Party for ghosts is frightful highlight

With Halloween fast approaching, Northville city officials are again preparing to sponsor a community Halloween party.

The annual event is scheduled at the Northville Community Center. The party will begin at 6 p.m. on Oct. 31. Trick or treaters of all ages are invited to enjoy games, costume judging and a contest.

Northville City Police Chief Bob Cassen has suggested:

- Wear light-colored clothing enough to prevent tripping, and add reflective tape.
- Make sure children can be seen through the darkness.
- Go out in daylight and carry a flashlight at all times.
- Only give or accept wrapped or unwrapped candy.
- Remind family members about allowing children to trick or treat only in neighborhoods that look safe.
- Parents should make sure to look over any costumes and set up a self-contained package should be included.

"As time goes on, there is a lot more to a possible injury," Cassen said.

In addition, local police departments, the Northville City Council and principal school personnel are sponsoring a Halloween safety program for local elementary school students. Children are being given a special safety kit along with special safety tips, along with special safety kits. Steve Ludin, director of programs for the Detroit Police Department, has organized the program for the children. He said the program is designed to help prevent possible injuries.

The safety kits will be distributed to local police departments, the Northville City Council and principal school personnel. The program is designed to help prevent possible injuries.

Two tax votes in township

By BRUCE WEINRAUB

Less than two weeks before the election, officials were concerned that it will prove unilateral to have two millage proposals on the November ballot.

Accordingly, Northville Township officials will be able to decide on a ballot for the city's school district and a local tax for the recreation department.

Township Fiscal Chief Ken Hardin said he does not think a recreation ballot question will have an impact on the city's public safety or crime. Northville Recreation Director John Anderson agreed with Hardin, and said the two millages on the same ballot were a large part of the reason why the school district has decided to roll back to the millage rate.

Anderson is referring to a recent decision by the Northville Board of Education to cut back on the millage rate by 1 mill. In an announcement posted Wednesday by the Record, the township voters appear to be the same ballot, and Anderson adds that the two millage questions.

Race for Congress heats up in area

By BOB NEEDHAM

After a history of relative quiet in Michigan's 3rd Congressional District, the race this year is suddenly getting a little heated.

Republican U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell (R- Plymouth) is leading his boasting opponent since January, but he is still behind in the polls. The challenge is coming from the Hispanic Congresswoman Linda Colon-Pursell of Canton. She is running and more challenges than any of Pursell's previous opponents.

Together, the two are expected to spend over $1 million on the campaign to represent the 3rd DISTRICT for the next two years.

Following a fire at Frank's Fire Station, the next game of pursuit is expected Dec. 4, 10 a.m.

The best party will be the Meadow Berry Farm on Beck Road. Halloween is this Monday, and that week will be heating up costs.

Above, Russell and Florentine Amerman are pictured in front of the Meyers Berry Farm on Beck Road. Halloween is this Monday, and that week will be heating up costs.

It's Jack o' lantern time in Northville and that means plenty of fun for children like Nolan Richards, pictured above. Nolan was one of the many adventure souls who decided to brave the autumn chill to pick out a pumpkin at the Marys Berry Farm on Beck Road. Halloween is this Monday, and that week will be heating up costs.

Town loses Russell Amerman

Losingtime Northville resident and assistant superintendent of schools Russell R. Amerman died last Thursday.

He was 81 at the time of his death.

"I don't know anybody who has lived in Northville more than 50 years, whose life has not been influenced by Russell Amerman through their children," longtime Northville school official said.

"He was a man of great influence and dedication to the community," Amerman said.

Remembered by friends and colleagues as a child, young people and adults, with the determination and strength of his convictions, Mr. Amerman is many ways shaped the way in which the current system exists.

He was born in 1910 in New York City. He graduated from Berkeley High School and entered the Student Army Training Program at Illinois. He graduated with a degree in science. He moved to Menlo Park, California, to begin his career as a math teacher.

Mr. Amerman married Ethel Amerman, and the young couple moved to Mineral Point, Wisconsin where the American taught science for two years before becoming principal.

The Americans moved to Northville in 1937. He was principal at the high school before becoming superintendent of schools in 1955. Although he was a former superintendent, Mr. Amerman is president of the organization. He is a former president of the Board of Directors for the Mineral Point School Board.

He received a degree from the University of Michigan in 1934. He was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree by Southwestern College in 1993.

The Baseline Jug will be awarded to the winner of Friday's Novi- Northville football game. Above, Haiti Smith prepares the jug.

Battle for Baseline Jug

Which team is the best? That is, pure and simple. Which football team is in the best shape? Northville or Novi? And which team will be the next to have the Baseline Jug (prize)!

While the Northville High School teams continue to compete in different conferences than in the early days, the Witches have no doubt that the list of seasons is more than just another conference inclusion in both teams.

A tradition of the Baseline Jug season involves two home teams, and the owners of the jug against each. Since the two seasons involve both two teams, each home at the end of the season.

To decide the height, and the winning team, which team is - or will have the trophy.

"I think in the November election, the police will win" ... said Assistant Police Chief Frank Hardesty. "They are doing a great job -- a great job." Hardesty said he was pleased with the efforts of the police department in trying to get the message out.

"We are trying to explain what the police are doing" ... Northville Township residents can decide if they want to vote for the new millage... Hardesty said there are over 100 volunteers working to spread the word and make sure people know what is going on with the police department. The volunteers are making phone calls to people who have not voted in the past, and encouraging them to vote.

"We need to get the message out." ... Assistant Police Chief Frank Hardesty said he thinks the chances of winning the new millage are good. He said he believes the police will win because they have been doing a good job.

Halloween Candy Screened

Monday, October 31, 1988

7:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m.

Trick-or-treaters are invited to bring their Halloween candy to the Novi Police Department to be screened. The free screening will be done by the radiology department. It will reveal whether the candy contains hidden metal objects, but will not detect chemical contamination.

Refreshments will be served to visiting trick-or-treaters and their parents.

Parental warnings should be removed from all candy. The police department will not remove any. It is recommended that parents open all bags and check the candy before giving it to their children. The police department will not accept any candy that is not in its original package.

The screening process is similar to the one used by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The process involves using X-ray equipment to identify any metal objects that may be hidden in the candy.

Halloween is a time for fun and enjoyment, but it is also a time when children are at risk for ingesting objects that could harm them. The police department is working with community groups to ensure that Halloween is a safe and enjoyable experience for all.

The police department will conduct the screening process at the Novi Police Department, located at 14000 W. Outer Drive, off I-96 at Novi Road. The screening process will start at 7:00 p.m. and continue until 10:00 p.m.

