fications is selected,” according to Marinucci. The purchase will be made through the Apollo Fire Equipment Company of Michigan. The township had budgeted $75,000 for the scheduled replacement, but Apollo was able to provide what was needed for less.

The department is comprised of six lieutenants, 21 firefighter/para-competing in a variety of events, including role play.

“Role play events are events that require students to analyze a situation in a set amount of time,” said Sanghvi. “They will then present their findings and recommendations to a judge. Each competitor must do this twice in the competition.”

This event also requires a cluster exam which is taken prior to the competition. The three separate scores are then combined to equal an overall score. The individuals with the highest scores move on to internationals.

Some Northville DECA members also competed in written events which required a 30-page document as well as a presentation.

By the end of the conference, state champion plaques were awarded to 13 Northville members – the chapter's most ever – to compete at the International Career Development Conference in Orlando, Fla.

Northville DECA also had more than 10 state finalists, placing in the top 10 in the state in their respective events.

“DECA members are required to take a economics and mathematics exam,” said Sanghvi. “We had three individuals place in the top 10 in the state on the economics exam – Weiyi Ding, Michael Zhang, and Brendan Sullivan. We also had three individuals place in the top 10 in the state on the mathematics exam – Weiyi Ding, Neil Jain, and Brendan Sullivan.”

Northville will be taking three members – Maddie Adler, Nick Chirgwin, and Alex Steinig – to take part in a leadership academy at internationals in Florida as well.

During the April 25-28 conference, competitors will have the opportunity to attend the Disney YES! seminar and enjoy DECA Days at both Disney World and Universal Studio's Islands of Adventure. Northville DECA will also have the opportunity to listen to keynote speaker Mindy Grossman, CEO of Home Shopping Network, during the opening session at the International Career Development Conference.

Moraine students lead a round of Leader in Me Jeopardy for a group of visiting teachers on March 12.

MORAINE

At Moraine, and the other Northville elementarys, the Leader in Me is a framework for teaching and learning by focusing on developing responsibility, personal leadership, interpersonal skills and organizational skills.

Moraine Principal Denise Bryan said gaining Light House status, which signifies a school completed the entire two-year training regimen for the Leader In Me, and went through an extensive on-site review by the Franklin Covey group, was big for them. She said leadership day was the chance for the guests to see why.

“The students have the opportunity to share their experiences and how they use Leader in Me each day,” she said. “They have a lot of pride in this.”

The school’s walls and hallways were covered in Leader in Me displays created by the students. Some posters told a personal story by a student and others showed the goal oriented results of its impact on test taking and overall grades.

The guests were impressed and learned some things themselves that day to take back to their schools, where some are already using this process. Matt Moll, an assistant principal at Emerson Middle School in Livonia, said the Leader in Me process helps set a foundation that can lead to even more positive growth.

“It’s been amazing what it’s done for us and it’s obvious it has played an important part here at Moraine,” he said.

Northville schools seeking renewal of millage

Five-year Building and Site Sinking Fund approval needed to make repairs, improvements to buildings

Northville Public Schools voters will be asked on May 5 to consider renewing the Building Site and Sinking Fund millage originally approved in 2011 and used to make much-needed repairs across the district's 10 school buildings and other facilities. The 0.9978-mill request (reduced from the initial levy of 1-mill due to a Headlee Amendment rollback in 2014) is a renewal and would not result in a tax increase for school district homeowners.

If approved, the millage renewal will provide the district with about $2.5 million for each of the next five years from 2016 through 2020 – the same as the district's current sinking fund millage, which expires Dec. 31.

"Strong schools are the foundation of a strong community and maintaining optimal learning facilities is a key piece of the puzzle in preparing our students to live and work in the 21st century world," said Northville Superintendent Mary Kay Gallagher. "We are grateful for the incredible support of our school families and community members who recognize the relationship between exemplary schools and

PROJECTS FOR FUNDING

If approved, money raised through the millage renewal will fund district projects in the following areas. (NOTE: These funds cannot be used for operating expenses such as salaries and benefits, or purchases such as textbooks, technology software or equipment upgrades, or replacement buses.)

» Safety and Security: Classroom and building safety items and improvements required due to revisions in the building code. Anticipated projects include the replacement of school building hardware for lockdown ability; upgrades in emergency lighting, fire alarm systems and exit signs; and updated plumbing with mixing valves at sinks.

» Improving Classroom Learning: Projects that provide improvements in the classroom learning environment and better use of designated spaces to support student learning. Anticipated projects include adding walls/doors to enclose selected classrooms, updating media centers to create collaboration areas; and upgrading lighting in windowless classrooms.

» Improving Energy Efficiency and Reducing Costs: Building system repairs or replacements that improve energy efficiency and reduce ongoing operating costs. Anticipated projects include upgrading HVAC systems; replacing chiller and cooling towers; replacing windows and window systems; and upgrading lighting.

» Keeping Buildings Operational: Projects that address site and building system items that are in need of repair or replacement due to age or heavy use. Anticipated projects include tuckpoint exterior masonry/soffit repairs; improvements to roofing systems; improvements to paving; and replacing floor finishes and door/frame system.

strong property values, and who make the education of our young people a top priority."

Over the past decade, severe cuts in state funding for public schools has forced the school district to delay necessary repairs to its school buildings in order to protect the learning that takes place in the classroom. Since the 2008-09 school year, the district's per pupil allocation from the state – which is the primary source of funding for the district's ongoing operations – has been reduced from $8,538 to $8,099 in 2014-15, a $3 million loss in annual revenues.

All but three of Northville's school buildings are 40 or more years old, and like residential and commercial structures reaching this age, major building system and site repairs are needed to maintain the district's facilities.

"These projects that would be paid for through the sinking fund renewal represent the same sorts of regular repairs and improvements we do around our homes in order to protect our investment and keep our families safe and healthy," said Northville Board of Education President Cyndy Janowski. "Our community has invested a great deal in our school district and the May 5 sinking fund renewal election is an opportunity for the community to protect that investment."

As part of the district's ongoing effort to provide responsible fiscal management, a Facility Condition Assessment was conducted for the district by TMP Architecture Inc. in late-December 2014. The assessment was performed by a team of experienced architectural, mechanical and electrical engineering professionals who evaluated the current state of the district's buildings, and identified future repair and renovation priorities for its school facilities. The team visited each building site and reviewed architectural and engineering documentation. While all the building and site needs identified over the next five years exceed the revenues that would be generated by the 0.9978-mill levy, the millage renewal will allow the district to address its most pressing needs.

For more information about the sinking fund millage renewal, including a list of potential projects and answers to frequently asked questions, as well as voter registration and absentee ballot information, visit the district website at www.northvilleschools.org. One can also send questions and comments to nps@northvilleschools.org.

Northville High choirs earn more honors

Michigan's largest high school choir program continues to distinguish itself with personal milestones and statewide honors. Over 500 Northville High student vocalists keep the school's 10 choirs going strong, and all the choirs will perform in the school's spring concerts May 13-14 in the auditorium.

For tickets, email pryce@northvilleschools.org.

Earlier this year, four ensembles and 10 soloists participated in the Michigan School Vocal Music Association (MSVMA) Solo & Ensemble Festival in Monroe. All four ensembles – BackBeat, Chamber Choir, Freshmen Select and Treble-Makers – earned top ratings to advance to state competition in mid-April. They'll be joined by soloists Sierra Dattilo, Tim DeCoursey, Jake Gourd, Maddie Green, Tia Presnal, Andrew Schafer, Harnoor Singh, Camille Tish and Eliza Turnage, who received top honors as well.

District Choral Festival was held in Ypsilanti on March 18, and the local groups continued to perform well. Chorale presented a "wonderful performance," said choir director Mary Kay Pryce. "It was the culmination of several weeks of work. Students are proud of their 'excellent' rating."

Krempski

Seniors Samantha Kargilis and Patrick Murray were tapped for MSVMA's all-state honors choir, comprised of Michigan's top 125 high school singers. They will perform in May at the Michigan Youth Arts Festival at Western Michigan University.

NHS choir director Mark Krempski was recently elected MSVMA president, a position he'll hold through 2021. His statewide colleagues also chose him to conduct the high school all-state honors choir.

CITY OF NORTHVILLE NOTICE OF ENACTMENT ZONING ORDINANCE #02-17-15Za

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Northville City Council has adopted Ordinance No. 02-17-15Za for the purpose of amending the City of Northville Zoning Ordinance. The ordinance amends Article 2 Zoning Districts and Map Interpretation and adds Section 10.06 to Article 10 Central Business District to establish the Cady Street Overlay District (CSO-1 and CSO-2).

The CSO district addresses special siting, design and compatibility issues that require development regulations in addition to those found in the underlying zoning districts. When the standards of the CSO district conflict with those of the underlying district, the standards of the CSO shall govern. The Cady Street Overlay district is intended to allow for a mixed-use transition zone between the downtown core and future residential uses to the south. The CSO district will allow a unique mix of land uses designed to serve the commercial and residential needs of the community in an attractive, well-designed, and functional environment. The district is designed to promote development consistent with the City of Northville Master Plan, and in a manner which assures quality building design and site development. It is further designed to regulate the location of parking, regulate building height to achieve appropriate scale, and encourage the development of a pedestrian-friendly environment.

The ordinance was introduced for first reading on February 17, 2015 and was adopted by the City Council on March 16, 2015. The ordinance shall become effective on April 3, 2015. The complete text of the ordinance amendment is available for public review at the City of Northville Municipal Building, Office of the City Clerk or the Building Department, 215 W. Main Street, Northville, Michigan, 48167, 248-349-1300, Monday through Friday, between the hours of 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. or on the City's website at www.ci.northville.mi.us.

When a School Messenger Quick Tip is submitted, the school principal and the superintendent are notified via email. Timely and appropriate action can then be taken to ensure that problems or concerns are addressed quickly. Tips can also be used to provide feedback – both positive and negative on district and school activities – which will help to continually improve school district performance. If a person chooses, Quick Tip reports can be made anonymously.

School Messenger Quick Tip is also a smart phone app that can be downloaded. Go to <https://asp.schoolmessenger.com/novicsd/quicktip/> for more in-

Math award winners

This is the 58th year of competition where thousands of high school students across the state of Michigan participate in the Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition sponsored by the Michigan Section of the Mathematics Association of America. More than $20,000 in scholarships are awarded each year.

From the city of Northville, attending Detroit Country Day High School, Justin Lee was awarded a $250 scholarship and Helen Xu received an honorable mention. Attending Northville High School, Yannis Bi was awarded a $250 scholarship and Krithik Vallem and Parth Shah both received an honorable mention. Attending Meads Mill Middle School, Timothy Wu received an honorable mention.

