doing, you're going to run into trouble," Veri said. "They got back on track and we almost had the tale of two seasons."

Veri reaffirmed following Saturday night's victory that he's a "one-and-done" varsity coach. CC athletic director Aaron Babicz will be searching for his third head coach in four seasons for the high-profile program.

And it's only speculation at his stage who might be Veri's successor.

"I can't do it," Veri said of the varsity job. "This program needs a lot of time. I own my own business. I have four kids and three of them play hockey. I don't have the time to commit. I did it this year, but I told Aaron I can't do it the way my lifestyle is as far as work and personal commitments with my kids."

Veri said he plans to return to his old coaching position.

"The JV program – I probably put in a hell of a lot more time than most coaches do," he said. "I do video, I do things that probably others don't, but varsity is that much more. And this program deserves 100-percent focus, 100-percent attention and all the extra things that help the kids get to the next level. And all those things, I just don't have the time to commit to. I do enjoy it and it's great, but I can't."

Amid the jubilation and the celebration Saturday night at Compuware, Veri did enjoy one Kodak moment. He was able to share it with one of his senior defensemen, who knows the CC interim coach probably better than anybody.

"What's really funny," Veri said, "I won state championships with my daughter and my other son and every year I kept saying, 'Wow,' I kept forgetting to see my kid's reaction when we won and the buzzer went off. I purposely found where my son (Blake) was on the bench and stared at him and I watched him the whole time until I saw the smile on his face, throwing up his arms and his gear ... that was really cool; that was the best part about it."

Too bad the media missed out on a video capturing that priceless moment.

CC rides extra gear into D1 final

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

Unleashing a full-speed attack that never wavered for 51 minutes, Novi Detroit Catholic Central outshot University of Detroit-Jesuit by a 54-18 margin during Friday's boys hockey Division 1 state semifinal at Compuware Arena.

Yet the Shamrocks had to hold on for dear life in the final minutes, earning a 4-3 victory over the Cubs and moving on to the D1 final.

"Last year was a feeling I'll never forget; honestly seems like a dream," Shamrocks senior defenseman Owen Kipke said. "And knowing I'll have another chance to make it reality is an unreal feeling."

CC needed to kill off late penalties in order to seal the deal and advance to the final for the second consecutive season. But thanks to team depth and speed, the Shamrocks (23-5-1) just had more in the tank down the stretch.

"Sam Knoblauch, Christian Wirth-Karbler and Teddy Apap are their three players and they're in every situation," Shamrocks head coach Danny Veri said. "You could see they ran out of gas. When they have to fight against us rolling, pushing it every shift ... I'm the luckiest coach in the world to have the depth that we have here that allow us to do that."

U-D Jesuit (22-7-1) somehow stayed close all night despite senior goalie Jack Deines facing an endless attack.

"They're just a really good team. They're deep, they come at you in waves, they throw four lines at you and we only have three," Cubs head coach Rick Bennetts said. "Just in terms of numbers, we had 20 guys dressed, but we only skated 15. They used all 20. It makes a difference in the long run."

The Cubs got out to a quick 1-0 lead just 1:27 into the contest, when Wirth-Karbler scored the first of his two goals. Wirth-Karbler one-timed a crossing feed from Joey Garves over the trapper of Shamrocks senior goalie Spencer Wright.

But the Shamrocks quickly responded with 12:34 remaining in the period, when senior defenseman Ryan Burnett followed up his own rebound and jammed the puck past Deines. Drawing the assist was JoJo Mancinelli.

Once again, U-D took a one-goal lead thanks to Wirth-Karbler. With just under 10 minutes remaining, he took a pass from Apap, cut in front of Wright and slid a backhand that slipped through the goaltender's pads.

CC, which enjoyed an 18-6 shots advantage in the opening period, managed to draw even with 3:48 left on a power-play goal by senior defenseman Blake Veri.

"We felt we were fortunate to be 2-2 after the first period," Bennetts said. "We wanted to try and make a few adjustments on how to get the puck out of our end, because we kept turning the puck over trying to make breakout passes."