Parents are encouraged to bring their children's candy to the screening process. The process is free and will be done by the radiology department.

Officials begin new city planning

By Bob NEEDHAM
Discussions about what direction the City of Novi should take began last week, with several different speakers offering their views on the future of the city in general and the "Cady Street Corridor" in particular.

At a meeting of the city Planning Commission Tuesday, Oct. 13, officials took the first steps to two formal studies of the city's future. The update of the official city Master Plan and a telethon look at the area near Cady Street, were both conducted by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service.

City planners Ayers, Lewis, Norris and Max were funded through National Community Development Block Grant money.

Planning Consultant Dee Weiman said the city study would probably cost $20,000 to $25,000. The city planners would also take into consideration for land use, parking arrangements, and even street patterns. Although formal public workshops, hearings, etc., probably be held in the future, she said.

Tuesday's meeting was designed to get initial feelings from the planning commissioners, as well as two members of the city commissioners.

"With 23.8 buses, NEWBUSESAPPROVED-
I'm very happy with the decision for an increase in the number of buses," said Assistant Superintendent Burton Knighton.

At the meeting, the approved expansion included five additional new student buses. The additional buses are needed due to the rapid growth of the city's population.

The expanded bus service will take place. Capt. PhUPresnell
Northville Township Police Department. All members of LNHA are invited to attend.

Township OKs new business logo for all its stationery

By BRUCE WENDTBAUS

Choosing a project which lasted almost a year, the Northville Township Board of Trustees voted this week to approve a new business logo to be placed on all stationery.

Three trees and a house on a hillside background make up the graphic, with the township name appearing at the bottom of the logo. The project was started in March, according to the logo's designer, and six months later it is ready to be printed.

"We are very representative of the characteristics at Northville Township," said Township Supervisor George Goss. "The Beautification Committee did an outstanding job in putting together the logo," he said. "It is a project that is in line with our first newsletter."

Huntington Trustee and Beautification-Commission Chair Don Williams said the commission had been working on the project since last May, trying to put a logo together that would represent the township and be used as a silhouette for the township's seal. He said the designer's graphic was delivered Sept. 17.

However, the commission has no idea what the logo will look like in the final product. "We don't know how the logo will be used," Williams said. "It's a耻符Penn.'We have the money to print it; we have the logotype, but we have no idea what it's going to look like."

"That is a decision to be made by the board," Williams said. "The township board indicated that they would like the logo to be placed on stationery and that there would be a new business logo presented to the board. They have no idea what the final product will look like."

Another member of the commission, Supervisor Thomas A. Handyside, agreed.

"We are very representative of the characteristics at Northville Township," said Township Supervisor George Goss. "The Beautification Committee did an outstanding job in putting together the logo," he said. "It is a project that is in line with our first newsletter."

Although Northville residents don't have a haunted house all their own to visit, this year, there are other chances to be scared within easy driving distance.

The Northville Jaycees, who have held a haunted house festival in the past, were not able to do so this year, but are still hoping.

The local Jaycees chapters are sponsoring haunted houses at a trick-or-treating event.

"North Vernon Jaycees will be having the haunted house at a storefront in North Vernon and the Novi Jaycees will be having the haunted house at a storefront in Novi," said the local organizer.

"North Vernon Jaycees will be having the haunted house at a storefront in North Vernon and the Novi Jaycees will be having the haunted house at a storefront in Novi.

They have been able to get the house together and the kids have been able to work on it," the organizer said. "They have been able to get the house together and the kids have been able to work on it."

 Thornbladh emphasizes competitiveness

Kurt Thornbladh, a practicing attorney from Milford, Michigan, is a Democratic candidate for the 37th District House seat. He is a graduate of Michigan State Law School and has represented several people in the community. He is a member of the Eastern Michigan Democratic Party. Thornbladh also is a former member of the U.S. Army, where he was stationed in Vietnam. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus and即是 a member of the American Legion.

Kurt Thornbladh

If I think I can be a more effective representative for this district, I'm the more competitive candidate. I believe there are some real issues that need to be addressed.

I think the opposition party has to look ahead a little bit and think in a little bit more of a national environment, as we have around here in the way of parks, and so forth.

I think our city is going to be just that way, you know, to be able to pay. I am much more competitive.

I think the American Legion in Flint is a much more competitive organization, the American Legion Post 74.

I'm more competitive.

If people will receive it. We're not.

So, if you've been thinking about asking about your position on Proposal A, the proposed tax hike on Michigan's General Fund, and the people's task force, I'm more competitive.

I think the money they're paying as a general proposition is better.

There are some real issues that need to be addressed. But there are some real issues that need to be addressed.

Pursell and Pollack face off at interview

Here is the text of a joint interview with the Congressional District candidates Carl Pursell and Lanna Pollack days after election, for clarity. And has been done.

To what extent can Congress take credit for the modest progress the country is enjoying?

Carl Pursell: I don't mean to put particular responsibility on Congress per se but I think the biggest advances have been made in terms of reducing the nation's deficit. And I think one of the best examples is Greenspan and the monetary policy that he's put in place. That is one of the main reasons why the economy has been doing well.

...As a committee with Greenspan and interest rates...We're not lacking for heavy duty. I think there is a degree of bipartisanship that most people in Congress are, uh, in favor of. Although there are Republicans who I think are opposed to the deficit.

...With the committee, the Congress has determined to lead in terms of presenting a balanced budget for fiscal years, hopefully, a fiscally-sound budget and the quality of life.

...That's one of the key roles that Congress has and is doing pretty well.

In my view, the Congress has become more of a leader in terms of fiscal responsibility.

Lanna Pollack: Deficit reduction has been done.

It's been done, but it's more the result of the increased tax revenues and the reduced levels of spending. That's the key role that Congress has played.

...All of our colleagues are aware of...Our approach won't be that job at reducing the deficit...In the meantime, I'm still fighting the battle there.

...I think in the future, when the president is here, the Congress has a critical role to play in the defense of the country.

...And in fact, even when the president was going on a good job, the Congress had a critical role to play in terms of funding the defense of the country.

...And if we don't have power secured in any one branch of government, we can't have a balanced budget.

...I think, obviously, the future in terms of the budget is uncertain...and that's how I think the Congress is important.

...And with this vote, Congress should ensure that the budget is balanced.

...We have been working hard to reduce the deficit and...try to solve it for congressmen.

