Nix: No horse track at psych site

He says Northville Downs relocation just a rumor

Ed Wright
Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

The sound of horseshoes galloping toward the finish line won't be heard any time soon near Seven Mile Road in Northville Township, at least as far as supervisor Bob Nix knows.

With the speed of Secretariat, a rumor has been circulating around the township suggesting that Northville Downs will be relocating its operation to the site of the former state psychiatric hospital, which is currently in a demolition holding pattern.

A briskly scheduled Tuesday night board of trustees study session added fuel to the rumor's fire, which was quickly extinguished by Nix.

"There is nothing — nothing! — to this," emphasized Nix, when asked about the Northville Downs-to-Northville Township rumor. "First of all, no one has presented us with any plans related to this and, secondly, that property is not zoned for a race track."

"The property on Seven Mile where the hospital stands will be used for recreation purposes for township residents once the demolition and clean-up is complete. There is absolutely no basis for this rumor mill."

Nix said a recent study session included an update on the Seven Mile Road demolition project, police and fire matters and other township topics, but not Northville Downs.

In April, Northville Downs owner Mike Carlo announced that his business's 48-acre lot had been sold to developers, but that the track would remain open until at least 2020.

Carlo also stated that he would like to relocate the horse-racing venue to a site

Like recreation? Here's 6 trendy options

USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

Ah, nothing like a summer of warm breezes, cool shade and sizzling recreational pursuits to enjoy during July and August — and we're not talking about pitching horseshoes or kicking back.

Although the latter option always is a good one.

Now if you're talking about pitching axes at targets (for fun, of course) or booting soccer balls on the golf course of all things, then we're in the ballpark.

Following is a sampling of off-beat recreational activities certain to ramp up the summer fun meter.

Throw that ax

Yes, you read that correctly. It's cooler than going with a group of friends to a bowling alley and it's a good way to let off some steam with friends, co-workers or family.

Northville to ask residents for roads tax hike

Ed Wright
Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

Stocked with more than enough topic-specific data to fill even the most daunting pothole, the city of Northville will ask residents Nov. 6 to decide on a ballot proposal that will request an additional 0.9787 mills in funding for road improvements.

With language and figures structured by studies, infrastructure engineers' reports and mounds of additional relevant information, the request is expected to produce a $3,050,000 street improvement bond that would be paid over 10 years.

City officials said if the measure is passed, the proposal would cost the average Northville homeowner $137 each year over the 10-year period of the bond's issuance for a $280,000 home with a $140,000 taxable value.

The money would also go strictly toward the improvement of roads and potentially a few sidewalks, Northville mayor Ken Roth assured.

According to Roth, the street improvements bond has been discussed for "six or seven months" and that a great deal of effort has gone into crafting the all-important numbers.

Northville and Plymouth libraries receive special state funding

State Rep. Jeff Noble, R-Northville, recently helped secure special state funding for the Northville District Library and the Plymouth District Library. These funds were included in the 2018-19 state budget, recently approved by the Michigan Legislature and Gov. Rick Snyder. Both libraries' proposed projects that would directly impact education, business development and economic expansion.

"This is all about bringing our tax dollars back home to improve our economy and educational opportunities for children in our communities," Noble said. "Overall, this budget does not grow state government — great news for taxpayers. And even better news, the money the state does spend will go where it does the most good — including right here in our community."

A new 800-square-foot addition to the existing 22-year-old Northville District Library is currently under construction and will feature a new conference room and four additional study rooms for groups or individuals. This funding provides a great assist to the library towards the cost of the construction and the furniture requirements of the rooms. Demand for meeting space by community groups such as homeowners associations, Scout troops, local organizations and small business owners has steadily increased over the years and the new conference room will help alleviate this need. The room will feature an 80-inch LED TV, five laptops and five iPads.

With this new space and equipment, the library can expand demonstrations and classes to help users become more tech-savvy and knowledgeable about online content.

The additional study rooms bring the total of private study spaces to six — two large rooms that can accommodate up to eight people and four small rooms for one to four people. Study rooms are in continual use year round by students, tutors and researchers. The new study rooms will open in late summer, with the conference room available by mid-September. A ribbon-cutting ceremony open to the public is planned for the fall. View the library's construction blog for updates on the construction project at www.northvillelibrary.org.

The Plymouth Library provides support to area small businesses, entrepreneurs and students. Now, new services will allow entrepreneurs to increase business and grow employment opportunities by creating marketing materials. Students of all ages will have the opportunity to improve computer skill sets, complete school assignments and create and edit video. New offerings will include upgraded public computers to better accommodate Adobe Creative Cloud Suite, a powerful graphic and video creation software product. A new graphics printer will also provide large-scale, high-quality printing. The library's updated lab with Creative Cloud software will be available this fall. An unveiling of the new lab and a ribbon-cutting will be scheduled in October.

This funding contributed toward tech upgrades to the Plymouth Library infrastructure.

TAXES

"Our No. 1 point of emphasis regarding the amount we are asking for is absolutely data-driven," Roth said. "We understand that finding the most effective use of taxpayers' dollars is critical."

When discussing the urgency of the bond request, Roth referred to a 2016-17 report issued by the engineering firm of Spalding DeDecker that concluded 46.5 percent of Northville's streets were in poor condition and 20.8 percent were in fair condition.

The firm's assessments were based on a widely-used PASER scale, which places a 1-10 rating on the condition of individual roads.

Based on engineers' estimates, the percentage of streets receiving a good rating would jump from the current 32.7 percent to 63.1 percent and streets rated as poor would fall from 46.5 to 34.1 percent.

"It's important to stress to residents that if this bond request passes, 100 percent of our roads won't be in excellent condition," Roth said. "The amount of money we'd have to ask for in order for that to happen would not be reasonable for the average taxpayer."

On the flip side, Roth noted, if the request does not pass, the cost of road repairs down the road will escalate dramatically.

"Engineers have stressed to us that if we keep repairing the roads the way we're doing it now, without the help of the bond, it will cost residents an additional $2.5 million over the next 15 years," he said. "The more the roads deteriorate, the more expensive they'll be to fix."

If the ballot proposal is approved, the additional funds would be combined with the city's existing street millage and $1,050,000 from reserve funds to pay for an infusion of $6.25 million into street repairs and replacement over the next four years, the city reports.

