Road projects will start soon

Northville, Beck
to be resurfaced

Matt Jachman
hometownlife.com

Drivers should have a smoother time of it in several Northville-area spots following the completion of three Wayne County road maintenance projects scheduled for this summer.

A half-mile stretch of Beck Road between Seven Mile and Main Street in Northville Township is scheduled to be resurfaced with two inches of asphalt in mid-June, according to the Wayne County Department of Public Services.

The project should take about one day and will require lane closures as needed but no total closures of the road, said Kaye Byrd, the department spokeswoman.

In addition, Northville Road will be resurfaced with two inches of asphalt for about 550 feet south of Seven Mile, just south of the Northville-Northville Township border. That work, also a one-day project, is scheduled for early July.

The Northville Road work will also require lane closures as needed, Byrd said.

Both projects will be done by county DPS workers, and the total price tag is about $150,000, Byrd said.

The Northville-area work is among the improvement projects and maintenance projects totaling about $30 million that are set to take place this year on the county's primary and local roads. The county has hired 50 seasonal workers to help with the maintenance projects.

"We continue to look for ways to get more out of our state and federal dollars to improve our roads and bridges," said Warren C. Evans, the county executive, in a press release.

The county's road construction season runs until the end of November.

Residents can contact 888-762-3273, the 24-hour DPS customer service center number, or visit www.waynecounty.com for the latest information on road projects.

New Thayer Cemetery monument dedicated to vets buried there

A new monument honors more than two dozen military veterans, from conflicts as far back as the War of 1812, who are buried in a small historic cemetery in Northville Township.

Relatives of the veterans joined local officials and members of the Thayer Cemetery Association in the bright morning sunshine on Saturday to dedicate the newly engraved stone at the cemetery at Six Mile and Napier.

Keynote speaker Howard Rundell, a retired U.S. Navy captain who was on active duty for eight years and in the reserves for 22, said people can honor veterans' sacrifices by learning the nation's unvarnished history, and can thank veterans by acknowledging the U.S. is already great, despite what politicians might say.

"We need to raise our heads proudly and give thanks to those of every generation" who sacrificed in the nation's conflicts, Rundell said.

Raymond Givens of Salem Township said it was "awesome" to have his relatives who are buried at Thayer, including his father, Morris Givens, and a great-great grandfather, John W. Lewis recognized. Morris Givens fought in the Navy during World War II and Lewis fought in the 1st Michigan Colored Infantry during the American Civil War.

"Everybody has gotten away from the history books, and it's like they don't care," said Givens after the program. "The respect is gone, with the new generation."

In addition to his father and great-great grandfather, four other relatives who served in the military are buried at Thayer.

He gestured toward the monument. "That really means something, to see their names on it," Givens said.

Other speakers included township Supervisor Bob Nix, author Kathleen Ripley Leo, who read her poem "The Veteran's Gift," and Tillie Van Sickle, whose husband Ron is a Vietnam War veteran and a distant relative of John W. Van Sickle, a War of 1812 veteran who was buried at Thayer after passing away in 1881 at the age of 94.

"May we never forget our fallen brethren, and we dedicate this special day to them," Nix said.

The top one or two teams from every state traveled by bus and plane, coming from as far away as Hawaii, to compete against like-minded, science-loving students in 23 STEM events. The Northville High School team advanced on to nationals after taking first place at the state competition at Michigan State University on April 29.

This is Northville's third time as state champion and fourth time competing at nationals. The team has consistently managed to improve its ranking each year, moving from 17th to 12th and from 8th last year to 4th this May.

Team members and event coaches have worked with perseverance since October to represent Northville High School well at both the state and national competitions. And proud of my supportive, amazing teammates who have helped shape me into the person I am today."

Medals were awarded to the top six competitors in each event and special prizes and scholarships to some of those taking first place.

Northville students take honors at Academic Games

The Northville Public Schools' academic games team continued a tradition of excellence at the 52nd annual Academic Games National Tournament, which took place from April 28 to May 2 in Wheeling, W.Va.

Fifty Northville students qualified in the state tournament earlier this year and represented the district at the national tournament. The four-day competition was fierce, with playoffs lasting late into the night.

Students earned honors for the district, including four national team champion titles and two national individual champion titles. They had been practicing and preparing for the tournament at least twice weekly since September.

The Northville team is comprised of students from elementary to the high school level, and competes in mathematics, English, logic and history games.

The games Equations, On-Sets, Wff'N Proof and Linguistik are played by groups of three students who must show knowledge of the concepts and the ability to creatively apply them. The Propaganda and Presidents games consist of questions with various degrees of difficulty and require not only knowledge but critical thinking.

Northville's eighth-grade Meads Mill Middle School team of Andy Jiang, Ahmad Raayan, Oliver Wu, Jeffrey Zhang and Jeffrey Yang was the middle school Equations champion; the seventh-grade Hillside Middle School team of Bianca Brie, Dillan Lau, Joshua Chacko, Sambhav Gupta and Winston Wong won the middle school Wff'N Proof championship; and the sixth-grade team from Meads Mill of Rajeev Budaraju, Vansh Kapoor, Tanmay Kundapur, Jivin Yalamachili and Lucas Kim won the elementary-level championship in both Wff'N Proof and On-Sets.

In addition, Jeffrey Zhang, an eighth-grader, was an individual champion in Equations, and Andy Jiang, also in eighth grade, was a national champion in Propaganda.

A student may favor or be passionate about one or more games, but an overall win requires well-rounded performance in all categories.

The Northville team strives to provide an environment that encourages learning and promotes integrity and sportsmanship in students while offering opportunities to meet peers from other schools in monthly competitions. Northville students compete on the state level in the Michigan League of Academic Games, and on the national level in the Academic Games Leagues of America.

The team is coached and supported by parents and volunteers. One of this year's coaches, Simona Marincean, received the Outstanding Educator award from the state organization.

The other coaches are Kanni Subramanian, Krishna Budaraju, Madhur Malhotra, Senay Tascioglu, Shubha Rao, Sri Mangipudi and Yang Yang. The team is coordinated by Karla Calderon, Ning Zhang and Yanli Zhao, and many parent volunteers assisted during weekly practices and tournaments.

