Northville mom makes relief trip to Haiti Along with 14 other members of Calvary Baptist Church

Kelli Paslawski, a wife and mother who lives in Northville, used her time and nurse assistant skills at a medical mission in Port au Prince, Haiti, this summer.

She, along with 14 other members of Calvary Baptist Church in Canton, teamed with the nonprofit organization World Orphans. In two days, they met the medical needs of almost 400 people, ages 6 weeks to 97 years. For many, it was the first time they had visited a doctor in years.

"People of this povertystricken island are in much need of medical help," Paslawski said. Hospitals in Haiti are often closed for months at a time since the 2010 earthquake that caused about 316,000 deaths and Hurricane Matthew in 2016, which caused catastrophic damage and a humanitarian crisis. Husband, wife die in house fire

Firefighters find pair in upstairs bedroom

Matt Jachman hometownlife.com USA TODAY NETWORK --- MICHIGAN

A longtime Walled Lake schools employee and her husband were killed in a Friday fire at their home in Novi.

Kenneth and Barbara Garner were found in an upstairs bedroom by firefighters who responded to the fire on East Lake Drive shortly before 7:30 a.m., according to city officials. Autopsy results were still pending Monday, according to the Oakland County medical examiner's office.

The house is on Walled Lake, in the area of 13 Mile and Old Novi roads. Arriving firefighters saw a lot of smoke and flames coming from the house and were told two people may be inside, a statement from the city read. Barbara Garner, 60, was a 26-vear Walled Lake Consolidated Schools district employee. She worked in the district's business office and had earlier worked in the accounts payable and transportation departments. "Everyone's pretty devastated," Judy Evola, the district's community relations and marketing director, said by phone Friday. 'Barb was a wonderful, caring, kind, committed friend, co-worker and mother of two adult children and wife," Evola said in a prepared statement. "Our thoughts and prayers go out to Barb's children and family. We are saddened and in shock.' Kenneth Garner, 63, worked at the Dick's Sporting Goods at the Fountain Walk plaza in Novi. A call to the store was referred to Dick's corporate headquarters in Pennsylvania, which did not respond to messages left Friday and Monday. The Garners are survived by a son, Ryan, and a daughter, Dakoi. A Go Fund Me account has been set up to raise money to assist the family. The Garners are also survived by Barbara Garner's sis-

Secret Santa pays off layaways at local Walmart

He didn't have a white beard and wasn't wearing a red suit, but someone was playing Santa Claus at the New Hudson Walmart store earlier this week.

The unidentified man, described as being in his 40s, paid off about 10 layaways at the store Dec. 11, asking particularly for those accounts that were buying toys service manager called me (Dec. 12) and said, 'Hey Katie, you need to pick up your layaway.' I told her that I still owed about $100 left and, when she said someone paid it, I just couldn't hardly speak," said Katie Pope, who lives in Green Oak Township. "Money has been so tight. I didn't know how I was going to pay it off without taking out a payday loan.'

Novi resident Crystal White had a similar reaction when she Paslawski, 46, had no idea what her role would be when she and her fellow parishioners got to the church in Haiti that housed the medical clinic. During the clinic, the Beaumont Health nurse assistant took patients' vital signs - body temperature, blood pressure, pulse or heart rate and breathing or respiratory rate — to help assess patients' general physical health and give clues to possible diseases.

The equipment used at the clinic included one stethoscope, one old thermometer, one blood glucose monitor and a manual blood pressure cuff.

When Paslawski saw the endless line of patients queued up, she quickly trained another member of her group how to take blood pressure readings. "It was a blessing to share my skills," Paslawski said. "We made a great team.

"While my friend and I took turns taking vital signs, we also did our best to communicate assurance to our patients through our smiles and gestures. The words were few but the love was difficult. But I quickly found positive nonverbal communication goes a long way. A smile is universal."

The friends also took turns holding babies of women who came to be examined. "I loved this time, because I could focus solely on holding one of these precious little ones," she said. "I will never forget this."

The long days at the medical clinic included substandard bathroom facilities, heavy and constant perspiration from the high heat and humidity and those long lines of people waiting for hours to be seen. "The Haitian people endured, so I did, too. I can't wait to do it all again," Paslawski said.

She is thankful to have had this opportunity to help: "I could tell by the many times I heard people say, 'merci,' and the smiles and hugs they gave to me how thankful they were."

Šhe did not want to leave Haiti and the people she came to love. However, when she returned to her job at Beaumont Hospital, Farmington Hills a few days after returning home, she found a new pep in her step. "I was more tolerant, more compassionate and found myself not rushing with my pa-tients," she said. "I am different now, and hope my patients can feel this difference as well.'

Paslawski recommends going on an overseas medical trip to anyone she knows because she had such a positive, life-changing experience. Next summer's trip is already in the works.

Eagles soar: Scout troop trio reaches highest rank

When Troop 755 finishes its latest Court of Honor, the troop is going to have three more Eagle Scouts.

Troop members Trevor Kelterborn, Paul Boran and Dominic Duhn have each achieved the rank of Eagle Scout this year and will be recognized at the Court of Honor at 2 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 17, at Mill Race Village in the church building at 215 Griswold in Northville.

Here's how each scout made it: » Trevor Kelterborn — The son of Dan Kelterborn and Debbie Grant-Kelterborn, Trevor earned his Eagle Scout rank in August.

Trevor's Eagle Scout project was to create three writing centers and 46 fun-to-go packs for 3- to 6-year-olds attending school at Starfish Family Services. With the help of others, he organized a supply drive by going door to door in subdivisions, placing fliers with donation bags on the doors asking for school supplies or donations.

The flier explained what Starfish Family Services is, what it needed and when the donations would be collected. Due to the overwhelming generosity of the donors, he was able to expand his project beyond the writing centers and 46 fun-to-go packs and provide supplies that will last well into the next school year, as well as to include some of his favorite childhood activities – wooden blocks, puzzles, a variety of games and 26 books for each classroom.

» Paul Boran — The son of Canice and Lisa Boran, Paul made Eagle Scout in November.

In July 2017, Paul and a group of 13 people (mostly Scouts) built 10 picnic tables over three days for Maybury State Park. Paul had to raise $900 for supplies and the project took 136 hours to complete.

Čompanies like Northville Lumber and Home Depot helped with some of the fundraising, but Paul got the majority of the money through bottle drives. The actual building of the tables took longer than expected and there were a few bumps in the road, but the end product came out very satisfying. The tables are currently being used all over Maybury State Park at Eight Mile and Beck roads.

» Dominic Duhn — The son of Drew and Gabriella Duhn, Dominic earned his Eagle Scout rank in October.

In May 2017, Dominic and about 25 volunteers renovated a walking trail at Thayer's Corner. Dominic had to raise about $200 for supplies and the project took about 120 hours to complete. Although Home Depot helped with donated supplies, the majority of the donations came from family and friends.

Dominic faced a few obstacles during the project, including a storm on his original project day and then the breaking down of the mulch tractor on his rescheduled project day, but in the end he persevered with the help of his hard working volunteers. The end result was well worth the time and effort as it is now another amenity for Northville Township.

Thayer's Corner is a local park located at Six Mile and Napier roads. The Blue Trail at Thayer's Corner is being used every day. The library will be closed Sunday and Monday, Dec. 24-25, for the Christmas holiday.

The best holiday gift: Community coming together for children have the honor and privilege of visiting schools every week. When I step into a teacher's classrooms, I know I will see something good.

Visiting schools around the holidays is especially exciting. Students are full of energy. In many instances, students are preparing for special concerts or creating holiday mementos to take home.

When I was in the second grade, my teacher, Mrs. Harriger, helped each of us make a paperweight using baby food jars, marbles and the kiln. For a second-grader, it was pretty exciting stuff. My dad kept that paperweight on his desk for more than 50 years.

While the holidays bring joy, each year for the past five years, my holiday celebration and festivities have been tinged with sadness because of the tragedy that unfolded Dec. 14. 2012. It was that day that a gunman opened fire in Sandy Hook Elementary School, killing staff and students.

Every day, I work to ensure that a tragedy like that will not happen in Novi. Schools are supposed to be places where there is enthusiasm and energy. Students and teachers work together to create an environment that encourages creativity and learning.

Students come to dents. Ultimately, that is school without a concern that they will be safe. Parents send their students to school believing that the school is a safe environment. Safety is, thankfully, not an issue that most people worry about in schools.

Over the years, however, schools have slowly lost their innocence. Unfortunately, schools have been the scene of tragedy and violence.

In Novi, we have created one of the safest school environments possible. We have locked doors. We have security cameras. We have emergencies plans. We have a supportive police department.