If the request is approved, the process of prioritizing which roads will be fixed first will be left up to the engineers.

"Everybody thinks their road is the worst," Roth said with a chuckle. "We recognize that. That's why we're going to allow the engineers — the experts — to decide how to most effectively spend the money."

Although news of the upcoming request is not widespread given its relative newness, Roth has received cautiously optimistic feedback from residents.

"So far, people have told me that they're glad we're finally tackling this problem," he said. "At the same time, they want to know exactly what we're going to do with the money and we will do our best over the next several months to educate everyone on this topic."

"Improved roads in the city won't only make driving more pleasing, they'll help increase property values and create more pride in the community."

not far from its current location in downtown Northville, but at no time did he mention the Seven Mile Road site.

Nix's demolition of the rumor came as a relief to Northville Township resident Tracey Birkenhauer, who said she attended the July 26 study session after receiving a meeting notice earlier that day.

"Like a lot of Northville Township residents, I would never support the relocation of Northville Downs to the township," Birkenhauer said. "We've been told the site will be used for recreational use by the public ... for recreation and exercise."

"Studies have shown that very few Northville residents actually go to Northville Downs -- it's predominantly out-of-towners, so I feel it's important to have something on the Seven Mile Road site that township residents can use."

Whatever type of development ends up at the site of the long-closed psychiatric hospital will be delayed at least until December, Nix confirmed.

"The demolition company has discovered more concealed asbestos than they originally expected, so the projected demolition completion date has been moved back two months from its original October date," said Nix.

The removal of the surplus asbestos will cost the township an additional $2.5 million than the demolition company's initial estimate.

"We're talking to the contractor about possibly reducing the cost and we're discussing other ideas regarding how we're going to pay (the additional costs)," said Nix. "It is a work in progress."

Woodward, 248-291-5650) in Ferndale and said the outing hit the mark — both socially and from the recreational aspect.

"It's more like a hatchet," Birchler said. "There's a plywood target that you're throwing at. They give you a lesson in technique, and it's very technical. You don't have to throw it very hard."

Birchler lobbed the ax from a distance of about 20 feet toward a plywood target not unlike one used for darts.

"There's a chain-link fence pretty much floor to ceiling that divides each lane," Birchler explained. "So if you have an errant throw it's not going to go into the other lane."

One problem she encountered was the blade not sticking into the target.

"They have a lot of safety rules," she noted. "I feel like it's safer than the driving range. It would be nearly impossible for you to hit anybody with the ax even if you threw it wrong."

With an adjacent restaurant-bar, Detroit Axe participants can socialize before and after games. Sometimes, even during.

"It's very social, they say they allow you to have drinks in the throwing area," Birchler said. "You're not allowed to bring them past a certain point. But when it's not your turn to throw, you can stand behind the line, there's a little table and you can have a beer."

Reservations are helpful, with "arenas" for between 6-12 participants. If smaller groups want to go, chances are they would be paired with people from a different party.

"It would be a great birthday outing or a team outing, something like that," she added. "If you have a group of people that you went with together, it would be a great night out."

Detroit Axe (detroitaxe.com) is located at 344 W. Nine Mile in Ferndale. Call (248) 291-5650. Walk-ins are welcome, but call for information.

Getting their kicks

With rolling hills, lush greens, sand traps and water hazards, it surely is a regular golf course that Plymouth High School students Ethan Pahl, Kyle Pahl and Luke Winters are spending a summer afternoon on.

But the trio came out June 29 to Fox Hills Golf and Banquet Center in Plymouth with soccer balls — there were no drivers, wedges or putters to be found — for an enjoyable round of footgolf. They each paid $17 to play nine holes.

Just like the name suggests, the game is all about playing golf but with a soccer ball instead.

"I've been playing soccer for about 10 years now," said Ethan Pahl, 17. "And I like normal golf, so I found out they had footgolf here. So I started coming here and it just interests me."

"Some of the challenges, there's one hole you get it over the water, it's interesting and really cool. Some of them aren't too hard, but it's a good balance."

His brother, Kyle, 16, said he is a "really competitive person, so it's an extra thing to go against my brother in."

Winters, 16, said he was invited to play his first round of footgolf on June 29, and came away wanting to make a return trip.

"It's really fun, I really like it, I'm definitely going to come out here again," Winters noted. "The sand pits, those are a challenge to get it out of. ... getting your foot under it and almost scooping it out of the sand and onto the grass."

For more information, call 734-453-7272 or visit foxbhills.com.

Disc golf

Perhaps the art of throwing a disc several hundred feet into a wire basket no longer is considered trendy or chic. But disc golf is growing in popularity, with leagues springing up all over metro Detroit.

Chelsie Huz of Canton said she discovered the sport almost by accident.

"I just had a few friends one day that told me about disc golfing, and said I should come out and give it a try," Huz said. "After the first time, I just kind of found like it was my little home spot. It's fun to get out and enjoy exercise and the fresh air."

And it's a sport that won't break the bank.

Recreation lovers who would rather not be confined to leagues can just head out to free courses such as Cass Benton Park in Northville and give the sport a spin.

Ultimate dodgeball

Sky Zone Trampoline Park (42550 Executive Dr., Canton) is ready if you are, for everything from freestyle jumps to SkySlams to Ultimate Dodgeball.

Some of the weekly deals include Jumpalooza and a 4 Jump Skypack, while Foam Zone provides adventurous types with a chance to soar. (skyzone.com/canton for more information)

Pickleball

The mixing and matching of sports to come up with something different extends to Pickleball — a paddle game combining tennis and badminton.

It's worth checking out at the Plymouth Arts & Recreation Complex, 650 Church Street in Plymouth. Call 734-927-4090 or go to plymouthparc.com for more info.

Game times: are 9 a.m. to noon on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays; noon to 3 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays; 12:30 to 2 p.m. Wednesdays for up-tempo, intermediate/advanced matchups.

Fowling, anyone?

Ready for another new concoction of recreational pursuits? A newfangled sport coined "fowling" gives participants the chance to throw the pigskin at a stand of bowling pins.

It is a touchdown and perfect strike wrapped up into one activity. Those willing to give it a shot can go to the Fowling Warehouse, 3901 Christopher St. in Hamtramck. Call 313-264-1288 or visit fowlingwarehouse.com.