Alert officer halts auto dealer wheel thefts, suspects flee, police say

An alert police officer patrolling near two Plymouth Township auto dealerships halted a crime in progress as suspects were stealing wheels off vehicles, Police Chief Tom Tiderton said.

"This is the crime of the ages right now," he said. "It's happening everywhere."

An officer had turned off his patrol car headlights and was approaching Hines Park Lincoln, on Ann Arbor Road west of I-275, when he noticed a Mercedes-Benz SUV and a Dodge Caravan with occupants.

Two men spotted the officer and ran toward a wooded area to escape as the incident unfolded about 3:15 a.m. May 16, a police report said.

As the officer approached the Mercedes, occupied by at least one man, the driver swerved around the patrol car and over the curb before fleeing the scene at a high rate of speed, the report said.

The officer went to the Dodge Caravan, which police learned was stolen out of Southfield, but found no one in it. However, police found four Cadillac XT5 silver wheels and tires inside the vehicle.

Police then went to the nearby Suburban Cadillac dealership and found a Cadillac XT5 on landscaping blocks with all four wheels missing. Officers found another Cadillac XT5 being held up by a jack, with two tires leaning against it.

According to a police report, at least three vehicles were either missing wheels or had been tampered with before authorities arrived.

Michigan Philharmonic 2017/18 season celebrates local artists and diversity

The Michigan Philharmonic will begin its 72nd season with “A Bit of Beethoven and Blue Jeans.”

The season opener is set for Saturday, Sept. 30, at The Village Theatre. It has become an annual tradition for the symphony to perform different compositions each year wearing blue jeans.

Enjoy Beethoven’s masterpieces “King Stephen Overture in E-flat Major” and “Romance for Violin and Orchestra No.1 in G, Op. 40” as well as colorful compositions by Alberto Ginastera, and Nikolai Rimsky-Korsako.

The concert also features music by visiting composer Mary Watkins. This year’s overall season theme will be — Arts Advocacy, with a focus on promoting diversity and community engagement. Mary Watkins, embodies both powerful women in music and an influential force in promoting diversity.

The second concert this season is set for Oct. 21 in the Plymouth Arts & Recreation Complex (PARC). Bring your entire family as the Michigan Philharmonic collaborates with all of PARC to create a “Philharmonic Thriller.” Walk through haunted hallways, to see the performance even your kids will enjoy as the orchestra features, “Bella’s Lullaby” from “Twilight,” music from “The Chronicles of Narnia-The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe,” along with Michael Jackson’s “Thriller” and music from “Harry Potter.” This concert will also highlight the “scary classics” with pieces by J.S. Bach, John Williams, Steven Schwartz and last season’s featured composer Alice Gomez.

On Nov. 10, the timely concert “Hail to the Veterans” will personify the importance of collaboration and community, as the Michigan Philharmonic invites the Detroit Children’s Choir, Main Street Opera Theater Children’s Chorus, Plymouth Counselors Youth Chorale and MPYO Sinfonia to join them in paying homage to our veterans. This concert features side-by-side performances of compositions by Gustav Holst and Samuel A. Ward/ Katharine Lee Bates as well as commemorative compositions written by Aaron Copland, Michel Legrand, and John Williams.

Contrasting the musical salutes to American heroes, the annual “Holiday Pops with the Phil” concert will include lively music to get you into the holiday spirit. On Dec. 14 at the Penn Theatre in downtown Plymouth the Michigan Phil celebrates the holidays with music from many traditions featuring, “The Eight Candle: Prayer and Dance for Hanukkah” by Steve Reister, and “African Noel.” This concert will also include sing-alongs well as excerpts from Tchaikovsky’s masterpiece, “The Nutcracker” and “The Polar Express Suite” by Alan Silvestri and Glen Ballard. Additionally, two pieces by Leroy Anderson, “Sleigh Ride” and “The Typewriter” will be performed. STRESSING WHAT WE HAVE IN COMMON

Cincinnati Islamic leader honored to join national Muslim-Jewish council

CHRIS GRAVES
USA TODAY NETWORK

Each week, this series will introduce you to an exceptional American who unites, rather than divides, our communities. To read more about the American profiled here and more average Americans doing exceptional things, visit one-nation.usatoday.com.

CINCINNATI - Shakila Ahmad doesn't really shake your hand, she embraces it.

She shakes with one hand, while placing her other hand on top of yours as a kind of hand-hug.

It's the kind of greeting that puts strangers immediately at ease.

Ahmad is a Muslim-American woman who has spent much of her life drawing people in from various communities, religions and political persuasions to help educate others about Islam.

And that is why Bob Silverman, the U.S. director of Muslim-Jewish Relations for the American Jewish Committee, invited her to join the national Muslim-Jewish Advisory Council last year.

The council was launched by the AJC and the Islamic Society of North America in November to advocate on shared national issues and concerns.

Ahmad is one of 31 Muslim and Jewish leaders who will serve on the council, designed to fight Islamophobia and anti-Semitism.

Her work at the Islamic Center of Greater Cincinnati in West Chester, Ohio, for more than 20 years made her a natural for inclusion on the council.

"She's a sparkling individual," Silverman said. "She's been a real force for good."

Ahmad said she was both honored and a bit reluctant to take on the role, given her local commitments. She is president and board chair of the Cincinnati center.

"If Jewish Americans are reaching out and I have the opportunity to make a positive impact, then I'm being selfish for saying I don't have time," she said.

Ahmad was the first woman and the youngest to serve on the Islamic Center of Greater Cincinnati's board. She created its Tours and Talks program to educate law enforcement officers, business leaders, nonprofit groups, schools and communities about Islam. She was the founding member of the center's Muslim Mothers Against Violence initiative.

She has learned through her work that most of us want to learn about what binds us and not focus on what divides us.

"Whatever I can do to make a difference," she said, "I try and do."

Q&A WITH SHAKILA AHMAD

What does it mean to you to be an American?

Being an American is an incredible privilege. The freedoms this country affords are incredible: freedom of religion, freedom of expression, education. The opportunities are tremendous.

What moment touched and motivated you to become involved in this effort?

I have been committed to interfaith work for two decades. We did a women of interfaith program on Fountain Square (in Cincinnati) in 2016, and there were 300 women who came forward to stand together, to establish relationships. It was moving. And so when the national coalition asked me to be involved — to stand up again discrimination, to speak up and to speak out for each other and to look at domestic policy issues — I had to say yes. I believe in this work. The possibility of positive impact and positive change is the number one reason I said yes.