From the city of Novi attending Novi High School, Gary Luo, Anil Palepu, Ajay Arora, and Raviraj Regeall were all awarded a $250 scholarship. Four students received an honorable mention: Tanaz Naterwala, Veluru Nikith, Ian Fan and Mitchel Huang.

H&R Block scholarships

As part of its commitment to teen financial literacy, H&R Block recently awarded $1.4 million in classroom grants and student scholarships through its H&R Block Budget Challenge. Students had to complete an online simulation that allows students to experience paying bills, managing expenses and more in the safety of a classroom — where a mistake is not nearly as costly as in the real world.

Kyron Andrews, a senior at Walled Lake Central High School, and Zach Suidan, a senior at Walled Lake Northern High School, were recently awarded $20,000 college scholarships on behalf of the H&R Block Budget Challenge. They were among 67 high school students across the country to receive these H&R Block Budget Challenge scholarships.

Andrews, Walled Lake Central, is the son of Kenyetta Strange and Larry Andrews. He is currently undecided on what college he will be attending next year but is considering Eastern Michigan University and Oakland University.

“Kyron has been a very responsible and dedicated student this year,” said Jennifer Caulford, Walled Lake Central High School teacher. “He is a motivated and hard-working young man who sets goals and achieves them.”

Suidan, Walled Lake

Northern, is the son of Lorene and Andrew Suidan. He is currently planning on attending Oakland University to study engineering.

“Zach has been an outstanding financial literacy student all year,” said Kristen Socha, Walled Lake Northern High School teacher. “He excels in the classroom and is respected by his peers for his intelligence. Zach embraced the H & R Challenge opportunity with an intention to do well at the simulation from the beginning.”

W.L. musicians earn high ratings

Talented student musicians across the Walled Lake School District recently performed at Western High School and Northern High School as part of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association’s (MSBOA) State Band and Orchestra Festival.

The various Walled Lake ensembles performed a program of three pieces for adjudication, including one from the MSBOA’s required list. Each group was evaluated by three performance judges and one sight-reading judge.

Geisler Middle School – Band: Both seventh and eighth grade bands received Superior ratings; Orchestra:

Schoolcraft offers fast track to get potential teachers into classroom

Schoolcraft College is the only community college in Michigan that has received approval to offer a new Alternative Route for Interim Teacher Certification program.

The ARC provides the opportunity to complete an expedited, alternate route of study for those who want to transition from a previous career and/or undergraduate or graduate degree program into teaching.

Schoolcraft’s program is designed especially for individuals who hold a bachelor’s degree or higher and who may be allowed to teach full-time while completing approved teacher preparation requirements.

The intention of the program is to enable those who commit their knowledge, skills and preparation to become successful, fully certified classroom teachers through a quality, rigorous alternative route program.

Applicants are currently being considered for admission to the program for which classes will begin in May. The coursework and field experiences are designed to prepare the candidate to make a successful and seamless transition into the classroom as an effective teacher. Students who successfully complete the coursework during the Spring term (May-August) can then arrange for a classroom placement as a certified teacher, under the Michigan Interim Teaching Certificate.

Students will work with a mentor in their building and be involved in continuous professional development for three years, while working as a full time classroom teacher and completing the remaining coursework during the three summers of the program.

Following three years of successful teaching and meeting all program requirements, candidates will be eligible to be recommended for the Michigan Provisional Certificate. Call 734-462-4400 ext. 4335 or go to www.schoolcraft.edu/arcteacher.

Parent Orientation is an opportunity for you to hear about our programming, meet key staff members, learn about your child's elementary school and ask questions. The evening is interactive and highlights what to expect the first few weeks of school and how you can help prepare your child for his or her first day. Oakland County up for more than $55M in road work

The Road Commission for Oakland County plans to complete more than $55 million worth of road improvements during the 2015 road construction season, ranging from road widenings and gravel road paving to resurfacing projects, bridge maintenance and culvert replacements and repairs. “Despite dwindling funds, we continue to improve roads throughout the county,” RCOC Chairman Ron Fowkes said. “Oakland County has nearly $600 million in road needs. However, we continue to press forward and appreciate the local communities that are helping to fund many of these projects.” A few local projects of note include: » Haggerty Road, north of Pontiac Trail to Richardson, Commerce Township (add center left-turn lane); $3.2 million » South Hill, Grand River to I-96 in Lyon Township (completely reconstruct or replace an existing road); $1 million » Griswold Road, Eight Mile to Nine Mile in Lyon Township (provide paved surface on currently unpaved road); $3.1 million » Grand River over the CSX railroad in Novi (bridge maintenance); $450,000 The majority of projects planned for 2015 will be paid for primarily with federal funds and the Tri-Party Program (a cooperative effort between Oakland County general government, RCOC and the cities, villages and township of Oakland County). Work will start on some projects as early as late March. Others will start at various points throughout the construction season.

Gown Town

Prom season is all about dressing up and precious memories, but for local teens who may not be able to afford a beautiful dress, it can be a stressful time. Fortunately, WZZM-FM (98.7) AMP Radio is hosting its very successful “Gown Town,” ensuring that all teens get to be the belle of the ball. The station has dressed thousands of local teens with donated dresses since the program began four years ago. This year, lightly used formal and cocktail dresses will be distributed at Oakland Mall (412 W. 14 Mile Road, Troy) April 19, when girls can shop for the dress of their dreams for free. During March and April, donated dresses (which can be lightly used prom, homecoming or bridesmaid dresses) will be collected at several locations, including Genisys Credit Union (160 N. Wixom Road, Wixom) from 11 a.m. to noon Saturday, March 28. All dresses will be professionally dry-cleaned. Around 400 local teens picked out their perfect outfit last year. Dresses can cost hundreds of dollars and then additional costs, such as prom tickets and transportation, causing a large financial burden for some girls and their families.

Pistol safety class offered

The Novi Police Department will be offering a Civilian Pistol Safety Class from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, March 28, at the Novi Police Department Training Center located at 45125 10 Mile Road. The course fulfills both the classroom and shooting requirements to obtain a Michigan Concealed Pistol License. Registration forms are available online at www.cityofnovi.org and at the Novi Police Department. Completed registration forms and the $150 course fee (cash or money order), may be returned to the Novi Police Department. Class size is limited, and all participants are subject to a criminal background check. After lunch, participants will move to the Novi Firearms Training Center to complete the course. Students must bring their own equipment, including a personal handgun, 100 rounds of ammunition, safety glasses, shooter's earmuffs or ear plugs, a pen or pencil, a baseball cap, and wear loose comfortable clothing to participate in the course. Participants must be 21 years old, but do not have to be a Novi resident to attend. For more information, contact Sergeant Michael Warren at mwarren@cityofnovi.org or 248-921-9843.

Northville grad working to grow small business

By Lonnie Huhman
Staff Writer

Novi resident and Northville High School graduate Jordan Duff is working hard to get out the word on the small business that he believes could benefit many people in the community.

His company, Quick-Help, is essentially a home improvement/home service company. However, Duff said it's unique in the sense "that we specialize in helping people with the inconvenient and dreaded tasks around the house."

"Although we get calls for a wide array of tasks/errands, our most commonly provided services are weeding, raking leaves, gardening, trimming bushes, cleaning gutters, moving/organizing boxes/belongings, garage/basement cleaning, etc.," he said. "We work a lot with senior citizens and extremely busy working families. Basically, the idea is that you can hire a 'helper' for the day to be an extra set of hands with whatever you may need them for."

JOHN HEIDER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER
Jordan Duff (right), with the help of Kyle Abraham, is trying to get his handyman business, Quick-Help, off the ground by going door to door and explaining its services.

The "helpers" are all local high school and college kids. Part of the appeal of Q-H, Duff said, is not only the work the helpers complete, but the beneficial cross-generational relationships that form between clients and helpers.

And this company is truly local-minded. Duff, 25, grew up in the area and attended Northville schools, graduating from Northville High in 2008. He went on to graduate from Grand Valley State University in 2012 with a bachelor's of science degree in psychology with a minor in business.

He currently resides in Novi.

How it began

The idea for the business grew during his high school and college years, when he had a summer business in which he did the same types of services as Q-H, but by himself.

"When I got out of college, I still didn't know what I wanted to do. So I worked as a painter for about two years until I came to the decision that I would try and start a unique type of business that would have low start-up costs and be based on future trends," he said. "It was at that point that I got the idea of trying to simply expand on my summer business by hiring a bunch of willing young adults to do the work, while I managed and worked on the new business."

Things have been tough in getting the business off the ground; the biggest challenge is getting the word out.

Duff said he has a great system, with all of the resources in place to take on much more work.

"However, right now we simply don't have enough volume to be making money off this business. So I am hard at it these days trying to find effective and affordable ways to get the word out about us," he said.

He's at it grassroots-style and has hit the pavement, going door to door.

"In this day in age, from the family room to the highway, people are constantly being bombarded with ads and commercials. Therefore it is hard to stand out amongst the clutter and grab people's attention," he said. "This is especially difficult, because the type of business we are is unusual to most. The hardest challenge is getting that first job with a new client. Once they use us once, they will use us all the time."

The message he and his crew are spreading around the community is that they exist, are local and "that we are a great and affordable way to take care of time-consuming tasks that they don't want/need to do around the house."

Always make Internet safety a priority at all times

The Internet seems to routinely turn valuable resources into cause for concern. Email, for instance, brought us a quicker, easier way to communicate, but also brought us the risk of hacks, spam and viruses.

Online banking became mainstream, saving consumers countless trips to the bank, but added the burden of data breaches and financial scams.

The worst offender may be social media. It's

Jon Gunnells

transformed the way we interact, keep in touch with family, plan events and document our lives. But ease at which we can share our private information has left us vulnerable for data thieves who are waiting for consumers to make a mistake.

Facebook, the largest social network, has a built-in event application. It's a seamless way to invite Facebookers to your next get-together. The security settings also defaults to showing profile visitors what upcoming events you are attending. If you don't make your settings private, all of your "friends" can see upcoming events you plan on attending.

I use the term "friends" loosely, as everyone knows Facebook has grown from a place where friends connect to a place where everyone you have ever come in contact with tries to "friend" you.

I don't know about you, but I prefer to not tell large groups of strangers on the Internet my social plans or when my home will be empty.

Another tactic to prevent people knowing when you aren't home is to block friends from "tagging you" at locations when you are together. You can also make your profiles private on Instagram and Twitter to prevent the public from seeing your geo-located photos or tweets.

