Want to see priorities? look at the budget

If you want to see priorities? look at the budget. If you want to know what a politician's real priorities are, look to the budget. If you want to see the real truth about the politician, look at the budget. If you want to see the politician's true colors, look at the budget. If you want to see the politician's true intentions, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really cares about, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really values, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really believes, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really wants, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really does, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really stands for, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really believes in, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really supports, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really fights for, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really cares about, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really values, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really believes, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really wants, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really does, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really stands for, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really believes in, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really supports, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really fights for, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really cares about, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really values, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really believes, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really wants, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really does, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really stands for, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really believes in, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really supports, look at the budget. If you want to know what the politician really fights for, look at the budget.