What gives you hope and what concerns you?

What gives me hope is the Muslim-Jewish Advisory Council and the work we will do to serve our country. What gives me hope is the women's interfaith community and that people show up in the hundreds to get to know their neighbors. What gives me hope is that all fellow Americans are able to stand shoulder to shoulder regardless if we are Muslim Americans or Jewish Americans or Christian Americans. We are all Americans.

What concerns me is when we don't take time to understand our similarities and our differences. When we chastise each other, we are cut off from one another. That is deeply, deeply concerning to me and deeply un-American.

What do you hope to accomplish through your efforts?

I hope to really empower one another with our diverse voice. As a nation ... we have tremendous values, and I hope to celebrate that and contribute to that work. I am hopeful we can build relationships with each other and our political leaders so the message is: We are your constituents, the voters, and we are the people you want to help make our government listen to us. I also hope we will advocate in order to decrease these unfounded fears and the disenfranchisement and bigotry that we have seen across the country and in our own region.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Crazy week for Trump

In no particular order let's recap: So it turns out when House Intelligence Committee (oxymoron) chair Devin Nunes was sneaking around the White House for Trump making unauthorized disclosures of classified materials, it was to delay fired AG Sally Yates from telling her story to Congress (and what a story she told) and then served up the Susan Rice unmasking story to serve as a smokescreen to that. Details of Comrade Trump's private meeting with two top Russians where he gave them the highest level of classified materials and bragged of firing "nut job" Comey to ease pressure from the Russian investigation while allowing only Russian state media into the white house.

Then, H.R. McMaster, one of only two Trump officials with any credibility totally trashes his credibility by playing word games and lying about what happened, and Trump throws him under the bus the next morning. Trump admits, during the Lester Holt interview to firing Comey, not to defend Hillary's honor as originally stated, but because of the fake Russian thing. Trump was blindsided by the deputy AG bringing a special investigator to probe this "witch hunt."

Flynn admitted he told the Trump transition team he was under investigation for the Russia thing weeks before the inauguration. AG Sessions didn't really recuse himself from the Russia thing.

Did I miss anything? Trump bowed before the Saudi king and called it an honor, but he said it was a disgrace when Obama did it. And he accepted a large donation from them but when Hillary did the same he called it criminal and pay to play. During the campaign he took such relish, such childlike glee in using the phrase "radical Islamic terrorism" but not once did those words cross his lips while addressing a conference of 50 Islamic nations.

On differing political opinions

Love, tolerate or despise him, our President has been the subject of unceasing vitriol and attacks from the new axis of anti-Trumpism: establishment Republicans, Democrat party save a few, most of academia, entertainment industry, most of the self-admitted and proud anti-Trump media and, most frighteningly, the deep state of career intelligence officials.

Most of the latter are indeed American patriots who serve their nation with dedication, there are a few rogue actors that must be found and exposed. There's little more dangerous than rogue intelligence personnel with an ax to grind in weaponizing intelligence data for political purposes.

While Director of National Intelligence James Clapper recently stated that our institutions are under assault by President Trump, he also has said most clearly there is no evidence linking Trump to Russian collusion. The former assertion is parodied as fact by this new axis while the latter is ignored as irrelevant though it is indeed the latter that is factual and very troubling to the media.

We all desire to leave this earth a better place than when we arrived. But by what means and values? Animosity of all things Republican because their candidate lost? This is what I'm seeing in this section of the paper almost every week. And yes, that civility cuts both ways.

Let's face it. If your beliefs are pro-choice, bigger federal government, open borders, more taxes to fund social programs, gender redefinition so you can supposedly re-create your gender through hormones and surgery, intolerance toward those with whom you disagree, deconstruction of the First Amendment to selectively champion free speech for the press while removing its equal elevation of religious freedom, contempt for the Second Amendment and its right to keep and bear arms, and the wholesale abandonment of Amendment's IX and X, then it is natural for you to despise our President.

I get it. I do not despise you because you believe in the things I find anathema to American exceptionalism. I am saddened that you did not learn the foundational principles that made this nation such a beautiful place to live in and where millions have sacrificed dearly to come here in past decades and centuries to build a better America. Ironically, the most militant atheist, the most virulent leftist and the current axis against Trump all enjoy their freedom here because of conservatism, not in spite of it.

That gift of freedom and our free will give us the choice to choose wisely or poorly.

Gun control needed

While watching the news, a story came on that had me shaking my head. It seems another two-bit punk got his hands on a pistol and opened fire on a house, wounding a mother and her newborn baby.

Many moons ago, when I was a deputy sheriff on patrol, practically the only criminals who carried a gun, were hit men and armed robbers. Now, it seems, every wannabe thug can get his hands on a semi-automatic weapon, and then use it without any regard for the mayhem they cause.

You would think that our lawmakers would be trying to close loopholes in current laws and shutting down shady gun dealers. But, come on, both Lansing and D.C. are teeming with politicians who are no more than pimps and shills for the NRA and gun makers.

Case in point are two bills pending in our State Capital. The first would do away with the requirement that a person must have a license to carry a concealed pistol. The second would end the requirement that pistols must be registered with the State of Michigan. Both sponsored by Republican politicians. If these bills become law, any adult could go in the local Walmart, buy a handgun, slip it in the waistband and go about their business. No pesky background investigation, no training and no fingerprint checking.

I am sure the mother mentioned above will feel safer if these bills are put in place. Again, nothing but pandering to the NRA and right-wing nut jobs.

New health plan is bad

The bi-partisan Congressional Budget Office, an arm of Congress, just scored the new version of Trump-care passed by the GOP-controlled House. After seven years of "repeal and replace" constant rhetoric and after 55 House votes to repeal the AHCA, the House current version would terminate the coverage of 23 million Americans. Currently, over 90% of Americans have health coverage, the highest percent in American history, as a direct result of the AHCA.

The largest segment of those 23 million who will lose coverage are the old, very young, women and any of us who have preexisting conditions. Drastic cuts in Medicaid will ensure that the poor will not be covered by health care. Trump care would destroy any semblance of health care coverage for those selected 23 million. GOP Republicans soothe there cruel conscience by essentially saying the Senate will straighten out there cruel mess. A massive political gamble using sick US citizens as s GOP slot machine tokens.