Guest columnist

Summer is finally upon us. Both the calendar and the school year have turned a page and summer has finally arrived.

So what happens during the summer in the Novi Community School district?

In Novi, we have a robust summer school program. We have over 550 students who are participating in our high school summer school program. Some students are making up credit while others are using summer school to advance so they can move ahead once school starts in the fall.

We have another 250 students participating in refresher courses over the summer. These students, in grades Kindergarten through seventh grade, participate in courses to improve and maintain skills over the summer.

Then we have more than 300 children from the community who attend our summer CARE program.

In addition to these activities, we are busy with summer construction projects. We are doing significant work on our high school and Orchard Hills parking lots. We will also work on drainage issue at the middle school and our central office building. Money from the 2014 bond and our sinking fund supports these projects.

In addition, we are continuing to update our classroom furniture at Deerfield, Novi Woods, Parkview, and Meadows. This supports the work we have done at Orchard Hills, Village Oaks, Novi Middle School and Novi High School. This flexible classroom furniture creates learning environments that encourage movement, allow for small group learning, and give students some additional control of their learning environment.

Finally, the technology department will be busy this summer with the purchase of more than 700 iPads. This will add a cart for the middle school and replace the carts in the Instructional Technology Center that were deployed to buildings this year. In addition, we are purchasing over 100 laptops to replace media center laptops and a student lab.

One of the most significant activities that goes on each summer is our work to maintain our facilities. This includes deep cleaning in each of our buildings. We strip and re-wax floors, deep clean carpet, and prepare schools for September. In addition, we will replace concrete that is in need of repair throughout our district.

Finally, one of the most important activities that goes on each summer is hiring new staff. This summer we will hire new teachers, assistant principals for the high school, and a new Marketing and Public Relations Specialist.

So summer in the Novi Community School District is busy.

While all of these activities go on, my hope is that all of us find some time to spend with our families and our friends. Whether it is a week or a weekend, I hope that all of us get to relax and enjoy our Michigan summer with friends and family.

Our 2017-2018 school year has been full. I look forward to September 4th and the start of the new 2018-2019 school year.

City of Northville Proposed Amendments to the Zoning Ordinance

At its regular meeting on July 16, 2018, City Council will introduce for first reading proposed text amendments to sections of the City of Northville Zoning Ordinance pertaining to the following:

1. Amend Article 21 Signs to define an electronic changeable copy sign, and prohibit any new such type of sign in all zoning districts. Existing electronic changeable copy signs are grandfathered and may continue.
2. Amend Article 18 General Provisions, Article 25 Board of Zoning Appeals, and Article 26 Construction of Language and Definitions to allow administrative review and approval of the following temporary uses: mobile food vending stands, trailers and vehicles; seasonal sales of perishables items conducted by a non-profit entity; and temporary outdoor special events held on private property that invite the general public. The new language covers new uses that were not captured by the existing permits/licenses or in the Zoning Ordinance and simplifies the approval process for a number of temporary uses already permitted in the Zoning Ordinance.

Public comments will be received at the City Council meeting scheduled for July 16, 2018, at 7:00 p.m. at the City of Northville Municipal Building – Council Chambers, 215 W. Main Street, Northville, Michigan, 48167, 248-349-1300. Written comments may also be submitted to the above address. Complete text of the proposed ordinance amendment is available for review at the City Clerk's Office during normal business hours of 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, local prevailing time or on the City's website www.ci.northville.mi.us.

Novi twins selected in NHL Draft

Cole and Christian Krygier played two seasons for USHL Lincoln Stars

Brad Emons
Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

The recently retired Sedin twins, Daniel and Henrik, made quite a splash during their long and illustrious National Hockey League careers with the Vancouver Canucks.

The second and third picks overall of the 1999 NHL Draft, the Sedin twins now have company as another set of twins, Novi natives Christian and Cole Krygier, both heard their name called during the seventh round last Saturday in Dallas.

Paired this past season as defensemen for the USHL's Lincoln (Neb.) Stars, the torch has been passed as Christian and Cole have a chance someday to carry on the same identical twin legacy from the Sedin brothers.

New York and Florida call their names

Christian was taken 196th overall by the New York Islanders, while Cole was the 201st overall choice by the Florida Panthers.

"I was just actually sitting in the basement with the TV on and I was sitting there for a long time ... actually by the sixth round and I just shut the TV off," said Christian, who was ranked No. 216 among North American skaters by the Central Scouting Bureau. "I got a call, like, 30 seconds later that I got picked, so it was a pretty crazy moment. It was definitely a little frustrating, but towards the end of it, once I got the call, it was pretty relieving and pretty happy."

Cole, whose final ranking was No. 149, had resigned himself to the fact that he might not be taken. But just five picks later, he also got the call.

"I was actually at my house watching," Cole said. "The seventh round came on and I was kind of, like, 'Maybe it's not this year, all right, whatever.' I was fine. I actually was in the shower and then got out of the shower and my brother was, like, 'Oh, Florida just picked you.' Then I got a call from my buddy and he was, like, 'Congrats.' And I was, like, 'No, that's my brother,' but then he said Florida just picked you. I actually found out from a friend. It was funny."

Both players were at the Islanders' and Panthers' developmental camps, respectively, this week. The two will then report Sunday night to East Lansing, where they will begin taking classes and play together at Michigan State.

"I think it's going to be cool just comparing what the camps are like and how he thinks (about) New York and I'll

Who needs the aggravation of getting hassled by a golf course ranger or an impatient foursome nipping at your heels? Not when there's a nice, relaxing disc golf course to combine the best of recreation, relaxation and socialization.

Consider Chelsie Huz and Ryan Derry, 20-somethings who met last year on the first hole at the Cass Benton disc golf course in Northville and now make disc golf outings part of their weekly routine and dating arsenal.

When heading out to play a round of disc golf, each brings a bag of tricks, composed of discs of varying circumfer-ence, depth and design — to curve, fade, glide or flat-out motor from tee box to flag (actually, an elevated wire basket).

Huz and Derry reach into the duffel bag and pull out a driver, mid-range or putter — just as though they were deciding which club to play on a traditional golf course.

"They all do different things," Canton resident Huz said, talking about her collection. "Some drivers are, like, distance drivers or maximum distance drivers. Some just go straight, some turn left or right. It just depends on the kind of disc that you're throwing."

