NORTHVILLE'S PRESENT AND FUTURE DEFINED

City, township, schools pitch brighter days ahead

By Lonnie Huhman
Staff Writer

The Northville community is striving to make a bright future.

The State of the Community Luncheon, hosted by the Northville Chamber of Commerce, was an opportunity for residents and the business community to hear from its city, township, and school district on the past year's successes and look ahead to the possibilities and plans. It was the biggest turnout yet for the annual event.

Held on April 15 at Meadowbrook Country Club and sponsored in part by St. Mary Mercy Hospital, the luncheon's featured speakers were Northville Public School District Superintendent Mary Kay Gallagher, City of Northville Mayor Chris Johnson and Northville Township Supervisor Bob Nix.

Northville Public Schools

"The students and teachers are the heart and soul," Gallagher began her talk about the school district.

This was demonstrated well with help from Silver Springs Elementary School fifth-grader MacKellar (Mac) Graham and first-grader Addison Thakady, who acted out a news broadcast of the different happenings around the district.

Through the help of video, the students and Gallagher highlighted the growth of Leader in Me and International Baccalaureate; gave examples of community service through food packing events like Kids Against Hunger; and noted academic achievements, such as the class of 2015 having an average ACT score of 25.1 out of a possible 36.

Gallagher also noted the Sinking Fund Millage renewal on the May 5 ballot as an important way to protect the future of the stu-

Northville made: North Center Brewing opens

By Lonnie Huhman
Staff Writer

Just an idea four years ago, the taps at North Center Brewing Co. are now filling pint glasses and the doors are open for beer lovers to give this new Northville business a taste test.

Owner Kevin DeGrood and his team wanted to create a look and atmosphere celebrating an ultimate craft beer experience, and they've done it inside the newly built location across from Hiller's Supermarket.

Now their plan is to gain fans by using great products that are made with the best that Michigan has to offer.

"We've been anxious to get to this point, and it feels good to finally see people in here enjoying what we have," DeGrood said this past week after celebrating a soft opening April 11 and the official opening on April 16.

The Northville Soccer Association's season has started, but it took yet another back-and-forth between the Northville Parks and Recreation Commission and the association to reach a last-second agreement on a contract for field rental.

This year's dispute came to a head at the Parks and Recreation Commission meeting on April 1. The haggling isn't new, with player information and finances being two areas of dents and continue advancing the excellence of the district. This renewal will help continue the needed repairs around the district without a tax increase.

Mac summed it best when he said, “Northville Public Schools is building a culture of student empowerment.”

City of Northville

Mayor Johnson has been speaking at the luncheon for years now. His speech highlighted the highlights and challenges.

The challenges for the city and community continue to be financial, since the economic and subsequent crash in property tax values in 2008. Revenues decreased and municipalities like the city of Northville have had to face down the challenges while seeing things get a bit better over the last two years. However, Northville will need another four years of decent growth to see the revenue numbers of the mid-2000s.

Another challenge Johnson noted, and this is for the entire community, is roads and repairs. He said the upcoming statewide road funding proposal will be a big moment, but added there are other ways the situation can be helped, like decreasing the amount of truck weight allowed on roads.

“We can’t keep kicking the road problem down the road,” he said.

The highlights of his presentation were plentiful, from upcoming summer events and happenings to positive developments around the community.

The city has taken steps to improve its way-finding signage, master plan for future development, and downtown pedestrian walkway. Johnson also pointed to the future pathway coming to Maybury State Park, new businesses like the Village Workshop and North Center Brewery, and upcoming Friday night music concert series as evidence to the growing positive vibe and energy.

He ended his talk with his traditional nod to the Hazardous Waste Day and its importance for the community.

Northville Township

“The vision is looking forward,” Nix said in describing the township’s present outlook and its goals.

Nix went right into the highlights, starting with the development at Seven Mile and Haggerty roads, which is moving full steam ahead with the new restaurants opening and others planned. He said a big help in leading development at this corner is the University of Michigan medical facility.

Nix said all of this development will help generate tax revenue that will eventually help the township tear down and clear its property next door, the former state psychiatric hospital land. The big question for this land is the main seven-story building and when it will come down.

“Three to five years,” according to Nix.

The overall demolition and clearing of the land is estimated at over $13 million with the big building probably costing around $5 million. Nix said this will be done in small bites, but they are calling the big building a priority.

Next he pointed to the present and future growth of technology companies calling the township home, specifically in the Five Mile Corridor, better known as the Michigan International Technology Center. Aisin Technical Center of America and ZF Group now call Northville Township home with others expected.

Things will continue to develop on the old Scott Correctional prison with mixed-use of residential, commercial and technology firms expected to come in the near future to the corner of Beck and Five Mile roads. He said REDICO, Real Estate Development and Investment Company, has put a good proposal forward for the 50 plus acres.

Nix ended the luncheon by saying the township is one part of the whole Northville community and what they do is for, “the enhancement of our entire community.”

cade and Ahtannum hops, balanced with a good malt profile.

Another one great for the season is True North Summer Wheat, which is the brewery's ode to summers in Michigan that has a hint of orange peel for a citrus finish and nice bodied head.

And, in tribute to Northville, they've created the Stinson Amber. The Stinson Aircraft Company was a mainstay in Northville for many years. This amber has a sweet and balanced malt profile offset with Cascade hops for a balanced beer.

These are just three in what will be a revolving list of creations.

The interior of the brewery features walls highlighted with wood, a comfortable bar, flat screen televisions and a cool shuffleboard table. Although still doing some hiring, DeGrood said they've assembled a great team of servers, who he said have been phenomenal in getting the brewery ready for opening.

It's been a journey to get here. There were city council meetings, debates about parking and impact on the residential neighborhood, and construction.

DeGrood said they have received a lot of support from many in the community and want everyone to know they are here to be part of this great community, which is why they chose Northville.

“Now it's time to pay back that support,” he said.

North Center Brewing is located at 410 N. Center Street. It's open from 5-11 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, 5 p.m. to midnight Friday; noon to midnight Saturday; and noon to 8 p.m. Sunday.

concern. The NSA season was set to start in two weeks at that time, so a signed contract was needed.

Northville Supervisor and Park/Recreation Chairman Robert Nix said the main things they want to happen with the contract are to establish a sense of fairness and cover liability issues. The commission emphasized that they are not against soccer, but rather they want to have a fair approach to all users of the community fields.

Information requested

The liability is in the fact that Northville Parks and Recreation, a shared city and township service, owns the fields NSA plays on. Therefore, the commission wants all of the necessary player information in case of an emergency, even though NSA is not officially part of the parks and recreation department.

NSA President Steve McGuirk has repeatedly expressed concerns in the past and this year over releasing player information to entities outside of the NSA. He and his team eventually consented, after getting parental permission, and gave the necessary details (names, addresses and phone numbers) to the Parks and Recreation Department so the season could go forward as planned.

Much of the information the commission asked for has been given, but it was after the deadline to have the contract signed. NSA said the timing of the season start and spring break make it difficult to get the parental permission needed to release the personal details. They need to know who is playing and touch base with them before they can release any info. However, NSA officials do feel there are privacy issues around this that need to be addressed.

The NSA is a parent and volunteer-driven group established in 1973. It exists to support 4,200 soccer players in the Northville community, both city and township. Another part of the program is Michigan Rush. NSA has grown immensely over the years and been a very successful youth activity.

Cost implications

One issue for the commission is that there are some players outside of the Northville community participating in the program, specifically with the Rush program, who are using fields paid for by community tax dollars. With the amount of money devoted to field maintenance over the years in order for soccer to happen, the commission feels it has subsidized a program that isn't totally community-based because of outside players.

The commission said it was dishing out more money than it was taking in for soccer. Over the last decade or so the commission said it has subsidized soccer to the tune of $700,000.

Soccer has two seasons, spring and fall, which is longer than many of the other sports that use the community fields, so field maintenance for soccer costs more.

There has been a slight overall rate increase this year of just over $5,000, but Nix said it's only being done so there is a more reasonable allocation for both parties. For 2015, the Parks and Rec. Commission estimates it will pay out around $154,000 for soccer and bring in around $138,000. In 2010, costs were $100,000 more than revenue.

McGuirk said some parents in the NSA feel as if they are being double taxed. He cited the recreation millage in 2007 that earmarked monies to develop soccer fields at Community Park, which had been labeled by some as the soccer millage.

However, Northville Township Manager Chip Snider said the true field cost is determined by labor and resources used to cut the grass, stripe the fields, fertilize the fields, and provide damage repair and top dressing due to wear and tear.

The cost for NSA to rent a field is $8 less an hour than Novi, yet the fields require similar care, Snider said.

As it stands, there is still some friction between both sides, but the season is moving forward. One possible outcome of this latest dispute is the commission will look into the possibility of organizing and establishing its own soccer association, one that is under the Parks and Rec. Department purview.

Amerman students firmly rooted in reading

By Lonnie Huhman
Staff Writer

Reading Month at Amerman Elementary was a celebration rooted in a belief that reading leads to a life full of possibilities.

The month culminated in the school-wide event called Future Career Day in which students dressed up in the costume of a career they might want to do in the future.

According to Amerman teacher and reading month co-planner Elizabeth LaManna, each week during March they had a special day to celebrate reading. One week there was "Hats Off to Reading Day" that coincided with an all-school read-in to kick off the month; another week was "Dress like your favorite character day" and they even had a "Read my shirt day."

All of this culminated with the final day of reading month as they celebrated the knowledge that being rooted in reading leads to a life full of possibilities.

"So students dressed up as their future selves," said LaManna. "We had doctors, athletes, teachers, firefighters, scientists and engineers. There was even one girl who dressed as an equestrian."

First-grader Max Samhat dressed as a firefighter because he said he wants to help people when he's older.

"What I like best about reading is that I learn about stuff like history," Max said.

Fellow first-grader David Selik said he dressed like a doctor because he likes taking care of others.

He summed up what he likes best about reading when he said, "Reading is fun!"

Some of the highlights from Reading Month included the weekly book trivia questions and book recommendations. LaManna said each week students had the opportunity to enter into a drawing to win a book by answering questions about well-known books and authors.

Also, she said students turned in hundreds of book recommendations that have been posted throughout the building and several were shared each day during morning announcements.

Another highlight was the tree that was built by students from the roots up by different grade-levels meeting weekly reading goals. The end of the month Celebration Assembly with a special appearance by Smokey Bear was a great way to end the month.

There was a range of lessons and projects through the month. Some of the ones that stick out to LaManna were the read-a-thons that some grade levels held in which students committed to reading all day long.

There was a school-wide PTA sponsored Book Drive to support the Reach Out and Read Program from the University of Michigan. Amerman also had a wonderful visit from a local author, Maria Dismody, who spoke to all students throughout the day about how she gets ideas as a writer and the importance of being unique, respecting others, and finding your own voice.

"I like learning about stuff and how books are all different," said Emmi Blackman, a fourth-grader who dressed as a teacher for Future Career Day. "I like mysteries and adventures."

W.L. district marks Earth Day with poster contest

Each year, students from the Walled Lake Consolidated School District are encouraged to participate in a poster contest in celebration of Earth Day (April 22 this year). Entries were divided into elementary, middle and high school categories. In total, 227 posters were submitted as part of this year's contest. The winners of the 2015 WLCSD Earth Day poster contest are:

Paige Danner, third grade at Loon Lake Elementary School
Soshi Abe, seventh grade at Geisler Middle School

Leandra Gill, 12h grade at Walled Lake Northern High School

All eligible entries were displayed in the main hall of the Walled Lake Schools Operations building. Starting the afternoon of March 19 and running through the morning of March 23, voting was opened to everyone in the district. The top two finalists from each division were sent on to district administrators who made the final selections.

The three contest winners and their artwork will be recognized at the Board of Education meeting May 7. The posters are currently on display in buildings in celebration of Earth Day 2015.

"It's really exciting to see our students growing," said Melinda Miller, Walled Lake schools energy manager. "They are not only developing artistically, but also in their awareness of the need for conservation of our resources, ensuring us a healthier more sustainable future."

Northville's Thank-A-Staff program kicks off

Northville school families can honor a special teacher, principal, counselor, coach or other individual and at the same time support the many incredible academic, athletic and artist programs offered across Northville Public Schools through the 2015 Thank-A-Staff program. Now in its fourth year, Thank-A-Staff is a partnership between two of Northville's most devoted fundraising groups, the Northville Educational Foundation and Mothers' Club of Northville.

The 2015 Thank-A-Staff program kicked off April 15. Fliers, order forms and more information are available on both organizations' websites (NorthvilleEd-Foundation.org and MothersClubofNorthville.org) and also will be distributed via the school district's LISTSERV email service.

Donations also can be made online using PayPal. During the last week of school, all Thank-A-Staff recipients receive a personalized certificate, suitable for framing, with the name of the family or student who donated in their honor.

"Thank-A-Staff offers a unique way for Northville school families to express their appreciation to those outstanding staff members who have touched their students' lives in meaningful ways during the school year and at the same time provide additional funding to support teaching and learning across Northville Public Schools," Northville Educational Foundation President Eric Barritt said.

The Northville Educational Foundation and Mothers' Club of Northville are independent 501(c)3 charitable organizations that dedicate their funding to support Northville Public Schools.

The Northville Educational Foundation has raised and granted more than $2 million to Northville Public Schools since it was founded in 2000. Recent funding initiatives include the International Baccalaureate for middle and high school students; The Leader in Me for elementary students; student financial aid; innovative teacher grants; science, technology, engineering and math initiatives; and coaches programs and athletic assistance grants.

In its 80th year, Mothers' Club of Northville is dedicated to providing Northville students with programs proven to enrich their education. Through annual teacher grants awarded each spring, Mothers' Club has given more than $600,000 to Northville Public Schools over the years.

State press association honors Novi teacher, student

The Michigan Inter-scholastic Press Association honored Novi High School teacher Lydia C. Cadena with its 2015 Golden Pen Award.

Cadena was honored at MIPA's Spring Awards and On-Site Contests in Lansing, along with nearly 2,500 contest winners in the organization's statewide scholastic journalism contest.

The Golden Pen is the highest award MIPA bestows on a student media adviser and has been bestowed continuously since 1952. Teachers must be nominated by their students, who assemble an extensive portfolio showcasing the teacher's involvement in scholastic journalism activities and the impact he or she has had on current and past students.