Trump care does not cover routine mammograms and pap smear but does cover prostrate cancer screening. We must wonder why?

Why terminate health care for 23 million? Simple. Neither Trump or the GOP-controlled US House, has any interest in health care coverage. There singular goal is to "create" savings for a massive tax cut for the already wealthy which is Trump and his cronies.

Trott untrustworthy

Congressman Dave Trott has demonstrated that he demands constant constituent supervision and can never be trusted to do what normally should be expected of an honest, ethical, public-minded legislator.

Trott votes for and supports policies that would result in tens of thousands of unnecessary deaths per year for lack of health coverage, cause a dramatic increase in out of pocket health care costs for most Americans, dramatically cut Medicaid which would result in millions of middle and working class families having to render long term care in their own homes to aged parents and jeopardize the solvency of Medicare reducing care and exploding costs to retirees all so that the top 1% of the wealth holders and wage earners can enjoy substantial tax cuts.

Shamefully, Trott is also down with sacking environmental regulations (societal protections) that would prevent the fouling of the environment with life and health threatening toxins from numerous sources and of course the proliferation of green house gases that would render the planet uninhabitable, again all so that corporations can expand profits despite the fact that corporate profits are at or near an all time high as a share of GDP.

Now Trott has helped help to vote out of committee a bill that would almost guarantee a future economic crash by repealing the Volker rule which restricts banks from co-mingling commercial and investment functions and cuts restrictions on the mortgage industry returning us to the same lax regulatory environment that precipitated the inflation of a housing bubble that spelled financial disaster for millions of Americans all to increase profits and again in spite of the fact that the banks and Wall Street are raking in record profits.

second period outscoring the Wildcats by a 5-1 margin to take a 7-2 halftime lead.

“I’ve got to give credit to their face-off guy (Gonda),” Novi coach Chris Johnson said. “He was key for them today. Last time Chase (Sparling) maybe had a career game and today their guy did really, really well in the circle.”

After falling behind 9-3, Novi tried to make things interesting with just under four minutes to play in the third period getting back-to-back goals within a 16-second span from Anthony Zugaro and Anthony D’Annibale to trim the deficit to 9-5.

But that was as close as the Wildcats would get.

Northville outscored Novi 4-1 in the final period to put it out of reach as senior attack Zach Tardich finished the game with a team-best four goals and two assists.

“We struggled offensively today,” Johnson said. “I’ve got to give credit to their defense. They did a good job. They keyed on some of our key players and I would have hoped for a better result.”

Other top point-getters for Northville included Cole Gingell (two goals, four assists), Jacob Murphy (two goals), Anthony Salamone (two goals), Ty Kilar (one goal), Jack Harrigan (one goal), Gannon Henke (one goal) and Ryan Figueroa (one assist).

“They controlled the ball,” Durham said of Novi. “They did exactly what they wanted to do. They want to slow it down. They had two- or three-minute possessions early in the game and I said, ‘OK, we’ve got to get the ball, maybe pressure a little bit.’ But we kind of stay within our game and once we got the ball, we just tried to run our offense the best we could.”

Northville sophomore goalie Jeff Varner made 11 saves, while senior Nate Czarnota paced the defense with five ground balls.

“Varner made some real big saves there at the end,” Durham said. “He made three or four saves that kept us in it. But the defense played great and we’ve been working really hard on playing really good body and that was the key. Nate Czarnota has been awesome. He’s been our ‘d-middie’ and he’s had an unbelievable year. He’s our lock guy. He just plays fantastic and he’s done it all year.”

Johnson, meanwhile, tried to tweak a couple of things offensively and defensively entering the rematch.

D’Annibale finished with two goals and one assist, while Zugaro also added two goals. Nayan Makim and Sparling also contributed goal each, but it wasn’t enough.

“We keyed 21 (Gingell) in the second half,” the Novi coach said. “We felt like if we could reduce his opportunities, his creation, that we could potentially get more possessions, which potentially could turn into more goals for us. It worked for a little bit. We started to get some more possessions and their defense took some time to figure out what we were doing, and it resulted in some possession, but we couldn’t necessarily convert on what we had.”

Novi ended its season 10-9 overall in Johnson’s second year.

“The real goal is to make these guys better young men overall and I felt they grew as people,” the Novi coach said, “and that’s all you can really ask for.”

Northville, meanwhile, has eight days off before playing its next state tournament game on May 31. The Mustangs are expected to have Nate Holloway, a versatile senior midfielder, back in the line-up after suffering a dislocated elbow.

Shamrocks romp

Joey Kamish, Ryan Sullivan and Pete Thompson each recorded hat tricks Thursday as top seed Novi Detroit Catholic Central (12-5) rolled to a 21-9 Division 1-Region 4 semifinal win over fourth seed Walled Lake Northern (12-3) at North Farmington.

CC coach Dave Wilson emptied his bench early after his team jumped out to a 14-3 halftime advantage.

Nick Capatina and Ethan Pattinson also chipped in with two goals apiece for the Shamrocks.

Ryan Lemanski of the Knights had four goals.

BOYS GOLF

Northville fifth in KLAA Association tourney

Novi winds up eighth in 24-school field

Brad Emons
hometownlife.com

The boys golf season is heading for the home stretch and the learning curve continues.

With the MHSAA regionals right around the corner, the Kensington Lakes Activities Association held its final tournament on May 24 at Bay Pointe G.C. with Hartland emerging as the overall champion of the 24-school field.

Hartland, Grand Blanc and Howell all shot 313s, but the Eagles prevailed on the fifth-player tiebreaker score.

Meanwhile, Kensington Conference champion Plymouth (33 points) and Northville (29 points) finished fourth and fifth, respectively, with 315 and 321.

Rounding out the top 10 was Pinckney (322), Livonia Stevenson (325), Novi (331), Walled Lake Northern (332) and Livonia Franklin (332), which was led by individual medalist Jacob Kenward, who shot a low round of the day with an even-par 71.

Northville was led by Drew Kearis, who tied for 12th with a 78, along with Saahith Mummadi, who tied for 17th with a 79.