"My bag is full of different discs,

Local players help East defeat West in 37th annual game, 7-4

Brad Emons

John Malcom got another chance to play at Comerica Park and he was determined to not let the second opportunity go to waste.

It was a far cry from the regular season game for the first baseman and outfielder from Beverly Hills Detroit Country Day as he went 2-for-2 with a run scored and a stolen base Friday night as the East defeated the West, 7-4, in the 37th annual Michigan High School Baseball Coaches Association All-Star Game.

"It didn't go so well," Malcom said of his first Comerica experience. "But it was good to come back and get my revenge. It was always on the back of my mind. I said I can't go out like that. I think I went 0-for-4. We were wearing gym shoes and I fell a couple of times. It was a good thing. First pitch I said, 'I'm stealing in this game.' I got to get

OU's Ricci scores twice in Bucks win

hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

With the Premier Development League's most storied franchises having their playoff backs against the wall, the Michigan Bucks are getting a much needed boost from a local college player.

Oakland University's Austin Ricci, who recently completed his four years of eligibility, scored his team-leading sixth and seventh goals of the season on June 27 as the Bucks upended the West Virginia Chaos, 2-0, inside air conditioned Pontiac's Ultimate Soccer Arenas.

On June 30, the Bucks (4-3-3, 15 points) moved into a third place tie in the Great Lakes Division of the Central Conference with a 2-2 draw on the road with the first-place Dayton Dutch Lions (6-2-3, 21 points) at DOC Stadium.

Hunter Barone (seventh minute) and Suniel Veerakone (82nd minute from David Goldsmith) scored goals for the Bucks, while the Dutch Lions countered with a pair of goals by Emilius Wendt (from Abdul Koositra and Jacob Moore) in the 62nd and 84th minutes, respectively.

Bucks goalkeeper Hunter Wilson made four saves, while Dayton counter-part Corey Whisenthunt had six.

Ricci, a native of Richmond Hill, Ontario (just north of Toronto), scored in the 23rd and 27th minutes to provide the final margin of victory against the Chaos.

Ricci's first goal, the game-winner, came on a nifty one-time volley.

"I just saw David Goldsmith running down the line and I'd seen all their defenders dropping down close to the net," Ricci said, "so I just peeled off closer to the top of the box, hope he saw me and he played me a good ball. I just hit it first time in there."

His second goal of the night provided some much needed cushion.

"The second one — Mitch (Guitar) did a good job running the ball off one of their mistakes and then just happy I got the ball, and just continued to keep dribbling until the defender stepped to him," Ricci said. "When he stepped to him he played me through and I just finished it and that was the easy part."

Ricci finished his OU career with 22 goals and 23 assists. He made first-team All-Horizon League last fall during his final season as the Golden Grizzlies finished 6-10-1 overall.

"I'm hoping to play professionally somewhere, working on getting opportunities now, so trying to have a good summer so that comes through," said Ricci, who is in his second season with the Bucks. "We'll see where that goes when the time comes."

Bucks head coach Paul Thomas was pleased with his team's play, particularly during the first 45 minutes.

"I thought we were exceptional in the first half creating probably five or six really good opportunities and could only take advantage of two," said the first-year coach. "And then when you're only two goals up the next goal is really dangerous, and we couldn't quite finish determination to get through the second half, so I'm proud of the guys for that."

Ricci's finishing touch has elevated the Bucks' recent surge. "The past three or four games he's really stepped up," Thomas said of Ricci. "We've needed a player that can step up and score goals, and he's stepped up to the plate. He looks sharp right now and when he finally gets his chance, he puts it away and is just great to have on the team."

West Virginia was missing its top two scorers Dion Dozell and Marcelo Hernandez, who were out an injury and red card. But the Bucks weren't about to show any sympathy because many as 10 different players have missed games this summer due to injury.

"We've had a luck of tough luck with injuries and players leaving for certain reasons, but there's nothing you can do about that," Ricci said. "It put us in a tough spot, but we're doing well."

Bucks goalie Jimmy Hague (Walled Lake Western), who was the 2017 Big Ten Goalkeeper of the Year from Michigan State, made five saves to post the team's third shutout of the season.

Meanwhile, the Bucks had plenty of other scoring chances, but left a few on the table.

"I think we could have had a few more," Ricci said. "There were some guys that missed a few, but we did a good job the second half holding them off and just finish the game out."

The Bucks, who have a game in hand, are 3-0-1 since starting out 1-3-2. Their last defeat was a 1-0 setback to the Dutch Lions on June 13 at Royal Oak High School.

"Based on the start of the season we put ourselves in a tough spot," Ricci said. "We've been doing well the past few games and we've had some results go our way, so now we know what to do and every game is in our hands, which we like."

With only four PDL matches remaining, the Bucks must finish in the two top in the Great Lakes Division earn their 23rd playoff berth in the last 24 years.

"Every game is a playoff game right now," Thomas said. "We need to win out in order to qualify for the playoffs, and that's the plan and that's the goal to win every game you can."

The Bucks' next match is 7:30 p.m. Saturday, July 7 against the Cincinnati Dutch Lions at Ultimate Soccer Arenas.

Westland John Glenn guard Sharon Woodard will continue her basketball career next year at Schoolcraft College.

The 5-foot-9 senior, who averaged 14 points, six assists and five rebounds per game, played in every minute of every game in all but one as she helped the Rockets finish 8-13 overall.

Woodard had 18 points and eight assists in her final game in a 60-50 Class A district semifinal loss to rival Wayne Memorial, the KLA champion and MHSAA Final Four team.

Schoolcraft, under fifth-year coach Kara Kinzer last season, finished 18-11 overall and 10-4 in the Eastern Conference of the Michigan Community College Athletic Association while reaching the NJCAA District H finals before losing to Macomb CC, 64-63.

Road Runner Classic offers fun, challenging courses

hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Marking its 13th anniversary, a new and improved 2018 Road Runner Classic will feature a few new wrinkles for its early evening races on Saturday, July 21 at historic Maybury State Park.

The Classic, hosted by the Northville Road Runners, will benefit the Friends of Maybury.