While Facebook's privacy settings can be easily changed to prevent the spread of personal life details, the same can't be said for networks that exist for the purpose of telling people who you are.

One of the most popular social networks is the six-year-old mobile-based app named Foursquare. It does nothing besides allow you to "check in" to places that aren't home, thus telling all your connections you aren't home.

Not using Foursquare is a no-brainer. But what about sites that aren't so obviously dangerous? Take theknot.com, for instance, where tens of thousands of engaged couples flock each year to create custom wedding websites. Often times, those sites sell your personal information to vendors so they can send you information on tuxedo discounts and limousine rentals. The real danger, however, lies in the wedding site creation where couples post their wedding dates and honeymoon plans.

Unless a website is password protected, anyone can find it, even if they don't have the URL, as the site will come up in search engine results.

Additionally, more seasoned Internet users could just scour wedding sites for local weddings.

There is good news. By making profiles private, checking security settings regularly and not offering up personal information like vacation plans or where your hide-a-key is located, predators may focus on taking advantage of someone else who isn't so careful.

February cold hurts Michigan retail sales

Michigan retailers' sales fell along with the temperatures during February, according to the Michigan Retail Index, a joint project of Michigan Retailers Association and the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

The severe cold weather also pushed up retailers' sales forecasts for spring.

"Last month was one of the coldest Februarys on record in Michigan and the result was a significant decrease in sales," said James P. Hallan, MRA president and CEO. "Our monthly performance index plummeted more than 18 points as the thermometer fell below zero repeatedly."

"The good news," he added, "is that retailers expect a strong spring as consumers shake off another harsh winter."

Spring – the perfect time for self-improvement

By Cal Stone
Staff Writer

It's spring, the traditional time for giving one's home a good cleaning. Why not apply that same concept to personal growth?

"Spring is the season for renewal and the perfect time to make positive changes and focus on self-improvement," said Matt Swartz of PCS-Counseling of Northville.

PCS-Counseling of Northville and Ward Church (40000 Six Mile Road, Northville) are offering professionally facilitated Interactive Life Coaching Groups which are open to the general public and designed to educate, coach, strengthen and sustain new skills by addressing your obstacles and moving you forward in a positive direction. These groups are conducted from a secular perspective and focus on giving participants tools to make changes and the forum to receive acceptance and helpful feedback.

'Extremely popular'

"We are looking to serve the community by offering these amazing sessions led by licensed counselors and therapists," said the Rev. Doug Thompson, Ward's pastor of care ministries. "This go around will be our third semester of these groups and they have been extremely popular for both members of Ward and people in the community."

Ward has opened up its building and underwritten the majority of the costs of the sessions in an effort to make these life-changing groups more affordable. Individual life coaches can cost thousands of dollars – these sessions, with Ward's financial backing, are just $10 each or $90 for all 12.

Dr. John Mlinarcik, Ph.D., LMSW, is executive director of PCS-

Mlinarcik

Counseling, which is located at 141 N. Center Street in downtown Northville. His team includes Dr. Julie A. Galvin, Ph.D., LP; Swartz, MSW, LLMSW; Laura Dyas, BSW, LPC; Dr. Russ Dore, Ed.D., LP; and Randy Bizer, MSW, LMSW.

The therapists at PCS-Counseling employ a collaborative, warm and supportive approach when working with clients, which results in the client's improved self-awareness, empowerment and long-lasting change.

ILC groups

The 12-week groups will be held 6:30-8 p.m. at Ward Church each Tuesday and Wednesday (Room G724, The Green Room, directly to the right of the Sanctuary) and each Thursday (Room A107).

"These interactive life coaching groups offer individuals the opportunity to express their concerns, bond with others and learn new skills to tackle their obstacles and move forward in a positive direction," Dyas said.

While attending all the sessions is strongly encouraged, it's never too late to join. And although the groups are held in partnership with Ward, participants need not be a member of the church or a client of PCS.

"For many people attempting intentional personal growth," Mlinarcik said, "there aren't enough positive individuals in their lives who provide support and feedback that is both helpful or there when they need it."

If you are someone who desires to sit in a safe and confidential environment with others who are experiencing similar life stresses and you wish to learn how to better achieve positive outcomes, then interactive life coaching group sessions are for you, Dore said.

"Don't go it alone. Interactive life coaching group sessions are both comforting and helpful. Everyone is working together for a common

Each group session will vary, depending on the topic and specific needs of the group. Some lend themselves to a smaller working group, while others can be more productive with a larger mix. Group sizes will generally range from a minimum of eight mem-

Save the Bomber Plant launches Willow Run Memories Project

A new element has been added to the ongoing Save the Bomber Plant Campaign that will preserve part of the historic Willow Run Bomber Plant to become the new home of the Yankee Air Museum.

The Willow Run Memories Project is collecting photos, stories and artifacts from all eras and all aspect of Willow Run history (pre-World War II boys camp, 1941-45 Ford Bomber Plant, 1946-53 Kaiser-Frazer, 1946-65 Passenger Airport, 1953-2010 GM Hydramatic).

“Regardless of the era, Willow Run has been pivotal for this region

YANKEE AIR MUSEUM

The online gallery includes this press photo of World War II Bomber Plant workers about to board the Willow Run bus owned by Richard S. Pilon Sr.

from the time Henry and Edsel Ford built the Bomber Plant, to the last transmission Hydramatic manufactured,” said John Zajac, Michigan Aerospace Foundation Board member who is heading up the Memories project. “As keepers of that legacy, Yankee Air Museum and the future National Museum of Aviation and Technology call out to the community for their stories, photos, and to let us know about any artifacts they might consider donating.”

The Willow Run Memories project is also looking to find living workers — both male and female — who worked at the Bomber Plant (1941-45) to honor them at an event to be held later this spring.

“We also want to honor the men and women who worked in the wartime Bomber Plant (1941-45), so please let us know if you — or a living member of your family — worked there,” Zajac said.

All Willow Run stories and photos collected will be archived to help inform the development of Willow Run-oriented exhibits and programs of the Yankee Air Museum. Selected material will also appear on an online Willow Run Memories Project Gallery.

To see some of the material that has already been submitted, go to <http://savethebomberplant.org/willow-run-memories-gallery/>

Skilled work force has key place in state’s recovery

From the halls of Congress to the state Capitol, the buzzword these days is career technical education. Elected officials at all levels have come to the realization that the blue-collar worker is an important part of a healthy economy.

U.S. Sen. Marco Rubio, R-Florida, told his colleagues recently that, “This country has wrongly stigmatized technical education. We’ve created this idea that unless you get a four-year degree, you are somehow not successful.”

Gov. Rick Snyder made it a part of this year’s State of the State address and budget presentation, which proposes more money for career technical education, including $10 million more for the state’s Skilled Trades Training Fund.

Ten years ago, the talk was about all higher education and increasing the number of college graduates in Michigan. At the time, then-Gov. Jennifer Granholm was talking about “putting a degree in the hands of every single child ... to help prepare our students for success in school, success in college and we’ll help our economy succeed.”

Enrollment in college, both two-year and four-year, has shown a steady increase since then, but the state has suffered from brain drain. A survey of 7,054 May 2012 graduates conducted by iLabs, the University of Michigan-Dearborn’s Center for Innovation Research, found that nearly 40 percent moved outside of the state, leading Doug Rothwell, president and CEO of Business Leaders for Michigan, to say that going through a 10-year recession has left the image of Michigan as “a place that doesn’t have jobs.”

Two years ago, Roth observed that many of the job openings available fall into fields like automotive manufacturing that aren’t seen as attractive options for students, even though they offer good wages and highly skilled opportunities. His observation is spot on.

Today in Michigan, there are more than 90,000 job and internship opportunities across a wide variety of industries listed on Pure Michigan Talent Connect (www.MiTalent.org) and many of those jobs fall into skilled trades, engineering, information technology and manufacturing. Michigan, if it is to continue its economic recovery, needs to start filling those jobs with a well-trained work force.

What elected officials are saying now is what career technical educators have been saying for years. Not every student needs four years of college. The skills for a successful career can be found in high school career technical classes, community colleges and technical institutes and through apprenticeships.

Skilled-trade jobs require education beyond high school, but not a four-year degree. The career range includes jobs in health care (lab technicians, dental hygienist), maintenance and repair, public safety and manufacturing (machine operators, welders), along with work as carpenters, plumbers and electricians. Collectively, these jobs represent about one-third of the state’s employment.

The need is being addressed. Henry Ford Community College has a Skilled Trades and Apprenticeship Division that offers training programs for people employed in skilled industrial occupations (primarily the apprenticed skilled trades) and for people interested in entry into skilled trades occupations. Oakland Community College offers the required related instruction classes for apprentices from area industries.

Even the state has gotten on board with MAT2 — the Michigan Advanced Technician Training Program, an innovative, industry-driven approach to education. MAT2 combines theory, practice and work to train a globally competitive workforce. It also addresses two critical issues facing the manufacturing and technology industries: a widening skills gap and an aging workforce.

Steve Kay, principal of Wayne-Westland Community Schools’ William D. Ford Career Technical Center, said all the talk is “the first time in eight years that I’ve seen something positive come out of Lansing supporting career technical education.” His students are being featured in a Pure Michigan four-minute video about career technical education, which is meant “to change the perception of the auto industry.”

“The goal is to transform how we look at the industry and see it in a different light and see that there is more opportunity out there,” he said.

As much as Michigan has tried, it remains closely linked to manufacturing and the automobile industry. Even agriculture needs a skilled work force. Certainly, there is opportunity for college graduates out there, but if Michigan wants to continue its economic recovery, it now must create a work force that is capable of doing the jobs of the 21st century.

Michigan needs to be “No. 1 in the skilled trades” and that will happen with this new emphasis on career technical education.

Recognize people first, not their disability

In 1987, President Ronald Reagan declared March as Developmental Disabilities Awareness Month to increase public awareness of both the needs and the potential of Americans with developmental disabilities. This month, we can reflect on the progress that has been made in the nearly 30 years since that declaration, as well as on future opportunities for progress.

In March 2014, Michigan legislators set an example when they passed legislation to remove the phrase “mentally retarded” from Michigan law. The effort aimed to further remove the word from everyday use.

Almost a year after removing the “R-word” from state law, a new package of Senate bills has been introduced to remove the terms “crippled children” or “crippled child” when describing children with special needs. The legislation represents a welcome opportunity to remove offensive language from Michigan law.