“We knew the Association tournament would be a tough road without our No. 1 player, Jimmy Dales, but the team has been playing better of late, and we felt if we could put together four quality rounds, we would make some noise,” said Northville coach Chris Cronin, whose team finished second overall in the KLAA point system based on a formula which included dual matches, the Kensington Conference pre-conference tourney and the Association tourney finish.

Water hazards come into play at Bay Pointe on 14 of the 18 holes.

“Bay Pointe is a tricky course with a lot of water; therefore, we felt the winning team would likely post a number around 310,” Cronin said. “Early on, we got solid play from Drew Kearis, who started out with two birdies, and he was making great decisions. Saahith has been one of most consistent scorers all season and when he shoots a 79 like he did Tuesday, he makes us a strong scoring team.”

The back nine proved to be challenging to say the least for the Mustangs as Aaron Youmans (82) and Abhi Alluri (83) had major difficulties finishing out the holes.

“We have relied on these two all year to help carry us, and today we needed to support them, and that didn’t happen,” Cronin said.

Junior Nick Wever carded an 82 to figure in Northville’s team scoring, while Maston Heid finished with an 89.

“Nick’s had a terrific season,” Cronin said. “He has a knack for playing solid golf in big tournaments.”

Novi’s top finisher was Michael Ulle, who tied for 17th with a 79.

The Wildcats’ other three scorers included Jason Wenner (83), Derek DuBois (83) and Trevor Angell (86). Aaskash Jajoo and Chris Fisher shot 88 and 87, respectively.

White Lake Lakeland (340), which finished 12th in the team standings, was led by Ben Cohen, who tied for seventh individually with a 77.

Other scorers for the Eagles included Spencer Sienkiewicz (86), Austin Gogola (88) and Jesse Smothers (89). Jacob Brown and Justin Reinhart shot 92 and 102, respectively.

Milford (342) placed 14th led by Chase Tabor and Christian Golich, each carding an 84. Jack Chaldecott contributed an 85, while Owen Zamaira and Joey Vernier each carded 89s to figure in the Mavericks’ scoring. Balley Hess was the non-scorer with a 99.

South Lyon East (360), wound up 18th overall led by A.J. Clark and Jason Zobl with 84 and 85, respectively. Other scorers for the Cougars included Nick Ruschak (92), Jacob Miller (99) and Max Hoorn (99). Gavin McPherson added a 112.

South Lyon (360), which placed 19th, was led by Zach VanBoven (88) followed by Nate Campbell (89), Daniel McDermott (91), Evan Monteith (92) and Gabe Campbell (92). The Lions’ non-scorer was Peter Brinch (97).

Two-time defending Division 1 champion Novi Detroit Catholic Central will be the odds-on favorite to win the Region 3 tourney, which will held on Thursday, June 1 at Dunham Hills.

Also in the field will be Hartland, Brighton, Northville, Novi, Lakeland, Milford and South Lyon.

Meanwhile, South Lyon East will play in the Division 2-Region 12 tourney Thursday, June 1, at Willow Metropark in New Boston.

With a minute left we’re thinking OK, we’re already thinking about overtime, two 10-minute overtimes and we’re also thinking ahead to the state tournament.”

Both teams took time to adjust to the slippery surface, but the first half ended in a scoreless draw.

Brighton’s best opportunity came when Emma Gould’s direct free kick from 25 yards out rang off the crossbar with 27:30 left. Novi also threatened after getting off to a slow start, but couldn’t penetrate into the final third of the field or get in deep against Bulldogs goalkeeper Hannah Swanson.

“I thought the first half we did a great job possessing,” Pfeiffer said. “We had a couple of scoring opportunities the first half that we didn’t capitalize on, but we did a good job of limiting them to scoring opportunities. Brighton is a very good team and by far their forwards are the best players on their team. They’re fast, they’re quick, they’re very skilled. We knew that coming in and I thought my defenders did a great job of limiting those opportunities, especially the first half.”

With 31:26 left in regulation, the scoreless deadlock was broken by Brighton’s Sarah Caldwell, who poked home a rebound that Rich couldn’t secure after her initial save with Emma Shinsky drawing the assist.

But the script flipped shortly after as Novi began to apply more pressure in a desperate attempt to tally the equalizer. The Wildcats nearly scored with 15:20 to play when Julia Stadther’s header was snagged by Swanson at point-blank range following a corner kick that was headed into box.

But just 41 seconds later, Novi’s Jessie Bandyk directed an attempt from just beyond 20 yards out on a shot that eluded Swanson to knot the count at 1-all. (Lexi Whalen was credited with the assist.)

“I thought we sat back too much and let Novi take it to us possession-wise a little bit,” Stevanovic said. “And after they scored their goal we panicked. They were on their home field, they were used to this environment and our girls panicked a little bit. We didn’t stop playing. We changed our formation and got more players on the counter attack, and fortunate enough for us, we got the goal before overtime, which was big time.”

It was Brighton’s first KLAA Association title since 2009. Depth has been a key for the KLAA North Division and Lakes Conference champs this season.

“I can put any player on the field and we don’t skip a beat,” Stevanovic said. “And I’ve never had this as a head coach before. I’ve always had some very, very talented players and individuals, but overall our team is extremely deep. We utilized everybody tonight and everyone stepped up. A lot of our bench players stepped up and played a lot tonight.”

Although Shatrau’s goal might have been considered “fluky,” it still goes down on the scoresheet as the game-winner.

“We know it, under these conditions anything can happen,” Pfeiffer said. “The ball skips, especially on the grass and it’s been raining all day. And it’s just pressure in those situations. Tight game there, anything can happen any time. Callie has made some great saves the entire year. She’s done an incredible job ... she made some great saves today. It’s just unfortunate it short-hopped her, skipped on by her.”

After making a run last year to the MHSAA Division 1 semifinals, Novi seems poised to make another run if it can get through a tough Northville district tournament which also includes state-ranked Livonia Stevenson, Farmington Hills Mercy, North Farmington, South Lyon and the always tough host Mustangs.

The KLAA Central Division and Kensington Conference champions have played a demanding schedule in and outside the Association.

“We’re battle tested, we’re ready for the state tournament and we’ve got bigger goals,” Pfeiffer said. “The Association is a great goal, but we’ve got bigger goals. We’ve got districts starting Tuesday with South Lyon. Our goal is a district championship and move on from there.”

Despite the heart-breaking setback, Pfeiffer likes the fight his team has displayed throughout the year.