More importantly, we have a staff and a community that cares deeply for students.

During my seven years in Novi, I have witnessed the great compassion our staff has for our students. From food service workers to secretaries to support staff to bus drivers to teachers and administrators, everyone cares for students.

Additionally, I have heard from and seen our community step forward to ensure that our students have the resources they need to be successful. Whether that is voting for bonds or volunteering for school events, we have a community that is ready to help our stu-

what the holiday season is about. The secular and sacred stories that form the heart of this season revolve around the idea that people care for others. We share stories of people giving gifts to others and sacrificing so that someone else can be happy. Giving, not receiving, is at the heart of the holiday season

As this holiday season continues to unfold, I think it is important for us to remember that we are lucky in Novi. We are a community that has come together for our children. We value and support the children who live here and attend our schools. Whether we work with our students, parent our children or support the school district with our time and talent, we are a community that will continue to care and protect our children.

I cannot think of a greater gift this holiday season.

SHELDON SHAFER

LOUISVILLE COURIER JOURNAL USA TODAY NETWORK

Each week, this series will introduce you to an exceptional American who unites, rather than divides, our communities. To read more about Americans doing exceptional things, visit onenation.usatoday.com.

Gregg Rochman is the son of a surgeon and, in his own words, was born with a platinum spoon in his mouth.

"I had everything available to me," said the New York City native. "I grew up in a very affluent area, and I could have done anything I wanted. But, because of that privilege, I have a duty to share" and to give back.

Rochman, who moved to Louisville, Kentucky, 10 years ago, has invested in the city with a vengeance, putting a significant sum as the developer or co-developer into the renovation of about 15 properties in the low-income Portland neighborhood in western Louisville.

The effort has included a variety of nonresidential projects — among them the conversion of one old warehouse into an art gallery and another into an office and roastery for a coffee company.

Rochman for five years has served as the volunteer treasurer of New Roots, a nonprofit based in the Portland neighborhood that he described as a food justice organization that wholesales fresh produce while trying to connect residents directly with farmers.

His latest undertaking is serving as the project manager for Vital Sites, a new nonprofit venture that strives to renovate historic properties into affordable housing.

He works to find lenders to supply money to redevelop the units and to find contractors to develop the properties. He also works with the architects to complete the restorations and coordinates with real estate brokers to sell the sites.

Vital Sites partners with individuals and other groups to redevelop abandoned or neglected spaces.

Employed at the store for more than eight years, Blackburn said Walmart does layaways only at Christmas and it's utilized by a lot of customers. The deadline to pay off the layaways and collect the items is Dec. 15.

"We started calling people, telling them their layaway was paid. It was the first time I've seen this. It makes you feel good." Blackburn said. "It was realworks outside on cell towers. "They do so much work throughout the year, but December is a bad month. There isn't that much work until after the first of the year," said White, a stay-at-home mom who grew up in South Lyon and now lives across Napier in Novi.

In fact, White said she and her husband had been arguing about getting the layaway balance paid — she was worried about losing the nearly $300 already paid, as well as not getting the presents for her children. Those gifts include a Barbie camper, which White's daughter has been wanting, along with a two-wheel scooter and a four-wheeler for her son.

Q&A WITH GREGG ROCHMAN

What does it mean to be an American?

An American is inclusive and accepting of others, fortunate, and honored to have the privilege of living in our truly great and abundant country. We have a land with vast resources and a people capable of anything. Our advantages are used for the good of the planet and all its creatures — all people, all living things. Currently, however, Americans are divided from one another. We do not do everything in our power to house the homeless, feed the hungry, clothe the cold, educate the poor and support each other with the goal the betterment of everyone — even though it is all within our reach. We should be ashamed. I am.

What do you hope to get out of your work with Vital Sites?

With the help of our team, I hope to revitalize these five shotgun houses and sell them to people to live in, so that Vital Sites can gather some much-needed funds to continue the important work of preservation. The bigger picture is that I will learn from the experience and talent embodied within the people of Vital Sites to improve my capabilities at historic preservation, in turn feeding my addiction to old structures. Historic preservation maintains the fabric of our past, while connecting us to our future. It activates our history on a human scale. This work is truly fascinating and not for the faint of heart.

What gives you hope or what concerns you?

The music scene in Louisville gives me hope. There are many examples of excellent musicians in numerous different styles. The musicians play with one another, go to see each other's shows and support each other. It's a microcosm of what I wish it was like in America.

What do you hope to accomplish through your efforts?

I hope to create five beautiful homes for five beautiful families.

Area man pursues his calling as music teacher

LeAnne Rogers hometownlife.com USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

When he was 14, Wayne Mrdjenovich remembers his parents asking him what he wanted to do in life.

"I said I wanted to be a full-time musician. Mom and Dad said, "What do you really want to do?" They wanted me to be a lawyer or a doctor or an engineer to have a solid career," he recalled. "Since I was 3 years old I knew I loved music."

After studying business for a time, Mrdjenovich said he sought out to get the best music education in Michigan, studying with some excellent teachers and independently.

Early in the 1990s, Mrdjenovich, 53, made the decision to teach music full-time, giving private lessons. Over the years, he moved out of stores or storefronts to providing lessons at

Although he plays piano and drums, Mrdjenovich's primary instrument is guitar something he fell in love with 40 years ago. Over the years, he said he has played amateur and semi-professional bands.

After working for almost 20 years as a full-time music instructor, Mrdenovich decided to expand his teaching efforts to reach a wider audience by starting Conduire Music Publishing in 2010. "Conduire means 'to lead' in French.

Along with private lessons, Mrdjenovich offers music theory workshops for songwriters and has been looking into studio space around the South Lyon area. He can be reached at 248-366-8742.

"My first piano teacher was an austere woman who scared the pants off me. I make it fun — I'm here for the students, not the other way around," said Mrdjenovich, a South Lyon resident.

During 20 years living in West Bloomfield, he said the in-home lessons were particularly popular with executive families with busy schedules and children involved in a lot of activities.

"There aren't a whole lot of teachers who go to the students. I take a proactive approach to building relationships," Mrdjenovich said. "I have students I taught 10 or 20 years ago who still keep in touch."

With students ranging in age from 6 to 86 years old, he said most tend to be teenagers. Mrdjenovich said he could have gone into a more financially rewarding career.

"It's my life's calling. My needs are met sometimes with a check at the end of the month," he said. "There is nothing greater than when the light goes on for a student learning a song that they love."

Owner of the Music Studio and Conduire Music Publishing, Mrdjenovich has written three music instruction books since 2014. All of them are over 200 pages, which he notes is

Ladywood announces closing, but sisterhood lives, grads say

Matt Jachman hometownlife.com USA TODAY NETWORK --- MICHIGAN

Ladywood High School may be closing next spring, but it will live on in the lifelong friendships forged there, local alumnae say.

The all-girls Catholic high school in Livonia will shut down at the end of the year because of declining enrollment. The decision, made by the Felician Sisters of North America, the order of nuns that founded the school in 1950 and continues to oversee it, was announced Monday.

Graduates said they got from Ladywood a top-notch education rooted in faith, room to grow as young women that they may not have had at a co-ed school and close friends for life.

"These women have been an anchor in my life and, without Ladywood, I would not have had those beautiful relationships," said Teri Gorski of Dearborn Heights, a 1978 graduate

"It's a part of us," said Gor-ski, who has kept up with a core group of classmates for the nearly 40 years since they left Ladywood. "It's a part of our fabric."

"The sisterhood really doesn't end when you leave high school," said Kathleen Bushart of Redford Township, a 2017 Ladywood graduate and now a freshman at the University of Toledo. "One hundred percent, they'll always be my forever friends.'

Gorski, who works in the area as a speech pathologist, lived in Detroit while in high school, but Ladywood drew enough girls from her area that the school bused them in, she said.

Gorski said she and her Ladywood friends get together regularly and have supported each other in good times and bad. Some, she said, are even godmothers to each other's children.

She said she appreciated the Catholic education — she later sent her daughters to a Catholic high school — and the all-female classes. "I think it allowed us to develop certain leadership abilities," Gorski said

"Being in an all-girls setting, there's an element of safety and appreciation for women said Kelly Burke of Canton Township, a 2017 graduate and a freshman at the all-women St. Mary's College in Notre Dame, Ind. There was emphasis on learning together, cultivating personal growth and building each other up, she said "I was able to really find my identity and become the person I wanted to be," Burke said. "The all-female environment really helped to build strong friendships," said Meghan Hanley of Livonia, a 1999 graduate who coordinates community outreach and volunteer efforts at a credit union. "I agree with that, that it was a confidence-booster." The school was academically strong, graduates said.