The redesigned half-trail, half-pavement 8-kilometer run-walk starts at 5:30 p.m. followed by the new 5K run-walk, all on pavement, at 5:45 p.m. Prior to those two races, a 1-mile fun run-walk begins at 5 p.m.

Each participant will receive finishing medals along with a tech shirt. Awards, donated by Gazelle Sports, will go three deep in five-year age brackets. Northville Running Fit will donate awards to the overall male and female masters winners.

Post-race activities includes music, pizza, craft and micro-brewed beer, along with homemade baked goods. The family-friendly event also offers a chance to visit farm animals along with other activities for children.

"It's really well organized and it's really just a lot of fun, and the price is good," NRR president Gary Haf said.

"This year we've got bigger medals for everybody, cool shirts, great craft beer, a great course — all designed to make sure everybody has a rewarding time in making this the best summer race ever."

Entry fees, through July 19, are $36 (8K and 5K) and $20 (1-mile fun run-walk). Race day fees (July 20-21) are $40 (8K and 5K) and $23 (fun run-walk).

Race participants must enter Eight Mile Road entrance, one mile west of Beck Road, to Maybury State Park. (Michigan recreation passports are required for all vehicles entering the park.)

12U Matcats second in Blue Water Nationals Duals

Brad Emons

Hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK - MICHIGAN

The Michigan Matcats continued their year-round quest led by its Youth 12-and-under squad securing a runner-up finish in the National United Wrestling Association for Youth Blue Water National Duals held June 30 at McMorran Place Arena in Port Huron.

"These national dual events are designed for — you guessed it — national teams," Matcats coach Steve Richardson said. "Teams created with all-stars usually including state champions from across the state. We do things a bit differently. We use our club kids only."

Individually, the Matcats were led by Isabella Cepak, who earned a victory against the wrestler on the opposing squad with 113 wins.

Meanwhile, the Matcats' Daniel Bal-estieri narrowly lost to another state champion in his first national dual tourney.

"Daniel was composed and let his training take over like a true champion," Richardson said. "Our kids never cowered, wrestling each match with courage and determination, winning some really tough matches along the way."

The Matcats have had a history of competing well in these type of events, according to Richardson.

"While we have several state champions of our own, we also have many kids that deserve a chance to get onto one of these teams," he said. "By competing with and against the best, these kids get the experience needed to further their individual development."

Competitive family of Division I athletes

The Krygier twins have been basically inseparable on and off the ice during their youth and junior hockey careers. Both are left-handed shooters and both measure 6 feet, 3 inches, 192 pounds.

They also come from a hockey family.

Their father Todd, who played in the NHL for three different teams, scoring 100 goals and adding 143 assists in 543 games, is currently an assistant coach at Western Michigan University. He also was the head coach of the Compuware AAA mite team and guided Novi to its only MHSAA Division I state title in 2011. He was also head coach of the USHL's Muskegon Lumberjacks before going to WMU.

An older brother Brock, who is entering medical school this fall, played hockey three years at Michigan State and one year at Arizona State. Their oldest sister Natalie played soccer at Connecticut and Iowa, while younger sister Grace will be a sophomore on the Wisconsin women's soccer team.

"I'd say growing up in a family of five kids and everyone being Division I athletes ... so I think being the youngest two in a family of five is not an easy thing, just because everyone is so competitive," Christian said.

'Rambunctious' style of play

Following their selections in the seventh round, an analyst from the NHL Network described the Krygier twins as "rambunctious," something Christian wouldn't deny.

"I think we definitely have different personalities, but for the most part, we're really competitive, love to win," Christian said of he and his twin brother. "I think for the most part, we both have an edge on the ice where it's really competitive. Sometimes, we cross the line, but that's the way we've always been. I don't think it's going to change much, but we've always been that way, so ... just really competitive and really tough to play against. We just love battling."

In their second USHL season in Lincoln, the Stars finished 35-23-1-1 during the regular season and reached the semifinals of the Clark Cup playoffs before being eliminated by the Waterloo Black Hawks, 3-2.

A total of six Lincoln Stars players went during the 2018 NHL Draft, including Canton native Paul Cotter, a forward who was selected in the fourth round (115th overall) by the Vegas Knights.

"It was a really good group of guys who became very close on the team," Christian said.

Cole finished with three goals and 14 assists for 17 points with 107 penalty minutes and a plus-12 rating in 58 games. In his two seasons with the Stars, he totaled six goals and 17 assists for 23 points through 95 games. Cole added an assist at the 2018 USHL/NHL Top Prospects Game and competed at the 2017 CCM/USA Hockey All-American Prospects Game.

First year in Nebraska an adjustment

But his first USHL first season and being away from home, there was certainly an adjustment period.

Novi's Christian Krygier was taken in the seventh round of the NHL Draft by the New York Islanders. BRANDON ANDERSON | LINCOLN STARS

Cole Krygier was taken in the seventh round by the Florida Panthers in the NHL Draft. BRANDON ANDERSON | LINCOLN STARS

"Obviously, being a 16-year-old in the league with a lot of older guys on the team, I couldn't say anything better about anyone," Cole said. "All the guys were really good to us, showing us how and what to do day in and day out ... and actually playing that second year and being more comfortable, getting a lot of minutes and we had an unbelievable coaching staff our second year after a change from the first year. We had a bunch of really good guys and a pretty good year, so it was fun."

Meanwhile, Christian played 48 games with the Stars this season, tallying eight assists with 137 penalty minutes and a plus-10 rating. Over his two-year career, had two goals and 11 assists for 13 points 98 games.

He was also a 2018 USHL/NHL Top Prospects Game selection, made a 2017 CCM/USA Hockey All-American Prospects Game appearance and was a U.S. Junior Select Team pick for the 2017 World Jr. A Challenge.

"I tendered in Lincoln when I was 16, so it was definitely a game-changer when it came to playing junior hockey," Christian said. "Being a 16-year-old and the youngest guy on your team ... my brother (Cole) got drafted in the fifth round. Wasn't really playing, then we got him. He showed up at camp and actually switched to defense that year, so he really didn't know if he made the team or not. He did very well at the camp and we both got picked for the team. I think it was a really up-and-down year at the start, my first year and his first year. I was seventh 'D' and not playing very much. He was out of the lineup for the first 20 games, then towards the end of the season started rolling. We were both playing in the top six a lot of minutes ... it started out as a struggle, but by the end it was a pretty successful year I thought."