This legislation is perfectly timed to highlight how far we have come in making positive progress in the realm of mental health. In addition to removing language that is offensive, the legislation utilizes language that puts the person first, not the disability. It is important that all people be recognized as individuals, not by their disability. Disabilities do not define a person.

Mike Vizena is executive director of the Michigan Association of Community Mental Health Boards.

Use #YourPower; flip the switch for Earth Hour 2015

For one hour Saturday, March 28, people living in more than 7,000 cities, towns and municipalities in 162 countries and territories around the world will turn off their lights for one hour between 8:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. in observance of Earth Hour.

Started in Sydney, Australia, in 2007 as symbolic lights-off event, Earth Hour has grown to become the world's largest grassroots environmental movement designed to inspire people and organizations to take action to combat climate change.

Scientists have been trumpeting the warning about global warming for many years and what they have been saying can be seen in the data. The Economics of Global Climate Change by Jonathan M. Harris, Brian Roach and Anne-Marie Codur, found that nine of the 10 warmest years in the modern meteorological record have occurred since the year 2000. Each of the last three decades (1980s, 1990s, 2000s) has been successively warmer at the Earth's surface than any preceding decade since 1850.

In the Northern Hemisphere, 1983-2012 was likely the warmest 30-year period of the last 1,400 years. The year 2014 was recorded as the hottest year since record-keeping began in 1880, according to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. Ocean and land temperatures rose more than 1°F above the 20th century average.

The average U.S. household produces 48 metric equivalent tons of CO2. An interactive map at coolclimate.berkeley.edu/maps shows the average annual household carbon footprint by ZIP Code and, in places like Northville, the footprint is more than 55 metric equivalent tons per household per year.

The World Wildlife Federation, which started Earth Hour, describes it as an "initiative to encourage individuals, businesses and governments around the world to take accountability for their ecological footprint and engage in dialogue and resource exchange that provides real solutions to our environmental challenges. Participation in Earth Hour symbolizes a commitment to change beyond the hour."

Can turning off the lights for one hour make a difference?

Consider this: Boston University determined that if everyone on campus turned off one light for one hour a day for one year, there would be a savings of 733,475 kilowatt hours per year, the equivalent of removing 97 cars (or 1,161,000 pounds of CO2) from the road for an entire year.

Imagine what would happen if every American did that.

The WWF notes that "climate change might seem too huge or too abstract a challenge, but real impact can be achieved – all it takes is the first step."

It can start Saturday. Be a part of the solution. Flip the switch Saturday and use #YourPower to change climate change.

Vote yes on Northville school millage

I am writing to ask voters who live in the Northville Public Schools' district to vote yes on the district's Building and Site Sinking fund renewal May 5. This millage is a renewal and will not result in any tax increase.

What it will do is allow the district to continue to collect an existing millage used to maintain district buildings and infrastructure. A sinking fund is one of the few ways the school district can collect money from residents and have that money stay in our district without going through Lansing. This is an issue of vital importance to our community, which I why I agreed to co-chair the Citizens Committee to help pass the renewal.

Without the sinking fund renewal, the district would have to spend money from its general fund in order to pay for basics such as roof repair, window replacement, and parking lot repairs. This would leave less money for classroom needs.

The money will not be used for new building construction. But, will simply be used to help maintain the infrastructure we currently have.

This is a renewal of a millage the voters approved in 2011. At that time, the Board of Education chose a five year renewal cycle so voters could see the benefits of the millage to our community, and to demonstrate that the district would use the sinking fund dollars wisely.

As a former member of the Board of Education for almost 13 years, I believe the district has proven itself on both accounts. For example, the replacement of the rooftop air conditioner chillers at Northville High School, the roof replacement at Thornton Creek Elementary School, and the replacement of the gym floors at Silver Springs and Winchester Elementary schools were all done with revenue from the sinking fund approved by voters in 2011. If those funds were not available, the projects would not have been done, or would have used up classroom money.

For supporters of public education, and people interested in maintaining the property values of homes and businesses in our community, voting yes on the sinking fund millage renewal makes sense. If you want to keep Northville tax dollars at home, you should also vote yes.

For those interested in additional information, a detailed analysis is available at the district's website at www.northvilleschools.org. For those seeking to lend their support to the renewal, you may contact us through our Facebook page at www.facebook.com/VoteYesForNPS, or at Voteyesnps.org.

Millage renewal not an increase

Nearly 14 years ago and after much research, our family moved to Northville specifically to put our two kids into the Northville Public School District. In the following years, the teachers, administrators, staff members and board members have continued to work together to give any Northville kid who wants one, an extremely good education. Despite severe reductions in the state's per pupil allocation over the last decade, the Northville Public School District made many tough but smart financial choices and has continued to deliver incredible educational opportunities to each of its students. Having such a strong school district assuredly attracts homeowners and businesses to Northville, further attesting to the strong correlation between our wonderful schools and higher property values.

Voters should understand that voting yes on May 5 will not increase their taxes, but will improve the energy efficiency and maintenance of certain buildings along with improving various safety and security measures throughout the district. It should also be noted that protecting our collective investment in this way will not in any way diminish dollars dedicated via the General Fund to the district's core mission of student learning.

It is with great pride, love for and belief in Northville Public Schools that I write in support of the Sinking Fund Millage Proposal up for renewal on Tuesday, May 5. Please remember to vote!

Renew sinking fund millage

Renewal of our Northville Public Schools Building and Site Sinking Fund Millage is a must!

As a 19 year Northville resident and member of the initial Sinking Fund Study Committee four years ago, I am voicing my support once again for the Sinking Fund millage. Our school district is known for the quality of our schools which includes the condition of our facilities. Given the significant reduction in funds received by the district over the years, it has become increasingly more challenging to fund needed repairs and upgrades to our buildings.

The Sinking Fund millage provides a way for our district to fund repairs and needed improvements without placing additional strain on the Operating Fund. The Operating Fund, which covers items such as salaries and benefits, textbooks, technology equipment and buses, has historically been the source for funds needed for repairs and improvements as well. A renewal of the Sinking Fund millage, which would remain at the current amount, will provide the funding needed over the next five years for specific repairs/improvements. These specific repairs/improvements are not "nice to haves" but necessary to preserve the quality learning environment which defines our district. Further, using a Sinking Fund millage as a funding source offers a lower cost approach to paying for these needed building repairs/improvements. The district receives only the funds allocated for specific projects in a given year which eliminates the interest expense typically incurred with a bond issuance.

The health of our community is inextricably linked to the quality of our schools. The condition of our facilities contributes to the world-class education our district provides. Additionally, the quality of our schools is paramount to attracting and retaining Northville residents and businesses, which in turn, affects our property values.

For all these reasons, I urge you to vote yes to renew the Sinking Fund Millage on May 5.

Fix state's unsafe roads

On May 5, you can vote to fix Michigan's dangerous roads. Vote yes on Proposal 1.

The proposal hikes the state sales tax to 7 percent from 6 percent, while removing the sales tax from fuel sales and replacing the sales tax with another fuel tax that would be spent on roads.

This change is expected to raise an additional and much needed $1.2 billion a year for roads, $300 million for our neighborhood public schools, $100 million for mass transit and about $95 million for local governments. The proposal would fully restore the earned income tax credit for the working poor. All of these things would greatly benefit the citizens of Michigan.

Clearly it is necessary to repair our crumbling roads, invest in public education and help stimulate job growth. However, mental healthcare for those most in need should not be collateral damage in the process.

I am dedicated to ensuring the success of Proposal 1 and will educate anyone else who will stand still long enough to listen.

We need to fix our broken roads and bridges for obvious reasons – they are a mess. Yet, failure to pass Proposal 1 could have devastating consequences to the people most in need of government's help, including our children, our communities and people who work 40 hours a week, play by the rules but don't earn enough to escape poverty.

Gov. Rick Snyder is to be commended for his leadership to push for funding that invests in our collective future as a state. We applauded all legislators – Republican and Democrats – who are supporting safe roads.

The plan and vision of Proposal 1 offers aid in so many ways to Michiganders. We owe it to ourselves to be educated on what supporting Proposal 1 means and the impact on the many lives touched by its results. Put simply, Proposal 1 strengthens the great state of Michigan.

Increasing transportation funding is a crucial investment in moving Michigan forward and will produce continued economic growth while putting people to work.

Better roads and a reliable transportation infrastructure are critical to a thriving economy. Investing in education, townships, cities and the working poor pays dividends for us all.

A society that invests in itself prospers. Ones that don't remain in a rut.

Convert all lights to LED

"Livonia receives grant for new LED lights along Five Mile." Livonia could get into a program to convert all street lights and municipal building lights by self-financing through savings in electrical charges.

Keep the same budget for electricity through the years of the program. Use the savings each month to convert more lights to LEDs. The rate of conversion should accelerate until all lights are converted. Then the budget can finally be reduced.

Protect endangered rufa

After reading the recently released Fermi 3 Supplemental Biological Assessment (February 2015) done by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service who had notified the Nuclear Regulatory Commission that an endangered species, the rufa red knot, was known to use the shoreline as a stop-over resting, feeding spot on their 19,000-mile migration, DTE first said none had been spotted since 1973, then changed that stating a rufa was seen on the property in 2000.

According to a citizens' bird watchers group (www.eBird.org) multiple sightings were reported in 2014 at the Pointe Mouillee State Game Area, which borders Fermi on the north, and at Sterling State Park, which borders on the south. Sightings have also been reported from Estral Beach, bordering the Fermi site on the east.

The Atlantic seacoast is the main route for many migrating birds, likely because of more abundant food supply. However, a lot of birds take the less traveled inland route, and the Great Lakes are on the flight plan for these.

After flying a few thousand miles, the rufas rest on the western basin of Lake Erie, and feed for a couple of weeks. Then they resume their long journey, doing so twice a year. Many other species of birds do this same migration pattern, but the rufa is the endangered one – this year at least.

Wouldn't it be a terrible thing for their stop-over to be further destroyed by building another nuclear reactor? People, don't let this happen. Now is the time to speak out against it, instead of lamenting that the rufa has become extinct.

Supports ballot proposal

The Michigan Townships Association supports the May 5 transportation funding ballot proposal and will encourage its members to do the same.

MTA's Executive Committee believes a funding increase is in the best interest of townships and the state as a whole. Townships already spend more than $186 million a year on roads and bridges even though they aren't required to do so by law.

Quality roads are a critical driver for Michigan's economic prosperity and for the safety of our residents. MTA plans to work with other organizations in the coming months to actively support this proposal and ensure its approval.