...I've been consistently opposed to deficit reduction...I don't need to be in the middle of the legislation. Everything I'm doing...is trying to govern the country...we're doing well to get rid of the deficit.

...And now is the country in general and particularly the Michigan Senate is doing the right thing.

...And they're doing a good job...and the Congress has done a good job of fiscal responsibility.

And that's why I think...there's been a lot of good work and a lot of spending, which I think is needed to deal with the deficit.

...And I think it's the responsibility of...And we're working hard to make sure that...and ultimately...it's the right thing for the country.

To understand that there's one in Michigan, containing either our own waste or waste of other states, that one's going to look bad. And I think that we see how we look, taking into account both the national and state seal, in a way that we could if we related to this city. I suppose if we should make it a law.

An abortion, which is an issue, is an issue, and one that we both realize that the abortion does not happen for a reason. People of this state do not have the same authority to make decisions as they do in other states. A large number of people of this state do not have any authority to make decisions about what they do in their own lives. The abortion rate in this country is very low. In fact, I believe that the abortion rate in this country is lower than the abortion rate in any other country.

The problem is that there are so many states that are looking into this issue. I think that we have to be careful about what we do in this area. I believe that we have to be careful about what we do in this area. I believe that we have to be careful about what we do in this area. I believe that we have to be careful about what we do in this area. I believe that we have to be careful about what we do in this area.

People like to think about the issue of abortion, but if we don't think about it, it's hard to think about it. I believe that we need to be careful about what we do in this area. I believe that we need to be careful about what we do in this area. I believe that we need to be careful about what we do in this area. I believe that we need to be careful about what we do in this area. I believe that we need to be careful about what we do in this area.

I think that drugs are the biggest problem we face. I’m glad to see the police and other police forces arrest more drug dealers before they can buy and sell to our children. I am glad to see that the police and other law enforcement agencies are taking action against drug dealers. I would qualify why he didn’t vote for the $1 billion anti-drug program in 1987. He voted against it. I would like to see the state’s drug enforcement policies strengthened. The state should support such an anti-drug program.

I think there is a need to be more aggressive in terms of drug enforcement. The state should consider ways to enforce existing drug laws more strictly. I would like to see the state’s drug enforcement policies strengthened. The state should support such an anti-drug program.

Northville is a community that I supported, which I supported, which I supported, which I supported, which I supported.

Pollack presents Pursell with biggest challenge yet

"Pollack's campaign is concentrated on his record in the state legislature and the Michigan Senate. In just a few months, he has raised more money than any other candidate in the race. He has been endorsed by the Michigan Education Association, the Michigan AFL-CIO, the Michigan Democratic Party, and the National Education Association."

"Pollack, meanwhile, challenges Pursell by focusing on his environmental record and his support for gun control and health care for minorities."

"Pollack, as a long-time advocate for gun control, is appealing to the Democratic party's base for support."

"Pollack and Pursell both have strong records on environmental issues, but Pursell has been more vocal about the need for action on global warming and climate change."

"Pollack, on the other hand, has been a proponent of clean energy and renewable resources."

"Pollack concluded with a statement emphasizing his commitment to fighting for the environment: "We need to take action now to protect our planet and ensure a sustainable future for all people.""

"The campaign is heating up as the election day approaches. Both candidates are expected to continue to focus on their respective strengths and vulnerabilities in the coming weeks."
Three members of the Meads Mill School classes, seventh, eighth grade, and Suzanne Smith, fifth grade, who collected cans to help those in need, are shown.

Meads Mill shows its spirit
By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Sometimes the actions of a few people can change the course of events. That was the case last week at Meads Mill Middle School, as students celebrated spirit week by donating a record amount of canned food to the annual food drive. The students were encouraged to bring in food, and each grade was given a goal. The seventh-grade class set the goal at 1,000 pounds of canned food, and the eighth-grade class aimed for 1,500 pounds. The sixth-grade class, led by teacher Mrs. Johnson, set a goal of 1,000 pounds.

The students were given a week to donate food, and when results were tallied, the seventh-grade class had donated 1,200 pounds, the eighth-grade class had collected 1,800 pounds, and the sixth-grade class had contributed 1,600 pounds. In total, the school donated 4,600 pounds of canned food, which is a significant amount.

The students were proud of their accomplishments and were eager to see the impact their efforts would have. "It feels good to know that we made a difference," said one student. "I hope other schools will follow our lead and do even more.

The donation of canned food is a significant contribution to the community, and the students should be proud of themselves for their efforts. The school has set a goal for next year, and we look forward to seeing how they will exceed it.

Bullard stresses importance of House

The students are working hard to ensure that the House is clean and well-maintained. "We want to make sure that the House is a safe and comfortable place for everyone," said a student. "We want to show our respect for the House and the people who live there.

The students are also working on the House's appearance. "We are going to make sure that the House looks good," said another student. "We want to show the world that we care about the House.

The students are proud of their accomplishments and are looking forward to the future. "We are going to do even more next year," said a student. "We are going to make the House the best it can be.

Severence said it seemed the same with Russell Amerman. "He passed away," he said. "Because of the disease that he had, it seemed like he was in a coma for the last few months."

Russell Amerman was the president of the Board of Directors of the Northville Public Library. He was also the president of the Northville City Council. He had been on that board for at least 20 years. Russell Amerman had been very active in the community, serving on many committees and boards. He was well respected by his peers and loved by his family. He is survived by his wife, children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and many friends.

Eight students vie for choir honors

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

Eight budding singing stars from Northville High School are vying for volunteer spots in the choir. Not only are they competing for the choir, but they are also vying for the chance to compete at a higher level, the State Honors Choir.

The eight students competing for the state Honor Choir are, left to right: Beth Lada, 11th grade; Chrissy Rockwell, 11th grade; Susan Brown, 11th grade; Jennifer Johnson, 11th grade; Todd Foulke, 11th grade; Melissa Peet, 11th grade; Ben Ilarra, 11th grade; and Melissa Peters, 11th grade. (Matthew S. Sobocinski)

Local youth program looks for volunteers

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB

The Northville Youth Assistance (NYA) is seeking volunteer counselor training volunteers to prepare the organization for the upcoming school year.

NYA counselor training will take place at the Northville Community Center on August 19th and 20th. The training program is open to all Northville residents, age 18 and older.

Volunteers are needed to help with various tasks, including youth counseling, coaching, and event planning.

If you are interested in volunteering, please contact the NYA office at 734-442-6000.

Officials discuss the future

"Many of us feel the loss of the downtown area, but the truth is, it's not all bad," Waters said. "The City has the opportunity to take advantage of this moment and make changes that will benefit everyone."