The CC attack continued unabated in the middle period, yet it took a miscue by Deines to lead to the tie-breaking goal at 4:26.

Deines went behind his net to handle the puck. But junior forward Kyle Mulka stripped him of it and sent it into the vacated net.

Less than a minute later, CC junior forward Brian Kearns scored (from Dillon Jones and Andrew Spiegel) to make it 4-2.

U-D would not go away quietly, however. A power-play goal by Lorenzo D'Agostini with 9:31 left in the second cut the deficit to 4-3, despite the Cubs being outshot 35-9 to that point.

The third period was a parade to the penalty box by both teams. The Shamrocks needed to kill off a major for boarding, not to mention a late minor against Kipke.

Veri wasn't too worried, not with a team still with plenty of energy: "I think I got a little grayer. It was intense, but we had our guys out there. We were OK."

Shamrocks waltz by Troy icers in quarters

By Brad Emons

It continued to be a relative smooth ride March 11 for Novi Catholic Central in its quest to repeat as MHSAA Division 1 boys hockey champion.

The Shamrocks made it three shutouts in three state tournament games with a 7-0 triumph over Troy in a quarter-final at Orchard Lake St. Mary's Athletic Center.

CC, which improved to 22-5-1 overall, got a pair of goals from senior Mitch Ossowski to reach the state semifinal against University of Detroit-Jesuit, which eliminated Salem on the same night, 4-2.

Catholic Central outshot the Colts 19-5 in the opening period, but had only one goal to show for it as Ryan Burnett scored at the 52-second mark from Owen Kipke and Andrew Spiegel.

Troy (23-4-1) was able to keep it a one-goal deficit thanks to the solid goaltending of Michael Fisher as the Colts successfully fought off three CC power-play chances to end the period.

"We took them a little lighter than we should have," CC interim coach Danny Veri said. "They heard it in the room and started playing again."

It took the Shamrocks just 33 seconds into the second period to go up 3-0.

Ossowski scored on a power play from Alex Kreutzer and Burnett at the 14-second mark and then quickly followed with his second from Kreutzer and Burnett just 19 seconds later.

"We weren't really offensive in the first period and we were kind of playing sloppy and not to our game," Ossowski said. "We kind of came out with different mentality than we did Saturday night and we knew we had to get it back. Just the first shift in the second period, I wanted to lead the boys and get them going in the right direction."

Ossowski's back-to-back goals led to four more, including a Dillon Jones rebound goal from Kipke and Andrew Spiegel at 3:38 of the same period to make it 4-0.

"He seems to do that," Veri said of Ossowski. "He doesn't score and then he scores two. They get pretty excited when he scores for some reason, as opposed to other people. And I'm not sure why, but they do."

Ossowski, however, downplayed his two-goal effort.

"Everybody gets excited for everyone," the 6-foot-0, 185-pound senior said. "We're all a family and we all get excited when we all have success. And it's really fun to be around that."

After outshooting the Colts 17-5 in the second period, CC continued to go on the attack getting third-period goals from Sheldon Wasik at 4:12 (from J.P. Laferty and Kyle McCullough); JoJo Mancinelli at 3:49 (from Kreutzer and Burnett); and Nick Macari at 7:20 (from Spiegel and Kyle Mulka).

"The first period we were hanging in there, but we were taking a lot of penalties," Troy coach Tim Zimmerman said. "You can't take penalties against a team like that. Even if you kill that penalty it's usually the shift or two after that that the momentum carries over and I think that's what happened today."

"CC is a very talented, very fast team, offensive-minded team, very well-coached. For a team like us, we have to play a perfect game and we didn't play a perfect game. But, hey, all credit to them. They're the best team in the state and they deserve it."

In its first three state tournament games CC outscored its opponents 18-0 as senior goalie Spencer Wright has logged all three shutouts.

"Goals are pretty hard to come by," Veri said. "Sometimes you get lucky and we have two quick ones. And, obviously, we love to have that more often, but it doesn't happen that often."

And with a 47-14 advantage in total shots, CC was dominant once again.