Area Catholic schools react to Ladywood's closure

David Veselenak hometownlife.com USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

As the news spread that Ladywood, Wayne County's last all-girls high school, would close at the end of the year, several other institutions say they're feeling the pain coming out of Livonia.

"We're praying for the Lady-wood community and all their families," said Adora Ibrahim, director of public relations at St. Catherine of Siena Academy in Wixom. "I can only imagine what they're going through at this time.'

It was announced earlier this week that Ladywood High School would close at the end of the 2017-18 academic year after 68 years, with the Felician Sisters of North America citing low enrollment as a major factor.

Students looking to enroll in another all-girls Catholic school for the 2018-19 school year have five options in the Archdiocese of Detroit: St. Catherine, Mercy High School in Farmington Hills, Academy of the Sacred Heart in Bloomfield Hills, Marian High School in Bloomfield Township and Regina High School in Warren.

The Felician Sisters, who run the Livonia school, are reportedly offering a $500 annual scholarship to students who go on to attend another Catholic high school in the region.

Cheryl Delany Kreger, president of Mercy High School at 11 Mile and Middlebelt roads, said the connections between the two schools run deep and it has been a sad time at the school as students and staff process Ladywood's impending closure.

"At this point, we, at Mercy, are still saddened and processing the announcement in our community as well," she said in a voicemail. "Both Ladywood and Mercy and other all-girl Catholic schools have long, rich traditions in the Catholic League and in Catholic education.

"To lose one of our members is sad for all of us."

A message was left at Marian High School seeking comment.

Kreger said Mercy is more an happy to open its doors to the freshmen, sophomores and juniors from Ladywood if those students and their families are interested in continuing their education there. Ibrahim said St. Catherine of Siena is also available for students to look into if they decide to continue in that tradition for their education. That includes potential assistance for tuition. 'The same thing would apply to any new students," she said. "We're going to try to make room in the inn for everyone.'

"I feel really prepared at Toledo," said Bushart, who is studying to become a physical therapist. "I'm really excelling at my classes.'

"The sisters were amazing. They were well-educated,' Gorski said. "They had multiple degrees ... it was amazing. They were all excellent role models.'

A look at the faculty roster, however, shows there is only one nun currently on the staff.

Gorski said she feels for Ladywood's current juniors, who will have to graduate from other schools.

"You do a lot of growing up in those years. Not to be able to have that closure — it's a tragedy," she said.

The Ladywood school board is planning to offer help with transfers and the Felicians are pledging $500 annual scholarships to Ladywood students who enroll at other Catholic high schools.

Bushart, who played basketball all four of her years at Ladywood, said she's talked about the impending closing with Class of '17 friends, as well as with younger former teammates who are still at the school. "Everyone's just really shocked," she said. Bushart's roommate at UT is also a Ladywood graduate.

There were often rumors the school would close, recent graduates said, but nobody took them too seriously.

"It was kind of something that we would just throw around, but we didn't think it would actually (happen)," Burke said.

Burke said she hopes the closing doesn't portend bad news for other all-girls Catholic schools. Other all-girls Catholic schools in the area include Academy of the Sacred Heart and Marian, both in Bloomfield Hills, Mercy in Farmington Hills and St. Catherine of Siena Academy in Wixom.

"Seeing one less outlet for high school girls to get that (Catholic) education was disappointing to me," Hanley said.

'For parents who desire that all-girls high school experience for their daughters in this area, the innerring suburbs of Detroit, there's not that alternative anymore," Gorski said.

'Our high school reunion is going to mean so much more now and I think the legacy of Ladywood will always live on," Burke said.

miachman@hometownlife.com 734-678-8432 Twitter: @mattjachman

She said the entire community is praying for those affected by the closure.

"I would say that as Catholic schools in the Archdiocese in Detroit, we stick together," she said. "Anytime a member of the Body of Christ hurts, we hurt."

Washburn signs new three-year pact with Michigan Phil

The Michigan Philharmonic has signed a three-year contract extension with music director and conductor Nan Washburn. Now in her 19th season with the Michigan Philharmonic, Washburn has led the organization's evolution into one of the most innovative and dynamic professional symphony orchestras in the region since her arrival in 1999.

The winner of The American Prize in Orchestral Conducting, professional division, in 2013 and 18 ASCAP Awards for Adventurous Programming from the League of American Orchestras, Washburn is one of the most innovative conductors working in the U.S. today. For her engaging performances and leading-edge approach to concert programming, critics have hailed her work as having 'perspicacity, verve, imagination and all-around savvy. Under her direction, the Michigan Philharmonic has garnered national awards and recognition, winning six ASCAP awards from the League of American Orchestras, as well as first place in the prestigious American Prize for professional orchestras in 2016.

Before being recruited to Michigan from California, Washburn served as artistic director and conductor of the West Hollywood Orchestra for five years and music director of Orchestra Sonoma, the Camellia Symphony and the San Francisco State University Symphony Orchestra.

Washburn first came to national attention as a co-founder, artistic director and associate conductor of the San Francisco-based Women's Philharmonic from

Washburn

1980-90, during which time she became one of the leading authorities on and advocates for orchestral works of women composers. For her pioneering work in this field, Washburn was awarded the WIA - Jeanine C. Rae Award for Advancement of Women's Culture. This award was in recognition for her advancement of women composers by programming more works by women composers than any other orchestra of any size in the U.S.

Washburn has put the Michigan Philharmonic on the map by working with and performing works by many of the leading composers in the U.S. today, including Joseph Schwantner, William Bolcom, Libby Larsen, John Corigliano, Chen Yi, Lou Harrison, Tobias Picker, Michael Daugherty, Jennifer Higdon, Gabriela Lena Frank, Andre Myers and Michael Gilbertson.

'We are thrilled to engage Nan for another three years and the artistic head of our organization," said Beth Stewart, executive director of the Michigan Philharmonic. "Nan brings the background and artistic leadership we need as the organization enters an exciting phase with the possibility of having a performance home for the orchestra."

As the Plymouth Arts & Recreation Complex, which houses the administrative offices of the Michigan Phil and 36 other arts and recreational organizations, plans to renovate and expand the facility, a new performing arts center is one of the goals of the project.

"Having a performing arts center right in the heart of our hometown of Plymouth would be a dream come true for the Michigan Philharmonic," Washburn said. "It is something we have waited so long for and would be a perfect way to celebrate my two decades with the orchestra."

Athlete learning to walk again as disease strikes

hometownlife.com USA TODAY NETWORK -MICHIGAN

Makenzie Carpenter wanted to play basketball and volleyball in her sophomore year at Canton High School.

Instead, she is learning to walk again. Makenzie, 15, was sitting on her bed and doing her homework when her legs suddenly went numb Nov. 9.

"I was just really scared, honestly," she said. "I didn't know what was going on."

It's the latest of many hurdles she has faced since she was diagnosed in October with dysautonomia, a disorder of the autonomic nervous system

She feels faint when her blood pressure drops low. She is fatigued. She has what her mother, Lori Carpenter, calls "mental fog." She was diagnosed with a heart murmur. She has fluctuating body temperatures. She can't properly digest food.

We're in week 10 of vomiting 30-40 times a day," her mother said.

Lori Carpenter and her husband Doug are facing mounting medical bills that prompted friends to set up a GoFundMe account to help Makenzie and her family.

Makenzie has undergone numerous medical tests, spent five days in a hospital and has made the rounds in metro Detroit to see a neurologist, a cardiologist, a gastroenterologist and a physical therapist. What she really needs, her mother said, is a dysautonomia clinic, where everything can be handled in one place by doctors who better understand the disease and work as a team to fight it.

The University of Toledo Medical Center has such a clinic, she said, but the family's insurance company has refused, thus far, to pay for Makenzie to go there.

"That's where we would love to have her go," Carpenter said, "but the insurance company is not wanting to help us out.'

She said she hasn't received a satisfactory answer for the denial. She didn't want to name the insurance company, because she still is trying to resolve the problem so Makenzie can be covered in Toledo.

She just wants her daughter to have the best chance possible to overcome a disease that has changed her life. She said some people do grow out of it.

Makenzie, who has a younger sister Chelsi, 13, has always been an active child. She has played soccer since she was age 4 and has been involved with the Canton Soccer Club. This year, she joined the Canton Celtic team that made it to the state finals, but she had to miss some games.

She was playing a game in Indiana this year when her disease forced her off the field.

'She was so dizzy and out of it that she had to be carried off," Carpenter said.