The recipient is chosen by a committee of previous Golden Pen honorees.

"Lydia Cadena clearly is among the best journalism advisers in Michigan," said Jeremy Steele, executive director of MIPA and a faculty member in the Michigan State University School of Journalism. "Student media advisers not only help their students become critical thinkers, excellent writers and outstanding visual communicators, they guide students to develop their own voice so that they can be active, engaged members of the community."

Cadena has advised Novi High School's yearbook, Reflections, since 1997 and the school's student newspaper, The Wildcat Roar, since 2001. The Wildcat Roar has received a Spartan Award, MIPA's highest rating for a student media outlet, in nine of the past 10 years.

The newspaper was inducted into MIPA's Hall of Fame this year in recognition of this longstanding tradition of excellence.

In addition, Cadena has been an instructor at the MIPA Summer Journalism Workshop at Michigan State University and is a frequent presenter at MIPA conferences. She was named Novi Community Schools teacher of the year in 2011.

"The best teachers truly love what they do and teaching comes almost effortlessly to Ms. Cadena," Novi students Jennifer Hepp and Britanni Kiel, editors-in-chief of The Wildcat Roar, wrote in their nomination of Cadena. "Because of this, she has tremendously influenced the lives of countless students, regardless of whether or not they continued with journalism beyond high school. Ms. Cadena's professionalism, leadership and character are an extraordinary asset to Novi High School and she deserves more than anything to be recognized for her exemplary teaching."

Yarberry honored

The Michigan Inter-scholastic Press Association

also honored 16 outstanding high school seniors – including Novi High School photojournalist Megan Yarberry – as members of its 2015 Student Journalist Staff.

The students represent the state's top journalists among scholastic media outlets. Graduating seniors chosen for the Student Journalist Staff submit a portfolio of their work that is judged by a committee of student media advisers.

Yarberry was also among six members of the Student Journalist Staff chosen as all-MIPA Award recipients, the organization's highest honor for student journalists.

These journalists represent the top students in their field for news design, news writing and reporting, photojournalism, video, yearbook and multi-platform journalism.

Community In Action

At the March Northville school board meeting, Brian Lucido, a sophomore at Northville High School, earned his Community In Action – Hometown Hero Award. He was among a group of Northville High School students recognized for demonstrating a deep commitment to community service and making a positive difference. CIA was designed in 2011 by a handful of Northville Girl Scouts in response to the Common (College) Application, which allows students to list their 10 most significant accomplishments in high school. It is a free service run by volunteers and has grown each year. There are four themed awards a student can pursue, each requiring a minimum of 30 hours of verifiable service for a qualifying organization. CIA for Students is free of charge to all high school students who reside within the Northville Public Schools district.

Learn more about May 5 millage renewal

Northville Public Schools families and community members can learn more about the Sinking Fund Millage Renewal request that will go before voters in the May 5 election at a Community Coffee being hosted by district leaders 6:30-7:30 p.m. Monday, April 27, at the Northville Community Senior Center (303 W. Main Street). The coffee will begin with a brief presentation by Northville Superintendent Mary Kay Gallagher, followed by an opportunity for those in attendance to ask any questions or talk one-on-one with Board of Education members and district administrators.

The Building Site and Sinking Fund millage was originally approved by voters in 2011 and used to make much-needed repairs across the district's 10 school buildings and other facilities. The 0.9978-mill request on the May 5 ballot is a renewal of that millage and would not result in a tax increase for school district homeowners.

Priority projects for the next five-year period fall into the categories of Safety and Security, Improving Classroom Learning, Improving Energy Efficiency and Reducing Costs and Keeping Buildings Operational.

For more information about the Sinking Fund renewal, including answers to frequently asked questions, as well as voting information, go to the district website at www.northville.schools.org and click on "Millage Election (5/5/15)." Questions regarding the Sinking Fund can be emailed to nps@northville.schools.org.

HOSA state qualifiers

MARISSA DUNN

Last weekend, 184 Novi High School students competed in the state competition of HOSA, a club in which students who wish to have careers in medicine can learn more about specific careers in the field and compete in a variety of events. Novi had qualified more students than any other school in the state. These students were extremely successful, with 88 becoming state finalists, ranked in the top 10 in their events; of those, 45 have qualified to compete at the national competition in Anaheim, Calif., this summer. Novi students competed in a broad range of events, from Biomedical Laboratory Science to HOSA Bowl and Medical Math to Researched Persuasive Speaking. HOSA was formed at Novi High School last year and it has almost doubled in size since then - its members now making up almost one-eighth of the student body. Its success is due to the incredible determination and hard work of the students, the phenomenal teacher volunteers across the various subject areas and the exceptional guidance and planning of the club's adviser, Mrs. Pohlonski Building. This will give parents an opportunity to talk to staff, register and complete the necessary paperwork.

Summer C.A.R.E. will run weekdays from 6:45 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday, June 22, to Friday, Aug. 21. Registration fees are $130 for the first child, $110 for the second child and free for the third child. Daily fees are $40 per child. Lunch is included except for field trip days. All fees are non-refundable.

Students are assigned to the grade level they will be attending in the fall. The staff is well experienced and activities are age appropriate for the development of the students. Activities include field trips, crafts, science experiments, sports, games and more.

This program is for children age 3 who have attended one year of preschool and up to children going into the eighth grade, and it will be located at Novi Woods Elementary School, 25195 Taft Road.

Registration is also ongoing online from May 1-15. Packets, calendar of events and lunch menus are located on the website at www.novischools.net under Community Ed - Child Care.

For more information, call 248-449-1713.

Northville roundup, parent orientation

Northville Public Schools hosts two important events in the spring to ease some of your fears and answer many of your questions: Parent Orientation and Kindergarten Roundup.

Parent Orientation is an opportunity for you to hear about our program, meet key staff members, learn about your child's elementary school and ask questions. The evening is interactive and highlights what to expect the first few weeks of school and how you can help prepare your child for his or her first day. At registration, you will receive a folder with important information that we ask you to review prior to parent orientation. Please note: This is a meeting for parents only; children should not attend.

Kindergarten Round-Up is designed for your incoming kindergartner. Your child will participate in a number of activities that will help us get to know your child better and help him or her feel more comfortable in the classroom. When you arrive for Kindergarten Round-Up, we will greet you and your child and your child will come with us to start their busy schedule. While your child is with our staff, you will participate in an informational session highlighting our many important initiatives, including The Leader in Me. We will provide more details about the Round-Up experience at parent orientation.

The following are the dates for Kindergarten Parent Orientation and Round-Up at each elementary school: Amerman - April 30, 6:30 p.m. May 1; Moraine - May 11, 6:30 p.m. May 15; Silver Springs - May 6, 6 p.m. May 15; Thornton Creek - April 29, 6 p.m. May 7; Ridge Wood - May 11, 6:30 p.m. May 15; and Winchester - May 11, 6 p.m. May 12.

Students raise money through volleyball marathons

Students from Walled

Lake's Central, Northern and Western high schools have found a way to raise money for several charities in the local community and have a great time doing it. All three high schools recently hosted volleyball marathons at their buildings, where students were locked in for the entire night playing games, hanging out with friends and of course competing volleyball tournaments.

Central High School raised more than $21,015 with its volleyball marathon for Steps for Stella (www.youcaring.com/medical-fundraiser/steps-for-stella/292799), an organization charged with helping Stella DeMare and her family pay for the medical expenses associated with Stella's Nievorgelt mesomelic dysplasia. This money will go toward the purchase of Stella's new "magic feet" once hers are amputated.

Northern High School raised $7,551 with its volleyball marathon for the Emily Ann Griffin Foundation (www.eagf.org), which touches the lives of families that are not able to afford the costly medical equipment and expense for their children. Activities included volleyball, a hypnotist, dodgeball and a DJ.

Western High School donated $30,000 from its volleyball marathon to the Motor City Blight Buster (www.mcbbdetroit.com), an organization in Detroit that is helping to fight blight and rebuild the city. More than 300 students participated by raising a minimum of $100 to attend the 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. event that included volleyball, inflatables, airbrush tattoos, a comedian, lip sync battle, Zumba, yoga, life size Jenga, euchre, Wii games, board games, March Madness viewing, swimming and a DJ.

Margaret Baetz and her granddaughter Claire Matthews, who is in the Northville High production of “Annie.”

Decoder badge reveals treasured secrets of ‘Annie’

By Katy Baetz-Matthews
Correspondent

“3. 24. 5. 9. 7. Got it, kids? That’s the last part of Annie’s secret message. Use your decoder badge to uncover what she shared today.”

From 1930 until 1942, children eagerly spent 15 minutes every weekday afternoon by their family radios with Little Orphan Annie. With upbeat story lines and peppy characters, children eagerly followed the on-air adventures of Annie, her dog Sandy, Oliver (Daddy) Warbucks and Punjab.

Part of Annie’s broadcast included a secret message to members of the Radio Orphan Annie Secret Society. The way to decode the message was with the current year’s embossed decoder badge, available only to ROA Secret Society members. Additional benefits of membership included the annual handbook and updated wig-wag signs (hand gestures exchanged between members). New passwords were also provided annually. Members would quietly provide current passwords to each other before sharing confidential club news.

The cost of membership was Ovaltine labels. In a unique twist, this action-packed show with its chipper, red-headed heroine was developed by the brain trust behind Ovaltine, a chocolate flavoring for milk. Executives gambled that parents would keep buying the inexpensive treat if their children kept asking for it. They knew that radio would deliver their consistent message, but existing youth-focused radio shows had low ratings. Execs searched newspaper comic strips for the answer. They settled on, and hit the jackpot with, a radio version of Harold Gray’s Little Orphan Annie.

Margaret Baetz (formerly Cole) was one of those youngsters. Baetz grew up in picturesque Swartz Creek, a Flint suburb.

“In 1939, my mother got my membership for me,” Baetz said. “I was so happy when everything arrived. I was an official member of Annie’s Secret Society for the whole year. After hurrying home from school, I’d grab my decoder badge and race to the living room radio. I absolutely couldn’t miss the story or secret message. It was all very important.”

While many of the messages did promote the importance of drinking Ovaltine, Baetz insisted that some of the secret messages offered sneak peeks at upcoming story lines. When the broadcast ended, she decoded her message in strict privacy and then hid her treasured badge safely away until next time.

Even when Baetz’s decoder badge became obsolete with the start of the new year, she kept it in a special spot. High school, nursing school, a career as an R.N., marriage, five children and seven grandchildren later, it’s still in a safe spot. When she learned her granddaughter Claire Matthews was cast in Annie at Northville High School, she eagerly showed the decoder badge, still in perfect condition, to her youngest grandchild.

“From now on, my grandmother and I have our own very special connection to Annie,” Matthews said.

Annie, the high-stepping Broadway classic, will be presented by the NHS Drama Club (in conjunction with Northville’s Tipping Point Theatre) in the high school auditorium. This Tony-winning musical tells the story of “that little chatterbox, the one with curly auburn locks” and her young orphan friends as they navigate the Great Depression of the 1930s with songs, smiles and optimism.

The curtain goes up at 7 p.m. Thursday through Saturday as well as a 1 p.m. Saturday matinee. Tickets ($15) will be available one hour prior to each show and can also be purchased in advance by calling 248-924-2324.

“I’ll bring my decoder badge to opening night,” Baetz said, laughing. “You never know when there might be a secret message to decipher.”

Walled Lake Central students presenting ‘Guys and Dolls’

Walled Lake Central High School Performing Arts Department presents Guys and Dolls April 24-26 and May 1-3 at the school (1600 Oakley Park Road), with performances at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday matinees at 2 p.m.

Tickets can be purchased online through the secure Walled Lake Consolidated Schools ticket website (www.wlcstickets.com) or by calling 248-956-4980. Premium seating is available for $17 for adults, $14 for students and senior citizens. Reserved seating is available for $15 for adults, $13 for students and senior citizens.

This year’s show includes more than 56 actors on stage, 20 musicians in the pit orchestra, 10 students working back stage and a large number of dedicated parent volunteers working around the clock to bring this production to life.

Set in Damon Runyon’s mythical New York City, Guys and Dolls is an oddball romantic comedy. Gambler Nathan Detroit tries to find the cash to set up the biggest craps game in town while the authorities breathe down his neck; meanwhile, his girlfriend, nightclub performer Adelaide, laments that they’ve been engaged for 14 years. Nathan turns to fellow gambler Sky Masterson for the dough, but Nathan pulls one over on him by betting he can’t take the straight-laced missionary Sarah Brown to Havana, Cuba for dinner.

“This show is not to be missed! It will have you laughing and smiling from beginning to end,” said Amanda Kobayashi, Walled Lake Central choir director and teacher. “The students have worked so hard to really develop their characters and bring to life the NYC scene of 1950. Will Nathan and Adelaide ever marry? Will Sky convince Sarah that there can be fun in life? Come see to find out!”

Fox Run residents are Ford Tough

Novi's Fox Run retirement community is home to dozens of people who spent their careers at Ford. Howard Freers is one of those people.

After graduating from a small engineering school in Indiana in 1948, Freers went on to build a career in the auto industry. He worked for Ford as a chief engineer for 22 years and retired in 1988. When he moved to Fox Run, Freers was interested in connecting with the other Ford retirees who lived there. He decided to start a Ford group.

"I said, 'I need something to keep me occupied' and, last August, I found out there are 60-plus people living here who have some Ford background," Freers said.

In October 2013, he held the first meeting of the Ford group at Fox Run. Freers says about 20 to 30 people usually attend the monthly meetings and the club is open to people who worked at Ford, as well as to others who are simply interested in the auto industry.

What's on your bucket list?

Looking for ways to ensure 2015 is a great year? Creating a bucket list is a good way to start. A bucket list, whether big, small or random, notes things you most want to do, goals you want to achieve and dreams you hope to fulfill while making the most of life experiences. Achieving bucket list items initiates conversations, revitalizes direction and provides a feeling of self-satisfaction.

"The beauty of creating of bucket list is actually the process of putting items in writing," said Karen Kapchonick, Novi's Older Adult Services manager.

"Putting things in writing seems to hold us more accountable for achieving them."