"When you get that opportunities, even when you don't score, you're wearing them down," Veri said. "The more you play in your own zone, the more tired you're going to get. We're very fortunate we're deep. We get to roll four lines. They (Troy) don't have four lines, they don't have 16 (forwards). They have seven, so we have a deep bench. And when we have somebody pinned in their own zone because of a power play, we're going wear you down."

BOYS BASKETBALL CLASS D DISTRICT

Warriors fall victim to Roeper

Franklin Road ends season at 9-13

What appeared to be a promising prospect of winning a boys basketball Class D district title ended on a sour note March 11 for Novi Franklin Road Christian.

The Warriors, who had posted lopsided 52-30 and 50-25 victories during the regular season over Birmingham Roeper, fell victim in the third encounter against the host Roughriders, 42-33. Max Whipple and David Gardner paced Roeper (3-18) with 14 and 12 points, respectively. Junior guard Austin Hearn paced the Warriors (9-13) with 10 points. The Roughriders fell to Detroit Winans Academy in the district final, 51-39.

GREGORY CURRY

The Novi Detroit Catholic Central freshman boys basketball team capped an 18-0 season March 3 with a 67-31 triumph over Dearborn Fordson. The Shamrocks also won the Catholic High School League Central Division title, while also capturing the CHSL playoffs with a 68-45 semifinal win over Birmingham Brother Rice, followed by a 61-52 triumph in the final over Warren DeLaSalle. Team members, honored recently at the University of Detroit's Calihan Hall, include (front row, from left): Jake Hinshaw, Jack Downs, A.J. Abdelnour, Andrew Priesskorn, Jack Dooley, Ryan Houlihan, Jeron George and Tre'Vaughan Jenerette and (back row, from left) second-year head coach Gregory Curry, Jack Mills, Christian Girjis, Nick Paros, Will McCoy, Theo Day, Colin Caverly, Kevin Korte and student manager Kyle Lockhart.

have to hit 14. I just kept hearing in my head, 'Nash drill, Nash drill, Nash drill, Nash drill.' The second one I just released it softly and it went straight in and I knew from then on we won the game."

Davis, who finished with a team-high 14 points along with senior point guard Randall Aikins, had gone 1-of-4 from the line during the fourth quarter prior to the game-tying and game-winning foul shots.

And he takes an unorthodox approach when shooting free throws by standing slightly off-center and to the left.

"That's something I've done since I was a kid," Davis said. "Whenever I center myself to the basket, it doesn't feel right. My trainers and coaches tell me all the time that I should center myself, but it never happens."

"It means a whole lot. We finally felt like we made history," Aikins said. "Me, Josh (Reynolds) and Deji (Adebisi) have been dreaming of this moment since we were sophomores. Our senior year, we had to have this addition. It means a whole lot to us."

Northville (14-8) trailed 17-9 after one quarter, but fought its way back to trail 23-19 at halftime.

It appeared the Mustangs were down and out with 2:38 left in the third quarter, when Davis made a basket to put Plymouth ahead, 35-25.

But Northville, going exclusively with its starting five, made an 8-0 run to close out the quarter to cut the deficit to 35-33.

And with just 3:53 left in the game, the 6-8 Kellum, who had a game-high 16 points, drilled a shot near the top of the key to put Northville on top, 42-41. He then scored two straight hoops to put the Mustangs in position to win the game with a four-point lead.

But that's when Reynolds, who finished with 11, answered with a triple with only 47.6 seconds left after going 3-of-15 from the floor and not scoring since the first quarter.

"It's not about how many, it's about the right times," Plymouth coach Mike Soukup said of Reynolds' streaky shooting.

Northville then committed a costly turnover with 39.1 seconds left and Davis put the Wildcats ahead to stay.

The Mustangs, however, got off two shots, including a rebound put-back in the waning moments, but couldn't convert.

"It's a hard team to hold the ball against and protect a lead," Northville coach Todd Sander said of the Wildcats. "We felt we had to keep scoring, but we certainly didn't want to turn it over. It's plagued us a little bit of late. But it doesn't come down to the last minute. It was a spectacular basketball game I'm sure to watch and certainly to be a part of."