New Stars coach Cody Chupp, a Big Rapids native who played at Ferris State, put the Krygier brothers on the same defensive pairing and they began to click after the team got off to a slow start.

Chupp said the Krygiers "were as good as anybody athletically in the draft."

"At the start of the season, we weren't really playing together and our team wasn't doing really well," Christian said. "And then they kind of made some changes, changed some stuff up. They actually put us together, kind of almost like expecting us to not do very well together. And then we kind of turned it on, came together and actually became a lot closer playing together, which was pretty cool because it was more than just playing for ourselves. It was more playing for each other throughout the season, because we both wanted to do well and we were both on the ice together. It actually became a really tight bond that was closer than ever before and then got really together on the ice, too, with communication and play, stuff like that. It was a pretty cool process."

Both were able to complement each other on the blue line.

"Obviously, we're both kind of bigger, strong guys, so we are defensive-minded, but we like to get up in the rush and play, kind of that fourth forward kind of thing," Christian said. "I'd say we have a pretty similar style of game."

From Wisconsin to MSU

Prior to their 18th birthdays May 5, the Krygiers had both signed an NCAA Division I letter of intent to play at the University of Wisconsin, but head coach Tony Granato granted both of them a release.

"Wisconsin is an unbelievable program, I can't say enough good things about them," Christian said. "They just had a lot of guys going in and there just wasn't that much availability or opportunity in their lineup, so when it came down to it, me and my brother didn't want to play (USHL) the following year. We wanted to play in college, so we kind of looked at our options after we decommitted because there wasn't going to be an opportunity to be there. When we decided to go to Michigan State, I think we're both extremely excited. And being from Michigan, it's pretty special to play in front of kids that you've gone to grade school with, since 5 or 6 years old. I'm really excited about Michigan State and it's a better situation with me and Cole than what it would have been."

Cole, meanwhile, had the same sentiments.

"I think Wisconsin was unbelievable to us," he said. "They were great to us and we had a great relationship with the coaches there. They texted me when I got drafted yesterday, so it's definitely not a bad or toxic relationship. I think the biggest thing is that we could go in and play right away. If you're seven or eight 'D' the first year, then six or seven the following year, so I didn't think it would help us in the long run. Michigan State offered an unbelievable deal, saying we'd pretty much come in and play right away with an opportunity. They're going to give us every opportunity until whether we take it or leave it. It's really up to us now going to Michigan State."

And who knows after Michigan State? You could see the next pair of twins in the NHL, this time not as teammates, but on separate teams.

DISC GOLF

that do different things," she added. "Just for certain holes, if one hole cuts harder to the left or to the right, you just need a certain disc for that. It's helpful to have a variety."

According to Derry, a Livonia Franklin graduate who now lives in Redford Township, "Different discs do different things. You throw them differently and you can have the same disc do different things."

"A mid-range, personally, (is) my favorite one to throw," Derry said. "You get a little bit more control out of it, stability. You can see the difference between a driver and a mid-range is the lip is a little more round, a smaller lip than the driver here."

Unlike actual golf, disc golf doesn't have to break the bank, either.

"You can get beginner discs like at Dunham's, like, a pack of three — a driver, a mid-range and a putter — probably for about $20 to $40," Derry said. "And you don't necessarily have to buy an actual bag until you get more into it. You could just use a backpack. It's not a very expensive sport, until you actually get far into it."

"And Cass Benton is a free course, so it's free to play here. You don't have to worry about that."

Rising popularity

For the price, disc golf is quite the bargain — so much so that the buzz is building at bucolic spots all across Michigan and the United States.

According to the Professional Disc Golf Association (pdga.com), which one must join in order to compete in tournaments, there were just over 41,600 members in 2017. That marked a jump of about 15 percent from 2016, when an estimated 35,700 graded PDGA courses.

The twists and turns of traditional links apply to disc golf, as participants try to figure out how to play through a stand of trees or navigate other course challenges.

But for both Huz and Derry, crushing a round is secondary to spending quality time in a pastoral setting. Actually, with disc golf, they can do both things simultaneously.

They might be playing a sport, but it feels as though they were strolling through Kensington Metropark one recent Saturday afternoon.

"You're able to get out and walk around, have a good time," Huz said.

"You can meet up with friends that you see and pick up with as many people as you want."

Derry concurred, noting that it's not just a game.

"It's scenery, you're walking the whole course, so it's exercise," he said. "You're out here with your friends ... nice weather, good time, exercise — it's the whole package for me."

Discovery awaits

Another plus is finding out about other, picturesque courses that scream out "road trip."

That's exactly what Huz, Derry and a couple of other friends recently did. They traveled to the west side of the Lower Peninsula and played at the five-star Flip City Disc Golf Course in Shelby, along with Whiskey Hills in Custer.

"We spent the whole day at Whiskey Hills, left there, went to Flip," Derry said. "You have to see pictures of this place (Flip City). It is absolutely remarkable. It's not just the course at all, it's the scenery. The time (Flip City owner Bill McKenzie) puts into it personally because it's a private course."

"He carved in a giant basket, into the grass, so when you go from one hole to another, you go a quarter-mile up the hill. ... It's huge."

One of those friends was 25-year-old Sam Maccani, who attended Plymouth High School with Huz.

"Come out for a good time; it's a very relaxed sport," Maccani said. "You're coming out just having a good time, to walk around, enjoy some nature. It's a very laid-back sport. If you want to take it seriously, you can."

"It's not, like, when you go onto an actual golf course, people behind you kind of (say), 'Come on, come on, come on.'"

In fact, the only sound emanating from behind the chill purveyors of fling might be chirping from nearby robins. Or maybe the wind whooshing through the trees.

ALL STAR

my revenge."

The 6-foot-3, 220-pound Malcom, who got the start at first, is headed to play next season to play at Vanderbilt, but his first stop will be in a summer league stint for the Albany (N.Y.) Dutchmen in the Perfect Game Collegiate Baseball League where he doesn't have a preferred position.

"Actually I'm headed there at 5 in the morning," Malcom said. "I just want to show that I can do anything."

Seipenko's shot

In the bottom of the ninth inning, Salem's 6-foot-6 Jacob Seipenko had a thrill of a lifetime when he lined a shot off at the bottom of the left field wall for an RBI double for the victorious East squad.