Makenzie — known as "Kenzie" or "Zie" — has kept a good attitude despite her illness.

Makenzie Carpenter is learning to walk again after being diagnosed with dysautonomia.

"I'm really working hard to keep doing good in physical therapy so I can get back on the field," she said, adding that she gets strong support from family and friends. "It keeps me going and keeps me positive. It's really important."

Makenzie is learning to walk again using a walker for short distances, but she uses a wheelchair for longer distances. She can't attend school, but friends bring math packets to her and she can participate in some classes online.

She is missed by the likes of Canton volleyball coach Cricket Hughley, who said Makenzie is "still the most physically, mentally and strongest athlete I have ever coached."

third year at Canton as a coach. She is still the most committed, passionate athlete I have had the pleasure of coaching,"

Hughley recalls Makenzie diving over a set of bleachers to save a ball for her team, briefly losing consciousness during her fall.

When she came to, she said, 'Sorry, coach, I tried to save it.'" Hughley said. "That will stay with me for however long I coach. She embodies everything it means to be a Canton Chief athlete. I am blessed to have coached her."

Carpenter is hopeful her daughter can get the medical help she needs to fight dysautonomia and beat it. Doctors, she said, "are trying to wake up the nervous system to get the muscles to work."

Carpenter has missed a lot of work at a fitness center where she is employed. Her husband, who works in job recruitment, also has missed some work. Friends who set up the GoFundMe account began with a $5,000 goal, but the family's medical expenses could be much higher.

Every day, it's frustrating for the family to know that a dysautonomia clinic is as close as Toledo, yet they're still trying to get insurance coverage for it.

Through it all, Carpenter said Makenzie stays positive.

"She is phenomenal," the mother said. "She has definitely always had a positive attitude. She has said she is going to crush this disease. She's an extremely strong kid.

"She's learning to stand and then walk," she added. "Hopefully, one day, she can run."

Progress made on village factory

Brad Kadrich Hometownlife.com

USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN From the outside, it doesn't look like a lot is happening with the Village Arts Factory project being built in Canton's Cherry Hill Village.

Sure, one building has been razed and the roof on another has been replaced. But most of the rest of the work has been on the inside — or in non-tangible area such as grant-writing — as the Canton Partnership for the Arts tries to create a monument to the arts and to veterans in the southwest corner of Canton Township.

So Jill Engel, the partnership's director, can understand why folks who pass by think there isn't much progress being made.

But she also knows they're wrong.

And she recently made a presentation to the Canton Township board, so that trustees whose support the Partnership will need know it, too.

"I wanted (trustees) to know all the Partnership did for Canton and not just Canton, but Plymouth-Canton," Engel said. "I think they were just stunned to see everything we've done and the things we're still doing."

The Village Arts Factory is being refurbished out of the old Ford property on 14 acres at Ridge and Cherry Hill roads. One building has been razed and the Partnership is currently rehabilitating the other three:

an old World War II dormitory, a factory and a warehouse.

The project is being built on property originally built by Henry Ford to house and help veterans. The Partnership bought it for some $22,500 in 2012 and has since razed one of the four buildings that were part of the original layout.

Other things are happening. Work on the veterans dormitory continues, with an elevator and utilities installed. Dry wall has been hung, rooms have been repainted and are only waiting now for flooring.

Perhaps most importantly, the dormitory has its first tenant. The Ann Arbor-based Eisenhower Center, which specializes in traumatic brain injury care and rehabilitation, will house programs in the dormitory.

The programs, according to Eisenhower Vice President Devin Hutchings, will focus on rehab and therapy for female veterans. Veterans to be helped include those who are part of the center's After the Impact program, which helps athletes who've suffered concussions and veterans suffering PTSD.

Hutchings said the Village Arts Factory is the perfect location for such programs.

"Most of the focus goes on male veterans and not so much for the females. ... Women lead the way in concussions," Hutchings said. "This history of the site ties in to what we're doing. Ford had the insight to make it a place to give back to veterans. It's perfect for us to do the same thing. It gets (veterans) back into the communities and gives them some of the therapies they need.

It looks like dormitory participants will have a parking lot for their cars. The partnership recently secured a $90,000 grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts and Culture Affairs.

"I literally started crying when I read how much we were getting," Engel said.

Engel said the Ford factory renovations have begun, with structural, mechanical and electrical engineering. The mansard roof was removed and elevator and utility work either has been done or is near being started.

Like with the dormitory, the focus is beginning to shift on finding a tenant for the factory. The Partnership is looking at potential education tenants, who could bring skilled trades programs to the factory.

Schoolcraft College took a brief look, but backed away. Engel said the partnership is now "full-force looking at others."

"These type of vocational programs are needed in our state," Engel said. "They would align more with the original use that Henry Ford started in 1944."

Once a factory tenant is found, the partnership will focus on getting tenants for the warehouse building along Cherry Hill. With housing construction beginning to boom in Cherry Hill Village, the partnership will focus on a food/beverage tenant.

"We're looking at a brew pub or a microbrewery because that's what people out here want," Engel said. "We want to make it a destination location."

There's a lot of support for what the Partnership is doing. Grants have come from CDBG money ($75,000), the Ford Fund ($107,000) and from the state ($45,000). Businesses have donated, too, the largest to date coming from Pulte ($50,000) and Reliable Carriers and Pinnacle ($35,000 each).

It's the kind of support the project needs, because it'll be good for Canton, according to former Supervisor Tom Yack, who is on the partnership's board.

"Cherry Hill Village would benefit from the completed project, because it would bring greater vitality to the village," Yack said. "People would come to the arts factory not only to take classes and be engaged in studios, but the idea is it would become a destination for tourists.

"The vitality of Cherry Hill Village would be enhanced by people coming to the village, not just during the day, but people from outside the village coming as a destination," Yack added.

Yack said the project will be a win-win. Veterans and others will have a place to explore the arts and Canton gets rid of what he called a "derelict building."

"It's in the top two or three, maybe No. 1, of our buildings that do nothing to enhance the community," Yack said. "What really needs to happen is that it all needs to be rehabbed and it'll take between $1.5 million and $2 million to get that accomplished.

"(But) it'll give us a place where people in Canton and outside Canton can experience the arts in a way they may not have been able to do before."

Legislature skips action on driver fees, guns before break

Kathleen Grav Detroit Free Press USA TODAY NETWORK

As the state House of Representatives and state Senate crammed dozens of final votes on retiree benefits, the opioid epidemic and measures to ensure that a scandal in unemployment benefits for Michiganders isn't repeated into their last two days of the session for 2017, there were two big and controversial issues that they bypassed.

Eliminating the dreaded and onerous driver responsibility fees was a priority in the House and Senate and an issue that affects the livelihoods and pocketbooks of more than 300,000 Michigan-

And trying to put some parameters on gun regulations in the state even if that meant allowing people with concealed weapons permits to carry guns in weapon-free zones, including schools is an issue that the Legislature has been wrestling with for years. But neither issue got done before state representatives and senators adjourned for the year Dec. 13.

Jane Domke of Harrison Township has called her state representative, senator and the governor's office urging them to do something to get rid of driver responsibility fees so her two sons can get their driver's licenses reinstated and hold on to a job.

"It's sounding like they're going to sit on it. I don't know what more to do to make them move," she said. "Right now, my two sons have to live outside the law because they have to drive to work. It's such a financial hardship."

She would prefer electronic tethers or the "blow and go" technology that would permit driving if the person were alcohol-free.

"Just don't take their livelihood away from them or fine them so much that it almost ruins their life," Domke said.

The driver responsibility fees have plagued thousands of Michigan drivers since 2003 and the House and Senate were determined to eliminate the fees and even forgive at least a portion of the $634 million in outstanding debt held by drivers who have gotten tickets over the last 14 years.

The fees, ranging from $100 to $2,000 on drivers who got multiple tickets and points on their license, were passed in 2003 to help fill a budget hole when Michigan's economy faltered. And the money raised - between $99 million and $115 million a year — did help the state's general fund. But according to the Michigan Department of Treasury, nearly 350,000 Michigan drivers still owe $634 million in driver responsibility fees

Both the House and Senate overwhelmingly passed different versions of the bills and the two chambers must now negotiate a compromise that Gov. Rick Snyder, who is concerned about the impact on the state budget if the fees are eliminated, will also agree to.

"From a policy standpoint, the governor supports it, but we want to make sure from a budget standpoint that we can handle it," said Kurt Weiss, spokesman for the state Department of Management and Budget. Getting rid of the fees state $30 million in the 2018-19 budget year, which begins Oct. 1. The Senate version of the bill, which would forgive only a portion of the debt, would have a $15-million impact on the state budget, Weiss said.