Novi citizens ages 55 and older are encouraged to share their bucket list items via www.cityofnovi.org, at the Older Adult Services Office (45175 10 Mile) and at the Meadowbrook Activity Center, 25075 Meadowbrook Road. Novi's bucket list will be on display through April 30.

Novi producer's film premiering at Colorado festival

Eighteen-year-old Michigan native director Luke Jaden is set to premiere his first film foray into the horror genre early next month with The Listing, starring Erin Cummings (The Iceman, Cold Comes the Night) and Rob Zabrecky (Lost River). Written by up-and-coming Detroit author and screenwriter Josh Malerman (Bird-box), The Listing tells the tale of what happens in a haunted house before the unsuspecting family arrives.

Jaden's youthful, energetic approach to filmmaking is clearly palpable even in his description of the film. According to Jaden, "it's got a more psychological vibe to it that's atmospheric and moody. It feels like you're the magician's audience at a magic show set in an urban, gothic and decrepit theater."

The Listing will be playing Sunday, May 3, at the Stanley Film Festival in Estes Park, Colo.

Novi resident Michael Angelo Zervos (Papou) is the producer of Jaden's last two films.

"There are very few better film festivals I can think of to premiere our film," Zervos said. "The intimacy, success and solid lineup of past Stanley festivals gives us encouragement that the audiences will appreciate our twist on the horror genre."

Despite the recent success, Jaden isn't resting on his laurels. With one film just starting to make it into film festival lineups, he's currently completing post-production on another short film and starting pre-production on another. In his mind, his hard won lessons from The Listing have made an impact on his development as a busy filmmaker.

"I've learned that if you don't have a team that really believes in you or a cast that just really connects with their performances, you're better off not even making the film," he said.

For more information, go to <http://Motherand-midwife.com> or <http://www.kinotroika.com>.

Ethnic Festival aims for diversity

By Diane Gale Andreassi
Staff Writer

A first-time festival in New Hudson this August is designed to celebrate ethnic pride, traditions, food, culture and entertainment.

So far eight groups – East Indian, Finnish, Hungarian, Irish, Italian, Mexican, Scottish, Polish and French – have expressed interest in participating and some have committed to host booths showcasing their cultures, organizer Roger Ratkowski said.

"Our objective is to educate the community of our diversified cultures and for future generations," he said.

Come one and all

Ratkowski is looking for more groups to take part Aug. 14-16 at the festival, which will be held at Kojian Properties on Lyon Center Drive West (just west of Milford Road) in New Hudson. He would especially like to see participation among Japanese and Mediterranean countries, as well as regions below the equator.

The cost is $450 for a 10-foot by 20-foot booth, which will include access to water, electricity and garbage removal. Each group will be invited to sell food and souvenirs that represent their culture.

"This is for people to understand we are a diverse country," Ratkowski said. "It helps to keep family communities together. We need to keep cultures growing. I want people to remember the mom and pop stuff."

Many cultural groups are losing their memberships as older participants die and along with that, many old world traditions are fading away in the United States, Ratkowski continued, adding that the melting pot is erasing some of the flavor from countries where ancestors of many Americans originated.

Family time

Picnic areas will be provided and would be ideal, he said, for families hosting reunions. The only cost to participants will be $5 for every carload of people. Ratkowski said he was also trying to garner interest from a community group, like the VFW or Kiwanis, to run a beer and wine tent that would feature libations from countries around the world.

The program is sponsored by Lyon Events Organization, a nonprofit partnering with Lyon Township. Plans started to hold the ethnic festival last year, but failed because the event wasn't affiliated with a nonprofit group.

Ratkowski comes to the job of event chairman and festival creator with experience. He also directed a similar ethnic festival at Livonia's Wilson Barn, where he served as president of the Save the Barn historical group. He also gleaned ideas from the organizers of the Detroit Ethnic Festival.

"We would like to diversify from year to year and as we grow (the festival) will grow," Ratkowski said.

Contact Ratkowski at 734-546-7279 for more information or to include your group in the event.

Rusty Bucket shuts down for remodel

The Rusty Bucket Restaurant and Tavern in Northville (15400 Sheldon Road) closed Monday for a remodel and will re-open at 4 p.m. Friday, April 24, for dinner. Among the highlights will be new concept design enhancements and updated furniture and technology improvements.

“We know our raving fans will be thrilled with the improvements we have made and we appreciate their patience during the renovation,” said Steve Slack, general manager. “The renewed energy and enhanced ambiance will help ensure our restaurant remains the local gathering spot for guests in the Northville community.”

Slack said that the restaurant is perfect for professionals on their lunch break or as an after-work destination with their friends and families. This is the first major remodel of the restaurant since it opened in 2008.

A facelift for the restaurant’s décor will include new wood tables and chairs, leather booths and upgraded lighting in the dining room. Guests will be greeted with an upgraded host stand. A BuzzTable mobile texting system will be available to notify guests when their table is ready. Additionally, a new bar top will now seat more than 58 guests, including the bar area, which will also have new seating.

The Rusty Bucket Restaurant and Tavern in Northville is located at 15400 Sheldon Road.

Rusty Bucket sprawls across 4,500 square feet, including total seating for 214 guests. The patio, which is also receiving new furniture, seats 30 guests.

In addition to Rusty Bucket’s remodel, the restaurant group is adding two more locations in Michigan this year: a location will open in Northville Park Place in June and another will open in Bingham Farms in August. The restaurant company is hiring more than 200 associates at the new locations.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Michigan retail sales bounce back

Michigan retailers' sales rose sharply in March, rebounding from their steep drop in February, according to the Michigan Retail Index, a joint project of Michigan Retailers Association (MRA) and the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

The monthly sales index climbed more than 25 points to 66.8 in March. It had fallen more than 18 points from January to February as Michigan suffered through one of its coldest Februaries on record.

The March monthly

survey of MRA members showed 55 percent of retailers increased sales over the same month last year, while 25 percent recorded declines and 20 percent reported no change. The results create a seasonally adjusted performance index of 66.8, up from 41.7 in February and the highest level since last July. A year ago March the performance index stood at 44.8.

The 100-point index gauges the performance of the state’s overall retail industry, based on monthly surveys conducted by MRA and the Federal Reserve. Index values above 50 generally indicate positive activity; the higher the number, the stronger the activity.

Looking forward, 68 percent of retailers expect sales during April-June to increase over the same period last year, while 9 percent project a decrease and 23 percent no change. That puts the seasonally adjusted outlook index at 76.9, down from 78.5 in February and up from 76.2 in January. A year ago March the outlook index stood at 63.3.

More land at Ford Wixom plant site is on the market

By J.C. Reindl
Michigan.com

Property where the Ford Wixom Assembly Plant once stood is poised for redevelopment as the owners have re-listed more than 140 acres of the site in what has been one of metro Detroit's fastest-growing regions.

The Boston-based firm Barrow Development that bought 240 acres of the industrial site at I-96 and Wixom Road — including the massive and idled auto plant — for about $7 million in early 2013 has since sold several parcels and is looking to sell the remainder of what it owns.

It is now marketing 140 undeveloped acres for resale at $75,000 an acre, or $10.5 million, according to Barrow Development's website. Plus, it has listed an additional 40-some acres of property covered in concrete slabs for no cost.

Wixom officials said there has been some interest in the land, although no signed deals yet.

“We get inquires on a daily basis for a variety of different venues, from water parks to industrial-type commercial buildings,” Wixom Mayor

Kevin Hinkley said. “We had a plastics company come and look at the property back in the fall. They made a decision to go elsewhere, which was kind of disappointing.”

Already on the site is the newly built headquarters and retail store of General RV, as well as a nearly completed Menards store that is to open in the fall.

A 23-acre parcel was bought in the fall by Wixom-based Schonsheck, which said it is working with an unnamed developer to construct multiple buildings there for light industrial use.

“We'll build as soon as someone comes along and wants to build,” Schonsheck President Craig Zokas said.

Gone is the 4.7-million-square-foot Ford plant, which last produced Lincoln Town Cars before closing in 2007.

After buying the property from Ford's real estate arm, Ford Land, Barrow Development demolished the gigantic structure two years ago, sold the scrap metal and rebranded the area “Assembly Park.”

Last year, the firm's president, Brian Wilson, tried to convince Ford Land to buy back the site. He also accused Ford

Land of reneging on contractual obligations to clean up pollution on the site, claiming Ford was behind schedule and couldn't make a mid-2016 deadline. Ford Land disputed the allegations, saying it was actually ahead of schedule.

Today, Ford Land has essentially completed its job of trucking out 200,000 tons of contaminated soil to landfills, officials with the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality told the Free Press last week.

Yet there are still some unsettled environmental issues.

Tracy Kecskemeti, a DEQ district supervisor, said Wilson's company is responsible for improperly disposing of some demolition materials that should have been trucked out of the site, but were instead buried in pits there.

“We asked him to clean it up,” Kecskemeti said. “Mr. Wilson maintains that he's not in violation of the law; that he didn't dispose of anything improperly.”

Neither Wilson nor his attorney returned multiple messages for comment.

From the city's standpoint, the next step for the developer is to further groom the land for resale by removing all of the concrete and repurposing it into an access road, Hinkley said.

A Menards spokesman said the new store will feature a full-service lumber yard, garden center and a line of groceries.

The Ford plant opened in 1957 and employed nearly 5,500 workers at its 1970s peak, but only 1,100 when it closed in 2007.

Northville resident Jenereaux to become next Detroit Free Press publisher

Gannett has named Joyce Jenereaux president and publisher of the Detroit Free Press, effective May 16. She will also retain her responsibilities as president of Michigan.com, which represents all of Gannett's community publishing properties in Michigan, and serves as business agent for The Detroit News.

Jenereaux, a resident of Northville, has been Free Press president since 2013 and president of Michigan.com since 2011. Prior to that, she served as executive vice president of Michigan.com.

Jenereaux

Joyce has made — both to the Free Press and to the metro Detroit community it serves,” said Robert Dickey, Gannett's U.S. Community Publishing president. “Her leadership has helped build the voice of the Free Press and position it for a strong future.” Jenereaux will take on the publisher title

“The addition of the publisher's title acknowledges the many vital contributions currently held by Editor and Publisher Paul Anger, who last month announced his retirement, effective May 15. Jenereaux said a search is under way for a Free Press executive editor. “There is a grand tradition at the Free Press. For more than 180 years, it has been a trusted watchdog and a powerful voice for progress and justice in our community. And today, it reaches the state's largest audience for news and information,” Jenereaux said. “I'm looking forward to working with the Free Press staff to build upon that legacy and to continue to aggressively move us into new platforms and products that will serve our readers, expand our audiences and help our advertisers grow their businesses.”

A Detroit native, Jenereaux started her media career in 1990 as a financial analyst at what is now called Michigan.com. Earlier, she earned her CPA designation at the public accounting firm of Deloitte.

She holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from Eastern Michigan University and serves as chairman of the board of Forgotten Harvest, the nation's largest food rescue organization, and is involved with multiple other charitable organizations in the area.

Jenereaux also serves on the boards of the Detroit Economic Club, the Inforum Center for Leadership, Detroit Public Television and CATCH. In 2013, she was presented with the Neal Shine Award for Media Commitment to Philanthropy by the Detroit chapter of the Association of Fundraising Professionals.

Michigan.com represents the state's largest media audience through the broad portfolio of digital and print products from the Detroit Free Press, The Detroit News, Lansing State Journal, Battle Creek Enquirer, Port Huron Times-Herald, Livingston Daily Press & Argus and the Observer & Eccentric, which includes the Novi News.

Gannett Co. Inc. (NYSE: GCI) is an international media and marketing solutions company with a network of broadcast, digital, mobile and publishing properties.

Say yes May 5 to Proposal 1

Michigan roads and bridges need fixing – now. Proposal 1, although not perfect, offers a path for that to happen. On Tuesday, May 5, voters can raise taxes to ensure that roads and bridges will be repaired or say no and deal with the deteriorating, often unsafe, road conditions for several years to come.

For too many years, state leaders have settled for short-term fixes for roads instead of long-term solutions. Michigan roads are worse than other Great Lakes states. It's not surprising that Michigan roads and bridges are crumbling.

» Michigan spends 70 percent less per mile or $2 billion less than the Great Lakes average.

» One in three roads are in poor condition and one in nine bridges is considered “structurally deficient” by the Federal Highway Administration.

JOHN HEIDER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER
Voters' approval of Proposal 1 on May 5 will help generate funding to fix potholes on Michigan's roadways.

No one likes a tax increase, but current road and bridge conditions are dangerous. Proposal 1 guarantees that state taxes collected at the pump will go to transportation.

Proposal 1, if approved, will raise the state sales and use taxes from 6 to 7 percent (a 17-percent increase) and institute a new tax on gasoline and diesel. It will also remove fuel from sales tax collection.

The new fuel tax will pay for roads and replace the revenue – and more – that will be lost by removing fuel from the sales tax base.

Proposal 1 also extends pavement warranties to projects more than $1 million and most local road projects. If the roads are not built right, the road builders — not taxpayers — will pay for the repairs.

Some opponents of Proposal 1 claim to have a Plan B. Really? Plans C, D and E are also out there, according to some opponents. The problem is none has seen the light of day and none has the legislative or public support needed to solve the road problem. And the state can't wait another two or three years to fix roads and bridges.

Potholes that are more like sinkholes, crumbling bridges and buckling pavement are dangerous. Proposal 1 is the best available solution to a problem that has been ignored for years.

The time is past to argue. Without more money – an increase in taxes – our state roads and bridges will continue to crumble.

Voters should be aware that they are being asked to approve a proposal that raises money beyond what's needed for roads. Money will go to restore education revenue levels and another portion of funds will improve revenue sharing to local communities. It isn't ideal to lump all of these complicated issues into a single vote but, in doing so, legislators gave voters an opportunity to shore up three areas of need at the same time.

Safe roads and a sound transportation infrastructure are important to moving Michigan forward.

Vote yes May 5 on Proposal 1.

Vote yes for Northville's future

On May 5, Northville Public Schools will ask local voters to approve a renewal of the sinking fund levy. In my mind, this is a win-win proposal for the schools and residents. As a resident, you will see no tax increase and the local schools will continue to see much needed updates to their buildings and infrastructure.