With 3.2 seconds left, Northville had one last chance following a timeout, but Morrissey's short baseline try off an in-bounds play sailed over the rim at the buzzer.

"We had Nate (Kellum) as an option, we had David (Morrissey) as an option, we had Ryan (Roberts) an option," Sander said. "David made a play and we almost had a tip-in, too. Guys executed. (Plymouth) defended it well."

Morrissey, a 6-3 senior guard, and Roberts, a 6-7 senior center, added 13 and 10 points, respectively.

Northville shot 20-of-52 from the floor (38.4 percent), while Plymouth was 17-of-51 (33.3 percent).

"Northville played their tails off," Soukup said. "It was a great nip-and-tuck game. Coach Sander does a fantastic job with the program. Those boys play really hard and we had a couple of breaks go our way tonight. I'm not going to lie about that. Our kids didn't stop playing, though, and that was part of it. All 32 minutes. We'll take it."

And it literally came down one crucial possession from the Mustangs' perspective.

"You drive yourself crazy, thinking back and going through the what-ifs," Sander said. "I'm so proud of our team, not only for tonight, but of everything they accomplished this year and we had tremendous leadership that grew throughout the season from our four seniors. And it was really evident in tonight's game."

"Those are tough moments, especially when it comes down to close game like this. Just that we love them and the seniors had a great message for everyone coming back that remember this moment as motivation leading into next season."

BOYS BASKETBALL CLASS A DISTRICT

Fourth's a charm: Mustangs oust Salem

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

If at first you don't succeed, try, try, try and then try once again.

After losing its first three meetings during the regular season against KLAA Central Division foe Salem, the Northville boys basketball team broke through March 11 in the Class A district semifinal at Plymouth by holding off the Rocks for a 53-50 victory.

The magic elixir for the Mustangs, who moved into the district final against host Plymouth, was a 2-3 zone defense that forced Salem into 26.7 percent shooting from the field (15-of-56).

And it didn't hurt that Northville (14-7) had its version of the Twin Towers in concert as 6-foot-8 Nathan Kellum, who missed a majority of the season with a dislocated knee, patrolled the paint area effectively along with 6-7 Ryan Roberts.

The senior tandem scored 14 and six points, respectively, but more importantly, combined for seven blocks and a grabbed a bundle of rebounds.

"We finally got our two 'biggs' back underneath," Northville coach Todd Sander said. "I thought they altered a lot of shots and it made a big difference when they were able to break us down off the dribble. Our guys played with a lot of urgency getting out to their 3-point shooters."

The first half proved to be a chess match, as Northville led 12-11 after one quarter, while Salem came back to take a 22-21 halftime advantage.

"They blocked a few and they changed our trajectory," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "We didn't take them up real strong a couple of times, especially in the first half. We had good looks in the first half and they didn't fall or we were real tentative with the shots. The key against a zone a lot of times is to offensive rebound and we didn't offensive rebound very well against them."

The third quarter was Northville's best, as the Mustangs made 6-of-8 shots from the floor and built a 36-31 lead. Senior guard David Morrissey struck for nine of his team-best 16 points after being limited to four points and just three shots over the first two quarters.

"I thought we handled their pressure a lot better in the back court," Sander said of the 15-10 third-quarter surge. "A lot of times, if you can get it out of that first trap, you're going to end up with a good scoring opportunities. David (Morrissey) made big plays in the second half. He had 12 of his 16 (points), all in the second half and Nathan (Kellum) found some loose balls. We got a bunch of offensive rebounds. Guys really stepped up and made clutch plays down the stretch. Very proud of our team."

After making just 7-of-28 first-half shots, Salem went only 2-for-9 in the third quarter and missed its first five attempts to start the fourth quarter as Northville increased its lead to double-digits, 45-34, on a pair of free throws by sophomore guard Kevin Morrissey with only 1:53 left.

Salem (16-6) tried to make a late surge and could have cut it to three in the final minute, but couldn't convert a layup after one of Northville's seven turnovers during the quarter.