"We need to think about how we can make the downtown area more inviting for people to live and work in," Waters added. "We need to consider options such as repurposing old buildings and creating new green spaces to attract more people to the area."
Law passage may affect city

While the Northville Planning Commission prepares to debate how density and growth might affect the city, the state Legislature may decide the same is important for them.

Three bills which have passed the state Senate would, if also passed by the House, require local units of government to adopt Local Environmental Ordinances which include a residence category and, not least of all, require that the city and village of Northville, as well as the city of Farmington and Farmington Hills, adopt such an ordinance before the state could consider amending the law.

Senator Bob Ford (R-Bloomfield Hills), a prime sponsor of the legislation, said the bills would encourage more residents to attend day care.

They also require that a local government determine the density of its city or village in order to adopt the ordinance and require the state to consider adopting the entire ordinance if it does not want to adopt the entire ordinance.

The bills - sponsored by Senator Bob Ford, Senator Steve Soper (R-Bloomfield Hills), and Senator John Engler (R-Elsberry) - were originally intended to provide the city and village of Northville, the city of Farmington, and Farmington Hills, with the authority to adopt the ordinance and require the state to consider adopting the entire ordinance if it does not want to adopt the entire ordinance.

Our Opinions

Downtown change overdue good news

It was nice to hear about all the new planning moves around downtown.

Black's Hardware's move down the street to larger quarters in the vacant D & C Building was just one of another round of other moves - all of them helpful to the businesses in the respective buildings. The downtown camera and frame shops are consolidating into the Black's space; Morrison's Northville Consignment is moving downtown to the camera shop space; and a new basket shop is opening in that vacant space.

This round of changes downtown is very welcome, and it's really just the latest few items in a string of similar changes. Chirri and Son moving to a more appropriate location on Seven Mile, Primrose in Elizabeth; the same sort of move for the Yankee Clipper, allowing the expansion of Village Sweet's and Treat's.

Before all these latest moves were finalized, though, the downtown business climate was starting to look a little unhealthy. The latest parent business climate was starting to look a little unhealthy. The latest, parent finalized, though, the downtown space. Many people contribute to the life of the community, and Mr. Amerman was a quiet man of deep faith and commitment, honesty and strength whom I truly lived his life in Northville. He was the most noted resident of Northville, Mr. Amerman was a quiet man of deep faith and commitment, honesty and strength, whom I never left it. He was superintendent of the school system with a vision of what life can be when a community truly pulls together and works toward the future.

Russell Amerman will be missed by Northville

"There isn't enough good things that can be said about Russell Amerman," Rev. Eric Hammar said.

Many people contribute to the life of a community. Some give of their time, some of their wisdom - but few give as much as Russell Amerman gave to Northville.

"His moral fibre is imbedded in the community," Don Severance noted.

Mr. Amerman was a quiet man of conviction who worked and truly lived his life in Northville. He came to the community in 1932 and never left it. He was superintendent of schools for three years and left a lasting commitment, honesty and strength to one of the most noted and important institutions - its schools.

Mr. Amerman oversaw the Northville Public Schools during the depression years. Throughout that time he maintained a reputation for quality education and a commitment to public education - which is the trademark today of the Northville schools.

Mr. Amerman stood on the board with him when the total school budget was $300,000.

Time to care

By Ann Willis

In the mornings I see her walking quickly toward the lighted bus stop. She is always hurrying, carrying a blazed wrapped bundle close to her breast. She is dressed in beret and breeches and balances a diaper bag and briefcase. I don't know her name. I'm just the figure walking a dog every morning who calls and says "Good morning. She has no time for idle chatter.

Twice now I've walked the same route at night, around 9.30, and seen the same woman walking slowly home, brooding, a headless, a wide-eye child who sucks his thumb and strolls about. Mother and child are coming home.

When people talk about day care, as so many are doing nowadays, it tends to get emotional. Some would like to keep it as a fact-of-life basis. The talk around town and around the state is about home day care businesses. Should they be allowed to residential areas? How should they be regulated? How can we make sure they are properly run and licensed? All good, unanswerable questions that deserve factual answers.

But the problem is we are talking about parents and children and the issue gets very emotional, very fast. Day care is here to stay. Home day care has been here forever and will stay here. Say what you will, but I hope mothers, fathers and kids, and they will circumvent the best intentions laws to make a few situations work for them.

Remember the old TV shows where single parents dealt with the job of raising children? Uncle Bill was responsible for Judy, Bobby and Blasey but he had the implausible Mr. French who lived in, without asking. He certainly didn't get all the attention a baby needs. He and the block from the home take care of four other neighbor children in addition to his own three. Something is going wrong in the family, but they stress a baby is to be born. He is in the car that she can trust close to her own home, which is where she is going to stay, and means more time is spent with the baby and less to travel.

Last winter I did a feature article on day care in Novi. One interview still sits in my mind. It was a cold evening about six, and the lights of the car could be seen on the walls of the day care center as the parents pulled into the parking lot to pick up their children. A small, young woman came in, obviously tired from work, and picked up a tiny child. I spoke with her about her search for day care and she brought out a very serious facet in the daycare situation. A great many of the many care centres are single parents with one income and no chance to stay at home with the children. One of their biggest problems is finding good, affordable care for talents. And finding the time to go to work, place isn't easy either - because don't give time off to employees to go day care facilities.

Day care is a subject that cannot be divorced from the emotional side of the issue. I see too many women's tears when I bring up the subject that cannot be divorced from the emotional side of the issue. I see too many women's tears when I bring up the subject.

These political polls they've got nowadays are terrible. Sure, I always knew what you were thinking. You're thinking that they out to be biased. Outland, I'm not a very practical kind of person. I have been known to give up on the day. Why go out and vote if you already know who the winner's going to be?

Like the situation several years ago when all three major television networks had announced the winner of the presidential election while people were still lining up to vote in California. Remember? After they knew who had won, the people from the land of fruits and nuts jumped on the bandwagon to turn a narrow victory into a landslide. But that's regressive thinking. Hey, this is the '80s to keep up with a high tech society, only way to think. Just think of how much time and energy it saves. Knowing the results in advance helps the winner prepare well-conceived victory speeches. And it helps the loser prepare well-conceived concession speeches. Winners can proceed with plans for elaborate victory parties. Losers can start cutting their losses by scaling down their election-night affairs.

And newspapers. Think of how much easier that makes our jobs. There was a time when election night was filled with excitement - waiting for telephones to ping precociously to report... writing two conflicting headlines is advanced writing. You suddenly find yourself in the right place at just as soon as results come in.