The .9978 mil levy renewal equates to approximately $250 of tax on a $500,000 home – and, unlike the regular school tax, all of the money is allocated to Northville Public Schools. We have all seen and are able to enjoy the improvements from the initial sinking fund levy: parking lot and drainage upgrades at Amerman, a safer and more aesthetic entrance to our football stadium, energy-efficient heating and cooling enhancements, and advances in technology throughout the district.

Our property values remain high in Northville and Novi due in large part to our strong public school system, and it is important for us to support these local schools by maintaining our buildings, equipment and property.

I urge you to vote yes on the sinking fund proposal on May 5, not just for our future leaders but for our community as a whole.

Vote yes, protect investment

As the chair of the Citizens Committee that supported the Northville Public Schools technology bond that was approved by voters November 2012, I am so grateful for the support of the community. This initiative ensured that each dollar collected stayed in Northville and provided the much needed resource to replace aging technology for our kids.

The school district's Sinking Bond Renewal request is a very similar initiative in that each dollar brought in will be used on many projects identified through a Facility Condition Assessment. Resources will be allocated to updating building safety and security, improving classroom learning environments for our kids and keeping buildings operational. The Sinking Bond Renewal will help preserve the General Fund dollars for instruction and student learning.

A yes vote Tuesday, May 5 will not only help protect our investment in our schools but, more importantly, in our community and our kids.

Vote no on Prop 1

Spending the winter in Florida, I have not been following Michigan politics, but I see we are having a special election to deal with road funding. It is a disgrace that, despite the fact that Republicans control our whole damn state, they still could not do what their own governor asks and find the funding to fix our horrible roads. They are wasting how many millions for a special election that will be decided by just a few voters so they can avoid blame for a tax increase.

So we will continue to trail the nation as we pay higher taxes and still have the worst roads. I don't know why Michigan voters keep voting in Republicans that raise their taxes.

I will be back in town to vote against higher taxes.

Chuck Tindall

Approve road repair proposal

This letter will be only one of many published in newspapers across the state concerning the May 5 ballot proposal to fund road repair in Michigan. Many of these letters will run along the line of, “Our legislators booted the ball on fixing roads, so let's send 'em a message and vote against their bill.”

There can be no question that our legislators booted the ball, repeatedly, on fixing roads, but the job needs to be done. By voting no on the proposal, the only message that Lansing will hear is: “We were right to do nothing. The people have spoken, and they don't want the roads fixed. Good job, guys.”

The decaying of Michigan's highway infrastructure does more than threaten the tires, wheels and suspensions of our beloved automobiles; it threatens the continuance of the state's economic recovery. When making decisions on where to locate new manufacturing facilities, transportation considerations weigh very heavily in the process. A continuing downhill spiral of our roads will drive new opportunities out of the state.

There are those, such as State Senator Patrick Colbeck, who claim that the roads can be fixed without new taxes. He filled almost a half page in this paper last week, explaining how he had “assembled no less than four viable options” (his words) for fixing our roads with no cost to the tax payer. Mr. Colbeck has spent no less than four years (my words) in Lansing doing nothing at all to address this problem, in spite of being, as he proudly proclaims, the vice chairman of the Senate Transportation Subcommittee on Appropriations. It does seem like he was ideally positioned to make a difference, and yet he did nothing. But he does expect us to put our faith in what he will do in the future.

For the sake of our state, we need to approve the ballot proposal to fix our roads. The ballot proposal may be less than perfect, but it is the only choice given to us by the gang in Lansing, and saying “no” now will mean that nothing happens for two more years, and we cannot afford to wait.

The time for sending messages to our state lawmakers will come next November, during the general election, and messages should be sent: We have suffered far too long with this do-nothing Legislature.

John D. Webster

Road tax – not really

It was a welcome relief to read Brad Wolkan's article in the March 26 Observer. Taxpayers should become informed about Proposal 1 before they exercise their right to vote on it May 5.

As Mr. Wolkan says, it is not a road tax, as being advertised. It is an increase in the sales tax where the revenue goes into the general fund. The present governor and legislature have said a portion of it will be used to fix the roads with major parts of it going to fund other issues.

No one disputes the fact that our roads are a dangerous mess and need to be fixed.

It is a disappointment that our legislators can only come up with this proposal to solve a problem they have been discussing for years. Apparently, the only way to move a proposal forward and satisfy every legislator is to put a solution to their issues in the proposal. Considering all the horse trading to get to this point, what assurance do we have the portion recommended for roads will stay in that category? Since all the funds go into the general fund, there is no assurance a future administration or legislature may develop a different set of priorities for these funds.

Most agree that additional revenue is needed to address the road issues, but why should we automatically have to agree to additional funding for schools and cities, low-income subsidies, and transportation support? The proposal is being sold as all or nothing – do this or nothing will get done. Many legislators are now not supporting the proposal, and discussing alternative “Fix Roads Only” proposals. A different way to fix the roads can be done!

Understandably, some won't agree with Mr. Wolkan and myself in our rejection of Proposal 1, but voters need to be informed what this proposal really is before they vote. Hopefully, most will not support Proposal 1.

GUEST COLUMN

Northville schools need your yes vote May 5

On behalf of the Northville Public Schools Board of Education, I am asking school district voters to vote yes Tuesday, May 5, to renew the 0.9978-mill Building and Site Sinking Fund levy; the current levy expires Dec. 31.

A mill represents $1 for every $1,000 of the taxable value of your property and over the next five years will raise approximately $2.5 million per year for repairs and maintenance of the district's buildings – all but three of which are 40 years old or older. Because this is a renewal of the district's current Sinking Fund millage, it will not result in a tax increase for Northville Public Schools' taxpayers.

In preparation for the Sinking Fund renewal request, the Board of Education recently hired TMP Architecture, Inc., to perform a facility assessment, based on criteria set forth by the board to evaluate and prioritize the most pressing projects where these funds would do the most good. The board's criteria include:

- » Enhance safety and security.
- » Improve classroom learning.
- » Improve energy-efficiency and reduce costs.
- » Keep buildings operational.

A detailed list of anticipated projects presented under the categories above and designed for each building can be found at www.northvilleschools.org.

Passage of this renewal levy is critical to the district and the community for several reasons.

First, it keeps taxpayer dollars in Northville. This levy is assessed on taxpayer property within the district and is not shared with any other district from the county or state.

Second, the $12.5 million raised over the next five years will allow projects to be completed without expending General Fund monies, which would hamper the district's ability to accomplish its core mission of instruction and student learning. Targeted projects will provide enhanced learning opportunities, enabling students to learn and grow in a safe, secure and healthy environment.

And lastly, protecting the community's investment in our buildings will ultimately attract new residents to Northville, as well as retain our current community members. Newcomers not only desire strong academic opportunities, but buildings that are inviting and welcoming for their children.

Over the past 10 years, dwindling foundation allowance allocations from the state have necessitated funding alternatives such as this Sinking Fund renewal. Since 2005, the district's foundation allowance has decreased from $8,224 per pupil to $8,099. Without even a consideration for inflation on the part of the state, the district continues to do more with less. And without a clear-cut picture of any future increases from the governor, House or Senate perspective, this Sinking Fund renewal is our best opportunity to keep the current level of academic, athletic and art programs now enjoyed by more than 7,000 district students.

The Board of Education is grateful for your continued support of our student learners and is committed to providing transparent oversight of your tax dollars as we plan and implement these much-needed Sinking Fund projects based on the criteria outlined above.

Board of Education members are happy to discuss the renewal levy with you via the phone numbers listed on the Northville Public Schools website, noted previously. For more information about the Sinking Fund renewal, including a detailed list of anticipated projects and answers to frequently asked questions, go to the district website at www.northvilleschools.org. Community members may also review the projects completed with the initial Sinking Fund levy, consistent with what was communicated prior to the election in May 2011. You also can share your questions and comments with district officials via email at nps@northvilleschools.org. Those seeking to lend their support to the renewal effort are encouraged to contact the Citizens Committee for Northville Schools through its Facebook page at www.facebook.com/VoteYes-ForNPS or at www.voteyesnps.org.

I and my fellow Board of Education members (Scott Craig, vice president; Jim Mazurek, secretary; Matt Wilk, treasurer; and trustees Roland Hwang, Ann Kalass and Adam Phelps) will be voting yes May 5 for the millage renewal proposal, Building and Sinking Fund tax levy for Northville Public Schools. May we count on your yes vote, too?

Arbor Day: Planting trees, rebuilding communities, restoring hope

As the nation celebrates Arbor Day (April 24), let's reflect on the value of trees and highlight the important ability of trees to restore hope, bring healing and lift spirits following natural disasters. Trees are vital to successful, long-term recovery efforts – from a critical conservation recovery perspective and also when considering the emotional healing and recovery of people and the fabric of a community.

Trees bring hope and healing, raising the spirits of residents who suffered the loss of their cherished trees. Many shared a similar sentiment as that of the good people of Mississippi.

Dan Lambe
GUEST COLUMNIST

When asked why he came for the trees, one resident responded, “So I can bring life back.”

Trees serve many purposes. They are very much a part of the fabric of life and of the community. Trees provide both physical and emotional landmarks – marking childhood adventures, romantic walks and lazy Saturday afternoon picnics, among others. Trees evoke memories and help to establish a sense of place, meaning and belonging. Putting trees into people's hands following loss serves to lift spirits, restore hope and help to begin the healing process. This Arbor Day, it is important that we recognize that trees are vital infrastructure just like our roads and our bridges.

Disasters, such as wildfires, tornadoes, windstorms and floods, wreak havoc upon both our physical and emotional landscapes. The comfort and security – the sense of place provided by our trees – is dramatically altered and sometimes even erased. New trees bring hope and are part of the holistic recovery of a community following a natural disaster.

After Superstorm

Sandy, residents of New Jersey experienced first-hand the hope and healing brought forth by new trees. One said, “More and more communities are engaged. We are on the road to recovering our precious tree canopy, one tree at a time.”

The need for an orchestrated disaster response that includes providing new trees to communities in need is today more important than ever due to increased threats of severe storms and wildfires. When natural disasters strike, our partners on the ground, including state foresters across the nation, are poised to respond and ready to provide new trees through the generous support of our caring members and partners. The 2015 Community Tree Recovery campaigns are visible across the country in Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, Oklahoma, Texas and Washington. Trees are part of the recovery process. Together, we can continue to bring life back through trees.

In Texas, a local official helped plant new trees to replace trees lost in the devastating 2011 wildfires. He said, “As we plant these trees, we're helping people to know that life goes on and things can be restored.”

Arbor Day reminds us all to plant, nurture and celebrate trees.

Let's continue to plant trees whose benefits will be enjoyed not only by us, but also by our nation's children and grandchildren.

This Arbor Day, let's appreciate the trees for their important role in helping to establish a sense of place, meaning and belonging; for serving as both physical and emotional landmarks that define important milestones along life's journey; and for being so seamlessly, intricately woven deeply into the rich fabric of our life and our community.

Please join me and thousands of others as we continue to work directly with our state forestry leaders on the ground to put trees into people's hands following the loss caused by natural disasters, so that we may lift spirits, restore hope and help to begin the healing process.

Dan Lambe is the president of the Arbor Day Foundation, a nonprofit conservation organization founded in 1972, the centennial of the first Arbor Day observance. For more information, go to www.arborday.org.

Group looks to combat phragmites problem

By Laura Colvin
Staff Writer

In addition to choking out native plants, phragmites can also reduce property values, increase the risk of fire and damage infrastructure.

That was the message from a member of the Oakland Phragmites and Invasive Species Task Force, who spoke at a recent meeting of the Highland Township Board of Trustees.

According to the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, phragmites (pronounced frag-MY-teez) is a perennial, invasive type of grass that crowds native plants and animals out of wetlands and coastal areas with its tall, dense mass of reedy stalks. Phragmites is quite difficult to eradicate if treatment is not rendered properly; while the stalks can grow to 15 feet, 70-80 percent of the plant exists below ground in a mass of roots and rhizomes that grow 6-10 feet into the ground.

Although a native variety of phragmites does grow in Michigan, environmentalists warn the rapid spread of the invasive, non-native type threatens ecological health of inland lakes and wetlands, as well as the Great Lakes shoreline. Phragmites also blocks shoreline views and reduces access for swimming, fishing and hunting.

Local perspective
OPIS representative Emily Cord Duthinh

HAL GOULD | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER
A car drives past an area consumed by the invasive phragmites across the street from Colasanti's on Milford Road.

spoke about the invasive plant and the group's ongoing efforts in other parts of the county to control the spread of phragmites.

She pointed to an example in Highland Township, highly visible across from Colasanti's Market where, on the opposite side of Milford Road, phragmites has crowded out much of the native plant life.

"Phragmites in a place like that harms the wildlife and changes the hydrology," Duthinh said. "You'll notice the flooding that's very frequent across the road; it dams up natural drainage and causes flooding and can also dry out wetlands as it builds up many feet of muck."

The OPIS Task Force, she said, was founded about three years ago in Independence Township by a group of citizens aimed at preserving the quality of Oakland County's lakes, streams and wetlands by protecting those waterways from invasive species.

The group aims to accomplish its mission in large part by empowering concerned citizens and government in Oakland County and beyond through education, advocacy and action.

"Phragmites and other invasive plants reduce property values and increase the risk of fires and other liabilities," Duthinh said, noting a fire at Great Lakes Crossing in 2012 that burned 160 acres, causing shutdown of the mall and I-75 as well as evacuation of nearby homes and businesses. "Phragmites burns very fast and very hot."

Timing important

Those who set out to treat phragmites should do the research first, but Duthinh said January through June is the best time to pre-cut or burn large infestations to get rid of dead biomass above ground.

"You cannot control phragmites by pulling it up or mowing it," Duthinh said. "Burning and cutting alone will not get rid of it (either)." But good results can be obtained through a multi-faceted approach that includes cutting and burning in winter when the ground is frozen, making it easier to treat phragmites with a herbicide during the recommended period in August or September. An MDEQ permit is required for treating plants growing in water.

Keep it simple

Duthinh encourages local officials to consider an approach akin to that adopted in Orion Township, which recently became the first municipality in Oakland County to develop an ordinance aimed at controlling phragmites.

Orion, Duthinh explained, keeps the process simple for residents by obtaining a township-wide DEQ permit, hiring contractors to treat public properties and providing residents with information.