"I'm not going to lie, I was watching it the whole way," Seipenko said. "I was at first base watching the ball. but I thought it was going down and I got to second base. A little more lift and it would have been gone."

The Michigan State-bound Seipenko also pitched a scoreless seventh inning allowing a hit and walk to go along with a strikeout.

"Being on the mound is great and all, but I actually can say that hitting that double off a Copa banner was pretty awesome," Seipenko said. "I didn't getting that many at-bats that day, or many at all, but getting that last hit at Comerica was something special."

Seipenko, who is playing this summer for the Metro Detroit Athletics, said it was an experience he'll never forget.

"I've never pitched in front of a crowd like this in a stadium and a stadium like this," he said. "It was wonderful to see all these guys out here and pitch in front of a great crowd."

Weatherly's jitters

In the bottom of the third inning, long and lanky Howell right-hander took his turn on the mound for the West squad and kept the East off the board as he recorded a strikeout and gave up a single before inducing a 3-6-3 double play.

"It was nerve-wracking for sure," Weatherly said. "I was definitely a little bit nervous, but being on the team with all these guys and such great talent all around on the East and West squads ... it was a lot of fun. It's definitely something I will not forget. It was awesome."

Weatherly's mindset on the mound was simple. Just stay calm.

Salem's Jacob Seipenko fires a pitch in the 37th Annual East-West All-Star Game Friday June 29, 2018 at Comerica Park in Detroit. TIMOTHY ARRICK

"Throw strikes, try and get outs, get ahead in the count and I was able to do that," he said.

Weatherly, who is headed to Ball State in the fall, did not pitch as many innings as he anticipated during his prep season for the Highlanders. And he is opting out of summer baseball.

"This is it, I'm shutting down for the summer," he said. "My coach wants me to take a little bit of a break and I think I'll pick it back up in August. I had on-and-off with blisters on my fingers, flaring up. It was kind of frustrating during the season."

Martin sharp

Westland John Glenn right-hander Brian Martin, also headed to MSU, got the save for the East with an impressive one-two-three ninth inning.

Against the lead-off West batter, he hustled to the bag to make the putout after a stop and a flip by Seipenko, who was playing first base.

Seipenko, his future teammate at MSU, also scooped up a throw in the dirt from third baseman Matt Stinebiser (Novi Detroit Catholic Central) for the second out and Martin fanned Ann Arbor Skyline's Eamon Horwedel to end the inning.

"On the mound it felt great," said Martin, who is playing summer baseball for the Chi-Town Cream. "Pitching on a Major League mound is definitely something to remember. I felt like I was throwing pretty good out there. The last time I pitched was about a week ago, but before that I had about two weeks off. I've never played here, but I always wanted to, so this was a memorable experience for me."

Hendricks honored

went 0-for-2 at the plate for the West, it was still a night to remember.

"Amazing, completely honored," said the middle infielder. "Obviously very spacious, so sometimes you feel like you get a hold of one and the outfielders are sitting right there ... but awesome, everything."

Hendricks is taking the summer off — sort of — before heading to play in the fall at Wayne State.

"Resting the body a little bit," he said. "I'm working on my family vineyard ... 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. work, and it's good work. When you start picking leaves for five hours you think a little bit, so ..."

Graham gets call

Livonia Stevenson's Parker Graham played second base for the East and collected an infield single in the ninth inning.

"Of course, I'll take it, no doubt about it," Graham said of his third base squibber off West left-handed pitcher Cole Daniels. "It was incredible, it was a surreal experience. I always wanted to play here, always dreamed of playing here and getting the opportunity was great."

Ironically, Graham was originally an alternate, but got the call just two weeks prior to fill the East roster.

"I was sitting at my buddy's backyard swimming, then coach (Dan) Greisbaum called me up and let me know," said Graham, who plans to play football this fall at Concordia University with the option of trying baseball. "I was excited, great news."

All-Star ledger

Also appearing in the game for the East squad were Birmingham Brother Rice's duo of Gabe Sotres and Reese Trahey, both headed to Michigan State, along with CC's Stinebiser, who is off to

Country Day's John Malcom went 2-for-2 with a run scored and stolen base in the East's 7-4 All-Star win over the West at Comerica Park. TIMOTHY ARRICK

Duke.

For the West, Brighton right-hander Cameron Tullar, who is headed to Wabash (Ill.) Community College, allowed one hit and pitched a scoreless second inning.

Northville's Billy Flohr, who has signed with Florence-Darlington Technical College (S.C.) came on to catch for the West and Howell's Jake Falzone, who is going to Kellogg CC, also made an appearance in the outfield for the West.

Odds and ends

West shortstop Thomas Eitnrear, from Division 4 school Ottawa Lake Whiteford, was named the All-Star MVP in a losing cause.

Eitnrear went 2-for-3 at the plate and made the defensive play of the night with diving stop up the middle to take away an East hit in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Also a member of Whiteford's Division 8 state championship football team, Eitnrear will play baseball at Toledo.

Meanwhile, Grosse Pointe North's Davis Graham was named the East All-Star MVP.

Wyandotte's Matt Montroy was the winning pitcher for the East, while Traverse City St. Francis' Casey Peterson, who gave up four runs in the fourth (all unearned), suffered the loss.

The East won despite making four errors, but out-hit the West, 10-8.

Area schools win 12 state titles

Marty Budner
hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

The Michigan High School Athletic Association crowned 129 state champions during its three-season 2017-18 sports calendar.

Of the 98 Michigan schools that won at least one state title, a dozen of them represented the expansive hometownlife.com area.

Detroit Country Day, Detroit Catholic Central and Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook Kingswood led the local Parade of Champions with three crowns each. They were among seven schools statewide that captured three state titles.

Catholic Central's three titles occurred during each season — soccer in the fall, wrestling in the winter and lacrosse in the spring. Cranbrook Kingswood's state-title teams also were spaced out over three seasons — boys tennis in the fall, girls swimming in the winter and girls lacrosse in the spring.

The Yellowjackets won two state titles during the winter season (girls basketball and boys hockey) and another during the spring (girls tennis).

Novi, with titles in girls soccer and volleyball, was among a group of 22 MHSAA schools that landed two state championships this year.