The House version ends the driver responsibility fees Oct. 1, 2018, and forgives all the debt owed by drivers. The Senate bills also eliminate the fees Oct. 1, 2018, but only forgive debt that is at least six years old about $304.3 million of the $634 million total that is deemed uncollectible. Driver responsibility fees that are less than six years old would not be forgiven and the Department of Treasury could continue to try to collect those fees through measures such as garnishing income tax refunds.

But drivers, many of whom are clamoring for a solution because they've lost their licenses as a result of the fees, will have to wait for that compromise.

"Those are fees that never should have been implemented in the first place," said state Rep. Lee Chatfield, R-Levering, one of the primary sponsors of the fee elimination. "What the House passed is the best product. But we're living with a process where there will be conversations between the Speaker (of the House), the Senate Majority Leader and the governor. I hope we can come to a consensus to relieve an unwanted and undeserved fee that's been placed on drivers."

Sen. David Hildenbrand, R-Lowell, who sponsored the Senate version of the elimination, said he thinks the solution lies somewhere in between the House and Senate versions of the bills.

"Hopefully, next year we can light a fire under it and get it done," he said. "I assume we'll have some sort of middle ground, but that's still up for negotiations.'

Speaker of the House Tom Leonard, R-DeWitt Township, said it's far past time to get rid of the fees.

"We've got over 300,000 of our residents who need to get their driver's licenses back and I believe we've waited long enough," he said. "We just found out that we have $280 million in lapsed funds, so this is something we can afford. It's the right thing to do."

The other major issue the Legislature failed to resolve involved guns. Competing bills to expand the ability to carry weapons in Michigan were passed in the House and Senate, but neither got a final vote.

The House passed a bill that would allow people to carry concealed weapons without a permit. But the Senate never took it up and Snyder would be unlikely to sign such a bill.

The Senate passed a bill that would allow concealed carry of handguns in places that have traditionally been off-limits to guns, such as schools, churches, day care centers, bars and stadiums. Under the legislation, concealed pistol license holders could get an endorsement on their licenses exempting them from gun-free zone restrictions if they have taken at least eight hours of additional training or are a certified firearms instructor.

The House had planned on holding hearings on the bill before the end of 2017, but those never took place.

State Rep. Jim Runestad, R-White Lake, is the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee that will consider the Senate gun bills.

"I want to have meetings with the governor to see if he's willing to sign anything like this. And some of the members of the committee have concerns," he said.

There also have been concerns expressed by school officials and gun opponents about the bill and the prospect of having more guns out in society.

"And I want to take that into consideration, too," Runestad said. "The Second Amendment (of the Constitution) is important to the Republican caucuses in the Senate and House. But I think this is going to take some massaging." Senate Bills 584-586 wouldn't limit the ability of private property owners to ban guns on their premises. It also wouldn't bar universities from using their constitutional powers to regulate the carrying of guns on their campuses. And it would close a loophole under which concealed pistol license holders could bring guns into schools. provided they carried the guns openly. That section of the bill drew the ire of gun rights' advocates who don't want to lose the ability to openly carry their weapons.

Snyder's spokeswoman, Anna Heaton, said last month that Snyder has concerns about the Senate bill, but will review the final version if it's passed next year.

There was a flood of emotions that spilled on to the Plymouth Cultural Center ice surface Saturday.

Having a comfort zone is important to Mark Mettie, but don't misinterpret that to think he doesn't get after it.

Mettie, a 6-10 power forward for the Livonia Franklin boys basketball team, recently signed to play at Madonna University — a program already featuring several Kensington Lakes Activities Association alums on the roster.

"That's a big part of it, obviously, playing against these guys who are there right now, like Ian (Knoph, a Livonia Stevenson grad) and (Plymouth alum) Josh Revnolds," Mettie said. Danton Cole now is men's hockey head coach at Michigan State University, but Saturday he paid a little extra attention to the players he used to coach for the U.S. National Team Development Program.

"I probably spent more time than usual watching the other team play," Cole said following his team's 3-0 victory over the U-18 team at USA Hockey Arena in Plymouth.

But Cole also liked the way his team performed, including players with NTDP connections such as forward Patrick Khodorenko (two goals), defenseman Tommy Miller (West Bloomfield) and goaltender Ed Minney (20 saves for the shutout) hard, John (Lethemon) has been kind of carrying the mail and has done a really good job. But (Minney) deserved to get in there and it was really good."

Cole also kept mental notes on the opposing goalie Fenton native Drew DeRidder, who made 19 saves (the third goal was scored into an empty net). DeRidder is a Michigan State commit.

"I thought he looked excellent," Cole said. "I've been seeing Drew for a long time. Pucks hit him, he's real athletic and he always seems to be real square to the puck and work hard. It was fun to watch him play.'

According to Khodorenko, it was fun to play in front of a larger crowd (3,244) at USA Hockey Arena than he remembered in 2015-17 and also get two goals.

"A lot more people compared to when we were playing here," Khodorenko said. "It's cool to see a good crowd here tonight."

Trenton's Welsch scores four to upend Rocks

Salem falls 6-4 despite two goals by Goleniak; Plymouth coach Vento wins 100th

hometownlife.com USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

The action was fast and furious as Salem and Trenton battled during Saturday's inaugural MIHL-KLAA Showcase Challenge, held at Eddie Edgar Arena in Livonia.

Yet the Rocks could not slow down Trenton senior forward Drew Welsch, who scored four goals (including an empty-netter) as the Trojans rallied for a 6-4 varsity boys hockey victory.

Welsch broke a 4-4 tie with 2:03 remaining, weaving into the Salem zone and letting a shot go. The puck hit a leg and caromed back to Welsch, who tapped it past Rocks junior goalie Austin Goleniak.

The goalie had been whistled for a delay of game penalty, having dislodged the post with his skate as he pushed off the post to move across the crease.

"You got to do a better job in the (defensive) zone," Salem head coach Ryan Ossenmacher said. "If it's not him (Welsch), it's somebody else. A lot of that is us missing opportunities to get pucks out, missing checks, missing assignments.

"But we played a pretty good game. After the first period, the second and third periods I thought we played pretty well."

The Showcase pitted teams from the Michigan Interscholastic Hockey League against Kensington Lakes Activities Association squads, considered two of the top high school leagues in Michigan. The MIHL finished the day with a 6-4 edge over the KLAA, taking

He's 'opportunistic'

Salem junior forward Colin Goleniak scored two of the Rocks goals, with others by freshman forward Dante Doute and senior forward Tyler German.

"He's an opportunistic scorer," Ossenmacher said about Goleniak. "He finds seams here and there and he has a knack to score from bad angles."

Goleniak's first goal, just 6:44 into the game, was a high snapper from the right wing that beat Trenton goalie Joey Cormier.

It soon was 2-0 when Doute drilled a shot past Cormier, midway through the period.

Welsch started working his magic when he went top shelf with a backhander at 10:05. His linemates, Nolan Szczepaniak and Justin Litchard, assisted.

Just over a minute later, a centering pass by Szczepaniak was onetimed home by Welsch.

Before the end of the opening period, German wheeled and fired a shot past Cormier.

Striking twice

That 3-2 Salem lead held firm — with the Rocks playing an excellent second period until the Trojans' Patrick Bazner and Devin Dunn scored twice within 15 seconds early in the third period.

"The first two minutes of the third period, we knew they were going to come. We talked about it and yet we still weren't able to do anything," Ossenmacher said. "They scored two goals and that's the difference in the game.

"It's about learning how to win and we're getting better. But you got to play for 51 minutes and, if you don't, it only takes two minutes for them to get on top and that's what they did."

The Rocks answered to make it 4-4 when Colin Goleniak converted a nice feed from sophomore forward Alex Schaumburger, with about four minutes to go. Then came the Salem penalty and Welsch made the Rocks pay. He added an empty-netter after Salem put on intense pressure in search of the equalizer.

Asked about winning a Showcase game, Welsch said "It's just another day, another game. You got to win it."

Salem still is looking to find ways to win close games against Grade A opponents. Ossenmacher said his team continues to learn and grow during the early season schedule.

"You lose by a goal to Trenton," Ossenmacher said. "You lose by a goal to Cranbrook, you play Brighton 2-2 five-on-five, you played the No. 10 team in the country in Shadyside (Academy in Pittsburgh, Pa.) and lose by a goal in the last 10

CC blanks defending champ Brighton in Showcase

Montie scores twice in Shamrocks' 3-0 victory over Bulldogs

> Bill Khan Livingston Daily USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

On paper, there hasn't been a consensus when choosing the top Division 1 boys hockey team in the state.