“That’s one great thing about this team is that they never give up,” he said. “It’s happened a couple of times this year. It happened at (Rochester) Stoney Creek. We’re down 2-1, come back and score two goals to win 3-2. We were down early to (Livonia) Stevenson this year 1-0, we come back and win 3-1. This team definitely has a no-die mentality to the end. We just got to make sure we keep that mentality the whole time. We can’t wait to get behind and start playing like that.”

Ten football stadiums. Whenever the football team travels, I'd travel. We don't travel with the basketball team unless it's at a tournament. I went to Madison Square Garden to watch the Michigan State basketball team play. We go all over the country. Arizona, Las Vegas."

Check, check, check all the boxes . . . but only problem is that he had to retain his anonymity for three years.

"What was difficult is that although you're always meeting these people, you're in the suit the whole time and you can't get the picture with just yourself, you're a Sparty," Halley said. "But It was still awesome to see them and get to talk to them."

And while Halley had a blast during his three-year stint, there was another major drawback.

"If it's a 75-degree day, then add 30 degrees, it's about 105 in the suit," Halley said. "It weighs about 30 pounds. You sweat a lot. Every single time you're getting out basically you're dying. Like for weddings or stuff when you're constantly dancing on the dance floor, you pretty much push yourself to the point of overheating and exhaustion every single time."

Job hazards

It was an appearance during an on-campus event called Sparty's Bar Mitzvah that Halley would like to forget while wearing the stylized Greek athlete/warrior costume.

"It was for the Jewish groups on campus and there were so many people packed into this one venue and everybody was dancing," Halley recalled. "By 30 minutes I was crawling literally from booth to booth trying to catch my breath to get some sort of breather. It was so hot with the amount of people and the body heat that was being put off. By the end of the hour I literally had to be carried back to where I was changing. I was so dead."

But whether it's a campus or off-campus activity, Sparty had to retain his core values throughout his term.

"You've got to do it to keep the character," Halley said. "Sparty can't be dead or like lazy, or not animated, so you have to keep going until the end of the hour.

HANDOUT

Harrison Halley of Novi was the Spartan mascot for three years.

But for that reason we only do hour appearances. The longest we can be in is an hour. If you want to be in longer than an hour then you have to pay for two events."

Halley did numerous community events, including 5K races, birthday parties, fundraisers, weddings and hospital visits.

"We literally do everything," Halley said. "There's a wide arrange of things that we do besides sports, which is 10 percent of the job and the rest of it is in the community."

Sparty is an unpaid volunteer position, but it does have its perks.

Always on call

"As long as there is a Spartan and they're willing pay for us to go out and sponsor us, we'll make the trip," Halley said. "The only compensation that we get is that we'll get some free MSU gear so we'll look official on the sidelines. Its strictly voluntary, so people don't do it for the wrong reasons. So you don't get kids (students) say, 'I get paid to be Sparty.' It's to get the right candidates to do it for the right reasons."

Halley seemed destined to be Sparty coming out of Novi High where he excelled in music and was a member of the marching band. He was also voted Homecoming King, participated in two sports (skiing and tennis), acted and served in student government. He also learned to unicycle.

He joined the MSU marching band as a freshman. He also was a member of the Spartan Discords serving as its a cappella director for two years. Halley is also an accomplished piano and saxophone player.

And while he was a member of the MSU marching band, he got the idea that he'd like to give Sparty a shot.

Aces the test

"They have tryouts every year and I contacted someone who was involved with the program and kind of shadowed for a little bit," Halley said.

In early 2015, Halley went through the tryout process and made the final cut.

"It's pretty rigorous," he said. "Went through a couple of interviews, couple of physical activities, then you finally actually get in and they'll tell you to do things, live improv, games, and see how you react. Found out in about March that I made it on."

One of the job requirements is to interact with the opposing school's mascots, put on a show, while upholding your school's pride.

"Sparty . . . he's always the best," Halley said. "When he's faced with another mascot Sparty is always on top so whether it's a push-up contest or a dance off, Sparty is always the one that's going to come out on top. Between mascots you kind of know there's going to be competition, but in the end you know it's going to be playful. We're never going to get too heated because there (are) rivalries between schools, but you can't have mascots seen punching each other. But in the end of the day you know it's a friendly competition and we all love each other. I know the mascot from OSU, Minnesota, Wisconsin . . . pretty much every mascot in the Big Ten, we're great friends. We only meet a few times so we share this thing in common."

And if there was a favorite athletic moment for Halley, it came on Oct. 17, 2015, at Michigan Stadium when MSU stunned the host Wolverines, 27-23, on Jalen Watts-Jackson's 38-yard fumble return on the final play of the game.

Signature game

"Everybody lost all hope, but once that play happened, it was just how crazy the stadium erupted and the feeling on the field with the players and all the cheerleaders, and the band," Halley said. "And getting to go back to the locker room with the team and celebrate was probably was the best celebration we had, or that I got to be a part of as the mascot."

Despite all the weekends, hours and events, Halley wouldn't have changed anything.

"It was great and I'm glad that I did it," he said. "And really seeing the people's smiles that have never seen Sparty or you'll get seniors coming up to you and saying, 'I've been here four years and was never able to get a picture with you, can I take a picture?'" Everyone from older to younger generations you're really the grand ambassador for Michigan State. It really makes it worthwhile when you're literally like a celebrity from a time when you're in the suit and being Sparty."

Young children, meanwhile, seemed to be the most mesmerized during their encounters.

"You'll get babies that are so fascinated with you or they just cry immensely at the sight of you," Halley said. "You'll get the ages where they either know you're the guy in the suit or they'll still believe you're Sparty. It's fun to see how kids react to Sparty."

Passing the torch

Halley recently moved to Chicago and is interviewing for jobs. He wants to continue to pursue his musical endeavors, whether it's playing piano for a church or for a choir, or teaching piano lessons.

He's entertained thoughts of working at Disney "and being one of those guys, like Mickey or Goofy,"

"We'll see what happens," Halley said. "Maybe do it a year or two and just have fun."

But the memories Halley has as Sparty he'll cherish forever, including one campus event where he took center stage with MSU basketball coach Tom Izzo and school president Lou Anna K. Simon.

"Coach Izzo waited and talked with me," Halley said. "It was the three biggest faces of MSU in the same room. That was pretty cool."