Now we can plan ahead. With certainty. "Landslide!" "Reagan beats Dukakis!" "Reagan to pick up the phone!"

Yep, these polls have made things a lot easier. Business is great. But the newspapers are really suffering. Our editors have begun to cull our stories before the results are in. Just a fact of life now.
Baseline Road needs major repairs

To the Editor:
The following is a letter to the Northville City Council:

The Baseline Road residents' association understands the reasons behind the proposed investigation of Baseline Road by state troopers. We have not been allowed to arrive at a consensus as to what needs to be done to make Baseline Road more livable and safer. Our group has worked on this issue for some time now, and we have come to the conclusion that Baseline Road needs immediate attention.

We would like to see the following issues addressed:

1. Baseline Road is a major thoroughfare in our community, and we feel that it is essential that it be made safer and more accommodating to all users.
2. Our residents have experienced numerous accidents on Baseline Road, and we believe that this problem needs to be addressed.
3. We feel that Baseline Road should be improved to better meet the needs of our community, and we believe that this should be done immediately.

We would like to see the following improvements made to Baseline Road:

1. The road should be widened to accommodate more traffic.
2. The road should be resurfaced to make it safer.
3. The road should be better lit to improve visibility.

Points are treated as prepaid interest and are generally deducted over the period of the loan unless they are incurred on a loan to buy or improve your principal residence.

In order to get a deduction for points, the loan document should clearly state that the portion of the loan not paid for by the borrower is not considered a loan and that the borrower will not be charged interest on it.

In addition, you should write a separate check for the points. Don’t have the points paid out of the mortgage proceeds. If the money is used to pay for the loan, then this becomes deductible over the term of the loan.

Finally, points paid on a home mortgage are deductible only for purposes of the purchase of a home. If, however, you own only a portion of the home, you are entitled to the deduction only for a portion of the points paid is deductible.

For example, let’s say you bought out the home equity loan of $40,000 of which $8,000 was paid out of the loan proceeds. You would be allowed to deduct $8,000 of the loan proceeds. For points paid for a mortgage refinance in which the refinanced mortgage is for a home not used to purchase a home, points paid are not deductible.

So, if you are not sure, consult your tax professional.

If you ask about the new "kiddie tax," you're hearing you, too, it seems in just your farm and earn the land.

Weekly discussed, but frequently forgotten, the kiddie tax is a common practice for parents that allows parents to pay tax for their children's income. Essentially, the kiddie tax decreases income-splitting by taxing the unearned income of children if their gross income is greater than the "kiddie tax" threshold.

The result? For the first time ever, millions of children had to file tax returns for 1987 at rates as high as 50 percent. Now your child's age affects tax rates. The tax actually has two age brackets: under 14 and another for children 14 and over.

For a child under 14, the first $1,000 of unearned income is taxed at a rate equal to one-half the rate at which your income is taxed, up to $1,000. On the second $1,000, the tax is the child's rate, regardless of the parent's rate. Dependent children are subject to the standard deduction, but if the child has unearned income, the child's standard deduction generally offsets the tax liability at the child's rate. The child's income is then taxed at the parent's rate. For children under 14, instead of deducting income from the tax liability at the same time, the parent's income would reach $1,000 of earned income, the child's income is taxed at the parent's rate. For children over 14, the tax is the same as the parent's rate, except that the standard deduction generally offsets the tax liability, and the child's income is taxed at the parent's rate.

Incidentally, to claim dependency recognition, parents are now required to supply Social Security numbers for all dependents that are at least 14 years of age. To apply for the kiddie tax advantage, parents are required to supply a Social Security number for their child. For instance, if you have a 14-year-old who is allowed to transfer $5,000 of income to you from a trust, the trust's assets revert to your name, and you have to file a federal return. If you don't file a return, the trust's assets revert to the trust's name and you have to file a federal return.

Fraternal orders on the Internet earned general user comments until the day of their death. For example, if your child is at least two years old, you can still obtain information in your state and the state you reside in. Your child could be taxed as capital gains only if the gains are realized. High-growth, cars and municipal bonds, so less certain. The most important thing is to always keep an eye on the federal tax laws. GOTCHA!

"It was a simple matter of him or me. I saw him, I wanted him down for the 15 minutes. Then he came into the clearing. I had no choice. I wanted him. I had to finish him."

— A "spatball" player.

Every week, a small, but growing, number of ragged warriors takes to the forests of Michigan to re-enact in a series of 'war games' the fighting Is over. For the people who play, it the game represents hours of pure adrenaline, plus a wholesome release of accomplishment when a day of shooting war to be over. It's 75 percent strategy," said Dennis Nadeau, 12, graduate of Northville High School. "There's a large strategy aspect to the game."

"There is so much suspense, so much intensity in this game," he said. "When you're drawing around, setting up an ambush— running with the flag with it people firing at you — you can feel the heart thumping away. You can feel the sweat on your throat!"

"I've met people from everywhere," he said. "I've met people from the same age and I've met people from different ages."

"I've met people from different ages. And Lucy Needham is one of the Blue Star Mothers who volunteers time to the service men's behalf. She belongs to Chapter 47 in Woodland Hills. She is secretary-treasurer, and she has been president. Also she is the chapter's representative at the Ann Arbor V.A. Center.

Also Needham is active in the state organization of Blue Star Mothers. She is a deputy representative for planning meetings for future events.

But that isn't the end of her involvement at V.A. In Ann Arbor, she takes things to the hospital that people have given them for the veterans. Things like paper and pencils and clothing. If it weren't for the demand for clothing, she said, "many men who are ambulatory could walk away and take things with them."

The fighting is over. They're using a map. And they're using a flag. And they try to keep the same idea in mind."

"Let's go find him."

"I've met people from everywhere," he said.
Town Hall’s next lecture is Susan Granger, Nov. 10

There will be a meeting for the Northville Town Hall Board members on Nov. 8 at 8 a.m. at Our Lady of Victory Church in Northville.

The next Town Hall lecture will feature Susan Granger on Nov. 31 at 7:30 p.m. in the Utica Library.

Tickets must be purchased one week prior to the lecture. Susan Granger is a popular Hollywood star who has been active in radio, television, and film since she appeared in "See of Lambs," "Amour et Oubli," and "A Time to Remember."

She is the daughter of the late film star, Olivia de Havilland, and is married to the actor, John Forsythe.

The lecture will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Utica Library.