"If you tell a homeowner they need to identify invasive plants, find licensed qualified contractor, apply for a MDEQ permit ... it just sounds intimidating. It really is not that difficult, but it sounds intimidating," she said.

"If you tell them, 'It's all done for you, all you have to do is pay your portion, with a group discount,' that's easy. People are on board with that, especially since they're working with their neighbors."

Boating safety tips a timely spring message

By Julie Brown
Staff Writer

As temperatures warm and boaters head to local waters, Sgt. Mike Wasil, who heads the Marine Patrol for the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, offers some safety tips.

The law has changed when it comes to alcohol use and operating a boat, Wasil said: "It's kind of changed to mirror the alcohol driving laws."

For boaters, 0.08 percent is now the level used in law enforcement arrests. "There's not really an impaired anymore," Wasil said. "At 0.08, you are legally intoxicated."

"It's always best if you have a designated driver. The law doesn't say they can't" drink on a boat, he noted, so long as the 0.08 threshold isn't crossed. The wave impact and beating sun affects boaters who are drinking. "It does add to the effects," he said. Wayne County sees its share of intoxicated boaters each season.

The other key area in boating safety is personal flotation devices, which older boaters may recall as life jackets. The law says for boats less than 16 feet, you must have a PFD for everybody on board, either wearable or throwable (such as a seat cushion or life ring).

"On that one, we would recommend a wearable for everybody. Kids under 6 have to wear them when they're on the open part of the boat," Wasil said.

For boats 16 feet and up, you must have a wearable PFD for all on board, as well as one throwable for all. "The PFDs have to be sized for the people on the boat," Wasil said, noting adult sizes will slide off children in an emergency and be dangerous.

Some boaters add a whistle to their PFDs, so those who fall overboard can alert the boat operator. "It's a good idea," Wasil said. "It's not required by law."

There are even small strobes that can be put on a PFD for safety.

"That's usually your big factors for accidents and drownings," Wasil said of alcohol use and lack of PFDs on boats.

Last year, Wayne County saw two drownings on Belleville Lake, as well as one on the Rouge River near the Henry Ford mansion. In the Grosse Pointes, a fisherman drowned in 2014 after apparently falling overboard. Another drowning death occurred from a jet-ski accident later in the season by Gibraltar.

PFD use is mandated on jet skis, Wasil said: "They're made to go in pretty shallow water. It's just knowing where to go."

Some jet-ski users have trouble when they jump boat wakes, "which can lead to accidents," he said.

The PFDs should always be approved by the U.S. Coast Guard and Wasil cautions parents against using the children's arm "floaties," especially on boats.

He and his unit patrol the full Detroit River, part of Lake St. Clair and a couple of miles south into Lake Erie to the border with Canada. Belleville Lake is its only inland lake.

"We do go up and down the Huron River," which has fishermen and other recreational users, he said. The Rouge is less used by such people.

The unit has about five staffers, plus six reserves, for its work. The sheriff's department works with U.S. Border Patrol and U.S. Customs and Border Protection, as well as partnering with Brownstown Township police.

"It makes it easier to cover stuff by being able to partner with the other agencies," Wasil said.

Wildcats get 2nd place in Kensington pre-tourney

Northville earns fourth on tough weather day

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Conditions were less than ideal during Monday's KLAA Kensington Conference boys golf preseason tournament held at the par-72 Walnut Creek Country Club in South Lyon.

And it was Plymouth which was able to manage the whipping winds and occasional rain to earn 11 conference points with a four-player total of 322, nipping host Novi (324) by just two strokes.

Canton placed third with 336, while Northville captured fourth with 341, followed by South Lyon (347), Livonia Stevenson (353), Salem (357), Livonia Churchill (361), South Lyon East (369), Livonia Franklin (394), Westland John Glenn (493) and Wayne Memorial (523).

Churchill's Sam Spayd took medalist honors with 71.

Leading Plymouth was junior Kyle Kozler, who registered 77, good for third overall. Other scorers for the Wildcats included Andrew Lloyd, fifth (79); Justin Kapke, seventh (81); and Connor Zydeck (85).

Novi got a runner-up finish from Bryan Fegert, who fired 76, followed by Ryan Welch, fourth (78); Mikey Ulle, tied ninth (82); and Erik Czekaj (88).

Billy Ulle (tied for 30th) and Connor Howell (tied for 43rd) rounded out Novi's contingent with 91 and 96, respectively.

"The boys played extremely well in very inclement weather," Novi coach Brad Huss said. "The team is in good position for the conference standings because they earned 10 points with their performance."

Northville's top scorers were Akhil Alluri, tied for seventh (81); Abhi Alluri, tied for 14th (85); Jacob Pierce, tied for 17th (86); and Daniel McKee, tied for 26th (89).

Jon Stott (31st) added 92 and Kyle Abraham (tied for 34th) shot 95.

It was almost elementary, but Northville did a better job of connecting the dots during the second half in its 2-1 KLAA Central Division soccer victory April 16 over Livonia Stevenson.

The defending MHSAA Division 1 state champion broke a 1-1 deadlock with just 10:28 left in the match when senior Kelly McHugh, taking a feed

McHugh's late goal secures 2-1 victory over Stevenson from sophomore Sydney Schembri, was able to deposit a shot past Stevenson junior goalkeeper Hannah Reamer for the game-winner.

"The second goal is the kind of stuff we talked about at halftime ... learning to get out of the long ball stuff and play a little bit more with 10-, 12-yard passes," said Northville coach Eric Brucker, whose team improved to 6-1 overall and 3-0 in the KLAA Central. "They strung good passes together and she finished. I don't really know why their goalie came out so far, so fast, but we took advantage of it. That's a 'W,' a division win."

Talk about holding serve.

That was the story Saturday as Northville maintained its No. 1 girls tennis ranking in Division 1 by capturing the Grosse Pointe South Quad while upending the No. 2 and defending state champion Blue Devils, 22-18.

Grand Rapids Forest Hills Central and Pontiac Notre Dame Prep rounded out the field in third and fourth place, respectively.

GIRLS LACROSSE ROUNDUP

DWIGHT HANSELL

Northville goalie Gabby Goree (middle) makes a save late in the match surrounded by fellow defenders Paige Chapman (5) Shayla Crouteau (37) Anastasia Heath-Sheppard (9) in Friday's 13-6 win over Harrison.

Northville extends winning streak to 10

The win streak continued Monday night for the Northville girls lacrosse squad.

The Mustangs made it 10 straight and 4-0 in the KLAA's Kensington Conference with a 10-9 victory over host South Lyon Unified in a match at South Lyon East.

Grace Guibord and Liz Hansell each scored three goals, while Sarah Chase, Audrey Tatge, Ally Blough and Emma Dietrich chipped in with one apiece as Mustangs held off a late South Lyon rally in the final quarter after leading 9-5.

"The team played with a lot of heart," said Northville first-year coach Amanda Asher, whose team was tied 5-all at halftime. "Our best offense was our defense. They communicated well and that was definitely the game."

"We were super-pumped up after the half and we got four goals," Asher said. "They got it to within one goal late, but we hung tough and played defense. We won the draw and our defense intercepted. I couldn't be happier right now."

Goalie Gabby Goree made 10 saves.

The loss dropped South Lyon to 5-3 overall and 3-1 in the conference.

NOVI 15, SALEM 10: Gina Salemi and Morgan Statezny each scored a pair of goals Monday as the Wildcats (7-1, 2-1) pulled away in the second half for a KLAA Kensington Conference win at home against the Rocks.

Katie McMaster, Alanna Clark and Willow Guenther each added two goals, while Rachel Bayer had one as Novi outscored Salem 10-7 in the second half after leading 5-3 at halftime.

Mariah Smythe and Sydney Davis split time in goal for Novi.

NORTHVILLE 13, HARRISON 6: Senior Grace Guibord scored six goals and added one assist as Mustangs (9-0) continued their winning ways with a non-conference win over Farmington Hills Harrison at Tom Holzer Field.

"I'm proud of them, they hit the ground running and it worked out well for us," Northville coach Amanda Asher said.

Other offensive contributions for the Mustangs came from Emma Dietrich (three goals); Audrey Tatge (one goal, three assists); Liz Hansell (two goals, one assist); and Charlotte Beaudoin (one goal).

Goalie Gabby Goree made 10 saves.

The chippy game ended on a sour note as one player from each team was ejected for fighting, according to Asher.

NOVI 17, SKYLINE 6: Whitney Guenther scored six goals April 16, while Alanna Clark and Gina Salemi added four each as the Wildcats (6-1) bounced back from their first setback of the season with a lopsided non-conference win at Ann Arbor Skyline.

Morgan Statezny and Katie McMaster each chipped in two goals, while Mina Cunmulaj and Jenna Mikkelsen added one apiece.

Mariah Smythe and Sydney Davis split time in goal for Novi.

NORTHVILLE 16, WALLED LAKE 7: Grace Guibord collected three goals and three assists as the Mustangs (8-0, 3-0) rolled to a KLAA Kensington Conference victory over host Walled Lake United at Western High School.

The Mustangs also got a hat trick from Liz Hansell and two goals apiece from Ally Brough and Emma Dietrich.

Other goal scorers included Maren Simonte, Audrey Tatge, Shannon Leary, Sarah Chase and Charlotte Beaudoin.

The Mustangs, who got seven saves from goalie Gabby Goree, outscored Walled Lake United 8-3 in the second half after leading 8-4 at intermission.

"We woke up in the second half and played to win, so overall it was a good performance," said Northville coach Amanda Asher, whose team has outscored its opponents 113-56 this season after finishing with a 1-13 record a year ago.

SOUTH LYON UNITED 11, NOVI 10 (2 OTs): Host South Lyon Unified (5-1, 3-0) tallied the lone goal during the second overtime April 15 to hand the Wildcats (5-1, 1-1) their first setback in a KLAA Kensington Conference encounter.

Morgan Statezny scored five goals, while Alanna Clark added two for the Wildcats. Other Novi goal scorers included Willow Guenther, Gina Salemi and Katie McMaster.

Goalie Mariah Smythe made seven saves for Novi, which went a player down during the final 24 minutes after accumulating four cards. (South Lyon picked up two cards.)

"The game was heavily carded, even though it was not at all rough," Novi coach Amy Kilgore said. "I was incredibly proud of the effort and integrity of my team. It was an emotionally charged game and they were a class act."

BOYS LACROSSE ROUNDUP

Northville stymies South Lyon Unified

Novi keeps pace in conference race

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

The Northville boys lacrosse squad is back on a roll again.

The Mustangs made it five straight wins Monday with a 14-4 KLAA Kensington Conference victory at South Lyon Unified.

Senior Alec Melucci continued his torrid scoring paced with six goals and three assists as Northville improved to 7-3 overall and 4-0 in the conference.

Connor Sweeney added three goals and an assist, while Brennan Sweeney, Harry Dyson, A.J. Batshon, Brendan Hicks and Daniel Baldwin also tallied a goal apiece.

Josh Bentley also finished with three assists, while Brennan Sweeney added two as Northville pulled away from a 5-3 halftime lead.

Goalie Alex Justice finished with 10 saves.

Dave DiRado had three goals, while Kameron Rakowski had a goal and assist for South Lyon (5-3, 1-2).

"I was shocked at how well we played," Northville coach Greg Durham said. "It was closer than we wanted. But we were able to get separated and we really played well the second half. Won won face-offs and ground balls. Defensively, Connor Wright was all over the field and picked up six ground balls. It was a good win for us."

NOVI 10, SALEM 5: Anthony Zugaro scored three goals and Michael Werth added a pair Monday as the Wildcats (7-2, 4-0) stayed atop the KLAA's Kensington Conference with a victory over the host Rocks (4-5, 0-4) at Centennial Educational Park.

J.T. Lyon, Ian Patterson, Ryan Moore, Griffin Sparling and Nathan Tu also added goals for Novi, which led 6-1 at intermission.

Northville's Alec Melucci (left) and Connor Sweeney (right) are able to cause a turnover against a Clarkston attacker in Saturday's 10-9 overtime win.

Peter Minor (second half) combined for 11 saves.

"It was a good team effort tonight," Novi coach Eric Hoffman said. "Everyone played and had an impact on the game. The defense again played strong, shutting down their top players Noal Willer and Joey Krause to a goal apiece."

NORTHVILLE 10, CLARKSTON 9 (OT): Paul Lindow tallied the game-winning goal in overtime Saturday as the host Mustangs (6-3) edged the Wolves (2-4) in a non-league match played at Tom Holzer Field.

Senior Alec Melucci finished with a team-high six goals, while Lindow and Harry Dyson added two apiece for the Mustangs, who captured their fourth straight.

Brennan Sweeney, who assisted on the game-winner, contributed a goal and two assists. Josh Bentley, Connor Sweeney and Melucci also drew assists.

Cole Phillips and Austin Egler tallied three goals apiece for the Wolves.

DETROIT CC 14, ST. ANDREW'S 9: Rocco Mularoni notched four goals, while Zach Crawford contributed a hat trick Saturday as Novi Detroit Catholic Central (7-3) downed host St. Andrew College (5-4) in a non-league match in Aurora, Ontario.

The Shamrocks used three different goalies – Hunter Braun, Mickey Williams and Jonathon Phillips – in the victory.

NOVI 10, HOWELL 9: The Wildcats (6-2) got the game-winning goal from Luke Gulau with only 33 seconds left Friday off an assist from teammate Ryan Moore to beat the visiting Highlanders (4-4).

"We ran a normal set play and we ran it to perfection," Novi coach Eric Hoffman said.

Senior Michael Werth paced the Wildcats with four goals, while Griffin Sparling and Gulau added two each. Tyler Graver and Moore added one each as Novi overcame a 9-6 fourth-quarter deficit.

"Our defense as a whole played really well," said Hoffman, who also singled out the efforts of Tommy McMaster, Jimmy Hole and Nick Meadors. "If we can continue to keep teams under 10 goals like we've been doing, we're going to have a great chance to win just about every time."

ST. MICHAEL'S 11, DETROIT CC 8: Zach Crawford scored three goals Friday, but it wasn't enough as Novi Detroit Catholic Central (6-3) had its six-match winning streak snapped by host St. Michael's (12-1) in a match played in Toronto.