The area's other schools that added a state championship trophy to their case included Bloomfield Hills Marian (soccer), Farmington Hills Mercy (swimming), Bloomfield Hills (boys tennis), Northville (girls tennis), Birmingham Seaholm (girls tennis), Bloomfield Hills Academy of the Sacred Heart (girls tennis), Farmington United (gymnastics) and Plymouth Christian Academy (volleyball).

Following are a few other interesting facts regarding MHSAA state titles this year:

■ A total of 33 teams won their first MHSAA title in their respective sport.

■ A total of 45 champions were repeat winners from 2016-17-18 of those winning for a least the third straight season, while nine extended title streaks to four consecutive years.

■ Hart's girls cross country team celebrated its first MHSAA championship in school history by winning the Division 3 meet last fall. Hart then doubled that number by winning the girls track and field title this spring.

■ Brother Rice's streak of 13 boys lacrosse state championships — which had been the state's longest consecutive string of state titles — ended this season. Petoskey's boys ski team took over the longest streak at eight seasons. The Marquette boys ski team and Rockford girls lacrosse team share the second-longest winning streak with six straight state championships.

■ The other schools beside Novi that captured two state championships this year include Bronson, Clarkston, Detroit Edison, East Grand Rapids, Grosse Pointe South, Hanover-Horton, Hudson, Iron River Western Iron County, Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart, Ontonagon, Pontiac Notre Dame Prep and St. Ignace.

■ Sixteen of the MHSAA's 28 championships are unified, involving teams from the Upper and Lower Peninsulas, while separate competition to determine titlists in both peninsulas is conducted in remaining sports.

Schulz wins Junior Girls State Amateur crown

Special to hometownlife.com
USA TODAY NETWORK — MICHIGAN

Mikaela Schulz of West Bloomfield started slowly June 24 in the 40th Michigan Junior Girls State Amateur Championship presented by Pepsi, but a putter switch did the trick and she turned back Shannon Kennedy of Beverly Hills in the championship match Wednesday at Forest Akers West.

"I did not play well the first day of stroke play — it wasn't my best golf," the 16-year-old senior-to-be at Bloomfield Hills High School said.

"I had switched putters about four weeks ago and the new putter felt good, but I didn't drop anything. So I switched back to a putter I had used for about five years. It rolled some putts in. I was skeptical about changing in the middle of a tournament, but it was for the better."

Schulz, who topped Kennedy 4 and 3 in the final match, shot 69 for 146 Monday to earn medalist honors over Kennedy by one shot and then worked her way through the 16-golfer match play bracket to the title. She is the first golfer to garner both stroke play medalist honors and the championship since 2011, when Kelly Hartigan took home both trophies.

"After that first day, I just tried to play my game and prove to myself what I could do with it," she said. "I had a good match with Shannon. I don't think she had her best game and I just didn't give anything away."

Schulz, last year's GAM Junior Girls Player of the Year, called it a big win.

"It's a big event for me and a step forward in where I want to go with my golf," she said. "I love winning GAM tournaments, too. They are so well-run and the volunteers are so nice and it just makes it special to win."

Schulz, who has already verbally committed to the University of Michigan golf program, beat Rachel Hu of Northville 2 and 1 in the semifinals to earn her finals spot, while Kennedy topped Danielle Staskowski of Clarkston 3 and 2.

Grace Boczar of Canton won the 15-and-under division title, which featured an eight-golfer bracket after stroke play qualifying. Her sister Bridget was the medalist in stroke play and the top seed after shooting 72-79-151.

Grace beat Karli VanDuinen of Muskegon in 19 holes in the final match. It was VanDuinen who topped her sister Bridget in the first round of match play, 2-up.

A field of 110 golfers ages 18-and-under played for the two titles.

Prepare your finances before you lose your job

 BY KATE LOPAZE
THEJOBNETWORK.COM

Sometimes firings or layoffs come out of the blue — you go to work one morning, thinking everything is fine, and then ... bam. Other times, you kind of know it's coming. Maybe things aren't going so well with your company or your industry, making layoffs a painful inevitability.

Or maybe things just haven't been going well for you personally and you know it's just a matter of time. Whatever the case may be, if you can see the writing on the wall and you want to make sure you're preparing yourself, how do you tackle your immediate financial future?

GETTY IMAGES

Don't make huge purchases if you can avoid it.

If you're thinking of buying a house, investing in a friend's startup, getting a new car, or whatever, reconsider your timeline.

If you lose your job tomorrow and have to spend months on a job hunt, will you be able to afford this big extra expense?

If this is something you can put off for at least a few months while you regroup professionally and financially, defer the investment.

Know your state's unemployment policies.

Knowing what you're going to get, in terms of unemployment pay, will help you stay on top of your bills in the aftermath of getting fired.

Come up with several different budgets.

You probably already have some kind of a general budget in your life, but this is a crisis budget. Identify absolute necessities (like food, utilities, rent/mortgage), and make sure you have enough money to cover those first.

It's also helpful to come up with a few different scenarios for your budgets. For example, Budget A is the one you use if you're unemployed for two months, with severance and unemployment. Budget B is the one where you're unemployed for six months or longer, with severance and unemployment. Budget C can be the wildcard, if you're unemployed longer, or don't have severance or unemployment. If the axe hasn't fallen yet, it's important to consider all the different scenarios you might be facing and plan accordingly.

Get rid of unnecessary expenses and bills.

Think about what you actually need in your life, and what are the "nice to haves."

Do you need cable, or could you get by for a few months with some kind of Netflix + Hulu combo? Do you go out to dinner or get takeout several times a week, when you could just as easily cook? It's time to put serious thought into the costs that can be reduced or canceled.

See if you can modify your bill payments.

Some bills are likely non-negotiable, like electricity or food. Others may allow you to modify your payments based on financial hardship, like student loans. For any bills you're currently paying, it's worth the research to see if you can modify your payments on a short-term basis, if possible.

Don't panic and stop paying bills.

Your instinct may be to stop and hoard all your money. While you may be able to ride out the short-term pain of being late on bills, you're seriously endangering your financial health. If you can make payments on schedule, do. Avoid repercussions for your credit if at all possible.

Losing your job is traumatic and scary, but it's essential to keep calm and prioritize your finances so that you can help yourself get back on track as quickly as possible.

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