Northville’s charming historic Mill Village will be open to visitors for two weekends this November. The village will be dressed up for its first "Christmas Walk" with traditional decorations and carolers around each of the buildings.

Northville’s Historical Society is gearing up for its annual "Christmas Walk" event on Nov. 6. This year’s theme is "The Fuller Brush Man," and it will feature a live performance by the band "The Fuller Brush Girls."

Tickets can be purchased at the door, and they will include a gift bag for each attendee.

The event will take place from 5-8 p.m. at the historical society located at 101 W. Michigan Ave.

"The Fuller Brush Man" will be held Nov. 20 and 21, and tickets are $11 each, including dinner and entertainment. The event will feature a live performance by the band "The Fuller Brush Girls."

For more information, please call Virginia Kaiser at 313-883-8269.
Irene Piljeck did not get off the solitude of writing. Her mystery novel, "Women's Writing Group," was directed after an afternoon. The author arrived shortly before the celebration at Guest, author of "People," and Hill, author of "Angel Questions" (313)-344-1777.

They talked about the complexities of co-authoring a book. "It got hard at times, but we would write a little every day," said Hill. "The manuscript was finished in three months."

Guest said that St. Cloud should appear on the map of how a murder underscores a bero. "I developed my characters somewhat scarily," she added. "I wanted to make them as believable as possible before returning to the film."

The authors agreed that the process of collaborating on a book was a great deal more enjoyable than individual efforts. "We both thought that this was a hard way to live - staying in a room and writing alone - so we thought we would try something different," said Hill. "I wrote a mystery, and she wrote a gothic piece," said Guest.

The second Sunday that the topic of their collaborative effort - "Killing Time in St. Cloud" - was introduced on a panel with a theme. "We never understood what happened like a mystery, but if that Cloud could only appear in the film, they would get together and come up with 'Killing Time in St. Cloud,'" she said.

Hill said her 15-year-old daughter did not like the title, so the possible titles before returning to the film.

Northville bride weds

Dr. Patricia Kathleen Endres married Dr. Samuel James Connello on Oct. 4 at St. John's Episcopal Church in Plymouth.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Endres of Northville and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Connello of Detroit.

The Rev. Robert Smith officiated at the double ring, nuptial ceremony. The couple is a busy city couple involved in various areas of the community.

The bride wore a gown of taffeta and tulle with sleeves of taffeta and lace at the wrist. Her bouquet was a spray of white roses and pink roses. Matron of honor was Dr. Donna McCormick of Plymouth. She wore a knee-length dress of red silk with a white jacket. She carried a white clamp and an extra rose.

Seniors offered free health check-ups

Carry this one close to your heart. Save time in an emergency.

When someone you love needs emergency medical care, it's too late for impression or confusion. You must get the patient to the hospital quickly. Through the registration process, patients and caregivers can avoid delays and save time.

Free health testing will be offered for persons 50 years or older at noon at the Northville Senior Citizen Center at 31204 Taft Road, in Northville.

Single Place, the monyary for singles from the First Presbyterian Church of Northville, is presenting another series of lectures entitled 'Single Ask' with Dr. William Page.

The first meeting will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 3, "What Women Ask About Men." Questions will be answered by "Is there a man for every woman?" "Are you as many men as there are women?" The program will include a discussion of the differences in biological standards and when, where, why, and how the couple may make an appearance together. The second meeting will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 10. The Fairy tale ending theme will be "What about the couple who live in a house where everyone is a woman."Families served by the new Huron Valley Hospital can now prepare for emergencies by prearranging at the hospital for emergency room care. There is no fee for this community service.

The Huron Valley Hospital Emergency Room Preplanning Program is an important information system that speeds the flow of patients and allows children to each receive their own registration card.

There is no subsidence for your representation in a life-threatening emergency. Frequent Urgent Care centers, even those associated with hospitals, do not provide the overnight Advanced Cardiac Life Support care so often required in serious emergencies. Huron Valley Hospital, a 153-bed, full-service hospital, does—complete cardiac and critical care units, full radio communications to emergency vehicles: a helicopter landing port, emergency-trained nurses and physicians. And additional specialists on staff are available to respond to emergencies as orthopedics, pediatrics, obstetrics, radiology, and surgery.

To set the particular time below if you prefer, call the Community Relations Department at 300-3350, ext. 341-4140 for your appointment.

FLORANCE AND SEYMOUR ORR

Fifty years celebrated

A gala wedding celebration was held Oct. 6, at Genesee and Utica Ave. in Utica, for Florence and Seymour Orr, who were married on Oct. 6, 1912. Their wedding was planned by the Northville and Utica Choral Club and Volunteers. They are the parents of Edward, Florence, and William. In the Utica, Florence and Seymour Orr have lived for a number of years.

Percy Martin and Muriel Moore

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Martin of Utica and Mrs. Muriel Moore of Utica, as members of the Northville Presbyterian Church.

A great time was had by all, because of the excellent performance of Johnnie Chaney's cakewalk band. A wide array of food was performed by various groups from the families. The event was attended by guests and musical groups from the local schools, as well as the Northville Presbyterian Church.

The party was an overwhelming success. The party continued into the evening.

The event was hosted by the couple and Robert and Susan Quinlan. The reception was held at the Utica Civic Auditorium, and the event continued into the evening.

The Cancer Information Service

Are you afraid of entering a furniture store and coming out indebted to a living room suite that wasn’t exactly what you had in mind but it was such a good deal the salesperson wouldn’t let you pass it up? And even though it won’t look right in your living room maybe it’ll look better in your next home. Or maybe someday you’ll be able to decorate the living room again and you can move this furniture to the basement. Or maybe the kid will grow up, move out and take the furniture with them and you’ll have to buy new... And oh what if the cushion has a stain on it, no one will notice if you put a throw pillow over it. After all, it was 40% off. And there’s a little hole in the skirt but what the heck, the dog will probably chew a bigger hole in it anyway. And besides, the salesperson was so nice you couldn’t hurt her feelings.

Get the picture? Not at Baker Street. Come to our relaxed atmosphere where professional designers will assist you or let you help yourself. Special orders are always 20% to 40% less. Complete design service is available for furniture, decorative accessories, carpeting and custom draperies.

Acoustic club offers diverse music

By BOB NEISENDORF

Michael Jackson sang at the packed Hurby Theatre last week, but the music being booked these days in the small West Novi music venue is a world away from the Motown sound that launched his career.

"There was a time when this place was filled daily," said Denny Timm, the band manager who runs the Hurby Theatre. "But there was a point when the student audience just stopped coming. Now it's more of a bar than a music club."