Nick Capatina also added two goals for the Shamrocks, who were tied 6-6 at intermission.

Senior Mickey Williams went all the way in goal for CC.

NORTHVILLE 13, W.L. WESTERN 7: It wasn't a thing of beauty as far as Greg Durham was concerned, but the Northville coach came away satisfied with the outcome April 15 as the Mustangs (5-3, 3-0) beat Walled Lake Western (4-2, 0-1) at Holzer Field, their third straight victory.

The Mustangs got two goals and two assists from Josh Bentley, while other offensive standouts included Brennan Sweeney (two goals, one assist); Alec Melucci (two goals), Connor Sweeney (two goals), A.J. Batshon (two goals), Harry Dyson and Anthony Salamone (one goal each).

"We did not play our best and came out a little flat," said Durham, whose team led 5-2 at halftime. "We were not too good on ground balls, but we prevailed and it's win."

David Morrissey, who went 9-for-9 on face-offs, teamed up with Nate Holloway and Spencer Gonda to dominate the draws they combined for 21-3 advantage.

Goalie Alex Justice made eight saves in the victory.

C.J. McGorisk tallied three goals and two assists, while Murphy Nye added a hat trick and one assist for the Warriors.

NOVI 8, SOUTH LYON 6: Anthony Zugaro and Ryan Moore each scored twice leading the Wildcats (5-2, 3-0) to a KLAA Kensington Conference win April 15 at home over South Lyon Unified (5-2, 2-1).

Other goal scorers for Novi, who tallied all eight of their goals in the second half, included J.T. Lyon, Michael Werth, Griffin Sparling and Patrick Wojtylo.

"We were down 3-0 at halftime, but we were still in it because of our defense," Novi coach Eric Hoffman said. "Our goalie Dan Savela played well and our defense as a whole played well, guys like Tommy McMaster, Jimmy Hole and Nick Meadors, along with our long sticks Quinn Hanley and Niko Camalletti. When we play good lacrosse, we're tough to beat."

Dave DiRado tallied three goals for South Lyon.

DETROIT CC 7, U-D JESUIT 4: Cole Gingsell tallied a pair of goals April 15 as Novi Detroit Catholic Central (6-2, 3-0) captured its sixth straight with a Catholic League Division I victory at University of Detroit-Jesuit (4-5, 2-2).

Other CC goal scorers included Justin Baker, Collin Burgin and Joe Sullivan.

Hunter Braun went the distance in goal, while Alex Jarzebowski went 13-of-15 on face-offs.

"There were 19 combined penalties, so it was difficult for either team to get some flow," CC coach Dave Wilson said.

GIRLS SOCCER ROUNDUP

Riley's hat trick lifts Wildcats to 8-0 victory

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Junior Megan Riley notched a hat trick April 16 to tame South Lyon, 8-0, in a KLAA Central Division girls soccer match.

The Wildcats, who improved to 4-0-1 overall and 3-0 in the division, jumped out to a 5-0 halftime advantage on goals by junior Chloe Allen (from junior Jessie Halmaghi); Halmaghi (from senior Amanda Minissale); Riley twice; and senior Christina MacMillian.

In the second half, Halmaghi notched her second of the night, followed by Riley's third and one from senior Devon Powers.

Sophomore Rileigh Nielson, getting her first varsity start, made one save to pick up the shutout.

The loss dropped the Lions to 0-5-1 overall and 0-3 in the KLAA Central.

NOVI 2, STEVENSON 1: Junior Chloe Allen tallied a pair of goals, including the game-winner with just eight minutes remaining to give host Wildcats (3-0-1, 2-0) a KLAA Central Division victory April 14 against Livonia Stevenson (2-2-2, 0-1-1) at Meadows Stadium.

"Overall, I thought we played hard and it was a great team win tonight," Novi interim coach Todd Pfeiffer said. "It definitely was not our best performance, but we knew coming into the game it is always tough when you play that first game after spring break and there has been so much time off."

Novi opened the scoring in the first five minutes of the game when junior Megan Riley redirected the ball behind the Spartans' defense to Allen, who collected the ball, dribbled in and slipped it past the oncoming Stevenson goalkeeper.

But just 20 minutes later, Stevenson tied the game off a corner kick from junior Alia Basierbe to Jessie Wagner.

The score remained 1-1 until the 72-minute mark, when Novi senior midfielder Devon Powers played a beautiful one-time pass between two Stevenson defenders to a cutting Allen, who perfectly placed shot into the right side of the net.

"Technically we were a little off today, which led to quite a few unforced turnovers," Pfeiffer said. "Stevenson is a very good team that plays very well together, so going forward we need to do a better job of protecting the ball and keeping more possession. It was nice to get the win tonight even, when we did not play our best, but we definitely have quite a few things to work on as we move forward in our season."

Junior goalkeeper Aastha Dharia picked up her fourth win of the season, making three saves for the Wildcats, who outshot the Spartans 11-8, including 5-4 with shots on goal.

"I thought senior midfielder Devon Powers did a nice job for us tonight, as well as freshmen defender Mikayla Lynch, who made her first start tonight and did a nice job against the quick and talented Stevenson forwards," Pfeiffer said.

NORTHVILLE 1, S.L. EAST 0: It took a while, but the Mustangs (5-1, 2-0) got into the swing of things during its April 14 KLAA Central Division encounter with South Lyon East (2-1-1, 0-1-1).

"We were a little rusty after 10 days off," said Northville coach Eric Brucker, whose team last played a match April 1. "The first half was some pretty ugly soccer. East generated some quality chances late in the half and was really in control of the game."

In the second half, the Mustangs increased the pressure on the Cougars' back line and it finally paid off with 28 minutes left as senior Kelly McHugh tracked down a pass deep in the left-hand corner, beat a defender and played a cross in front of the East goal for freshman Kendall Dillon, who was waiting on the back post and placed a one-touch shot into the back of the net for the game-winner.

Senior goalkeeper Emily Maresch, who recorded four saves, notched her fifth shutout of the year.

KLAA BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Novi bats go silent against Canton, 5-2

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

Offensive production was lacking Friday for the Novi baseball team, which fell to visiting Canton in a KLAA Kensington Conference crossover game, 5-2.

The Chiefs, who improved to 6-2 overall and 3-1 in the KLAA's South Division, got a strong pitching performance from Noah Spencer, who went the first six innings to pick up the victory. Spencer allowed two earned runs on five hits and three walks while striking out two. Mitchell Zelenak pitched a scoreless seventh to pick up the save.

Mike Flaishans knocked in two runs, while Spencer added two hits and scored another run as Canton put it the game way with two in the top of the fifth inning after leading 3-2.

"It was not a good day for us hitting-wise," said Novi coach Rick Green, whose team slipped to 5-5 overall and 2-2 in the KLAA Central Division. "We're not getting quality at-bats. We're around 40 percent and that's not going to cut it. We also hit into two double plays after getting the lead-off guy on."

Losing pitcher Adam Tobias allowed five runs (three earned) on seven hits and three walks over 4½ innings. Reliever Jack Reilly closed the door over the final 2½, allowing just two walks while fanning two. The Wildcats committed three errors.

Scott Beaton and Alec Bageris each had an RBI for the Wildcats, while Michael Mitchell went 1-for-3 and scored a run.

NOVI 9, PLYMOUTH 9 (SUSPENDED): In a KLAA Kensington crossover Monday, play was suspended with two outs and no runners on in the bottom of the seventh inning because of darkness and will be completed at a later date.

Novi (5-4, 2-1 KLAA Central) led 4-3 after six innings and scored five times in the top of the seventh to take a 9-3 lead only to have Plymouth (7-4, 3-1 KLAA South) answer with six runs in the bottom of the seventh after a costly Novi throwing error led to the final two runs.

Top hitters for Novi included Jack Reilly (3-for-4, two RBIs); Jason Pastoor (2-for-4, three RBIs); and Michael Mitchell (solo homer in the first inning). Plymouth was led by Pete Carravallan (3-for-4, run); Cameron Stella (2-for-4, two RBIs); and Andrew Jossey (2-for-4, two RBIs, run).

Kyle Wolter started for Plymouth, going the first six innings, allowing four earned runs on five hits and four walks. Regan Fleisher came on in the seventh and allowed five runs on four hits and a walk.

Novi starter Jack Colliau went the first 5½ innings allowing two earned runs on six hits and pair of walks. Reliever Alec Bageris was charged with five earned runs on four hits and two walks.

Novi committed a total of six errors, while Plymouth had two.

NORTHVILLE 20, WAYNE 0 (3 innings): The Mustangs (7-0, 4-0 KLAA Central) took advantage of 11 walks Friday en route to a Kensington Conference crossover victory against visiting Wayne Memorial (2-5, 0-4).

Kevin Morrissey, Willie Yanagi, Nick Zalewski and Steve Grosz each had two RBIs as Northville scored eight times in the first inning, followed by 12 in the second to invoke the 15-run mercy rule after three innings.

Zach Prystash, the winning pitcher, allowed one hit over two innings, while Chris Dunn pitched a scoreless third.

NORTHVILLE 12-6, SALEM 0-0: The Mustangs

(6-0, 3-0) proved to be the king of the hill April 15, posting back-to-back shutouts to down the host Rocks (5-4, 2-2) in a KLAA Central Division double-header.

Northville senior left-hander Evan Flohr, who was locked in a pitching duel with Salem's Tyler Brooks through seven innings, had seven strikeouts while allowing just two hits and two walks.

The Mustangs then exploded for 12 runs in the top of the eighth after a Salem error opened the flood-gates.

Jack Ernst delivered a two-run single during the surge, while Dugan Darnell, Chris Dunn, Kevin Morrissey, Tyler Lowe and Flohr also came through with RBI singles.

David Dillon then pitched a scoreless eighth to close out the 12-0 victory.

"After struggling most of the game offensively, we really put together some quality at-bats in the eighth to break it open," Northville coach John Kostzewa said.

In Game 2, Ian Borthwick tossed a four-hitter. Borthwick struck out three and walked only one over seven innings.

Top hitters for the Mustangs included Darnell (2-for-4, two RBIs); Steve Grosz (2-for-3, two RBIs); Zach Prystash (two RBIs) and Kevin O'Connell (2-for-3).

S.L. EAST 3-1, NOVI 1-8: Scott Beaton went 3-for-3 with two RBIs April 15 as the host Wildcats (5-4, 2-1) gained a split of their KLAA Central Division doubleheader by winning the nightcap against South Lyon East (1-2, 1-2).

Also chipping in for Novi was Jack Colliau (2-for-3, two RBIs), Michael Mitchell (2-for-3, run) and winning pitcher Alec Bageris (RBI).

Bageris, a sophomore right-hander, went the first six innings, allowing one earned run on three hits and two walks. He struck out six before Jack Reilly came out to close the game in the seventh with pair of strikeouts.

East captured the opener as winning pitcher Evan Eischer helped his own cause going 3-for-3 with an RBI. Eischer worked the first six innings, allowing two hits and a pair of walks.

Brendan Wexler, who went 2-for-2 with a walk, scored on a wild pitch to cut the deficit to 3-1, but the Wildcats were unable to score any more runs despite loading the bases with no outs.

East reliever Zachary Powers gave up a hit, but struck out two to close out the win and earn the save.

Colliau, the losing pitcher, went the first six innings. He allowed one earned run on five hits and four walks and four strikeouts. Beaton gave up two earned runs in relief on two hits and walk.

PREP BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Shamrocks earn sweep against Divine Child

Novi Detroit Catholic Central earned its first doubleheader baseball sweep of the season Saturday at Dearborn Divine Child to improve its overall record 5-8 overall and 4-6 in the Catholic League's Central Division.

Jack Hintze paced CC's 10-0 win in Game 1 as he allowed just three hits and a walk, while striking out five in the mercy rule victory.

Hintze also led the offense with three hits and an RBI, while Justin Green added two hits and two RBI. Anthony Esser also knocked in three runs.

In Game 2, Jaret Robson's delivered a key two-run single as the Shamrocks prevailed in 12 innings, 5-2.

Luke Hargis pitched the first seven innings, allowing just two runs on five hits and three walks while fanning three.

SCOTT CONFER

Catholic Central's Mike Toth makes contact at the plate in a victory over Livonia Stevenson.

Grant Hartwig came on to pitch the final five innings and earn the victory, allowing no runs on one hit and striking out four. He also collected four hits, while Jarod Luomala had three stolen bases.

Josh Hejka went the first 10 innings for Divine Child and pitched a gem. He allowed no earned runs on just seven hits and three walks, while fanning nine.

Danny Blade and Scott Combs each had two hits for the Falcons (4-5 Central Division).

PARKWAY 5, FRANKLIN ROAD 4: Senior Kyle Harris belted a grand slam in the fifth inning April 16, but visiting Sterling Heights Parkway Christian (4-0, 2-0) battled back for a Michigan Independent Athletic Conference Blue Division baseball win over Novi Franklin Road Christian (1-2, 0-2).

Harris gave Franklin Road a 4-2 lead in the bottom of the fifth with his bases-loaded homer. Matt Lorey and Evan Lorey also collected hits for the Warriors.

Losing pitcher Shaun Moore went six innings, allowing three runs, but only one was earned.

ST. MARY'S 5-3, DETROIT CC 0-0: Host Novi Detroit Catholic Central (3-8, 2-6) came up empty in both ends of a Catholic League Central Division doubleheader April 15 against Orchard Lake St. Mary's (10-5, 5-3).

Scott Grant shut down the Shamrocks on just two hits over seven innings in the opener. Grant walked three and struck out six to outduel CC's Sean Garcia, who also went the distance, giving up three earned runs on four hits while fanning six.

In the nightcap, Grant Hartwig was the hard-luck losing pitcher for CC. He went all seven innings allowing no earned runs on three hits. He struck out five and did not allow a walk. He held the Eaglets to one hit over the final six innings.

Greg Loukinen, the winning pitcher, went the first five innings striking out seven, while allowing just one hit and two walks.

PARKWAY 3, FRANKLIN ROAD 1: It came down to a classic pitching duel April 14 as defending Division 4 regional champion Sterling Heights Parkway Christian (2-0, 1-0) edged visiting Novi Franklin Road Christian (1-1, 0-1) in a MIAC Blue Division game.

Andrew Manier, a transfer from Southfield Christian, allowed only one hit over seven innings to earn the victory.