Novi grad makes Mid-American Conference all-freshman squad

By Brad Emons

If her rookie season is any indication, the best is yet to come for Akron University freshman point guard Kerri McMahan.

The Novi High grad drew high praise while adjusting to the college game as she helped the Zips to a 22-9 overall record, including a 12-6 mark in the Mid-American Conference.

Akron reached the Women's National Invitational Tournament before losing March 19 at Kansas State, 86-68.

"The whole year has been a blessing as a whole," McMahan said. "There's so few people that get the opportunity to play at the Division I level, let alone start as a freshman. I've met incredible people, made some great friends and I've learned a lot as a person and a basketball player. All in all, I couldn't be more thankful for playing at Akron this year."

Head coach Jodi Kest is also thankful and is glad McMahan decided to cast her lot with Akron after she had an offer from Oakland University, while also considering Marquette, Miami (Ohio) and Kent State.

Northern pulls off 2-1 upset in opener

Division 1 state champ Northville suffers defeat

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

After posting a perfect 23-0 season, winning an MHSAA Division 1 girls soccer title and earning a No. 1-ranking nationally, Northville found itself on the other side of the ledger Friday night at Walled Lake Northern.

Devyn Brough and Rachel Rodeheffer tallied goals for the Knights in seventh and 12th minutes of the opening half, respectively, and made them hold up en route to 2-1 triumph over the defending state champions.

"The first half, we got outthustled by the Knights," Northville coach Eric Brucker said. "They were beating us to all the 50/50 balls. The first goal was a communication error. The ball got served into the penalty area and no one picked up the girl and she headed it past our goalie. It was a good goal.

Expectations high for boys lacrosse teams

State runner-up CC rebuilds; Northville, Novi formidable

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Could there be a changing of the guard in area boys lacrosse?

Novi Detroit Catholic Central, last year's MHSAA Division 1 state runner-up, fell Saturday in its season opener to Division 2 state power Grand Rapids Forest Hills Central, 9-7.

Northville, a regional finalist from a year ago, has high expectations and is off to a 2-0 start with All-American Alec Melucci already accounting for 10 goals and five assists.

And not to be overlooked is Novi, which shared the KLAA Kensington Conference championship last year with Northville and South Lyon Unified at 5-1. The Wildcats were scheduled to launch their season Wednesday at Salem.

CC, 15-6 a year ago, lost four all-state players to graduation, along with goalkeeper Joe Williams.

Area Player of the Year

Jack Van Acker and Sean Stanners accounted for more than 180 points last season as the Shamrocks reached the state final before losing to 10-time Division 1 champion and arch-rival Birmingham Brother Rice, 23-7.

Among the key returnees is junior attack Justin Baker, who hopes to pick up the scoring slack after notching 30 goals.

Senior midfielder Zak Crawford, junior midfielder Alex Jarzembowski and junior midfielder Andrew Carris also return for the Shamrocks.

NJCAA DIVISION II MEN'S BASKETBALL

Second-half woes cost Schoolcraft in tourney

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

Seemingly since the start of 2015, the Schoolcraft College men's basketball team has been invincible, riding a hot streak to the MCCA championship and taking on all comers in the subsequent NJCAA District 10 tournament.

But after starting the NJCAA Division II national tournament in Danville, Ill., with a victory March 17 against Genesee (N.Y.) Community College, the Ocelots met their match March 19 against John Wood (Ill.) Community College.

Schoolcraft imploded in the second half, being outscored 50-30, and wound up falling 89-66 to end hopes of winning a national championship.

The Ocelots did respond March 20 with a 81-74 win over Kishwaukee (Ill.) College.

That win came one day too late, however, as Schoolcraft looked to reach the semifinals with a victory against John Wood. At halftime, the Ocelots only trailed 39-36.

Unfortunately for the Ocelots (31-4) only one of the teams on the court had it going offensively in the second half and it wasn't Schoolcraft.

"We just didn't move the ball well offensively and they did a very good job of making their shots," Ocelots coach Abe Mashhour said, summing up the telltale second half. "They got out on transition against us."

The Ocelots made just 10-of-31 from the floor in the second half Schoolcraft's Ja'Christian Biles (right), shown from the regular season, was an offensive force for the Ocelots at nationals.

(32 percent), while John Wood blistered the nets at a .556 clip (15-of-27), also draining 9-of-15 tries from behind the 3-point arc.

Doing much of that damage was Paxton Harmon. He registered 24 points, but tallied 18 of those on treys (6-of-10). Also in double figures for John Wood were Brody Gronewold (16 points), Peter Odia and Jordan Johnson (15 points each).

After John Wood expanded its lead early in the second half, Schoolcraft players fell into the trap of trying to "match them," Mashhour said.

"We can make threes, too, we've done it all year," Mashhour said. "But at the same time, we do it when we pass the ball, when we move the ball.

"Guys came down and tried to go one-on-one and get it back right away and it was a little sign of our immaturity."

Guard Ja'Christian Biles had another strong game with a team-leading 16 points.

Chipping in 12 points was Lito Brown, while Javan Taylor added 11 points along with six rebounds. The top rebounder for the Ocelots was Anthony Wartley-Fritz, with seven.

Against Kishwaukee, Davan Taylor was one of the standouts. He scored 12 points and grabbed six rebounds in 18:36 of playing time.

Booth and Tyler Johnson (Howell) tallied 18 and 16 points, respectively.

CYO champions

Novi St. James' Varsity 1, an eighth-grade girls basketball team, capped an undefeated season March 15 by capturing the Catholic Youth Organization's city title with a 35-34 overtime victory against Grosse Pointe Woods Our Lady Star of the Sea at Pontiac Notre Dame Prep. Team members include (kneeling, from left) Hayden Garguilo, Georgia Carlson, Jessie Bandyk and Lexi Whalen and (back row, from left) coach Dave Skown, Julia Stadther, Sarah Rachiele, Olivia Skown, Anna Biberstein, coach Sean Whalen and Autumn Grant.

talented core of returning players we had this season," Kest said. "I love her intensity, desire and dedication to be the best she can be. I think we'll see a lot of growth with her next season after working on things that will make her a great player one day."

McMahan scored in double figures seven times, including a career-high 16 points Feb. 14 in an 82-56 victory over Toledo.

But scoring was not her primary job after being the only girls basketball player in Novi school history to surpass 1,000 career points while setting the Wildcats' single-game record with 32 points.

"I definitely have to be more of a distributor here," McMahan said. "I have to get my teammates open, because they're phenomenal scorers and they can do great things with the ball in their hands and it's my responsibility to get them the ball."

It became a quick learning curve, as McMahan had to adjust to the rigors and nuances of the NCAA Division I game.

Adjustments

"Being a full-time starter, it's been passing the ball, finding the right angle to make the right pass," McMahan said. "People move so much quicker at this level. Their hands are more active. At the beginning,

I struggled a little bit making the right passes, but as the season went on, I think I got a little bit better. That was the biggest change for me, adjusting to the different angles, the quicker athletes and the faster hands."

And Kest believes she has found her coach on the floor in McMahan.

"She is a great kid who is very motivated on and off the court," Kest said. "She is an excellent student and a student of the game, as well. Her best basketball is ahead of her. She needs to be develop a consistent outside shot."

McMahan shot a respectable 43.9 percent from the floor, but struggled somewhat at the foul line at 49.2 percent.

"I have to improve on a lot of areas in my game," McMahan said. "My outside shot has to continue to get better. My ball-handling has to get better. But most importantly, my knowledge of the offense has to get better, just running the team with more confidence with less hesitancy and just being a better leader on the court."

All-freshman

But despite the ups and downs, Kest believes McMahan is far ahead of the curve.

"She had a great freshman year," the coach said. "She is so driven and expects perfection. She now leads by example. Next year, she needs to be more vocal as a point guard."

McMahan's all-round athletic prowess at Novi certainly got the attention of college basketball recruiters.

She was not only a two-time all-state selection under coach Bill Kelp while averaging 18 points, six rebounds, four assists and four steals as a senior, but she also excelled as an all-state performer in track (high jump and 1,600-meter relay) and cross country (fifth fastest freshman in the state).

McMahan is the only Novi student-athlete in school history to earn all-state honors in three different sports.

"I chose Akron because I thought I had the opportunity to play a lot as a freshman and the program was incredibly successful," McMahan said. "The campus is beautiful and the girls seemed like great people."

Next season

Everybody returns next season for the Zips with the exception of the team's top scorer, Sina King, the lone senior who averaged 20.3 points per game.

"It's going to be hard losing her," McMahan said. "She's a phenomenal scorer and rebounder. What she provides for the team is mostly off the court with her leadership and how she holds people accountable, her responsibility and work ethic."

McMahan plans to major in information systems management, but her ultimate dream is to become a college coach.

And being the team's quarterback, McMahan is already sounding like a future coach as she sizes up the 2015-16 season.

"We have a lot of talent coming back," she said. "We have a lot of young kids that are eager to play. And we have two freshmen coming in that I think are going to contribute, so next year I think looks pretty good."

GIRLS SOCCER PREVIEW

Perennial state girls powers on the alert

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Northville girls soccer coach Eric Brucker will tell you his biggest challenge this season is to replace more than 80 percent of last year's scoring, which led to a perfect 23-0 season and an MHSAA Division 1 state championship.

His job is to instill a strong mental focus early in the season while incorporating a slew of new players. The creed is to: "Build a good foundation and trust in one another."

Trying to replace the talented scoring trio of Megan Buckingham, Jamie Cheslik and Gabby Mencotti will be daunting for Brucker, who will hang his hat on defense.

Buckingham, now a starter at North Carolina, was Michigan's Miss Soccer and Gate-orade Player of the Year, while Cheslik earned all-Big Ten freshman honors at Michigan State after leading the Spartans with eight goals and four assists (20 points).

Not to be outdone was Mencotti, who scored 16 goals and added 11 assists en route to second team All-America honors for NCAA Division II national champion Grand Valley State.

"I think we're going to start out being very defensive-oriented," Brucker said. "We've got the core of our team back from last year that only gave up five goals. And we've filled in some of the lost positions nicely. Offensively, it's going to be a work in progress, so we're going to look different. But the idea is that the outcome will be the same."

Things have already gone differently for the Mustangs, who were ranked No. 1 nationally last season by TopDrawer.com. Host Walled Lake Northern handed Northville its first loss since 2013 with a 2-1 triumph Friday in the season opener.

But it's a long season and Brucker won't panic because Novi's soccer returnees include Amanda Minissale, Jessica Halmaghi, Christina MacMillian and Chloe Allen.