The Hurby offers a mixture of rock and folk music, with bands and solo acts appearing nightly. Entry to the club is free, and there is a $3 cover charge for single performances.

"Our best nights are when we have the local bands," said Timm. "But we'll also try to bring in some different acts, different audiences from the community. And we're just trying to make this a place where people can come and see some good music."

Although the club's population has been small, the Hurby Theatre has managed to remain open. "It's always tough and go. There's no money in it," said Timm. "But the music is what makes it worthwhile."

The name itself is also a reminder of the club's history.

"One of the earliest members of the Hurby Theatre committee came up with it," said Timm. "He wanted to bring in all types of different audiences from the community. And they were just trying to give it a name that would appeal to different audiences."

Although people often think of the club as a place for solo acts, the Hurby Theatre is also a place for full-length live performances.

"The name grew out of Franz Waxman's "Witch's Sabbath" The soundtrack eluding "Night on Bald Mountain," "Vespers," and "Carmen,"" said Timm. "We're just trying to bring in all types of music."

The Hurby Theatre offers a selection of acts ranging from folk to blues to country to rock to jazz. "We try to get as many acts as we can, to attract different audiences," said Timm. "We want to maintain contacts."

"We have the most traditional music," said Timm. "But we also try to bring in some new artists, some new sounds."

At the Hurby Theatre, there is a place for "folk music," as well as for "rock music.

"It's not a case of either/or, but a place for both," said Timm. "And we try to make sure that the music is good."

The Hurby Theatre is located at 10850 W. 11 Mile Rd., Livonia.

Cagers avenge loss to Patriots

The Northville Record

By NEIL GROHOFAN

With revenge on their minds and the home court advantage on their side, the Northville girls basketball team turned back a pesky Livonia Stevenson squad on Dec. 21 to improve its season record to an impressive 6-0.

It was the second in a string of three losses Mustang last had to Sept. 29 when the Mustangs scored an unbelieveable pass with seconds remaining, to score a dramatic overtime triumph. There was no last second heroic from Franklina this time, but it was a very telling victory as Mustang Coach Ed Kreft felt his team came away with a win.

"There's no doubt, it was a tough game," he said. "We had to have this game because it was against a Western Division team. I was very impressed with the way Frankie hung in there against us."

The difference in the game was a 20 advantage for the Mustangs in the middle two quarters, and a few key plays in the end to seal the deal. Northville was outhit off the bench and outnumbered visitors. Mustang improved to 6-0 overall and will enter the third quarter with Northville narrowed the gap to 23-20 at halftime with a very productive second quarter.

"We were running with halftime at least as well as we have all season, but Frankie was running their just as effectively," Kreft said. "They were having their own defense and that's a nightmare.

"Those killed the game in the last 60 seconds of the first half. It certainly slowed things down, but I probably don't think that's a bad thing."

Northville returned a few goals from last season, led by a dynamic pair of seniors Kevin Topp, Chris Lenzman, James Hardwick, and Shane Demmert. The final piece of the puzzle came in place when Nick Kirshner joined the Castle to Northville.

"It's a very exciting season, gives us a chance to do all the things we really want to do," said Northville's star James Nord.

"I'm pleased with the way Northville is doing so far," Kreft said. "We're scoring 10-15 goals a game, and it's more than we've ever scored before, ever."

"We have gone up against the top teams and we've been competitive, but we have a lot of improvement to do," Kreft said. "It's a long season and we're only half the season but I know North is a tough team and I feel like they made it a real one.

The Raiders continued to cut into the lead in the second half and eventually pulled even at 5-5 with just two minutes left on the clock, thanks to a goal by Dave Boyer.

The Mustangs responded with three straight goals, including one by Mark Marson to make it 7-5. But Northville cut the lead to 7-6 with a goal by Ariadne Meier.

With revenge on their minds and the home court advantage on their side, the Northville girls basketball team turned back a pesky Livonia Stevenson squad on Dec. 21 to improve its season record to an impressive 6-0.

Northville will stamp its pass to the playoffs Dec. 21 against Beverly Farms with its third overall victory and then return to action Monday against Plymouth.

Bowie leads Rocks to 21-14 victory over Northville

The Fat House Bowl ruled through Northville's Friday night 21-14 victory over West Bloomfield. With the win, the West Bloomfield Panthers improved to 8-0 on the season and 8-0 in the Oakland Activities League. The rocks improved to 7-1 on the season and 5-1 in the OAL.

Northville's victory was built on a first half 14-0 lead and 28-14 overall.

"We've had a few losses and we've owned against some very good teams," said Northville head coach Dave Cryderman. "But this was a big win for us to have because we've been working so hard to get this one in place.

"We've been working with halftime at least as well as we have all season, but Frankie was running theirs just as effectively," Kreft said. "They were having their own defense and that's a nightmare.

Punchless soccer squad blanked by Salem, 5-0

KAREN BARD

The 1983 Mustang girls' basketball squad is probably about the best team to wear overalls in Northville that I've seen. Behind the leadership of bulbous Barbara Kern, the Mustangs were a team that had tremendous promise facing last year's competition.(/But this past week, with the Mustangs leading one game, Barbara was a little concerned about the season.)

"We played very well in the first half," said Dave Vendettini. "At the mid-point of the first half, Salem broke the deadlock with a goal that just beat our goalie. The Mustangs - who are now tied with Brookfield Hts. and Northville for first place in the Western Division - were leading Northville and had top players after the half.

"We played very good defense for the entire season," said Kevin Peterson. "We've been smooth all the way through the season and have added a lot of points to our win column.

Golf season assessed

"The Mustangs scored 87 1/2 points for their total," said Dave Vendettini. "We have a lot of talent that can still make improvements.

"The Mustangs are not as good as last year's team," said Kevin Peterson. "They have a lot of potential and can still make improvements.

Mandy Grafton - The Mustangs are a team of future and have a lot of potential. We have a lot of talent that can still make improvements.

Mustang netters stand up to comparisons

The last time, Northville High School Coach Larry Fitzke went to label his 1998 Mustangs as a weak team, compared to its predecessors from last season. This year, it could be said that the current squad failed to defend its Western Lakes Athletic Association Conference title and make it into the Division IV Michigan High School League (MHSFL) Association title and make it into the Division IV reign. A look at the Michigan High School League statistics reveals that the singles flights were probably better than those in 1997, but doubles were consistently better, at least. Despite leading 4-3 at the final game in the Western Lakes League. The extra time was 3-2 overall at 4-0 singles, which is properly good for the team. Tennis.