Senior Parker Bowman collected the only hit for Franklin Road.

Losing pitcher Gavin Harris also went the distance for Franklin Road as he allowed just three hits without a walk to go along with six strikeouts. He shut out the Eagles until the bottom of the sixth, when they struck for three unearned runs.

Harris scored the Warriors' lone run in the top half of the same inning, when he drew a walk, advanced to second on a stolen base and scored all the way from second on a fielder's choice to make it 1-0.

DETROIT CC 8, STEVENSON 7: Novi Detroit Catholic Central (3-6) roared out to a 6-0 lead April 14 against visiting Livonia Stevenson (2-3) before holding on.

Jordan Jenkins was the hero for the Shamrocks as he laced a game-winning, walk-off double in the bottom of the seventh inning to bring home Dante Toppi.

Sam Hollenbeck earned the victory for CC after retiring the only batter he faced in the top of the seventh. Sean Garcia also threw two scoreless innings in relief.

Luke Hargis collected two hits as the Shamrocks scored six times in the third inning before Stevenson chipped away and tied it in the top of the seventh with a four-run rally.

PREP SOFTBALL ROUNDUP

Brittney Miller also went 3-for-3 with a double and three RBIs as Plymouth improved to 8-1 overall and 5-0 in the KLAA's South Division.

Jenny Bressler was the winning pitcher, going all six innings. She allowed just five hits.

In Saturday's Farmington Hills Mercy Invitational, Novi defeated Riverview, 11-5, as Madison Budde and Jamie Gutitus each collected three RBIs.

In the other game, host Mercy downed Novi, 8-2, as Ally Cummings and Casey Lawler each had an RBI, but a bases-loaded triple in the fifth inning snapped a 2-2 deadlock and led to a six-run uprising by the Marlins.

CANTON 9, NOVI 0: The Chiefs (4-0, 4-0) proved to be opportunistic Friday, getting some timely hitting while taking advantage of some miscues, to earn a KLAA Kensington Conference crossover triumph over the host Wildcats (6-1, 3-1).

The Chiefs led 1-0 after four innings before scoring three times in the fifth and five more in the sixth to hand Novi (5-1, 3-1 KLAA Central) its first setback of the season.

Hannah Zajdel and Elizabeth Yager each had two RBIs, while Halee Warren and Izzy Dawson added two hits apiece for the Chiefs.

Madison Budde collected two hits for Novi. Canton starter Mackenna Payne threw a complete-game four-hitter to earn the victory, while Novi starter Ally Cummings suffered the loss.

NOVI 8-11, SOUTH LYON EAST 7-5: The Wildcats (5-0, 3-0) picked up two victories April 15 by collecting a total of 25 hits to down visiting South Lyon East (0-3 KLAA Central) in a doubleheader.

SALEM 5-15, NORTHVILLE 3-14: In a KLAA Central Division doubleheader April 15, the host Rocks (3-0, 3-0) completed the sweep against the Mustangs (3-2, 1-2) by winning a wild second game that lasted 2½ hours.

Northville, which fell in the opener, 5-3, trailed 12-5 heading into the top of the seventh in the nightcap before exploding for nine runs to take a 14-2 advantage.

But Salem rallied back for three in the bottom half of the inning. Back-to-back singles by Kara Hutchinson and Emily Stewart sparked the comeback. Abbie Riedel's RBI single then tied it. Two walks and a wild pitch later, the Rocks tallied the game-winning run.

Jamie Squires led Salem's 14-hit attack with three hits, including a pair of homers.

Ashley Schiffer went 3-for-4, highlighted by a fourth-inning homer, while losing pitcher Sarah Hige added two hits for Northville.

Mustangs' Abbott eclipses school record in 400 meters

By Brad Emons
Staff Writer

There's been no sophomore jinx when it comes to Northville's Chloe Abbott performance on the track so far this season.

Abbott appears to be in mid-season form after breaking the 400-meter dash school record Saturday at the Rockford Invitational with a first-place time of 57.43, eclipsing the mark of 58.30 held since 1984 by Cindy Panowicz.

Abbott how holds or is part of five school records (including relays) at Northville. "Chloe has been a game-changer for us from the day she stepped on the track her freshman year," Northville coach Tim Dalton said. "Chloe understands the history there and how great of a competitor Cindy was. To break a school record that stood for 31 years is very impressive."

Abbott also took second in the 200 (25.46) and teamed with Gracie Goble, Lindsay Walters and Mary Catherine McLaughlin for first in the 1,600 relay (4:00.66).

Host Rockford captured the team title with 170.33 points, followed by runner-up Zeeland East with 127.33 and Northville in third with 121. Traverse City Central (99.5), Zeeland West (71.83) and Port Huron Northern (49) rounded out the six-team field.

"It was a great experience and opportunity for our team,"

Dalton said. "The MHSAA finals are in Rockford on May 30 and we really wanted to get our kids a dry run of traveling to the west side of the state, staying overnight, getting up early and heading to the track to compete. We were able to accomplish that goal this weekend. A bonus was the beautiful facilities that Rockford has."

The Mustangs also got a sterling performance from junior Lexa Barrott, who swept the 1,600 and 3,200 runs in 5:09.51 and 11:04.49, respectively. She also teamed with sister Ana, Mary Catherine McLaughlin and Emma Herrmann for first in the 3,200 relay (9:44.87).

Other top finishers for Northville included: Goble, second, long jump (16 feet); Ana Barrott, second, 1,600 (5:19.13); Emma Smith, third, 800 (2:29.07); Goble, fourth, 400 (1:01.86); Herrmann, fifth, 3,200 (11:38.18); Emily Anderson, fifth, long jump (14-7); and Rachel Zimmer, 3,200 (personal best 11:46.89).

The Mustangs' foursome of Anderson, Lauren Lambert, Aimee Montambeau and Megan Krings also added third in the 400 relay (54.32).

"We had some standout performances across the board," Dalton said.

Mustangs boys fourth

Zeeland East scored a team-high 153 points to win the Rockford Invitational boys title, followed by the host Rams (143.5), Zeeland West (132), Northville (114.5) and Port Huron Northern (71).

Among the first-place finishers for Northville were Adam Ghabra, 100 dash (11.1); Jacob Kamm, 800 (51.65); and Jason Ferrante, 1,600 (4:22.62).

Second-place finishers included Ghabra, 200 (22.82); Conor Naughton, 3,200 (9:47.26); and A.J. Abbott, long jump (19-6).

The 800 relay team of Abbott, Alec Przybocki, Matt Jankowski and Ghabra took second (1:35.41). Northville's 1,600 team of Przybocki, Frieberger, Kamm and Ferrante also placed second (3:29.87).

Other Northville finishers included; Sean McCullough, third, 3,200 (10:11.4); Josh Hamilton, third, long jump (18-3); sixth, high jump (5-8); Sean Flanagan, fourth, 400 (53.52); Kenny Goolsby, fifth, 800 (2:10.21); Jankowski, sixth, 200 (24.24); Christian Frieberger, sixth, 400 (53.74); Max DeDonna, shot put (43-5).

"We didn't bring a full compliment of runners," Northville boys coach Brandon Langston said. "But the kids who competed shined very bright. Our goal for the track meet was to see some different competition from the west side of the state as well as give the kids a dry run at what the itinerary for the state track meet will be."

got off to a quick start, scoring just 3:27 into the match when senior forward Sari Rachowicz popped a rebound past Northville senior keeper Emily Maresh after Megan Verant took a corner kick. Stevenson took three shot attempts during the sequence and it was the first goal the Mustangs had allowed since their season-opening 2-1 loss to Walled Lake Northern.

Schembri got credit for the assist.

"The first four minutes, we came out flat and they took advantage and it cost us the first goal against us since the first goal of the season, so we'll get that cleaned up," Brucker said.

And by halftime the Mustangs had evened the score, 1-1, as freshman Kendall Dillon took a shot from the left flank from 25 yards out, which deflected off a Spartans defender and was re-directed past Reamer with 8:01 left.

McHugh, meanwhile, had a golden opportunity to put the Mustangs ahead with 18:16 left in the match, but Reamer came up with a big save.

Northville, however, continued to apply the pressure and got the go-ahead goal from McHugh.

"The second half, it's kind of what we've been doing all season," Brucker said. "We regroup at halftime and get a little bit better ball-handling and that improves our overall team play. In the second half, we didn't try to play long ball so much and played much better as a team.

"Once again, we had solid defense play from (Erica) Gumkowski, (Tara) Pawloski, (Nikki) Skinner and (Morgan) Gozdor (Emily) Maresh helps allow them our back line to be more aggressive."

Despite the one-goal setback, Stevenson coach Chris Grodzicki was encouraged by his team's play.

"I thought we played all right," he said. "The game went in waves. We were great in the first 10 minutes and the score reflected that. (Northville) started to take it to us right before halftime. We hit a real lull there and we just couldn't deal with their attack out wide.

"I thought it was good, it was good enough. It's a young team trying to figure things and they're getting there. They're competitive and hopefully the scores will start landing in our favor."

Despite a pair of 2-1 losses during the week to division leaders Novi and Northville, the Spartans could become spoilers in the KLAA Central during the second round of division play.

"They're a good bunch and I think (Grodzicki) has a great core," Brucker said, "and they're going to be somebody to reckon with in our division."

CC's Walsh re-writes the state record books

By Brad Emons
and Jeff Theisen
Staff Writers

Novi Detroit Catholic Central's Jack Walsh went out in style during the 2015 MHSAA Division 1 boys swim state championships.

The senior established a pair of new state records while also leading the Shamrocks to an eighth-place team finish with 134.5 points at Eastern Michigan University's Jones Natatorium.

Walsh, who plans to continue his swimming career at Stanford University, repeated his 100-yard backstroke crown with a Division 1 record time of 48.48. And in the 200 individual medley, Walsh broke an MHSAA all-class record with a clocking of 1:47.26.

He also helped the Shamrocks to a third-place finish in the 200 medley relay (1:31.68) and fifth place in the 400 freestyle relay (3:10.29).

For his efforts this season, Walsh was named All-Area Boys Swimmer of the Year.

"Jack holds himself to the highest standards, academically, athletically and personally," CC coach Shannon Dunworth said. "He has an infectious personal pride that has permeated throughout the team more so than the legacy and success that he achieved in the pool.

"Although the scoreboard reflects numerous all-American recognitions, multiple state championships and a pair of state records, his daily commitment and resolve are the accomplishments I find most admirable."

Dunworth believes the best is yet to come for Walsh, who displayed a tireless work ethic and great resolve.

"Jack's success this year did not come without challenges," Dunworth said. "His ability to navigate obstacles and remain focused on the goal was a lesson for teammates and coaches alike. Jack will be swimming for the Stanford Cardinal next season, an honor befitting the man."

First team

Shinya Kondo Lakeland

Kondo attends the International Academy, but dives for Lakeland. He finished the year with an all-state performance and a third-place finish at the Division 2 state finals. He also collected a KLAA Lakes Conference title.

"Shinya Kondo is an athlete who truly embraces the whole package," coach Chris Follick said. "He is a dutiful and humble student first, regularly studying and working on assignments for the International Academy between swim and dive competitions, and a diligent athlete second. He also puts in the time to be a great athlete by paying his dues at the gym, improving his core strength and flexibility. If he continues this regimen and listens to dive coach Marc Miller, I don't see why he should not be a state champion contender again next year."

Matt Loniewski Detroit CC

The junior earned all-state honors with a fifth in the 100 breaststroke (58.22) at the Division 1 state finals, while also qualifying in the 100 freestyle (48.89). He was also a member of CC's all-state 400 freestyle relay team and runner-up in the Catholic League in the breaststroke.

"Matt had a breakout year," Dunworth said. "His versatility as swimmer was taken advantage by us coaches early on, placing him where we were weakest. This season, Matt finally got to focus on his strengths and it showed with an individual state top eight finish and all-American relay performances."

Ryan Katulski Novi

The senior placed eighth in the 50 freestyle at the Division 1 state finals, which included a prelim time of 21.28. He also added a 10th in the 100 freestyle (46.74 prelims) and was KLAA Kensington Conference champion in the same event, along with runner-up in the 50 freestyle.

"Ryan had a breakout season due to the training he did during the off season," coach Brent Pohlonski said. "When I spoke to him last fall, he told me his times from the summer and we knew he was ready to have a great season. Ryan was the driving force behind the four school records that our

The ninth-grader excelled in his first season, taking eighth in the 100 freestyle (46.42 prelim time) and tying for 13th in the 50 freestyle (21.41 prelim time) at Division 1 state finals. He also was a member of Northville's 10th-place 400 freestyle and 11th-place 200 medley team relay teams. Maibach added a third in the 50 freestyle in the Kensington Conference finals and was on Northville's first-place conference 400 freestyle relay team.

"He's probably the fastest freshman we've had at Northville and we've had some decent success through the years, so to be able to say that is a pretty big compliment for that kid," coach Rich Bennetts said. "He works real hard, does what his coaches ask him to do, so the sky is the limit for him. He just missed the 50 and 100 freestyle school records as a freshman and our varsity records are pretty good. And to be that close to it ... he's going to be a good one."

Chris Geng Northville

The junior placed eighth in the Division 1 state finals in the 100 breaststroke (59.59 prelim time) in a swim-off and was a member of the Mustangs' 11th-place 200 medley relay. Geng was also the Kensington Conference champ in the 100 breaststroke.

"In the medley relay, you always need a breast stroker and we bring our entire (200 medley) from last year and Chris will be a big part of it," Bennetts said. "He won that swim-off at state meet, which was kind of an interesting little deal there. He was able to persevere through that and win that, which was a big performance. He struggles sometimes during the season, but when the lights come, on he's pretty darn good."

lim time) and was a state qualifier in the 200 IM (1:59.91). He was also third in the Catholic League in the breaststroke.

"Dan has made consistent annual improvement through year-round dedication," Dunworth said. "Qualifying for states as a junior opened the door for his consolation final victory at this year's state meet. It's always so rewarding to see one's hard work pay off most in the biggest meets."

Matthew Schafer Northville

The senior placed 11th in the 500 freestyle at the Division 1 state finals (4:45.22 prelim time) and was a state qualifier in the 200 freestyle (1:48.06). Schafer was also runner-up in the Kensington Conference 500 freestyle and sixth in the 200 freestyle.