"You're literally a celebrity on campus. You'll never see more people smile, get high-fives or hugs from anybody. The opportunities that I had and the things that I was able to do I would have never been able to do if I wasn't Sparty."

And now it's time for Halley to pass the torch to the next Sparty, who will remain anonymous for the coming year.

"I couldn't tell anybody that I was Sparty until I graduated," Halley said. "A quote I like is, 'It wasn't kept from you, it was kept for you.' It's like, I'm not keeping the secret because I want to from someone, I'm keeping it because the magic of Sparty is going to be there when they see Sparty. It's not like, 'Oh, that's Harrison,' it's not Sparty. It was an awesome thing to be a part of the last three years."

Schmidt's shutout gives Northville split with Saline

Novi beats Pinckney on walk-off balk, 5-4

Brad Emons
hometownlife.com

The much anticipated baseball double-header between top-ranked Saline and No. 20 Northville came down to an arms race.

The visiting Hornets, ranked No. 1 in Division 1 and last year's state runner-up, took the opener, 3-0, as Cole Daniels held the Mustangs to two hits and three walks while striking out three over six innings.

Reliever Justin Flanagan threw a scoreless seventh to pick up the save.

Daniels also knocked in a pair of runs, while Sean O'Keefe and Ethan Collick each added two hits for Saline.

Losing pitcher Connor Ziparo went six innings, allowing two earned runs on eight hits and a walk. He struck out four before Tyler Troyer came on to pitch a scoreless seventh.

Nick Prystash and Jake Moody recorded the lone hits for the Mustangs.

Northville, however, came back to win the nightcap, 2-0, as Ben Schmidt pitched a complete-game, two-hitter. He struck out two and did not allow a walk.

Freshman outfielder Christian Williams and senior shortstop Kevin Morrissey each had a hit and RBI in the win as Northville improved to 20-9 overall.

Daniel Weidmayer took the loss for Saline (30-3) as he pitched all six innings allowing two earned runs on six hits and a walk, while fanning three.

"Well pitched games by both teams," Northville coach John Kostrzewa said. "Ben Schmidt did an outstanding job against a very good lineup. Connor Ziparo pitched well in the first game, and after a tough first inning, he really settled down. We just didn't have an answer for their lefty Daniels. The chances we had he did a nice job getting an out when he needed it. Just two very well played, well pitched competitive games by both teams."

NOVI 5, PINCKNEY 4: Mitch Lys pitched the final two innings in relief to pick up the win Wednesday as the host Wildcats (16-18-1) edged the Pirates (11-16-1) in a KLAAs crossover game. Novi's Mike Hitt scored the game-winning run on a balk after reaching base on a walk. He went to second on Johnny Bean's sacrifice bunt and advanced to third when Tyler VanKirk successfully laid down his second bunt single of the game.

Novi starter Grant Pytel worked the first five innings allowing three earned runs on four hits and two walks, while striking out four. Lys gave up two hits and a walk, while fanning two.

Evan Yokie (double) and Alec Bageris each had an RBI for the Wildcats.

John Manney knocked in two runs for Pinckney, while Dalton Knightley took the loss.

The second game was suspended by rain with two outs and nobody on with Pinckney batting in the top of the fourth and leading 6-5. The game will be resumed as a date yet to be determined.

Northville girls cruise into regional semifinal

Novi also advances with 13-11 win over Salem

Brad Emons
hometownlife.com

Northville showed little, if any rust in demolishing Farmington High, 23-2, in the MHSAA Division 1-Regional 2 lacrosse opener Thursday at Tom Holzer Field.

The Mustangs (12-4), who jumped out to a 14-2 halftime lead, were led by Charlotte Beaudoin, Emma Dietrich and Sarah Chase with four goals and one assist apiece, while Kendall Wasik finished with three goals and four assists.

"Our girls came out really excited to play after a week off," said Northville coach Dan Madigan, whose team was coming off a 13-12 non-conference loss on May 17 to Beverly Hills Detroit Country Day. "Midfielders Sarah (Chase), Emma (Dietrich), Charlotte (Beaudoin) and Ally (Blough) did a great job winning draws giving us a lot of possessions. We controlled 23 of the 27 draws and got quality possessions."

Others chipping in offensively for the victorious Mustangs included Jessica Tardich (three goals, one assist), Ally Blough (three goals), Ella Tarasi (one goal, two assists) and Olivia Lesh (one goal).

"We were very patient offensively looking for the best shot possible," Madigan said. "We had great teamwork moving the ball very well. Kendall (Wasik) and Jessica (Tardich) did a great job offensively tonight moving the ball and creating great opportunities for their teammates."

Goalie Kat Weissert had to make just three saves as the Mustangs earned a spot in the regional semifinals beginning at 5 p.m. Tuesday, May 30, at Novi (10-7).

NOVI 13, SALEM 11: Sophomores figured prominently in the scoring on May 24 as the host Wildcats (11-8) downed the Rocks (11-7) in a first-round MHSAA Division 1-Regional 2 playoff game.

"This was just a great game of lacrosse," Novi coach Kaitlyn West said. "It was exhilarating to watch. Salem played an excellent game and it was constantly back and fourth between goals and having the lead or being down by one.

Leading the way offensively were 10th-graders Katie Novell (four goals, two assists), sophomore Emily Pringle (three goals, one assist) and Alexa Cotter (three goals).

Senior captain Katie McMaster also added one goal and two assists, while Hannah Richardson scored the other Novi goal.

Senior captain and goalie Mariah Smythe posted a 63 percent save average, while Cotter added two interceptions.

"The girls pulled through with many flawless transitions and great use of possession," West said. "Their defense was strong and constantly pressuring the other team. Even through our own turnovers, the attack and middies were working to play defense all the way back to the opposite restraining area. This is a proud coaching moment for me and I am so excited for the girls and their continued growth and success."

Make a strong case to land your next promotion

 BY DEANNA HARTLEY
 CAREERBUILDER

Looking for an exciting challenge in your professional life? Want to breathe new life into your career? Then it's time to become proactive in your career development and make the case for a promotion.

Start with these tips to take matters into your own hands and go get that promotion you deserve.