"You got to be able to shoot the basketball against the zone," Brodie said. "It didn't surprise us. We knew it was coming. We knew they used it against (Westland) John Glenn in the first round of the (KLAA) playoffs. We had actually one day to prepare for it, but we prepared for it a little bit prior to that, but you can't look ahead at all. We just had to run our stuff and make some shots and we didn't do a very good job of that."

Northville, meanwhile, was 17-of-36 from the floor (47.2 percent) and 16-of-26 (61.5 percent) from the foul line, including 13-of-20 over the final eight minutes.

"Those are interesting situations," Sander said of trying to protect a late lead. "Salem certainly didn't let back. I thought we let off the gas pedal a little bit and we're real smart. Fortunately, we had enough timeouts to gut us through that last 30 seconds."

Jon Swift and Jake Stropes, both seniors, paced Salem with 20 and 12 points, respectively. Senior Allante Wheeler and junior center Kenny Topolovec each contributed six.

Realtors find Home Improvement Expo a win-win for business

By Julie Brown
Staff Writer

Realtors were out in full force at the Canton Home Improvement Expo Saturday and Sunday, March 7-8.

Noel and Lee Bittinger of Canton are The Bittinger Team. “We live and play here,” Noel Bittinger said of Canton, where they’ve worked together in real estate 31 years.

“It’s picking up really nicely,” husband Lee said of the market, now a seller’s market with limited inventory. She added, “The inventory has been low since probably January of last year.”

The couple handled short sales through the recent recession. “That was the market,” she recalled of 2007-11. “We’ve weathered a lot of markets in 31 years.”

What she tells sellers is “first and foremost is to make it as showable as possible.”

That means, for example, on a higher-end home replacing Formica countertops with granite, “things we know are going to help get the best dollar possible.”

They’ve been working together a long time, with Lee noting, “The real estate business is not marriage-friendly,” with long hours and unpredictability. “The fact that we’re both in it we understand it,” he said, and that’s strengthened their marriage.

“The market is still appreciating,” Noel Bittinger said, which means fewer deals for buyers now. The Bittingers focus on Plymouth-Canton-Northville, which was less hit in housing by the recession.

“Everything got hit all over,” he said. “Those communities seemed to recover.”

Nearby at the Expo was Terry Lewiston of Canton, a Realtor with Coldwell Banker Preferred. She’s got 14 years in the business, and was doing well at the Expo, including describing ways to upgrade homes to help them sell.

Lewiston was also giving out information on area home values, which are increasing, such as 3 percent in Canton for the year 2013 to 2014.

“Westland actually came up 7 percent,” Lewiston said. The top price point average for 2014 was Northville at $506,505, compared to $256,690 for Canton (Plymouth-Canton schools, with $223,117 in Wayne-Westland or Van Buren schools). Plymouth and Plymouth Township rose 5 percent in sale price average, with the 2014 price point at $306,529.

Livonia rose 4 percent, with a 2014 price point of $179,782. Westland’s 7 percent was recorded in the Wayne-Westland school district, with price points of $138,974 in Wayne-Westland, and $145,584 in the Livonia district portion of Westland, according to the figures shared by the firm at the Expo.

Lewiston was joined by assistant staffer Julie Ertman of Plymouth at the Coldwell Banker Preferred booth. “I did a lot of leasing” during the recession, Lewiston said. She also handled short sales, as well as transferrees leaving Michigan.

“I dealt with relocation. Now we have transferrees coming to Michigan. I would say a lot,” said Lewiston, agreeing her work is now more pleasant.

The Canton Home Improvement Expo is sponsored by Canton Township, the Canton Chamber of Commerce and O&E Media.

Tobacco allergy? Proceed with caution on purchase

Q: We are thinking about purchasing an apartment-style condominium, but are concerned because we are both allergic to tobacco smoke. What should we do?

A: Hire an attorney to carefully review all of the condominium documents and rules before you purchase the condominium. Make sure the documents or rules prohibit smoking in the condominium project, or limit smoking to only certain parts of it.