Detroit Catholic Central began the season ranked No. 1, only to be replaced by Brighton after losing its first two games.

With the clarity that comes from taking the match-up from paper to the ice, there is no doubt when assessing the perennial Division 1 powerhouses.

By beating top-ranked Brighton, 3-0, Saturday in the MIHL-KLAA Challenge Showcase at Eddie Edgar Ice Arena, secondranked CC clearly established itself as the top team in Division 1.

At least for now. Since the Bulldogs and Shamrocks have met in four of the last five state championship games, there's a good possibility that Brighton will get a shot at redemption the second weekend of March at USA Hockey Arena.

"Obviously, they're a really good team," Brighton coach Paul Moggach said. "They're probably the best team in the state; I don't think there's any denying that. We can play with them. We've just got to keep the game simple and make good plays when we get chances in the offensive zone. You just can't give them easy ones off the rush. Then we made a couple bad plays. Mistakes happen at this age. Hopefully, we get another chance at them."

The loss snapped Brighton's 13-game unbeaten streak going back to last season. Brighton is 6-1-1 this season. Catholic Central improved to 8-2 with its eighth straight victory since opening the season with two losses at Culver (Ind.) Academy. The Shamrocks have five shutouts, including three in a row, during that winning streak. "It's a good look for

"It's a good look for what's going to be coming in the playoffs," Brighton senior Adam Conquest said. "It gives us motivation to be ready for the playoffs. At least it happened now instead of in the playoffs."

The teams were locked in a scoreless battle for more than half the game. Mitch Morris, one of only six Shamrocks who played in last year's state final loss to Brighton, broke the deadlock by scoring with 6:51 left in the second period. Carter Korpi and Dylan Bachalo assisted.

The crusher for Brighton came when Dylan Montie scored with one second left in the period on the power play, giving the Shamrocks a 2-0 cushion going into the third. Assists went to Joe Borthwick and Jared Lee.

CC sealed the victory when Montie scored into an empty net with 32.1 seconds left in the game from Brendan West and Ryan Hausman.

The Shamrocks got 17 saves from goalie Steven Sleva to post the shutout.

The Shamrocks have an 11-3 record in their rivalry with the Bulldogs, but Brighton won both meetings last season.

"Obviously, with the recent history between the two teams playing in the final quite often, it certainly creates that rivalry feeling," CC coach Brandon Kaleniecki said. "That's great. It creates a great environment, as you saw today, like the state finals. It's always fun hockey.

"I thought we did a good job wearing them down, to be honest, toward the end of the game. They were gasping a little bit. Our depth proved to be the difference for us."

Conquest wouldn't dispute that assessment.

"We got over-ready and psyched up and burned ourselves out in the first five minutes," Conquest said. "That really affected us toward the third and we couldn't get anything on them. They're a really good team and they really played well."

ČC victory in the final game of the showcase gave the Michigan Interscholastic Hockey League a 6-4 advantage over the Kensington Lakes Activities Association in the inaugural event.

Northville upstages four-time D1 champion Rice

No. 5-ranked Mustangs make splash in season opening victory

Brad Emons hometownlife.com USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

The Northville boys swimming and diving team proved it could take a punch and still be standing.

Trevor Degroot swept the 200- and 500-yard freestyles in 1:48.49 and 4:59.34, respectively, as the Mustangs (1-0), ranked No. 5 in Division 1, opened their season Dec. 12 at home with a dual meet victory over No. 3 and four-time defending state champion Birmingham Brother Rice.

"Just a classic heavyweight fight tonight," Northville coach Rich Bennetts said. "Lots of areas to improve from both teams, but the fight that all of boys showed tonight on both teams shows what these team are all about."

Other first-place finishers for the Mustangs were Travis Nitkiewicz, 200 individual medley (1:57.56); Pranav Katari, Northville's Trevor Degroot won the 200- and 500-yard freestyles during a 94-91 dual win over Brother Rice.

1-meter diving (184.25 points); Kirk Maibach, 100 freestyle (49.15); and Arthur Greenlee, 100 backstroke (55.82).

The Mustangs' 200 freestyle relay team of Travis Nitkiewicz, Cameron Heaven, Jason Nitkiewicz and Kirk Maibach also claimed first (1:31.04).

"We just kept fighting," Bennetts said. "They are so good, so well-coached, it is just really hard to beat them. They have been the best team in the entire state of Michigan for the last three to four years and, most of the time, it isn't even close." Alex Margherio paced Rice with wins in the 50 freestyle (22.19) and 100 butterfly (53.91). He also teamed with Timmy Page, Jonah Venos and Jake Farr for a victory in the 200 medley relay (1:37.90). Venos also captured the 100 breaststroke (59.05) and teamed with Farr, Margherio and Page for first in the 400 freestyle relay (3:22.97).

The key moment of the night for Northville occurred during the final event, when Degroot, Jason Nitkiewicz, Jacob Grimmer and Greenlee took not only second in the 400 freestyle relay (3:23.47), but Northville also took the all-important third place as well, led by Nicholas Mouaikel, Andrew Lane, Ali Pazooki and anchor Craig Maibach (3:36.18).

"I know both myself and coach (Mike) Venos will tell you that we both left some points out there that we feel we could have gotten," Bennetts said. "At the end of the night, we had one more swim than they did and that was Craig Maibach in the last leg of our 'B' relay. What a swim. Our divers helped out tonight and it was just a great night to be a Mustang."

"The only thing I told our boys was that this better not end up being the highlight of our season," Bennetts said. "It's a nice start, but it is just that, a start."

In the second period, Ladywood went up 3-1 as Spiegel scored at 6:16 from Bridget Folk, followed by her third of the night at 12:32 from Sydney Pilut and Folk.

The Blazers increased their lead to 4-1 at 1:55 of the third on Spiegel's 17th of the year, from Victoria Pilut.

Mercy (3-3, 3-2) then got an unassisted shorthanded goal from Libby Bartels at 9:10 to cut the rest of the way.

"We've always had a really good bond, but a with this the girls have t come together tremendously," said Rotondo, a c Ladywood grad herself. S "I've never seen this before in all my years of coaching."

The Ladywood coach called her team's performance "amazing."

"We played as a team and everybody played their positionings, probably one of the best games we've played this year so far," Rotondo we will do our best from a coaching standpoint and a playing standpoint to make the next game even closer and maybe come out on top. We'll see."

Two of Spiegel's four goals came on breakaways against Mercy goaltender Zabrina Le-Vasseur.

less tie at 7:23 of the second period, when he banged in feed from Taro Hirose on the power play. DeRidder had no chance on the back-door tap-in.

U.S. head coach Seth Appert said his team played well, but could not cash in on some early chances. And then Minney and the MSU defense got stronger as the game progressed.

"Credit to State, they played hard," Appert said. "They played hard. It'd be easy for their players to be on Christmas break in their mind. It's an exhibition game for them and they won, they played their tails off.

"You can see why they're having success. You can see why they beat Michigan last week. Danton's a great coach and they played really hard tonight." Here are several takeaways:

MATCH GAME

Two Spartans who formerly played for the U.S., Khodorenko and Minney, knew the U-18 team would come out all fired up — especially with a big crowd.

"We knew we had to come play our game," Khodorenko said. "They're going to be a fast, skilled team and we just got to play our game."

Minney said matching the intensity of the younger team was essential for the Spartans to nab the two points.

"It's kind of the same way every year," Minney said. "You have some young guys that are super-skilled and they get up to play these games. They love playing these games.

"I was there, so I know how it is. ... So the key was to come out and be just as desperate as they were to win this game."

During a timeout during the first period, Miller was given a warm ovation after it was announced to the crowd that he was a member of last year's U-18 gold medal winning team at the IIHF World Junior Championships.

GLAD TO SEE YOU, PART 2

Also back in Plymouth were other Spartans with ties to the NTDP: Cole, associate coach Chris Luongo (Novi resident) and goaltender coach Joe Exter.

In addition to Miller, other Spartans players returning to face their former team were Khodorenko and goalie Minney (who played for the NTDP when it was based in Ann Arbor).

UNABLE TO CASH IN

Early in the second period with the game scoreless, the U.S. enjoyed a lengthy five-onthree power play. But the team could not beat Minney on several close-in scoring tries. Moments later, a penalty was called against the U.S. and Michigan State's Khodorenko one-timed a shot past DeRidder.

STARTING A TREND

Both Cole and Appert said it makes sense for USA Hockey Arena to regularly host college teams in coming seasons.