Senior Morgan Gozдор returns to anchor a Northville defense that allowed just five goals all last season.

he returns first team all-state goalie Emily Maresh, a four-year varsity player who has signed with Grand Valley State, along with fellow senior keeper Olivia Ulman, who got the start against Northern.

Team captains are senior defenders Tara Pawloski and Sarah Castellano (committed to Albion College). Castellano will be out until May after suffering a torn anterior cruciate ligament. Also returning on the back line is senior Morgan Gozдор.

Senior Jenna Baughman, meanwhile, will anchor the midfield, while seniors Alana Dorfstatter and Kelly McHugh will work in concert up front.

Wildcats outlook

At Novi, varsity coach Brian O'Leary, who has guided the Wildcats to five Division 1 state titles, is taking a medical leave of absence for the 2015 season.

Todd Pheiffer, O'Leary's assistant the past five seasons, will handle the head coaching duties during the interim. The 1992 Novi grad was the varsity boys and girls coach at Ann Arbor Huron for 10 seasons.

Pheiffer must replace first team all-state midfielder Taylor Pavlika (IUPUI), third team all-state defender Karissa Koomen and honorable mention all-state forward Kendall Kramer (Michigan) off a team that finished 14-5-2 and reached the Division 1 district final before falling to Northville (3-1).

"The main reason I think Novi has been successful is that Brian has created a culture year-in and year-out with the seniors that have shown the younger players kind of the ropes," Pheiffer said. "We have high expectations because our program has high expectations year-in and year-out. And a lot of has been set by the seniors who have come before and our senior class is going to do the same thing this year."

The Wildcats return six starters, led by team captain Amanda Minissale, a senior defender.

She is joined by midfielders Christina MacMillan and Devon Powers, both seniors, along with Megan Riley, a junior. Junior forwards Chloe Allen and Devon Powers will provide scoring punch up front.

"From a coaching standpoint, the coaching philosophy and strategy is not going to change," said Pheiffer, whose team opens its season at 1 p.m. Saturday at Walled Lake Western. "I'm going to do the same things I helped Brian do the last five years. It's just a different group of players and a great group of seniors. Our captain, Amanda Minissale, has done a great job in the off-season getting the team prepared, which has helped me transitioning over as the head coach."

a quality scoring effort. They worked hard down the right flank and got a cross back in on top of the 18(-yard box) and the girl struck it one time and put it in."

Emma Voelker assisted on both goals for Northern.

"We were very happy with how organized we were defensively and with the chances we created, especially in the first half," Northern coach Drew Drummond said.

The Mustangs cut into the lead with 21:56 left in the match, after senior Morgan Gozдор was granted a dead ball foul on the right flank just outside the Knights' penalty area. She struck direct kick past Northern goalkeeper Hayden Cesarz (seven saves) for Northville's lone goal.

"The second half, we played a lot better," Brucker said. "We controlled the pace of play. We had it in there most of the half. We just didn't take advantage of the opportunities that we had. We probably had four or five corner (kicks) in the second half and didn't get any quality shots on frame."

Brucker was pleased with the effort from seniors Kelly McHugh, Tara Pawloski and Morgan Gozдор.

Senior Olivia Ulman made six saves for the Mustangs, who return to action Tuesday at home against Livonia Churchill.

"I'm not a big fan of losing and the girls are a little shell-shocked," Brucker said. "We're just trying to put it into perspective. First game of the season, a lot of new faces. A lot of stuff to work through with a limited amount of time. And I just made it clear we have a lot of work to do."

bemons@hometownlife.com

"We have a lot of work to do before we start conference play. We need to improve on communication, targeting and finishing on the opportunities we generate."

The first week of practice, the seniors have done a great job of leadership and bringing them on."

PRESEASON OUTLOOK

Girls lacrosse: Novi, Northville under new management

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Optimism is running high as two new coaches will be roaming the sidelines this spring as the 2015 girls lacrosse season gets underway.

Novi, scheduled to start Wednesday at Grand Blanc, will be guided by Amy Kilgore, who takes over for Caitlin Warda after the Wildcats finished 9-6 overall and 5-5 in the KLAA's Kensington Conference in 2014.

Kilgore was an assistant for the Wildcats field hockey program last fall and also spent five seasons as an assistant girls lacrosse coach at Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Meanwhile, Amanda Asher takes over for Stacey Tardich at Northville, where she inherits a team that finished 1-13 and 0-10 in the Kensington Conference.

The Hartland High grad was an all-league player and captain at Central Michigan University. She also served as an assistant coach at Albion College and was Northville's varsity assistant a year ago under Tardich.

Asher currently works for the Northville Parks and Recreation Department and oversees its youth lacrosse program.

Novi, which hopes to contend for a Kensington Conference crown, returns co-captains Alanna Clark, a senior midfielder, and Tina Salemi, a junior forward.

Other key returnees include forwards Nina Cunmulaj and Jenna Mikkelsen, midfielder Morgan Statetzny and defender Megan Yarberry.

"I think we're going to have an incredibly strong team and we have gobs and gobs of potential," Kilgore said. "There's a lot of skill and a lot of natural athletes and I think it's just going to be bringing out kind of the competitive fire in them."

Northville opened the season March 19 with 15-9 triumph at Farmington as seniors Liz Hansell, Audrey Tatge and Grace Guibord, along with sophomore Sarah Chase, each tallied three goals.

Other goal scorers included sophomore Emma Dietrich (two) and junior Erin Scott (one). Junior Kelly Leary chipped in two assists. Senior goalie Gabrielle Goree made seven saves.

Last season, the Mustangs lost six games by three goals or less.

"I know they've been really working hard in the off-season and they were hungry for this win," Asher said. "Last year, it was hard for us to close a game. It was good to see them close the game and get that victory. Now that we have a taste of winning, we need to learn how to continue winning."

Northville made it two straight Monday to already surpass last year's win total with a 21-9 victory at West Bloomfield as Tatge and Dietrich each scored five goals, while Guibord contributed four.

Also chipping in was Chase (one goal, four assists) and Scott (two goals) as Northville outscored the Lakers 11-3 in the second half.

Goree made eight saves in the triumph.

Northville's Liz Hansell had four goals in the Mustangs' season-opening win March 19 at Farmington.

Yarberry, Sr. Def.; Nina Cunmulaj, Sr. F; Morgan Statetzny, Sr. MF; Jenna Mikkelsen, Sr. F.

Promising newcomers: Rachel Bayer, Sr. F; Mya Davis, Soph. F; Katie McMaster, Soph. F; Mariah Smythe, Soph. goalie.

Kilgore's 2015 outlook: "It's such a nice group of girls that kind of play somewhat casually, play because they enjoy it and play for fun and so we're working on really developing the competitive, die-hard spirit. That's one of our strong focuses this year. We don't have a ton of defenders, people with experience that we need to develop as defenders. In terms of being together as a team and enjoying the experience and enjoying each other, I've never really truly ever had a nicer group of girls who genuinely enjoy being together day-in and day-out. That part makes the rest easier, honestly."

BOYS LACROSSE ROUNDUP

Northville off to 2-0 boys lacrosse start

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Senior All-American Alec Melucci had another big offensive showing as Northville made it two straight Saturday on the young boys lacrosse season with a 17-5 victory at Farmington.

Melucci led the way with five goals and four assists as the Mustangs improved to 2-0 overall with the non-conference win.

Other top scorers for Northville, which led 9-0 at halftime, included: Josh Bentley (three goals, one assist); Paul Lindow (three goals); Connor Sweeney (one goal, three assists); Harry Dyson (two goals); Brennan Sweeney (one goal, one assist); Rob Sneed and A.J. Batshon (one goal each).

Alex Justice went the first three quarters in goal for the Mustangs before giving way to Jack Breuch. The two combined for 12 saves.

FOREST HILLS CENTRAL 9, DETROIT CC 7: Visiting Grand Rapids Forest Hills Central overcame a 5-4 halftime deficit Saturday to beat last year's MHSAA Division 1 runner-up Novi Detroit Catholic Central in the season opener.

Zack Crawford had one goal and three assists, while Pete Thompson and Justin Baker added two goals apiece in a losing cause.

Mickey Williams (first half) and Hunter Braun (second half) divided the goalie duties for the Shamrocks.

"We're really young in a lot of places and it showed," CC coach Dave Wilson said. "We pushed the ball too much and we had somewhere between 20 and 30 turnovers."

NORTHVILLE 10, DeLaSALLE 5: Senior Alec Melucci finished with five goals and one assist, while junior midfielder Harry Dyson chipped in three goals and two assists as Mustangs opened their season Friday with a win at Tom Holzer Field.

Junior twins Connor and Brennan Sweeney also tallied a goal apiece.

"I thought it was a great effort by the guys," said Northville coach Greg Durham, whose team led 7-3 at halftime. "I thought they came out and played hard."

"The defense made some adjustments. We played pretty well. We cleared OK. Offense clicked pretty well. They really focused on Melucci. They locked him off and he still scored five goals when they played him really tight defensively. We couldn't get him the ball as much, but Harry (Dyson) played awesome. He played out of his mind."

The Mustangs won more than 50 percent of the face-offs.

"We weren't quite good at that last year," Durham said. "That was one of the plusses of our game was winning face-offs. And we dominated on ground balls, 34-16, which is a huge stat. We won almost every ground ball that we could."

Northville goalie Alex Justice stopped 8-of-13 shots by the Pilots, who got three goals from Alexander Tykoski and two from Taylor Annas.

NOVI

Head coach: Eric Hoffman, third year.
League affiliation: KLAAs (Kensington Conference).

Last year's overall record: 12-6.

Titles won last year: Kensington Conference co-champions.

Notable losses to graduation: Travis Sparling (first team all-state defense); Alex Caprara (second team all-state special teams); Keith Pravato (honorable mention all-state midfielder).

Promising newcomers: Anthony Zagaro, Soph., attack-MF; Griffin Sparling, Jr. MF-attack.

Hoffman's 2015 outlook: "We've been blessed with a lot of good lacrosse players and they just have to realize that it's a team sport. Once they do that and realize they have to play within the system, you're going to get your goals. And when they do, we're going to be a dangerous team. We have a young attack and we lost a lot of offensive power from last year. We basically need people to step up and fill those roles as goal scorers. Our defense is strong. We have two returning long sticks and a goalie that started quite a few games last year for us. It's going to be fun. I'm excited this year."

Def.; Anthony Salamone, Fr. MF.