Have your attorney speak with the Board of Directors of the condominium association to make sure that any past violations of a smoking ban have been actively and swiftly enforced. But if there are no prohibitions on smoking, consider a detached dwelling in a “site condo.”

Q: We have owned our land for a number of years and we are in the process of trying to sell it, but we obtained a title commitment, and found out that there are competing interests on the property. We have tried to work it out amicably, but to no avail. What should we do?

A: If you purchased title insurance when you bought the property, you should contact your insurer immediately. If not, or if the title insurance company will not assist you, you may need to institute a quiet title action, which brings all of the interested parties into the lawsuit to determine their respective rights and, hopefully, you will come out on top. You need to find a good real estate-commercial litigation lawyer who can aggressively pursue the resolution for you after he or she has made attempts to resolve the matter amicably, if at all possible.

A GANNETT COMPANY

GET FUELED UP: Jobs in diesel mechanics and technology

If the idea of working behind the scenes to help power diesel machines sounds interesting, read on about a career in diesel mechanics and technology.

When driving down the freeway, you'll often pass trucks hauling various types of cargo. You may wonder what it takes to keep such high-powered machines running so they're able to deliver their cargo on time and intact, no matter the distance. While it's the driver who gets the truck from point A to point B, it's the job of diesel service technicians and mechanics to make sure the ride goes off without a hitch. If the idea of working behind the scenes to help power diesel machines sounds interesting to you, read on to learn more about a career in diesel mechanics and technology.

Working as a diesel service mechanic and technician

If a vehicle has a diesel engine, diesel service mechanics and technicians are called upon to keep it in tip top shape. These workers are responsible for inspecting, repairing or overhauling buses, trucks, bulldozers, cranes and anything else with a diesel engine.*

Some of their daily tasks may include:

- Test driving vehicles to diagnose malfunctions and ensure that they are running smoothly
- Reading and interpreting diagnostic test results from diagnostic equipment
- Raising trucks, buses and heavy parts or equipment by using hydraulic jacks or hoists
- Inspecting brake systems, steering mechanisms, transmissions, engines and other vehicle parts
- Conducting routine maintenance, such as changing oil, checking batteries and lubricating equipment and parts
- Repairing or replacing faulty parts and other mechanical or electrical equipment
- Using technology

Today, diesel mechanics and technicians need to use more than their hands to fix these powerful machines. Their jobs are becoming increasingly complex as engines and other components are being powered and controlled by electronic systems. For example, fuel injection and engine timing systems use microprocessors to maximize fuel efficiency and minimize harmful emissions. Workers often use computers to diagnose problems and adjust engine functions. Those interested in entering this field will need to learn not only how to use hand and high-powered tools, but also computer systems that are essential to engine operation.

Entering the field

While many diesel mechanics and technicians learn their trade on the job, many employers require at least a high-school diploma or equivalent. In fact, according to Economic Modeling Specialists Intl., 49 percent of workers in this field have attained a high-school or similar level of education. Increasingly, employers are attracted to workers who also have postsecondary training in an area such as diesel engine repair.

Workers may also earn a certification from the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence. Although obtaining a certification isn't required to work in this field, it increases a diesel mechanic's value to employers and clients. To earn certification, mechanics must have at least two years of work experience and pass one or more ASE exams. To remain certified, they must take and pass the test again every five years.

Diesel mechanics and technicians – by the numbers

Employment growth: The occupation is projected to grow steadily over the next couple of years. According to EMSI, 239,666 workers are employed as bus and truck mechanics and diesel engine specialists today. By 2016, the occupation will grow by 2.1 percent, to 244,664.

Earnings: EMSI notes that bus and truck mechanics and diesel engine specialists earn a median hourly wage of $20.35 an hour.

Educational programs: In 2012, 9,294 people graduated with a degree in a program related to this occupation, according to EMSI. Eight thousand, six hundred and thirty four graduated from a Diesel Mechanics Technology/Technician program, while 660 graduates took part in a Medium/Heavy Vehicle and Truck Technology/Technician program.