"I think we should collectively try and get five or six schools every year to come down here," Cole said. "This is a big market and there's a lot of kids here that have a lot of options. If they can see how good college hockey is and how much fun it is in a building like this then, hopefully, they'll stay and play college hockey."

Appert, in his first season with the NTDP, said games such as those against MSU and Michigan (played Dec. 2) present a win-win situation. College teams augment relatively light schedules, while USA Hockey gets to build its brand.

"It's one thing for us to go in their buildings," Appert said. "But to build our brand and let the people in this area know what this is all about, it's really appreciated that Michigan, Michigan State came into our building this year."

Concurring was U.S. defenseman Bode Wilde of Birmingham.

"I hope they continue to play Michigan and Michigan State as the seasons go on," Wilde said. "They're the local schools, and they draw good crowds. It's good publicity for this program (NTDP) and it's always fun because there's always a couple guys committed there."

Lakeland turns in lunch pail effort to beat rival Milford, 59-42

Brad Emons

hometownlife.com USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

It was reminiscent of the vintage "Going to Work" Pistons teams.

The White Lake Lakeland boys basketball team proved to be scrappy – and then some – during Friday's convincing 59-42 triumph at home against rival Milford in the Lakes Valley Conference opener for both teams.

The Eagles, off to a 3-0 start under first-year coach Ron Thompson, were all over the court creating havoc on both ends.

"All season, coach Thompson has us going fast-pace, full-court defense and that was our plan from the get-go," said Lakeland junior forward Patrick McDonald, who led the Eagles with 15 points. "We executed very well, obviously, and it went good for us."

Lakeland spread the wealth against the Mavericks (1-1, 0-1), who just couldn't get out of their own way, especially in the third quarter when they made only 1-of-14 shots from field as the Eagles increased a 30-25 halftime advantage to 46-28 after three quarters.

"They can go nine, 10 deep," Milford coach David Gilbert said. "They can play a lot of guys and they can play a faster pace. We have a few guys that can do that, but when you're talking about foul trouble and just the pressure that they can give 94 feet ... it's tough for a great player like Aiden (Warzecha). He showed those flashes first half, but he got a little tired in the second half, as well as our whole entire team." Milford got as close as 48-39 on Nolan Rand's third 3-pointer of the fourth quarter with 4:21 left, but Lakeland was able to close it out.

"I thought the shot at the end of the half was pretty telling, it was in and out," Gilbert said. "But it was a tough game. I give a lot of credit to Lakeland. They're a class program and they have a lot of tough, hard-nosed kids. And I thought they kind of dictated the tempo and everything tonight. It was a rough one for us."

Milford's 6-foot-8 senior center Cass Phillips, who sat out the entire second quarter after picking up his second foul, added 12 points. Senior guard Sean Cullen contributed 10, while junior guard Trent Farquhar came off the bench to nail three triples en route to nine points.

"One through 14 – I'm confident in my teammates," McDonald said. "They can all come in and really make an impact on the game. My teammates got me some good passes. (Joe) Rzeppa hit me on the fly. I was feeling good tonight." Here are four other takeaways:

BLUE COLLAR The Eagles held Milford to 30.6-percent shooting from the field (15-of-49, while hitting 45.6 percent themselves (21-of-46).

"I don't know how the stat sheet looked tonight, but so far this year we've had five guys between eight and 12 points con-sistently," Thompson said. "And it was about the same tonight. These kids like playing with each other and that's what it's all about. There's a lot of chemistry. When I show up and don't have to coach effort, that's a good thing. All I'm coaching is X's and O's and they're bringing the effort. I'm just real proud of this team right now.'

MURPHY'S LAW

The Mavericks seemed to encounter a lid on the basket, while making 15 costly turnovers.

"Wasn't a good night for us. Didn't move the ball extremely well and our defense and rebounding has to improve," Gilbert said. "We couldn't even get the ball inside when Cass (Phillips) was out. I thought he played very well the second half. I thought they played great game. Give all the credit to Lakeland."

MORE MILFORD

Rand, a 6-0 junior guard, came off the bench to score 12 points (all on triples), while 6-7 junior Gunnar Gustafson and Warzecha, the team's top returning scorer from a year ago, added 11 and 10, respectively.

Lakeland transfer Kyle Soderberg, a 6-5 senior forward, struggled offensively, going 1-of-11 from floor against his former teammates.

"We did a real nice job on Warzecha, he's a heck of a player," Thompson said. "And the guys that were rotating in on him did a nice job of containing him and controlling him."

BRAGGING RIGHTS

The two teams will meet again Friday, Feb. 9, at Milford in the rematch, but for now the Eagles have temporary bragging rights.

"Very pumped," Mc-Donald said. "They've got a lot of good players. My buddy Aiden (Warzecha) is a heck of a player. But this is a good win and a big win for us, so I'm excited."

THE METTIE FILE

Who: Mark Mettie, 6-10 senior forward at Livonia Franklin. What: He recently signed to play college basketball for Madonna University, an NAIA team in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference.

Bonus points: Mettie, 17, said he'll live on Madonna's Livonia campus, but he will only be a five-minute drive from home. His parents are Julie and Troy Mettie of Livonia.

Stats: Mettie was an all-KLAA team member in 2016-17 after averaging 20 points and 10 rebounds for the Patriots. Growth spurt: Now in his fourth varsity season, Mettie has grown from 6-4 as a ninth-grader to 6-10 this year. "I guess it's just genetics."

Miscellaneous: Owner of a 3.4 grade-point average, Mettie plans to study sports management at Madonna.

knowing who they are and feeling comfortable around them."

Other ex-KLAA players with the Crusaders this season are Canton (and Schoolcraft College) alum Davon Taylor and Salem alums Chris Dierker and Jon Swift.

Mettie also has a connection with Madonna's coaching staff, led by Noel Emenhiser, and is geared up for the chance to play a similar style of basketball now in vogue at Franklin (with new coach T.J. Hurley).

'I've been building a relationship with Madonna since my sophomore year of high school,' Mettie said. "So these last couple years have been building a strong relationship and I feel like that was probably the main deciding factor. They wanted me to sevkind of a freedom to what they can do, it's a lot better than just being robots going to the same place every time.

"We can move without the ball and it gives us a lot more spacing on the floor as well."

Student of the game

According to Hurley, the new system he is bringing to the Patriots is something players like Mettie gravitate toward.

"It's more of a read and react offense, allowing players to have more freedom of movement based on the way they can read the defensive player," Hurley said. "Mark does it pretty well right now; after a year moving forward, he'll be tough to guard.

'We are trying to get our players to learn how to read the game and think (the) game, versus just telling them what to do. Because when a game is on the line, the players who can think the best are going to be the players that do the best. According to Mettie, he likes that style of basketball and has played it on Amateur Athletic Union teams. Over the summer, he played 30-40 games (mostly in tournaments) with the Detroit Spartans

I committed," Mettie said. "This year is really their (Crusaders') first year of getting to a fiveout type of offense. I've done that in the past with AAU teams.

Mettie said another reason he opted to sign with Madonna (instead of waiting for a Division I or Division II opportunity to emerge) was the immediate chance to see playing time and not be red-shirted as a freshman.

But Mettie understands he'll have to work to get minutes his first season with the Crusaders, a team in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics conference

The skills are there, too. Mettie routinely hit double digits in points and rebounds last year, and already has some 30-point games under his belt this season. On Dec. 5, he slammed home a basket in the closing seconds to give the I ots a victory against Dearborn Heights Robichaud. He tallied 34 points and 12 boards in a Dec. 15 win against Salem. "It's a great opportunity for him and something that's well-deserved," Hurley said. "Mark puts in a lot of work in the off-season. He's always working on his skills. "He spent just about it's really well-deserved. More importantly, Madonna's getting a steal."

BOYS BASKETBALL Howell takes down Novi in KLAA Gold game

Wildcats fall to 0-3 in loss to Highlanders

Bill Khan Livingston Daily USA TODAY NETWORK -MICHIGAN

Some people might need a little more convincing before becoming true believers in Howell's boys basketball team.

Brandon Sinawi isn't one of them.

"I was reading how they're the underdogs." the Novi coach said Friday after his team lost to Howell, 70-55. "Nope. They came in and showed they're definitely the top dogs in the division right now."

Novi was the team considered the preseason favorite to win the KLAA Gold, even with two of its top players out until mid-January. But while the Wildcats are off to a 0-3 start after losing their division opener, Howell is 3-0 after beating two state-ranked teams three nights apart.