Durham's 2015 outlook: "Unlike any other year, this is the most athletic team I've ever had, just looking at the roster and seeing the guys in all the other sports. This is the first year I've had a lot of depth. Every day we're evaluating. There's so much depth, I don't know who is going to start. It's really good and we have really good chemistry right now, which I'm pretty excited about. It's a great group of guys, couldn't ask for a better group of guys. I really think offensively we should be solid. Defensively, we have most of the guys returning from last year that all know the system. We have a few newcomers, but they've picked it up pretty quick."

CATHOLIC CENTRAL

Head coach: Dave Wilson, 10th year.
League affiliation: Catholic League (Division 1).

Last year's overall record: 15-6.

Titles won last year: MHSAA Division 1 regional champs; state runner-up.

Notable losses to graduation: Jack Van Acker (first team all-state attack); Sean Birney (first team all-state midfielder); Sean Stanners (second team all-state attack); Marc Longe (third team all-state midfielder); Joe Williams.

Leading returnees: Justin Baker, Jr. attack (30 goals); Zak Crawford, Sr. MF (captain); Rocco Mularoni, Jr. attack; Matt Foreman, Sr. Def. (captain); Alex Jarzembowski, Jr. MF (first team all-state special teams); Mickey Williams, Sr. goalie; Andrew Carris, Jr. MF (first team all-state special teams); Dan Diederich, Sr. Def.; Wyatt Engle, Sr. Def.

Promising newcomers: Hunter Braun, Soph. goalie; Jon Phillips, Jr. goalie; Nick Bazany, Jr. Def.; Mike Edwards, Jr. Def.

Wilson's 2015 outlook: "We have a bit more of a team-oriented offense this year. A selected couple of guys are going to be better at shooting, but we had to retool our entire offense. We haven't had a whole lot of practice time, which everyone is struggling with."

OUTLOOK

"At Catholic Central, the expectations are always high," coach Dave Wilson said. "We would love first to focus on winning the region and moving on from there. I think we have a good shot at that."

Northville (10-5) reached last year's Division 1 regional final before falling to University of Detroit-Jesuit, 11-5.

The Mustangs feature a team that is primed to make a deeper run in the state tourney.

"Harry Dyson has improved ten-fold," Northville coach Greg Durham said of the junior midfielder, who has tallied five goals already in two games. "He's going to be a guy to be reckoned with this year."

"And Melucci ... he's just unbelievable. It's amazing to say that, because this is a kid who has only played lacrosse for four years in his life and he's already an All-American. He's an awesome athlete, an

Northville pitchers combine to two-hit U-D in 12-2 mercy

By Brad Emons

Even though temperatures were 17 degrees below normal for March 23 and hovering in the low 30s, Northville was able to start its baseball season Monday on time with a chilly 12-2 six-inning victory over University of Detroit-Jesuit.

The Mustangs scored six runs in the second inning and ended the game on the 10-run mercy rule with two more in the sixth.

Starting pitcher Evan Flohr, a senior left-hander, worked the first 2½ innings, allowing one earned run on two hits to pick up the win. He struck out five and hit two batters.

Senior right-hander Ian Borthwick worked the final 3½ innings and was impressive, throwing only two called balls while not allowing a hit.

"From a pitching standpoint, they were probably the most comfortable out of anybody because they were moving around," Northville coach John Kostrzewa said. "Evan (Flohr) hit the guy with a curveball. The grip was an issue, more than anything else. And Ian (Borthwick) sitting in the dugout for 2½ (innings), then going out and doing what he did and throwing strikes, was pretty amazing. We threw strikes, that was the biggest thing."

Senior Tyler Lowe paced Northville's seven-hit attack by going 2-for-4, including a double, four RBIs and three runs scored. Junior Zach Prystash also chipped in, going 2-for-3, including a double and three runs scored.

"Today we were able to swing the bats real well, considering the cold," Kostrzewa said. "We had some real good disciplined at-bats. I was really impressed with the way they battled the cold today. They were mentally tough and they grinded out at-bats and they were patient. So I was impressed in that regard."

OHL HOCKEY

Whalers franchise bids adieu before packed house

Love-filled atmosphere outshines Erie's McDavid as fans say good-bye

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

The Connor McDavid Show came to Compuware Arena for one night and the performance was as dazzling as advertised.

He turned on a dime, made slinky moves that turned Plymouth Whalers goalie Alex Nedeljkovic into knots and sparked the Erie Otters to a 5-1 victory Saturday night before a standing room only crowd of 4,070.

"He's unbelievable," Plymouth head coach Don Elland said about McDavid. "Like they say, once every 20 years a kid like that comes along and he's a special player, that's for sure."

McDavid, after being robbed of two goals in the first period, set up linemate Dylan Strome to open the scoring and then tallied a goal himself — his 44th of the season.

Yet for one evening, at least, the Erie superstar — the odds-on favorite to be the first player selected in the 2015 NHL Entry Draft — did not garner the most buzz.

That went to a night of goodbyes between the Whalers and their fans, together experiencing the end of the Peter Karmanos-owned Ontario Hockey League franchise.

Banner raised

"I thought raising the banner was really cool, really neat," said Elland, whose injury-ravaged team missed the OHL playoffs for the only time in franchise history with a 23-38-5-2 record. "And then at the end, the fans saluting the players and the players saluting the fans. It's just a special, special moment."

"There's the old saying you don't know what you got until it's gone and a lot of people I think realized that."

Final outcome aside, fans made the most of their last opportunity to watch the Whalers.

The Otters (49-14-2-2) struck quickly in the second. McDavid sent a cross-crease pass to Strome, who made no mistake in scoring his 41st of the year on a one-timer at 2:22.

Just 1:10 later, McDavid flew down the left wing, zeroed in on Nedeljkovic and banked one in off the left post.

Erie's Taylor Raddysh made it 3-0 with 13:07 to go in the period.

But the Whalers didn't stop competing and trying to give their fans a proud sendoff.

One time, a dangerous shorthanded rush was foiled when the Otters' net was knocked off its moorings; another time, defenseman and Canton native Tyler Sensky clanked a shot off the goal post.

It would have been Sensky's first goal as a Whaler in his final hometown game.

Solid effort

"We battled and competed to the very end," Nedeljkovic said. "There was a lot of talk that with McDavid and Strome coming in that they were going to light it up, playing against a 10th-place team, ninth-place team actually."

"I think we did a good job of controlling them, for the most part."

What happened on the ice took a back seat to what transpired off it, though.

The affection between team and supporters was palpable from the get-go.

Before the start of the finale, fans watched 1990s-era captains Pat Peake, Mike Morrone and Randy Fitzgerald help raise a "Thank You Plymouth" banner to the Compuware rafters.

They warmly welcomed longtime coach and general manager Mike Vellucci, who brought his family to center ice and also dropped the ceremonial first puck.

"It was great, the pregame was awesome, it was nice to have my family here," Vellucci said. "Postgame, it was a great celebration for the organization for the last 25 years and 18 years here."

"It was a great night all-around, a sad end, but we should thank Mr. Karmanos for owning a team for 30 years and sticking it out for as long as he did."

Late in the third period, winger Bryce Yetman tipped in a blue line blast taken by defenseman Yannick Rathgeb. That spoiled Erie goalie Daniel Dekoning's shut-out bid (to make it 4-1) and gave the Compuware faithful one final chance to cheer a Whalers goal.

Drawing the second assist for Plymouth was defenseman Mitch Jones.

When the final minute drew near, the public address announcer informed the crowd that there was "one minute left in franchise history," triggering a standing ovation as play continued.

with eight seconds left briefly interrupted the ovation.

'Unbelievable'

The players then congregated at center ice following the game and raised their sticks to salute the fans — whose cheers grew louder and louder.

"I've never played in this building where it's been so loud," said Nedeljkovic, a Carolina Hurricanes prospect who made 28 saves against Erie. "It was just an unbelievable atmosphere all night."

After vanishing under the stands for a few moments, the entire team then re-emerged to skate in single file along the perimeter of the rink, one final opportunity to give thanks.

Nedeljkovic said

"skating around the rink and giving every single section, every single fan, the appreciation that they deserve" was his biggest takeaway from the night.

The goaltender's next OHL home game will be as a member of the Flint Firebirds at Perani Arena. But he won't forget Plymouth.

"Plymouth's become a second home to me. I've been up here for four years now, made a lot of friends here, met a lot of people," Nedeljkovic said. "It's a great place to play, a great city, a great group of guys and a great managing staff."

He was trying to rein in his emotions as he talked about the end of this chapter of his life.

"All the way from our manager to the last guy on the roster to our equipment guy, a lot of emotions came out tonight," Nedeljkovic said. "And I think that's something special, because that shows you that everybody was committed to making us better and helping us move on with our careers."

"It's hitting right now. We'll see come Monday and Tuesday, when I'm sitting at home doing nothing."

Certified Pre-Owned Lincoln Spring Sale-A-Thon at Varsity Lincoln in Novi

By Greg Mullin
Staff Writer

Varsity Lincoln of Novi is celebrating the start of spring with a Sale-A-Thon event. This event is different than other dealerships — no gifts, no trips, just great deals. More than 800 vehicles are ready to go. Certified Pre-Owned Lincolns are on-site, ready to drive off the lot for as little as $12,995.+

In 2014, there were 540 Certified Pre-Owned vehicles delivered at Varsity Lincoln, making the dealership the number one Pre-Owned sales volume dealer globally.

The dealership has held the honor of highest-volume sales dealer globally since 1997.* Varsity offers a newly remodeled showroom, indoor delivery area and service reception aisle.

Last year, Varsity Lincoln celebrated its 20th anniversary and won six prestigious automotive awards: the Triple Crown Award, Lincoln Leaders of Excellence, President's Award, Ford One Hundred Club, CPO Sales Leadership and Premier Club.

Visit Varsity Lincoln these next three days to catch the deals:

- » Thursday, March 26, 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.
- » Friday, March 27, 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.
- » Saturday, March 28, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"I have the MKS and I love, love, love the technology in it," said Lincoln MKS owner Latanya Tarleton, who has been a customer at Varsity Lincoln for 16 years. "I get the best service here. I never have to worry about anything."

Certified Pre-Owned Lincoln vehicles come with many benefits, including:

- » A meticulous, 200-point inspection by factory-trained technicians
- » 6-year/100,000-mile comprehensive warranty coverage
- » Complimentary 24/7 roadside assistance

"The warranty is key. With Certified Pre-Owned, you get the best from Varsity Lincoln," said Jere Law, Varsity Lincoln's General Sales Manager and Pre-Owned Director. Certified Pre-Owned financing is available for as low as 0.9% APR.**

"Leasing or buying from the number one dealer in the country gives you the best selection, price and service. Our dealership is ready to assist customers with anything, whether it is special financing or a specific request. We can handle every unique situation."