"He did a great job just coming from where he was his freshman year, when he was having a hard time breaking seven minutes when he started out with us," Bennetts said. "He's just one of those guys who is just a hard worker. Never really a ton of talent, but goes to show if you work hard for four years, you can score at the state meet. Just a great captain for us. I'm proud of what he did."

Ethan Schmidt South Lyon Unified

The senior diver capped his final season by placing 13th at the Division 1 state finals while also finishing runner-up at the KLAA Kensington Conference meet.

"Ethan had an outstanding year," coach Kevin Ferguson said. "His story of perseverance will be one I tell future divers about. Ethan battled through a back injury to have the best season of his career. Our team will miss him greatly."

Ben Simonich Milford

The senior diver capped his career by placing 12th at the Division 2 state finals. Simonich earned a West Division title and went to states all four years.

Grayson Arnold Detroit CC

The senior, headed to Saginaw Valley State, placed in two events at the Division 1 state finals tying for 13th in the 50 freestyle (21.50 prelim time) and 13th in the 100 freestyle (47.38 prelim time). Arnold was also a member of CC's all-state 200 medley (third) and 400 freestyle (fifth) relay teams, along with being Catholic League champ in the 100 freestyle.

"Grayson is a swimmer with a football attitude," Dunworth said. "His strength is his aggression and has served him well throughout his career. His repeated all-American relay performances are the result of his great pride in anchoring most of CC relays swims. Next fall at SVSU, he brings with him all the dedication and commitment needed to succeed at the next level."

Jonathan Lee Detroit CC

The freshman placed 13th in the 100 breaststroke at the Division 1 state finals (1:00.0) and was a state qualifier in the 200 IM (1:59.89). Lee was also a member of CC's fifth-place 400 freestyle relay quartet. He also took fourth in the breaststroke at the Catholic League meet.

"Jonathan came to CC with great accreditation as an accomplished, well-trained and dedicated swimmer," Dunworth said. "His background surfaced early on as Jonathan was able to succeed in the longer races and double back with minimal recovery time. Although scoring points at state meet is always an accomplishment for a freshman, it was Jonathan's success and relay swims that truly impressed me. Once given the chance, it was clear that Jonathan was not going to let his teammates down."

Nick VanDyke South Lyon Unified

The senior scored in three events at his final trip to the Division 1 state finals. VanDyke was 13th in the 100 backstroke, 13th with the 200 medley relay and 15th with the 400 free relay. He holds the school record in the 100 backstroke and was all-conference in the 100 backstroke, 100 free and 400 free relay.

"Nick was our key swimmer all season long," coach John Burch said. "I could count on him to be able to swim nearly every event and perform at an elite level. He also led our training all season long. I was very happy for him when he set the varsity record at the state meet. This was his goal all season long."

Matt Meadows South Lyon Unified

The junior diver finished 11th at the Division 1 state finals. Meadows was also third at the KLAA Kensington Conference meet and was a steady force all season.

"Matt has shown yet again what a truly talented diver he is," Ferguson said. "I am expecting an even bigger season out him next year as he leads our very young diving squad."

Joey Berman Novi

The sophomore placed 16th in the Division 1 100 backstroke (53.77) and was a member of the 200 medley relay team that reached the finals (1:37.99). Berman was also Kensington Conference champ in the backstroke and fourth in the 500 freestyle.

"I'm so proud of Joey for how he responded to a disappointing season his freshman year," Pohlonski said. "Instead of getting down on himself, Joey went back to his club team and put in a great year of training. Joey has always been one of our work-out leaders in practice. It was great to see him get the rewards he deserved in our championship meets at the end of the season."

James Xue Northville

The junior placed 16th in the 200 IM (1:58.15 prelim time) at the Division 1 state finals and was a state qualifier in the 100 butterfly (54.11). He also helped the Mustangs to a 10th in the 400 freestyle relay and an 11th in the 200 medley relay. Xue was also Kensington champ in the 200 IM and runner-up in the butterfly, as well as a member of the first-place 400 freestyle relay team.

"He's a talented kid and I'm looking forward to bringing him back next year when he'll be a senior for us," Bennetts said, "so hopefully he'll be able to score in a couple of events for us next year."

Second team

Siddhardha Kareddy Novi

Schoolcraft College always retooling to help train for today's manufacturing jobs

By David Veselenak
Staff Writer

When it comes to manufacturing jobs, the image of a dirty factory and a repetitive task comes to mind for many people.

But that's not the case anymore and officials at Schoolcraft College are looking to help train those who will become the next generation of advanced manufacturers and skilled trade workers across the state.

"I think many people have a view of manufacturing that was repetitive and tedious and long term – I'm going to make the right-end fender for a Taurus for 45 years," said Conway Jeffress, president of Schoolcraft College. "You don't really have that anymore and I think that's a good thing for the industry, because it keeps a good sense of vitality in the job and therefore in the people."

The push for skilled trades is one many Michigan residents have heard in recent years, especially from Gov. Rick Snyder, who mentions the topic during many of his public addresses, including this year's State of the State and his proposed budget plan in February. It's one Schoolcraft officials embrace and are willing to work on to make the college a leader in the field.

The governor announced $50 million in grant money to 18 community colleges last month to purchase equipment through the Community College Skilled Trades Equipment Program, although Schoolcraft was not one of the schools selected.

Schoolcraft's main campus in Livonia has offered several programs designed for skilled trades, including advanced manufacturing and, most recently, plastics technology, a program that launched just a few years ago.

With an increased demand in those skilled trades, manufacturing instructor Gene Keyes said those who enroll in his courses can expect to find work well before graduation – sometimes after just one semester.

"Usually after two or three classes, depending on who they are, I can get them a job," Keyes said. "It all depends on their ability to think on their feet."

Keyes became a part-time instructor at the college during the last decade. College officials began realizing skilled trade positions would increase in the future. Keyes was made a full-time instructor, dedicated to teaching and creating relationships with local companies and schools.

"That's when he really began to develop the relationship between Schoolcraft and the major companies," Jeffress said. "He not only had the academic experience, but he had owned a manufacturing company and so he knew the business. He could talk to potential clientele; he knew what to look for."

Training the future

Keeping ahead of the game over other colleges competing for students, such as Wayne County Community College District, Oakland Community College and Macomb Community College, is a priority for Jeffress.

That includes keeping tabs on the industry, talking to employers and getting the right equipment.

"It's making sure you stay in touch with the employers, so that you're not providing instruction that doesn't fit with what they need and what they want," he said. "And also to have opportunities for students to have hands-on experiences before they leave here."

It's become such an important field that the Livonia Industrial Council was formed four years ago through the Livonia Chamber of Commerce. Its mission is to focus on workforce development initiatives in and around Livonia.

Members meet quarterly to discuss ideas on how to inspire young people to explore skilled careers and provide training, apprenticeships and co-op programs for local manufacturers.

That's important, Livonia chamber president Dan West said, because having those new workers is crucial to companies' survival moving forward.

"A number of experts have told me that tax credits will not attract as many manufacturers to an area as a healthy availability of skilled workers," West said. "To me, this is the leading economic development issue for Livonia and all of southeastern Michigan: To provide the skilled workforce that boosts manufacturing, boosts our region's economic health and keeps more young professionals in Michigan."

That training has done well for some employees hired by Farmington Hills-based Star Cutter Tools. With locations across Michigan, including several in the northern Lower Peninsula, the company is seeking more talent at its facilities.

Lindsey Bielby, human resources manager for the company, said Schoolcraft has provided several employees who are succeeding with the company.

"I think the community college has done a very good job of listening to our needs from a manufacturing standpoint," said Bielby, who lives in Tawas City. "I think they've done a very good job of meeting our needs and identifying our needs."

Adapting

Those rapidly evolving needs are driving changes in the school's curriculum. Jeffress said additive manufacturing, otherwise known as 3-D printing, has been a field students have flocked to.

"We thought that would be fascinating to younger folks. A new way of going from design to product," he said. "Once you design it, you actually have the product there. They were ideal for us in attracting new students."

Moving forward, another field Jeffress wants to expand and educate students on is metallurgy, a branch of science examining metals and their properties. Having that knowledge, Jeffress said, will help students understand the materials they are working with.

The return on investment, including in student success, is one Jeffress acknowledges is a point of pride for the college, which plans to adapt as needed.

"But the investment is good from a couple of standpoints, it's not just the dollars. It's the student enrollment and it's in the satisfaction. The employers are satisfied with us, the students are satisfied with us; they start making money," he said. "After all, that's why we're here."

Appeals court upholds tree height standard

Q: Our Declaration in our subdivision says that all trees in a residential community may not exceed six feet. Is that a reasonable restriction?

A: Yes. In a similar case out of Wisconsin, where some of the community’s lots have sweeping views of the surrounding terrain and community amenities, including its golf course, marina, and lakes. The first owner purchased his lot in 1987. At that time, the view from his lot was largely unobstructed. The adjacent lot owner, located downhill from the first owner, always either trimmed his trees or gave the uphill owner permission to do so to protect the views. In 1999, a new owner purchased the downhill lot. He stopped trimming the existing trees, and also planted new trees, all of which grew to over six feet and blocked the view of the uphill landowner.

The community’s governing declaration stated no trees in excess of a height of six feet could be planted, and that no tree could be allowed to exceed six feet without written permission of the association’s architectural control and maintenance committee. The declaration also stated that no trees or shrubbery could be removed unless approved in writing by the committee.

The downhill lot owner refused to either trim his trees or remove them. The association took no follow-up action, so the uphill lot owner sued the downhill lot owner. The trial court ruled that only human-planted trees must be trimmed back to six feet, because it found the declaration’s restriction showed clear intent to preserve the naturally-occurring trees.

The uphill lot owner appealed. The Court of Appeals found the height restriction to be absolute and applicable to all of the trees because the language in the declaration contained no exception for natural growth. The Court of Appeals sent the case back to the trial court to consider appropriate treatment for the naturally occurring trees, however, because of the restriction that they not be removed unless approved in writing by the architectural control and maintenance committee.

Q. If the delay of a homeowner’s association in providing corporate records to a member is found to be reasonable and in good faith, can that finding prevent an award of costs and attorney fees?

A: Yes, according to a Wyoming court, and the same result might apply in Michigan. In this case, homeowners sued the association, claiming it had denied repeated requests for inspection and copying of corporate records. The association argued, prior to hearing, that it had already provided the records. The homeowners continued to press for an order from the court, stating they had not received all of the records and further arguing for an award of attorney’s fees and costs.

After the hearing, the court ordered production of records but denied the request for attorney’s fees and costs, because it found the association had made reasonable efforts to meet the demands of the homeowners, and it further found the association had a reasonable basis for doubting the homeowner’s rights to inspect documents which dealt with the privacy interests of individual members. The appellate court agreed with the result reached by the trial court, but Michigan’s new changes to the Nonprofit Corporation should be reviewed and explained to you by competent counsel. But seek advice from your attorney regarding recent changes to the Michigan Nonprofit Act.

JOB

careerbuilder.com™
A GANNETT COMPANY

Five tricky questions your boss will ask (and how to answer them)

HERE ARE WAYS YOU CAN RESPOND TO TOUGH QUESTIONS PROFESSIONALLY SO YOU DON'T DAMAGE THE RELATIONSHIP WITH YOUR BOSS.

Landing a job doesn't mean your days of navigating difficult questions are over. You should be prepared to handle sticky queries if and when your boss lobs them your way.

You may face one or more of these awkward questions at some point in your career. Here are ways you can respond to them professionally so you don't damage the relationship with your boss.

1. "Are you looking for a new job?" If you're putting yourself back on the job market, tell the truth. Chances are that your boss has a good reason for asking, so a denial will only make you look bad. But don't overshare. This question isn't an invitation to air all your complaints about the position or the company. When responding, keep the focus on you and your career. And keep the answer short and to the point:

"I'm interested in exploring positions in a different industry."

"I'm thinking about relocating to another city."

"A former colleague contacted me about an exciting opportunity, and I feel I should look into it."

"I'm looking for a position with more flexibility."

"I don't feel I'm making much progress here."

If your boss presses for details, be polite and reiterate the reason you just gave. Then, emphasize that you're committed to doing your job to the best of your ability.

2. "Have you heard the latest about Jamie?" Co-workers who spread rumors are difficult enough to deal with, but having a boss who engages in office gossip is a potential nightmare. The trick is declining to participate without sounding like a scold or Goody Two-shoes. Your best option is to give a non-committal response such as, "I really haven't heard," and then either change the topic or leave the conversation. Maintain an attitude of polite disinterest. Once your boss realizes you're not a gossip, he will drop the subject.

3. "How would you rate my performance as a manager?" This question is particularly tricky because you might not know your boss's motivation. Has upper management requested that she seek feedback from employees, or is she genuinely interested in constructive criticism? Maybe she's just fishing for compliments. If the latter, an honest critique could hurt the relationship with your boss.

To stay on safe ground, lead with positive feedback. If she presses for ways on how she could improve, there's no need to make a laundry list. Choose one aspect of her managerial style that could use some work, and make it actionable. For example, you could tell her, "The next time there's a new project, I'd like a little more guidance so I don't go in the wrong direction."

4. "How would you rate your performance during Q3?" Balance is the key when it comes to this sticky question. Start by outlining what you did well, and reference tangible results such as exceeding goals or meeting tight deadlines. Then discuss a few ways you might do better next time. To show you're serious about self-improvement, ask your boss for his assessment — and any tips for Q4.

5. "Can you take on this project (that no one else will do)?" You may feel that you have to say yes to every request in order to maintain a good relationship with your boss. While it's occasionally necessary to "take one for the team," you need to be honest about how Project X will affect your present workload and whether it's within the scope of your job description.

If you're genuinely reluctant to lead this project, tell your manager that you simply don't have the bandwidth to do it justice and get all of your regular assignments done on time. But also think about what may happen if you agree: If leading Project X will win you points with the boss and prove your leadership skills, it might be worth the extra work to say yes — this time.

Sticky questions can catch you off guard. And depending on how you answer them, you could risk jeopardizing an otherwise healthy relationship with your boss. Tact, honesty and careful wording are strategies that will serve you well in smoothing over potentially awkward situations.