After winning Dec. 12 against Williamston, a Class B regional champion the last two seasons, Howell had its most complete performance so far against a Novi team that lost in overtime in a Class A regional final last season

"It's definitely a good boost for us this week,' Howell senior Johnny Shields said. "Two big wins, two top-20 teams. Hopefully, we'll get a little more recognition statewide with this. It's just the beginning for us. It's three games out of our whole year. We've got 17 left, plus more for the playoffs. It's a good start,

but we've got to keep it up.'

Novi was missing two-year starting point guard Trendon Hankerson and 6-foot-8 senior Tariq Woody. Hankerson broke a bone in his left foot during the preseason, while Woody has to sit out the first semester after transferring from Plymouth. Both are expected back by mid-January.

The Wildcats were still able to put two Division I recruits on the floor, which is two more than Howell had in its lineup. Traveon Maddox Jr., who signed with Oakland University, was held to nine points. Junior Jiovanni Miles, who has Division I offers from Central Michigan, Detroit Mercy and North Dakota, was held to four points in the second half after scoring 10 by halftime.

Perhaps Howell junior Josh Palo's profile will increase with college recruiters after his torrid start to the season, but for now he's attracting interest from smaller colleges. Palo's 24 points Friday were actually his season low, dropping his scoring average to 28.7.

'I like playing against guys like that who are going D-I and stuff like that just to see where I'm at," Palo said. "I thought I played well.'

'It's just going to help us more for the playoffs, because the deeper you get in the playoffs, the more guys you're going to see like that," said Howell senior Johnny Shields, who scored 16 points. "It's definitely a good challenge and I think we played very well against both of them.'

Shields, the reigning Livingston County Player of the Year, had his best performance so far. He had only two field goals in his first two games, getting most of his points at the free-throw line, but made five against Novi. Shields has been on the court for two weeks after a foot injury sustained over the summer prevented him from practicing until two days before the season opener.

"Johnny's going to be getting his legs back every time he plays, Howell coach Nick Simon said. "We talked about it the other day, to not force anything. He's going to take a couple weeks of practice to really get his legs all the way back underneath him. He got a nice layup in transition. You could see it spark him a little bit. He hit a big three, then from there on out, you saw more flashes of what he was last year and the year before."

The Highlanders never trailed after Palo hit a basket midway through the second quarter to give them a 22-21 lead. They led 33-25 at halftime, had the lead cut to 41-39 with 4:10 left in the third quarter, then created a cushion by going on a 9-0 run.

Kip French scored 14 points for Howell, including 11 in the first half "Hat's off to Howell, because they kicked our butts tonight," Sinawi said. "It was close at different times, especially in the second and third quarter, but in my opinion, we're still so far away from where we want to be. We have our players thinking that ... we're going to come out and win every game, because we've got kids that got scholarships. Unfortunately, the ones that have those scholarships aren't playing hard."

Blake King and Mihir Bhadange had 11 points for Novi.

You should interview for a job you don't want

BY MICHAEL HOON THEJOBNETWORK.COM

ob hunting is a lot of work, whether you're unemployed or looking while working. You put so much effort into revamping your resume, networking and writing cover letters with the hopes of landing something truly great. And then, after weeks or months of hunting, there's a bite — you're offered an interview. But, you're not excited. At all. Maybe you're waiting to hear back from your dream company. Maybe you're just hesitant to accept anything less than awesome before you've really gotten yourself out there.

You might think the best use of your time is to politely decline and wait for something better to come along. But sometimes it's smart to take the interview, even when you already know you don't want the job. Here are some reasons why:

You might find you do want the job.

The job you don't think you want might turn out to be a perfect fit. Part of the interview your potential coworkers. On paper, it's difficult to get a sense of what the day-to-day of a job will be like. In person, your perspective might shift.

Practice makes perfect.

The more you get used to putting on your most professional clothes, signing in at an unfamiliar front desk and sitting in front of strangers while they ask you about your professional expertise, the better you will get at the entire process. If you're at the start of your career or haven't been on the market for a while, every interview is excellent practice for the next one you get. You'll get your anecdotes down pat and start to get a sense of the questions managers in your chosen field ask at your level. You'll want to be as sharp as possible for the interview you'll get for your dream job. Get all the kinks out when the stakes are low and you're not buzzing with nerves.

You might meet someone to connect with down the line.

job. First, if you get an appointment with a recruiter, they often interview for multiple positions - and sometimes at different companies. You never know what networking wins you might rack up - he or she will keep you in mind for future opportunities.

Second, if you make a great impression but ultimately turn down the position, you now know a face and name at the company. Maybe for your next move you'll want to touch base to see what's open. You can absolutely do so if you rock your interview — even if you don't take the job.

You can use an offer for leverage with other companies.

Say you really want job X, but they're dragging their feet in making decisions or final offers. Maybe you're even on a third or fourth round of interviews. But you've also interviewed for jobs Y and Z - and both have made offers.

Now you can go back to X and tell them other companies are vying for you. Don't be too forceful or demanding; just be truthful.

You can politely tell them you have other offers on the table and ask about their decision timeline. Being in demand is always a desirable trait.

Bottom line: Be careful not to waste your time, especially if you're still working full time and have to leave the office for interviews.

If you know there's no possible way you want to work at a certain company or in a specific position, don't take the interview.

But, in general, keep an open mind — you never know how it might play out.

Michael Hoon is a career advice journalist for process is for the company to sell you on the position (not just for you to sell yourself). Go in, see the workplace and let them woo you. Find out about the company culture and meet Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues provided in the boxes. The more number you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Car Report

IN FULL-SIZE AVALON, TOYOTA SELLS A SEDAN THAT MAKES IT DIFFICULT TO SWITCH TO A UTILITY VEHICLE

have been turning away from sedans and turning toward utility vehicles in such a rush over the last few years, because in doing so they may be bypassing great cars like the 2017 Toyota Avalon.

Just like so many sedan nameplates from the subcompact to the full-size like Avalon, this Toyota car flagship has been suffering from consumers' mammoth pivot to crossovers and SUVs. Its sales were down by nearly 28 percent through July compared with a year ago, the worst relative performance across Toyota's sedan lineup.

But what a car folks are missing in the 2017 Avalon. The latest version of the sedan hasn't been updated much since the car was last done over in

It's unfortunate 2013, but it didn't have to be: Avalon that Americans is the optimal vehicle for people who want a large sedan that is going to keep them comfortable, yet in tune to the road, whether they're going on a long-distance road-trip vacation or commuting every day.

Avalon starts at prices of $33,000, which is on the high end for sedans in its class. But it offers pretty much everything that most folks would want in a vehicle. It's styled far less conservatively than previous versions and even progressively for the boomer target audience.

Avalon sports a powerful 3.5-liter V6-engine that's couple with a sixspeed automatic transmission and a well-tuned suspension. It provides 268 horsepower and 248 pound-feet of torque, Yet Avalon is able to get up to freeway speed of 60 mph in just 6.4 seconds.

The car sports a decent 24mpg in combined driving, 2ith 21mpg in the city and 30 mpg – very respectable for a big car – on the highway. The EPA's rating of Avalon for fuel economy and greenhouse-gas emissions puts it at a 5 on a 10-point scale, smack dab in the middle.

The Toyota Avalon is handsome and in command on the road

Avalon's rear seat can make three adults comfortable.

It's got plenty of room for five adults, including a capacious rear seat. Child seats also fit easily into the rear row. Visibility is great for everyone in the There's also lots of places for interior storage including the center console and side pockets in front and back. Storage cubby holes fit both keys and wallets, and the center console is large. The front section of the console also conveniently acts as a nexus for power cords that pass through a sliding panel for two cellphones and auxiliary and USB connections.

I've always liked Avalon's ample trunk space too, which at 16 cubic feet - with a wide opening and low liftover height on the lip – make it great for loading and holding big and heavy bags, golf clubs, and all manner of other cargo that would be unworkable in most sedans. It's not quite got the cargo utility of even a reasonably sized SUV, but Avalon's capacity is nearly as close as any sedan can come to that kind of accommodation.

and handles much better than past generations of the car, with a ride that has firmed up yet which is still easy to command. It's also got luxury-level quiet inside the passenger compartment.

And speaking of the interior, Avalon offers high-quality materials and excellent construction as well as the choice of many high-tech features. Now, for example, Toyota's vaunted safety sense is standard on all Avalons, including adaptive cruise control, a lane-departure warning and intervention system, forward collision warning, automatic pre-collision braking and automatic high-beam headlight control.

Still, I recommend checking out the XLE Plus trim version of Avalon. It provides many safety and convenience features - including a sunroof, heated outside mirrors with turn signals, leather-trimmed heated front seats, Avalon is very comfortable on and so on - but at a reasonable price