A Certified Pre-Owned 2013 Lincoln Navigator Ultimate 4WD is on sale now at Varsity Lincoln of Novi.

VARSITY LINCOLN

This dealership provides The Varsity Lincoln Advantage. Varsity Lincoln team members are selected based upon their unwavering focus on customer care and satisfaction.

"I have an MKZ from Varsity Lincoln; I've had it for about a year now. It's a beautiful interior, a beautiful exterior, it handles well on the road and gives me good gas mileage!" Lincoln MKZ owner Gary Trudeau said. "I love this place. I wouldn't even consider buying a car from anybody else!"

Jason Towe told us why he got a Lincoln, stating "I definitely love the comfort and the sportiness of the Lincoln. The cost was a big factor for me; it was actually cheaper than my last car I owned, and I feel I'm getting a better quality car for what I'm paying!"

"There are numerous benefits of purchasing a Certified Pre-Owned, including the outstanding warranty that comes with the vehicles," Law said. "The 100,000-mile free bumper-to-bumper warranty that comes alongside all Certified Pre-Owned purchases is better than a new car warranty! Additionally, any time the vehicle is in for a service visit, you can receive a loaner for no cost exclusively at Varsity Lincoln!"

"Loaded with features, a Lincoln will satisfy any customer. Certified Pre-Owned vehicles not only provide peace of mind on the road but also provide a combination of sportiness and luxury. Benefits include FWD or AWD, EcoBoost, Navigation, Bluetooth, SYNC, an adaptive suspension, a panoramic roof, and heated and cooled seats for comfort, just to name a few. Drivers will also enjoy peace of mind from knowing that Lincoln vehicles will hold their value. Any depreciation has already been taken on by the previous owner. Plus, advanced styling and dependability add to a Lincoln vehicle's value."

"Our customers speak for themselves and how their experience is. When you read the reviews our customers write online, you can see how happy they are before, during and after the sale," Law concluded.

*Based on 2015 Total New Retail Sales, Pre-Owned Sales and Service Customer Satisfaction per Lincoln Sales Report.
**As low as 0.9% APR for up to 36 months on select vehicles for qualified customers with Tier 0-1 approval through preferred finance source. Offer subject to change at any time. See Varsity Lincoln for details.

1913-built Plymouth home has modern amenities

By Julie Brown
Staff Writer

A home at 1217 W. Ann Arbor Trail near downtown Plymouth was built in 1913 and extensively remodeled in 2000.

“It’s a great property,” Coldwell Banker Preferred Realtor Jimmy Stevens said of the home, for which a sale is pending due to current owners relocating for work. “It’s got a pretty cool back story.”

The home has been listed by Coldwell Banker Preferred of Plymouth at $539,000. It has five bedrooms and three and a half baths, and is in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district.

The owners who are selling bought it in 2000, Stevens said. “They added on about 1,300 square feet if not a little more. They did a lot of updating. They still kept a lot of the original. It has that mix of old and new.”

There’s a new kitchen, and a new basement was dug to supplement the older basement. The two basements couldn’t be connected, Stevens explained, and the home has some 60-70 percent of its footage on the old basement.

New floors were added to the two-story colonial, along with new windows and updates for electrical and mechanical.

“This house got a lot of traffic,” said Stevens. “Downtown Plymouth is a hot market.” Stevens had another city of Plymouth property, on Peniman at the corner of Sunset close to Sheldon, about nine months ago.

“That went right away,” he said. “It’s just a hot market. There’s a lot of money coming through downtown Plymouth.” That includes not only buyers, he said, but also investors interested in residential properties.

Canton resident Stevens grew up in Plymouth and in the real estate business. His dad’s the broker at Coldwell Banker Preferred, his mom the relocation director there.

“I grew up in this office, basically,” said Jimmy Stevens, licensed for three years in his field.

The city of Plymouth home has five bedrooms. “It’s a great property,” said Realtor Jimmy Stevens of Coldwell Banker Preferred Realtors of Plymouth. View a photo gallery of this home at www.hometownlife.com.

Conversation is a natural around this kitchen island at the city of Plymouth home.

He noted the I-275 Plymouth-Canton housing corridor is hot. Properties go at least at listing price.

“There’s a lot of good things happening now in real estate,” Stevens said. “It wasn’t fun five-six years ago, It’s been busy, definitely a good problem to have.”

Start spreading proposal news to condo association

Q: I want to make a proposal at the next meeting of my condominium association. How do I get my proposal publicized?

A: Subject to its own internal procedures, your association is required to include in any meeting notice any proposal a member intends to put forward at a meeting, provided it is a proper subject for member action, and provided the member notified the association of the intent to present the proposal at the meeting within a reasonable time, but refer to your attorney for specific requirements embodied in the changes to the Nonprofit Act, which became effective on Jan. 15, 2015.

Q: Because many of our association members are vacationing during certain months, I would like to know whether members may vote on proposals by ballot without a meeting?

A: If your bylaws or Articles of Incorporation contain a provision permitting the taking of actions of the members without a meeting, then, yes, your association may use ballots in lieu of a meeting. Specific language is required in the ballot. Members must have at least 20, and up to 90 days to vote after the association provides the ballot to them to cast their vote.

Additionally, if 10 percent or more of the members submit a proposal for action by the members without a meeting, the ballot must also include that proposed action based on recent changes to the Michigan Nonprofit Corporation Act.

NOTICE TO BRIGHT HOUSE NETWORKS CABLE CUSTOMERS

This notice is to inform our Bright House Networks customers of upcoming changes to their cable programming lineup.

From time to time our agreements with cable channels and television stations come up for renewal. While we do not anticipate any loss or disruption of service, regulations require us to notify you of the possibility of losing programming. Therefore, please be advised that our agreement with Youtube remains in effect on a month-to-month basis, but we may have to cease carriage in all formats if our authority to continue is withheld. Also, our agreement with Reelz expires on April 30, 2015 and we may have to cease carriage in all formats if our authority to continue is withheld.

We are working diligently at this time to come to acceptable and fair terms with all these channels.

On or after May 1, 2015, Vivid TV On Demand will be added to Premium Subscription On Demand channel 847.

Bright House Networks utilizes a new digital video delivery technology known as Switched Digital Video (SDV). SDV is a robust bandwidth management system that makes it possible to offer more digital video programming services than before including new HD channels. To be able to offer more new video services, Bright House Networks will be moving some existing programming services to the new SDV system as well as adding new services on the SDV system.

On or after May 1, 2015, the following service will be added to the SDV system:
• Vivid TV Premium Subscription channel 848.

These services will not be available on unidirectional retail devices as of the date(s) noted above. If you want to subscribe to these services, you will need a digital set-top box or tuning adaptor from Bright House Networks. Customers may continue to use their unidirectional retail device and CableCARD to receive video programming other than the programming delivered on the SDV system. Customers who also utilize a digital set-top box or tuning adaptor will be able to receive video programming delivered on the SDV system. Customers will be notified in advance of any other programming changes.

Handling a new job and new problems

Check out these tips for overcoming a tough project, meeting the demands of a new role and discussing your concerns with the boss.

A new job comes with more challenges than simply learning everybody's names. And at some point in everybody's career, a project feels too big to tackle or the workload feels insurmountable. Before you settle into a pit of despair, though, check out these tips for overcoming a tough project, meeting the demands of a new role and discussing your concerns with the boss. You may be surprised by how quickly things can turn around.

Break it down

Chances are that you've only realized you're in over your head after a big project is underway. And as Elissa Ashwood, CEO of Truly Accomplished, a talent technology firm in Pittsburgh, notes, this isn't something that only happens to new employees. She says, "In fact, the more you succeed, the more you take on, the more likely you are to feel this way at times. The secret is to handle it well to resolve it!"

To do this, Ashwood says, take a cue from management consultants, whose jobs are to deal with situations over their heads. One trick they employ is to turn immediate problems into smaller tasks. "Break the big problem into several smaller problems. They are easier to solve," says Ashwood. "For example, if you have to deliver a fitness marketing project and you don't know where to focus, the parts might be: the audience you are targeting, the problem you are solving for the client, the message, and the medium you'll deliver it. Each of the pieces is clearer. Answer each one and add them back up. You'll find that you already know some of the answers already. And for the ones you're stuck on? It's a lot easier to go to someone else and say 'I know the audience, problem and vehicle, I'm stuck on the message.' For extra bonus points, repeat this break-down on the part you're stuck on. For will even know that an hour ago you were overwhelmed!"

Go with the workflow

If your workload or responsibilities are more the problem than one specific project, it may be time for some of your work habits and expectations to adapt. For example, getting input from your team, making realistic time commitments and managing your progress are all ways to get back on track.

Here to elaborate is Jennifer Bevan, a career coach based in Los Angeles. She offers these three tips:

1. "Before diving into a project, have a conversation with your manager or team members about the project scope, timeline and anticipated results. Don't be afraid to ask for input and to bounce ideas around with seasoned colleagues — you are new to the company and this is expected. Not only will you show you are open to ideas and suggestions, but you are beginning to build your network at the company and want to demonstrate an interest in getting up to speed.
2. "Don't take on more than you can handle. This starts with making realistic commitments to deadlines. No one will be impressed with you if you complete a project quickly, but the end product is riddled with errors, poor assumptions, or lack of thought.
3. "Break your work into manageable pieces — tackle small pieces one at a time. Put together a timeline so you feel organized and in control of your work. Perhaps, you complete a section of your work, set up a meeting with your manager and solicit feedback. You can position it like 'I'd love to share with you what I have accomplished so far to get your input and to make sure I'm on the right track.' Your manager will appreciate this, as they don't know the quality of your work yet — this will help you build credibility and gain their trust quicker."

Get on the same page

Checking in with your manager can help align your intentions with the demands of the role, and can also help to avoid any surprising issues later. Chaz Pitts-Kyser, career coach and author of "Careeranista: The Woman's Guide to Success After College," recommends setting aside time to speak with your manager and share that some parts of the job are taking longer than anticipated to grasp. She says, "Follow that by saying that just in case they had any concerns, you wanted to let them know that you are taking steps to get your work up to par and be the valuable member of the team that you know you can be. Then explain the steps you are taking to improve.

"Often times, bosses avoid confrontation and won't bring up someone's poor performance until it has become a real problem, through bringing the issue up first, you put yourself in control of the situation and can help allay a manager's fears about you," Pitts-Kyser says. "Also, your boss may end up pointing you to resources or people that can help you stop treading water and finally start swimming."