Northville had been that kind of team for the last two years, but Northville didn't have any reason to compete this season. The Mustangs' top singles player, Abby Edwards, had her best season at 1. Northville had only one player who managed to compete in both tournaments this season and was able to focus on the conference title. The team was extremely close to winning the conference title, but the Mustangs didn't have any real problems in the conference. Western tops Northville harriers

"Nothing can pump life into a struggling, injury-ridden team like a good old-fashioned victory," Mustang Coach Dick Gabrys said. "Northville girls cross country team hadn't had a performance like this since way back in September - that was last year."

The Mustangs overwhelmed the Wolverines 36-21 at the Westerly Golf Course on Saturday Oct. 19. "It was pretty good," Mustang’s Frank Gabry said. "It was a team effort."

The Mustangs’ streak ended at seven races, but they pushed the Wolverines to their worst loss ever. "We're an average team, we’re not just a staff team," said Mustang’s Pam Grant. "To prove Gabrys’ point, the War- riors tied for the top three places overall led by Green’s incredible 10:30.1. It was a new Class B record in the state, breaking the old record.

The first Mustang to cross the finish line was freshman Steve Cole, who was fourth overall in 11:23 - a personal best Andy Sloan was fifth overall (11:30) and Kyle Grasso’s third dual race of the season (personal best 15:20). Kari Vashard in sixth (30:47), Kathy Vanly in 10th (31:21) and Lori Bicke in 12th (31:25). "We were before the top 10," Gabrys said. "This is a young team, but I think we have a shot at making our goal of being in the top five in our conference."

The Mustangs (4-0 overall) get a chance to taste that at the WLLA Meet on Oct. 26. Westerly Head Coach Kevin Austin will also compete at the WLLA Class B Regional this Saturday Oct. 26 at the Depot Golf Course in Liv- ingston County.

Some health plans are like hospital gowns: They never cover as much as you wish they would.

When it comes to health care, traditional medical insurance leaves a lot to be desired. Because they only cover a portion of your cost, Health Alliance Plan, on the other hand, is designed differently. We offer complete coverage for virtually everything from pediatrics to geriatrics. And this extensive medical expense is available from our 1,600 physi- cians at 23 medical centers, 18 hospitals and hundreds of individual doctor's office locations.

To find out how you can become a member, call 872-4800. You'll learn why Health Alliance Plan is a great way to cover your medical needs. And that’s the naked truth.

Northville tankers dunk Novi, 53-27

By NEIL GEORGE

When the Northville girls took the lead mid-first half, they knew there would be a second—a quality team and a formidable rivalry. This year, the meeting was paid off with a four-games-old Northville team that's ranked second in the state, and a two-game winning streak that assured the Spartans' standing in the league. However, it was Northville's third straight victory. On Tuesday, Novi was the Mustangs' victim for the second time, this time by 53-27.

"The biggest difference was that we controlled the game with our defense," said Mustangs' coach Don Bell. "Our defense was better and we did a better job of scoring points after we lost the lead in the first half. We had a great overall game in our scoring and in our passing."

Northville took seven of the first eight points to lead, 7-1, at the end of the first quarter. Sparkles Beebe led with seven points to start the scoring, and Michelle Frenay added three points for the lead. Novi came back with four points to end the first quarter, and Northville's lead was 11-5.

In the second quarter, Northville outscored Novi, 18-6. Bebe and Frenay led this quarter as well, while Northville's defense didn't let up on the game. Northville led, 29-11, at the half.

In the third quarter, Northville started off with a 7-2 run, bringing their lead to 36-13. Frenay led this quarter with five points, and Northville's defense was still strong. Northville led, 45-19, at the end of the third quarter.

In the fourth quarter, Northville started off with a 5-0 run, bringing their lead to 50-19. Northville secured their lead and won the game, 53-27.

Northville will face Livonia Stevenson, 13111, today. Novi will play St. Paul, 1879 Nland, 25.6-1. Northville's next game will be against Plymouth, 1411, 204-1. Novi's next game will be against Renaissance, 13111, 17-1. Northville will then play Northville, 13111, 22-1. Novi will then play Livonia Stevenson, 13111, 23-1.

Northville boys basketball coach Tim Miller talked about his team's performance against Novi.

"We played well against Novi," Miller said. "We had a great overall game. Our defense was our biggest strength, and we were able to control the game with our scoring. We are looking forward to our next game against Livonia Stevenson."
Mountain bikes gain popularity

By BRENDA DOOLEY

They are the latest bicycles, but they are no ordinary bicycles. They are very wide, heavy-tired, "mountain bikes," designed to go over rough, rocky or deeply wooded outdoor wilderness and are a more advanced version of the "bikes-on-geese" seen in many countries.

East Lansing, manager of Teams and Country Cycling in East Lansing, explains that mountain bikes have been popular for about three years. Since then, more and more people have started to do mountain biking. "They've made the bikes ever more accessible to city riders," he said.

"They've been around for about 15 years," he said. "But only the extremely athletic and the university students who were drawn to this sport and started riding." Mountain bikes have come a long way in the three years of trend-setting, East Lansing explained.

"Mountain bikes are commonly ridden through dusty dry, bumpy, hilly, off-road terrain," he said. "They have evolved from roaders to mainly dirt bikes with very wide, fat tires, offering a more comfortable ride. People ride them this way either as a more relaxing activity or as exercise."

Mountain bikes are also used to represent the "new" mountain bike. "People have removed the original wheels of their bikes and replaced them with these new ones," East Lansing said.

Mountain bikes are available, with prices ranging from $100,000 to $500,000 per person, to include a variety of accommodations from a separate driving area, accommodations for those involved in volleyball and basketball courts, a weight training room and tennis courts.

"Mountain bikes are very popular," East Lansing said. "These bikes are very lightweight and can be easily removed through wooden areas and up and down hills. Riding and said the type of mountain bike is used mainly for racing.

Mountain bikes of all types regularly appear in cyclist in the Los Angeles area. A dirt bike is a common emergency for young people who buy them. They've gotten more off-road bikes lately.

Mountain bikes are also more comfortable than regular bikes. "People ride them more comfortably, Rieber said the newer mountain bikes and people from them."

The newer mountain bikes will evolve even further in the years to come. "People will be looking for more all-purpose vehicles which are not too far from riding," he said.

With a more comfortable ride, he said the newer mountain bikes will probably become more all-purpose vehicles.

Several brand names are available for mountain bikes, including Miyata, Raleigh and Pegasus.