Start the conversation before you even accept a job. During the hiring process, talk to your potential employer and ask about opportunities for growth and promotions, suggests Jyssica Schwartz, who is director of sales for publishing company Authors Unite and has more than four years of staffing and recruiting experience.

Be open to having honest conversations with your employer about a timeline for promotions, Schwartz says. That way, when a promotion opportunity opens up, you'll be in a position to sit down with your manager and walk through your accomplishments and achievements in your current role that have prepared you to step into the open position.

"Most importantly, make sure you are great at your current job and do well — you're punctual... easy to work with, a good leader for other employees and you work well with the company culture," she says.

Have career development discussions. Does your boss know that you're ready to take the next step in your career? Don't take it for granted that he or she knows. It's also important to continue to map out what career pathing would look like in your company for your next role.

"Assuming we have some fluidity in staff turnover, then

I would hope that every staff member and every staff leader has already mapped out what is necessary in order to be considered ready for (a) promotion," says Jonathan Breeze, CEO of Aardvark Compare.com, a travel insurance marketplace. Breeze cautions that some companies are more prone to having opportunities open up while others are more static — and that's something to bear in mind.

Make the most of your performance review. Don't underestimate the power of a great performance review. While it is a chance to look back at past accomplishments and areas of opportunity, it's also a good place to map out your future career path.

"Rather than do the minimum at your evaluation, try making a presentation for your manager that showcases your accomplishments — share with them the way your job has grown and how you'd like to continue to expand your role in the future," says Angela Copeland, career coach at Copeland Coaching.

Copeland also says to take note of how receptive your boss is. "If your boss is open to this conversation, presenting yourself this way can build a strong case. However, take note if your boss seems to turn away from this idea. If your company doesn't recognize your efforts or believe in your future success, it's time to look elsewhere."

Be prepared to show your expanding skills and value. "You want to be able to demonstrate that you have taken on additional responsibilities as well as provide specific details about your accomplishments," says Bradley Shaw, president of SEO Expert Brad, a provider of Internet marketing and SEO services. "Share examples of projects you have completed and how they've positively impacted the business's bottom line. Was there an increase in revenue? These are not only good indicators of your contributions, but also of your future potential as a member of the company."

Look at the big picture — and make the case for executives, too. Managers probably need to make the case for a promotion to higher-ups in the organization, explains Antonella Pisani, CEO and founder of EyeFull Media, an e-commerce and digital marketing consultancy. So make it easy for your boss to highlight your accomplishments.

"The employee should back up their rationale for a promotion and increased responsibility with facts and figures, and show strategic thinking at a level that's commensurate with people operating at the level they believe they should be promoted to," Pisani says. "By providing a clear story to tell, they'll make their boss look prepared, which can in turn make it easier to get the promotion."

SUDOKUHere's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

NEW FORD CEO HACKETT MUST MOVE FORD INTO SELF-DRIVING FUTURE, BUT COMPANY'S TRUST LEGACY WILL HELP HIM OUT

By Dale Buss

The stunning dismissal of Ford CEO Mark Fields underscored the treacherous terrain that the auto industry has entered these days, with U.S. sales leveling off and the future arriving fast in the form of ride-sharing services and, soon, self-driving cars.

But as they prepare for epochal changes in their business, traditional automakers such as Ford may be able to take heart in how they've built brand equity with auto buyers that the digital wizards in Silicon Valley may not be able to match — at least in the perceptions of non-American car buyers.

Ford's board, led by Executive Chairman Bill Ford Jr., booted Fields and turned for their new CEO instead to Jim Hackett, a former Ford board member who had been heading Ford's mobility-services unit — and who, better still, had gained a reputation while CEO of furniture maker Steelcase for harnessing eras of transformational change.

Fields hired Hackett to be the company's mobility guru last year after Fields had made a strong about-face and committed the company to developing a critical mass in mobility services and self-driving technology in a relative hurry. Now, Hackett has outlasted his former boss at Ford and is extending his career in ways he hadn't anticipated after ending a 30-year stint at Steelcase — including nearly 20 as its CEO — in 2014.

"It wasn't in my plan to do something as intense as this after" serving as interim athletic director at the University of Michigan, where he fired Brady Hoke and hired the already-legendary Jim Harbaugh, Hackett told me earlier this year, about the job heading mobility services for Ford. "But when I was at Steelcase, the importance and intensity of the opportunity in big data was beckoning me. I was sharing all of that with [Fields and Ford Executive Chairman Ford] and they said, 'What if you come over and help us?'"

"It surprised me," Hackett continued. "And it's such an honor that they asked." But as he added, "You have to get ready again for the speed and complexity of a job like this. You can let it drift when you retire. Now I've got it back."

Hackett will have to rely on the sort of consumer goodwill that is suggested by a new survey by Inrix. It suggests that tech titans such as Apple and Google are trusted slightly more than automakers to build autonomous vehicles by American consumers, 27 percent to 23 percent, followed distantly by ride-sharing companies such as Uber, at 4 percent. And about 1.4 times as many Americans trust tech companies to secure their connected-car data than trust traditional automakers.

Across the pond, however, 1.5 times as many British drivers trust traditional carmakers with their data compared with Silicon Valley's tech giants. Nearly one-third of UK drivers trust traditional carmakers to build autonomous vehicles, whereas less than one in five would trust established tech giants and only 3 percent trust ride-sharing companies. Inrix interviewed consumers in France, Italy and Germany as well.

"A new battleground is emerging between automakers, tech companies and ride-sharing companies in the race to develop connected and autonomous vehicles," Bob Pixhue, senior economist at Inrix, said in a press release about the survey of more than 5,000 consumers in the five countries. "With hundreds of millions of connected cars expected to be on the roads within the next 15 years, the market share will be owned by companies that can educate drivers and gain consumer trust."

The results suggest trouble for Uber, Lyft and other companies that began as ride-sharing platforms as they attempt to build their own self-driving propositions. They also underscore why Lyft may see promise in linking with Waymo, Google's autonomous-automobile unit.

Both the Inrix study and a new survey by Autolist.com underscored that demand for driverless cars will be driven by millennials and the even-younger Generation Z. And as the generations that have grown up trusting their smartphones and laptops for life guidance, it's no wonder they're willing to trust Apple and Google with their transportation needs too.

Jim Hackett came to Ford via Steelcase and U.M.

Hackett will be counting on continued big sales of the high profit F-150 pickup
